All myths and marvels he c
A peripatetic encyclopedia!
He was authority on war,
Could show how the cav claim us;
Than such a knowledge re
I'd rather be an ignoramu

He'd prate on Peary and the Then nimbly leap to the e
He'd solved the soul and
Was intimate with the cre
Oh, to be learned in legal lor
One hour, and issue a man
I'd rid the world of one mo
Then rest content, an ign

—Clinton Scollar

FOR YEARS

Tells How She Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Iowa.—"For years I was a misery from a weakness and awful pains—and nothing seemed to do me any good. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and got relief right away. I can certainly recommend this valuable medicine to other women who suffer, for it has done such good for me and I know it will help them if they will give it a fair trial."—Mrs. COURTNEY, 106 8th Ave., Tama, Iowa.

Why women drag along from day to day, year in and year out, suffering misery as did Mrs. Courtney, when such cases as this are continually being published. Every woman who suffers from displacements, irregularities, inflammation, ulceration, backache, nervousness, or who is passing through the Change of Life should give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial. For special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of its long experience is at your service.

Shoes for the Men, Too.

It would not be much interest on the prices of shoes if they merely reduce the size instead.

To retain youth and popularity a girl has to do is acquire the habit and remain single.

Bilious Attacks, Indigestion, and Constipation may Apple, Aloe, Jalap and Leptandra (Dr. Pierce's). Adv.

He who begins in anger ends in shame.—Franklin.

Sick and Miserable?

Does the least exertion tire you out? Are you nervous and worried and have daily backache, headache, dizziness and other urinary irregularities? Sick kidneys are often to blame for this unhappy condition and you must act quickly to prevent more serious trouble. Use Doan's Kidney Pills, the remedy recommended the country over by grateful users.

A North Dakota Case

Mrs. J. Kelly, practical nurse, 205 Idaho St. Redfield, S. D., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and have also gotten many others to try them. They have always given good results. I don't think there is anything as good as Doan's for kidney and bladder troubles. I tried many kidney medicines, but Doan's Kidney Pills are the only ones that gave me relief. They regulated my kidneys and rid me of the pains in my back."

50c at All Dealers, 60c a Box

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

FOSTER-MILBURN CO., BUFFALO, N.Y.

Wanted—Now

1 MAN WITH $100

In a yearly income of $1,000 you invest—

Write today for full particulars, and figures showing you what can be done under our co-operative club plan for owning and operating a shale-oil property in Colorado, Colorado.

Why Your Share Is Really Big

Here is a chance you had been looking for—a good oil-shale investment where your share is big enough to count!

Only a share and only 100 acres—that's why your profits big. Contractor agrees to have it installed and running before order is given, and oil and by-products will make shale in the world. Contract to last 100 years.

Write at once, the lucky first 100 get in THE PLANT.

ONE HUNDRED SHALE CLUB

Continental Bank Bldg. Denver, Colo.

Opportunities in the States

Pursuant to the Homesteaders' Act of the Administration, Washington, showing the State the people desire to investigate, and full information about your requirements.

This Bureau is NOT selling real estate but is furnishing dependable data, land values, production, markets, churches, roads, etc., for those engaged in farming, stock raising and kindred pursuits. Literature which may help you in your chosen living.

Address: Manager, Room [illegible], U. S. Railroad Administration, Washington, D.C.

Clear Your Skin With Cuticura

Soap 25, Ointment 25 & 50. Talcum 25. Sample each free of "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."

PREPARE PALACE FOR GREAT PEACE MEETING

French Getting Versailles Ready For Congress at Which World Peace Will Be Signed

By United Press.

Paris, March 31. The French today began preparing the palace of Versailles for the general peace congress at which the peace terms will be presented to the Germans.

Despite this activity, it was only vaguely announced today that peace might possibly be concluded by Easter, April 20.

The conference will be held in the hall [illegible] is uncomfortable [illegible] but it is practically certain the signatures will be affixed there for historic reasons. Special telephone systems have already been installed in the palace.

FRANCE GIVES UP RHINELAND HOPES

Claim to Saar Valley, Alsace Dropped and Will Accept Damages on Equality With Other Allies.

Paris, March 31. [illegible] the "big four" France's [illegible] reported today to have [illegible] ment.

The French, it is understood, have withdrawn their objections to Germans retaining the Rhineland provided it is rendered impossible for the jumping off place for invasion. In this connection Germans would not be allowed to build forts, barracks, airdromes, military works on the left bank of the Rhine, or within a good [illegible] the river bank.

While disposed now to drop claims for annexation of the Saar Valley, the French are said to insist that they be given certain commercial advantages in that region.

The third proposition is that France's military sacrifices [illegible] continued disarmament of Germany under control of the Allied nations, which would be empowered to take immediate steps in case peace terms were violated.

ATTORNEY SCORED FOR RATHBUN DEAL

Special Council Byers Develops Fact Members of House Committee Knew of Indictments Being Quashed

Des Moines, Ia., March 31. [illegible] Attorney General Horace Havner promised five felonies to [illegible] nor Harding's pardon of Frank Rathbun, Ida county social [illegible] retold to the probers of the [illegible] during the session yesterday afternoon and night.

H. W. Byers, counsel for the house judiciary committee which is conducting the investigation, brought out Johnson, who started the proceedings against young Rathbun.

Some committee members, he said, they knew of the deal when [illegible] went to the penitentiary to see father, brother and George Clark, attorney, from being indicted for jury in getting the pardon.

Had to See Friends.

According to Johnson's testimony Havner would not quash the indictments until he had consulted "his friends" in Des Moines. The intimation was that members of the committee might have been those friends." One of the members admitted that he knew of Havner's part in the dicker before it was made.

There will be no further sessions of the committee until Tuesday according to members of the probing body. Judge Albert, before whom Ernest Rathbun made his statement to set aside the pardon will be the important witness.

KANSAS WOMAN HEADS WOMEN VOTERS LEAGUE

Convention Adjourns With an Invitation to Meet In Chicago Next.

St. Louis, March 31. Mrs. Charles H. Brooks, of Kansas today was chosen permanent chairman of the Women Voters League. The session of the league this morning decided upon the appointment of committees from each state to look after suffrage interests and carry out the work of the national body.

The Illinois delegation has invited the next national convention to be held in Chicago.

The convention adjourned this afternoon.

CARDINAL MERCIER TO VISIT UNITED STATES

By Associated Press.

New York, March 31. Cardinal Mercier, of Belgium, is planning a visit to the United States within the next few months, according to William J. Mulligan, chairman of the Knights of Columbus on war activities.

Mr. Mulligan recently visited the cardinal at Malines and invited him to be the guest in this country of the Knights of Columbus. The cardinal then told him that his visit was planned and expressed a keen desire to make the trip.

ARMIES SCURRY TO AND FRO IN GREAT TANGLE

Hungary, Galicia, Bessarabia and Ukraine Centers of Military Operations of Mixed Nationalities of Europe.

By United Press

[illegible] most gigantic [illegible] history of the [illegible] staged in [illegible] sources to- [illegible] and [illegible] this way [illegible] hing but [illegible] other [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] at [illegible] by all [illegible] Pressing [illegible] the Slovak [illegible] southern [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] breaking [illegible]

Rumanians Busy

[illegible] ng Galicia [illegible] d by the Rumanian [illegible] eastward [illegible] Maros [illegible]

[illegible] is driving [illegible] ne from [illegible] ng the [illegible] ng with [illegible] er River [illegible]

[illegible] reating [illegible] river [illegible] wly [illegible] ssia, [illegible] he [illegible]

Bolsheviki Mobilizing

[illegible] ng the [illegible] Polish [illegible] ly [illegible] e [illegible] he [illegible] h [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] sa [illegible] nd [illegible]

ATTACKING ODESSA

By United Press

[illegible] st fo. es [illegible] sa [illegible] re-

CRUSHED FORCES

By United Press

[illegible] Rumanian troops [illegible] ar [illegible] ch shed [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

NOTICE OF SEALED BIDS FOR JOINT DRAINAGE DISTRICT NO. 1, CERRO GORDO, HANCOCK AND FRANKLIN COUNTIES, IOWA

Sealed bids will be received at the County Auditor's office in Mason City, Cerro Gordo County, until 2 o'clock P. M. on the 9th day of April, 1919, which time and place the construction of Sections 4 and 5 of Joint Drainage District No. 1, Cerro Gordo, Hancock and Franklin Counties, Iowa, according to the plans and specifications on file in said County Auditor's office will be let to the lowest responsible bidder, Sections 4 and 5 being divided as follows:

Section No. 4
Length	Size
3500'	36"
3700	34
1100	32
1700	28
3600	36
2800	24
1600	22
4200	20
2300	18
350	16
2500	14
4900	12
2400	10
5050	9
5000	8
5550	7
6000	6
Section No 5
2000	18
1300	16
4300	14
3000	12
6800	10
700	9
2720	8
3900	7
2850	6

Nine 18" Inlets
Four 14" Inlets
Two 18" Inlets
One 24" Inlet

Work on construction shall commence thirty days after date of letting contract and contract to be completed on or before June 1, 1921.

All bids must be by section, specifying section of sections, also bids must be separately made for main drain and each lateral, also separate bids must be made showing price bid for tile per 100 feet delivered along side of ditch, also, separate bids must be made showing price bid per 100 feet for digging, laying and backfilling for sizes and depths as advertised; also, bid per 100 feet for each additional foot of depth above and below the depth advertised. Bids may be submitted for entire drain or improvement complete. Bids may be submitted for entire drain or improvement complete. The Board of Supervisors reserves the right to accept any part or all of any one bid. The Board of Supervisors reserves the right to accept any part or all of any one bid, and reserves the right to reject any part or all of any one bid, or reject all bids

All bids must be accompanied by cash or certified check in an amount equal to ten per cent of the amount of the bid. The successful bidders will be required to execute bond with sufficient sureties in favor of the County in an amount equal to twenty-five per cent of the cost estimated by the engineer. All bids to be on a form of tender furnished by the County Auditor.

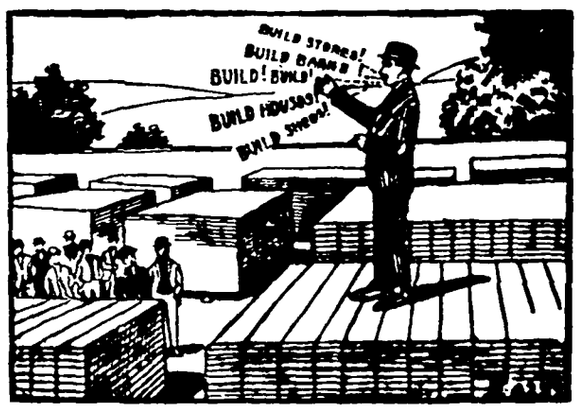
E. D. HAECKER,
Auditor of Franklin County, Iowa
CHRIS JACOBS,
Auditor of Hancock County, Iowa
PAUL WEIGAND,
Auditor of Cerro Gordo County, Iowa

Sell Your Grain To

Walter F. Lau

And receive the highest price and correct weight. Will buy Hogs every day in the week. Also handle high grade COAL. Give me a trial and I will Show you the RESULTS.

Office Phone No. 16 Residence Phone No. 52



BUILDING RESTRICTION LIFTED

The War Industries Board has lifted the building restriction on farm and city construction, cost not exceeding $10,000. This order went into effect November 12th. Farmers, you can now get busy on that new barn, etc., or you who move to town can now build a new house.

NORTHERN LUMBER CO.

N. L. PALMER, Manager

E. P. HANSON
REAL ESTATE AND LIVE STOCK
AUCTIONEER
GARNER, IOWA. PHONE 105
SATISFIED CUSTOMERS
MY BEST REFERENCE
SATISFACTION GUARANTEED
PHONE OR WRITE FOR INFORMATION AND SALE DATES AT ONCE

W. F. PAVEY

The Practical Blacksmith

OXY-ACETYLENE WELDER

Wagon, Buggy and Machine Repairing

Horse Shoeing and Plow Work a Specialty

Auditor.

E. D. HAECKER,
Auditor of Franklin County, Iowa
CHRIS JACOBS,
Auditor of Hancock County, Iowa
PAUL WEIGAND,
Auditor of Cerro Gordo County, Iowa

NOTICE OF SEALED BIDS FOR JOINT DRAINAGE DISTRICT NO. 1, CERRO GORDO, HANCOCK AND FRANKLIN COUNTIES, IOWA

Sealed bids will be received at the County Auditor's office in Mason City, Cerro Gordo County, Iowa, until 2 o'clock P M on the 9th day of April, 1919, at which time and place the construction of Sections 4 and 5 of Joint Drainage District No. 1, Cerro Gordo, Hancock and Franklin Counties, Iowa, according to the plans and specifications on file in said County Auditor's office will be let to the lowest responsible bidder.

Section 4 and 5 are divided as follows:

Line	Length	Size	Av. Dep.	Max. Dep.
	Section No. 4
Lateral No. 2	3500'	36"	7 6	8.7
	3700	34	7.3	10.0
	1100	32	7.8	9.5
	1700	28	10.5	14.7
	1500	26	9.7	10.4
	1400	24	8.5	9 5
	2100	26	7 8	9.5
	1400	24	7 7	9.0
	1600	22	8 0	9.0
	2900	20	7 2	9.0
	1300	20	7 3	9 5
	2300	18	7 2	10 0
	500	14	5 8	7.0
	600	12	5 0	6 0
	2000	14	5 8	6.5
	1800	9	5 4	6 0
	600	12	7 6	7 6
	500	10		6 0
	650	9		6 5
	Nine 18 inch Inlets
Lateral No. 2 A	600	8	5 5	5 8
	600	7	5 0	5.4
Lateral No. 2 B	600	7	5 0	5.5
Lateral No 2 C	600	7	5 5	5 9
Lateral No. 2 D	700	7	6 0	6.2
Lateral No. 2 F	350	16	5 4	6.8
Lateral No. 2 F	500	9	7 0	7 0
	500	8	7 0	7 0
Lateral No. 2 G	1000	6	4 0	4 5
Lateral No 2 H	500	6	4 0	4 5
Lateral No 2 I	500	12	6 0	6 0
	1000	10	6 5	7 0
	One 14 inch Inlet
Lateral No. 2 I 1	700	6	4 0	4.5
Lateral No. 2 J	800	6	4 0	4.5
Lateral No. 2 K	800	6	4 0	4.5
Lateral No. 2 L	500	10	5 0	5.2
	1500	9	4.8	6.0
	1200	8	5 0	6.8
	350	7	4.4	5.0
	One 14 inch Inlet
Lateral No. 2 L 1	300	6	4 0	4.5
Lateral No. 2 M	300	6	4.0	4.5
Lateral No. 2 N	500	6	4.5	5.0
Lateral No. 2 O	500	7	5 5	6.0
	900	6	4.5	5.0
Lateral No. 2 O 1	400	6	4 5	5.0
Lateral No. 2 P	1600	12	5 2	5 8
	400	10	4.5	6.0
	1100	8	5 0	6.0
Lateral No. 2 Q	300	12	5.0	5.5
	600	9	5 0	5.5
	1200	12	5 5	6.0
	300	8	5 0	5.2
	500	7	4 5	5.5
Lateral No. 2 R	700	12	6 0	6.5
	400	7	5 0	5.4
Lateral No. 2 S	400	7	4 5	4.8
Lateral No. 2 T	1300	8	4.8	5.5
	900	7	5 5	6.0
	Section No. 5
Lateral No. 3	1000	14	6 0	7.5
	700	10	6.0	7.0
	1400	12	9 0	11 0
	400	10	8 0	9.0
	One 18 inch Inlet
Lateral No. 3 A	400	6	4 0	4.4
Lateral No. 3 B	100	10	6 0	6 5
	450	7	4 5	6 0
	150	6	4 0	4.6
Lateral No. 4 A	1300	18	6 0	8.5
	600	14	6 3	7.3
	1000	10	5 5	6.5
	1600	12	7 7	10.0
	3400	10	8.2	10.2
	Two 14 inch Inlets
Lateral No. 4 A 1	500	9	4 5	5.6
	1500	7	4.0	4.5
	400	6	4 0	4.6
Lateral No. 4 A 2	500	7	4.0	4.5
Lateral No. 4 A 3	300	6	4 0	4 5
Lateral No. 4 A 4	700	6	4 0	4.5
Lateral No. 4 A 5	500	7	4 5	5 0
	900	6	4 5	5.0
Lateral No. 4 A 6	950	7	5 0	6.0
Lateral No. 4 B	400	14	6 0	7.0
	800	10	6 5	8.5
	1950	8	6.6	9.5
Lateral No. 5	1000	14	6.7	8.0
Lateral No. 5½	1000	14	6.0	7.0
	One 18 inch Inlet
Lateral No. 6	700	18	9 0	10.6
	1300	16	7.9	9.0
	900	14	6.5	8.0
	400	10	5.0	5.5
	770	8	5.0	6.0
	One 24 inch Inlet

Work on construction shall commence thirty days after date of letting contract and contract to be completed on or before June 1, 1921.

All bids must be by section, specifying section or sections also bids must be separately made for main drain and each lateral; also separate bids must be made showing price bid for tile per 100 feet delivered along side of ditch; also, separate bids must be made showing price bid per 100 feet for digging, laying and back filling for sizes and depths as advertised; also, bid per 100 feet for each additional foot of depth above and below the depth advertised. Bids may be submitted for entire drain or improvement complete. The Board of Supervisors reserves the right to accept any part or all of any one bid, and reserves the right to reject any part or all of any one bid, or reject all bids.

All bids must be accompanied by cash or certified check in an amount equal to ten per cent of the amount of the bid. The successful bidders will be required to execute bond with sufficient sureties in favor of the County in an amount equal to twenty-five per cent of the cost estimated by the engineer. All bids to be on a form of tender furnished by the County Auditor.

E. D. HAECKER,
Auditor of Franklin County, Iowa
CHRIS JACOBS,
Auditor of Hancock County, Iowa
PAUL WEIGAND,
Auditor of Cerro Gordo County, Iowa

HOTEL KLEMME OPENED

WE Wish to announce to the Public that we will begin serving Meals next Monday. We especially desire to secure steady boarders and roomers.

Our Rates are Reasonable

Oscar Franzen, Prop.

Your Bank

if it is doing its full duty, is

Your Best Business Friend

Our most earnest desire is to merit the friendship of ev resident in this community, whether our customer or n It may be our experience has covered your particular uation. For disinterested advice bring your Busin Problems to us.

State Savings Ban
WHERE YOU GET THE SERVICE YOU LIKE AND LIKE THE SERVICE YOU GET
KLEMME, IA

Western States Lumber Co.

Lumber and Building Material

We are still doing business in a way that will be satisfactory to you and we will treat you the way you want to be treated. Our prices are fair and will compare very favorably with former prices in this trade territory.

We think this yard will always be a factor in the business community of Klemme and while we strive to help you we expect you ts consider the source of our opposition before you join with them in their methods of competition.

We are always willing to learn, but when we want someone to teach us where to head in at, it will have to be some one better than we.

Olof Brynteson, Agent

STOP WAISTING 50c BUTTERFAT!

The Curved Disc Bowl of the

"IOWA"

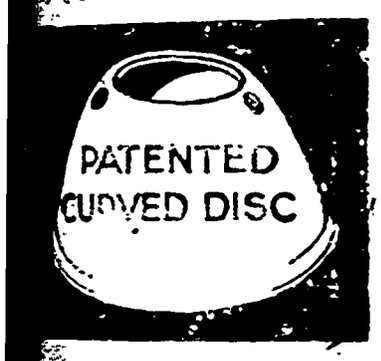
Cream Separator

Gets Every Drop of the Valuable Butterfat

Patented Curved Disc Bowl

Used Only in the "IOWA" Separator

In the Official Skimming Tests made by the Jury of Dairy Experts at the Panama-Pacific Exposition, the Iowa Cream Separator with the Curved Disc Bowl OUT-SKIMMED the De Laval and all other Cream Separators. The results of these skimming tests, together with other numerous skimming tests made on farms and in the Dairy Departments of leading Agricultural colleges, PROVE that the "IOWA" is the closest skimming Separator on the market.



"IOWA" Officially Praised

By Dairy Experts At The World's Fair

After a thorough investigation, not only of the skimming efficiency of each Separator, but also of the sanitary and mechanical features, the Jury of Dairy Experts at the Panama-Pacific Exposition awarded the "IOWA" Cream Separator the MEDAL OF HONOR---the highest award for an exclusive Dairy Farm Separator exhibit.

The Jury also made the following commendatory statement

"The CURVED DISC has shown under tests made by the Jury exceptional efficiency in skimming milk---and that this improvement (Curved Disc) is of great value to users of these machines."

The "IOWA" was the only Separator to receive a written statement of praise from this special Jury.

Women Like The "IOWA"

The women folks like the "IOWA" separator because it is so easy to turn and to clean. The one-piece steel supply can is only 33 inches from the floor, and therefore does away with the lifting of heavy cans of milk above the head. With the "IOWA" it is not necessary to lift a can full of milk to remove the tinware—simply swing it aside.

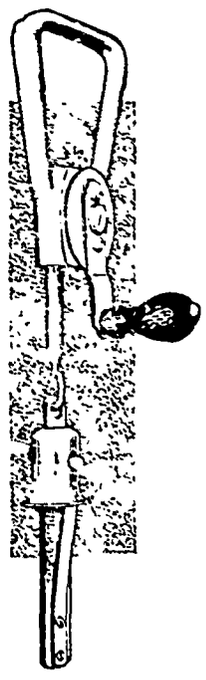
The Sanitary Disc Cleaner takes away much of the drudgery connected with washing and drying each disc separately. By means of this Patented Sanitary Cleaner you can wash, sterilize and dry the Curved Discs in less than two minutes, and the work is so easy that a child can do it.

Quality Materials Used in the "IOWA."

Finest quality in raw material combined with skilled workmanship insures highest quality in the finished product. Each gear is cut on Automatic Gear Cutting machinery, made especially for our requirements. All wearing parts of the "IOWA" Separator are made of special steel. All bearings are of the highest quality phosphor bronze. The result is a durable and light running Separator. Everything is done to produce the one best Separator, which will be not only the closest skimming, but the most durable, made.

The Curved Disc Bowl

Easy to Clean



The Patented Sanitary Disc Washer, furnished without charge with every "IOWA" Cream Separator, makes it easy to wash the Curved Discs. Simply attach the Patented Sanitary Cleaner to the discs on the cone sleeve without taking the discs apart. Turn the handle, rotating the discs beneath the wash water and the centrifugal force which drives the water over and between the discs cleans them more thoroughly than can be done with a rag or brush. Then by rotating the discs in scalding water, they are thoroughly sterilized. After sterilization they are taken out and perfectly dried by rotating in the air. Takes less than two minutes. With the patented Sanitary Cleaner the discs are kept in a sweet, clean and sanitary condition, insuring the production of the highest quality cream and butter.

Special Features of the "IOWA" Found in No Other Separator.

(1) THE CURVED DISC BOWL---used only in the "IOWA" Cream Separator. Takes out every drop of butterfat.

(2) GEARS---made of special high grade materials, and set in phosphor bronze bearings---makes the "IOWA" easy to turn.

(3) SUPPLY TANK---right height so that milk can be poured in easily. Supply tank 33 inches from floor.

(4) TINWARE---finest quality, heavily tin-plated---can not rust.

(5) FRAME---encloses all gears; dirt, dust and water-proof.

Before you buy your next Cream Separator, come in and see the "IOWA."

Durability of the "IOWA"

The "IOWA" is built of special high-grade materials, and no expense is spared to give you the Best Quality Separator at a moderate price. The Gears are of the spur and spiral type, set in Phosphor Bronze bushings, so that the "IOWA" is easy to turn. All gears are enclosed in a one-piece dust and waterproof, sanitary frame. This enclosing of the gears makes it absolutely safe and sanitary.

World's Best by Actual Test.

Henry Lau & Son, Klemme, Ia.

The CURVED BLADES

By CAROLYN WELLS

Author of "A Chain of Evidence," "The Gold Bag," "The Clue," "The White Alley," Etc.

CHAPTER XVI.—Continued.

"And when you brought it to her?"

"She merely took it and laid it in a drawer without even unwrapping the parcel. I never saw it again till I saw it 'round her neck.'

"And you do not think she placed it there herself?"

"I am sure she did not. The only reason I can ascribe for her wanting it is that she might have thought her dread of them a foolish whim and determined to accustom herself to the sight of them by means of the harmless toy. That's all I know about that snake, Mr. Stone. But the truth, as I have told it to you, is so strange, so almost unbelievable, that I knew it would only serve to attract suspicion to me, so I denied it. You know Miss Frayne is only waiting to pounce on it as complete evidence of my guilt."

"You and she are not good friends?"

"We have never been really friendly, though always polite on the surface of things. But she is jealous of me, and tried in every possible way to undermine my aunt's faith and trust in me, and even plotted to have me disinherited and my fortune bequeathed to herself."

"An ambitious plan!"

"She is ambitious. She intends to marry Mr. Haviland, and she intended to have my half of the Carrington money."

"You don't suspect her of the crime?" and Fleming Stone looked up quickly.

"Suspect is too strong a word. But to me there seems room for grave inquiries. I was in the hall at the time she declares I was in my aunt's room——"

"Wait a moment, Miss Stuart, isn't this a sort of deadlock? You say you were in the hall. Miss Frayne says you were in the boudoir. Why should I believe one in preference to the other?"

There was infinite sadness in Pauline's eyes as she looked at her questioner. "That is so," she said, slowly; "why should you? I have only my unsupported word. Nor has Anita any witness. But, Mr. Stone, I thought a detective always looked first of all for the motive. What reason could I have for—for killing my aunt?"

"You put it plainly, Miss Stuart, and I will reply in an equally straightforward vein. The first thing we detectives think of is: Who will benefit by the crime? Naturally, money benefit is first thought of. The greatest money benefit comes to you and your cousin in Egypt. The nature of the crime makes it impossible that he could have committed it. There is, however, a possibility of your own connection with it, so we must question you. But there are others who benefit in a pecuniary way by the death of Miss Carrington, so they, too, must be questioned. You surely see the justice and the necessity of all this investigation?"

"Oh, yes, and it seems to me also justice that you investigate the story of Miss Frayne. She, too, has only her own unsupported word as to that conversation she relates. May she not have made it all up?"

"She has a witness, Miss Stuart, a credible witness. Mr. Haviland has told me that he saw Miss Frayne at the door of the boudoir at about 1:15."

"Gray saw her! He didn't tell me this. Mr. Stone, I hate to speak ill of another woman, but Miss Frayne can really wind Gray Haviland 'round her finger, and I have no doubt she has persuaded him to give this evidence whether——"

"Whether it is true or not?"

"Yes, that is what I meant, though I hated to say it."

"Miss Stuart, it is often hard to tell when a man speaks the truth, but I have no reason to disbelieve Mr. Haviland's statement. He told quite circumstantially of being up and down all night. He was restless and wandered about in several rooms during the small hours. You know he told of seeing the maid on the stairs. And he gives me the impression of a truthful witness who would not lie outright even at the behest of a woman in whom he is interested."

"Then they are going to suspect me?" Pauline's voice was so full of despair that Fleming Stone caught his breath as he looked at her. Her great eyes were wide with fear, her hands were clenched and her whole body tense with horrified suspense.

"Give me some good reasons why you cannot be suspected," he cried, eagerly leaning forward in his chair. "Give me some proof that you were in the hall at that moment, or that you were in your own room, or——"

"That proves, Mr. Stone, that you do suspect me! Your assumption that I could have been in my own room shows that you do not believe I was in the hall—as I was."

"Then why didn't Miss Frayne see you there?"

"How do you know she didn't? Why do you accept her words as truth, yet disbelieve mine?" Pauline had risen now and stood before him. Her tall slimness, her wonderful grace and her beautiful, angry countenance made an alluring picture. "I was not in favor of your taking this case, Mr. Stone, and I am even less so, now, that you refuse to believe what I say! I shall cable at once for my cousin to return. I do not wish Gray Haviland and Anita Frayne to arraneg all this to suit themselves. I am mistress here in Mr. Loria's absence, and if my authority is doubted I want him here to stand up for me!"

"Just a moment, Miss Stuart. You are not entirely just to me. It is necessary for me to question you, but you must see that your innocence—of which I have no doubt—will be more easily established by a policy of frankness on your part, than by futile anger toward Miss Frayne or Mr. Haviland. The incident of the paper snake, as explained by you, is not necessarily incriminating, and if you will wait a few days before calling your cousin home, I think very likely you will prefer not to do so. I understand that you do not wish him to come, unless he can be of assistance to you?"

"Yes, that is his desire, to stay over there unless I want him. But, Mr. Stone," and now the lovely face was almost smiling, "if you mean what you said, that you do not doubt my innocence, then I will not send for Mr. Loria. I am content to let it all rest in your hands."

The girl's beauty now was dazzling. Color showed in her cheeks, her eyes shone, and the curve of her exquisite red lips was almost a smile. Stone looked at her in amazement. He had spoken truly, he had not doubted her innocence, but this sudden elation on her part puzzled him. What did it mean? Only, as she meant it to seem, that if he believed in her innocence it could be easily proved? Well, he would accept that diagnosis of her attitude, but he would move warily. This case was unlike any other he had ever engaged in, so he must attack it in a different way. And first of all, he must decide which of these two women was speaking the truth. Yet, how could he decide? If Pauline had been in that room when Anita listened at the door, she would, of course, try to prove that she was elsewhere. But, in such a case, why not say she was in her own room? It wasn't plausible that she should confess to being in the hall, if she were really in the boudoir. That, then, was in Pauline's favor. But the conversation detailed by Anita? That must be further analyzed.

These thoughts flew through Stone's quick moving brain as he stood looking at his beautiful hostess.

"Puzzling it out, Mr. Stone?" and Pauline's smile was a full fledged one now; "perhaps I can help you. If you'll accept my assistance without doubting my word, I'm sure we can do wonders in a detective way."

This was not in Pauline's favor. It was too much like bargaining with him to believe her innocent. Then, too, though all unconscious of it, Stone was influenced by the wonderful charm of the girl. Though her lips were smiling a little, her great dark eyes still held that look of fear, that hunger for protection, that desire for someone on whom to lean.

"And I won't send for my cousin just yet," she went on. "It's too bad to call him home when he's so busy over there. You know, Mr. Stone, that Mr. Loria is a wonderful man. His achievements in excavation have brought him fame and glory. And you mustn't think he's heartless because he doesn't return at once. You know it was all arranged for us to go over there next month and he had made all sorts of plans for us and for himself. He can't leave his work at a moment's notice, unless, as he says, I have need of him."

"Was he fond of his aunt?" inquired Stone, casually.

"He was her idol. To Aunt Lucy the sun rose and set in Carr. She was perfectly crazy to go on this trip to Egypt, in order to be with him. He was fond of her, yes. More so than I was, because she was always kind and good natured to him, while she was always unpleasant to me."

"Why was she?"

"I don't know. Well, I suppose I may as well tell you, one reason was because she was always envious of anyone whom whom she considered better looking than she was herself. This may sound strange to you, Mr. Stone, but it was the keynote of my aunt's existence. She adored beauty in every way—pictures, clothes, everything—but she was so sensitive about her own plainness, that a younger or prettier face made her, at times, irritable and even cruel. She would never engage a servant with any pretensions to good looks. Therefore, as she chose to consider Miss Frayne and myself of comely personal appearance, she was unkind to us both."

"And Mr. Loria? Is he not handsome?"

"Oh, yes, very. But Aunt Lucy liked handsome men. Carr Loria is like a picture. His father was of Italian descent, and Carr has the clear olive skin and dark beauty of that race. Gray Haviland is good looking, too, but it was only feminine prettiness that stirred up Aunt Lucy's ire."

"Why did she ever engage such an angel face as Miss Frayne?

Fleming Stone watched closely for a sign of irritation at this speech, and saw it. Pauline's smile faded and she said, abruptly:

"Do you think her so beautiful?"

"She has the perfect blonde fairness usually typified by the celestial white robed creatures on the old canvases."

"Yes, Anita is a perfect example of a blonde. Why, she is the daughter of an old schoolmate of my aunt's, and so that's why Aunt Lucy took her, and then she proved such an efficient secretary and such a patient, meek thing to scold, that she kept her position."

"Miss Frayne doesn't seem so extraordinarily meek to me."

"No, indeed! She's not meek at all. But she always was to Miss Carrington. That, of course, to keep the position, which was both easy and lucrative. Easy, that is, except for my aunt's temper. That was vented on poor Anita, morning, noon and night."

"That, then, might give us a motive for Miss Frayne's desire to be rid of her cruel mistress and to get the inheritance that she knew would come to her at Miss Carrington's death."

Pauline shuddered. "I can't think of such a thing, Mr. Stone, but, if anybody in this house is to be suspected of the awful thing it can be no one but Anita. She tried, I know, to supplant me in my aunt's affection, and to have my inheritance, or part of it, transferred to herself."

"You know this?"

"Yes. For some time she has been making insinuations and telling my aunt tales about me—untrue ones—that would make Aunt Lucy angry at me. I tell you this, Mr. Stone, because I want you to know Anita Frayne as she really is."

There was the ring of sincerity in the tone, there was a look of truth in the big, dark eyes, and there was a most appealing expression on the lovely face that gazed into his own, but Fleming Stone turned from the speaker with a polite but decided gesture of dismissal, saying, "Please ask Miss Frayne to come here a few moments."

XVII.

THE OVERHEARD CONVERSATION

Awaiting the arrival of Anita Frayne, Stone thought rapidly. Forming his judgments, as always, more by impressions than by words, he found himself believing in Pauline Stuart. She had bought the paper snake, she had lied about it, but many women have done the same. Knowing that the purchase of the toy meant definite suspicion, wouldn't any innocent girl have feared and dreaded that exposure? If she had been guilty, she would scarcely have dared deny the facts of buying it, lest it be proved against her, and make matters worse. Again, it was impossible to connect that magnificent woman with crime! If she were connected with it, it could only be as the criminal herself. There was no theory that admitted of her being an accomplice, or a tool. Stay, there was that Loria man. Stone couldn't rid himself of a vague idea of implicating the distant nephew by means of an accomplice on the spot. But the notion was not logical. If Pauline had killed her aunt under her cousin's instructions, she was just as much a murderer as if she had done it entirely on her own initiative. And if the two cousins had conspired or worked in collusion, it was Stone's duty to fasten the deed on Pauline, as the available one of the pair. Stone ran over in his mind the letter from Loria. It gave no hint of greed or cupidity in his nature. He was engrossed in the pursuit of his hobby, archaeology, and was only willing to leave his work if that would definitely please his cousin, on whom, he fully appreciated, the responsibilities of the occasion would fall. He fully trusted Gray Haviland to look after all business affairs, so he was not a suspicious or over careful nature. He asked no immediate money and only desired some, in the course of time, to further his work. Whatever might be the truth, there was no reason to cast a glance of suspicion toward Carrington Loria. His opinion of Pauline's possible guilt Stone held in abeyance, and Miss Frayne entering he greeted her with punctilious politeness and a confidential air, tending to put her at ease.

"Miss Frayne," he began, "the situation is a grave one. I am forced to the conclusion, tentatively at least, that Miss Carrington was deliberately poisoned by some of her own household. It may have been a servant, but it is difficult to imagine how or why a servant could accomplish the deed. At any rate, I must first consider the members of the family, and in so doing, I must request absolute truth and sincerity from all."

"I'm sure I've no reason to equivocate, Mr. Stone," and Anita's voice was almost flippant. "All I've told what I heard at Miss Carrington's door is absolutely true, and I can repeat it word for word."

"It seems strange you have it so accurately at your tongue's end."

"Not at all. I went to my room and wrote it down as soon as I heard it. I often make such memoranda. They are frequently useful later."

Fleming Stone mused. This seemed a strange thing to do, at least in view of the later events, but then, if Miss Frayne had been the guilty one, and had made up all this story of overheard conversation, surely she would not have done anything so peculiar as to make that detailed memorandum; or if she did, would not have told of it.

"I have, of course, a copy of that memorandum," continued Stone; "what I want is for you to tell me again why you think it could not have been entirely a soliloquy on the part of Miss Carrington."

"For two reasons. First, I have lived with the lady four years, and never have I known her to talk to herself or soliloquize aloud. Of course, this does not prove that she never did so, but I know it was not her habit. Second, nobody in soliloquy ever would use that definite intonation which is always used in speaking to a person. You know yourself, Mr. Stone, that a soliloquy is voiced slowly, mumblingly and usually in disjointed or partially incoherent sentences. The talk I heard was in clear, concise speeches, unmistakably addressed to somebody present. She could not in a soliloquy use that direct form of address, even if talking to someone in her imagination. She would not keep it up, but would go off in a reverie or drop into impersonal thought. I wish I could make this more clear to you."

(Continued Next Week.)

SAGE TEA DARKENS HAIR TO ANY SHADE

Don't stay Gray! Here's an Old-time Recipe that Anybody can Apply.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is mussy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.—Adv.

Close to Being Twins.

Two little girls, dressed alike, entered a store, when the man coming to wait on them said: "Are you little girls twins?" "Well, Pretty near," said one of them; "there's only a pound difference."

GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER

Has been used for all ailments that are caused by a disordered stomach and inactive liver, such as sick headache, constipation, sour stomach, nervous indigestion, fermentation of food, palpitation of the heart caused by gases in the stomach. August Flower is a gentle laxative, regulates digestion both in stomach and intestines, cleans and sweetens the stomach and alimentary canal, stimulates the liver to secrete the bile and impurities from the blood. Sold in all civilized countries. Give it a trial.—Adv.

Whenever you see a man in a seedy coat entering a saloon no explanation is necessary.

Taken from Nature—The wild and barks that go into the compo of one of the oldest and best blood-tonics are gathered mostly reservations—brought or shipped Pierce's Laboratory in Buffalo, N.

Dr. Pierce discovered 50 years that Nature has provided freely needs of her children and that laboratory were the remedies. Extr Queen's root, Stone root, Black C bark and Bloodroot, as prepared, bined and preserved without alcoh Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Dis constitute the most effective and tonic, alterative and tissue-rebu remedy ever offered to the public. tonic soon became known all ov world.

It is purely vegetable and free alcohol or narcotics. It will scar impure and poisonous matter and it from the system. Buy it now in or liquid. All druggists, or send Dr Buffalo, N. Y., 10c for trial packa

It will clear the skin; eczema, pi rash, blotches will dry up and disa boils, carbuncles and other eviden tainted blood will pass away.

DON'T LET YO CALVES DIE from Scours or Calf Ch

Many die and all are ruined if these are neglected. Both can positively be and overcome with

DR. DAVID ROBER Calf Cholera Re

At our dealers or POSTPAID $1.

Consult DR. DAVID RO about all animal ailme formation free. Send fo list of medicines and ge copy of "The Cattle Specialist" with in mation on Abortion in Cows. DR DAVID R VETERINARY CO., 100 Grand Ave., Wauke

IT'S NOT YOUR HEART; IT'S YOUR KIDNE

Kidney disease is no respecter of persons. A majority of the ills afflicting people today can be traced back to the kidney trouble.

The kidneys are the most important organs of the body. They are the filterers of your blood. If the poisons which are swept from the tissues by the blood are not eliminated through the kidneys, disease of one form or another will claim you as a victim.

Kidney disease is usually indicated by weariness, sleeplessness, nervousness, despondency, backache, stomach trouble, pain in loins and lower abdomen, gall stones, gravel, rheumatism, sciatica and lumbago.

All these derangements are nature's signals that the kidneys need Y You should use GOLD MEDAL H lem Oil Capsules immediately. soothing, healing oil stimulates kidneys, relieves inflammation and stroys the germs which have cause Go to your druggist today and g box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Capsules. In twenty-four hours should feel health and vigor retur

After you feel somewhat impr continue to take one or two cap each day, so as to keep the first condition and ward off the dange other attacks.

Ask for the original imported G MEDAL brand. Three sizes. Money funded if they do not help you.

Finest Burley Tobacco
Mellow-aged till Perfect
+ a dash of Chocolate

Tuxedo

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe

"Your Nose Know

Guaranteed by
The American Tobacco
INCORPORATED

Sheriff in Tennessee must be a man of brawn & vigor

Mr. B. W. D. Barnes, of Warren County, Measures up to Requirements.

HIS LIFE A STIRRING ONE

Always in robust health, B. W. D. Barnes could ride, shoot and get his man. He was everything a sheriff in Warren Co., Tennessee, should be until overtaken by a complication of catarrhal troubles the stomach, bowels or other organs, Dr. Hartman's Famous Peruna Tonic has been a standard household remedy for forty-five years.

...just get him down. ...the story told in his own ...had throat trouble from ...relief seemed possible. My ...nose. Finally I decided ...Peruna and was entirely ...four bottles. That was ...ago. I am now as well ...able to ride all the time. ...Peruna."

...Sheriff Barnes, thousands ...present health to Peruna. ...of the head, nose and ...internal inflammation of

If you are sick and suffering, write The Peruna Company, Dept. A, Columbus, Ohio, for Dr. Hartman's Health Book. It is free. Your dealer has Peruna in both tablet and liquid form. If you want health, insist upon having Peruna. Your dealer will give you a Peruna Almanac.

RIGHT WAY...

...all cases of Pinkeye, Influ-... etc. ...brood mares, colts, ...stallions, is to ...THEM"

...or in the feed put ...Compound. Give the ...of them. It acts on the ...It routs the disease ...the disease germs. It wards ...no matter how they are ...Absolutely free from any- ...A child can safely take ...druggists, harness dealers, ...express paid by the manu- ...Special Agents Wanted.

...MEDICAL CO., GOSHEN, IND., U. S. A.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
A toilet preparation of merit. Helps to eradicate dandruff. For Restoring Color and Beauty to Gray or Faded Hair. 60c and $1.00 at Druggists.

...money, no more, no less. Secure ...and $1.00 or any multiple. Ranch ...Land & Cattle Co., Fresno, Mont.

...TY PTG. CO., NO. 14--1919.

...GERS FROM MOUTH

...of Infection Proved to Be ...This Habit, Altogether ...Too Common.

...I became a man I put away ...," and hence the aphorism, ...but children of a larger

...the first acts of volition is ...child puts its hands, or any- ...can get hold of to its mouth. ...reason, this instinct con- ...through life. If saliva ...green color we would be ...our hands. Most ...are now believed to ...through the mouth, with ... As a matter of ...carry our fingers to ...many times a day ...transmit to ourselves ...have spread about. ...instinct it has become ...comment seems su- ...H. Glover, Colorado ..., Fort Collins, Col-

Too Risky.

...I'll have the prettiest ..."

...you, for I know that ...you are going straight

...that which you seek. The ...everything he suck into ...into venom.—Portu-

Peerless Chick Food

...and poultry food are the — Best for Ohlokens —

Ask for prices and samples

Akron Milling Company, Sioux City, Iowa

State and County Agents make money selling Best Steering Device for Ford cars. Why not you? Auto Steer Co., Rockford, Ill.

STREETS WITH ODD PAVING

Few Civilized Towns Would Care to Duplicate Thoroughfare Known to Exist in Africa.

Paris, we are told, is to be paved with glass, and this has been referred to as if it were quite unknown. However, this is not so, for Lyons already has the Rue de la Republique, with its glass pavements laid in blocks 8 inches square, so closely fitted that water cannot pass through them.

But streets of glass are not by any means the most curious streets in the world. There is a street in Gwandu, Africa, which is a veritable place of skulls. The town, oval in shape, has round it a ring of poles, every one of which is crowned with a human skull. There are six gates to the town, and every one of them is approached by a pavement of skulls, of which something like 12,000 were used. The pavement is snowy white.

Philadelphia has a street made with compressed grass, and the experiment promised so well after a year that there may soon be many companion streets of grass.

In One Way.

"Ma, my arithmetic teacher is a woman with a serpent's tongue."

"How can you talk so Willie of such a nice lady?"

"Well, she's an adder and she."

A clock keeps on working when it goes on a strike; that's where it gets the bulge on a man.

SEVEN YEAR ITCH.

The veterans of the civil war tell us how seven-year itch spread over the country after the soldiers returned home. So striking was the connection between the seven-year itch and soldiers that the common name for the disease about that time was camp itch. Some of the old timers have been scaring the younger generations with stories of seven year itch waiting right around the corner, even saying that the disease had already been scattered broadcast.

The Kentucky Medical Journal deems it advisable to tell the people that the stories about the wide prevalence of scabies, army itch, camp itch, seven-year itch or prairie itch are not true. Things have been done differently in this war and we do not have to be afraid to walk on the same side of the street with a soldier lest we catch something.

At the embarkation hospital at Newport News the authorities established a scabies ward for the treatment of seven year itch. They had to care for only 162 men. How different the experience of 1861-65.

Seven year itch is so named because it is popularly supposed to last seven years, in the army lest a time cured it in less than seven days. This is their method. The soldier stripped off his clothing and bathed his skin with soap using a brush for the purpose. He paid special attention to the tops from the sole of the feet. This rubbing and subsequent washing took about half an hour. After drying he rubbed his body thoroughly, covering every square inch of skin with the following ointment:

Sulphur precipitated	30 parts
Kerosene	4 to 5 parts

The soldiers were then given clean clothes, while their old clothes were left on a rope. The next morning they were given a bath and a light meal. The washing of their underclothes and bedding was left until after the evening meal. Every article of clothing, sheets, blankets and bedding which had been in the patient's ward was sterilized by heat (150 degrees or over). Every case was cured.

Cranston goes the army method several better. His method is called the one day method. At night he scrubs the skin from the neck down with green soap, using a brush. This takes 15 minutes. The soap is washed off with hot water using a brush. The washing and rubbing should take 30 minutes. The ointment runs in the following:

Ichthyol	.10
Sulphur sublimated	.12
Carbonate of potash	6
Triturated calomel	2
Grease	.60

The next morning he washes this off with hot sulphur water. This takes 15 minutes.

Sulphur water is made by putting three ounces of hepar sulphur in a pint of water and letting it stand all night. The next morning this is poured into the bath water. After taking the bath in sulphur water the man dresses in clothing that has been sterilized by heat. All clothing and bed clothes which have been in contact with the patient are sterilized by heat.

After the War.

When Kaiser Bill's embattled Huns were doing stunts with swords and guns, you were a dead game sport, we know, who breathed defiance to the foe. No sacrifice was then too great, you wished to squelch that Willhelm skate, and everything for which he stood, and you were busy sawing wood. You sold the cow, your car you pawned, so you could buy another bond. With loyal boys you held the fort, you were in truth a dead game sport. And now that all's war is done, we've placed the kibosh on the Hun, have gained for man a brighter day—but there are many bills to pay. In wartime you were great, my friend, don't be a piker at the end. Our Uncle Sam he needs a pile and has to borrow it awful soon. He needs it for his army and he needs it for his navy, and we should scorn another loan if we should scorn our bonded legs and offer him the dough in kegs. Are we less loyal than we were when we were lifting freedom from the mire? I wot not, and I wot not, but I'll bet our Uncle Sam to-day. He needs all kinds of large round dollars with which to dig the dugouts from out the mud. And we'll help, you say to him! And we'll be a piker at the end, friend. Don't be a piker at the end.

Copyright by George Matthew Adams.

Time to Fight.

From Ben Burgan Age Herald: When I was at Camp Pike, as [illegible] adjutant, and Maj. Earle S. [illegible] was in Nebraska [illegible] who [illegible] a negro soldier [illegible] arrested one day and stated to me that [illegible] was a conscientious objector and [illegible] he was from Alabama he wanted me to talk to him.

The first thing I did was to command him to stand at attention instead of taking an easy chair he saw near by. He noticed my southern accent and immediately looked me over. Finally he said: "Majah, ain't you from de south?" I replied that I was. Then I asked him what church he belonged to and he replied that he was a Baptist. I told him that if he was a Baptist, and claimed to be a conscientious objector, he was a liar and knew it, for Baptists were fighting folks, and especially Alabama Baptists, white or black. Then the negro said:

"Boss, I se gwine to come clean wid you. I se been a barber down at Jaffney, Ala., all my life, and I never is done no hard work, and when dis here little Nebraska lieutenant put me to digging ditches clean across Kansas I jest natcherally white eyed on de job, and I 'cided dat I'd be a conscious 'jector fur jest long nuff to get good and rested. I'se had 'bout fo days' rest now, and I spects if it's all right wid you dat I'd better git on back to my outfit, fur I sees dere ain't no use trying to fool one of my own white folks!"

A Summing Up.

He won no fame with sword or pen,
No problems he made clear;
Amid the eager throngs of men
None pressed his words to hear.

He found no lands unknown before,
Brought freedom to no slave,
Unearthed no wisdom known of yore,
No glittering bounty gave.

From Nature's hand no wealth he won,
He gained no cross nor palm,
By him no splendid deed was done,
He wrought no shameful harm.

So countless millions pass their days
In useless lives, we're taught.
Who dares go read God's hidden ways—
And say these lives are naught?

—Tudor Jenks in the Outlook.

There's a rich, satisfying, old-time flavor to that no substitute can ever equal.

The Original POSTUM CEREAL

A healthful drink that leaves no trace of harm, a beverage grateful to the stomach, that never upsets nerves, heart or digestion as does sometimes coffee.

Boil just like coffee

Boil thoroughly (15 minutes after boiling begins) make it rich and dark and you have something that makes your meal doubly enjoyable.

"There's a Reason"

At Grocers—two sizes 15c & 25c.

DANDRUFF MAKES HAIR FALL OUT

A small bottle of "Danderine" keeps hair thick, strong, beautiful.

Girls! Try this! Doubles beauty of your hair in a few moments.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine for a few cents at any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.—Adv.

Had to Try Another.

Benevolent Old Gent—But that is not the same tale that you told me a few days ago, my man!

Cheerful Mendicant—No, mister; you didn't believe that one.—London Tit-Bits.

Watch Cuticura Improve Your Skin. On rising and retiring gently smear the face with Cuticura Ointment. Wash off Ointment in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water. It is wonderful sometimes what Cuticura will do for poor complexions, dandruff, itching and red rough hands.—Adv.

The worst man is sometimes capable of giving advice.

Constipated Children Gladly Take

"California Syrup of Figs"

For the Liver and Bowels

Tell your druggist you want genuine "California Syrup of Figs." Full directions and dose for babies and children of all ages who are constipated, bilious, feverish, tongue-coated, or full of cold, are plainly printed on the bottle. Look for the name "California" and accept no other "Fig Syrup."

Proof.

"So you think you have a forgiving nature?" "I must have. I always go back to the same dentist."

The Mode of Conveyance.

"Sometimes I have traveled miles in my dreams." "Then you must have done it on a nightmare."

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

Bayer-Tablets OF Aspirin

The "Bayer Cross" on Genuine Tablets

"A Blessing for Humanity in Pain!"

For Headache	Lame Back	Colds
Neuralgia	Lumbago	Grippe
Toothache	Joint Pains	Influenzal Colds
Achy Gums	Sciatica	Stiff Neck
Earache	Gout	Distress
Rheumatism	Neuritis	Pain! Pain!

Proved Safe by Millions! American Owned!

Adults—Take one or two "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" with water. If necessary, repeat dose three times a day, after meals.

20 cent Bayer packages—also larger Bayer packages.
Buy Bayer packages only—Get original package.

Cave Culture.

The Professor of Anthropology—The intelligence of the cave man was but little above that of the lower animals.

The Sophomore—Then where did they get all those scientific names for their animals, like plesiosaurus, and such.

Fresh, sweet, white, dainty clothes for baby, if you use Red Cross Ball Blue. Never streaks or injures them. All good grocers sell it, 5c a package.

Catching a weasel asleep is easy compared to the job of finding some folks awake.

Discreditable Association.

"Why should the bolshevists have selected red for their emblem?"

"I don't know," replied the artist. "It's a libel on a mighty attractive and valuable color."

Important to Mothers

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, that famous old remedy for infants and children, and see that it

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use for Over 30 Years.

Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria

Sorrow's best cure is employment.

"Yes, I tried it, but I went back to Royal."

This is the experience of most women who have been tempted to try so-called cheaper baking powders which almost always contain alum and often leave a bitter taste.

Royal Baking Powder

Absolutely Pure

Made from Cream of Tartar derived from grapes

Royal Contains No Alum—
Leaves No Bitter Taste

Easter Aides by the Dozen are your reward for a trip to Patton Bros. store this week---whether you heed them or not.

It's a pleasure for us to show you the fresh new goods and should be pleasent for you to see them.

Whether its a suit for the boy or a suit for Father, you'll enjoy making a selection from the wide ranges we show. From grandchild to grandpa, here are suit of unequalled style and value--sure to please---bound to satisfy.

Our Boys Department is a great store in itself. Everything for boys. Send us your mail orders.

PATTON BROS.

Mason City, Iowa

"Where a dollar does it's duty"

We are now selling

Sweet Home Bread

Try a loaf today; it's sure good!

We also have a fine assortment of Rolls, Bismarks, Buns, Cookies, Dough-nuts, Cakes, etc.

"If It's To Eat---We Have It"

CRYSTAL CAFE

Elder & Fuller, Props.

DOCTOR MISSMAN

PHYSICIAN SURGEON

OFFICE--State Savings Bank Building, 'Phone No. 1105

RESIDENCE--North of Park, 'Phone No. 1109

X-Ray Radiographs Electrical Treatments

Eyes Tested Glasses Fitted

Now is the time to make a noise like Spring!

Now is the time to make plans for this year's garden. We have everything you need in that line:-

Garden Spades Forks Hoes

Rakes Plows Garden Seeds

Don't overlook your Lawn or Flowers

Better get some of our Grass Seed and Flower Seeds. Buy a Lawn Mower.

J. W. WATERMAN

The City Dray Line

Is prepared to do your hauling carefully and promptly
Your patronage is respectfully solicited.
Charges Reasonable.

Henry P. Yahnke, Prop.

Coal Hauling Done

Elmer Lawhorn started work for Ally White Tuesday.

Arthur Wade spent Sunday visiting friends at Wesley.

A. Kelley, of Garner, was a business caller here Tuesday.

Elmer Schmidt drove over to Garner Tuesday for a short visit.

Wallace Carr and Mr. Palmer, were in Klemme Tuesday buying horses.

We make a specialty of Children's Hair-cutting and Bobbing. McCullough Barber Shop. Adv-tf.

H. R. Allaben, the photographer of Goodell, was in Klemme Tuesday taking pictures.

W. H. Ramsay, of Garner, was in Klemme on business Tuesday between trains.

Mrs. C. H. Thompkins and children returned Tuesday from their visit at Forest City.

To mRedding, of Garner, was helping J. B. Mack do some painting here the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewis were Garner visitors between trains Tuesday.

The Misses Beulah and Esther Harberts and the Misses Angeline and Dorothy Mossel, were Belmond visitors Saturday.

George Musefelt, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Rice, autoed over to Clarion Monday. Dewey will work in Cad Zeiger's Cigar Store there Philip Bock autoed to Garner last Friday evening. We understand Phil had a little tough luck in the way of a blow-out and getting stuck.

Clarence Johnson drove over to Garner Sunday afternoon for a short visit with his sister, Hulda, who is nursing there.

Miss Lenora Schultz, of Garner, was an over Sunday visitor at the home of her brother, Walter, and family.

Miss Irene Beadle spent Sunday with her folks at Forest City, also attendingt he teachers' institute at Garner Monday and Tuesday.

D. B. Anderson is getting his new house in Morning Side addition pretty well under way and if he rushes the work as he has been doing will soon have it completed.

Clarence Johnson accompanied Lee Ell to Mason City last Saturday afternoon and returned Sunday with his Stutz roadster which he had stored there over winter.

Take your laundry to McCullough's Barber Shop, agency for New Process Laundry where they wash everything but the kids, and return everything but the dirt. Adv-tf.

Prof. Thompkins and family spent Sunday with his folks near Forest City.

J. B. Mack reports that he will soon have the G. W. Kluckhohn residence finished. Mack is doing a lot of interior decorating in the Kluckhohn home.

The teachers of the Klemme schools were at Garner Monday and Tuesday attending the County Teachers' Institute They report a very interesting and instructive meeting.

The road leading into Klemme from the west has been in bad condition the past two weeks and a King Drag would put it in condition. Get busy whoever is supposed to attend to it.

Messrs. A. Kelley and Aug. Katter, of Garner, were in Klemme the latter part of last week attending a meeting of the directors of the State Savings Bank.

Miss Mildred McCullough, of Garner, came Wednesday evening for a visit with her brother, G. P. While here she was also a guest of Miss Arvella Emerson.

Leo and Cletus Kriz and the Misses Donna Baumgartner and Beth Pritchard drove over from Garner last Friday evening to attend the Declamatory Contest here.

Mrs. Fred Kluckhohn of Austin, Minn., was an over Sunday visitor at the G. W. Kluckhohn home. George Kluckhohn also came down for an over Sunday visit, he has been up there several weeks helping out on the farm.

Hugo Neff came Monday to get ready for work in the J. W. Waterman store for the 1st of April. Mr. Neff has had a lot of experience in clerking and will be a valuable man for Mr. Waterman. Hugo just returned from over-seas' duties a few weeks ago.

Dr. L. R. Parsons left last Saturday for Grinnel, Mrs. Parsons and daughter Dorris left for the same place the day before, wheret hey will visit with relatives and friends for a week or more. The doctor is enjoying a vacation after his strenuous rush in the winter dental business.

Mr. F. K. Mitchner, the blacksmith who has been working at the W. F. Pavey shop, left Saturday for Cedar Rapids. Mr. Mitchner has purchased a shop near Cedar Rapids and will take possession of it at once. While here Mr. Mitchner has made a host of friends who regretted his leaving, but not any more than does Pavey for he was a most skilled mechanic and a valuable man for the shop.

Mrs. A. H. Meyer returned Tuesday from her visit at Dows.

G. P. McCullough spent Sunday with Garner relatives and friends.

Chris Blumer drove over to Garner Tuesday morning on business.

Wm. Lau was over to Garner Tuesday morning on business.

FOR SALE—12 months' old Red Scotch Topped Short-Horn Bull, ready for service. Emil W. Lau. tf.

Miss Esther Blumer is spending the week in the country visiting with her sister, Mrs. Tim Waddingham.

Clarence Elder who has been quite ill the past week is making rapid improvements and is now able to be up.

J. A. Bufkin, of Garner, was in Klemme on business Tuesday afternoon.

Ray Miner, of Garner, drove over to Klemme Saturday evening on business.

Charlie Schoenwetter, of Garner, was a business caller in Klemme on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lew Knoke drove over to Garner Sunday afternoon for a short visit.

Nick Ell brought a couple of Fords over from Hampton Monday. He sold one to Wellemeyer and the other to M. O Barr.

E. C. Ford, of Garner, was a business caller in Klemme last Saturday. Ed was writing life insurance here that day and wrote several thousand.

Sam Harvey has resigned his position at the City Meat Market and has gone to work in the F. H. Ridder garage.

J. N. Day and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smith and Miss Mable Smith, all autod to Garner Sunday for a visit with the L. H. Yost family

Dr. R. W. Schultz, Osteopath of Garner, will be at the Klemme Hotel on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 11:30 a. m. to 2:00 p. m. adv.

The Misses Angeline and Dorothy Mossel spent a few days the past week with friends and school mates at Goodell.

THE HIGH SCHOOL DECLAMATORY CONTEST

Last Friday evening the High School Declamatory Contest was held at the Idle Hour Theatre to a crowded house, in fact standing room was at a premium. It was the first contest ever held by the Klemme High School and the showing they made adds honors to the school. All of the selections were given in a very good manner and the judges, after much deliberation assigned the following positions to the winners:

In the Oratorical Class Lulu Neuberger captured first place with Fred Arnold a close second. In the Dramatic Class Mable Waterman took first honors with Edith Haupt holding second place. The winners of the Humorous Class were Adna Church as first, and Mildred Johnson as second.

The program was intervened with musical numbers and selections and a reading was given by Mrs. Satterfield while the judges were making their decision.

The judges of the conest wer Co. Supt. J. R. Baggs; Miss Ann Taylor, Prin. of Garnr High School, and Attorney W. H. Ramsay, of Garner.

MESERVEY SOME GOOD (?) TOWN

Tuesday we received a post card in our mail and we were quite surprised to find that it was post-marked "Meservey." We thought that town was dead from the ears up and the rest of it buried and that it was now one of thoset owns that are not on the map, but you read about in ancient history. Turning the card over we observed the picture of a man just getting out of bed as the alarm clock on the wall was ringing, the man must have been at raveling man that got stranded there, anyway he was yawning like a hypocrit at a prayer meeting and the following lines were printed along side the picture: "People are just beginning to wake up to the fact that Meservey, Ia , is Some Good Town." Signed, "Meservey Boosters." The question in our mind is, good for what? A cemetery would be a noisy summer resort compared to that town.

A little while ago the American knitter laid aside the needles which she had plied so steadily for many long, anxious months. She thought that her task was done. And so did we. But now another call comes—a call from the half-clothed, half-red, refugees of Europe—a call for warm stockings and sweaters and knitted things—a call which every knitter can help to answer.

So our knitters are needed again. There is a good supply of yarn on hand. It is hand yarn and if it is not used in this way, it may be wasted.

Every loyal Red Cross worker is asked to use this yarn so that far-away refugees, returning to devastated homes to begin life over again, may not be quite so cold.

Chapters have already received their quotas. So the work can go on without delay

We have it! Wh

Everything

Which is found in only the best most up-to-date Meat Markets

You will always find a comp line of Choice Meats, Hams, Ba Fancy Meats and Canned Goo

Try Our Oleomargarine---It's Fi

J. P. Larsen & So

Goverment Inspected Investments

When looking for an absolu tely safe and investment consider our Certificates of Deposit.

All the assets of this bank are behind them, and assets are subject to the most rigorous examination goverment officials at regular periods.

Besides their unquestioned safty they pay a l rate of interest.

There is hardly any other form of investment of all these advantages.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Klemme Io

Subscribe Today at $1

All Kinds of Hardware

HARDWARE AND GROCERIES

Stoves and Furnaces

Paints, Oils, Feed, Flour, Cream Separators, Bugg Wagons, Gasoline Engines.

All Kinds of Farm Machinery

GREUTZMACHER BRO

KLEMME DRAY LINE

LLOYD LAU, PROPRIETOR

A share of your patronage is solicited.

All work attended to promptly and carefull

Coal Hauling Done Promptly

Telephone No. 14

M. O. HOCUM

The Grain, Coal and Live Stock Man.

We will buy Hogs and Grain six days in the week at Highest Market Price.

Successor to W. R. Bloom

DR. L. R. PARSO

DENTIST

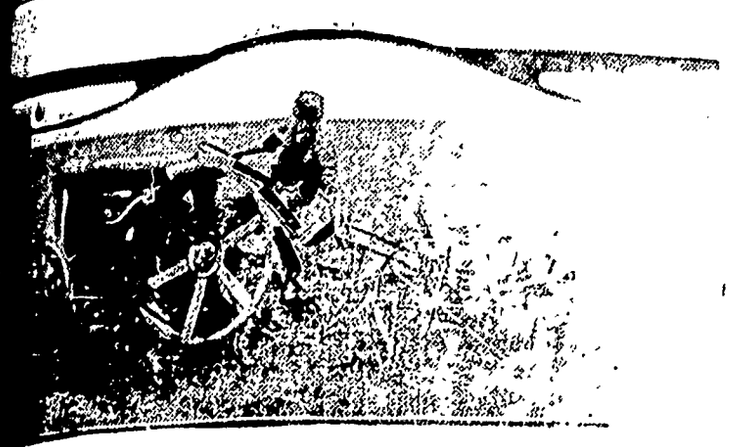
Office 1st Floor State Savings

Phone No 48

Klemme Iowa

KLEMME TIMES

ty-third Year Number 32 | Klemme, Iowa, Thursday, April 10, 1919 | $1.50 In Advance. $2.00 Outside of County



Tractor that will fit your farm—the Fordson

YOU can make your farm produce more at less cost—and with less effort on your part by using the Fordson tractor. Not only will it help you prepare your land and cultivate the crops, but it furnishes power for many other farm jobs.

The Fordson tractor is the result of long study of farming conditions and it has proved a success in kerosene—easy to operate and care for practically trouble-proof.

There's an Oliver No. 7 Plow for your Fordson

Just as the Fordson tractor gives ideal power, the Oliver plow means ideal plowing. It is scientifically designed for tractor service—and is backed by a half century of experience in making plows. It buries all trash and weeds at the bottom of the furrow maintains an even depth of furrow—and is controlled from the tractor seat.

Come in and let us show you this remarkable farm team.

Ed. G. Ell

Authorized Dealer Klemme, Iowa

AUTO COMFORT

comforts and conveniences of owning a car are so and so obvious that we don't have to enumerate here.

The Main Thing Is The Proper Selection of the Car particular we can help you materirlly and honestly. experience with cars is a valuable one and we will you clear of trouble if you consult with us.

PHONE 30
Wiles Garage
YOU HAVE TRIED THE REST NOW TRY THE BEST
KLEMME, IA.

et social will be held in Dist. Liberty township, on Friday April the 4th. The program mence at 8:00 p m. Ladies bring baskets.

Drusilla Stromer, Teacher
C. C. Shafer, Director

Overpowering Desire for Fame.

Were not this desire of fame very strong, the difficulty of obtaining it and the danger of losing it when obtained would be sufficient to deter a man from so vain a pursuit.—Addison.

About Income Tax

the Income make a re-order a re-penalty, by Col-
for Iowa: orders that persons hav-income for the year failed to make returns before March 15th due to var-therefore, depayer who will
May 1, paying with the out a good report, will penalty and will However, made by May penalty will be col-times instituted

ed officers
ants and ect so far spayers may ers, whose n from local

School News

Ha[ve] left from school this week
[Ma]rie Franzen, Sophia and Dalia
[Ma]ble Water-
[Ma]ble Water and Lulu Neuberger
The examinations are over at and test papers are hand Thick
Viola Simpson is primary teacher
Mr Carlson's sickness
Earl Boston is pianist this week
The class play is beginning to ma[re]alize

7th and 8th Room

Vera Franzen is the new student in the 7th Grade.

[Th]e following have been absent from school on account of sickness Louise Brandt, Clarence Felder and Marie Blank

Donald Stelk is absent from school [to] help [with] the Seed work

Our school has [en]tered the 3rd list [of] some of the averages of [the] different students in their county [exa]minations Glenna Gruetzmacher, [Ma]ble Kessner 89.7 9, Mil[dred] Smith 89.29, Howard Wiles, [Ver]non Lenz 87

4th, 5th and 6th Grades

Ruth Crabbs and Otto Ess are absent from school this week on account of work

Vera Arnold, Andrew Wellemeyer, Edna Linden and Vera Keeter are attending school after a week's absence on account of sickness

Vivian Emerson was absent from school Monday

Earl Wellemeyer is on the sick list

Gertrude Johnson was absent Monday on account of illness

HOTEL KLEMME RE-OPENED UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT

The Hotel Klemme has been re-opened under new management and again ready for business Mr Oscar Franzen, of Des Moines, is now the manager of the hotel Mr Franzen is having a lot of remodeling done and is putting the house into first class condition The Hotel was opened Monday for rooms and meals were served

Klemme has been up against it this winter for a hotel as it has been closed during that time and we are glad that it has started again as a good hotel is a very valuable asset to a progressive town Mr Franzen is a fine fellow to meet and we are sure that he will make a success of the business here Here's wishing the new firm success and in the mean time let's all boost for the Hotel, for by so doing we are also boosting for Klemme

NEW ROCK ISLAND TIME

North
821, Mixed	1:35 p. m.
1069, Passenger	3:03 p. m.
435, Passenger	8:44 a. m.
South
436, Passenger	6:17 p. m
1068, Passenger	11:25 a. m.
820, Freight	12:15 p m.

HOLLY LEWIS IS BACK IN KLEMME

Holly Lewis arrived in Klemme last Friday evening, having been discharged from an eastern camp Holly has been in France for some time and saw active service as a machine gunner He brought his gas mask and helmet with him, also some war relics taken from the Germans We welcome Holly back to our city.

Gould Storage Batteries represent the latest advancement in the art of Dependable Storage Battery Construction, exemplified by Gould Built, Gould Designed, Superhard Dreadnaught Plates Henry Lau & Son ad

We recommend, sell and guarantee Gould Storage Batteries Henry Lau & Son ad

Mr Henry Holm, of St Paul, visited several days the past week at the Lou Lewis home

DANCE AT IDLE HOUR LAST FRIDAY WAS WELL ATTENDED

The dance at the Idle Hour Theatre last Friday evening was very well attended The dances at the Idle Hour have been closed down for a few weeks on account of the bad roads, but will be held every Friday night from now on This opening dance drew a large crowd as there were a number from Garner and Goodell, as well as from the country Music was furnished by L Becker, violin, Miss Freie piano and Alvin Freie on the trap The orchestra deserve special mention for they rendered some real classy dance music Mr Pavey is managing the dances for this season and he extends an invitation to all to come and have a good time.

COUNTY DECLAMATORY CONTEST TO BE HELD AT CORWITH FRIDAY EVE.

The County Declamatory Contest will be held at Corwith this year. The winners of the contest here will go to Corwith Friday night to compete in the county contest Miss Mable Waterman, Miss Lulu Neuberger and Miss Edna Church were the winners in the contest here and will therefore compete for honors at Corwith. Here's hoping our Klemme representatives will "bring home the bacon"

Modern Crusoes.

Between the island of Madagascar and the coast of India there are sixteen thousand islands, only six hundred of which are inhabited In most of these islands a man can live and support his family in luxury without working more than 25 days in the year, or at all, as nature provides the food, and no clothes are required.

A FINE RECORD

Those having a perfect attendance for the last quarter in the Kindergarten class of the Methodist Sunday School numbered two. They were little Miss Reva Elder and Master Denzel Thompkins, who didn't miss a single day thru-out the entire quarter extending over January, February and March. Besides holding the honors of first place they were awarded a prize by their teacher, Mrs R W. Elder.

Church Notes

FIRST M. E. CHURCH, SUNDAY, MARCH 30
A. H. Meyer, Pastor

Preaching service Sunday morning at 10 o'clock

Sunday School at the close of the preaching service at 11 o'clock

Epworth League Sunday night at 7:30.

Preaching service at 8 00 o'clock.

Midweek prayer meeting on Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

A hearty welcome to all who come and worship with us

ENGLISH METHODIST CHURCH

Services next Sunday as follows:

Morning worship at 10 30. Subject, "What is the Centenary?"

Sunday School at 11:30.

Song Service and sermon at 8:15 p m The ladies and the male quartette will sing The time stated for the services is according to the new standard

Everyone cordially invited.

A. W. Barnlund, Pastor

Guarding His Car.

A Hutchinson man who fixed up his car so that the horn blew when a thief tried to start off with the car is so well pleased with the invention, according to the society reporter of the Hutchinson Gazette, that he is now working to perfect a device which will hit the thief over the head with a monkey wrench.—Manhattan (Kan) Mercury.

Origin of "Yankee."

It is said the term "Yankee" originated with the Indians when they were in alliance with the French colonists against the English. They were unable to pronounce the French words "Les Anglais" and pronounced the words "Yangee" which gradually took the form of "Yankee." When the English abandoned the country the Indians made no distinction between the former colonists and the English themselves, and the term clung to the Americans.

WOUNDED BY SHELL THAT KILLED FOUR MEN

Under shell fire and gas for three weeks, the buildings in which he ran his canteen hit six times, and finally knocked out by a shell which killed four men wounded thirty and put him in a hospital for two months, Guy A. Willis, a Grand Rapids, Mich., lumberman, has returned on crutches from France, evidence of the zeal with which Y. M. C. A. canteen men worked with the troops in the St. Mihiel and Argonne drives.

GUY A. WILLIS.

Willis was attached to the Three Hundred and Fifty-fifth regiment, Eighty-ninth division. In the Toul sector, which the division held until the St. Mihiel drive began, Willis' Y. M. C. A. outfit had a canteen near Mont Sec, at Beaumont, and one of his pleasant jobs was to drive almost daily around the famous Dead Man's curve on trips to get supplies for his canteen Willis entered Benny, in the St Mihiel drive, three hours after the Germans had been thrown out of it.

French Tribute to "Y."

John R Mott, secretary of international committee of the Y. M. C. A., has been decorated chevalier of the Legion of Honor.

CASE KEROSENE TRACTORS

For Field or Orchard

Case 10-20 Features

1—Pulls three 14-inch plows anywhere a team can continuously pull one plow.

2—Most powerful tractor in the 5000 pound class. Delivers 14 7-10 per cent more drawbar horsepower than rated.

3—Has 4-cylinder Case valve-in-head motor—head removable. Burns kerosene successfully and economically. Efficient air strainer prevents dust and grit entering cylinders.

4—Cut steel heat treated transmission gears, enclosed and running in oil. Hyatt Roller Bearings.

5—When plowing, all wheels travel on unplowed ground. Combined tire width 32 inches. Absolutely no side draft.

6—Friction clutch pulley with brake, regular equipment. Drives 20x36 Case Thresher with blower, feeder and grain handler; Case No. 15 silo filler and other machines requiring similar power.

7—The 10-inch idler can be clutched in with a lever and used as an extra driver.

THIS Case 10-20 Kerosene tractor pulls two 8-foot double disc harrows. With it a field can be harrowed in a jiffy.

You'll never go back to the old, slow way, once you use this outfit.

For every farm duty, either draft or pulley, this Case 10-20 is ever ready, day and night. Ready to plow, to disc, to seed, to harvest, to thresh. It can run a 20x36 Case Thresher, or a Case No. 15 Silo Filler with 40-foot blower. You can use it throughout the year.

We'll be glad to show you what this tractor can do, and go over the specifications with you. You'll want no other, once you know this Case 10-20.

W. F. Pavey

The CURVED BLADES

By CAROLYN WELLS

Author of "A Chain of Evidence," "The Gold Bag," "The Clue," "The White Alley," Etc.

CHAPTER XVII.—Continued

"You do make it clear, Miss Frayne. I know just what you mean. I quite agree that one could easily tell the difference between a spoken soliloquy and remarks addressed to a hearer. But you heard no replies?"

"No, at all. But I hold that is not material, for while Miss Carrington's voice was especially high and carrying, an ordinarily low voice would not be audible through that closed door. You can prove that by simple experiment."

"I have," said Fleming Stone. "I have tried it, and as you say, an ordinary voice in a low tone is not audible. But Miss Carrington's must have been raised unnecessarily, to allow of its being heard."

Stone watched Anita's face as she listened to this. But she only replied, with a shrug of indifference, "I can't say as to that. I heard every word clearly, that's all I can tell."

"Suppose she had been talking to a picture of someone, say a photograph of Miss Stuart or of Mr. Loria, or of Count Charlier, would that tone of voice then be explained?"

"I suppose. But she would have had to imagine vividly the person there before her. And again, Miss Carrington had no such photographs in her rooms. All her family photographs are in the library in frames or cases. She was methodical in such matters. She has series of pictures of Miss Stuart and of Mr. Loria from their childhood to now, but they are all in order in the cases over there." Anita made a slight motion of her hand toward a mahogany cabinet. "No, Mr. Stone, whomever or whatever Miss Carrington was talking to, it was not a photograph of any of her relatives or friends. As you know, there was none discovered in her room, so what could she have done with it?"

"That's true, Miss Frayne. But hasn't the theory of a living person in there also inexplicable points? If somebody was there, it was, of course, someone well known and whose presence in the house was unquestionably correct. But her remarks, as I read them from your notes, imply different auditors. Granting for a moment that Miss Stuart was there, why would Miss Carrington say, 'Henri, Henri, you are the mark I aim at?'"

"I admit that must have been a soliloquy or an apostrophe to the man she wanted to marry, though he was not present."

"You have no thought, then, that Count Charlier was present?"

"Certainly not! The idea is absurd. Miss Stuart was in there with her aunt, and I'm sure it was some remark of Pauline's, which I, of course, did not hear, that made Miss Carrington speak of the count as I do to him."

"How then do you account for the presence of Count Charlier's glove?"

"Miss Stuart put it there as a blind."

"And how did Miss Stuart get it?"

"Easily. The count had been spending the evening here. He may have left his glove by mistake—or"

"Or——"

"Or Pauline may have abstracted it purposely from his coat pocket during the evening with a prearranged plan to do all just as she did do."

"Miss Frayne! you can't mean to assert your belief that Miss Stuart so far planned the crime as to intend to cast suspicion on Count Charlier by means of that glove!"

"Why not? If Pauline Stuart is responsible for her aunt's death, I assure you, Mr. Stone, she is quite clever enough to prearrange all details, and to plan so adroitly that suspicion should fall on someone else. Miss Stuart is far more crafty and deep than you can have any idea of. I have known her for four years, and I can tell you she is far from ingenuous!"

"Suppose we leave the question of Miss Stuart out of the discussion, and continue our first line of thought. Had Miss Carrington ever spoken to you of changing her will?"

As was his frequent experience, Fleming Stone's quick question caught his witness unaware, and she stumbled a little in her speech as she replied: "N-no. Why should she?"

"Only because her frequent quarrels with Miss Stuart might have made her wish to leave less of her fortune to her niece. And in the conversation you overheard, Miss Carrington touched on this subject."

"Yes, she did. But except for that reference, spoken to her unknown companion, I have never heard anything of such an intention on her part."

"You're fond of pearls, Miss Frayne?"

"Oh, I know what you're getting at now. That speech Miss Lucy made about fondness for pearls. Of course, I am. Who isn't? I often told Miss Carrington that I admired her pearls far more than all her diamonds or other glittering stones. But I wouldn't commit a crime for all the pearls in the world! And, if I had, why didn't I steal the pearls?"

Anita's voice rang out triumphantly as she put this question, but Fleming Stone said quietly: "I haven't accused you of crime, Miss Frayne, but since you ask that, let me remind you, that if the crime were done with intent of robbery, the reason that the robbery was never accomplished is the same that kept the man Bates from stealing. Few people can bring themselves to take valuables from a dead body. However, I cannot think the poisoning was done with any idea of robbery, but for the gain that would come by the bequests of the will."

"Then your search is limited by the list of inheritors?"

"It is, Miss Frayne."

"Then, Mr. Stone, how can you overlook or undervalue the weight of evidence against Pauline Stuart? Remember, she bought that snake herself. Miss Lucy never told her to buy it, never in this world! Pauline feared her aunt would disinherit her——"

"How do you know that?" the question was shot at her, and Anita fairly jumped as she heard it.

"Why—why, you know I heard reference made to it that night when——"

"When you overheard that conversation; yes, go on." Fleming Stone had gained his point, which was to prove that Anita did know of the proposed change in the will before that time, and to his own belief he had proved it.

"Yes, I cannot doubt now that Pauline knew her aunt intended to change her will, and so she was so desperate at the idea of losing her fortune, she—I cannot bear to put it in words——"

"She poisoned the lady," said Fleming Stone, very gravely.

"Yes." Anita's voice choked, but she enunciated the word. "Mr. Stone, you must think me dreadful to hold these suspicions, but you asked me to be frank—"

"And I wish you to be so. I am here, Miss Frayne, to discover the poisoner of Miss Carrington. It is my duty to get all possible light on the matter from anyone I can. It is the duty of those whom I question to tell all they know, truthfully and straightforwardly. If these truths implicate or seem to implicate a member of the household, none the less must the investigation be carried on and the case be pushed to its inevitable conclusion. The great danger lies in mistaking opinions or imaginations for facts. Now you are telling facts as to the words you overheard, but you are giving only opinions as to whom these words were addressed."

"That is so," and Anita's gaze was a wondering one. "But, Mr. Stone, since the fact of that person in the room is undiscoverable, one can't help forming an opinion. Haven't you one?"

"I have."

"Oh, what is it?"

"I think those words were spoken to some inanimate object, not to a person. Suppose the remark thought to be said to Count Charlier was addressed to his glove, which she was undoubtedly holding at the time."

"I never thought of that, because I have assumed that Pauline put that glove in her hand after—after it was all over, to implicate the count. And, any way, that's only that one remark—or two. To what inanimate object was she talking when she said 'Tomorow all these jewels may be yours?'"

"That I cannot answer. That whole conversation is most mysterious."

"Indeed it is, Mr. Stone, under any other hypothesis than that of the presence of Pauline Stuart in her aunt's room at the time!"

"May I come in?" and Gray Haviland's good natured face appeared, as he knocked and opened the door almost simultaneously.

"Yes," said Stone, "and I will ask you, Miss Frayne, to leave us. I am getting to work in earnest now, and I want to push things a little."

Stone watched the effect of this speech on Anita and was not surprised to see her look at him with startled eyes, as she unwillingly went through the door he held open for her.

"What's doing?" asked Haviland, in his breezy way; and Stone replied, frankly: "Lots. Those two girls are sworn foes, aren't they?"

"Of late they have seemed to be. The break came a month or more before Miss Carrington died. Two beauties never can remain friends."

"They are both beautiful women," agreed Stone. "Which do you think had a hand in the tragedy?"

"Good Lord! Neither of them! What are you talking about? That count man is responsible for the whole thing, Bates and all."

"I know you think so, Mr. Haviland, but I can't agree with you. Now, look here, we've got to face things squarely. Take the story Miss Frayne tells, about that mysterious conversation. If it were all a figment of her brain——"

"What! Man, you're crazy! Anita Frayne make that all up out of the solid! Never, in a thousand years! If she said that talk was talked, it was talked, and that's all there is about that! Why or by whom it was talked, is another matter, and as I understand it, that's what you're here to find out. And between you and me and the arc light, I don't believe you ever will find out."

"No?"

"No! And this is no aspersion on your powers. I believe that fool count was in there, and as he'll never admit it, and you'll never believe it, how can it be proved?"

"Never mind that, now. Prepare yourself, Mr. Haviland, for some unwelcome questions. You don't want to, but I must insist on your answering them. Which do you consider the more truthful and honest of the two young women I've just been talking to?"

"Nixie! You can't get an answer to that question out of me! Why, I'd be a cad to say anything but that they are both impeccably truthful and honest."

"So you would, in ordinary circumstances. But you must realize, Mr. Haviland, that I'm here for the definite purpose of solving the mystery of a terrible crime, and I can only do it by inquiry and investigation. If you really refuse to help me I must learn what I want to know in other ways."

"But, hang it, man," and Haviland, impressed by Stone's manner, considered the question; "I do think they're both truthful—that is, one of them—Oh, I can't say it! I can't talk against a woman!"

"You'll be obliged to tell all you know, sooner or later. If you tell me now, I truly believe it will be better all round."

"Well, then—now wait, I've got to think this thing out; I believe—why, blessed if I don't believe either of them would lie if she was in a tight place! There! you've made me say a nice, honorable thing, haven't you?" and Haviland looked utterly disgusted with Stone and himself, too.

XVIII

FLED!

The days went by, leaving the mystery unsolved. Count Charlier was released from custody, there not being sufficient evidence to hold him. Bates was in jail awaiting the action of the grand jury, but it was recognized that he was not the murderer of Miss Carrington.

Search for the poisoner had so far been fruitless, and the newspapers were clamoring for the arrest of somebody. But the police detectives were at their wits' end, and even Fleming Stone was baffled.

For hours, Stone sat thinking over the many peculiar features of the case. It was not in embarrassment that he felt himself unable as yet to trace the criminal, it was rather with a sensation of curiosity that he wondered what point he had overlooked. There must be some clue, some definite indication, of what way to look, but so far he had not perceived it.

So interested was he in the search that he took no note of the passing of time or the growing impatience of those who watched him.

"It's the way, Hardy," he would say to the younger detective, "the mystery centers about that paper snake. When we find out the reason for Miss Carrington's sending for that thing, we've the whole story."

"You believe, then, that she did send for it?"

"Of course, why not?"

"We've only Miss Stuart's word for that, and it doesn't seem as if Miss Carrington would——"

"Nonsense! It doesn't seem, you mean, as if Miss Stuart would——. Why, man, what possible sense could there be in Miss Stuart's buying that snake on her own account? If she set out to poison her aunt—which she didn't—she could have managed it in a dozen ways without lugging in that paper reptile. In fact, it never would have occurred to her to do so. Why would she do it?"

"In an attempt to frighten the lady to death?"

"Rubbish! The first effect of such a fright would be a fearful outcry on Miss Carrington's part, and immediate discovery of the plot. Moreover, if Miss Stuart bought that snake for any such purpose, she would have bought it secretly, at some little, obscure shop, not at a well known emporium. No, sir, the snake is the key to the puzzle, but how? That is the question. You see, the doctors are pretty sure that the thing was put round the lady's neck before she died. Therefore she was either unconscious at the time, or—she was willing."

"Never! Everybody says her fear of the things would never let her have it put on her willingly."

"I know they say so, but they may be mistaken. I'm beginning to evolve a theory that will fit the facts, queer as they are. But my theory needs a whole lot of other facts to back it up, and those facts I can't seem to find."

"Does your theory implicate Miss Stuart?"

"It does not."

"I thought not."

"You thought quite right. It does not implicate Miss Stuart, because she is in no way responsible for her aunt's death. But she may have knowledge, or she may think she has, that is leading her to shield somebody else."

"Whom?"

"I don't know. She is rather a puzzling creature. Is she—is she in love with that cousin of hers?"

"Haviland?"

"No, the one in Egypt."

"Oh, Loria. I don't know, I'm sure. You read his letter to her, it wasn't in any sense a love letter."

"No, but it was evidently a letter written with the idea of other people reading it, because of the circumstances. Of course, he wouldn't put any intimate talk in it. And it was typewritten, so I couldn't judge anything of the man from his chirography."

"Does handwriting mean much to you?"

"Yes, indeed. It is a wonderful expression of character. But I don't suppose it would declare his adoration of a lady, unless he put it in words also."

"You don't connect Loria with the crime in any way, do you?"

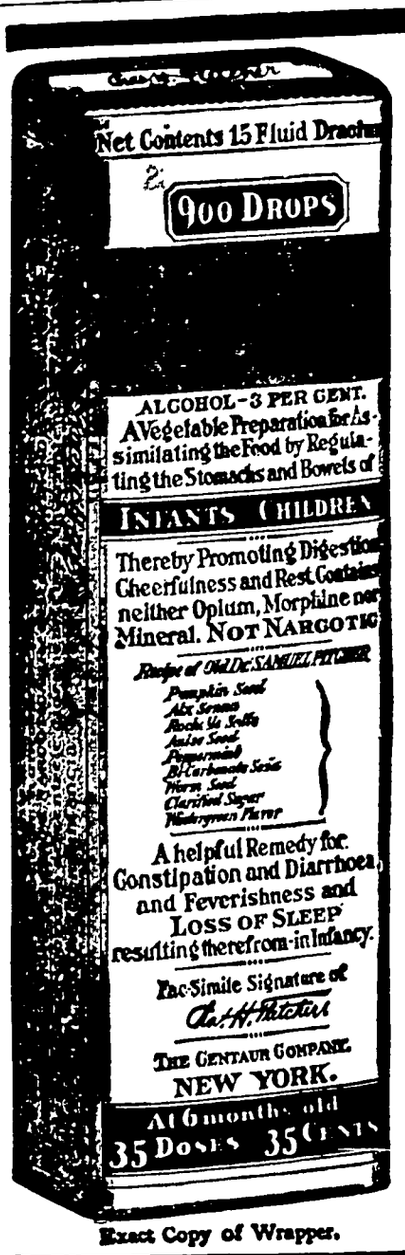
"I don't see how I can, unless in collusion or through the assistance of Miss Stuart. And I'm not ready to do that. I'm working now on that conversation overheard by Miss Frayne."

"You accept that whole, then?"

(Continued Next Week)

Prof. R. S. Woodworth, of the department of psychology, Columbia university, says that in the application of the army mental tests on a group of students, both male and female, he discovered that the women matched up about equally with the men.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, declares his belief that the league furnishes an opportunity for putting forward one of the greatest progressive strides the world has ever undertaken. Mr. Roosevelt does not express unqualified satisfaction with the propositions of the league and says frankly it would be "very nice" if there were added amendments, notably one supplying recognition of the Monroe doctrine, but adds, "If we are willing for this we must be willing to give up something even if it be a sovereign right of our nation."



Exact Copy of Wrapper.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
Mothers Know That Genuine Castoria
Always Bears the Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher
Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

Never Was Lucky.

After the ceremony the couple were receiving congratulations when I heard the pessimistic bridegroom remark to an enthusiastic friend, "Well, I dunno, Jim; I never did have much luck."—Chicago Tribune.

"Done" All Right.

"Was the plumber's work at your house well done?"

"No, but I was."

A man who is not spoken of is abused.

Starving in the Midst of Plenty

Acid-Stomach Steals Strength and Good Feelings From Millions

One of the worst features of acid-stomach is that very often it literally starves its victims in the midst of plenty. And the strange thing about it is that the people with acid-stomachs seldom know what their trouble really is.

No matter how good or wholesome the food may be, or how much they eat, they do not gain in strength. This is clearly explained by the fact that an acid-stomach cannot properly digest food. Instead of healthy, normal digestion, the excess acid causes the food to sour and ferment. Then when this mass of sour, fermented food, charged with excess acid, passes into the intestines, it becomes the breeding place for all kinds of germs and toxic poisons, which in turn are absorbed into the blood and in this way distributed throughout the entire body. And that is exactly why it is that so many thousands of people eat and eat and keep on eating and yet are literally starving in the midst of plenty. Their acid-stomachs make it absolutely impossible for them to get the full measure of nourishment out of their food. And it doesn't take long for this poor nourishment to show its ill effects in a weakened, emaciated body.

You may say: "My stomach doesn't hurt me." That may be true because many victims of acid-stomach do not actually suffer stomach pains. Then again, there are millions who do suffer all kinds of aches and pains—headaches, rheumatic twinges, gout, lumbago, pains around the heart and in the chest—who never dream that an acid-stomach is the real cause of trouble.

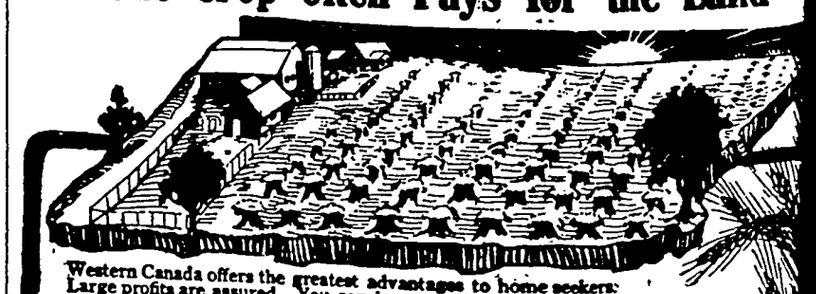
Naturally, the sensible thing to do is to strike right at the very cause of this trouble and clean the excess acid out of the stomach. There is a quick, easy way to do this. A wonderful little remedy quickly removes the excess acid without the slightest discomfort. It is EATONIC. Made in the form of tablets—they are good to eat—like a bit of candy. They literally absorb the injurious excess acid and carry it away through the intestines. They also drive the bloat out of the body—in fact you can fairly feel them work. Make a test of EATONIC in your own case today. Get a big box of EATONIC from your druggist. Then see for yourself how surely it brings quick relief in those painful attacks of indigestion, bitter heartburn, belching, disgusting food repeating, that awful bloated, lumpy feeling after eating, and other stomach miseries. Banish forever your stomach troubles so completely that you forget you have a stomach. Then you can eat what you like and digest your food in comfort without fear of distressing after effects.

If EATONIC does not relieve you it will not cost you one penny. Your druggist can return it to your druggist and get your money back. So if you have the slightest question about your health—if you feel you are not getting the strength out of your food—if you are not feeling tip-top, ready for work, full of vim and vigor—do this: Give EATONIC a fair trial this very day and see how much better you will feel.

TAKE EATONIC
FOR YOUR ACID-STOMACH

Grow Wheat in Western Canada

One Crop Often Pays for the Land



Western Canada offers the greatest advantages to home seekers. Large profits are assured. You can buy on easy payment terms,

Fertile Land at $15 to $30 per Acre—land similar to that which through many years has averaged from 20 to 45 bushels of wheat to the acre. Hundreds of cases are on record where in Western Canada a single crop has paid the cost of land and production. The Governments of the Dominion and Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta want the farmer to prosper, and extend every possible encouragement and help to Grain Growing and Stock Raising.

Though Western Canada offers land at such low figures, the high prices of grain, cattle, sheep and hogs will remain.

Loans for the purchase of stock may be had at low interest; there are good shipping facilities; best of markets; free schools; churches; splendid climate; low taxation (none on improvements).

For particulars as to location of lands for sale, maps, illustrated literature, reduced railway rates, etc., apply to Supt. of Immigration, Ottawa, Can., or

G. A. Cook, Drawer 137, Watertown, S. D.; W. V. Bennett, Room 4, Bee Bldg., Omaha, Neb., and R. A. Garrett, 311 Jackson Street, St. Paul, Minn., Canadian Government Agents

Western Canada Farm Lands Low Prices

Genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin"
Always marked with "Bayer Cross"

For Pain
Headache
Toothache
Earache
Rheumatism
Lumbago

BAYER

Colds
Grippe
Influenza
Colds
Stiff Neck
Joint Pains

Out of Pain To Comfort!
Proved Safe By Millions!

Adults—Take one or two "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" with water. If necessary, repeat dose three times a day, after meals.

Ask for and Insist Upon

"Bayer Tablets of Aspirin"

American owned—Entirely!

20 cent Bayer packages—also larger Bayer packages.
Buy Bayer packages only—Get original package.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

Women Unsuccessful.

Women are unsuccessful as machine operators in the Nottingham (Eng.) district, according to a report on the employment of women in nonmunitions industries during the war, made to the labor office. The employment of women as machine attendants, to take the place of men called to the colors, was a wartime measure, and the report says that "women not having proved their footing as substitutes" the question of their continued employment at this work "hardly arises."

The Way of It.

"Buying a new hat is a crime in my husband's eyes."

"Then just charge it to him."

It costs Holland annually $3,000,000 to maintain its sea dikes.

Will Help Restore Forests.

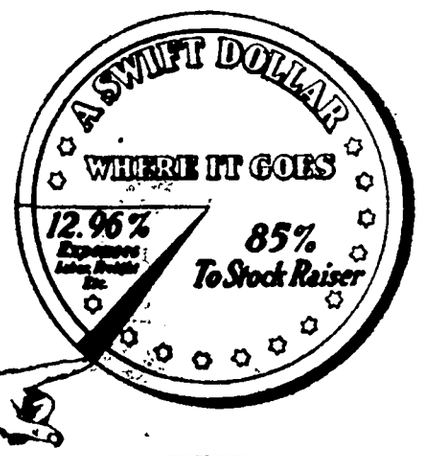
The American Forestry association will aid in restoring the forests of Great Britain, France and Belgium which were sacrificed to the Allied cause in the war, Charles Lathrop Pack, retiring president of the World Court league, said at a dinner in his honor at New York. He said that 1,500,000 acres of forest land there had been destroyed that in all of Belgium's forests of timber value had been felled by the Germans and that Great Britain's sacrifice of forests amount to 450,000 acres.

Drawing the Line

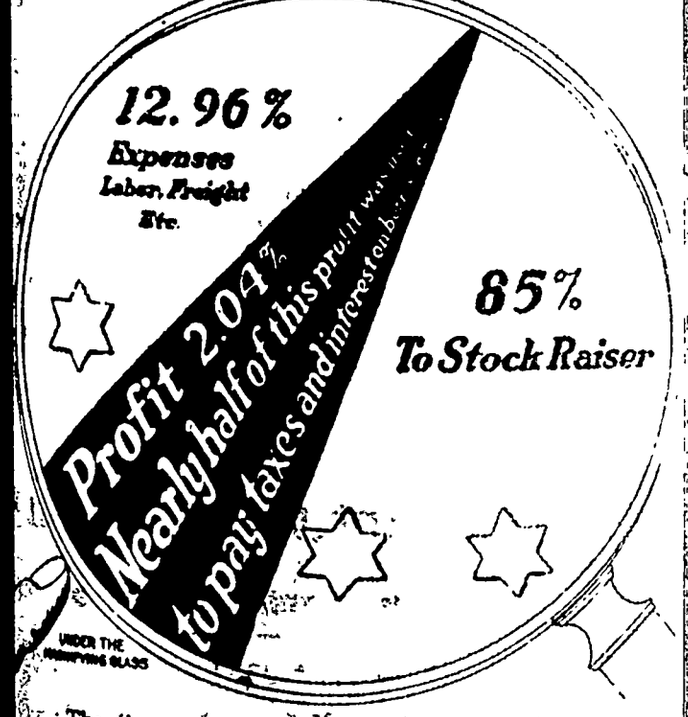
"So you are a burglar, are you?" the prison visitor.

"Yes'm. I like other people's property, but I haven't the heart to be an anarchist an' get it by rough work."

A "Close-Up"
Swift & Company's Profit of 2.04 cents on each dollar of sales



AS IT IS



The diagram at the top shows the distribution of the average Swift dollar received from sales of beef, pork and mutton, and their by-products, during 1918. The magnifying glass brings out the distribution of the 2.04 cents profit per dollar of sales:

.94 of one per cent goes to pay interest on borrowed money, taxes, etc.
.50 of one per cent goes to pay dividends to shareholders.
.60 of one per cent remains in the business to help in improving and financing the business.

Total 2.04 per cent

1919 Year Book of interesting and instructive facts sent on request.
Address Swift & Company
Union Stock Yards, Chicago, Illinois

Swift & Company, U. S. A.

A "Gob" Editorial on Benefits of Training

From the Great Lakes Bulletin.

The health record of the men passing through Camp Barry daily shows that in almost every instance they are returning to civil life in a much better condition than when they entered.

They have been inoculated for typhoid fever, diphtheria and smallpox. They have been given every protection against disease. Pure water, pure food and correct living conditions have been theirs.

Now they are returning to their homes to resume the duties of citizens and voters.

In their community they will have a part in the making of the laws and regulations of their town.

Will they drop back into the old order of things and forget the lessons in health they learned while in the service of Uncle Sam? Or will they pass laws obtaining for their townspeople, their families and themselves the same protection which they enjoyed while wearing the uniform of blue?

If they introduce ordinances which will insure pure milk and pure water for their community, and also provide for an inoculation of the whole community at least every four years, they will have taken a big step in the prevention of disease in general and typhoid fever in particular.

The community will not have families left on their hands made destitute by the loss of their main support through deadly disease.

It is a matter worthy of deep consideration.

The above is not a preachment by a medical writer; of course, those fellows want to boost their game. It is not a bulletin by some board of preachers, of course, health departments feed us such stuff. No. It was written by a gob for gobs. I am sure that if we dug around enough we would find a similar statement in some camp journal written by a private soldier for soldiers. I am not going to add a word to the editorial. It cannot be improved.

Restraint Habit in America.

From the Chicago Tribune.

A Frenchman will wear a straw hat in a snowstorm and no other human being will bother about it. It would be assumed that he had reasons sufficient to him for his preference. It would be considered his own affair, a bit of the mystery of life and of no concern to anyone else.

In America he would be a nine days' wonder. Some would jeer and pelt. Others would call the police. Others would form a society for the prohibition of straw hats in the winter months.

In France—or there is profound respect for individuality. In America there is none. The French recognize that without a free play of personality there is no spontaneity, its sincerity, its wholesome elasticity, its graceful and joyful zest. In America we incline more and more toward standardization and uniformity of the citizen in matters which should be left to the individual. We are becoming under a tyranny of public opinion which manufactures hypocrisy and inspires mediocrity. For originality, for idiosyncrasy, for individuality we have at bottom both fear and hatred. We have a sort of contempt for anything that does not square with the average and are obsessed with something like the blind ferocity of a savage tribe.

The encouragement given to the land of the free and the home of the brave has taken the form of suppressions, our inclination to pass laws to enforce codes of morals or enforce rules of discipline. Not understanding or respecting real processes of character building we are not willing to rely upon the appeal to the conscience and the education of the will. We are concerned with external conduct and only seek external methods of controlling it, imposing the collective will by force rather than seeking to enlighten the sources of conduct and bring about right conduct from within.

In a nation of free laws affecting conduct are directed against acts which injuriously affect others. We are exceedingly slack in this respect and think this means freedom. We permit a man to build out beyond his neighbor's building line or for the purpose or inconvenience to a settled residence district by erecting a store. We compel the owners to keep ice and snow on their sidewalks while our more public spirited neighbors clear theirs, and in most [illegible] to prevent or infringe upon the interests of others. But we like to [illegible] and old nances to compel the individual to do as we think he ought to [illegible]. We wish to censor his plays, his sports, his [illegible] concerned about preventing him from doing wrong to others [illegible] doing what we consider harm to himself.

This it would seem is standing policy on its head. It certainly represents a tendency which [illegible] symptoms rather than causes and ignores the fundamental realities of character building. Socially it produces results that are formal and apparent rather than essential and creates a species of moralistic despotism which overrides the private conscience and destroys liberty where liberty is most precious.

American democracy is headed away from freedom in this respect and the benefits of our political institutions will not compensate us for our loss. American democracy on this path will not produce a high civilization, which always must be founded on the mind and spirit. It will evolve only a crude mechanism without beauty or strength.

Be Kindly, Boys!

[illegible]

Refusing Regeneration.

From the Cincinnati Enquirer.

It is passing strange that with the promise of a world regeneration before them through the bright and shining medium of the federal prohibition amendment the voters in Massachusetts and Vermont towns are feverishly filling arid places with licensed saloons. Cities and villages that have been dry for years have marched over into the wet column, the wet majority being imposing as well as decisive. In Vermont, as in Massachusetts, no wet community went dry.

The explanation may be found in the hypothesis that the voters, realizing that the drought is to descend in July, are hastening to establish stations in their midst from which cellar stocking supplies may be secured as a provision against the evil day impending. They are not locking the stable after the horse is stolen, but they are laying up treasures of beverages which the moth will not consume nor rust destroy if they can keep them out of the sight of the search and seizure detectives.

New Decoration for Yanks.

From the Youth's Companion.

By a change in army regulations two new decorations come within the reach of United States soldiers. Hereafter, an officer or a man who is cited from the headquarters of any force commanded by a general officer and who does not receive the Medal of Honor, the Distinguished Service Cross or the Distinguished Service Medal will be entitled to wear a silver star one fifth of an inch in diameter and for every subsequent citation that does not bring other recognition he may wear a bronze cluster of oak leaves.

The plan follows the French system of awarding a palm leaf branch for each additional citation for the croix de guerre. But what a diminutive star! Certainly of not more than the fifth magnitude. Does the government think we all have Jack telescopes?

An Axiom.

From the Washington Star.

A congressman at a reception in New York was urged by a peacemaker to come and separate two so called "parlor bolshevists," who were wrangling so bitterly that a fight was feared.

The congressman hurried to the contending parlor bolshevists, he listened to their shrill and angry voices a moment and then he shrugged and turned away.

"Always remember," he said to the peacemakers, "that these chaps who are all wind never come to blows."

A Statue With Glasses.

From London Tid Bits.

A singular question has been raised by the proposal to erect a statue of President Wilson in London. The point is, can a statue have eye glasses? I confess I have never seen one so adorned; yet Mr. Wilson's glasses being part of himself, must certainly be part of his effigy as well.

Why is it that glasses on the nose of a president lose that incongruity which they seem to posses on the nose of a king? King Gustaf, of Sweden, is the only monarch I know who wears them regularly, and a pince-nez happens to accord well with his features, but the glasses which the king of the Belgians occasionally uses are curiously out of the picture.

A Beer and a Sandwich.

From Stars and Stripes.

When Bismarck enunciated the principle that the best place to have a war was in somebody else's territory he said a sage and far sighted mouthful. And Germany sagely and far sightedly did her best to follow that principle from 1914 to 1918, with the result that only her fringes have been touched—amid the smoking ruins of her neighbors, her own hearth, for all its sorrows, is clean swept and unmolested. The Chemin des Dames is gutted and black with the ugly aftermath of war; the Rheinstrasse is as neat as ever.

In Coblenz you will walk along a clean street (that was never splattered by a Bertha's iron scales) into a neat cafe (that never shook from a Gotha's bomb) and drink a tall one from a brewery which has been assaulted by nothing worse than a war tax. It is good. It is comfortable. It is clean.

With its roofs and walls intact, why shouldn't it be?

Kept Her Word.

From Answers, London.

"I thought you told me you would not contract any new debts without my knowledge?" howled Mr. Gabb as he tore up a bunch of bills.

"I haven't, my dear," replied Mrs. Gabb. "I merely expanded some of the old ones."

DEMAND THAT IS SUPREME

World Must Have Food, for Famine and Disorder Have Always Been Synonymous.

About 1750 Benjamin Franklin observed in Poor Richard's Almanac that wherever there was famine there was disorder, and wherever there was disorder famine followed in its train. This has been the keynote of the present world situation, Graham Lusk writes in the American Museum Journal. Lack of hygiene and sanitation does not cause disorder. Soldiers have lived incrusted in the mud of Flanders, but have maintained their morale when well nourished. The Russian is firmly convinced that the louse is necessary for health because this vermin leaves his body only in the event of his death. If cleanliness were as much desired by the people as food, then the streets of our cities would be kept in perfect order, and no dirt would be allowed to accumulate upon them. Indeed, Tolstoy teaches that the desire for cleanliness is a cultivated extravagance and not an instinctive impulse. The call for food is, however, insistent and instinctive and must be satisfied or social discontent arises.

Naturally.

"A poor man is never in good odor in society." "Why should he be when he is cent-less?"

MARKS END OF CREEK NATION

Passing of Council House at Okmulgee, Okla., Is an Event of Much Significance.

Forty-one years ago the Creek Indians built the council house which they now sell to the city of Okmulgee, Okla., for $100,000, thus performing their last act as a nation. The council house was built nine or ten years after the tribe had adopted a written constitution, and was the center of Creek government, under the United States, until 1906, when Oklahoma became a state, and the tribal government of the Creeks passed over into government by state and federal authority. Something less than a century ago the Creeks emigrated from Alabama after ceding their lands to the United States, and were compensated by holdings in the new territory whose then unsuspected richness in oil afterward made the emigrants a rich Indian nation. The experiment in self-government, however, was only a partial sucess; and now, with the sale of its council house the Creek nation finally disappears, says Christian Science Monitor.

The Difference.

Bess—"A bachelor is but half a man—and doesn't know it." Bob—"And a married man is reminded of it daily."

Dissatisfaction in the Quality or Price of Coffee is easily remedied by changing your table drink to

THE ORIGINAL

POSTUM CEREAL

Boiled just like coffee—15 minutes after boiling begins—you are certain of uniform quality.

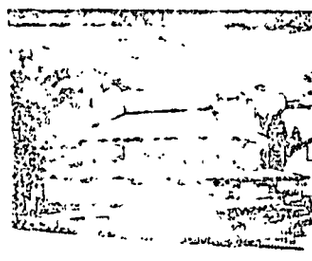
The price doesn't fluctuate from one month to the next.

And besides there's only one grade—the best. You get it in every package.

There's a greater reason however why you should drink Postum—HEALTH.

No upset to stomach, heart or nerves—the penalty many pay for coffee drinking—follows the use of Postum. It's a rich, healthful, invigorating drink, and—

"There's a Reason"



Build with AMERICAN TILE Save money

YOU can build your New Home, Garage, Barn, Hog House, Poultry House, Silo, Granary or other Buildings of American Tile for Less Money than it would cost to build of wood and you will have permanent improvements, that require no painting or other expense of upkeep The double hollow walls of American Tile buildings are fire-proof and damp proof—warmer in Winter and cooler in Summer—more comfortable and healthful.

More Money Made With a Silo

...% of the corn crop is wasted when left in the field A Silo will enable you to save all the crop It will supply you with Summer pa...ure the year around

Beef cattle fed ensilage make bigger gains and milk cows produce more Many Silo owners say their silos more than earned their cost the first year

AMERICAN FLINT TILE SILOS

...th curved hollow "Flint Tile" Blocks ...d between every tier. Special ... American way is stronger ... and any windstorm— ... INCLUDED ... Keep ensilage better Cost ... Thousands in use

Fill Your Silo With a Climax Cutter

... ensilage and better ... less power than any other cutter ... Write today for free illustrated ... Silos, Building Tile, Elevators, Ensilage Cutters, Manure Spreaders and Auto Trailers, ... our representative, whose name is Elmer Ludeke

W. W. Coates Company

SCHEE BUILDING, DES MOINES, IA.

Sioux City Omaha Denver St. Louis
Kansas City Oklahoma City

Elmer Ludeke

Klemme, Iowa

Today at $1.50

Sell Your Grain To

...er F. Lau

... the highest price ... weight. Will buy ... in the week Also handle ... Give me a trial and I will ... LS

Residence Phone No. 52

...LDING RESTRICTION LIFTED

... War Industries Board has lift... building restriction on farm ... construction, cost not ex... This order went into ... November 12th Farmers, you ... get busy on that new barn, ... who move to town can ... a new house

...STERN LUMBER CO.

N. L. PALMER, Manager

...SON
...D LIVE STOCK
...ER
...WA... PHONE 105
...D CUSTOMERS
...FERENCE
...NTED
INFO...
...ES AT

W. F. PAVEY

The Practical Blacksmith

OXY-ACETYLENE WELDER

Wagon, Buggy and Machine Repairing

Horse Shoeing and Plow Work a Specialty

VOICES CONTEMPT FOR FOE FIGHTERS

REPORTS OF FRATERNIZING BY AMERICAN AND FOE TROOPS DENIED BY RED TRIANGLE WORKER.

Chicago.—Reports of fraternizing of allied and foe troops following the signing of the armistice on the western front are denied in a letter from H. B Stecher, Racine, Wis., received at the offices of the national war work council, Y. M. C. A., here.

Stecher was a Y. M. C. A. worker attached to the Ninety-first division. He served for more than six months on three fighting fronts—at St. Mihiel, in Flanders and the Argonne. Twice he was cited for bravery and awarded the D. S. C.

Before going to France to serve as a "Y" worker Stecher was associated with the Hamilton Beach Manufacturing company at Racine. Formerly he was a member of the California National Guard when he was living in Los Angeles, Cal. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Stecher, live in Chicago.

Referring to reports of fraternizing of the troops Stecher says: "Certainly there was no attempt or desire on the part of the men of our division to fraternize with our much-despised opponents, and had there been, the officers would not have permitted it. As a matter of fact the guns were going right up to the time the armistice went into effect. You see, our boys have had a mighty good chance to size up the caliber of the other side, and had the Germans shown any indications of good sportsmanship in the fighting no doubt we would feel some little respect for them. Having been a doughboy myself in the past, and now having gone through all the fighting with my division, I believe my viewpoint is the same as that of the majority of our division, and, personally, I have the utmost contempt for the German soldier, his methods and his ideals."

MAJOR GENERAL PRAISES SERVICE OFFERED BY "Y"

Spread upon the records of the Third division, A. E. F., and just brought to the attention of the national war work council of the Y. M. C. A., is a general order issued by command of Major General Dickman, which "Y" officials have hailed as an emphatic answer to charges that Red Triangle workers had avoided the danger zones in France and had wrung exorbitant prices from the soldiers for the comforts which the association had sent overseas. General Dickman directed that a copy of the order be sent to every one of the thirty-four men and six women who went with the division through the fighting of Chateau-Thierry and along the Marne, to St. Mihiel, and later into action north of Verdun and along the Meuse.

The Y. M. C. A. has made public General Dickman's order along with a communication from Col. J. C. Rhea of another division which was in the St. Mihiel fighting. Colonel Rhea gave figures showing the large amount of supplies which were distributed in his division by "Y" secretaries without charge.

GREAT EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM PLANNED

Paris.—General Pershing has signed an order establishing an American Army university in France to accommodate 15,000 to 20,000 soldier students. The school will be opened at Beaune. At the same time the main office of the Y. M. C. A. army educational commission will be moved from Paris to Beaune.

Courses in engineering, liberal and fine arts, science, music and the like will be offered. It is expected that one of the four agricultural exhibits which have been prepared by the department of agriculture in co-operation with the Y. M. C. A. will be a permanent feature at Beaune.

The Y. M. C. A. war work council announced that the cost of the educational program in the A. E. F. had now reached $700,000 a month Books and supplies costing $1,300,000 have been sent overseas. The army pays for the books and distributes them to the soldier students.

To Improve Idle Time.

Wherever there are as many as 500 reasonably stationary soldiers, sailors and marines at the base camps or the ports of shipment or with the army of occupation, there will be educational courses supervised by the Y. M. C. A. For those who are to be moved in a few weeks there will be short courses, but there will be something to interest every one.

"Y" Operates Hotels.

London.—Half a dozen London hotels, including the Palace, Cosmo and Grafton, have been taken over by the American Y. M. C. A. and are now in full operation. This addition to the war plant of the "Y" is required by the even more comprehensive period of occupation program which has been set up in the United Kingdom by the Y. M. C. A.

Want American Tables.

An American pool table is a grateful oasis to the American soldiers impatiently awaiting orders to leave for home, for somehow or other they do not take kindly to the model of pool or billiard table which is extant in Merrie England. Hence there never is any rest to the billiard tables in the Y. M. C. A. hut in the British Isles.

PRESCRIBE EXERCISE FOR THE WOUNDED

"PLAY-THERAPY" IDEA IS BEING TRIED OUT IN CAMPS OF CENTRAL MILITARY DEPARTMENT.

Chicago.—"I prescribe an hour of volley ball for your stiff wrist this morning," is being heard now in a dozen of Uncle Sam's camps wherein wounded soldiers are convalescing. Or, it may be that the prescription is something like this: "Boy, your knee joints are pretty stiff and the hinges of your hips don't work right. Suppose you play arch ball for an hour today and tomorrow and then prolong the period of play a bit. This will do more for you than anything else."

Dr. H F. Kallenberg, chief of Y. M. C. A. physical directors in the central military department, with headquarters in Chicago, is receiving word almost daily that the latest method of treating wounded men in government hospitals in such cases as demand exercise of joints, fingers, wrists, legs or arms, is doing wonders for the soldiers. They not only are throwing off their ailments but are taking on cheerfulness and a new interest in life, he declares The treatment is "new" in that medical men examine each case and prescribe certain games to fit the needs of that case. No playing at games requiring exercise of muscles or joints is done save under the direct supervision of a medical officer Doctor Kallenberg asserts.

Helping Government.

"Physical directors of the Y. M. C. A. are helping the government in these matters at this time," explained Doctor Kallenberg. "I understand the application of our theory that the playing of certain games mend certain ailments is being demonstrated with success at various camps in the plain reconstruction of the physical man. We do not under-rate massage, hydrotherapy, electrotherapy or manual therapy, but we are finding that specified exercise in play works wonders in loosening joints and brings the man to a normal state."

At the following camps the new treatment of "play-therapy" is being used successfully upon hundreds of wounded soldiers, sailors and marines: Taylor, Dodge, Great Lakes, Fort Sheridan, Fort Des Moines, Fort Benjamin Harrison, U. S. General hospital No. 21 Denver, and plans are being made now to establish the treatment at Camps Funston, Sherman, Custer and the big Ford hospital, Detroit. It is reported that Major Kelley at Camp Grant has set aside two large two-story barracks for a gymnasium and will ask the Y. M. C. A. for two men to assist in directing wounded soldiers in their games.

HONOR FIGHTING PARSON

Dr. John H. Clifford, Baptist minister in time of peace, but real fighter in time of war, has been awarded the croix de guerre for extraordinary heroism in action.

Doctor Clifford, as a Y. M. C. A. worker, braved the red wrath of war. He has been in the firing zone as much as the hardiest infantryman and was decorated for a most unusual exploit. He was one of three men who braved incessant enemy shell fire while rescuing Col. Albertus W. Catlin, commanding officer of the Sixth regiment of marines. The trio carried the colonel to safety on a stretcher.

DOCTOR CLIFFORD.

Doctor Clifford went over the top many times and came near being killed on several occasions. He is fifty-one years old.

Praises "Y" Work.

Unqualified praise by Consul General Harris in Siberia for the service rendered not only to the American expeditionary troops, but also to the Czechs and to Russian prisoners by the American Y. M. C. A. secretaries, is contained in an official communication transmitted to the state department at Washington by Paul S. Reinsch, American minister to China.

Great Athletic Program.

Through the Y. M. C. A. the United States plans to introduce a project for the development of American athletics in the allied countries. America's greatest athletic leaders are being invited to direct the movement from the headquarters to be established in Paris.

HOTEL KLEMME OPENED

WE Wish to announce to the Public that we will begin serving Meals next Monday. We especially desire to secure steady boarders and roomers.

Our Rates are Reasonable

Oscar Franzen, Prop.

Our Legal Responsibility to our customers insures the safeguarding of your fund i... this Bank.

Our Personal Responsibility

gives each member of the bank afriendly interest in wh... ever business problem you may care to discuss with u...

If we can help, Command Us.

State Savings Bank

WHERE YOU GET THE SERVICE YOU LIKE AND LIKE THE SERVICE YOU GET

KLEMME, IA.

Free! - - Free!

Monday Nite

at the Opera House

CLIFTON'S

Comedy Company

High class Singers, Comedians, Dancers and Movin... Pictures. One Week! Begining Monday-Free Monda...

FREE! FREE!

Monday Night

Dressing--up for EASTER

WITH spring in the air and Easter comming, with the windows full of new styles and fresh fabrics, most feel the lure of new clothes----a desire dress--up and off fresh.

The big question is what to choose. That,s where we in--with a big selection; with live new styles; color-terns, something to fit everyone of you in a---- suit or overcoat. They're all wool; well--tailored; guaranteed to satisfy.

Hart Schaffner & Marx

Style features for Easter
for the young men

There are waist seams in suits and overcoats; single and double breasted slash, crescent and vertical pockets, new lapels, stitched and pipet collars. Two and three button sacks in rich all-wool serges, oxfords, worsteds, and cassimeres.

Easter clothes for older men

Two and three button sacks in all the rich, new fabrics, oxfords, serges worsteds-- you'll like them all. A lalge selection to choose from. We guarantee fit and satisfaction.

Furnishings for Easter

We not overlooked anything that will complete your atture for Easter. Here are furnishings--neckwear, hats, hosiery, shirts, gloves, collars, shoes, etc. Use your buying week.

Get To Know

Gildner Bros. & Johnson

The Home of Hart, Schaffner & Marx Clothes

Stores Garner, Ia

U. S. FIGHTING MEN WANTED A CHURCH

REPORT OF Y. M. C. A. IN CENTRAL MILITARY DEPARTMENT CONTAINS INTERESTING INFORMATION.

Chicago.—Uncle Sam's soldiers and sailors [illegible] figures showing attendance [illegible] services in Y. M. C. A. [illegible] camps of the central [illegible] above it.

Attendance [illegible] religious meetings and Bible [illegible] held in the huts between May 1, 1917 and December 31, 1918, was more than 5,280,000.

A. H. Lichty, executive secretary of the [illegible] department of the national war [illegible] of the Y. M. C. A. has [illegible] covering statistics of [illegible] activities in the 151 huts [illegible] overseas camps [illegible] and of nearly [illegible] concerts [illegible] secretaries of the [illegible] Y. M. C. A. during his administration more than 2,500 men and women have been recruited in the United States for overseas service [illegible] Y. M. C. A.

A. H. LICHTY.

The number of letters written in huts in [illegible] military camps totaled 62,708,[illegible]. The total attendance was 60,663,8[illegible].

Movies were the most popular feature of the "Y" service in the camps. The attendance at the 12,466 motion picture shows was 5,979,303, an average of more than 100.

The "Y" educational features were popular. In the 20 months 7,570 lectures were heard by 2,202,810 soldiers and sailors. The 68,272 classes of various kinds drew 1,894,418 and the 982 science and art clubs 62,580. For the American Library association the "Y" passed out 1,423,668 books.

Athletics Popular.

The number of participants in athletic contests under the direction of the "Y" was greater than the number of spectators. There were 5,398,259 in the contests and 4,437,017 "looking on."

The 902 workers in the 131 huts in the army and navy camps and the 184 S. A. T. C. units passed out to America's fighting men 510,432 Scriptures. There were 282,229 personal interviews on the subject of religion; 52,754 decisions to accept the Christian faith and 117,770 signed the "war roll" pledging themselves to a Christian life.

The 17,361 entertainments not including movies, drew 6,731,646 soldiers and sailors.

The fighting men were thrifty. In the period covered by the report the "Y" sent home for the enlisted men $3,096,025 in money orders.

"Y" to Open Clubs for Troops.

At the request of the French minister of marines the Y. M. C. A. is planning the establishment of clubs for American and French troops in Toulon and in the suburbs of that city.

SIXTY-THREE "Y" MEN DECORATED

Chicago.—The Y. M. C. A. carried the Red Triangle into the camps and trenches abroad at a cost of 53 lives, a sacrifice proportionately one-quarter as great as that in the American army, according to a statement issued by the national war work council of the Y. M. C. A. Of these fatalities 35 were due to disease, and the remainder to shell-fire, bombs, gas-fever, drowning and wounds. Ten of these were women, one of whom was killed by shell fire and the others in a German air raid.

There were also 55 non-fatal casualties. These were due principally to machine gun fire, shell fire, and motor transport accidents. Numerous cases of slight wounds and gassings which were attended at dressing stations, but were not reported to headquarters, are not included.

These casualties occurred in a force which at no time exceeded 9,000 workers, of whom it is reckoned that no more than one-half were never sent to the front, being employed in the hundreds of huts maintained throughout the training areas and the "leave areas."

Sixty-three "Y" workers were decorated, while in all more than 152 received official recognition for distinguished service. Thirteen of these were decorated with the Croix de Guerre, while 48 received other decorations. Of these, three received the Distinguished Service Cross, three the Order of St. Stanislaus, five the Italian Cavaliere del Corona, 28 the Italian War Cross, and one the French decoration of the Corps d'Armee. Seven were cited for the Croix de Guerre, and seven for other decorations, six commended for meritorious conduct, and twenty-nine received honorable mention in dispatches. Several units were cited in their entirety, those serving with the Third division being cited twice. More than a score more reported decorations have not yet been confirmed.

Not one of these men under the age was fit for military duty, but the citations show that they carried on the same courage and spirit that thrilled Americans throughout the war. These records show that they went over the top with the assault waves, that they exposed themselves under machine gun and shell fire to minister to the wounded, that they worked indefatigably as stretcher-bearers, and that they drove ambulances into the midst of battle to rescue the wounded.

A New Shock for the British.

London.—The American soldier's capacity for chocolate is a never-ending source of wonder to Britishers, a wonder that has just been given a new stimulus by a contract the Y. M. C. A. has closed to take over a plant and manufacture chocolates—300 tons of chocolates a month.

Plan Educational Courses.

English universities are preparing to welcome the American officers and men designated to take collegiate, special or post-graduate courses there in accordance with a scheme of the army educational commission conducted by the British army and the American Y. M. C. A.

Why Called "Clove."

The word "clove" has come down from the French word "clou" which means a nail, because of the resemblance, partly real and partly fanciful which the dried clove bears to a

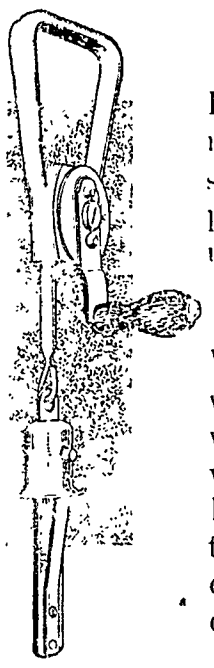
The "IOWA"

The Only Cream Separator with

The Curved Disc Bowl

Outskimmed ALL other Separators

In the Official Skimming Tests made by the Jury of Diary Experts at the Worlds Fair Exposition, San Francisco, 1915, the "IOWA" Cream Separator outskimmed the De Laval and all other Separators and was the only Cream Separator to be officially praised for close skimming by the Jury of Diary Experts.



Gets All The Butterfat

Butterfat selling at better than 50c a pound--$1.000 per ton is the most valuable product on your farm. You cannot afford to lose a single drop. The "IOWA" with the CURVED DISC Bowl actually pays for itself out of the butterfat it saves, and which is lost by the use of the ordinary stright disc machine.

Women Folks like the "IOWA"

Women like the Patented Disc Cleaner which is furnished without extra charge with every "IOWA." This Disc Cleaner washes, sterilizes and dries the CURVED DISCS of the "IOWA" in less than two minutes, and it does it more thoroughly than it can be done with a rag or brush.

The "IOWA" is convenient, easy to clean, durable and light running.

Before You buy, see and try the "IOWA"

HENRY LAU & SON

THRILLS EN SHELLS FLY

AW WAR ON FOUR ESCAPES DEATH ES WHILE SERV- OLDIERS.

re than 700 Y. M. C. A. ervice with the soldiers expeditionary force in uring the last months

Van Epps, seriously erving as a Y. M. C. A. ponne, told of some of in a talk at the Y. M. ...

France last April on n Epps and 56 other escaped drowning was torpedoed by a divisional secretary A. outfit. He worked ivision until the armis- He was dressed up in uniform when he arrived and a kitbag slung over ining what is left of complete his couvenirs months' service overthe war on four fronts America, serving in the on two of them. was torpedoed on miles off the coast of "Tuscania" two out of a convoy of seven steamships. The Oronzo was 12 minutes after she was Van Epps and other "Y" their baggage. They were on a torpedo-boat destroyer at Holyhead, Wales.

In Front Line.

In southern and middle Alsace, Van Epps was in the first-line trenches and at St. Mihiel, when the drive opened, he became a stretcher bearer after his supplies ran out. Getting word to shift to the Argonne, he traveled all night by train, on trucks and afoot, and spent the next three weeks sleeping in shell holes and trenches when he was not at work.

At Madedeine farm, on October 18, Van Epps and Thomas F. Hadley of Iowa, another Y. M. C. A.'man, set up shop in an old barn. All but three of the twenty-five "Y" workers went back to get supplies. The barn had been under shell fire for several days, but Van Epps and Hadley decided it was good enough to sleep in. They built a bed of boxes of jam, with a tub of chewing tobacco for a pillow and lay down.

Half a mile back, an American battery was hammering the Germans, and two German airsplanes came over looking for the position. They let go two bombs which landed on each side of the barn. Soon came a third, which struck the roof, bringing down a mass of rafters and beams and scattering shrapnel. A splinter was driven through the calf of one of Hadley's legs and a piece of shell tore through both of Van Epps' thighs.

After dressing stations and field hospitals had finished with them they spent half a day in an ambulance and then were put aboard a French hospital train, where they remained another two days. One of these days was Sunday, so Van Epps, at the suggestion of some of the doughboys, "put on" a service, conducting it propped up in his stretcher.

Soldiers to Study.

Paris.—With the arrival of General Rees from Washington on detail from the war department to take charge of the army educational work, progress has been rapid along the lines laid down in the program submitted by the Y. M. C. A. army educational commission. Text books required to satisfy the demands of the men for instructions are coming overseas rapidly, according to Prof. John Erskine of Columbia university, chairman of the "Y" commission; post schools are starting up at the rate of 10 to a division and groups of officers and men are being absorbed by French and British universities to the limit of their capacity.

General Praises Y. M. C. A.

Paris.—There are some fools in the Y. M. C. A., according to Brig. Gen. J. P. O'Neil of the Ninetieth division. "Our Y. M. C. A. is everything to be desired," said the general. "Among the employees are some fools. One of them was such a fool that he would not stay away from the front line, and he got so tied up with Boche shells and other projectiles that we were forced to recommend him for a Distinguished Service Cross. That is a sample of the men you have sent to us. Please keep this work up, and whether I am commanding this division or not, the things that you have done will make a lasting impression upon it."

Honor "Y" Worker in Russia.

News that the general commanding the American and allied expedition in northern Russia had recommended Howard B. Merrill of New York, a Y. M. C. A. worker, for suitable recognition of his cool behavior during a surprise attack on the forces he was serving, is conveyed in a delayed cablegram received at the Y. M. C. A. national war work council offices.

THE KLEMME TIMES

RAY A. JORGENSON, PUB.

KLEMME, IOWA

Two separate clues, unearthed in the past few days, have linked the mysterious deaths of Miss Inez Elizabeth Reed, San Francisco and Fort Riley army nurse, and Mrs. George D. Greenwood, Oakland society matron, according to an Oakland police announcement. The clues are in the form of two lists of names, one in a perfect memorandum book, found in a box car, at Tracy, Cal., bearing the names of Miss Reed and George D. Greenwood, the slain matron's husband, and the other found in the shack of two men, taken into custody recently, and bearing the names of Miss Reed and Mrs. Greenwood. The box car list contained also the names of a number of other prominent Oakland people.

The cruiser Goire, the last of the five French warships sent to American waters early last year to have a part in the convoying and protecting of American cargo transports, left Friday for France. It was not generally realized that while American soldiers were fighting in France under the direction of a French generalissimo and American warships were operating in the North sea, under direction of the commander of the British grand fleet, five French warships had their base in American waters and were under the commander of the American convoy and transport forces.

The Panama canal federation of labor has adopted resolutions condemning statements alleged to have been made by Brig. Gen. R. M. Blatchford, commander of the American forces in the canal zone, concerning moral conditions in Panama and the canal zone. The resolutions call for an explanation and submission of evidence. General Blatchford in June, 1918, declared a moral boycott of the cities of Colon and Panama and barred American soldiers from entering the cities.

United States Senator Selden P. Spencer, of Missouri, one of the 39 republican senators who signed Senator Lodge's resolution declaring the proposed covenant of the league of nations unacceptable in its present form, says that he is heart and soul in favor of a league of nations and did not see how anyone could oppose such a league. Two amendments he proposes are a definite recognition of the powers of the United States constitution and the Monroe doctrine.

Refusal by the Postal Telegraph Company to sanction an increase of telegraph rates it deemed unjust, and its award of a 10 per cent wage increase to employes instead of the 5 per cent advance ordered by Postmaster General Burleson is said by Wm. S. Deegan, secretary of the company, to be "the reasons" for the removal by Mr. Burleson of Clarence Mackay, president of the Postal Company.

The French minister of revictualing, discussing reports that France was buying foodstuffs from other countries in preference to the United States, said that France was buying everything possible in the United States, but was compelled to go to Argentina and Canada for supplies not available in America. Neutral countries, particularly Sweden, he said, were buying large quantities in Argentina.

Pressing emphatic objection to the demand of the Japanese delegates to the peace conference for "race equality and just treatment," United States Senator James D. Phelan cabled the American delegates at Paris his view that questions of immigration naturalization, land ownership and marriage are domestic questions and not to be treated in the League of Nations constitution.

The Russian warship Yarolawana, recently dry docked in Cherbourg, has been ordered seized by the French courts at the request of the Royal Mail Steamship Company because of a collision between the warship and a mail steamer in the Cherbourg roads last November, in which the steamer was damaged to the extent of $30,000.

"It is an open secret that Premier Lloyd George considers disarmament the touchstone of the peace conference success and that his insistence on disarmament for Germany is merely the first step in a general policy of pacification intended to lead to disarmament in all countries," says an echo from the peace conference.

England needs immediately 300,000 dwellings for its working classes, and strenuous efforts are being made to meet the situation. Fittings are to be standardized, but the government announces that houses are not to be built on one pattern. The government is anxious to avoid such a calamity.

To aid in "restoring the morale of American troops still abroad," whose spirit is admitted to have deteriorated since the armistice," the Presbyterian church will send 11 more of its leading ministers to reinforce eight who already have sailed, it is announced.

"I never want to cross that ocean again, but I shore am glad I was sent to France," drawled a returning six-foot western farmer supporting himself on one leg and two crutches, says the New York Times. "If I hadn't a' been sent to Paris, I never'd a seen New York!"

When King Albert and Queen Elizabeth of Belgium, went to American great headquarters to witness the ceremony of changing guard, General Pershing rode at the head of the troops and Queen Elizabeth took a number of photographs of him.

The state department has received a communication from Ludwig Christian Alexander Calovisch Martens, at New York, who announced that he had credentials from the Russian bolshevist government as ambassador to the United States.

Congress will be asked to present American coast defense guns on the Azores to Portugal, Acting Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt says. During the war the American navy mounted two 7-inch and several smaller ones at protective points.

Six officers of the navy and one of the marine corps have been assigned to the trans-Atlantic section of the director of naval aviation, in connection with the preparation for a flight across the Atlantic ocean which is to be undertaken soon.

Only two countries, the United States and Japan, have a larger amount of tonnage now than when the war began. Japan showed a net gain of 25 per cent, and the United States of 12½ per cent.

A report, just made, on the telegraph supervision of France, admits that on an average 40,000 dispatches daily were held up in the Paris office, and the majority of them never delivered.

It is difficult to see how Colonel House can talk as he did yesterday of peace being ready within the next 10 days, comments the Paris correspondent of the London Times.

Indications are that unless the Victory loan is largely oversubscribed, the treasury will have to begin within a few months after the campaign to market new securities.

IOWA SOLDIERS IN REAL PREDICAMENT

His Service Records Lost Carroll Young Man Has Thus Far Been Unable to Get Out of Service.

Carroll, Ia., April 7.—Lost, from the records of the United States overseas army, an Iowa soldier. He is a Carroll boy and enjoys a most unusual and unique position, not knowing whether he ever will be discharged from the army.

He is at home and has been for several months, and is still drawing his $30 a month. He joined the army, was sent to England and finally to France, where he saw service. In January he returned to the states and to Camp Mills, where he was to receive orders to proceed to Camp Dodge and be mustered out. But the officers could not find his service record and he could not be discharged. It developed that his service record had been displaced in England and, as he had been transferred a number of times, the papers could not catch up with him and never have caught up.

Although army red tape was recently said to have been cut to permit of the discharge of a soldier despite the loss of his service papers, it has not worked in this case, and inquiries at the various camps in England have resulted in the officers of this soldier's unit getting nowhere with him.

The young soldier is in Carroll. He cannot take off his uniform, as he is still a soldier and drawing his pay, and he cannot accept another job as much as he would like to, but is compelled to see other soldiers return home discharged, return to civil life, and yet nothing doing for him. All inquiries to the department avail him nothing and he is as securely tied to Uncle Sam's army as though he was in France or Germany.

DUBUQUE TO VOTE ON MUNICIPAL LIGHT PLANT

Dubuque, Ia., April 7.—Agitation of the last few months for a municipally owned electric plant in Dubuque came to head when a petition bearing 2,000 signatures was presented to the city council asking that a special election be called within 30 days to put the question before the voters. The petition was referred to a council committee.

Councilmen were also asked to arbitrate the wage controversy between the Dubuque Electric Company and its street railway employes, who are demanding a wage increase. The company claims it cannot grant the increase unless street car fare is raised. The council will employ auditors to investigate the company's financial condition.

DUBUQUE POSTMASTERSHIP NOT EASILY DETERMINED

Dubuque, Ia., April 7.—Another examination for the office of postmaster at Dubuque will be conducted here April 15. A second examination for the office, unusual under civil service regulations, is called for in a service bulletin posted in a conspicuous place at the postoffice. It is rumored that persistent efforts to throw the office to one of three democratic candidates have so far failed because of the efficiency of Acting Postmaster Wunderlich, republican, who assumed the post after Maurice Connolly resigned. Under the president's executive order making it mandatory that the office go to the candidate obtaining the highest ranking in examination it may prove impossible for the administration leaders to place the favored nominee, said to be Leo Mulgrew, democrat.

RETURNED SOLDIER USES LONG DISTANCE 'PHONE

Shenandoah, Ia., April 5.—Arriving at Camp Dix, N. J., after 14 months in France, Nolan Wooden, Company E, 168th infantry soldier, did not let the thousand and more miles of American continent keep him from talking to his "war bride" and baby he had never seen. The returning soldier talked to Mrs. Wooden in Shenandoah over the long distance telephone from New Jersey.

The conversation was not second-handed, either, as Mrs. Wooden could hear her husband plainly. In the spoken message were many words of greeting to the baby he has never seen, Virginia Geraldine, 11 months old.

BRIGADIER GENERAL SIMMONS BACK TO CAMP CUSTER

Des Moines, Ia., April 5.—Camp Dodge officers and men learned with extreme regret Friday the news of Brig. Gen. B. T. Simmons' return to his regular army grade of major and assignment to the 10th infantry at Camp Custer, Mich. He will leave for his new post about April 10, the general said last evening.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CROSS IS AWARDED

Camp Dodge, Ia., April 5.—The distinguished service cross was awarded Private Liberty Pease, Company E, 168th infantry here yesterday by Brigadier General Simmons, commmandant of Camp Dodge. Pease, who lives at Farragut, Ia., was decorated for exceptional bravery at Chateau-Thierry July 26 to August 2, 1918.

John Burroughs, naturalist, writer and friend of President Wilson, celebrated his 32nd birthday yesterday.

Great surprise is manifested in Mexican government and business circles at reports of exciteemnt in the United States regarding the alleged concessions of land to the Japanese.

Refusing to wear an "anti-influenza" mask, Dr. Arthur Fox, well known physician of Sydney, N. S. W., has been remanded for trial without bail, for defiance of public health regulations.

The two sons of the Navajo chief Tattitonny warted for the murder of Charles Hubbell, Indian trader, have been captured by an Indian policeman and are in jail at Leupp, an Arizona Indian trading post.

ATHORITIES HUNT FOR INSANE MAN

Patient at Cherokee Said to Have Traits and Habits of Wild Man—Lives In Trees.

Ford Dodge, Ia., April 5. County authorities have started a search for Oliver Bricker, who escaped from the hospital for the insane at Cherokee, Tuesday morning. It is believed that Bricker may return to his old haunts in the woods at Yell township, where for years he was a source of terror to the people. He was sent to Cherokee last August. Authorities say that Brickers life in the open has made him a regular wild man. He is described as running like a deer and climbing a tree with the agility of a squirrel. Like a wild man of fiction he swings from the branches in ape like fashion. He escaped from Cherokee by climbing down a fire escape.

CLUB HOUSE VISITED BY UNKNOWN PERSONS

Fort Dodge, Ia. April 5—When members of the house committee of the local Country Club went to reopen the club for the coming season they found that thieves had taken all the linen and dishes. The club house was in a badly disheveled condition and a wide assortment of empty bottles showed that the club had not been entirely deserted during the winter. Neighbors testified that frequently during the winter taxis had driven in the grounds and deposited their loads. Both the gate and the club house had been locked, but these difficulties were speedily overcome.

CLOVER SEED STOLEN BUT THIEF IS CAUGHT

Shenandoah, Ia., April 5.—Clover seed, "worth its weight in gold," was stolen from the storage house of the A. A. Berry Seed Company at Clarinda, stored in the coal house of Eva Spencer and brought to Shenandoah, where it was sold to the Henry Field Seed house, according to the charges brought against four persons held at Clarinda.

Albert King, a neighbor of Miss Spencer; H. R. Wilson, another friend and Harry Steeve, a farmer, who is said to have hauled the 1,744 pounds of seed here, and being held. The clover sold for $600.

Wilson was arrested in St. Joseph and brought to Clarinda.

TO OPEN OLD PACKING PLANT AT MARSHALLTOWN

Marshalltown, Ia., April 5.—By June 1 Iowa will have another pork packing plant in operation if the plans of Roberts & Ooke, Chicago packers materialize as they now anticipate.

The Chicago firm, which recently bought the old Brittain & Co., plant here, is making extensive improvements in the buildings, renewing the piping and sewerage systems, and getting the plant ready for operation by June 1. A new 150-foot smokestack has been completed and a large force of men is being employed in making the improvements on the buildings.

SHELDON RETAILERS TO BE GIVEN TRAINING

Sheldon, Ia., April 5.—The Sheldon Commercial Club has contracted with Pryor Irwin, counsellor and retail investigator, to conduct a retail merchants' institute during the week beginning April 28. There are to be given five evening talks in some public hall, with queries and round table discussions following each talk. Mr. Irwin will also give personal conferences during the days he is here with the merchants.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS CAUSE OF FIST FIGHT

Council Bluffs, Ia., April 5.—J. L. Lehmann, a German traveling salesman from Chicago, and Morris Barnes of Milwaukee, also a traveling salesman, engaged in a fight at the Northwestern railroad passenger station over the league of nations. Lehmann's criticism of Wilson's presence in Paris and his alleged derogatory remarks pertaining thereto brought the crisis and fisticuffs. No arrests were made.

IDA GROVE PIONEER WOMAN IS DEAD

Ida Grove, Ia., April 5.—Mrs. C. N. Clark, one of the pioneer women of Ida Grove and one of the women who came to the town in the 70s, died Wednesday night, having been sick for a number of months. Her husband was a newspaper man here in the early days of the town, establishing the Ida Grove Era, and was postmaster two terms.

MULVANEY IS ELECTED MAYOR WITHOUT CONTEST

Cherokee, Ia., April 4.—William Mulvaney was elected as mayor without contest, by a practically unanimous vote. The aldermen elected were J. A. Bammer, E. A. Banister, aldermen at large, and F. A. Colby, First ward; T. D. Campbell, Second ward, and J. W. Richardson, Third ward. The only contest was for aldermen at large.

CHEROKEE PIONEER DEAD AT AGE OF 82 YEARS

Cherokee, Ia., April 5.—John R. Rutter, one of the pioneer settlers of this county, died at the Sioux Valley Hospital here of complications brought on by old age. Mr. Rutter was an old soldier and came to Cherokee county about 1869. He was 82 years old at the time of his death. The body was taken to Washta for interment.

AGENTS OF ORPHANS' HOME FORCED TO QUIT

Davenport, Ia., April 5.—Resignations of L. W. Pike and Miss Anna E. Sheehan, state agents at the Iowa Soldiers Orphans' Home, were announced today coincident with the publication of a report by the Scott county council of defense criticising the work of the state agents in refusing to co-operate with the superintendent, and recommending certain changes in the study and play hours of the children.

A Great Project for Boys and Girls.

In nearly every state the leader of Boys' and Girls' clubs is conducting a series of contests in raising yearling beef. The plan is usually financed by a local banker or commercial club, the youngsters giving their unsecured notes for the calf and often to buy the feed for the term of the contest. Even when the feed is grown upon his father's farm the boy is required to buy it at a fair market price, as one of the most important things is that he shall keep all the costs incident to bringing his animal to full maturity.

The wonderful results which are secured by these young beef raisers have made their elders realize that there is something for them to learn from well-directed effort. Judging teams are also developed from these bright clubs, in which the girls are as keen as the boys.

FEEDING FOR BEEF.

Whole Corn Alone Not Profitable at Present Prices—Gluten Feed May Be Substituted.

[National Crop Improvement Service.]

BEEF feeders who lost money or at least who made no profit last winter have learned something about whole corn which they will never forget. They are not so keen about feeding valuable farm feeds simply because they are locally available.

We are short on corn again this year and every means should be employed to obtain by-product feeds which lessen the cost of feeding, and also conserve as much good human food as possible.

Many of the cleverest, sharpest feeders regard corn gluten feed, combined with linseed or cottonseed meal and plenty of silage and some clover hay an ideal ration for making profitable beef. Gluten feed, while cheaply furnishing protein to make a firm, solid carcass, has a carbohydrate content which will take the place of a certain amount of whole corn.

If corn is worth two cents a pound ($1.12 a bushel) it will not quite pay to sell choice steers at twenty cents a pound, according to the arithmetic of cost accounting feeders.

In most cases you will be money ahead if you cut out merchantable whole corn altogether, except for maybe a little at the finish, and feed a corn gluten feed, linseed or cottonseed meal, ration with unlimited roughage.

Training Little Children

Suggestions by mothers who have been kindergartners. Issued by The United States Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C., and The National Kindergarten Association, New York, N. Y.

In Families Where Several Youngsters Play Together They Should Have One Hour's Quiet Occupation Daily.

Punishments should never be inflicted in anger, but should rather be the natural consequence of the wrongdoing itself. Nature teaches her laws in this way: If you go too near a fire, you are burned; if too much indigestible food is eaten, sickness results; and if you drop a fragile glass it will break. No one ever questions the justice of these inevitable consequences, nor will a child ever resent a punishment which he feels to be the result of his own heedlessness or wrongdoing. To quote Miss Harrison, "A child readily realizes that scattered toys must be gathered up, that soiled clothes must be changed, that tardiness necessarily brings a loss of opportunity, that money foolishly spent by him will not be re-supplied by the parent, that teasing or tormenting the younger brother or sister causes a loss of the society of the mistreated one, that petulance on his part brings silence on the part of the mother, that recklessness when on the street causes loss of liberty."

In families where several children play together too much cannot be said in favor of a quiet hour, a time when each child shall be entirely alone, undisturbed by others. If the children are too old for a daily nap, they can be given some quiet occupation or play, such as looking at picture books, drawing with pencil or crayons, cutting out pictures with blunt-pointed scissors, making scrapbooks, modeling with clay or plasticine or stringing beads or buttons. With older children, and with babies, too, poise and self-control are gained "in the silence," and the wise mother will give herself as well as the children this hour of rest.

It is a mistake to allow children to play with a dozen toys at one time. Children can easily be taught when very little to select and play with one thing at a time, and to put it away in its place before another is taken. Even in a crowded apartment it is possible to fit up a box or shelf where each child can have a place for his own treasures.

Toys which develop the imagination are better than intricate mechanical toys and elaborately dressed dolls. Next to a ball, the very best plaything is a set of blocks, which is capable of being transformed into anything desired, from a train of cars to a pigeon house. Give a boy of 5 a hammer, some nails and a few pieces of wood and see what he can make—the results are often surprising. Children love to create, and the toy which they have made themselves will give a more lasting pleasure than the usual elaborate plaything bought ready-made.

The occupations of grownups have great attraction for children. A few simple regular duties should be given them every day. Work is one of the greatest means of spiritual development and the wisest of all teachers for little children. Friedrich Froebel said that a child's offer to help should never be refused. To be sure, the mother may at first find it far more of a hindrance than a help, but children of 4 or 5 can learn to dress and undress themselves, wipe the dishes, dust the chairs, help make beds, carry small pieces of kindling, empty scrap baskets, water plants and help in many other ways.

If the mother's spirit is right, children will always love to help. Children are little reflectors, and soon catch the spirit of cheerful, willing work. If they see work done complainingly, what wonder if they also begin to feel badly used when asked to perform some simple helpful service—and to look upon work as a disagreeable hardship.

Please pass this article on to a friend and thus help Uncle Sam reach all the mothers of the country.

New Process Turns Soft Into Smokless Hard Coal

From Popular Mechanics.

Little short of a complete revolution in the coal business, and consequently far reaching changes in American industry, are the results which, it is predicted, will follow from the invention of a new commercial process of converting bituminous coal into an equivalent of hard coal. The new fuel is entirely smokeless, and under the new process byproducts now wasted are recovered. These largely compensate for the cost of conversion. A plant has been in operation in the east for some time, perfecting the process and making tests of a practical character.

The raw coal is subjected to a distillation process at low temperatures, the residue being pressed into hard, durable bricks that are again subjected to distillation and produce an intense heat. If the claims of the large interests already identified with the process prove true, it means that future problems arising from hard coal shortage have been solved, that in many cases power can be produced near the coal fields and transported at low cost to large industrial centers and that cities remote from anthracite centers can procure a smokeless fuel for domestic and other uses which can be sold at a moderate price. It is interesting to note that the government is preparing to establish a plant for producing this fuel in an eastern coal region.

AS YOUNG
YOUR K
The secret of youth
TION OF POISONS fr
This done, you can live t and enjoy the good thi as much "pep" as you springtime of youth K in good condition, that's Watch the kidneys, purify the blood, all o passes through them on minutes. Keep them proper working condition nothing to fear. Drive wastes and deadly uric
tions from your system.
MEDAL Haarlem Oil Ca will always be in good will feel strong and steady nerves and el GOLD MEDAL Haarlem are imported direct fro tories at Haarlem, Holl
They are a reliable has been used by the st over 200 years, and ha to develop into one of and hearthiest races of them from your druggis a substitute. In seal three sizes.—Adv

Obeyed Comm
A sailor who was help by an officer self.
"But I thought sir—"
"You are not supposed
About a week later t sent this man ashore to cigarette papers and have any change he g
bill.
The man came st
with a case on his sh
"What have you got the officer.
"Cigarette papers," r
"You didn't say how m gave me the bill and some cigarette papers."
"What do you think I worth of cigarette pape
"I am not supposed t
Judge.

Indians Publish N
Alaska Indians of H
tive village near Junea issuing a paper the N
its first issue the pape
New Native's name was reason that the natives are no longer the nat years ago. They have belief in totemism an quated customs and hav fruits of civilization."

Nitrostarch as E
Nitrostarch, more co allied nitrocellulose seems to promise great blasting explosive.

To keep clean and heal
Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. liver, bowels and stomac

Drunken men talk li graphs.

For Colds, Catarrh

Do you feel weak and work ahead of you? Do a little, or does your n
Are you pale? Is your watery? Better put y shape. Build strong!
An old, reliable bl herbal tonic made from barks, is Dr. Pierce's Discovery. This 'nature in tablet or liquid form your body, cure your c you from disease germs where. One of the acti this temperance alterati wild cherry bark with st
so good for the lungs also Oregon grape ro
stone root, Queen's roo combined in the Med
These roots have a dire stomach, improving dige lation. These herbal
"Discovery" aid in blo are best for scrofula B blood they aid in throwi of influenza.
Catarrh should be tr
blood disease, with this in addition, the nose s daily with Dr. Sage's Cat
Send 10c for trial pkg.
covery Tablets or Catarr
Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, B

Baby's C will be white as the when laundered
Red Cross B
It never streaks clothes, nor does i most delicate fabri
All good grocers se a package

WORKS ...S A DAY

...y of Woman's ... Weakness ... by Taking ...'s Advice.

...I suffered from a dis... backache and dragging ... down pains so badly that at times I could not be on my feet and it did not seem as though I could stand it. I tried different medicines without any benefit and several doctors told me nothing but an operation would do me any good. My druggist told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it with the result that I am now well and strong. I get at four o'clock, do my ... in a factory and work ... and get supper and ... don't know how many of ... told what Lydia E. ... Compound has ... ANNA METERIANO, ... Ft. Wayne, Ind. ... from any such ail... fail to try this famous ...edy, Lydia E. Pink... Compound.

...Effect.

...your curfew law work?" ... "Do your people pay ... to it?"

...replied the landlord ... Grudge. "It used to ... much of anybody ... at nine o'clock, which ... hour, as they call it in ... now when the canning ... blows 'most everybody ... get away from home ... downtown to see if ... obeying the ordinance ... according to law."—

...ary Extremes.

...find your running au...?"

...standing nuisance."

...will look you straight in ... then forget to return ...

...Was Shattered

...Was Discouraged Until ...Made Her Well.

...ful shape from kidney ... Mrs. Frank Hayes, 42 ..., Mass. "When I got ...chair, I felt as though ...stuck a knife into the ...back and it fairly took ...

...secretions ...and only ... They ... I would ... I could ... away. ...brick-dust- ...their ... awful."

Mrs. Hayes

...became ...had large ... eyes. ...with spells of gasp... had such dizzy at... right over. Spots ... eyes, and I got so ...t stand any noise. ...g at all, became ir... all sorts of things. ...shattered and I be...

...to grow worse in spite ...and came pretty near ...times. After several ...horror, I heard about ..., I used a dozen ...and was cured. I was ...and have enjoyed good ...

...Any Store, 60c a Box

...N'S KIDNEY PILLS ... CO., BUFFALO, N. Y.

...OW TELL YOUR ...E TOBACCO?

...the Nose on Your ...Smell It

...have to put tobacco ...find out if they like it. ...the tobacco between ...hands and smell it. ...sible guide to smok...

...cos employ some ...ove the flavour and ...of the leaves", to ...pedia Britannica. ...considerable differ... flavorings used, and ...ects this difference. ...co uses the purest, ...and delicious of all ...ste. And the almost ...for chocolate to a great ...the widespread popu... ...O Tobacco. ...old Burley tobacco, ...ure chocolate, gives ...a pure, fragrance ...distinguish from ... Try it and see.

...a Soap ...AL— ...e Hands

...Tobacco Co. Samples ..., Dept. E, Boston ...

...make money selling Best ...Sewing Device for Ford ...Motor Co., Rockford, Ill.

...160 acre, fine rich corn ...Indiana, 80, 160, 240 imp... ...Owners, Francesville Ind.

...TIC CO., NO. 15...1919.

AMERICAN CATTLE TO PROVIDE MILK SUPPLY FOR FRENCH CHILDREN

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C. April ... American dairy cattle ... be sent to devastated dist... of France, where they will do their "bit" toward restoring the health of the children of the regions.

More than 100 head of ... bred cattle, recently pur... by the French high comm... and selected from the best herds by experts of the United States department of agricu... ture, shortly will leave ... York for Havre on ... equipped transp... They said to be an urgent dem... for milk from the war-st... areas.

MEXICO SHIFTS FOREIGN POLICY

People Force Government to Adopt New Attitude Toward Foreign Investors—Carranza Wants New Railroads.

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., April 5. Private and official advices from Mexico City within the last few days were interpreted as clearly indicating a sudden change in sentiment in the republic toward foreign investments in Mexico and that the coming session of congress will clear the atmosphere of much of the hostility shown since the adoption of the 1917 constitution. Diplomatic circles and officials of the state department are much interested in this apparent change of front as manifested in newspaper editorials and in statements by members of Mexican congress which have been telegraphed here.

The American oil interests in Mexico, it was learned, have not receded from the stand originally taken for their vested rights in Mexico to be recognized and that the anti-foreign and confiscatory features of the new constitution must not operate ex post facto against them. Nor have they shown any inclination to waive their rights in property which were purchased under the existing laws of Mexico, but which were jeopardized by the new constitution. The American British and French governments have protested to the Mexican government against the operation of certain parts of the constitution which were termed "confiscatory."

New Attitude By People.

From recent advices it appears that the new attitude of the Mexican people (and it is believed in official circles that this attitude is inspired by the government) is to recognize the rights of all people, including foreigners, to their vested rights under international law.

The recent visit of Rafael Nieto, acting minister of finance in the Mexican government, to New York, where he consulted with international bankers regarding the prospect of a loan to Mexico, and the correspondence which has taken place between former Minister of Finance Limantour and President Carranza, which resulted in the latter extending an invitation to President Diaz' experienced financial aids are believed to have been two influences that have changed the stand of the Mexican government.

Investors Want Security.

Nieto is known to have met with no success and little encouragement in New York beyond a promise of consideration of the request when Mexico showed she would accord proper treatment and protection to foreign investors. Limantour must have advised Carranza, officials believe that it would be impossible to secure financial aid for Mexico so long as the government maintained its hostile attitude toward foreign investors.

Plan New Railroads.

President Carranza, it has become known, has asked the extra session of the Mexican congress which has been called to meet May 1, to authorize the construction by the federal government of three railroad lines, and the acquisition of another railway system. The fact that these features were in the call for an extra session was not sent out from Mexico City at the time the call was made public.

The congress will be asked to appropriate 10,000,000 pesos for the purchase of all or a majority of the stock of the Yucatan railway system now owned by the Hennequen Association. One of the new lines will link this system with the territory of Quintana Roo, which at present has no railroads. The line will run from Peto, Yucatan, to Bacalar, in the southern part of the territory, and to Santa Cruz the chief harbor of the territory on the east coast. This line was contemplated by Porfirio Diaz, and surveys were made under his orders.

Line Through Tabasco.

Another line, the plan for which also dates back to the Diaz administration, is proposed to run from Santa Lucrecia, in the state of Vera Cruz, on the Tehuantepec line, purchased a short time ago from the Pearson interest to Campeche where it will connect with another branch of the Yucatan system. This line will traverse a portion of the state of Chiapas and all of the state of Tabasco.

The third proposed line will run from some point on the southern Pacific of Mexico, between Magdalena and Hermosillo to Ensenada, the capital of lower California. This road will enable Mexico to transport troops by rail from Central Mexico to lower California without entering the United States.

ARREST HUNS IN SPAIN.

Paris, April 4.—The French foreign office is advised that 200 Germans have been arrested in Barcelona and Seville. They are charged with participating in the riots in those cities.

PALMER READS RIOT ACT TO REDS IN U. S.

Declares Preachers of Violence Will Be Severely Dealt With—Intends to Suppress Anarchy By Force.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE.

(Copyright, 1919, by New York Evening Post, Inc.)

[illegible]

To Nip Red Plots

[illegible]

The attorney general claims that the membership of so-called bolshevists in America was composed largely of aliens and that he believed that the masses of people in the United States [illegible] assisted by [illegible] in fact he thought that very extravagant theories [illegible] to be put into practice by public opinion [illegible] by them.

Mr. Palmer has been at his post a few weeks. If he has delved into the department of justice and got at his figures. It proposes that the Sherman anti-trust law shall no become obsolete in the [illegible] days of competition, and that the government may [illegible] with the federal [illegible] signs of cooperation [illegible] in this country.

For the present the department of justice contends that the state of war is still existent and that the espionage act provides penalties and punishments for anything resembling sedition. On the other hand much of this law was directed toward the [illegible] of military [illegible] and this provision of it [illegible] the passage of the war [illegible] specifically repealed. Therefore those portions of the law which refer to sedition [illegible] the government of the United States can be invoked.

MYSTERY IN CHICAGO DEATH CASE DEEPENS

Body of Mrs. Black, Society Leader Taken to Fort Madison, Ia., For Burial.

By United Press.

Chicago, [illegible] body of Mrs. Irving C. [illegible] found dead on the [illegible] was taken to Fort Madison, Ia., for burial today. Mrs. [illegible] as a result of her suit of [illegible] mouth.

Mystery as to the manner in which Mrs. Black died deepened with the coroner's hearing which was planned to permit physicians to examine the wound. Coroner Peter Hoffman said he believed the wound was accidental. He wondered, however, why there had been no [illegible] wounds.

Irving C. Black, the husband, told of the discovery of his wife's body in their basement [illegible] room. His theory was that a cartridge had become jammed in the .22 caliber rifle his wife used and that she had tried dislodging it by tapping the floor with the stock. That was a rather common practice, he said. Mrs. Black was a leader in affairs at Wilmette, a Chicago suburb. Fort Madison [illegible] her former home.

TEN WEEKS' STRIKE ENDS.

San Francisco, Cal., April 4.—A strike of 10 weeks' duration ended today when 6,000 machinists and boilermakers returned to work in bay shipyards. They go on the 44 hour week and will be granted bonuses in lieu of retroactive pay. The 44 hour week will become effective April 21. The affected men [illegible] refused their positions after the [illegible] took Saturday half holidays.

TO CLOSE EXCHANGE.

New York, April 4.—The [illegible] Chicago here will be closed [illegible] April 26 and 27.

CHARGES ARMY MEDICS WITH GROSS ERRORS

Chief Surgeon of A. E. F. Alleges Neglect of Duty and Ignorance In Stinging Report on Conditions In France.

By Associated Press.

[illegible] April 5. Charges of gross [illegible] ness and negligence in [illegible] and controlling the spread [illegible] should fevers [illegible] against many [illegible] serving with the [illegible] circular published [illegible] geon of the American [illegible] and made public [illegible] the public health service [illegible] with a warning that [illegible] does not give complete [illegible] from typhoid.

Cites Epidemics.

[illegible] surgeon cites many instances [illegible] epidemics prevailed [illegible] especially during the last [illegible] on the western front and points [illegible] the occurrence and distribution [illegible] was constantly [illegible] on of the medical officers [illegible] weekly bulletins. It was [illegible] the circular continues [illegible] officers utterly fail [illegible] the significance of these [illegible] warnings * * *

Review Fever Outbreaks.

In review of the occurrence of typhoid and paratyphoid fevers in the expeditionary forces, the chief surgeon says: "Up to June, 1918, few cases existed and the rate was within the [illegible] limits. From then on, however, [illegible] the disease spread through [illegible] units.

During the Chateau-Thierry offensive the [illegible] discloses, approximately [illegible] of the troops engaged were affected with diarrheal diseases [illegible] as simple diarrhea, [illegible] typhoid and paratyphoid.

"Disregard Sanitation."

[illegible] of intestinal [illegible] the chief surgeon [illegible] due to entire disregard [illegible] of sanitation."

[illegible] and typhoid-paratyphoid [illegible] demonstrated to [illegible] to some extent after the [illegible] offensive, but the epidemic [illegible] and influenza prevailing [illegible] time overshadowed all other [illegible] admissions.

Typhoid in Argonne.

[illegible] the offensive in the Argonne [illegible] and paratyphoid began to be reported from virtually all divisions engaged, and, according to the chief surgeon, it was quite evident the infections were due in large part to the drinking of infected water.

In some instances either the initial exposure was not great, the organizations were under good discipline, or the medical officers had a proper conception of their duties and responsibilities, and but few cases occurred. In other instances the contrary was true and many [illegible] occurred.

In July, 1918, a replacement unit consisting of 218 men from Camp Cody, N. M., reached England with typhoid prevailing extensively; 98 men, or 44.5 per cent, had the disease, and the death rate was 8.42 per cent.

From the investigation it was concluded that the men were exposed to infection through drinking water while traveling across the United States. The unit had been vaccinated a few months prior to the epidemic.

New Regulations Out.

The chief surgeon declares that in many instances patients, some of whom were wounded, passed successfully through camp, field evacuation and base hospitals without any documentary evidence that thyroid or paratyphoid was even suspected in their cases. In not a few cases it remained for pathologists to make a diagnosis at the autopsy table. A number of regulations requiring all medical officers in forces overseas to report immediately even suspected cases of typhoid have been published by the chief surgeon.

HAYS PUTS O. K. ON WORLD PACT

Announces Official Republican Endorsement of League of Nations to Discredit "Party Issue" Reports.

By United Press.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 5.—Will Hays, national republican chairman, said late yesterday the G. O. P. indorses a league of nations. He did not discuss the covenant as now being drawn in Paris.

Hays refused to discuss the possibilities Gov. James P. Goodrich or Senator James E. Watson being candidates for the presidency, passing it off with the remark, "it is my business to elect and not to select."

CANADIANS PROBING PROBLEMS OF LABOR

By United Press.

Ottawa, Ont., April 4.—An investigation committee will make a report May 17 on the feasibility of joint capital-labor control and operation of certain Canadian industries, if the plan advocated by Gideon Robertson, minister of labor, is carried out.

Joint control will come eventually, Robertson predicted.

Since the establishment of a communist government in Hungary, the newspapers of Budapest have dispensed with the former obligatory publication of the names of owners, publishers and responsible [illegible].

Dew Baths, Rituals And Fleas Mixed in Divorce Court Trial

By United Press.

San Francisco, April 5.—Mrs. Cora Belle Remstedt can today eat meat, take other than dew baths and keep as many dogs as she wants to. Likewise, Carl Remsted, Stockton mechanic, can indulge in as many dew baths and rites of the Madazan cult as he pleases and be so free from fleas that he will not have to tie up the bottoms of his trousers to keep them out.

The Remsteds were given a divorce after a court seance in which the activities of the cult and the alleged flea carrying dogs of Mrs. Remsted were told in evidence.

LENINE'S OFFER AN ULTIMATUM

States Terms to Peace Conference Along With Threat of New Alliance With Germany —Fixes Time Limit.

BY LOWELL MELLETT,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

(Copyright, 1919, by the United Press.)

Paris, April 5.—Premier Lenine's informal "peace" proposal to the allies is virtually an ultimatum, it was learned from an authoritative source today.

The Russian bolshevist leader is known to have suggested a time limit for acceptance of his offer beyond which he would not undertake to abstain from consideration of Chancellor Scheidemann's proposal as conveyed to Foreign Minister Trotzky. The time limit is understood to be a matter of only a few weeks.

The German government was reported unofficially recently to have sent Karl Kautsky to Russia for the purpose of studying the situation there and possibly effecting an alliance between Germany and Russia.

The recent statement in the house of commons by Andrew Bonar Law, spokesman for the British government, denying the allies have received a formal peace offer from Russia, is technically correct. The fact remains, however, that the peace conference has a definite statement of Russia's position bearing Lenine's signature. This is, in effect, a concrete declaration of terms of peace to which the Russian soviet government would be willing to listen and, as such, may be considered as an actual offer on Lenine's part.

William Bullitt, official agent for the American delegates, who brought the document from Russia to Paris, obviously is not qualified to negotiate with the allies for the bolshevists. The proposal, however, is in the allies' hands for them to take or leave, as they see fit.

Further, it is possible to assert that it has not been read with entire lack of sympathy.

Focus On Germany.

There is reason to believe that the secrecy with which not only Lenine's statement but the reports of Bullitt and Lincoln Steffens, unofficial observer, are guarded, is due to a desire to keep attention focused on peace with Germany, thus avoiding discussion with possible acrimonious debate regarding Russia, which might delay the German peace program.

SCORES DIE WHEN VOLCANO ERUPTS

Brazilian Villagers Caught By Stream of Hot Lava and Deluge of Boiling Water In Sudden Violent Explosion.

Rio Janeiro, April 5.—A violent volcanic eruption in the mountain range near Palmeira Dos Indios has resulted in the death of many persons and great property damage, according to delayed advices received here today. Dispatches report that at midnight on March 30 a sudden explosion tore a crater a mile and a quarter long in a mountain near the village. Huge streams of lava and boiling water poured down the mountainside, destroying everything in their path. The eruption was accompanied by a hurricane of great intensity which added to the destruction. The eruption is continuing and the population of that entire region is fleeing to the coast. This is the first time any volcanic activity has ever occurred in these mountains.

Volcanic disturbances are also reported near Formosa, Municipio and Goyaninha, in the state of Rio Grande Do Norte. Reports of this eruption are meager.

Palmeira Dos Indios is in the state of Alagoas, 150 miles southwest of Pernambuco. The other volcanic disturbance is in a region about 100 miles northwest of Pernambuco.

LINDSEY SERIOUSLY ILL.

Denver, Colo., April 4.—Mrs. Ben B. Lindsey, wife of Judge Ben B. Lindsey, of the Denver juvenile court, left today for New York city in response to a telegram stating that Judge Lindsey was dangerously ill there. Judge Lindsey's health has been failing since his return several months ago from France, where he spent about six months as a representative of the committee on public information. The nature of his illness was not stated.

Fifteen hundred big, strapping veterans of the 33rd infantry were welcomed by Mayor Rolph, of San Francisco, and a committee from the Rocky Mountain Club, in the name of their home folks, when they landed in "God's own country" at New York this week. The mayor promises "the greatest homecoming welcome of any regiment in the American army."

CALLUS CORNS LIFT RIGHT OFF

Doesn't hurt to lift them off with fingers

Don't suffer! A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store. Apply a few drops on the corns, calluses and "hard skin" on bottom of feet, then lift them off.

When Freezone removes corns from the toes or calluses from the bottom of the feet, the skin beneath is left pink and healthy and never sore or tender.

GOOD IDEA TO AVOID SLANG

Idioms, Soldiers Find, Have Not Always the Same Meaning and May Lead to Trouble.

"You're a fine lot of grafters," said the captain of a company of Australians to his men.

Did they get sore? No, they just beamed.

A Yank was listening. He had liked the speech.

"Great stuff your captain handed out," he said to an Aussie, "I shouldn't have liked to be called a grafter by my captain, but I suppose he was only kidding. Some spieler, anyway."

"Some what?" bellowed the Aussie.

"Some spieler," repeated the Yank in wonderment.

They had just cleared the ring and picked seconds when somebody butted in and spoiled a good fight by explaining.

A grafter, in the parlance of Australasian troops—that is, Australians or New Zealanders—is a worker, a hustler. A spieler is a crook, a jailbird. And now that Australians, New Zealanders and Americans are likely to see a good deal of each other as time goes on, it's well to know their definitions.—From Association Men.

BOSCHEE'S SYRUP

Why use ordinary cough remedies when Boschee's Syrup has been used so successfully for fifty-one years in all parts of the United States for coughs, bronchitis, colds settled in the throat, especially lung troubles? It gives the patient a good night's rest, free from coughing, with easy expectoration in the morning, gives nature a chance to soothe the inflamed parts, throw off the disease, helping the patient to regain his health. Made in America and sold for more than half a century.—Adv.

Record Wheat Crop.

The largest wheat crop ever raised in any state was 177,000,000 bushels in Kansas, in 1914; the next largest, in South Dakota, 152,000,000 bushels in 1915. Minnesota's record crop was 80,0000,000 in 1901. The average for ten years past is 90,000,000 in Kansas, 87,500,000 in North Dakota, 57,000,000 in Minnesota. Seven times in 20 years Minnesota raised more wheat than Kansas. Only two of these instances occurred in the last 13 years.

"Cold In the Head"

is an acute attack of Nasal Catarrh. Persons who are subject to frequent "colds in the head" will find that the use of HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE will build up the System, cleanse the Blood and render them less liable to colds. Repeated attacks of Acute Catarrh may lead to Chronic Catarrh.

HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is taken internally and acts through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System.

All Druggists 75c. Testimonials free.

$100.00 for any case of catarrh that HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE will not cure.

F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

Bible Said to Be 1,500 Years Old.

A Bible, estimated by authorities to be 1,500 years old, worn by the touch of devout hands all through these years, but clear and legible, has come into the hands of Rev. W. E. Atkinson, secretary at Bremerton, Wash., for the Industrial Y. M. C. A. The Bible was used in the Armenian monastery. The pages of the volume are of papyrus, and it is bound in leather.

Don't Forget Cuticura Talcum

When adding to your toilet requisites. An exquisitely scented face, skin, baby and dusting powder and perfume, rendering other perfumes superfluous. You may rely on it because one of the Cuticura Trio (Soap, Ointment and Talcum). 25c each everywhere.—Adv.

The Remedy.

"This stout actor says his role gives him but a slim chance."

"Then try him out in a fat part."

Nobody was disappointed in the war. Germany wanted what was coming to her and she got it.

Your Eyes

A Wholesome, Cleansing, Refreshing and Healing Lotion—Murine for Redness, Soreness, Granulation, Itching and Burning of the Eyes or Eyelids; "2 Drops" After the Movies, Motoring or Golf will win your confidence. Ask Your Druggist for Murine when your Eyes Need Care. M-12

Murine Eye Remedy Co., Chicago

It's YOUR money and YOU are going to wear the clothes.

YOU are the one to be pleased. YOUR personality is the one to be expressed. YOUR physique is the one to be fitted--as YOU like it.

We might quote you prices but you must see the goods to know their value---mere prices mean nothing.

There is no store in this country that can show you better quality for the price or better styles--and no where can you get a more cordial, hearty greeting. Let us show You

PATTON BROS.

Mason City, Iowa

"Where a dollar does it's duty"

Candy Easter Eggs

A Fine Line of them here

Better order your Ice Cream now for the Easter Dinner. We can also supply you with Fresh Fruits, Nuts, Candy and Baked Goods.

"If It's To Eat---We Have It"

CRYSTAL CAFE

Elder & Fuller, Props.

DOCTOR MISSMAN

PHYSICIAN SURGEON

OFFICE--State Savings Bank Building, 'Phone No. 1105

RESIDENCE--North of Park, 'Phone No. 1109

X Ray Radiographs Electrical Treatments

Eyes Tested Glasses Fitted

Now is the time to make a noise like Spring!

Now is the time to make plans for this year's garden. We have everything you need in that line:-

Garden Spades Forks Hoes

Rakes Plows Garden Seeds

Don't overlook your Lawn or Flowers

Better get some of our Grass Seed and Flower Seeds. Buy a Lawn Mower.

J. W. WATERMAN

The City Dray Line

Is prepared to do your hauling carefully and promptly.
Your patronage is respectfully solicited
Charges Reasonable.

Henry P. Yahnke, Prop.

Coal Hauling Done

Chas. Busch was a business caller at Garner between trains last Friday.

Grandpa Heifner is on the sick list this week with a bad cold.

Nels Palmer was a Garner caller between trains last Friday.

Mrs. Henry Lewis was a Garner caller last Friday.

E. C. Ford, of Garner, was a Klemme business caller last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Keraus autoed over to Garner Sunday afternoon.

Joe Wenck, of Garner, was a business caller in Klemme last Saturday.

Frank Kellogg, of Garner, was in town Tuesday doing electrical work.

A number of young people from Garner autoed over here last Friday evening to attend the dance.

Mrs. Emma Gibbs and family spent Sunday in the country at the John Terhufen home.

Myrtle Bell returned Monday morning after a week's visit at Wesley, Iowa, with friends.

Fred Bell, Harry Buss, Bob Wilson and two children autoed over to Hampton Sunday for a short visit.

L. R. Roberts and son, Harry, spent the week end at their home at Mason City.

P. M. Greisemer was a business caller at Garner between trains Monday morning.

Clarence Kluckhohn and family have moved into the rooms over the Kirkwood Boarding House.

R. R. Kester, of Garner, was a business caller in Klemme last Wednesday

R. F. Schneider, of Mason City, was a business caller here last Wednesday.

Lee and Philip Ell, of Mason City, visited their brother Ed. here last Friday.

Walt Pritchard, of Garner, was a business caller in Klemme last Saturday.

Clarence Johnson and Gearold McCullough autoed over to Garner Sunday for a short visit with relatives.

Mrs. Geo. Kluckhohn, Mrs. Turgeson and sons were Garner visitors on Saturday.

Miss Maude Wenck, of Garner, visited at the F. J. Wenck home last Saturday.

Elmer Fuller and wife and M. O. Barr and wife autoed over to Clarion Sunday in the latter's new Ford.

Miss Lenora Schultz, of Garner, visited with her brother Walter and family last week from Wednesday until Friday.

The Crystal Cafe have installed a new apple cider cooler which sure is a dandy. Ice cold sweet cider makes a very pleasing drink.

Miss Blanche Lilljenberg and Mrs Turgeson were passengers to Garner Tuesday afternoon for a short visit with friends.

Mrs. G. W. Kluckhohn, Mrs. Turgeson and two little sons, spent Sunday at the Frank Kluckhohn home at Garner.

Miss Rose Schultz, of Garner, visited at the home of her brother, Walter and family, last Friday and Saturday.

Miss Frieda Schuldt returnes last week from her winters visit in California. While there she visited with the W. R. Bloom family at Redwood City and also spent some time at Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Mrs. Weber and Mrs Krange, of Joliet, Ill., visited a few hours with Mrs. F. J Wenck last Friday.

Elmer Ludeke has an ad in this issue of the Times. He is the agent for a silo, it is the same as the one on his farm. Read the ad.

Quite a number of farmers finished putting in their small grain the past week. The weather was ideal for the work.

Henry Lau & Son are running a series of ads on the "Iowa" Cream Separator. These ads are well worth reading and are a money saver for the farmers.

Art Viederman, who was recently discharged from Camp Dodge, and whose home is at Joliet, Ill., visited with Klemme friends a few days last week.

C. W Wiles and Chas. Lewis went to Minnesota last Friday to look after Mr. Wiles farm there. Mr. Wiles returned to Klemme Sunday but Charlie will remain there for some time putting in the crops.

The following parties autoed over to Garner last Tuesday evening to take in the show there: Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Barr, the Misses Blanche Lilljenberg and Lottie Miller, Howard Doyle and Billie Busch.

Chas. Busch is moving to Garner where they will make their future home. We are sorry to loose this family from our city, but wish them prosperity in their new location. Charles can handle his land business from that point better than here is the reason for their moving there.

John Henschen drove over to Clear Lake Sunday, or at least that was his intention, but the roads were so bad that he turned back again. He got about a mile east of Garner and stuck in a mud hole where he stayed for a considerable length of time until he had a team pull him out so he could get back to Klemme again.

A few of the local nim-rods have been trying to do a little fishing the past week but with little success. The water is still too cold and also too high yet for fishing. But just wait a little and Ye Editor will be right there after the finny tribe himself, then we will blow on how big the ones were that got away.

Did you notice that fellow strutting up and down the street last week? Proud? Why he would make a peacock look like a sparrow, but there's a reason: He had that old suit cleaned and that hat re-blocked at the New Process Laundry and they look better than new. McCullough Barber Shop, Agents. adv.

Dr. R. W. Schultz, Osteopath of Garner, will be at the Klemme Hotel on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 11:30 a. m. to 2:00 p. m. adv.

FOR SALE—12 months' old Red Scotch Topped Short-Horn Bull, ready for service. Emil W. Lau. tf.

Fortunate People.

It has been rightly said that "the fortunate people—the truly fortunate—are not so much those who succeed in life as those who succeed in living." Right living is a beautiful art, made up of courage and kindness and hard work and true religion; and it is open to everybody.—Selected.

Worry Spoils Everything.

More mistakes are induced through worry than any other cause in the world. We fret ourselves into a frame of mind that induces just what we wish to avoid. Go about your work carefully and with faith in your own ability. If you fail today, have faith that tomorrow you will do better. Do not let the little foxes of worry "spoil the vines" of honest endeavor.

Duel Was Called Off.

A young bachelor who was staying at a fashionable spa near Dresden was challenged to a duel by the husband of a young woman with whom he had flirted. The bachelor, who is an expert amateur boxer, replied that the challenge was accepted under the usual conditions—namely, choice of weapons. His choice was for four-ounce boxing gloves. The husband sent word that "the matter may now be considered as settled."

WHEN ONE WANTS TO "DRESS UP" AND WANTS ORIGINAL STYLES IN MILLINERY THEY TURN TO

GAGE HATS

AS THEY ARE SUITABLE FOR EVERY OCCASION.

—Sold at—

MRS. JOHN JOSTEN'S

We have it! Wha

Everything

Which is found in only the best a most up-to-date Meat Markets.

You will always find a compl line of Choice Meats, Hams, Bac Fancy Meats and Canned Goo

Try Our Oleomargarine---It's Fi

J. P. Larsen & So

Farmers Interests are our Interests.

This bank is interested in the farmers in more than simply taking care of their finicial end of thei ness.

We want to see them continue to prosper----to a fair profit for their work in peacetime as well as time.

We want to see them get a square deal on every and to help make their position in the industrial more generrlly understood and appreciated.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Klemme

Subscribe Today at $l

All Kinds of Hardware

HARDWARE AND GROCERIES

Stoves and Furnaces

Paints, Oils, Feed, Flour, Cream Separators, Bu Wagons, Gasoline Engines.

All Kinds of Farm Machinery

GREUTZMACHER BRO

KLEMME DRAY LINE

LLOYD LAU, PROPRIETOR

A share of your patronage is solicited.

All work attended to promptly and care

Coal Hauling Done Promp

Telephone No. 14

M. O. HOCUM

The Grain, Coal and Live Stock Man.

We will buy Hogs and Grain six days in the week at Highest Market Price

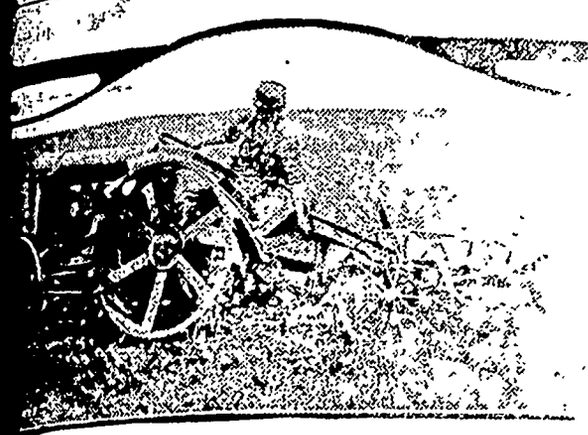
Successor to W. R. Bloom

DR. L. R. PAR DENTIS

Office 1st Floor State Sa Phone No 48. Klemme Io

KLEMME TIMES

y-third Year | Number 33 | Klemme, Iowa, Thursday, April 17, 1919 | $1.50 In Advance. $2.00 Outside of County



tractor that will fit y... farm—the Fordson

YOU can make your farm produce more ... cost—and with less effort on your part ... using the Fordson tractor. Not only will it prepare your land and cultivate the crops, but it furnishes power for many other farm jobs.

The Fordson tractor is the result of long stu... farming conditions and it has proved a succes... kerosene—easy to operate and care for—prac... trouble-proof.

There's an Oliver No. 7 F... for your Fordson

Just as the Fordson tractor gives ideal po... r, the Oliver plow means ideal plowing. It is scie... fully designed for tractor service—and is backed by ... f century of experience in making plows. It b... es all trash and weeds at the bottom of the furrow ... maintains an even depth of furrow—and is controlled from the tractor seat.

Come in and let us show you this remarkable ... team.

Ed. G. Ell

Authorized Dealer Klemme, Iowa

This is the day of specialists. The care of a car ... no exception. It is just as important to have ...killed attention for your car as it is for your ...watch.

...any a day's sport has been spoiled just be... the car has been mistreated and would ...t work.

...hen your car needs repairing come to the one ...ce where such work is a specialty--consequ... done right.

PHONE 20
Wiles Garage
YOU HAVE TRIED THE REST NOW TRY THE BEST
KLEMME, IA.

DR. R. M. THOMAS
Veterinarian
All Calls Answered Promptly
...e Iowa
Office and Residence Phone

Golden Wedding

...

...

...

THE KLEMME TIMES

RAY A. JORGENSON, PUB.

KLEMME, IOWA

Differing opinions concerning the rights of Japanese naturalized in Hawaii to hold land in California have been expressed by Edward White, immigration commissioner, and R. U Harrison, chief assistant state attorney of California Commissioner White says the Japanese have all the rights of American citizens as their naturalization has been upheld in accordance with the congressional act of May 9 1918 Mr Harrison holds that the state of California is not bound by the decisions of the United States district court of Hawaii, whereby they were granted citizenship.

Questioned in the house of commons as to why the American troops did not cooperate with the Japanese in the fighting at Blagovestchensk, Siberia, Winston Churchill, the minister of war replied that the American commander had said that the force which was attacking the Japanese might prove to be one of insurrectionary Russian peasants who were mistaken for bolshevists. Mr Churchill added that there was no doubt that the force which attacked the Japanese was a powerful and well armed bolshevist band.

Japanese who served in the United States army here during the war, thus becoming eligible for naturalization are leaving Hawaii for California and other coast points as soon as they obtain their citizenship papers, according to Richard Halsey, United States immigration inspector here, says a dispatch from Honolulu Several score already have left or have engaged passage To date almost 300 Japanese have been naturalized, and it is estimated that almost 500 were made eligible by military service.

The report of the directors of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, made public Wednesday, says "the most serious problem which has been forced upon the railways during federal administration is the enormous increase in wages, which has also been the prime factor in the increased cost of practically all materials. If these advances are to be permanent, railroad freight and passenger rates must again be raised to insure a fair return to the railroads."

A prominent weekly in a description of the Texas oil fields, says People in general riding in limousines, women in elaborate dresses with diamond rings and necklaces, horny handed farmers with hickory shirts and weather beaten faces, upon whose gnarled hands glow great gems, are some of the sights. All the evidences of immense wealth with utter ignorance of how to use it, can be seen on every side.

At the conclusion of his first trip to France, the president, asked how soon a peace could be accomplished, declared that, like all gatherings of this kind, there must be "so much talk" "Finally," he added, "everyone becomes 'talked out' and then we get to results quickly" The president, according to all reports, feels that the stage of being "talked out" has been reached, says a Washington message.

A prisoner paroled from the Nebraska penitentiary found the cost of living so high that he returned to the prison last week to plead with the warden to be allowed to serve the rest of his sentence

Fragments of two human skeletons dug up by excavators in Chicago last week, are believed to establish for the first time definitely, the burial place of the victims of the Fort Dearborn massacre in 1812.

Four hundred millionaires have been developed from rag picking, is the estimate compiled from government reports on waste reclamation in the United States. The waste reclamation service of the commerce department has discovered one Harvard man who gave up a $10,000-a-year "rag picking" job to enter war work, and now he's going back to his original work again.—Philadelphia Public Ledger

The Siberian minister of justice, in a report dealing with the atrocities committed by the bolshevists, lays special stress on the tortures inflicted on the clergy. Archbishop Andronique, it is asserted, was buried alive. Bishop Theophanus, after havin suffered great torture, finally was drowned by successive immersions through a hole made in the ice. Fifty priests were butchered at Perm.

When members of the legislative commission investigating the high price of building materials resumes its inquiry in Chicago today, an effort will be made to ascertain why the price of common building brick has increased 70 per cent, while the price of ornamental brick and other building material have not advanced more than 35 to 45 per cent

The trustees of the Marshall Field estate have decided to sell the realty owned by the estate in Chicago, although it is valued at $40,000,000, and is the largest aggregate held by any one owner in Chicago The reason for the decision is that taxation is so high on large incomes that these properties yield less than 1 2 5 per cent on the investment.

British destroyers will cooperate with the American navy in patrolling the course to be followed by American naval seaplanes in the projected flight across the Atlantic ocean next month From 40 to 50 British warships will be on duty from the Azores to the British Isles, where, under present plans, the flight will end.

Brig Gen William Mitchell, chief of training and optrations in the army air service, has been awarded the decoration of Companion of the Order of St. Michael and St George by the British government. This is the fourth decoration for meritorious service which General Mitchell has received during the war

Swift & Co say no change in the price of meat will result from the removal of the government's profit restrictions, as the government's maximum of 9 per cent had not been reached. Armour & Co. say heavy demands and the high cost of labor and live stock leave no means for reducing prices.

"That the German republic does not give the impression either at home or aboad of being the flower of a new dawn comes from the fact that it has retained most of the old figures who seem just as flourishing in the new atmosphere as they did under the kaiser," admits Theodore Wolff.

A London correspondent says it is proposed to wait until April 15 before attempting the trans-Atlantic flight, and longer, if weather conditions are unfavorable.

The public welfare committee of Los Angeles is agitating the subject of a free camping ground, for the accommodation of automobile parties who are traveling overland.

Wisconsin labor organizations are quietly carrying out a new policy which requires members to be citizens of the United States in order to hold membership in a labor union

Rhode Island has adopted a resolution directing the attorney general of the state to ask the United States supreme court for a ruling on the constitutionality of the prohibition amendment to the constitution.

IOWA STATE NEWS

IOWA SUPREME COURT HANDS DOWN DECISION

Des Moines, Ia., April 14.—The following decisions have been handed down by the Iowa supreme court:

C C Taft et al., appellants, vs. Alber, Polk county, affirmed.

Flynn vs. Webster Mutual Life association, appellant, Pottawattamie county, affirmed.

Haddock, appellant, vs. Jacob et al., Taylor county, affirmed.

City of Oskaloosa vs Boyd, appellant, Mahaska county, affirmed.

Kiffner, appellant, vs Kiffner, Bremer county, affirmed.

Eller vs. Eller et al., appellants, Polk county; dismissed.

UNEARTHS BODY IN AN UNMARKED GRAVE

Storm Lake, Ia., April 15.—Clement Demars who lives on the Comstock farm just north of Sulphur Springs made a mysterious find last Saturday while digging a hole on his land there. He started digging a hole to bury some cattle that had died a few days ago and when a few feet deep he struck what proved to be a rough box and it contained the bones of a human being. He immediately covered the hole so that an investigation might be made. There may be a mystery connected with the find or the body might have been buried there many years ago as would be indicated by the condition of the box.

THESE WOLVES HAD LAID IN SUPPLY OF FOOD

Atlantic, Ia., April 14.—A few days ago Fred Rhoades killed a wolf in the timber on his farm Shortly afterward he saw the mate and killed it. At the same time he discovered the hole leading to the wolf nest. Excavation of the hole disclosed a pig, a sheep and a dozen chickens.

The scalps of both wolves were delivered by Rhoades to the county auditor He received $40 bounty

ICE MEN TO MEET AT MASON CITY NEXT YEAR

Des Moines, Ia., April 14.—J. G Black, of Des Moines, was re-elected president; Charles Schaefer, of Ottumwa, vice president, J F Simpson, of Waterloo, secretary, and I C Plane, of Independence, treasurer, of the Iowa Ice Dealers' Association at the concluding session

Mason City was chosen for the convention city for 1920.

FIRST RAINBOW UNITS EMBARKING AT BREST

Ten Transports Assigned By War Department to Bring Division to United States.

Camp Pontanezen, Brest, April 12.—The first contingent of the Rainbow division embarked for home today.

The following ships have been assigned to transport the division Michigan, Pretoria, Prince Frederick Wilhelm, Harrisburg, Minnesota, South Carolina, Leviathan, St. Louis, Pueblo and Missouri.

The first detachment, with band and fife and drum corps playing, led a column of Rainbowers into camp at midnight Wednesday. The division headquarters arrived Tuesday The 165th infantry is now in camp and most of the 167th has arrived.

AMERICAN CRUISERS ARRIVE AT MURMANSK

Presence of War Vessels and Arrival of Engineers Expected to Help Yank Morale.

Washington, D C April 12 --Arrival of the American cruisers Galveston and Chester at Murmansk, reported late yesterday, is expected by officers to relieve the situation among American troops in the Archangel region, a company of which 10 days ago refused to go to the front until arguments were presented by their officers. The vessels carried Brig Gen W P Richardson, who is to assume command of the American forces, and two companies of railway engineers. General Richardson and the engineers were ordered to Murmansk at the time it was decided to withdraw the entire allied force in northern Russia, and their arrival is expected to assure the American troops and prevent any spread of the mutiny

No further information as to the mutiny was issued today by the war department

REPORTS ON EGYPT.

By Associated Press.

London, April 12.--A dispatch from General Allenby, special high commissioner for Egypt and the Soudan, received here, reports that Cairo is outwardly quieter, but that disturbances continue in the poorer quarters. Quiet prevails in the provinces, the dispatch says

RECALL DISRAELI MOVE.

London, April 12.—In connection with President Wilson's ordering the George Washington be sent to Brest as soon as possible, the London newspapers recall the story of how Lord Beaconsfield (Disraeli) ordered a special train as a diplomatic move in a peace conference.

Senator Hitchcock has declined an invitation of the Indiana Manufacturers' Association to debate on the League of Nations with George Wharton Pepper, of Philadelphia, in Indianapolis next week.

With reports before it that the I W W have been making serious inroads on labor unions of that city, the Tacoma central labor council is considering the question of reorganisation of the American Federation of Labor along the lines of industrial unionism Secretary A L. Dickson, of the council, reported that the I W. W are taking in labor union men at the rate of 25 a day on an average and sometimes 100 a day

FARMER'S ACTIONS WORRY RELATIVES

Search Being Made For W. H. Krebs, of Blencoe—Two of His Horses Recently Mysteriously Maimed.

Blencoe, Ia., April 12.—W. H. Krebs, a farmer residing three miles west of town disappeared last night for the second time within two months. This time, Krebs hitched a horse to a buggy and drove off. He made no explanation to his wife or neighbors.

The first time, neighbors and townspeople looked night and day for him for a week. Finally he appeared at home one morning. A month ago, a valuable team belonging to Krebs was found with the cords cut in their legs between the hoof and the hock. Krebs accused a neighbor of the act. Word has been sent to surrounding towns by his family He is middle aged

FINDS SCHOOL REPORT DATED MAY, 1871.

Blencoe, Ia., April 12.—A. O Gray is exhibiting a copy of a school report made out in May, 1871 While going through old papers recently, the document was found It contains names of many of the early families of the community. The teacher was a Miss Griffin. The secretary of the board was Peter Reilly, who died recently Mr. Reilly was an old soldier and lived in Washington, D. C., during the last years of his life. The report will be presented to the historical section of the Onawa public library

IOWA SUPREME COURT HANDS DOWN DECISION

Des Moines, Ia., April 12.--The following decisions have been handed down by the Iowa supreme court

Trotter, administrator, appellant, vs Chicago Rock Island & Pacific railway Washington county, affirmed.

Kress, appellant, vs. Lane Brothers, Harrison county, affirmed.

Highland vs. Iowa Life Insurance company, appellant, Wright county, affirmed.

Thompson, appellant, vs. Burnsmeyer, Hamilton county, affirmed.

BOY CARRIED REVOLVER INTO SCHOOL ROOM

Marshalltown, Ia., April 12.—Pulling a gun out of his pocket while the teacher was absent from the room, 12-year-old Ward Boswell, a fifth grade pupil of the John Childs school, shot through the ceiling of the room and not only frightened himself, but all the pupils of the room The police were called and young Boswell probably will be taken into district court. The episode may mean reform school for the lad.

O'BRIEN COUNTY BOYS TO HAVE CONFERENCE

Primghar, Ia., April 12 --The O'Brien county Y M. C. A. older boys' conference will be in session here Saturday and Sunday, April 12 and 13, at the new court house. C H. Pipher, of Des Moines, state county work secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association, will deliver the principal addresses. It is expected that every town in the county will be represented by not less than three nor more than 10 delegates.

MARSHALLTOWN—A fine of 1 cent and the costs of the action was ordered by Judge Willett, in the district court here, in the case of Rex Houghton who pleaded guilty to assault and battery The judgment is the smallest in a criminal case ever entered in the district court of this county

CHEROKEE—The James Lamont farm of 80 acres, near Cleghorn, was sold the past week to W Horstman The consideration was $300 per acre This farm was formerly owned by E R. Charlton, of this city

BLENCOE--The Blencoe Farmers Elevator Company will hold its annual meeting April 16. The company now owns two elevators here and operates a lumber yard.

This government will leave the squelching of the Blanquet-Diaz revolutionary movement to President Carranza, it is stated in Washington General Blanquet, 70 years old, can organize nothing more threatening than a "parlor revolution," according to one expert

A motion in favor of woman suffrage was passed by the parliament of South Africa Tuesday by a majority of two votes.

The war risk bureau now has a mechanical device by which 20 cheques are signed at one time with an actual pen signature.

Herbert Hoover has written the foreign secretary of German-Austria, demanding that all Austrian rolling stock be turned over to the allies for the transportation of food, a Vienna dispatch reports.

Henry Ford announces he has work for 1,000 disabled soldiers at his plant in Dearborn. He promises to use 200 who would, as a rule, be regarded as unfit for employment.

Senators who favored sending a committee of members to Paris to keep in as close touch as possible with the doings of the peace conference, are now said to regret that they did not do so.

A man who has been a Chicago alderman almost continuously since 1871, when congratulated upon his re-election last week, commented· "I've wasted my whole life as an alderman, and if I had it to live over again, I would never run for office."

I asked recently a well known American public man who has held high diplomatic rank, in what degree German propaganda has been responsible for the misunderstanding between Japan and the United States He answered, "Not more than 90 per cent," says a Paris correspondent.

Since the armistice was signed, 12,583 American soldiers have died from wounds received prior to its signing. There were 477 such deaths last week.

There were 153,069 Chicago voters who did not register an opinion either way on the "wet" or "dry" issue, although they voted for a mayor.

Convictions for drunkenness in Great Britain are shown to have decreased under wartime restrictions from 3,500 per week in 1913, to 500 a week last December

A Chicago cop has arrested Gen Leonard Wood for exceeding the speed limit The general's case will be heard Saturday morning.

BLIND AMERICAN HAS FRENCH WIFE

She Tells Canteen Workers Her Greatest Honor Is to Be Able to Care For Disabled Hero.

Council Bluffs, Ia., April 12.—Many thousands of sick and wounded American soldiers have passed through Council Bluffs the past year enroute to hospitals in the west and to their homes Each train bearing these men, no matter what the hour of night or day, is met by delegations from the Red Cross canteen service, the members of which have accumulated a fund of information and panorama of memories that are as vivid as the war itself has been to the soldiers.

Scores of incidents have occurred, some ludicrous, some so full of sympathetic interest as to repay the hard working canteen women for all their work, and many more distressing and pathetic Included in the latter class was an incident yesterday that was a fitting climax to the long and varied experiences of the women who have served sandwiches and handed out cigarets and candy to the returning soldiers

Alighting from a Rock Island train was a family from overseas. The family consisted of a soldier of the 1st army, his beautiful French bride, and an equally handsome baby girl Delighted with the attentions paid them by the canteen workers they told a group their story

Tell Their Story.

The soldier, a fine specimen of American manhood, six feet tall and proportionately built, had for his bride a French woman only about half his size and who carried a baby, an exact replica of herself The soldier was Lieut Willis Underwood He was going to Leavenworth, Kan., near where his parents live on a farm The lieutenant waited two weeks at a Long Island port for his bride and baby. He needed the services of his helpmate, for he is blind, and she must have eyes for both She nursed him after he had been wounded in France and then married him She has no relatives. Her mother and baby brother were killed when the Huns were shelling a hostess house and her father and three brothers fill French graves, victims of the Hun lust for power.

Lieutenant Underwood is a graduate of Chicago University His bride is from the upper class people of France She is highly educated and speaks French, German and English "The least I can do," she said with an accent that was charming "is to live for an American soldier The greatest honor that a French girl can have is to be the wife of an American," and the happy smile which her uplifted face gave to her equally happy, though sightless husband, was complete confirmation of the truth of her statement.

FORMER SOLDIERS IN COLLEGE REFUSE TO DRILL

Waterloo, Ia., April 12.—Refusal to drill, be measured for uniforms or to participate in any military maneuvers connected with the reserve officers' training school unit at the Iowa State Teachers' College at Cedar Falls is expressed in resolutions passed at a mass meeting at which practically every male student attended.

The chief objection to the officers' training school at the college was the fact that participation in its activities has been made compulsory. It developed that 90 per cent of the male students have served in some branch of military service and they do not feel the necessity of further training at this time. Another fact was that military training tends to kill athletics, which, in the opinion of the student body, are important in a live school.

SCHOOL TEACHER IS INJURED ON PLAYGROUND

Missouri Valley, Ia April 12 Miss Marcella Dewell, principal of the Harris Grove graded school, eight miles northeast of here, was painfully injured when accidentally struck on the head by a ball bat as she was passing back of the batter on the playground Though unable to teach the remaining part of the day after the accident, she was able to resume her work the next day.

CALLED TO DOOR AT NIGHT, SHOT

Dubuque Ia., April 12 James Wade, a farmer living near Edgewood, was probably fatally wounded by a stranger who knocked at his door The man fired one shot and fled Bloodhounds from Waterloo failed to track the assailant Testimony given by Wade in a recent criminal case is believed to have prompted the shooting

HORSE DIES FROM FRIGHT AT ENGINE

Logan, Ia., April 12.—Prof. C H. Wilder's team became frightened at the dredge engine working on Willow creek ditch, west of Logan, late Tuesday afternoon, and when two men tried to force the frightened team, with sticks, toward the engine, one horse reared, plunged forward and fell dead from fright.

PRESCOTT—Lightning struck the farm home of F N. Miller, near here, during a thunderstorm, starting a fire that completely destroyed the residence and most of the contents. The members of the family escaped and were cared for by neighbors.

GIRL BELIEVED FATALLY BURNED AT COUNCIL BLUFFS

Council Bluffs, Ia., April 12.—Henrietta Lund, 11, is in a hospital here, her body and legs burned so badly that she may die. Her sister, Marie, 15, and both her parents were all painfully burned, the result of an accident in their home here late yesterday. Henrietta's dress caught fire from the stove and the other members of the family received their burns while trying to calm the frantic girl and smother the flames.

Training Little Childr

Suggestions by mothers who have been kindergartners Issu The United States Bureau of Education, Washington, D C. The National Kindergarten Association, New York, N.

PARENTS must not look down upon the child and consider his efforts, trials and sorrows petty, we must try to understand how sincerely they put all their hearts into their play and that the losses that seem so trivial to us are of great moment to them. We must learn to share all their experiences with them if we would develop the fine feelings we wish them to have at maturity.

Children must not be shut off in one part of the house to remain aloof until a certain age, but ought to be a part of the family circle, sharing its joys, work and minor sorrows. I do not mean that children should be pushed before visitors, have all their meals at the family table or remain up till their elders retire, but there are times and places when it is the children's right and privilege really to be members of the family.

Even when they are very young, children can assume responsibility for certain light tasks about the house and as their age and strength increase, more and more duties should be added. The great American idea has been to remove all responsibility from the child and to give him a care-free childhood. I would not take one second of joy away from any child, but I would make it a joy for him to feel that the home is his and that he, too, helps in the making of it by performing certain duties that need to be done for the comfort of all. The child of 2 can pick up toys, put away dishes and silver, help set the table, dust low furniture and run many errands upstairs and down, and he loves to feel that he is "mother's helper."

He brings his daddy's slippers,
He picks up baby's toys,
He shuts the door for grandma,
Without a bit of noise.
On errands for his mother
He scampers up and down,
She vows she would not change him
For all the boys in town.
(Song for A Little Child's Day, by Emilie Poulsson and Eleanor Smith.)

Then the child can help pr the great festival days, Thanksgiving and Christm joyous days which bring th very close together and w him share not only in the pr but in the joy of the day here very early he gains a ment of the love and spirit that make home, and an ide home that he will some day

As we would let the child labor and the festivals, so permit him to share the gre secrets and home joys. Let that he must never divulge that concerns only the fam know that a child properl will never tell his playmates is told is a family secret.

So we begin very early to to keep his word and the s the home. When he has prepared, he is ready to sh the mother and father that family secret, the coming of baby, and this confidence will little one closer than anyt to the very heart of the hom

Children are so open hea ready and respond so swe quickly to faith and trust often miss great happ ness sharing our hopes and joys m ly with them

If we keep the bond very home will become the great place of all children and this companionship between par children will be like a power net whose attraction the chi not resist.

So from these beginnings tie will be so strengthened tha never fear that the allurement world can draw our children but can rest assured that the ways return to the "center repose."

Please pass this article on t and thus help Uncle Sam rea mothers of the country

How to Know Fake Stocks

From the Dearborn Independent.

Hang on to your Liberty bond. Put the acid test to the promise promoter who tries to persuade you to part with your government Don't sell your bonds if you can possibly avoid it, and in no case them for other securities until you are assured that you are not buyi less paper. Don't take the promoter's word for the safety of the which he offers. Ask your government, through your bank—any bank the stock offered to you is good stock.

The stock salesman who tells you he can't wait usually means doesn't dare to wait. He may be in a hurry because he is only a ju half ahead of the law

The stock swindler, it should be noted, is not necessarily a J Pi lingford, resplendent in a white vest, a silk hat, spats, a cane and a monds. The probabilities are that he in no way resembles the ment you may have of a promoter of worthless securities.

He has many ways of approach and most of them are copied methods employed by legitimate business. He may approach you per he may do it through the mails. It is not even impossible that ne resident of your community, knowingly or unknowingly acting as the sinister interests. And the chances are also that the stock shark wh your Liberty bond is proceeding just within the law, not far withi enough so that after you have relinquished your bond or your money not reach him.

There are, however, two marks of the swindler which are com easy to see. Once you find them beware of the bait that is offered.

These signs are, first: the very great willingness of the promote your Liberty bond in place of cash, and, second: his glowing promis investment which he offers will pay big returns immediately The new but the latter is old.

If the stock broker who approaches you contrasts the return the investment he offers with that which you are getting on your Lib and depreciates the value of clinging to your government paper, shun

But there is a duty devolving upon you which will not permit yo the matter here There is a better way of handling the grafter than ignoring his advances. It comes in a suggestion from the federal t mission and is the idea around which the campaign for eliminating th diers is built.

Go to your bank. Hand over to its officials the printed prospec you may have received, or lacking that, whatever data you have on vidual who has tried to get your bonds, together with the name of the is offering for sale.

If the investment is a safe one your banker will tell you so. B doubtful or if the banker has no information concerning it, he will case to the federal reserve board. When that report reaches Washi government will interest itself. It will determine whether the stoc to you is of value and whether the promises made for it are false o will, in this manner, be informed of new stock schemes and it can, th federal trade commission, take up the case much sooner than will b if it is compelled to wait several months for complaints from investor finally convinced that they have been defrauded.

Do not under any circumstances be fooled by the stock swindler's that the banks and "big business" are against him and depreciate his cause they want to seize control of his company. That is another The legitimate stock broker will not object to government investigati men and concerns do not fear investigation. They welcome it bec are anxious to protect their standing and their line of business by we the crooks who live on borrowed reputations.

Enlarge Markets By Motors.

The following is quoted from a very interesting article, "Enlarging Markets by Motors" by Alson Secor, appearing in a recent issue of Successful Farming

"The government had gross earnings of $292,024.95 from 19 motor truck routes between July 1 and October 1, last year. One route between Philadelphia and Washington operates at a cost of $900 a month and the gross earnings are $16,000 a month. It pays like a gold brick scheme Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Blakslee is so enthusiastic over the prospects of marketing by parcel post over motor truck roads that he wants congress to appropriate enormous sums and start road building everywhere at once letting the roads be paid for out of the profits of the postal service over them"

But why wait for congress to act? The matter of farm transportation at this time is vital, and requires immediate attention. And besides, when one stops to consider that there are 2,199,000 miles of highways in the United States is it likely that a sufficient appropriation will be forthcoming for motor truck parcel post to make it a really worth while national proposition? A motor truck hauling rural express or parcel post could not be expected to cover more than 100 miles a day at the most. Therefore, in order to effectively cover the United States and benefit the farmers of every community alike, something like 22,000 motor trucks would be required, allowing only one truck for every 100 miles—and some sections of the country would require several dozen trucks for that distance, in order to make rural motor transportation effective.

This appears to be a matter where the different communities can help themselves. If Uncle Sam can make $16,000 gross profits per month at an operating cost of $900, why shouldn't it be possible for the farmers to operate trucks on similar routes at $900 per month and save themselves and the consumer the trifling mite of $15,200 per month on a route hauling an equivalent amount of tonnage?

Why not give Uncle Sam a lift on the big job ahead of him and help ourselves at the same time? The motor truck will greatly reduce the present high cost of living—with the farmers' co-operation. It makes possible the immediate and shorter haul transportation of farm produce from the place it is p the place where it is needed saving great quantities of perish duce that at present never reach ket. It enables the farmer to s time on the farm and less on thereby increasing production Lacking ample transportation the farmer hesitates to produce ity for fear he will be unable his crops.

Gasp At Yank Gallantr

From the Kansas City

The following passage is qu an article about the soldiers of can army of occupation in a C per:

"These gentlemen from abro stand up in the crowded electri offer their seats to any wo though they be peasant girls' custom that surprises us, hab we are to the rough ways of like a memory from the an They make way for ladies on walks and step aside to let t the shops first. Indeed, the Coblenz have been much ast the excessive gallantry of the TOP AND BOTTOM.

From the Detroit New

"There are very few wh rise to the top anywhere" Leo M. Franklin said that members of the Open For cently, whereupon someo manded: "What is the t what is the bottom?"

"The top is the place wh men does an honest day' for an honest day's pay, Rabbi Franklin. "and which honest day's work allizes the best in himself the same time adds somet the sum in the meaning The bottom is the place wh mar does the least to ra the most thought of himse least thought of somebody

...RNOR MAY ...CALLED TO ...LL ACCOUNT

...ee In Iowa House Rec... ...Impeachment Pro... ...Be Brought as Result ...Into Rathbun Pardon.

...s, Ia., April 14.—Fighting ... for political life and his ..., Gov. W. L. Harding was ... back toward the brink of ...rance Friday night, when at ... the house judiciary committee ... of 17 to 14, decided to re... ...mendations for impeachment ...

...ep, and the political ma... ...h has decreed that the gov... ...be driven from his high of... ...cost, will have fastened an ... by a majority vote of the ... the chief executive of Iowa, ... then submit to the humilia... ...rest and trial before the sen... ...as a court of impeachment.

Question Voted On.

...tion voted on by the judi... ...mittee Friday night was as ...

...evidence in this case war... ...recommendation of this com... ...articles of impeachment be ... and preferred against the ...

...who voted aye were: Alder... ...man, Clark, Edson, Finley, ...Hook, King, Messer Mantz, ...Springer, Scott, Stone, Wich... ...ver and Harrington. ...oting no were: Brown Dav... ...s, Griffin, Moore, Nebiker, ...wers, Rogers, Santee Tem... ...perlog, Williams and Worm...

...mmittee reconvened at 1 ... afternoon to discuss the ...against Attorney General H. ...

...e Committee Busy.

...e, a committee of five, ap... ...Friday night, will draft the ...ent charges against Gover... ...ng, which, when accepted by ...mittee will be reported to the ...he members of the committee ...rington, Weaver, Clark, King ...ins.

...the report comes up for adop... ...e house, the biggest fight of ...n is sure to follow. In view ...e aided reports that leaked out ...committee meeting, it is not ...that the house will stand for ...ive session, and if the speech... ...e in open session, the orators ...ack for an audience.

...of the refusal of the com... ...the Thursday night session ...a motion by Moore, of Guth... ...as to whether the governor ...my money for the pardon, it ...e that the impeachment ...l deal largely with the fail... ...governor to investigate the ...se before granting the par... ...his refusal to take prompt ...revoke the pardon when he ...that he had been deceived.

...rounds for Action.

...ief to the committee, in ...ummed up the evidence, ...W. Byers contended that ...ral charges could properly ... against the governor for ...e his duty, "unseemly per...el" with the attorney gen... ...consenting to the deal where... ...surrendered his pardon.

...rnor's friends on the judi... ...ittee fought a losing fight ...start of the secret sessions, ...e end drew near the hope ...ing an impeachment report ...steadily.

...eginning of the Friday night ...e governor had 12 votes that ...ounted upon, and there were ... position could not be de... ...with certainty. It was neces... ...friends of Harding to secure ...they won but two.

...Consider Havner.

...report recommending some ...al for Attorney General H. ..., possibly impeachment, will ... consideration of the evi... ...this case is a foregone con... ...even if the report is a minor...

...on the verdict to be made in ...of Attorney General Havner ...eached by the judiciary com... ...here adjournment tonight and ...this afternoon. This is the ...of Chairman Harrington and ...of the committee.

...verdict for impeachment of ...General Havner is improb... ...not impossible, as there is ...er of the committee who ...impeachment of Harding ...known will also vote for ...of the attorney general. ...of the committee on im... ...of Harding will probably ...Sunday by the commit... ...appointed for that purpose, ...Representative Harring... ...a member of the commit... ...ted report will be pre... ...house about Monday, and ...in open session either ...Tuesday.

...house returns an impeach... ...ment against the governor, ...will sit in the second im... ...trial in the history of Iowa. ...former state auditor, ...before the senate during his ...He was acquitted.

...Ia., April 12.—Gov... ...calls the impeach... ...ers of the house ...of a political fight. ...are clean," he said. "I ...the people of Iowa ...out rape that is being ...by a few designing ...

...ing in the Missouri legisla... ...fishermen, as well as ...ture licenses.

...pure linen, and very little ...merchandise remains in first ...the country, authorities say.

CINCINNATI FIRE FORCE ON STRIKE

Home Guards Become City's Fire Protectors Following Walkout This Morning

By United Press.

Cincinnati, Ohio April 14 ... firemen who tendered a blanket re... tion to city officials yesterday as the result of discharge of four firemen be... cause they belonged to a labor organ... zation, started leaving fire houses at 7 a. m. today

The resignation ... of 436 firemen and was to be ... fective at 7 a. m.

Home guards were ... to take the places of the firemen as soon as the exact number ... been determined

ARMY STRENGTH SLIPPING FAST

Demobilization Has Reduced Total Force Below 1,000,000 Mark—March Announces 1,686,114 Sail From France.

Washington, April 14 Demobilization has reduced the total strength of the American army below 2,000,000. Complete reports to April 8 announced by General March, showed the aggregate strength on that date to be 1,980,506.

Since November 1,686,114 men have sailed for home from France and up to April 8, 605,771 had been landed. There have been returned to civil life 1,701,469 officers and men 50 per cent of the officers and 46 per cent of the men who were in the army when the armistice was signed Discharged orders now total 1,925,000

Compares With Civil War.

Comparing this progress with the demobilization of the union army following the civil war General March pointed out that the strength of the civil war forces occurred the war department from May 1866 to November, 1866, a total of 1,000,000 officers and men of the volunteers had been discharged in that time After the Spanish-American war between September 5, 1898 and June 22 1899 only 17,247 officers and men were mustered out

Enlistments 7,961.

Enlistments under the special overseas volunteer system have reached a total of 7,961 It was indicated that the first contingent of 1,000 men of these replacements would start from Camp Meade before May 1

Health conditions in the expeditionary forces, General March said were remarkable, less than 12,000 men having been entered on the sick reports for the week of March 27 In the United States conditions were described as very good

Held 83.4 Miles.

The American army in France on the day the armistice was signed held 83.4 miles of battle front or 21 per cent of the entire line General March gave the division of the front that day among the allies as follows

France, 55 per cent, United States, 21 per cent; British, 18 per cent Belgians, 6 per cent

On October 10, a month and a day before the armistice the Americans held 23 per cent of the line The reduction later probably was due to the concentration for the Argonne drive

JAPS MASSACRE 1,000 AT SEOUL

Cablegram Tells of Bloodshed at Korean Capital Following Patriotic Demonstration By Crowds.

San Francisco, April 14 Japanese began what was described as a "massacre" in Korea, at Seoul, the capital during a demonstration March 28 according to a cablegram received here today by the Korean National Association from a native Christ in pastor.

The cablegram was filed from Shanghai According to officials of the Korean national association the information was sent by messenger from Seoul to Shanghai by the association's representative at Seoul

The cablegram reads

"Japan began massacreing in Korea Over 1,000 unarmed people kill in Seoul during three hours demonstration on 28th. Japanese troops fire brigades and civilians are shooting, beating hooking people mercilessly throughout Korea. Killed several thousand since the 27th."

ANZAC CASUALTIES.

By United Press.

Melbourne, April 14—The total of Australian casualties during the war was 307,900, according to official figures made public today They are divided as follows.

Killed, 58,035, wounded, 166,606, missing, 193; prisoners, 438 sick, 82,409; unspecified, 219

HOUSE PASSES GRIFFIN BILL

Des Moines, Ia., April 12.—A bill by Griffith, of Woodbury county, which passed the house today provides that if a tenant cannot be found, notice to quit can be served on any member of the family over 14, or upon subtenants. If occupants of the house fail to answer the knock of the officer upon the door when he tries to serve notice he can serve his instrument by tacking it upon the door of the house

A tank corps arriving in New York last week brought as mascots a French poodle and a German cat The mascots are said to be still very much at war

IRISH COMMISSION TO MEET PRESIDENT

Delegates Sent From U S Arrange Conference With Wilson For Today.

By United Press

Paris April 14 The American commission representing Irish societies in the United States was making arrangements today to confer with President Wilson regarding Irish independence The commission, composed of Frank P. Walsh, of Kansas City, Michael J. Ryan, of Philadelphia and Edward F. Dunne, former governor of Illinois, traveled to Versailles and was met by John O'Neill, delegate of the Irish republic to the peace conference

GERMAN CHAOS NOT PROBABLE

Ebert Government Backed By Half Million Troops—Soviet Regime In Bavaria Reported Overthrown By Armed Forces.

Berlin April 14 The soviet republic in Bavaria was overthrown Friday by troops from the Northern states the Algemeine Zeitung of Berlin says

Dispatches from Munich state that reports following the soviet publication of the abdication of King Ludwig, the socialist regime has been overthrown. Adolf Ansbach Ingolstadt and the entire upper Bavaria

GOVERNMENT STRONG

BY FRANK J. TAYLOR,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

Berne, April 14 (London April 14) The present German government much more stable than appears on the surface It can now muster 90,000 well armed and equipped troops into the field for instance and is in a position to increase that force

As the government is not averse to occurrence of strikes and other disorders so long as the public do not get out of hand until peace is made Then it probably will use the Germans having order out of chaos, like an American business man wading into a day's work

Outbreaks Minimized.

The Bavarian affair is not serious and will not be unless there is a general communist outbreak Organized resistance by the deposed socialist government is steadily gaining followers because the real Bavarians resent the way the Spartacans flocked to Munich and seized control The soviet republic there is made up of a population that has flowed in during or since the war munition workers and soldiers

Even if the Ebert-Scheidemann government should by some chance be overthrown the foreign office would remain the same Foreign Minister Brockdorff Rantzau has some sort of an agreement with Hugo Haase and the other independent socialist leaders, who admire him for his pacifism And, if Brockdorff-Rantzau stays, his cousin Count von Bernstorff and the rest of the present outfit will likewise stay That means the same old machine will conduct the negotiations in Paris

Old Bluff Tactics.

The Germans probably will make a great bluff at trying to scare the allies That is they will threaten to bolshevize themselves and try to get the French and Italian workmen to join them But it does not seem possible in view of the Germans traditional love of system and order the government would "quit cold"

Inasmuch as the workmen are disarmed and cannot fight the only thing liable to force out the government would be a tremendous strike much larger than the present one which most observers believe the radicals will be unable to swing

Strike at Danzig.

A message from Danzig today reported a railway strike in that district The strikers numbering 20,000 are for establishment of a soviet republic and an alliance with Russia and Hungary Three persons are reported to have been killed in a clash between strikers and soldiers who were guarding a square in front of the principal railway station

MODERATES GAINING.

By Associated Press

Berlin April 14 Reports received from Munich today state that an agreement had been reached between the central council and the communists This is held to indicate that the moderate elements in the Bavarian capital have gained the upper hand

PROPHESIES HIGHER TEACHERS' SALARIES

Bureau of Education Official Declares He Expects Boost to Be Permanent

By United Press

Washington April 12 A permanent boost in teachers salaries will result from the war Dr James F Hanna, of the bureau of education predicted today

One-third of all the teachers in the United States were attracted to other positions many of them war jobs, said Hanna They are returning slowly

"Today we received 65 requests for teachers to fill positions in every part of the country Yesterday the number of requests were 77 The day before 104 Probably 3,000 calls for teachers will be sent to us this month"

William Hohenzollern's Potsdam horses have all been sold at auction Some of the order cases were sold to butchers

Now it is the ex-crown prince William von Hohenzollern jr. who is writing a book to explain who caused the war

PLATFORM OF LABOR PARTY MADE PUBLIC

Leaders of New Movement In Illinois Urge Breaking of Old Party Ties—Adopt Resolution For Ousting Burleson.

Springfield, Ill., April 14 The new labor party, organized, in convention at Springfield this week, today issued a statement on its platform, of which the following is an abstract

Labor is the primary and just basis of political responsibility and power. It has a right, but the duty ... by hand or brain, to ... political party

... party is destined to usher in ... day of freedom in the United States ... freedom from the grind of ... from the ownership ... business, free... ... of workers ... freedom of the men ... women who buy food and clothing ... from exploitation at ... hands of the money kings of ...

Rule Out All Loafers.

The organized workers are members of ... unorganized workers are members ... clerks, housewives newspaper men farmers school teachers, storekeepers belong to it Such heads of organizations and business concerns as are not exploiters or profiteers belong to it There is no place in the party for those who are not workers There is room within it for all who perform service to society

The labor party was organized to assemble into a new majority the men and women who work but who have been scattered as helpless minorities in the old parties under the leadership of the confidence men of big business.

Time to Break Party Ties.

The time has come for the workers to force a clear line of cleavage and disengage themselves definitely and permanently from old party ties and to put forth support only those who will openly espouse the cause of the workers who constitute the large majority of our citizens and do it under the banner of the worker's own party

Hence the organization of the labor party The first convention of the new state party enunciates the following program of issues to which it pledges itself its members and its candidates

Government Control.

Democratic control of industry and commerce for the general good of those who work with hand and brain and the elimination of autocratic forces of production and distribution either by selfish, private interests or bureaucratic agents of government.

The unqualified right of workers to organize to deal collectively with employers.

Minimum Wage Scale.

The freedom from economic hazard which comes with a minimum wage, based upon the question of cost of living and the right of the workers to maintain without the labor of mothers and children, himself and his family in health and comfort, with ample provision for recreation and good citizenship.

Leisure in which to enjoy happiness and improve the mind and body by the institution of a maximum working day of eight hours, and maximum working week of 48 hours, both for men and women.

Abolition of unemployment by reducing the hours of work still further, as necessary to permit all who are able to work to find occupation, and full pay for those who for a time are unemployed because of illness, accident or temporary loss of work.

Equal Pay for Women.

Equality of men and women in government and industry, with complete enfranchisement of women and equal pay for men and women doing similar work.

Reduction of the cost of living to a just level, immediately and as a permanent policy, by the development of co-operation and the elimination of wasteful methods, middlemen and all profiteering in creation and distribution of products

Complete revision of the state constitution so that instead of its being the fortress of reactionaries and the backbone of the big business organizations, it will become the bulwark of the workers, built upon the theory of guaranteeing human rights instead of exalting property rights

Public Ownership.

Public ownership and operation of all public utilities, including grain elevators, warehouses, stock yards, abattoirs, insurance and banks.

Public ownership, preferably federal, of the mines of Illinois and in the meantime state regulation which will prevent wasteful competitive methods of mining.

Abolition of the state senate.

Abolition of the power of judges to issue and enforce injunctions to deprive citizens of their rights in industrial disputes

No law to be declared by the supreme court unconstitutional unless three-fourths of the judges so decide.

Cooperative Industry.

The development of cooperative trade and industry and enactment of needed legislation favorable to that purpose.

Complete restoration at the earliest possible moment and of all fundamental political rights—free speech, free press and free assemblage, the removal of all wartime restraints, interchange of ideas and the movement of people among communities and nations; and the liberation of all persons held in prison or indicted under charges due to their championship of the rights of labor or their patriotic insistence on rights given them by the constitution.

Now that the American exodus is on, every doughboy has made up his mind to see Paris before he goes home or at least enough of it to be able to talk about it, says a cable.

BOSCHEE'S SYRUP

will quiet your cough, soothe the inflammation of a sore throat and lungs, stop irritation in the bronchial tubes, insuring a good night's rest, free from coughing and with easy expectoration in the morning. Made and sold in America for fifty-two years. A wonderful prescription, assisting Nature in building up your general health and throwing off the disease. Especially useful in lung trouble, asthma, croup, bronchitis, etc For sale in all civilized countries.—Adv

Got Her Lesson.

"Do you think you could learn to love me?" asked the young man.

"Well—I don't know," replied the sweet young thing, thoughtfully.

"I have $5,000 in Liberty bonds, $10,000 invested in good-paying stock—"

"Go on; I'm learning"

"And $50,000 in well paying real estate."

"All right, dear; I've learned. Believe me, you're some teacher!"

"Cold in the Head"

is an acute attack of Nasal Catarrh. Persons who are subject to frequent "colds in the head" will find that the use of HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE will build up the System, cleanse the Blood and render them less liable to colds. Repeated attacks of Acute Catarrh may lead to Chronic Catarrh.

HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is taken internally and acts through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System.

All Druggists 75c. Testimonials free.

$100.00 for any case of catarrh that HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE will not cure.

F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

When luck furnishes the music the dancers are always numerous.

Is Your Work Hard?

Work which brings any unusual strain on the back and kidneys tends to cause kidney ailments, such as backache, lameness, headache, dizziness and distressing urinary troubles. Kidney complaints make any kind of work doubly hard and if neglected there is danger of gravel, dropsy or Bright's disease. If your work is hard on the back, keep your kidneys in good condition with Doan's Kidney Pills. Thousands rely on them.

A South Dakota Case

Frank Engelbrecht, retired farmer 713 N Wisconsin St., Mitchell, S. D, says "I caught cold in my kidneys. I had backache My back was lame all the time and I had pains over my kidneys. I had to get up at night to pass the kidney secretions, which were highly colored I felt completely worn out. I used a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and they drove away my backache and put my kidneys in good condition."

Get Doan's at Any Store, 60c a Box

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

FOSTER-MILBURN CO., BUFFALO, N. Y.

Soothe Your Itching Skin With Cuticura

All druggists: Soap 25, Ointment 25 & 50. Talcum 25. Sample each free of "Cuticura, Dept. X, Boston."

State and County Agents make money selling Best Steering Device for Fords. Write for particulars. Why not you? Auto Steer Co., Rockford, Ill.

SIOUX CITY PTG. CO., NO. 16--1918.

KIDNEYS WEAKENING? BETTER LOOK OUT!

Kidney and bladder troubles don't disappear of themselves. They grow upon you, slowly but steadily, undermining your health with deadly certainty, until you fall a victim to incurable disease.

Stop your troubles while there is time. Don't wait until little pains become big aches. Don't trifle with disease. To avoid future suffering begin treatment with GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules now. Take three or four every day until you feel that you are entirely free from pain.

This well-known preparation has been one of the national remedies of Holland for centuries. In 1696 the government of the Netherlands granted a special charter authorizing its sale.

The good housewife of Holland would almost as soon be without food as without her "Real Dutch Drops," as she quaintly calls GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. Their use restores strength and is responsible in a great measure for the sturdy, robust health of the Hollanders.

Do not delay. Go to your druggist and insist on his supplying you with a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. Take them as directed, and if you are not satisfied with results your druggist will gladly refund your money. Look for the name GOLD MEDAL on the box and accept no other. In sealed boxes, three sizes.

WHAT HE WANTED TO KNOW

Information, Not Money, Was the Thing That Farmer Required From Offending Automobilist.

"One day," said Representative Dutton of Bingham, Me., to the committee on ways and bridges the other day, when he was explaining to them how narrow the road was in certain parts of Caratunk plantation—"one day there was an old fellow driving into market with a load of stuff. As he came along to one of those narrow places, an automobile came up. His horse was frightened, shied and over the side went the rig, falling a distance of about 15 feet

"It scratched the horse up considerably, smashed the wagon, made an omelet of the eggs and ruined the pumpkins and other stuff. It made a great mixup.

"The old fellow stood ruefully gazing at the wreck, after he had extricated himself from the mess.

"Being in a hurry, as most of those chaps are, and anxious to be on his way, the automobilist said: 'I'm in a hurry, and while I'd like to wait, I can't, so if you'll tell me how much you want me to give you, I'll pay and be on my way.'

"The old fellow looked at him about a minute and then he exclaimed: 'How much had you ought to give me? Mister, if you'll pust tell me how'n h—— I'm going to get that hoss back in the road I'll give you $5!'"—Lewiston Evening Journal.

MUST PAY FOR OPPORTUNITY

Those to Whom Good Fortune Comes Usually Have to Make More or Less Sacrifice.

Lack of opportunity is the lack we most frequently bewail. Yet those at whose door opportunity seldom knocks and upon whom it bestows only the most grudging gifts may still cherish some consolatory reflections. Opportunity never presents itself to any one as a wholly munificent fairy; it always manages to exact some sacrifice for the benefits or advantages that it promises to confer. And usually the sacrifice is more or less commensurate with the opportunity. The man who laments the rut in which he must travel finds when the opportunity to struggle out of it occurs that disturbing consequences follow; breaking of ties that on being threatened take on a sudden new formidableness. The step upward means nearly always a step away from the old associates and the old associations. So many deferred considerations are suggested in the advances that opportunity makes that everyone can well appreciate the remark of a successful man: "I believe that some of my unhappiest times were those when I was given a chance to get ahead."—Exchange.

A Kind Act.

"What did your wife give you for your birthday?" "A little peace. She spent the day with her mother."

Stop and Think!

Why are Americans using such great quantities of

POSTUM CEREAL

Health value, wonderful flavor and practical economy make Postum the ideal American table drink.

Boil just like coffee—

(15 minutes after boiling begins)

—but remember that, unlike coffee, this beverage contains no drugs to upset stomach, heart or nerves. It is absolutely pure and without harm, made from the best of roasted wheat and wholesome molasses.

You can get the original Postum at grocers. Two sizes—

Usually sold at 15c and 25c

Plasterers, Masons and Cement Workers

Manufacturers of

Concrete Blocks and Brick

...ents for Hollow Tile. We are in a position to give Excell... Service in same. Give us a try-out, you'll never regret.

Anderson & Stiehl

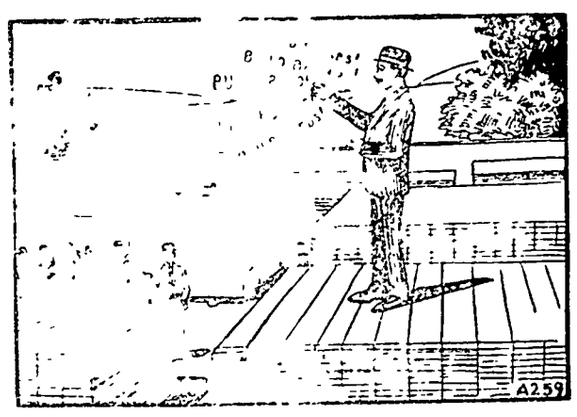
Phone 90 Klemme, Iowa

Sell Your Grain To

Walter F. Lau

And receive the highest price and correct weight. Will buy ... every day in the week. Also handle ... Give me a trial and I will ... the RESULTS

Office Phone No. 52 Residence Phone No. 52



BUILDING RESTRICTION LIFTED

... War Industries Board has lift... building restriction on farm ... construction cost not ex... ing $10,000. The order went into ... Nov. 12th. Farmers, you ... new barn, ... to town can ...

NORTHERN LUMBER CO.

N. L. PALMER, Manager

UNCLE SAM PAYING HIS DEBTS

... Standard High ... of ... a ... Nation

... declared the new 1st ... stories to the Keer ... Company. We want the ... the company to take par... ... of the books, look over ... with various notices by ... first but not ... matter that the books wer... Klemme. We are not pra... ourself when we say ... as good a job of printing a ... book work done at the large ... offices. We are competent to handle ... and all kinds of printing at the ... Times Print Shop, from calling card ... to posters.

... is ... that Uncle ... impress ... investigate the ... is the ... ...

Dressing--up for EASTER

th spring in the air and Easter comming, with the win- s full of new styles and fresh fabrics, most men feel lure of new clothes--a desire to dress-up and start off sh.

The big question is what to choose. That's where we me in--with a big selection; with live new styles; color- patterns, something to fit every one of you in a--- suit or overcoat. They're all wool; well--tailored; guaranteed to satisfy.

Hart Schaffner & Marx

Style Featurs for Easter
for the young men

There are waist seems in suits and overcoats, single and double breasted slash, cresent and vertical pockets, new lapels, stitched and pipet col- lars. Two and three button sacks in rich all-wool serges, oxfords, worsteds and cassimeres.

Easter clothes for older men

Two and three button sacks in all the rich, new fabrics, oxfords, serg- es, worsteds--you'll like them all. A large selection to choose from. We guarantee fit and satisfaction.

Furnishings for Easter

ave not overlooked anything that will complete your attire for Easter. Here me trimmings--neckwear, hats, hosiery, shirts, gloves, collars, shoes, etc e this your buying week.

Get To Know

Gildner Bros. & Johnson

The Home of Hart, Schaffner & Marx Clothes

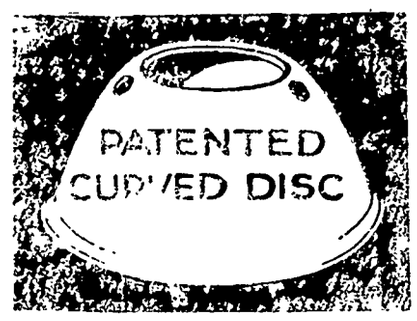
4 Stores Garner, Ia

The Patented Curved Disc Bowl of the

"IOWA"

Cream Separator

Gets All the Butterfat



The present high price paid for butterfat—$1,000 per ton—makes it absolutely necessary that you use a Separator that gets every drop of butterfat. Test your cream Separator today by the Babcock Test and out if you have a "cream thief" on your farm stealing your profits day by day.

The "IOWA" Outskimmed Them All

The "IOWA" Cream Separator with the Patented Curved Disc Bowl outskim- med the DeLaval and all other competing Cream Separators in the OFFICIAL skim- ming tests made by the Jury of Dairy Experts at the World's Fair Exposition—San Francisco, 1915. The results of these skimming tests, together with other practical skimming tests made on the farms of users, and in the Dairy Departments of the leading Agricultural Colleges, prove that the "IOWA" Separator is the CLOSEST SKIMMING SEPARATOR.

The "IOWA" Pays For Itself

We are willing to skim on your farm and show you that the "IOWA" will out skim any other Separator The "IOWA Separator, with the Curved Disc Bowl, pays for itself out of the butterfat it saves and which the ordinary straight disc Sepa- rator loses. We can show you that you are losing money every day when you use any Separator but the "IOWA" with The Curved Disc Bowl.

Patented Disc Washer—FREE

With every "IOWA" Cream Separator we furnish without charge our Patented Sanitary Disc Cleaner. With this device the "IOWA" Curved Discs can be washed sterilized and dried in less than TWO MINUTES

Professor Bower's Statement

Professor John Bower, formerly with the Dairy De- partment of the Iowa Agricultural College, says of the patented Disc Washer—"Next to the invention of the Hand Separator, the Centrifugal Washing Device is the greatest invention in modern dairy practice."

Five Special Features Of the "IOWA" SEPARATOR

(1) THE CURVED DISC BOWL—used only in the "IOWA" Cream Separat- or. Takes out every drop of butterfat.

(2) GEARS—made of special high grade materials, and set in phosphor bronze bearings—makes the Separator easy to turn.

(3) SUPPLY TANK—right height so that milk can be poured in easily. Sup- ply tank only 33 inches from floor.

(4) TINWARE—finest quality, heav- ily tin-plated—cannot rust.

(5) FRAME--encloses all gears. Dirt, dust and waterproof.

Before You buy a Separator Come in and see the "IOWA"

Henry Lau & Son

Klemme, Iowa

OR "SUPPOSING"

By GEORGE ADE.

tober 1, 1918, you, being a and having read with care ns of military experts, knew t the great war was going to ar into the summer of 1919. the casualties among the soldiers would be increasing- up to the final moment of as a result of the growing e of the world struggle, th t of the United States would ve for at least three huge ptions during 1919.

believed otherwise you were urity, for the cabinets of all united against Germany, bankers, and the shipbuilders,

You By Patriotic When the Not Playing?"—George Ade.

and the masters of food supplies thought they knew that Germany would stand out for many months.

Now then, to suppose a case. If some one had come to you on October 1, with a proposition to end the war within six weeks by a complete and overwhelming victory on condition that you would subscribe liberally for Vic- tory bonds in the spring of 1919, you would have replied as follows:

"Say, end the war this fall and stop the killing and maiming of our boys, and put the kaiser out of business and compel Germany to accept our terms and let the American soldiers begin to head for home, and I'll pledge my last dollar for the loan that is needed to clean up expenses."

That's how you felt on October 1, 1918, and now that all the miracles have come to pass, are you going to be grateful or forgetful?

You are now asked to help finance (by merely lending on favorable terms and not giving) the final and gigantic expenditures which brought victory months ahead of the schedule

If we had lost the war, what would you be paying this spring and to whom? How's your memory? Did you feel certain, just a year ago today, that Germany could be prevented from dictating terms to the whole world?

How about a loyal parent who re- fuses to pay a doctor bill because the child gets well instead of dying?

When you tackle a big job do you stick to the finish, or do you go fishing and permit some more dependable man to come in and put on the roof and chimney?

Do you experience symptoms of morality only when the doctor is seat- ed at the bedside?

When you start to go somewhere, do you travel four fifths of the way and then flop by the wayside?

Can you be patriotic when the band is not playing?

We are setting up a big job so don't queer your war record at the eleventh hour by being a quitter

—HELP "FINISH THE JOB"—

Y. M. C. A. NO LONGER TO MAINTAIN ARMY POST EXCHANGES.

Paris.—The American Y. M. C. A., at its own request, has been relieved of its work of maintain- ing the post exchanges with the American army. Correspondence exchanged between General Per- shing and E. C. Carter, in charge of Y. M. C. A. with the army, shows the reason for this ar- rangement was that the Y. M. C. A. now has "increased respon- sibilities in promoting education- al, athletic and entertainment activities in the American expe- ditionary forces," thus placing a rapidly increasing burden on its personnel.

General Pershing in a letter to Mr. Carter approving the change, expressed his thanks "for the very valuable services and as- sistance which the Y. M. C. A. has rendered to the American ex peditionary force in handling these exchanges. General Per- shing added:

"Handicapped by the shortage of tonnage and land transporta- tion, the Y. M. C. A. has by extra exertion served the army better than could have been expected, and you may be assured that its aid has been a large factor in the final great accomplishments of the American army"

THE CURVED BLADES

By CAROLYN WELLS

Author of 'A Chain of Evidence," "The Gold Bag," "The Clue," "The White Alley," Etc.

CHAPTER XVIII Continued.

"Yes, for the simple reason that she would not have invented all that talk. Even if she were in the room herself, and the remarks were addressed to her, she might be trying to lay the blame elsewhere. So great that conversation of her own brain is too preposterous. You see, Hardy, these things must be weighed in the balance of probability. If Miss Stuart had set out to invent a story, the only thing that gives her story the stamp of truth."

"But there must have been another voice, even though inaudible to her."

"That's just the point. There may have been, probably was. But if the story was her own invention she never would have thought of representing that second voice as inaudible. Now, either she did hear Miss Carrington say those things, or she didn't. I believe she did, because if she hadn't she must have invented the tale, and if she had invented it, it would have been different. Besides, Miss Stuart's snake story. If it were not true that her aunt asked her to buy that snake, Miss Stuart must have invented a piece of yarn. And if she had made it up, it would have been a good one. That's always my test for the truth of an amazing statement. If the teller were falsifying, would he tell it that way? If a statement is probably a lie, if not, probably it is a true bill. Now, they say Miss Carrington had a high, shrill voice. Did you ever hear it, Hardy?

"No. I never knew the lady. But I've heard a record of it on the phonograph, and it is high, and rather thin."

"On the phonograph? How does that happen?"

Gray Haviland is a dabster at that sort of thing, and he has people sing for him and make records frequently. And once I heard that. They had a record of the dead woman's singing, and I asked to hear it, merely out of curiosity or as a general interest. And it contains some spoken words, too, and the speaking voice is high and shrill, just such as would carry through a closed door. You can, of course, hear the record, if you care to."

"I do care. I'll make a note of that. Now, here's another thing. Miss Stuart has declared that she obliterated a footprint which was noticeable in that powder scattered by the dressing table."

"Yes, I know it. And Haviland states that it was he who wiped out that print. What do you make of that?"

"That Haviland did do it, and Miss Stuart lied about it to shield Haviland."

"Oh, so it's Haviland you think Miss Pauline is shielding?"

"I think it may be so, at any rate, she is very solicitous of Haviland."

"You're wrong, Mr. Stone! If you'll excuse my saying so, Miss Stuart pulled the wool over your eyes, as well as over mine, if you don't know where you're at."

Fleming Stone gasped. Pulled wool over his eyes! Over the eyes, the gimlet eyes, the all-seeing eyes of Fleming Stone! What could the man mean? And this so called wool pulled by a woman! What unheard of absurdity!

"Mr. Hardy ——" he began.

"Yes, yes, I know. Nothing of the sort, and all that. But it's true, Mr. Stone. Miss Stuart is a siren from Sirenville. She can make any man think black is white if she so chooses. And she has been bullied and cowed by that old aunt of hers for years, and for my part, I don't blame her for getting to the end of her rope. If she——"

"Stop! Mr. Hardy, I know you think you're right, but you are not! Do you hear, you are not! And I'll prove it to you, and that soon! I'll ferret out this thing, and I'll do it on this new theory of mine whether you believe it or not!"

Hardy looked at the man in amazement. He had expected a different mode of procedure from this talented sleuth. He had looked for a quiet, even icy, demeanor, and magical and instantaneous solution of all mystery. And here was the great man, clearly baffled at the queerly tangled web of evidence, and, moreover, caught in the toils of a woman whom Hardy fully believed to be the criminal herself.

But he only said quietly, "What way does your theory point, Mr Stone? I may be able to help you."

"You can't, Hardy, because you're so determined to find Miss Stuart guilty that you couldn't see it as I do. You consider the strange features of this case—and Lord knows they are strange!—separately, whereas they must be looked at as a whole. The gown, the quantity of jewelry, the smiling face, the glove, the overheard conversation all these points are to be considered as one of import as leading to one conclusion. And you think of them as implicating separately, mind you—Miss Stuart, Miss Frayne and the noble count. Now, all those queer points are not only connected, but identical in their significance. But never mind that. Here's the place to begin. Miss Carrington was poisoned. She didn't poison herself. Who did?"

"Mr Stone, you have put it tersely. I entirely agree that all we are seeking is the answer to that last question of yours."

"I will yet give it to you," and Fleming Stone spoke solemnly rather than boastingly. "The poison, the aconitine, was taken by Miss Carrington as she sat there at her own dressing table. She took it willingly, smilingly——"

"Yes because she didn't know she was taking it. When she ate the sandwich——"

"The poison wasn't in the sandwich. She took that poison in water. The tumbler and spoon that were used are even now on the glass shelf in her bath room."

"You know this?"

"I know that in the glass that now stands there a chemist has found a slight trace of aconite. I took the glass myself to be tested, with that result. This is not a great discovery, it merely proves that the poison was administered in water, not in a sandwich."

"But it also means that it was given to her by someone who could persuade her to take the solution, unquestioningly—not under compulsion."

"It would seem so."

"And that points to Miss Stuart."

"Not necessarily Hardy, I refuse to discuss these things with you if you avow everything to condemn her. Why does what I have just told you point to Miss Stuart any more than anyone else in the house? Why not Miss Frayne? Or Haviland?"

"Pshaw! Nobody suspects Gray Haviland."

"But why not? If you're merely suspecting here and there without definite reason, why not include him on your list? And here's another thing. Whoever mixed that poison in the glass of water, afterward rinsed the glass and returned it to its place in the bath room. This was either done at the time, that is, before the lady died, or later on, after death had ensued. In either case, it opens up a field of conjecture."

"It doesn't with me," said Hardy, bluntly. "There's no room for conjecture. It simply piles up the proof against Miss Stuart, and all your skill and even your will can't get her off."

A low moan was heard and a sound as of a falling body. Stone sprang to the door, and flinging it open, disclosed Pauline lying on the floor where she had just fallen. With a low exclamation, Stone picked her up and carried her to a couch. In a moment she sat up and cried, "What do you mean, Mr. Hardy? Do you think I killed Aunt Lucy?"

"There, there, Miss Stuart, don't ask foolish questions," and Hardy, deeply embarrassed, stood at bay. It was one thing to assert his suspicions to Fleming Stone, and quite another to have them overheard by this beautiful and indignant girl.

"How dare you!" Pauline went on. "I was at the door and I heard all you said. No, I am not ashamed of listening, I'm glad I did. Now I know what I have to fight against! And you, Mr. Stone, do you think me a murderer?"

Pauline cringed not at all. She looked more like an avenging goddess, as she confronted the two men, and her blazing eyes and frowning face challeged their replies.

"I do not, Miss Stuart," said Stone, quietly, but Pauline responded, "How do I know? If you did, you'd say you didn't! I have no friend, no one to stand up for. I shall send for Carr. He will defend me."

With a disdainful glance round she left the room. The two men looked at one another.

"Guilty," said Hardy.

"Never!" said Stone, and then the two went their different ways.

Hardy's way led to police headquarters, and his report there which included Stone's story of the tested glass, was heard with interest.

He demanded Miss Stuart's immediate arrest, claiming that only she could have persuaded her aunt to swallow the poisoned draught.

Inspector Brunt was not quite willing to order arrest, but he set machinery at work which he hoped would bring decisive results of some sort.

It did.

That same evening, Pauline went to Fleming Stone. The two were alone. Standing before him in all her somewhat tragic beauty, Pauline asked. "You don't think me guilty, Mr. Stone?"

He looked deep in the great dark eyes that seemed to challenge his very soul, and after a moment's steady glance, he replied, "I know you are not, Miss Stuart."

"Can you prove it?"

"I hope to."

"That means nothing. Are you sure you can?"

Fleming Stone looked troubled. Never before in his career had he been unable to declare his surety of success; but with those compelling eyes upon him he couldn't deny a present doubt.

Shaking himself, as if to be freed from a spell, he said, at last, "Miss Stuart, I am not sure. I am convinced of your innocence but the only theory of guilt that I can conceive of is so difficult, so almost impossible of proof, and so lacking in plausibility, that it seems hopeless. If determination and desperate effort can do it, you shall be exonerated. But there are many circumstances not in your favor. These I shall overcome, eventually. But, to be honest, until I can get a clue or a link of some sort to join my purely imaginative theory to some tangible fact, I can do little. I am working day and night in my efforts to find this connection I seek, but it may take a long time. Meanwhile——"

"Meanwhile, I may be arrested?" Pauline's voice was a mere whisper; her face was drawn and white with fear. To Stone she did not look like a guilty woman but like an innocent girl, frightened at thought of unjust suspicion and terrorized by imagination of the unknown horrors that might come to her.

"Oh, help me!" she moaned. "Mr Stone, can't you help me?"

"Pauline!" he exclaimed, taking her hands in his, "Pauline Go!" he cried tensely: "I will save you, but until I do, keep away from me! You unnerve me I cannot think!"

"I understand!" and Pauline slowly drew her hands from his. "I will keep away from you."

Stone let her go. He closed the door after her, locked it, and threw himself into a chair. What had he done? Full well he knew what he had done. Hardy was right. He had fallen in love with Pauline Stuart! He realized it quietly, honestly, as he would have realized any incontrovertible fact. His subconsciousness was that of a deep, still gladness; but, strangely enough, his surface thought was that since he had fallen in love with her, so undeniably, so irrevocably, she must be innocent.

Then on the heels of this thought, came another, equally logical: if he deemed her innocent, was it not only because he loved her?

It was only after an hour of deep thought that Fleming Stone pulled himself together and realized with a conquering assurance, that he could go on with the case, and do his duty. If, as he was confident, he could prove his vague theory to be fact, then his love for Pauline would help him to good work and triumphant conclusions. If, instead, his further investigations showed his theory to be false, then he must push on and if—it couldn't be, but if—well—he could always drop the case. But—and of this he was certain—his heart should not only be kept from interfering with the work of his head but it should help and encourage such desperately clever work that success must come.

Pauline did not appear at dinner that night, and on inquiry Stone was told she had gone over to New York for a day or two.

This, then, was what she had meant when she said, "I will keep away from you."

The next day came District Attorney Matthews to interview Miss Stuart. Her absence from home annoyed him and he asked for her New York address. This no one knew, as she had not informed any of them where she was staying in the city, and Mr. Matthews went off in a state of angry excitement. But the household at Garden Steps was even more excited.

For this was the first sign of a definite action against Pauline. What it meant or how far it would go, no one could say.

And then, that afternoon, came a letter from Pauline herself. It had been mailed in New York that morning and contained the surprising news that Pauline had sailed at noon that day for Alexandria.

"Get her back!" roared Haviland, as he read the letter. "Wireless the steamer and make her get picked up by some incoming ship! Don't think of expense! She mustn't run off like that! It's equivalent to confession of the crime!"

"Hush!" demanded Fleming Stone. "How dare you say that?"

"It's true!" cried Anita. "Why else would Pauline run away? She knew she was on the verge of arrest and she fled to Carr Loria. He will hide her from her pursuers."

"He can," said Haviland, thoughtfully, "maybe it's as well she's gone there. Of course, she did it."

"Of course she didn't!" and Fleming Stone's voice trembled in its very intensity. "And I shall prove to a lot of dunderheaded police that she didn't, but it will make my work much harder if you two insist on Miss Stuart's guilt. Why do you want to railroad her into conviction of a crime she never dreamed of?"

"Then who did it?" demanded Anita. "To whom was Miss Lucy speaking when she said those things I heard?"

"If you harp on that string much longer," said Stone, looking at her, "one might almost be justified in thinking she said them to you."

"No," said Anita, in a low, awed voice, and looking straight at Fleming Stone, "no, she did not say them to me."

And Stone knew she spoke the solemn truth.

But she had not spoken the truth when she said she saw Pauline Stuart coming from the boudoir of her aunt.

XIX.

LETTERS FROM THE FUGITIVE.

Pauline's flight was deemed by many a confession of guilt. The district attorney declared his intention of cabling a command to hold her for examination at Alexandria. Or, he said, perhaps it would be better to intercept her course at Gibraltar or Naples.

The people at Garden Steps paid little attention to these suggestions, so absorbed were they in planning for themselves.

"Poor child," said Haviland, "she ran away in sheer panic. You don't know Pauline as we do, Mr. Stone; she is brave in the face of a present or material danger. When a gardener's cottage burned, she was a real heroine, and saved a tiny baby at risk of her own life. But always a vague fear or an intangible dread throws her into a wild, irresponsible state, and she loses her head utterly. Now, I may as well own up that I do think Polly committed this deed. I think that she had stood Aunt Lucy as long as she possibly could, and you've no idea what the poor child had to put up with. I think that when Lady Lucy threatened to send Pauline away, homeless and penniless, this panic of fear overcame her and she gave that poison, on an impulse——"

"But," interrupted Stone, "that would imply her having the poison in readiness. She couldn't procure it at a moment's notice."

(Continued Next Week.)

Asserting that Col. Raymond Robins, former head of the American Red Cross mission in Russia, employed a bolshevist interpreter and a bolshevist secretary, from whom he secured "all his information on Russian affairs," Gen. A. N. Dobrjansky, former general of technical aid to the Russian minister of war, declares that Colonel Robins "knows nothing at all about the true state of Russian affairs under Lenine and Trotzky."

HAD TO SAVE THOSE PANTS

Paul Musser in Much the Same Predicament as Is the German Nation Today.

"Germany will do anything to prevent a commercial boycott," declared Secretary Lansing the other day. "Regardless of the outcome of the peace conference, she stands or falls by her future trade. Germany's position reminds me of Paul Musser of my home town.

"Paul, one wintry day, started to repair a water pipe on the outside of his house. He sat on the concrete steps while he worked. Half an hour later, when he tried to rise, he found he couldn't. His trousers were frozen to the steps. So he called to his wife and explained his predicament.

"Mrs. Musser got a kettle of hot water and proceeded to thaw him out.

"'The water was pretty gol darn hot,' admitted Musser, but I determined to save them there pants at all hazards.'"

FRECKLES

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as Othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from your druggist, and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than one ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.—Adv.

Real Chinese Puzzle.

On the mantelpiece of his dressing room at Drury Lane theater Alfred Lester has an array of quaint little wooden figures of Chinese workmanship. They were sent to him by a friend from Shanghai. I saw them the other day.

"This one is supposed to be me," said Lester, gloomily pointing to a little man in a cart. "It is either a hoodoo or a mandarin going to church—I forget which."—Exchange.

Just say to your grocer Red Cross Ball Blue when buying bluing. You will be more than repaid by the results. Once tried always used. 5c.

The wisdom of a woman who is vain of her beauty is equal to that of a man who is vain of his brains.

Don't worry yourself and others with what can't be remedied.

"ASPIRIN" WAS TALCUM POWDER

Heavy Sentence Imposed on Manufacturer of Tablets.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)

NEW YORK, December 31.—Accused of having manufactured and sold to influenza sufferers thousands of boxes of aspirin tablets, principally composed of talcum powder, Joseph M. Turkey, head of the Verandah Chemical company, of Brooklyn, was found guilty yesterday of violation of the sanitary code and sentenced to three years in prison with a fine of $500. The sentence was the most severe ever imposed in the country for such an offense.

BAYER

Hereafter say, "Give me genuine 'Bayer Tablets of Aspirin.' Insist you want only the Bayer package with the "Bayer Cross" on the package and on the tablets.

Don't buy Aspirin in a pill box! Get Bayer package.

Bayer-Tablets of Aspirin

The genuine American owned "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" have been proved safe by millions for Pain, Headache, Neuralgia, Toothache, Earache, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Colds, Grippe, Influenzal Colds, Joint Pains, Neuritis. Proper dosage on every "Bayer" package.

Boxes of 12 tablets—Bottles of 24—Bottles of 100—Also Capsules.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.

Resolution.

"Your husband boasts of his indomitable will."

"Yes," said the woman with the patient expression. "When he gets his mind set on anything he's absolutely indifferent to worldly things. I have known John to set his teeth and spend two or three weeks solving a puzzle in the back of a magazine."

It takes a barrel of dough to make a homely poor girl a pretty rich one.

The less honor a man has the more sensitive he is on the subject.

When Your Eyes Need Care Try Murine Eye Remedy

No Smarting—Just Eye Comfort. 60 cents at Druggists or mail. Write for Free Eye Book. MURINE EYE REMEDY CO., CHICAGO

In the Spring-t

It's this the ye we nee thing from to rest vital fo

Peop sick because they go away from and the only way to get well is to Something grows out of the gr the form of vegetation to cure every ill.

Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. since found herbs and roots by Nature to overcome const and of these he selected Mayapple of Aloe, root of Jalap, and from made little white sugar-coated pil he called Dr. Pierce's Pleasant When your intestines are stopp poisons and decayed matter a prisoned in your system and th carried by the blood through body. Thus does your head ach get dizzy, you can't sleep, you may break out, your appetite d you get tired and despondent. matter of fact, you may get sick a Don't you see how useless all this ing is? All that is often needed is of castor oil, or something which pleasant, a few of Dr Pierce's P Pellets, which he has placed in every drug store in this c for your convenience and Try them by all means. They are bly the very thing you need.—righ

Calf Enemie

WHITE SCOURS BLACKLEG

Your Veterinarian can st them out with Cutter's Anti-C Scour Serum and Cutter's Ge Free Blackleg Filtrate and Aggres or Cutter's Blackleg Pills.

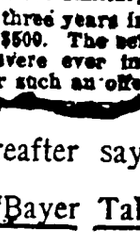
Ask him about them. If hasn't our literature, write to us information on these products.

The Cutter Laborato Berkeley, Cal., or Chicago, I "The Laboratory That Knows Ho

Stop Losing Calv

You can Stamp Abortion of YOUR HERD and Keep It

By the use of DR. DAVID ROBERT "Anti-Aborti



Small Expense Easily Applied. Sure R Used successfully for 30 Consult Dr. DAVID RO about all animal ailment formation free. Send for copy of "The Cattle Specialist" with full mation on Abortion in Cows. DR. DAVID RO VETERINARY CO., 100 Grand Ave., Waukesh

PARKER'S HAIR BALSA

A toilet preparation of me Helps to eradicate dandru For Restoring Color a Beauty to Gray or Faded H 60c. and $1.00 at Druggists

Farm Records

...al Crop Improvement Service.]

"WHAT at first glance may seem ... to be a hardship will, in ..., prove to be a great blessing," ...dge. Frank Baackes, vice president ...Steel and Wire company. ...new tax law says that every per... shall make a tax return, stating ...come, from which the unmarried ...may deduct $1,000 and the mar... $2,000 exemption.

"...very small" percentage of Amer... farmers keep records which give ...exact information. Uncle Sam ...says is and insists that every ...shall keep records of his busi...

...like every other innovation, there ...be some confusion, but after he ...the hang of it the farmer will ...how he ever did business with...

"...few years ago the crop improve... committee, by the aid of the ...of farm management at Wash..., issued a very comprehensive ...book which has been widely ...used by more than forty states. ...agricultural college now has an ...sion department which will, ...with the county agents, help each ...to keep the necessary books.

"...the fundamentals are very simple. ...first thing the farmer is to do is ...an inventory of everything he ...on December 31, 1918. He is ad... to keep a bank account and de... everything received and pay by ... Most of the information re... can be thus obtained. You ...make a plain statement of ex... and receipts, which should be ...separately.

"Regarding expenses, you can in... clude all money paid for hired help, except any wages that you pay to your children under age. Gasoline, oils, grease, etc., is expense when used for machinery, trucks, tractors, automobiles, etc., about the farm. When used for motorcars driven for pleasure it cannot be so deducted.

"Taxes upon farm land, live stock, machinery, buildings, personal property, and the home, is expense. All insurance is expense except life insurance and insurance on the home. Cost of repairs is expense except repairs on the home. The cost of permanent improvement is not expense. Repairs on pleasure cars must not be deducted.

What Is Income?

"The tax return blanks will explain to you what you are to include. The government will establish branch offices in banks, etc., where you may obtain assistance in making your return.

"Your income must include all money received, such as interest, dividends, rent, insurance loss, and whatever you may sell, salaries, wages and profits from speculations must also be included.

"The money you pay for income tax will be well spent, as it will teach you to keep exact records of different farm activities and you will find that when you have learned to compute costs that you will be on the high road to success.

"At a very nominal expense you may get farm record books with full instructions from your agricultural college. In every farm bureau there should be a section devoted to farm accounts."

Ownership a Privilege.

From the Kansas City Star.

A good share of the ground of the city of London is owned by the ... of Westminster. Once a year, to demonstrate his ownership, ... chains stretched across the streets that traverse his property ... a formal notification to the public that he reserves all his rights. Americans regard this sort of thing as a survival from feudalism ... wouldn't think of tolerating it. But they tolerate worse abuses ... their own land owners with never a protest.

The duke's chains are put up at such times that traffic really is ... inconvenienced. But there are practices by owners of real ... in American cities that are a serious handicap on the town's ...perity.

It is almost impossible to get from the retail district to a resi... district in any direction without passing vacant lots and shacks ...h condition as to be a disgrace to the owner.

"It's the man's own land to do with as he pleases, isn't it?" we ... No! It is not.

The ownership of land is not a right, but a privilege. It is subject to certain restrictions that can be enforced by the courts. It is ...ect to other restrictions not enforceable at law, but morally just ...ding. No man has the right to keep his property in such shape ... it is an eyesore. No man has the right to injure the community ...flaunting weeds or clay banks or swamps or ash piles or tumble... buildings in the face of people who pass.

There are men in American cities whose property is appreciating ...lue year by year while they do not turn their hands over. The ...th of population is making them rich. Yet they are maintaining ...e property in such disgraceful condition that it is an affront to ...y civilized person, a constant damper on the town's spirit, a warning to every stranger to keep away from a city that permits such ...slovenliness.

The parasite who refuses to do anything to keep his own property ...ape and depends on profiting from the energy of his neighbors is ... citizen. He is a detriment to the town. Enough such can ruin ...

Just Around the Corner.

From Collier's Weekly.

At the beginning of March, four years ago, Rupert Brooks was ...d the British transport Grantully Castle, near the coast of Spain, ...at voyage which was his last. To a friend in England he wrote:

All day we've been just out of sight of land, 30 or 40 miles away ...out of sight but in smell. There was something earthy in the air, and ...—like the consciousness of a presence in the dark. It wasn't that ...wall of scent and invisible blossom and essential spring that knocks ...you flat, quite suddenly, as you've come 'round some unseen corner in ...the atmosphere, 50 miles out from a South Sea island, but it was the ...good smell of land.

We doubt if the mystic, sudden realization of near spring was ...better expressed than by that vivid phrase "some unseen corner ...atmosphere." About this time of year—and generally it happens at night, when smells are keenest—one knows that the corner ...has turned. The unmistakable new tang and softness creeps ...through the dark. Often it comes with a night of melting snow, when ...gutters tinkle daintily under lids of rotting ice, and a ...raw, metallic flavor steeps upward from the sodden ground. We ...no ground hog or equinox to tell us when the world has wheeled ...huge shoulder into that sunward slant. The nose is the true ...prophet! We are still out of sight of spring—but "in smell!"

...Names and Heroes.

From the Milwaukee Journal.

...is often cutting. It is fun for the ... to whom it is presented, and the ...by the person who is made the ...of it. And sometimes, oddly, humor ...the ridiculous and the sub... blend in such a manner as to ...make treatment difficult. Nowhere ...better exemplified than in the simu... a mere publication in the cab... of the death, in action, of ...Opelousas, Arkansas. What a ...of our riotfulties is produced by ...appearance of the name in ...to laughter and ridicule, ...instantly before the larger fact ...whose was as heroic a figure as ...produces a man who met his ...in the performance of his ...duty assumes no less pro... in the personal preservation of ...to live and laugh. Living, ...humble occupation, his ...could have been blasphemed forth ...unspeakable of the profes... sional buffoon—dead, it deserves the finest encomiums of our most gifted orators and can be fittingly sounded only upon the cither to whose sweet accompaniment our great epic shall be sung.

Airplanes for Sportsmen.

From the Scientific American.

Now that the military aviator is returning to peaceful pursuits, there are many who believe that he will not give up flying. Indeed, there are several aircraft constructors who are already offering inexpensive airplanes for private use. One of the offerings is in the form of a small biplane, designed "for the man who rides his ranch and the man who loves the air," to quote the manufacturer's announcement. It is known as the "Dispatch Model," and sells for $2,500. The factor of safety is said to be high while the cost of upkeep is low.

Their View of Hearst.

(Returning soldiers of the 104th brigade drew up resolutions expressing their reactions to Hearst as a member of the welcoming committee and reinforced the resolutions with the following caustic parody on "The Lips that Touch Liquor Shall Never Touch Mine.")

That's him the guy in the black Stetson hat,
With the cold storage air the sanctified smile,
That's waving the flag like he's scared to let go
The flag that we fought for at Thierry-Chateau
The flag that he hung on his paper to hide
The coils of the snake that was hissing inside
If he dares to shake hands you bet I'll decline
For the hand that shook Kaiser's will never shake mine

If you ask why they pick that breed of a pup
To welcome us home again, I'll give up.
It don't seem to be just the right thing to do
To try to mix yellow with the red white and blue
I feel like a guy who has come home to his shack
To find a note waiting to welcome him back
If he puts out his paw I shall fall out of line
For the hand that shook Kaiser's will never shake mine

A job in Berlin would be sure in his line,
Shaking hands with Hun heroes back from the front
And [illegible] that have not
And [illegible] of Alsace
If [illegible] you bet I'll sidestep
I'll [illegible] it and
In a [illegible] mein
For the hand that shook Bethmann's will never shake mine

Silk From Wild Insects

From the London Times

At the Imperial Institute Professor H. M. Lefroy said that the British empire had ... the finest ... of the silk ... and that it existed only in India, ... from the British occupation. The Romans, on the other hand, had developed it in all of their colonies. None ... were European people engaged in the production of silk in India ... was almost entirely a home industry.

The caterpillars and moths of "mulberry" silk were entirely domesticated creatures, now unknown in the wild condition, but there were three kinds which were the product of insects still living wholly or partly in the forests. The "Tasar" or "tussore" silk imported to ... from China ... and there were 100,000 ... spinners, and 50,000 weavers producing it for Indian consumption. The adult insects lived in the hill forests of northeast India. The cocoons spun by the caterpillars were collected and allowed to hatch, the males liberated and the females were pegged out on thatch, where they were visited by the males and in due course laid eggs, the caterpillars from which were reared on trees. "Muga" silk was produced chiefly in Assam. The cocoons were bought from collectors and attached to sticks until they laid eggs. The caterpillars when large enough were put on trees to feed. When a tree was stripped, a piece of cloth was hung to one of the branches, and the caterpillars collected on it were then moved to a new tree. "Eri" silk comes from caterpillars which feed on the castor oil plant. It is of great value in India, because it is the only silk which can be spun from cocoons without killing the insect in the cocoons, and is, therefore, the only silk that can be worn by a strict Hindu.

Will British Keep a King?

From the Los Angeles Times

Before the war there were many who said that George V would probably be the last King of Great Britain. They believed that the country was bound to become a republic. Today some of them are not so sure of it.

Throughout the war King George proved that he was a "regular fellow" as many Americans publicly called him, and the Prince of Wales, the heir apparent, showed that he was a chip of the old block. So correct and at the same time so thoroughly human was the behavior of the members of the royal family that the house of Germain, though it is by descent obtained more popularity than ever.

Many there are who believe that England has nothing to gain and much to lose by changing its form of government. The [illegible] Great Britain has far less power than the president of the United States. The only danger of the arising against the will of the people. The existence of the cabinet depends upon the house of commons and the house of commons represents the will of the people. Therefore the people rule. If that is not democracy what is?

Some Enduring Ecstacies.

From the New York Sun

Someone has cried out for a "new ecstasy."

What is the matter with the old ones? Have we forgotten?

That we live on a star.

That no one has ever found out why two and two make four.

That the sun is just as much of a miracle today as it was when it was first seen.

That no one has yet found out where the music is when the violin is silent.

That no Darwin has yet discovered how a beefsteak creates one kind of thought and pumpkin pie another.

That a child's steady gaze causes you to lower your own—and you know not why.

That love is more rapturous to the civilized man and more of a mystery to him than it is to a savage.

Moral Shrewdness.

From the London Observer

"President Wilson's attitude is full of moral shrewdness. If he is to give some of the allies what they most want—America's signature to a guaranteed peace—the allies must give him what he most wants—the league and the main articles in its covenant."

"Much mischief and futility would have been saved had it been plainly realized months ago by the allies, that either Europe must go through with the United States into a new plan for a better ordering and maintenance of peace in the whole world or the United States will wash its hands of Europe. And that would mean return, sooner or later, of German hegemony on the continent."

Income Tax Has Teeth.

From the Duluth Herald.

Anybody who may be tempted to cheat Uncle Sam out of any of his due under the income tax should reflect upon what happened to Seymour L. Rau, a broker of New York. Mr. Rau ducked his income tax which should have been $182.25. His case came before a federal court, and this is what the federal court ordered Mr. Rau to do.

First, to pay double the amount of his evaded tax.

Second, to pay two fines of $150 each.

And third, to go to jail for 30 days.

Beware the income tax. It has teeth.

Soldiers and the Battlefields.

Battlefield touring, curiously enough, seems to be becoming popular among the troops in France as a means of passing the time until general demobilization is ordered. The soldiers are invariably interested in the sectors of the front other than those which were scenes of their own exploits. A system of short leaves has been authorized, and lorries derailed for the tours. Ypres, Messines, Arras and Albert are easily first as sight seeing centers, but places of lesser fame such as Boesinghe and Wood 15 Bois Grenier, Combles and La Brie farm, Ephey and Bousies are ... claiming their crowds.

Our Occasional Observance.

A man will sit by the hour matching pennies, but if his wife asks him to match a piece of dress goods, whatta howl of rage and indignation there is!—Indianapolis Star.

Without the needle the mariner could never thread his way through the sea.

PERUNA A Wonderful Remedy

FOR EFFECTS OF LA GRIPPE

Mr. George E. Law, 12½ North Franklin St., Brazil, Indiana, has a word of cheer for sufferers from LaGrippe and its results.

Liquid or Tablet Form
Sold Everywhere

Read His Letter

"I have suffered for the last two winters with that terrible disease, LaGrippe. Having often heard of the great value of Peruna I decided to try it. I have only used four bottles and I do not now have any bad effects from the Grippe as it has just about entirely disappeared, and my general health is good. I am satisfied that Peruna is a wonderful remedy, and I do most heartily endorse and recommend it for LaGrippe."

WORMS

"Wormy," that's what's the matter of 'em. Stomach and intestinal worms. Nearly as bad as distemper. Cost you too much to feed 'em. Look bad—are bad. Don't physic 'em to death. Spohn's Compound will remove the worms, improve the appetite, and tone 'em up all round and don't "physic." Acts on glands and blood. Full directions with each bottle, and sold by all druggists.

SPOHN MEDICAL CO., Goshen, Ind., U. S. A.

Middle Aged Women

Are Here Told the Best Remedy for Their Troubles.

Freemont, O.—"I was passing through the critical period of life, being forty-six years of age and had all the symptoms incident to that change—heat flashes, nervousness, and was in a general run down condition, so it was hard for me to do my work. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me as the best remedy for my troubles, which it surely proved to be. I feel better and stronger in every way since taking it, and the annoying symptoms have disappeared."—Mrs. M. Godden, 925 Napoleon St., Fremont, Ohio.

North Haven, Conn.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored my health after everything else had failed when passing through change of life. There is nothing like it to overcome the trying symptoms."—Mrs. Florence Isella, Box 197, North Haven, Conn.

In Such Cases

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

has the greatest record for the greatest good

LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. LYNN, MASS.

Perverse Critters.

"I can't help thinking something," said the discouraged farmer, "that the worse you treat your hens the more eggs you will get from them. I remember an old joke where one man asked another: 'How do you get so many eggs?'

"'Why,' said the other, 'I treat my hens so unscientifically they're all laying for me.'"—Boston Transcript.

Cuticura Comforts Baby's Skin

When red, rough and itching with hot baths of Cuticura Soap and touches of Cuticura Ointment. Also make use now and then of that exquisitely scented dusting powder, Cuticura Talcum, one of the indispensable Cuticura Toilet Trio.—Adv.

Strenuously Objects Then.

"Does your wife object to your playing cards for money?"

"Only when I lose."

Saved From the Rummage.

"Oh, John," sobbed Mrs. John, "I've done something awful, and I'm almost afraid to tell you—but I must! I made a most awful mistake this morning and sent your new dress suit to the rummage sale instead of your old one, and when I found out what I had done and ran over to get it back it had been sold."

"That's all right, Mabel, dear," said John amiably. "I stopped in at the sale myself and bought it back for 35 cents."

Some people spend so much time handing out advice that they have no time to accomplish anything.

Cure pimples, headache, bad breath by taking May Apple, Aloe, Jalap rolled into a tiny sugar pill called Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Adv.

A signal failure has wrecked many a train of thought.

The Hum of the Mill.

He was a lad from the backwoods of Arkansas, where sawmills are numerous. Going into the army and overseas he arrived at Camp Codford, England. While here he saw and heard his first airplane. The aviator was flying low and the buzz of the engines could be distinctly heard. Turning to a buddy he says: "Where is that sawmill I hear?"

Important to Mothers

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, that famous old remedy for infants and children, and see that it

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

In Use for Over 30 Years.
Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria

Criticism.

"Does your wife sing?"

"Er—that's a matter of opinion."—Boston Transcript.

The Tongue Test

Put a little alum on the end of your tongue and you will have the reason why alum baking powder should not be used in food.

England and France forbid the sale of baking powder containing alum.

You can tell whether baking powder contains alum by reading the label.

ROYAL Baking Powder

Absolutely Pure

Royal Contains No Alum—
Leaves No Bitter Taste

The fit you get at Patton Bros. Co.

...ell you can show your friends without making an excuse or excusing a fault.

We are not only particular to give the ...ght FIT, but we are just as careful ...t you have the right fit.

We can show you the plums from the best tailoring shops. Right for style—right for quality—right for price.

All the new models in men's Suits. All ...yles in boy's Suits. We beleive ...n be of service to you and that ... trading here.

PATTON BROS.

Mason City, Iowa

...ar dollar deserves its duty

Candy Easter Eggs

A Fine Line of them here

Better order your Ice Cream now for the Easter Dinner. We can also supply you with Fresh Fruits, Nuts, Candy and Baked Goods.

"If It's To Eat---We Have It"

CRYSTAL CAFE

Elder & Fuller, Props.

DOCTOR MISSMAN

PHYSICIAN SURGEON

OFFICE--State Savings Bank Building, 'Phone No. 1105

RESIDENCE--North of Park, 'Phone No. 1109

X-Ray Ba... Electrical Treatments

Eyes Tested Glasses Fitted

Now is the time to make a noise like Spring!

Now is the time to make plans for this year's garden. We have everything you need in that line:-

Garden Spades Forks Hoes

Rakes Plows Garden Seeds

Don't overlook your Lawn or Flowers

Better get some of our Grass Seed and Flower Seeds. Buy a Lawn Mower.

J. W. WATERMAN

The City Dray Line

Is prepared to do your hauling carefully and promptly

Your patronage is respectfully solicited

Charges Reasonable.

Henry P. Yahnke, Prop.

Coal Hauling Done

Ben Swalve journeyed over to Garner Monday morning between trains.

Dr. Parsons was a business visitor in Belmond Tuesday.

The Clifton Comedy Company are showing in the old opera house here this week. It is a medicine show.

Miss Luick, of Belmond, visited a couple of days the latter part of last week with Klemme friends.

Wm. Miller, of Garner, was a business caller in Klemme Tuesday afternoon.

A bright baby girl arrived April fifth at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Schaefer.

M. A. Fell, of Garner, was in Klemme last Friday gazing at our high buildings.

Fred Haupt was a passenger to Garner Saturday afternoon on business.

Mike Haskins, of Garner, was here Monday afternoon doing some electrical work for the Iowa Falls people

Fred Arnold was to Garner on a business mission Monday between trains.

FOR SALE—13 head of fine yearling Short Horn heifers and steers. Phone 7411, Klemme. 2w.

Mr and Mrs. Paul Stille came from Iowa Falls Saturday afternoon for a visit with relatives and friends.

Mrs. A. G. Koerner was a Garner visitor between trains last Saturday morning.

Mr. E J. Schaefer was over to Garner on business between trains Monday morning.

Ray Miner and J. B Bufkin of Garner, drove to Klemme last Saturday night in the former's car.

R R Kester, of Garner, was transacting business in Klemme last Saturday.

C. C. Tessier the Garner electrician, spent several days in Klemme the past week doing electrical work.

Wm. Trafford has improved his residence by adding on a new cement block porch. Anderson & Stiehl did the work for him

Ray Miner, Art Schultz, Howard Hunt and J. B. Bufkin of Garner, drove over here last Sunday afternoon.

Charlie White was on the sick list the past week with a case of grippe, or a bad cold He succeeded in getting out Sunday.

See the large Stylish display of Trimmed Hats and Easter Bonnets at most reasonable prices Mrs John Josten adv-1

Miss Mildred McCullough, of Garner, came last Friday evening for a visit with her brother, G. P., and also to attend the dance

Miss Celia Brouwer, of Garner, came Friday evening for a short visit at the home of Mrs. H. Schuldt, and also to attend the dance.

Oscar Schuldt, who is traveling for a Mason City firm, spent a few days the past week with his mother and sister here.

Valentine Josten was a visitor in the burg north of here Monday morning. We presume he perhaps visited the creamery there while in the town.

A. G. Koerner went to Garner Saturday afternoon to meet some people who attended the Golden Wedding here Sunday They came down on the evening train

Henry Lau & Son are running a series of ads on the "Iowa" Cream Separator. These ads are well worth reading and are a money saver for the farmers.

C. C. Tessier, of Garner, was in Klemme Monday on business. We advise Mr. Tessier to move to Klemme as his business calls him here most of the time.

Mrs. G. W. Kluckhohn and grandsons, Donald and Verner Turgeson, went to Garner Saturday afternoon to meet "Grandpa" George who has been at Austin, Minnesota.

Dr. and Mrs. L. R. Parsons, and daughter Dorris, returned last Thursday afternoon from Grinnell, where they have been visiting relatives and friends fo about a week, which also was the doctor's vacation.

Mrs. Dickinson and children, of Crystal Lake, visited a few days the past week at the home of her sister, Mrs. A. Kirkwood. They returned on Monday.

Dr. R. W. Schultz, Osteopath of Garner, will be at the Klemme Hotel on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 11:30 a. m. to 2:00 p. m. adv.

Chas. Lewis returned Monday evening from Minnesota where he went to put in the crops on C W. Wiles' farm. Owing to the bad weather he didn't accomplish much along that line

Last Wednesday Mrs. Anna Fuller sold her 160 acre farm near Klemme to Albert Johnson, a farmer near Ventura. Mr. Johnson will not move onto the farm until next year

Chas. Stiehl has built a new garage on his place in the north part of town. The new building is made of cement blocks and is 18 feet by 24 and is large enough for two cars.

P M Griesemer spent Sunday with his parents at Garner Paul says he has just got to get home once in a while and kick his legs under his mother's table and a get a real good meal, just like mother always makes

George (Jake) Musfelt is now connected with the Anderson & Stiehl firm as "Chief Mud Slapper" Although "Jake" is not much of an Irishman, we predict he will soon learn how to carry a hod o' mud

Anderson & Stiehl shipped in a car load of sand from Mason City which they used in making their cement blocks and bricks They say the Mason City sand is of a better quality for blocks than the local product

Mr. and Mrs Gilbert Schaeper were passengers to Garner Saturday afternoon Gilbert is getting now so that he can ramble around quite a bit and is improving every day This is the first time he has been out of town for quite a long time

Charles Papousek arrived in Garner last Wednesday from overseas Charles has seen a lot of scrapping and was thru the worst fighting of the war He is well known to the people of Klemme as he has done a lot of electric work here

Mrs Fuller will move into the Dr R. M Thomas residence this week, she having purchased the property from the doctor We understand that she will live in the house temporarily only as she is planning to build a new modern house in Klemme this year

George Lawhorn returned Tuesday afternoon from overseas service He was discharged from Camp Dodge George has been overseas for quite a long time, we understand he was in the Medical Corps We are glad to welcome him back to Klemme and home.

Did you notice that fellow strutting up and down the street last week? Proud? Why he would make a peacock look like a sparrow, but there's a reason: He had that old suit cleaned and that hat re-blocked at the New Process Laundry and they look better than new. McCullough Barber Shop, Agents. adv

Dr Thomas has sold his residence property to Mrs Anna Fuller and as a result the doctor is forced to find a new place to live No place was available in town so "Doc" decided there was maybe room in the country and after looking around discovered that Oscar Swanson had one house too many on his farm and "Doc" immediately rented one at once. He will live in the country for a while at least

Garner Democrat—Carl Busch of Klemme, has bought the Mrs. Costello property here in town and within a short time will move to Garner. Carl writes insurance, dickers some in real estate and has decided that Garner will be a suitable location for him Our people will welcome him and his family.

Gilbert Schaeper has been doing some remodeling on the house which he purchased of Mr. Adams and which was formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Barnabee He has had the house re-plastered, D. B. Anderson doing the work, and will also decorate the interior. A substantial new coal shed was also added to the place.

Mr. and Mrs. Hocum's little girl was quite ill the past week but is greatly improved at this writing.

Oscar Wenck of Garner, was an over Sunday visitor at the home of his brother, Frank and wife. Oscar has a short furlough from Fort Des Moines, where he is still confined receiving treatments for his wounds which he received battling the Huns

We have it! What?

Everything

Which is found in only the best and most up to-date Meat Markets.

You will always find a complete line of Choice Meats, Hams, Bacon, Fancy Meats and Canned Goods

Try Our Oleomargarine---It's Fine!

J. P. Larsen & Sons

Special Service For Farmers

Because of the handicap of distance from town, extremely busy seasons, etc., most farmers need special service for taking care of their banking funds.

This institution is officered and equipped to deliver this kind of service in the fullest measure.

Farmes will appreciate what we are prepared to do for them in the way of saving time and steps through the use of the mails and telephone .

Find out about this service the next time you are in town. We are never too busy to talk to you.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Klemme Iowa

Subscribe Today at $1.5

All Kinds of Hardware

HARDWARE AND GROCERIES

Stoves and Furnaces

Paints, Oils, Feed, Flour, Cream Separators, Buggies, Wagons, Gasoline Engines.

All Kinds of Farm Machinery

GREUTZMACHER BROS

KLEMME DRAY LINE

LLOYD LAU, PROPRIETOR

A share of your patronage is solicited.

All work attended to promptly and carefully

Coal Hauling Done Promptly

Telephone No. 14

M. O. HOCUM

The Grain, Coal and Live Stock Man.

We will buy Hogs and Grain six days in the week at Highest Market Price

Successor to W. R. Bloom

DR. L. R. PARSONS

DENTIST

Office 1st Floor State Savings

Phone No 48.

Klemme Iowa

KLEMME TIMES

Twenty-third Year Number 34 Klemme, Iowa, Thursday, April 24, 1919 $1.50 In Advance. $2.00 Outside of County supply and repair business is incidental to our business of selling cars.

these words we do not have to depend on repair and sale of repairs for our entire profit.

This fact is all to your advantage. We can save you money and we do it.

At the same time we guarantee you the best there is

PHONE 30

Miles Garage

NOW TRY THE BEST

KLEMME, IA.

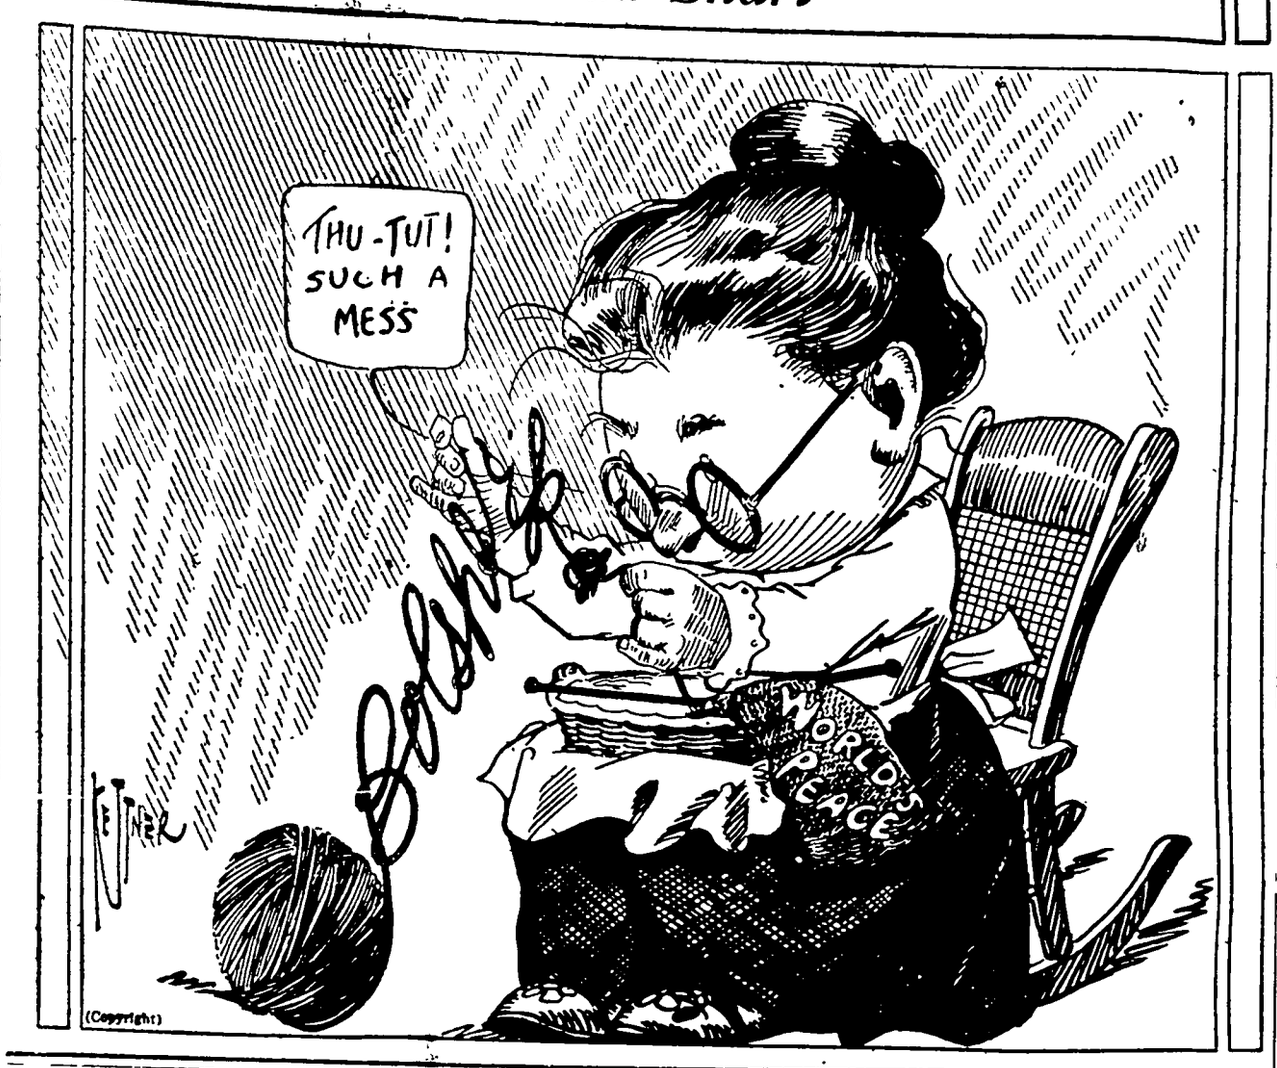
DR. R. M. THOMAS

Veterinarian

All Calls Answered Promptly

Klemme, Iowa Office and Residence Phone

A Bad Snarl



PARSONS WILL LOCATE AT BELMOND

Dr L R. Parsons has moved his office equipment to Belmond the past week and will practice dentistry in that enterprising little city His family will remain here for a short time until he can find a suitable house to move into there.

We are sorry to lose Dr. Parsons as it will leave Klemme without a dentist But he was forced to move to another town as he couldn't find any office rooms here The office where he has been will be occupied by Dr Missman The State Savings Bank are enlarging their banking rooms and this crowds out one of the offices in the rear of the building.

Dr Parsons is a very good dentist, in fact he is as good as any of the dentists you will find in the larger cities Klemme's loss will be Belmond's gain and we can recommend Parsons very highly to the people of Belmond. We wish him good luck and prosperity in his new location.

LEW LEWIS ON THE JOB!

The fine weather the other day was too much for Lek Lewis so he hied himself to the back yard, dug a few angle worms, donned his hip boots and fishing clothes, got down the ol' fishin' pole and out to the river he goes. Now whenever Lew goes fishing you can bet your last dollar that he will bring home the bacon, this time he brought back as fine a bunch of bull-heads as we have ever seen. Leave it to Lew—he knows when the fishin' season is here Lew is right on the job whenever the water smells like it has some fish in it.

POPULAR LADY CONTEST

The medicine show which was here last week conducted a popular lady contest and also a popular baby contest Mr and Mrs. Clark Bredbenner's baby won the Baby Contest and was presented with a pretty little ring.

The popular ladies contest was exciting from start to finish and both sides were busy to help the young ladies win out. The final wind-up of the contest gave Miss Aravella Emerson the decision with Miss Blanche Liljenberg a very close second. Miss Emerson was awarded a beautiful ring, Miss Liljenberg was presented with a silver set. There were perhaps about twenty names on the list of popular ladies, but these two young ladies took the lead from the very start which indicated that they were going to give each other a merry chase.

A FINE EASTER PROGRAM

We attended the Easter Program at the First Methodist Church last Sunday evening and we can truthfully say it was the best program that we had ever seen. The church was most beautifully decorated with Easter Designs to carry out the effect of the program and the atmosphere of Easter.

The program was fine thru-out and was given by the children of the Sunday School and greatly enjoyed. The Choir also rendered several good selections. Miss Aravella Emerson gave a vocal solo. But perhaps the part enjoyed most was the numbers given by the little kindergarten folks for the selections they gave were real cute for such tiny tots.

The program was closed by a song of the audience and benediction by Rev. Meyer.

Daily Thought.

He makes no friend who never made a foe.—Tennyson.

SHOW HERE LAST WEEK

The Clifton Medicine Show was in Klemme last week and as all medicine shows do, they sure made a cleaning in Klemme. Their comedy was only fairly good butt hey succeeded in getting the crowd anyway—due to the low price of admission. And say, the way they sold medicine, soap and liniment the last night was a sight for sore eyes! There should not be any aches or pains in this neighborhood for years to come, if the medicine does what the "Doctor" claims for it. And the soap! Say we bet there is a wagon load in every household (?). Well they sure did get away with it in great shape, cheap laundry soap will accomplish the same results. Did you try that sponge shampoo the "Doctor" demonstrated? Try it, and here's betting nickels to doughnuts it don't work. Did it ever occur to you that a sponge filled with "Lux" will do that trick? Some wise man said, "There is a fool born every minute." We agree with him.

FIRST M. E. CHURCH

J. Meyer, Pastor

Preaching service Sunday morning at 11:00 o'clock.

Sunday School at the close of the preaching service at 12 o'clock.

Epworth League Sunday night at 8:00 o'clock.

Preaching service at the close of Epworth League at 8:30 o'clock.

Midweek prayer meeting on Tuesday evening.

The church choir practices every Thursday evening.

A hearty welcome to all who come and worship with us.

ENGLISH METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday, April 27th:

Morning worship at 10:30. Subject, "Centenary."

Sunday School at 11:30.

Song service and sermon at 8:15 p. m. There will be special music at these services and everyone has a cordial welcome to come with us.

A. W. Barnlund, Pastor

Rev. and Mrs. Zeidler left Monday for Wahaska, Kansas, where the Reverend will preach for the coming year While here they visited at the Chas. Velau home and the Eckard Zeidler home and other Klemme friends. They have been visiting in this neighborhood for about two weeks, coming here from Minnesota in a car and on account of the heavy rains had to postpone their trip to Kansas. Mrs. Andrew Swartz, who has also been visiting here, accompanied them on their journey and will remain with them for an extended time.

Overpowering Desire for Fame.

Were not this desire of fame very strong, the difficulty of obtaining it and the danger of losing it when obtained would be sufficient to deter a man from so vain a pursuit.—Addison.

COMING!

The Klemme Boosters will put on a home talent play entitled, "My Uncle From Japan," at the Idle Hour Theatre, Saturday, April 26th, and Monday, April 28th, for which they have been constantly rehearsing all week.

The play selected is a three act comedy with specialties between the acts. The entire program is under the personal management of a professional director, Ralph Deane, who just finished a big home talent production for the Rebekah Lodge of Garner

Seats can be reserved in advance for either night at the State Savings Bank Adults 50c, children 25c

CAN YOU BEAT IT?

They tell lots of tales on the editor, but (avers an exchange) this is a new one: The editor of a Kansas paper went to attend a party given by one of his neighbors, where just a few weeks before the home had been blessed with a new baby The hostess met him at the door and, after the usual salutation, he asked after the baby's health. The lady was hard of hearing, had a bad cold, and, thinking he was asking about herself, answered that although she usually had one every winter, this was the worst one she ever had, it kept her awake at night a good deal, and at first confined her to her bed. Then, noticing that the editor was acting very strangely, she said she could tell by his looks and actins that he was going to have one just like hers, and she asked him to come in out of the draft and sit down.

DOC'S ALFALFA FIELD

Doc. Zinn showed us a sample of his alfalfa the other day and it measured six inches Now we suppose Doc. wanted us to do a little "blowing" about his alfalfa again this year. Nix, we did last year and several other papers copied our spiel. We started with his little patch which is just about enough to haul on a cart, when we got thru the other papers had it stretched into a big 160 acre field. We got the blame. Never again, Doc's alfalfa can go to the D——.

WHY THEY DIDN'T APPEAR

Last week there were some locals and other write-ups which failed to appear in the Times. Our type was accidentally spilled by the express company and had to be re-set on the Linotype. Some of the news copy was lost in the scramble which explains why some of the locals did not appear. They were lost and we had no means of getting them again.

John Henschen, alias Bobbie Carr, seems to have a streak of tough luck every time he attempts a journey to Ventura via the Ford Route. Sunday Bobbie" decided to drive over to that little city but when within a mile of the town discovered a large mud puddle in the very middle of the road and not having a pair of oars with him. decided to turn back again. He said the place would swamp a duck. We will take his word for it.

SCHOOL NOTES

Erma Preibe was absent Monday.

Mable Beier and Mable Waterman have been sick for several days.

Norma and Daile Stromer had the mumps last week.

Walter Ridder and Fern Ulrich are editors this week.

Mildred Johnson is pianist for the week.

The school and teachers had their pictures taken Tuesday.

Effie Johnson has been absent this week.

The eleventh grade play, "Daddy," is being worked on and promises to be fine.

Mrs. Gibbs' Room

John Ubben is attending school after a week's absence on account of sickness.

Andrew Wellemeyer was absent on Friday.

Asa Arnold and Donald Gibbs were on the sick list last week.

The boys of the intermediate room are organizing a base ball team.

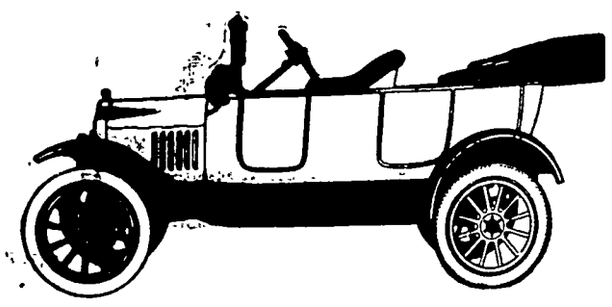
No Need for Disarmament.

Some enthusiastic reformer has suggested disarming the farmers of their shotguns and squirrel rifles. Our observation and experience is that the farmer's gun rarely goes off accidentally, and a good citizen is as safe from it as he is from the Constitution of the United States.—Ohio Farmer.

Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

It's no longer necessary to go into the details describing the practical merits of the Ford car---everybody knows about "The Universal Car." How it goes and comes day after day and year after year at an operating expense so small that its wonderful. This advertisement is to urge prospactive buyers to place orders without delay. Buy a Ford car when you can get one. We'll take good care of your order---get your Ford to you as soon as possible---and give you the best "after-service" when required.



E. G. ELL

Authorized Dealer

THE CURVED BLADES

By CAROLYN WELLS

Author of "A Chain of Evidence," "The Gold Bag," "The Clue," "The White Alley," Etc.

CHAPTER XIX.—Continued

"That's so," agreed Haviland, thoughtfully, "but even so, it's my belief that that's the way it all happened How Pauline got the stuff I've no idea, but there's no other explanation that fits the facts Aunt Lucy's aversion to drugs or medicines could have been overcome by few people, but Pauline could have wheedled her into taking it by some misrepresentation of its healing qualities or something like that"

"It must have been under some such misapprehension that she took it" said Stone "For I'm convinced she took it dissolved in a glass of water and therefore, was unconscious of the act, thought not of the nature of the dose But couldn't Miss Stuart have given it innocently by mistake, as a headache powder, or——"

"Miss Carrington never had headaches," returned Anita, "and, any way, Pauline couldn't make such a mistake It isn't as if Miss Carrington had a medicine cabinet like other people, where drugs might get mixed up No, Mr. Stone, there was no mistake"

"You think Miss Stuart administered the poison purposely to kill her aunt?"

It would have been a brazen soul, indeed, that could have spoken falsely under the piercing gleam in Fleming Stone's eyes then

"I am forced to think that," replied Anita quietly "And you know I was present when Miss Carrington denounced Pauline and told her to leave this house the next day And I also heard Miss Carrington when she said later that half her fortune should not go to a girl who treated her as Pauline did

"Would she have used those words in speaking to Miss Stuart?" asked Stone pointedly

"Surely she would Why not?"

"Never mind all that Nita, said Haviland "Polly's gone run away—and it's up to us to do all we can to help her If her flight means she's guilty never mind we must stand up for her and deny anything that incriminates her If she did poison Aunt Lucy we don't want her convicted of it She'll go straight to Loria, and he'll look out for her all right But if we find anybody's going to head her off at Naples or anywhere, we must arm her and help her to thwart the plans"

"Accessory after the fact——" began Stone

"Oh!" said Haviland "You bet we'll be accessories after the fact to help Polly out" Why, Mr Stone, if she did this thing, the best possible plan for her was to vamoose, just as she has Once Carr Loria can hide her [illegible] body can find her, and after a while"

Haviland and Stone's eyes glowed "I'm surprised at your attitude, that you so easily take Miss Stuart's guilt for granted?"

"No, I've not Now, look here, Mr Stone, neither Miss Frayne nor I did the thing We weren't tied to Miss Carrington's apron strings We could walk off and leave her if we chose But Miss Stuart couldn't Her life was a perfect hell on earth. I know all about it a lot more even, than Miss Frayne does I don't quite say I don't blame Polly for I do say I quite understand it She is an impulsive creature She'll feel an awful lot and be ready all to pieces at some little thing that sets her nerves on edge She's clever as the deuce, and if he guessed that we'd long ago say we wanted to help her the time when she would wish for reached the limit and happened to come that way That's all

"Well, Mr Haviland, you're wrong!" and Stone's face was positively triumphant "I've had an additional hint to what you've just said, and I'm convinced I am on the right track! One more question Miss Frayne, about but conversation you so luckily overheard"

Proudly" said Anita her great blue eyes showing alarm in their starlight

"Sure ly Most fortunate to my mind indeed it may well be that that carefully exact memorandum of yours may be the means of clearing Miss Stuart of all suspicion Now, tell me this You heard only Miss Carrington's voice, as if speaking to somebody Did it sound as if she spoke always to the same person, or to more than one at the different times?"

"Well, it did sound as if she spoke to different persons but it couldn't have been so Surely if there had been more than one I must have heard some other words than her own"

"Never mind your own surmises You say, it seemed as if she addressed more than one person Why?"

"Because she used a different intonation. At times angry, at times loving But this is only an impression, as I now look back in memory. I haven't thought about this point before"

"Nor need you think of it again You have told me all I want to know, and I assure you it will be of no use for you to mull this over or give it another thought"

"But I don't want you to think, Mr. Stone," and Anita began to cry, "that I want to suspect Pauline——"

"I am not considering your wishes in the matter," said Stone, coldly "If you do not want to think Miss Stuart implicated in this matter, your words and actions are unintelligible to me, but they are equally unimportant, and I have neither time nor thoughts to waste on them."

With this somewhat scathing speech, Stone went away, leaving the angry Anita to be comforted by Haviland.

"What did he mean?" she cried, her cheeks pink with anger, and her blue eyes shining through tears "Gray, does he suspect me?"

"No, Anita, of course not But he's on a trail Perhaps it wasn't Polly after all"

"But it had to be! It was somebody in the house, and it wasn't you or me or any of the servants"

"Well, you listen to me, girl If they quizz you any more about that talkfest you butted into, don't you color the yarn to make it seem against Polly I won't have it!"

"How cross you are! But I never did, Gray I never made it seem to be evidence against Pauline."

"You never did anything else!"

"Don't you love me any more?" and the soft lips quivered as an appealing glance was raised to his face. Her eyes, like forget-me-nots in the rain, were so beautiful, Haviland clasped the lovely face in both his hands, and said as he held it "I won't love you, Nita if you go back on our Polly, I'm surprised at your attitude toward her just now, and I warn you I won't stand any more of it I'm forced to think she did this thing, but I intend to admit that to nobody but you and Stone If he can find the real criminal and it isn't Polly I'll bless him forever But you know, as well as I do, why he is clinging to that forlorn hope It's because he's——"

"Of course, I know! Because he's in love with her"

"Yes, and it's a remarkable thing for him to fall head over heels in love at first sight, like that"

"Well, of course, she is handsome, and Anita's grudging admission was real praise

"You bet she is! And old Stone fell for her in a minute! Now there's the old adage of 'Love will find a way,' and if Fleming Stone has any magic ability, or whatever these wizard detectives claim, he's going to work it to the limit to prove Polly innocent And I hope to goodness he succeeds. Great Scott! I wouldn't suspect the girl if there was a glimpse of a gleam of any other way to look But, you hear me Anita! Don't you say a word, true or false, that will help on the case against Pauline Stuart! I won't stand for it! And don't you say you saw her coming from that room, when you know you didn't!"

The postman came just then, and brought with him two letters addressed in Pauline's dashing hand

"Well, what do you know about that!" exclaimed Gray, half glad and half scared at the sight "One for me and one for F S Here, Anita, take Mr Stone's to him, while I eat up mine"

"I won't do it I want to see what's in yours, first," and Anita stood by Gray's side to look over his shoulder

"All right, then," and they read together

Dear Gray

I couldn't help it You see, I was so frightened at what you all said that I didn't know what to do I came over to New York with a vague idea of asking Mr Price to help me I stayed with Ethel all night and somehow things seemed to look so black I couldn't think of anything but to go to Carr I went down to the steamer office to see about changing my tickets for an earlier date or something, and I found the Catalonia sailed today I'm scratching this off to go back by the pilot I had about two hours to get ready, so I bought a trunk and some clothes, went to the bank and got a letter of credit and here I am I don't know yet whether I'm glad or sorry to be here But I know I could not stand it at Garden Steps another minute with you and Anita both against me! Mr Stone doesn't believe I did it, but he is doubtful of being able to prove my innocence so I'm going to Carr, and you can address me in his care He's my nearest relative, and it's right for me to go there I cabled him from New York to expect me, and to meet me at Alexandria. I'd write more, but it's most time for the pilot to go and I want to send a word to Mr Stone. Of course, you will look after all my bills and affairs until further notice

Pauline

"Good Lord!" said Gray, "Think of that poor child going off like that, because she thought you and I were against her!"

"Well, aren't you?" asked Anita, an angry gleam in her eyes.

"No! never!" shouted Gray. "If Pauline is guilty a thousand times, I'm not against her! I'm for her, Anita, for her, first last and all the time! Come on, now, let's take Mr. Stone his letter."

They found Stone in the boudoir, the room where the ghastly crime had been committed. He spent many hours here of late; it seemed necessary for the furthering of his theory, and yet, whenever anyone was admitted to his presence there, he was found sitting staring at the room and its furnishings, as if waiting for the inanimate objects to speak.

"A letter? From Miss Stuart?" he said, eagerly. "I hoped for one, by the pilot."

He opened it, and after a glance handed it over to Haviland.

It said, only:

My Dear Mr Stone:

Thank you for your belief in me, and forgive me for running away. And, please—oh, I beg of you, please drop the case entirely. Your further investigation and discovery can only bring sorrow and anguish to my already distracted soul. I have no time to write more, but assume that I have put forth any or every argument that could persuade you, and at once cease all effort to learn who is responsible for the death of my aunt. Sincerely yours,

Pauline Stuart.

XX.

IN THE BOUDOIR.

Apparently, Fleming Stone paid little attention to this letter from Pauline Really, every word engraved itself on his heart, as he read the lines, and when he gave the paper to Gray Haviland, it was only because he knew he would never need to refresh his memory as to the message Pauline had sent him.

Stone also read the letter she had written to Gray, and his deep eyes clouded with pain at some of the lines. But he returned it to Haviland without comment, and then courteously dismissed the pair.

"He's bothered to death," said Gray, as they went downstairs.

"So'm I," responded Anita. "But nobody cares about me, it's all Pauline—whether she's a——"

"Let up on that, 'Nita!" and Gray spoke warningly. "Don't you call Pauline names in my hearing!"

Anita, pouting, flounced away to her own room.

Fleming Stone remained in Miss Lucy Carrington's boudoir. He sat on a window seat, and looked out across the wide gardens and the innumerable steps There was not much snow now. Merely great wind swept stretches, dotted with evergreen trees, and the carved stone of the terrace railings and balustrades

Long Stone mused over Pauline's letter For a time, he gave himself up to thoughts of her in which consideration of crime had no part. He knew he loved her, loved her with all the strength and power of his great nature, with all the affection and devotion of his big heart, and with all the passion and adoration of his deep soul. He knew she was not averse to him. Knew, almost, that she cared for him, but he knew, too, that if he let his mind dwell on such alluring thoughts or visions, he could not work And work he must Aye, work as he had never before, with an incentive he had never had before And Fleming Stone's mind was troubled to know whether this love for Pauline would help or hinder this work he must do And he resolved, with all his mighty will power, that it should help, that he would control this surging emotion, so new to him and would force it to aid and assist his efforts, and to triumph over all doubts or obstacles

Again he concentrated his whole mentality on the room and its contents He swore to wrest from the silent witnesses the story of the crime This was not his usual method of procedure On the contrary, he almost invariably learned his points from questioning people, from observing suspects, or quizzing witnesses But he realized the difference in essence between this case and any other in which he had ever engaged He had no more questions to ask He knew all anyone could or would tell him He knew all the facts, all the tehories, all the evidence, all the testimony And none of it was worth a picayune to him, except negatively This case must be, and should be, solved by the application of his highest mental powers, by the most intense thought, and, doubtless, by most brilliant and clever deduction from hints not facts, from ideas, not visible clues To work then! To the work that must bring success!

Leaving the window seat, Stone walked round the room, and finally drew up in front of the mirror the easy chair in which Miss Carrington had sat when she received the blow given by Bates Whether she had sat here while taking the poison, no one knew. If Stone's theory was right, she had not

By referring to the photographs taken of Miss Carrington after her death, Stone was able to reconstruct the scene correctly

He placed the easy chair just as it had been when she sat in it. He assumed the position she showed in the photographs, and gazed at himself in the mirror, as she must necessarily have done.

Slowly he went over that conversation reported by Anita Frayne Never for a moment had he doubted the truth of that report He was sure Miss Carrington had really said all the things Anita repeated, and the clear and indubitable explanation of those remarks would mean, he was sure, the solution of the mystery.

By way of interviewing his silent witnesses, he endeavored to reconstruct, in thought, Miss Carrington's movements that night. Pauline and Anita had left her, all three of them angry, at a little after 12 Later, Estelle had left her that was about a quarter to 1 Then she had on her embroidered robe and some jewels. She was not then sitting at the dressing table. Nor had she then, presumably, taken the poison. For the doctors insisted that she had swallowed the poison very near the hour of 1, but after it rather than before, and had placed the hour of her death at 2. So, Stone reasoned, Miss Carrington must have taken that aconite at pretty nearly the very time Anita heard her talking. It seemed to Stone incredible that there could have been a person present to whom Miss Carrington could have addressed those remarks, and who could have given or allowed her to take the deadly draught.

The idea that Pauline could have been this person was not among Fleming Stone's catalog of possibilities.

Moreover, the fact of the one voice strongly impressed him. Another voice, however low, must have at some point of the conversation risen to an audible sound to a listener with normal hearing Also, Anita had asserted that the speeches of Miss Carrington did sound as if addressed to different persons It was not likely there were two or more intruders or visitors there at once and slowly but surely Fleming Stone decided, once for all, that Miss Carrington was alone in that room at that time This meant not exactly soliloquy, the mode of address contradicted that, but it meant to him, at least that she was addressing some inanimate object or objects as if they were sentient

His task was to discover those objects His first thought was, as he sat in the easy chair before the mirror, that the lady had spoken to her own reflection But the speeches, of which he had a memorandum, precluded this hypothesis She would not say to herself, "You are so fond of pearls," or "You have a beautiful face"

Abanadoning that supposition, Stone methodically searched for something that might have been addressed

Clearly—that is, if he were on the right track—the words "Henri, you are the mark I aim at" could have been spoken to the count's glove, which she held in her hand. In the same vein, assuming that the glove, to her, represented the count himself, might have been said the speech about the $10 000, and the remark that he loved pearls

Accepting these possibilities as facts, Stone went on to discover more His method was to repeat to himself her very words and serve to see or sense something to which they might have been addressed

"You have the most beautiful face I ever saw," he quoted softly and then, scanning the room, went on "I only wish mine were as beautiful"

His eyes lighted on the picture of Cleopatra, which hung above the mirror of the dressing table

"That's it!" he cried, with instant conviction "She looked at that beautiful face and then in the mirror, at her plain features, and she involuntarily cried out for the beauty denied her! Poor woman, to live all her lonely, hungry life, surfeited with wealth yet unable to buy the fairness she craved!"

Not doubting for an instant the truth of his conclusion, Stone checked off that speech and passed on to the next on his list If he could account for them all, he would be sure Lucy Carrington met her death alone, and therefore by her own hand Of course, she did not knowingly poison herself, but if persuaded that the prepared draught was some innocent remedy—oh, well, that was aside the point for the moment.

But, quoting the phrase, "Tomorrow I shall be forever free from this curse of a plain face—tomorrow these jewels may all be yours" even his ingenuity could suggest no meaning but a foreknowledge of approaching death What else could free her from her hated lack of beauty? What but death could transfer her fortune of jewels to another? Of course it might be that marriage with her would give the jewels to Count Charlier, but the two speeches were consecutive, and the implication was all toward the fate that was even then almost upon her

The remark about $10,000 was unimportant, as she had recently willed that sum to five different people, and the reference to a change in her will that should cut out Pauline might have been merely a burst of temper. At any rate, Stone ascribed little importance to it then. He felt that he had learned enough to assume positively that Miss Carrington was not talking to a human being when Anita Frayne heard her voice Then, he conjectured, as the maid was free of all suspicion on the poisoning matter, and as the two girls had left the room at a little after 12, the weight of evidence was in favor of the poison being self administered, no matter for what reason or intent. Granting this, there must be some trace of the container of the aconite, before it was placed in the glass. This must be found If not, it proved its removal by someone, either before or after the poisoning, actually occurred

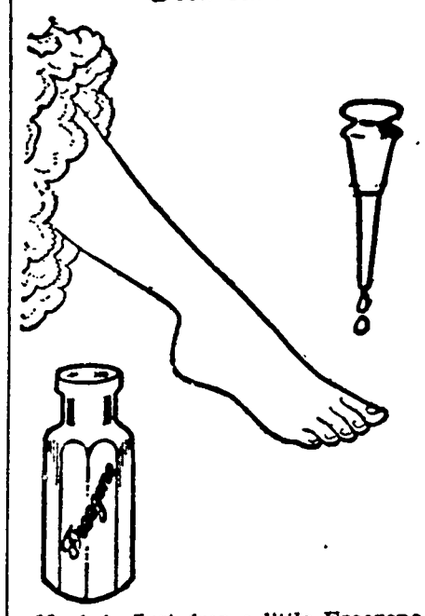
Eagerly, almost feverishly, Stone searched. Exhaustive search had long ago been made, but again he went over all the possible places The ornate waste basket beneath the dressing table still held its store of dainty rubbish This had been ordered to remain undestroyed Stone knew the contents by heart, but in hope of an overlooked clue, he again turned the contents out on a towel. Some clippings of ribbon, a discarded satin flower, two or three used "powder leaves," a couple of hairpins and a torn letter were the principal items of the familiar lot. Nothing that gave the least enlightenment

(Continued next week)

The body of Napoleon is soon to be removed to England from Invalides.

LIFT OFF CORNS!

Doesn't hurt at all and costs only a few cents



Magic! Just drop a little Freezone on that touchy corn, instantly it stops aching, then you lift the corn off with the fingers. Truly! No humbug!

Try Freezone! Your druggist sells a tiny bottle for a few cents, sufficient to rid your feet of every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and calluses, without one particle of pain, soreness or irritation. Freezone is the discovery of a noted Cincinnati genius.

His Day of Reckoning.

When Bill Jones, buck private, returns to find his sergeant delivering the ice; the lieutenant collecting the bills for the coal dealer; his captain trying to sell him a new car, and his major running for state senator—take it from us boy his time for revenge has arrived.—Judge.

Important to Mothers

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, that famous old remedy for infants and children, and see that it

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

In Use for Over 30 Years.

Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria

Probable Parasite.

"We don't want to tangle ourselves up in European politics. European politics are as distasteful to us as European ways."

The speaker was Jerome S. McWade, the Duluth millionaire.

"These European ways!" he went on "A young count called on a wealthy friend of mine back in prewar days, screwed his eyeglass in his eye, and said languidly:

"'Are you—aw—are you going to settle—aw—anything on your daughter?'

"My wealthy friend gave a loud, harsh laugh and said:

"'Well, count if she marries you I guess my daughter is going to settle something on me'"

Want Old Fort Preserved.

There is a movement afoot for the preservation of Fort Wilkins at Copper Harbor, almost on the tip of the Keweenaw peninsula, which juts out into Lake Superior, toward the Canadian shore, 50 miles. Fort Wilkins, established in the forties by the federal government, was one of the northernmost of the United States army posts. It is located on Lake Fanny Hooy, a stone's throw from the shore of Lake Superior. There remain several of the old barracks and officers' quarters, and remnants of the old stockade of pointed cedar poles can be seen. The Keweenaw Historical society is back of the movement to preserve the fort.

Pop.

"Pop goes the weasel."

"Got the field all to himself now. No more corks."

GAVE UP

Had Lost Twenty-Five Pounds From Kidney Trouble. Doan's Restored His Health.

J. B. Ragless, carpenter, 210 W 60th St., Chicago, Ill., says "My back gave out completely and I had to quit work. I could hardly endure the pain in my back and nights I tossed and turned unable to sleep. Often in the morning my back was as stiff as a board, so that I couldn't stoop to dress myself. When I did manage to bend over, everything before me turned black. My head seemed to be whirling and sometimes I was so dizzy I had to grasp something to keep from falling. The kidney secretions were irregular in passage, getting me up at night and they burned cruelly. I lost my appetite, was weak and [illegible] and went down twenty-five pounds in weight. After I had given up hope, I was persuaded to use Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured me. Soon after, I passed an examination for life insurance and I'm glad to say my cure has lasted."

Mr Ragless

Sworn to before me,

GEO W DEMPSTER

Notary Public

Get Doan's at Any Store, 60c a Box

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

FOSTER-MILBURN CO., BUFFALO, N. Y.

Allen's Foot-Ease For the Feet

Sprinkle one or two Allen's Foot-Ease powders in the Foot Bath and soak and rub the feet. It takes the sting out of Corns and Bunions and smarting, aching feet. Then for lasting comfort, shake Allen's Foot-Ease into your shoes It takes the friction from the shoe, rests the feet and makes walking a delight. Always use it for dancing parties and to break in new shoes. All dealers sell it.

Cuticura Soap is Easy Shaving for Sensitive Skins

The New Up-to-date Cuticura Method

State and County Agents make money selling Best Steering Device for Ford cars. Why not you? Auto Steer Co., Rockford, Ill.

RATS DENIZENS OF DESERT

There Are Species That Have Their Abodes Far From the Habitations of Mankind

We are accustomed to think of rats as companions of men; and so they are, two species of them, the brown and the black. Also there is the mouse, which is a small kind of rat

But there are other species which do not seek human companionship—tree-dwelling rats and desert rats, says an exchange. The kangaroo rat of our Western deserts gets its name from its habit of standing erect and hopping about on its hind legs

The "pack rat" has a bad reputation as a thief. Campers have to be constantly on their guard against its depredations, inasmuch as it will carry off all sorts of small articles and hide them in its nest, which is a structure of twigs and leaves two or three feet high. If a spoon is missing the chances are that a pack rat has eloped with it.

The jumping mouse is a familiar rodent in the American deserts Its name describes its method of locomotion, and it feeds on the seeds of desert plants.

Biggest of all rats is the "jerboa," which is native to western Asia. It is as large as a small cat and nocturnal in habit. With very small front legs, it is built much like a kangaroo, and gets about by tremendous leaps.

Means Family Comfort

when the boiling pot of Postum sings its song of health and satisfaction on the kitchen stove.

THE ORIGINAL

POSTUM CEREAL

led the way to comfort for many a family of coffee drinkers, for with the coming of Postum, away went the headaches, nervousness, sleeplessness and irritability that so often follow the the use of coffee.

You can still buy that original Postum from your grocer—an invigorating drink of rare, delicious flavor—a beverage that is really part of the meal, not merely something to drink.

"There's a Reason"

Two sizes, usually sold at 15c and 25c.

DON'T BUY ASPIRIN IN A "PILL" BOX

Ask for "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" in a Bayer package—marked with "Bayer Cross."

You must say "Bayer." Never ask for merely Aspirin tablets. The name "Bayer" means you are getting the genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin," proven safe by millions of people. Don't buy Aspirin tablets in a pill box. Insist on getting the Bayer package with the safety "Bayer Cross" on both package and on tablets. No other way!

Beware of counterfeits! Only recently a Brooklyn manufacturer was sent to the penitentiary for flooding the country with talcum powder tablets, which he claimed to be Aspirin.

In the Bayer package are proper directions and the dose for Headache, Toothache, Earache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, Grippe, Influenza, Neuralgic pain generally.

"Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" (American made and owned) are sold in vest pocket boxes of 12 tablets which cost only a few cents, also in bottles of 24 and bottles of 100, also capsules. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.

In the Good Old Days.

"A special train passed through Hickville t'other day carryin' a lot of Eastern bankers to a convention," remarked Squire Witherbee.

"Well?"

"It ain't like it used to be. I can recollect when my little son, Napoleon Witherbee, could pick up at least a quarter's worth of champagne bottles every time one of them bankers' trains hesitated at Hickville."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

"Cold in the Head"

In an acute attack of Nasal Catarrh. Persons who are subject to frequent "colds in the head" will find that the use of HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE will build up the System, cleanse the Blood and render them less liable to colds. Repeated attacks of Acute Catarrh may lead to Chronic Catarrh.

HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is taken internally and acts through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System.

All Druggists 75c. Testimonials free.

If for any case of Catarrh that HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE will not cure.

F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

Some men prefer the joys they are after here to the prospective joys of the hereafter.

Keep clean inside as well as outside by taking a gentle laxative at least once a week, such as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Adv.

Millionaires are always capital fellows.

Its in the Atmosphere

The seventh g[rade] just completed [a] teenth century h[istory] were having a re[view] asked the teacher colonists do in re[gard] of Confederation?"

There was co[nsternation] and of course th[e] anxious to call o[n] knew. Back at [the] a hand was wav[ing] right. Nina von [Blumer]

And a very thin [little] "Why, I think they [just]
GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER

has been a household [word] the civilized world for [more] a century for [the] troubles torpid liver [and] depressed feeling [and] such disorders. It is a most valuable remedy for indigestion or dyspepsia and liver trouble, headache, coming up of food, palpitation of heart, nervousness, sour stomach, etc. A few doses of August Flower will relieve you. Stimulative. Ask your druggist. Sold in all civilized countries. Adv.

A man always [wants] on the straight and [narrow] when it comes to shoveling [snow]

Western Canada's "Horn of Plenty" Offers You Health & Wealth

Western Canada for years has helped to feed the world—the same responsibility of production still rests upon her. While high prices for Grain, Cattle and Sheep are sure to remain, price of land is much below its value.

Land capable of yielding 20 to 45 bushels of wheat to the acre can be had on easy terms at from $15 to $30 per acre—good grazing land at much less.

Many farms paid for from a single year's crop. Raising cattle, sheep and hogs brings equal success. The Government encourages farming and stock raising. Railway and Land Companies offer unusual inducements to Home Seekers. Farms may be stocked by loans at moderate interest. Western Canada offers low taxation, good markets and shipping; free schools, churches and healthful climate.

For particulars as to reduced railway rates, location of land, illustrated literature, etc., apply to Supt. of Immig., Ottawa, Can., or C. A. Cook, Provost 199, Watertown, S. D.; W. V. Bennett, R. 4, Bee Bldg., Omaha, Neb., and A. A. Garrett, 311 Jackson St., St. Paul, Minn.

Canadian Government

Nervousness and Headaches Caused by Acid-Stomach

There is a much closer connection between the stomach and brain than most people imagine. It is because of this close connection that indigestion, belching, sour, gassy stomach and other stomach miseries—all of which are sure signs of acid-stomach—are so often followed by severe attacks of headache, splitting headaches.

Nervousness, sleeplessness, irritability, mental depression, melancholia and many other disorders which affect the brain, can also nearly always be traced to the same source—acid-stomach.

How often you hear people say "I am so nervous I think I'll fly to pieces"; or "It seems I never get a good night's sleep any more, my nerves are all on edge." Little do they dream that acid-stomach is the direct cause of their troubles because very often there are no pains in the stomach at all. So you see you can't always judge an acid-stomach condition by the way your stomach itself feels.

If you are weak, nervous, unfit—if you are not up to your old time form and you lack your accustomed enthusiasm, energy and pep—make this test and see if it isn't acid-stomach that is holding you back—robbing you of your health, strength, and vigor. Get a box of EATONIC—the wonderful modern medicine that so quickly puts an acid stomach to rights. It is in the form of pleasant tasting tablets that you eat like a bit of candy. EATONIC rids the stomach of excess acid. Brings instant relief from indigestion, heartburn sour belching food repeating, bloat and gas and makes the stomach cool, pure, sweet and comfortable.

Dentists warn us against the bad effects of acid mouth, pointing out that the acid eats through the enamel of the teeth, causing them to decay. You can easily imagine then the amount of damage excess acid will cause to the delicate organization of the stomach!

Thousands of people are using EATONIC and the results obtained are so remarkable as to be almost unbelievable. Yet their letters of gratitude, many of which are received daily, prove absolutely that EATONIC does all and even more than we claim. The medical profession, too, recognizes the great value of this wonderful remedy. A learned Michigan doctor wrote recently: "I have had such wonderful success with EATONIC that I want every one to know how quickly it will neutralize the acidity of the stomach (acid-stomach) and the stomach will soon be sweet and normal again, and the sick man well and happy once more."

So be sure to get a big box of EATONIC from your druggist today. If it fails in any way to give you the kind of satisfaction you want, take it back—he will refund your money. He doesn't want one penny of your money unless EATONIC helps you.

EATONIC TODAY

FOR YOUR ACID-STOMACH

To Make Good Losses of War.

From the New York World.

In his estimate of the total cost of the war as $260,000,000,000, including indirect losses, Edgar Crammond, the British financial writer, far exceeds that of the United States war college, which was $193,000,000,000. Either way, the figures are staggering. Up to a short time ago it had never been dreamed that by any conceivable means in the power of man the destruction of the capital wealth of the world could be accomplished on so vast a scale. Even today it is not possible to realize, by any measure that the mind can grasp, the wastage and ruin in the wake of the great war. Never in all human experience has there been anything approaching it.

Only by production in a degree that shall tax the resources of the nations can they hope to replace what has been destroyed. For a long period of years the world under the most favorable conditions, will be kept busy not laying up more wealth but checking further shrinkage and making good what has been wiped out in four and a half years of war. There will be work for everybody in every part of the world in redeeming the terrible losses.

Never was there so great a need of a common understanding and a common purpose in meeting the problems of the future. The work of production is the only work of restoration by which lasting results are assured. But to recreate what has been destroyed since 1914 will take many years of hard and painful labor, from which none can be spared.

Anything that prevents any part of the world, any nation or people, from settling down to the work of production and doing its full share is against the interests of the whole world. To imagine that other nations must thrive and prosper in proportion that Germany is kept in a state of economic destitution and that its recovery from [illegible] indefinitely for the gain of its present enemies is a [illegible] economic doctrine. For their own sake and the good of other peoples the 70,000,000 Germans must labor to the same end as that of the general restoration of the world. They must work not only in order to live but to help in making good the immense losses caused by them and to pay for some of the damage they have done. They are needed as part of the world machinery of production, and without them that machinery will be crippled and other nations must suffer. [illegible] would be stupid to deny the necessity and the duty of engaging in the task of reconstruction, the hope of its joyousness, unless it is prepared to sink back into [illegible] and despair of its ability to renew its strength by the [illegible] of peaceful industry.

The Big Chances Not Gone.

By Nowell Dwight Hillis.

Long ago wise [illegible] never [illegible] politics, religion and conversation [illegible] expert on some one subject [illegible] open his jewel box of memory, and [illegible] were in the stateroom coming from [illegible] New York [illegible] one brought in a message, and during the [illegible] referring to one of the great financiers [illegible] fellow." A little later the youth exclaimed [illegible] "The big chances are taken now!" He had discovered, and those chances have gone [illegible] and that chance has gone, that [illegible] have been developed, therefore those [illegible] now to start a store because a young [illegible] compete with the department stores. [illegible] has no chance whatever—that was [illegible] against our times and country.

[illegible] was the head of one of the greatest [illegible] manufacturer insisted that the chances [illegible] years ago a poor boy of 20, he left his [illegible] a cotton spinner. He began at the [illegible] even chance. He had the ability, he saved [illegible] he showed ignorant men how to get [illegible] plan that could offer him a [illegible] factory, later, manager of a group [illegible] To show what was the outlook [illegible] Boston Monday morning, [illegible] Saturday night, 500 miles [illegible] was won each week in that [illegible]

You [illegible] I answer that I began with $9 or $10 [illegible] Ford. [illegible] our group of factries today, you would [illegible] start with, [illegible] But that is not the point. Suppose we [illegible] Any day some young man [illegible] that will save the labor of hundreds of people [illegible] per cent or redeem us out of [illegible] have the largest number of opportunities [illegible] opportunity for advancement [illegible] funds now in his group of factories [illegible] how to work today. There [illegible] becomes a mere incident.

He was right. [illegible] the door every morning but men [illegible] business man knows that this great [illegible] death is removing great [illegible] each year hundreds [illegible] open and the youth who wins and conserves [illegible] 99 per cent perspiration, gets [illegible] and [illegible] It is a time of unequaled [illegible]

Fruits of World Suspicion.

From the Milwaukee Journal.

The reason why central Europe is becoming so easy a prey to bolshevism is not the delay of the peace conference, but the general and widespread suspicion that the outcome of the peace deliberations is not going to be in accordance with the ideals generated by the war.

The present German government is threatening to reject the treaty of peace. A Germany delivered over to the bolshevists will, it may be stated with certainty, reject the treaty. And if that happens, what is there to do?

The waging of a new war upon bolshevism embracing Russia and central Europe is unthinkable. There is nothing clearer, and it is a pity that the allies did not find it out long ago, than that fighing bolshevism with arms is the best possible way to spread it.

The only way to escape the present disturbing situation is for the peace conference, without forgetting for a moment the justice and necessity of restitution and reparation, to bring forth a treaty which shall be so obviously just, so obviously free from national selfishness and imperialistic designs, that its very promulgation will mark a new epoch in the history of the world. Of such a treaty the plan for a league of nations should be an absolute essential.

Those on this side of the ocean who are clamoring for an emasculated and meaningless league plan seem not to know that they are handling explosives. The unrest in Europe may or may not be due in some measure to the belief that America will not stand behind the ideals of President Wilson, but it is certain that the failure of the league plan would cause revolt in several countries.

Americans cannot consider the question of the peace and the League of Nations with reference to themselves alone. They must consider it with reference to an increasingly alarming and chaotic world situation.

Said Taft to Wilson.

From the New York Post.

"Am I on your right side, Mr. President?" asked Mr. Taft. "I hadn't noticed which side you were on, but I am certain you are on the right side," was the reply. And so they walked arm in arm on the stage. The two have had something in common ever since, during the campaign of 1912, Mr. Wilson, while opposing Mr. Taft politically, paid a compliment to his personal qualities and so won the gratitude of all who like amenities mixed with disputation. But Mr. Taft has done more than return the compliment. As joint chairman of the war labor board his fair attitude has done much, not only to preserve industrial peace during the war, but to enhance the reputation of the present administration with labor. His recent services to the League of Nations might have been shirked by smaller men, on the ground that they do not wish to add to the president's prestige. Mr. Taft, however, exhibits a disinterested regard for principles which honest men will admire.

Japan has 15,072 ships at sea.

WRIGLEY'S
The Flavor Lasts!

Always the best buy for the price

5¢

The greatest five-cents worth of beneficial refreshment possible to get.

Sealed Tight—Kept Right

The Flavor Lasts

Chicago Dye Works
823 4th STREET, SIOUX CITY
Fancy French Dry Cleaners and Dyers. Hats Cleaned & Reblocked. Dye Work given special attention.

KODAKS Films and Photo Supplies
Finishing for Amateurs
Enlarging
Prices on application
ZIMMERMAN BROS., EASTMAN KODAK CO
608 Pierce St., Sioux City, Iowa

"Olson" SPORTING GOODS
Everything for the Sportsman and Athlete
Ask for Catalogue.
406 Pearl Street, SIOUX CITY, IOWA

Ship Your HIDES, WOOL and FURS TO Belles & Rogers, 1st & Iowa Sts., Sioux City, Ia
Highest price at all times.

SIOUX CITY PTG. CO., NO. 17--1919.

JAP ADVERTISERS NOT SLOW

Experts of the Occident Might Even Borrow a Few Ideas From Their Oriental Colleagues.

An advertising man who has returned recently from the orient says the Japanese merchants and manufacturers who have occasion to make use of printer's ink are not disposed to limit themselves to dull, prosaic statements concerning the excellence of their wares. Among the entertaining bits that the traveler noticed in his study of Japanese advertising are these:

"Goods dispatched expeditiously as a cannon ball."

"Parcels done up with such loving as a wife bestows upon her husband."

"The print of our books is clear as crystal; the matter charming as a singing girl."

"Customers are treated as politely as by rival steamship companies."

"Our silks and satins are as smooth as a lady's cheek and colored like the rainbow."

It ought to be possible to get advertisements read in Japan without scattering them around next to "pure reading matter."—Dayton News.

Uncertain.

"I know a fellow who is very successful in handling the grip."

"Is he a doctor or a bellhop?"

Our character is our will; for what we will we are.—Archbishop Manning.

MARRY IN LITTLE CAPITAL

Natives in the Belgian Congo Apparently Are Willing to Take Most Desperate Chances.

When an African boy in Congo Belge reaches the age of eight or and has saved what in American money would be about two dollars, which is enough to buy a piece of cloth for himself and his wife he proceeds to get married. The courtship period lasts only while the prospective bridegroom gives presents to the bride's parents. Then if the presents are considered large enough the wedding day is set.

In Kapanga in the Methodist Episcopal mission the ceremony takes place. The bride walks with an umbrella over her head to protect her from the sun, and is preceded by a bridesmaid who carries the garment the bride wore before marriage. Other bridesmaids follow all walking single file.

After the ceremony the bridal procession goes to the bridegroom's house. The bride never walks with her husband, but follows him. A wedding breakfast is served, usually consisting of goat meat and corn mush or gruel made from some kind of a root.

Shaving at Home.

"Why do you start the talking machine when you shave?"

"Makes it seem just like a real barber shop."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

All Food—No Waste

If you want an appetizing ready-to-eat cereal that you can serve with no fuss and with fullest satisfaction, try—

Grape-Nuts

Plasterers Masons and Cement Workers

Manufacturers of

Concrete Blocks and Brick

[illegible] We are in a position to give Excellent Service on same Give us a try-out, you'll never regret.

Anderson & Stiehl

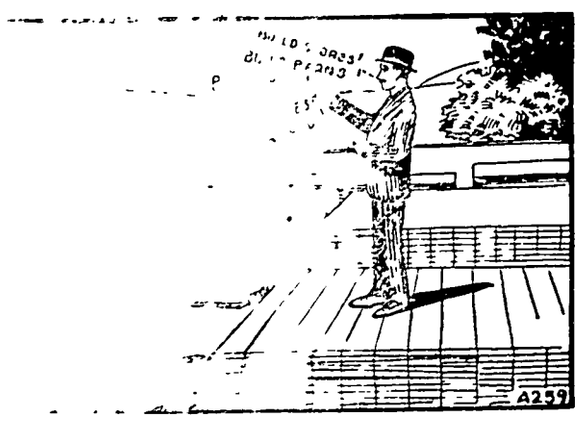
[illegible] Klemme, Iowa

Sell Your Grain To

Walter F. Lau

And receive the highest price and correct weight. Will buy [illegible] day in the week Also handle [illegible] COAL Give me a trial and I will [illegible] the RESULTS

Office Ph[illegible] No. 46 Residence Phone No. 52



[illegible] RESTRICTION LIFTED

[illegible] Board has lifted [illegible] on farm [illegible], cost not ex- [illegible] This order went into [illegible] 12th Farmers, you [illegible] on that new barn, [illegible] move to town can [illegible] house

NORTHERN LUMBER CO.

W. L. PALMER, Manager

The Silo to Buy!

Build with AMERICAN TILE

Save money

YOU can build your New Home, Garage, Barn, Hog House, Poultry House, Silo, Granary or other buildings of American Tile for Less Money than it would cost to build of wood and you will have permanent improvements, that require no painting or other expense of upkeep. The double hollow walls of American Tile buildings are fire-proof and damp-proof—warmer in Winter and cooler in Summer—more comfortable and healthful.

More Money Made With a Silo

40% of the corn crop is wasted when left in the field A Silo will enable you to save all the crop It will supply you with Summer pasture the year around.

Beef cattle fed ensilage make bigger gains and milk cows produce more. Many Silo owners say their silos more than earned their cost the first year.

AMERICAN FLINT TILE SILOS

Are built with curved hollow "Flint Tile" Blocks—steel reinforced between every tier. Special construction The American way is stronger. Absolutely guaranteed to stand any windstorm—CYCLONES AND TORNADOES INCLUDED. Last for generations. Keep ensilage better. Cost less than cement or wood. Thousands in use.

Fill Your Silo With a Climax Cutter

Guaranteed to cut more ensilage and better ensilage with less power than any other cutter FREE BOOK Write today for free illustrated book of Silos, Building Tile, Elevators, Ensilage Cutters, Manure Spreaders and Auto Trailers, or get one from our representative, whose name is given below

W. W. Coates Company

SCHEE BUILDING, DES MOINES, IA.

Sioux City Omaha Denver St. Louis Kansas City Oklahoma City

Elmer Ludeke

Agent Klemme, Iowa

ALL SET FOR BIG LOAN DRIVE

Five States in Seventh District Ready to Put Victory Liberty Loan Over.

WORKERS ON THEIR TOES

Confident Americans Will Carry Through the Campaign for Funds in a Way of Which the Nation Will Be Proud.

The preliminary publicity campaign for the Victory Liberty loan has resulted in great activity throughout the five states in the seventh federal reserve district, and in every county of these states the war loan organization workers have been busy day and night with the preparation to make a success of the coming loan. With the formal opening of the loan drive only a short time ahead, efforts are being redoubled, and the apathy of a few weeks ago has been dispelled by the aggressive campaigning methods adopted.

In each division of the district the state speakers' bureaus have arranged state-wide tours for speakers of state and national reputation. Large and enthusiastic meetings have been held daily and nightly for some time past and every day before the launching of the drive on April 21 will be filled with activity and aggressive work. The heads of the state departments have made out schedules for leading speakers, and from the meetings already held there appears to be no lack of enthusiasm, contrary to the expectations of some of the state leaders.

In addition to the whirlwind oratorical campaign schedule in all of the states, tours of the war exhibition trains, tanks and band and drill squads are now being made. The war exhibition trains will travel through every county in each state in the interest of the war loan organization, and the people will have an opportunity of viewing several carloads of war material, including tanks, cannon, airplanes, all kinds of ammunition, and many trophies captured from the Germans by the American expeditionary forces. These trains will be accompanied by a detail of returned soldiers. At most of the places at which these trains will stop special Victory Liberty loan meetings have been arranged by the local committees, and in most instances speakers of wide repute will make addresses.

A feature of the work through the district has been special county meetings of the war loan organization workers. In some instances the workers of several counties have held joint meetings. At all of them the ways and means of making the campaign a rousing success have been discussed, and wherever possible, the state director of sales, or some other representative of the state or district organization, has been present to give the local workers the benefit of his wider experience.

Illinois reports indicate the workers are on their toes in readiness for the real campaign to start, as they are confident they will repeat their achievements of the previous popular loan campaigns. The state will be covered by the war exhibition trains, by leading speakers and a military or naval band.

A lively and enthusiastic campaign has been under way in Michigan for some time. State officials have been on the job under the leadership of State Director of Sales Frederick R. Fenton. Every county has been thoroughly organized, and reports are optimistic. County meetings have been largely attended, and at the public meetings held so far there has been no lack of enthusiasm. Every county in the state will be visited by the new United States army tanks. Great interest is being displayed in these instruments of modern warfare.

In conjunction with the speaking campaign, Iowa towns and cities will be visited by a war exhibition train similar to those touring other states, and there will be a separate tour of a band and drill squad from the Great Lakes Naval Training station. As in other states, the county meetings have been well attended by the local workers, and public meetings have shown no lessening of enthusiasm as compared to previous loans. Notable speakers are touring the state

In Indiana the new United States battle tanks are touring the state, going overland from town to town. They have created a veritable sensation along the country highways. The state will also have a war exhibit train, as well as nationally known speakers. A number of enthusiastic meetings have been held to date. Wisconsin leaders report everything in shape for a rousing subscription drive. War exhibit trains, with tanks and bands, are enlivening the campaign and are stirring up much enthusiasm. The state and county organizations are complete, and everything is in readiness for the drive.

——HELP "FINISH THE JOB."——

The American fighters now in Europe saved the life of our nation, and the nation—the people of the United States—would be basely ungrateful if it abated one iota in support of them now that the danger is over. Our sacred duty to them will not have been performed until every one of the boys now "over there" has been brought home.

TURN "BUSY BERTHAS" INTO VICTORY MEDALS

Workers of the Victory Liberty Loan Will Be Decorated for Helping Uncle Sam in the Big Victory Drive.

The "busy Berthas" that spat their hell at Verdun are silent. Their fate has been decreed. They are to become medals of honor conferred by the treasury department on volunteers in the Victory Liberty loan army.

The mighty Krupp masterpieces are being melted up to make Victory Liberty loan medals. On one side of the medal will be a reproduction of the Front View of Medal.

Treasury building, and on the reverse side will be certification of the worker's participation in the loan drive. Space is left for the name of the recipient, to be engraved on the medal. The medal will be about the size of a half-dollar.

Purchasers of Victory loan securities will not receive these medals, as the bonds are intrinsically worth all the buyer pays. However, those who volunteer to sell the Victory issue to their neighbors and associates will be awarded one of these medals. The only restriction is that the medal will go only to those who in advance of the drive are authorized to perform the work of distributing the Victory Liberty loan among the people.

Reverse Side of Medal.

If you want one of those medals, your Distinguished Service Cross as it were, for service in Uncle Sam's financial army, it behooves you to hustle over and see the chairman of your Victory Liberty loan campaign and tell him you are on the job.

Some of the medals have just reached the Seventh federal reserve district. A large quantity of them will be available for distribution before the campaign begins.

——HELP "FINISH THE JOB."——

EUROPE TO SEND GREAT MEN HERE TO HELP

Many Prominent Military Leaders and Statesmen of Allied Countries Will Come Over to Speak for Victory Loan.

Fresh interest is contributed to the coming Victory Liberty loan campaign by the announcement that many eminent military leaders and statesmen will come here from Europe to speak for the loan.

It is reported that the great interest and support evinced by the alien population in previous loan drives is responsible for the decision resulting in the speakers being brought here.

Felix J Streyckmans, federal reserve director for the Liberty loan foreign language division in the Seventh district on his return to the district headquarters in Chicago, after conferences in Washington issued the following statement

"Many prominent Europeans will visit this country during the coming loan drive and bring the message of victory to their Americanized countrymen. I regret that I cannot announce names at this time, but they will come through Washington after acceptances have been received. The invitations are being sent through the state department, working in conjunction with the diplomatic representatives.

"We want these foreign men of affairs to visit us not only as an expression of thanks to our own foreign-born for their support during the war, but so that they get first-hand information from their own countrymen as to the changes that have been occasioned in their native lands by the world war."

While Mr Streyckmans was noncommital regarding the identity of expected visitors it was learned from an authentic source that some of them have achieved world-wide recognition in affairs of state, while others have leaped into prominence by their spectacular participation in the great war.

——HELP "FINISH THE JOB."——

Our boys fought hardest in the last few hours of the war and won the great battle for humanity. They did not quit us in the final test of their bravery, and we cannot quit them now in the supreme test of American patriotism—the patriotism of peace—the Victory Liberty loan.

NEW MANAGEMENT

The Hotel Klemme has been opened up under new management. We are here to give the best satisfaction and service to all. We invite you to give us a trial.

Our Rates are Reasonable

Oscar Franzen, Prop.

The Comforts

and even Luxuries of Life are easy of attainment Youth in its Vigor,

But what about

Old Age?

What are you doing to provide Comfort for that period your life when your earning power grows less? A Bank Account is Comfort Insurance.

State Savings Bank

WHERE YOU GET THE SERVICE YOU LIKE AND LIKE THE SERVICE YOU GET

KLEMME, IA

NEW ROCK ISLAND TIME

North
821, Mixed	1:35 p. m.
1069, Passenger	3:03 p. m.
435, Passenger	8:44 a. m.
South
436, Passenger	6:17 p. m.
1068, Passenger	11:25 a. m.
820, Freight	12:15 p. m.

FROM COAST TO COAST

Maj. Albert D. Smith, in command of the squadron of four army airplanes which arrived at Hazelhurst field, Mineola, L. I., after a transcontinental flight from San Diego, Cal. The purpose of the flight was to map out an aerial mail route. The planes flew 4,200 miles, making 21 stops en route. The actual flying time was 53 hours, an average of 80 miles per hour.

E. P. HANSON

REAL ESTATE AND LIVE [illegible]
AUCTIONEER

GARNER, IOWA. PHO[illegible]
SATISFIED CUSTOM[illegible]
MY BEST REFEREN[illegible]
SATISFACTION GUARAN[illegible]
PHONE OR WRITE FOR [illegible]
MATION AND SALE DAT[illegible]
ONCE

W. F. PAV[illegible]
The Practical Blacksm[illegible]

OXY-ACETYLENE WE[illegible]
Wagon, Buggy and M[illegible]
Repairing
Horse Shoeing and [illegible]
Work a Specialty

Col. B. A. Reem[illegible]
General Auction[illegible]
KLEMME, IOWA
Farm and Stock Sales a S[illegible]
Call, write or phone 508[illegible] me for dates, terms, etc.
...Satisfaction Guaran[illegible]

Geo. ZINN[illegible]
Physician & Surg[illegible]
Phone No. 19. KLEMME
Office in Building E[illegible] of Gruetzmacher Ha[illegible]
ness and Shoe Shop.
Eyes Tested.
Glasses F[illegible]

Western States Lbr. Co.

Home and Farm Building Service--- Free!

By special agreement with one of the largest plan service Corporations of the middle West we are able to offer our cuctomers without cost a plan service

For a

for a home, barn, granary and all kind of farm buildings.

Our service pan gives you unlimited variety of homes and farm building plans.

Our book shows you an actual photograph of each building that you want to build. It shows just how it will look when completed. It makes

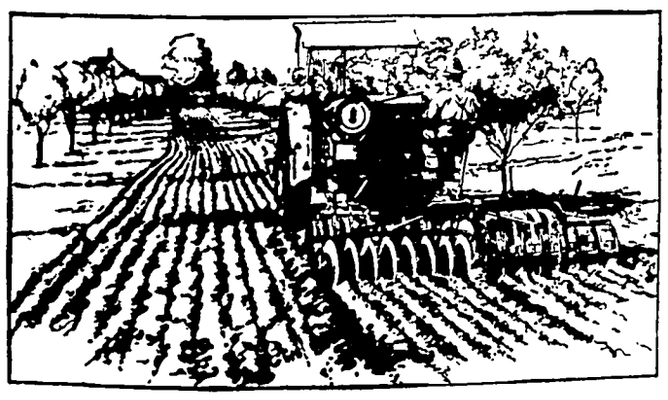
Home Building a Pleasure

Take early advantage of this opportunity.
Call at our yard and see our plan service.

Western States Lumber Company

Olaf Brynteson, Manager

CASE KEROSENE TRACTORS



For Field or Orchard

Case 10-20 Features

- Pulls three 14-inch plows anywhere a team can continuously pull one plow.
- Most powerful tractor in the 5000 pound class. Delivers 14 per cent more drawbar horsepower than rated.
- Use 4-cylinder Case valve-in-head motor—head removable. Burns kerosene successfully and economically Efficient air strainer prevents dust and grit entering cylinders.
- Cut steel heat treated transmission gears, enclosed and running in oil. Hyatt Roller Bearings.
- When plowing, all wheels travel on unplowed ground. Combined tire width 32 inches. Absolutely no side draft.
- Friction clutch pulley with brake, regular equipment. Drives 20x36 Case Thresher with blower, feeder and grain handler; Case No. 15 silo filler and other machines requiring similar power.
- The 10-inch idler can be clutched in with a lever and used as an extra driver

THIS Case 10-20 Kerosene tractor pulls two 8-foot double disc harrows. With it a field can be harrowed in a jiffy.

You'll never go back to the old, slow way, once you use this outfit.

For every farm duty, either draft or pulley, this Case 10-20 is ever ready, day and night. Ready to plow, to disc, to seed, to harvest, to thresh. It can run a 20x36 Case Thresher, or a Case No. 15 Silo Filler with 40-foot blower. You can use it throughout the year.

We'll be glad to show you what this tractor can do, and go over the specifications with you. You'll want no other, once you know this Case 10-20.

W. F. Pavey

GLAD TO PAY COST OF PEACE

Millions of Lives Saved by Vast Military Preparation of Our Government.

FOE KNEW AND QUIT COLD

These Life-Saving Bills Must Be Paid and the Boys Brought Back to the Country They Love.

"The price of peace," of which the Victory loan is but a part, is large, but not nearly so large as it would have been had the war been fought to the annihilation of the German armies as our military leaders believed would be necessary. Had the war lasted as long as these leaders anticipated, hundreds of thousands of American youths and millions more of their allies would have been called upon to pay the supreme sacrifice.

That they were not forced to give their lives is in no small measure due to our government's preparations to crush the enemy completely. The industry as well as the man power of the nation was called into the government service, and a great war machine was created which the German general staff saw meant complete annihilation for their forces if they fought on, so they quit.

There were in France when the armistice was signed, 2,002,175 officers and men wearing the United States uniform. In the states there were more than 1,500,000 more in training or awaiting shipment overseas. This army had 1,500,000 rifles and 429,000,000 rounds of ammunition in France when the armistice was signed. There were 221,000,000 additional rounds on boats en route to France at this time. These figures do not deal in anything but infantry equipment.

Smokeless powder was being delivered at the rate of 4,800,000 pounds a week and high explosives at the rate of 6,900,000 pounds. We had on hand when the war closed, 419 tons of mustard gas, enough to load 419,000 shells; 654 tons of phosgene, 511 tons of chloropicrin, 660 tons of white phosphorous for incendiary bombs, 303 tons of tannic tetrachloride, and 153 tons of titanium tetrachloride. We had enough gas to smother the German army. On the defensive side the government had developed the best gas mask known, and had produced 5,087,600 of them.

We had built 2,010 ten-ton caterpillar tractors and 1,586 15-ton machines for hauling great guns. There were 15,000 more of these under construction when the war ended. They had demonstrated their ability to drag the heaviest mortars, howitzers and rifles over any terrain, no matter how badly cut up or how wet.

Ten thousand Ford "baby" tanks equipped with two Ford engines, would have been on the front line by the time the Victory Liberty loan is to be floated. They would have been supported by thousands of the French "whippet" type tanks and the big 35-ton American tanks driven by Liberty motors.

We had in France and in use at the army at home, 57,607 trucks of two, three and five tons capacity, 11,476 ambulances, 18,375 motorcars and 29,421 motorcycles.

Our merchant marine was growing at the rate of 400,000 tons dead weight per month when the war ended, and we were turning out about 10,000 airplane engines a week, with planes to carry them.

German spies found this out. German spies knew that the U-boat had failed because of the barrage of mines that the British and American navies had strung across the North sea. German spies sent word to the general staff that in spite of their best efforts to check the Americans at the home base, they were outgeneraled. So the German staff learned that the Americans had thrown their unlimited resources into the scales with the allies, and the German staff turned "yellow" and quit.

That mighty preparation of which the above is but a fragmentary tale, is the reason why the Victory Liberty loan is the last of the war loans. Had the war gone on there would have been a fifth, a sixth, a seventh, an eighth loan—loans until the German hordes had been crushed and sent back into the heart of the fatherland. The need for these was eliminated by the mailed fist of our great preparation, which supplemented the gigantic efforts put forth by our allies.

"Let us, then," as the secretary of the treasury has said, "with thanksgiving to God that we were spared any greater price, meet the honorable commitments of our government contracted in behalf of the freedom of the world."

—HELP "FINISH THE JOB."—

For permanent peace and prosperity —support the Victory Liberty loan.

Buy Victory Liberty loan securities to rebuild the world.

Hart Schaffner & Marx Suits.

Mewest Creations in Styles
Prices within your reach

Single and Double Breasted Models

Howard & Foster Shoes

Very best quality. English and Blucher styles in Chocolate Brown and Black.

The Latest Styles in Spring Hats

"Nifty" colors and styles for the nobby dresser.

Arrow Brand Shirts and Collars

See our line of

"Classy" Silk and Silk Fibre Shirts

Our spring line of

Neckwear

is complete. Fancy, Flashing, colors for Spring.
The very Finest Patterns.

Get to know

Gildner Bros. & Johnson

"IOWA'S LARGEST CLOTHERS"

The Home of Hart, Schaffner & Marx Cloths

Fourteen Stores. Garner, Iowa.

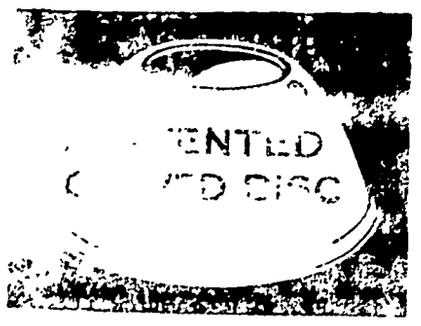
The

IOWA

WITH THE FAMOUS



Outskimmed

the De Laval and all other competing Separators in the Official Skimming Tests made by the Jury of Diary Experts at the World's Fair Exposition.

Numerous pratical skimming tests made on farms and in the Diary Departments of the leading Agricultural Colleges are positive proof that the "IOWA" Cream Separator with the CURVED DISC Bowl, is the World's Closest Skimming Separator.

The "IOWA" is convenient light running and easy to clean.

Worlds Best by Actual Test

BEFORE YOU BUY A SEPARATOR, SEE AND TRY THE "IOWA"

H. Lau & Son

Klemme, Iowa

TOLD OF AIR RAIDS

Huns Get 5,511 Victims in English Towns.

Greatest Number of Killed or Injured Were Women and Children.

London.—In raids on the United Kingdom by the Germans during the war 5,511 persons were killed or injured, of whom 4,750 were civilians. An official summary of the casualties caused by German airships, airplanes and bombardments from the sea shows these casualties among civilians:

Killed, 554 men, 411 women and 295 children.

Injured, 1,508 men, 1,210 women and 772 children.

Three hundred and ten soldiers and sailors were killed and 551 were injured.

There were 51 raids by airships causing the death of 498 civilians and the injury of 1,236 and the killing of 58 soldiers and sailors and the injuring of 121.

In 59 airplane raids 619 civilians were killed and 1,650 were injured. In these raids 238 soldiers and sailors were killed and 400 injured.

In 12 bombardments from the sea 143 civilians were killed and 604 wounded, while 14 soldiers and sailors were killed and 30 injured.

The greatest losses inflicted by Zeppelins were in raids on Norfolk, Suffolk and the home counties of London on October 13, 1915, when 54 civilians and 17 soldiers and sailors were killed, and in West Suffolk and the midland counties on January 31, 1916, when 70 civilians were killed and 112 injured. The raid on Lincolnshire, Essex and Suffolk on March 31 of the same year caused the death of 17 civilians and 31 soldiers and sailors.

The most serious airplane raid was that of Margate, Essex and London on June 13, 1917, when 158 civilians and 4 sailors and soldiers were killed.

The only bombardment from the sea in which there were heavy casualties was that on Hartlepool, Scarborough and Whitby on December 16, 1914, when 127 civilians and 10 soldiers and sailors were killed and 567 civilians and 25 soldiers and sailors were injured.

Guarding His Car.

A Hutchinson man who fixed up his car so that the horn blew when a thief tried to start off with the car is so well pleased with the invention, according to the society reporter of the Hutchinson Gazette, that he is now working to perfect a device which will hit the thief over the head with a monkey wrench.—Manhattan (Kan.) Mercury.

Determining Day or Night's Length.

The length of the night at any time of the year may be found by multiplying by two the time of the sun's rising. Doubling the time of its setting will give the length of the day.

THE KLEMME TIMES

RAY A. JORGENSON, PUB.

KLEMME, IOWA

Senator Hitchcock, of Nebraska, retiring chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, says: "The Japanese demand that all discriminations against races be discontinued is based more on national pride than on national interest. In all international matters the Japanese do the nations belonging to the league itself Japan is named as one of the five great nations of the world as a permanent member of the executive council. Only when it comes to domestic matters do th enations belonging to the league reserve the right to make discrimination between races. This includes, of course, immigration, and in some states it is covered by laws relating to marriage between certain races as well as the right to acquire real estate. We cannot agree to abandon our right to make these discriminations. They are not international. They are, or we think they are, for the purpose of preserving our race purity and our industrial standards. Japan is free to do the same in her country. Every nation ought to be."

Agents of a leading Japanese iron company are planning to acquire, through private purchase, several extensive iron ore deposits, including the famous Durango iron mountain, and engage in the production of iron and steel, besides manufacturing, mining, agricultural and other machinery which is now imported into that country The Japanese claim they will be able to undersell all competitors. These agents of Japanese interests, it is understood, are also making an investigation of the oil situation with a view to investing, especially on the west coast, says a Mexican dispatch. So far as learned no secret has been made of these intentions, and no special considerations or concessions have been asked or given. The Japanese are on the same footing as other foreigners.

Sir James Ian Macpherson, in his maiden address as chief secrtary for Ireland, said in the house of commons last Thursday: "The political unrest in Ireland is unabated and outrages of the most cruel and unforgivable kind are occurring That is why it is necessary to have military forces there to maintain order Ireland is one of the most prosperous countries in the world, but she must be freed from the shackles of terrorism. The menace of Sinn Feinism, with its cruel and wanton oppression, is an enemy of constitutionalism and progress There can be no self determination on constitutional lines under Sinn Fein rule."

The national Russian government—the leading regime organized in opposition to the Lenine-Trotzky government, has issued an appeal for a square and equal deal at the peace conference Coming at this time, the appeal of this faction of Russians is regarded as indicating alarm lest the voice of the former Russian allies be lost in the noise and confusion growing out of the bolshevist situation It is further believed to show a very great fear that the Lenine-Trotzky regime might soon be dealt with on a friendly basis by the allies.

The clauses drafted by the international labor commission for inclusion in the peace settlement, provide that no child shall be employed in industry before the age of 14 years, for the right of every worker to a wage adequate to maintain a reasonable standard of life, equal pay to women and men for work of equal value in quantity and quality a weekly rest, equivalent to Sunday, for all workers, and a standard eight-hour day, or 48-hour week.

The Spanish government has declared Raisuli, the Moorish brigand, a rebel and at war with Spain. Raisuli, best known in this country as the abductor of the American Ion Perdicaris in 1904, has been deporting himself for several years pretty much as a dictator in the Spanish zone in Morocco He has been receiving a subsidy from the Spanish government for the maintenance of order During the war he was accused of being also in German pay

Clarence H. Mackay, president of the Postal Telegraph and Cable Company, says the 20 per cent increase in telegraph rates ordered by Postmaster General Burleson means a loss of $16,000,000 a year to telegraph users. He declares his company would restore the old rates at once if Mr Burleson would relinquish control of the Postal lines. The total telegraph business of the country is approximately $50,000,000 a year

Dr R. H. Goddard, working under the patronage of the war department has just invented a new war rocket that has a range of 70 miles straight p into the air a range of 70 miles straight up into the air The rocket, which is reported to be a terrible engine of war was developed in a special laboratory in Worcester Mass The weapon feature of it is in its head, where a chamber is fitted to contain either high explosives or gas

The Louisville Courier Journal announces that Henry Watterson the newspaper's editor since 1868, and editor emeritus since last August had requested his retirement. The newspaper said the editor's action was partly due to his variance with the Courier Journal officials on the proposed League of Nations, he being against the proposal while the officials favor the issue

The American rest camp in Winchester England through which 700,000 men have passed since the United States entered the war, was closed this week The departing troops were given an enthusiastic sendoff on entraining for Liverpool During their march they were halted at the Guild Hall, where the mayor and city officials tendered them an official welcome.

For the first time in its history Harvard has just appointed a woman on its faculty She is Dr Alice Hamilton, and will be assistant professor of industrial medicine. She is a native of New York.

Three hundred mothers of Pittsburgh whose sons went overseas in July 1917, with the 15th engineers, have cabled General Pershing asking the immediate return of that regiment

The central trades and labor union, of St. Louis, has held a meeting to declare that prohibition smacks of the "autocratic powers of the despotic Turk and the late Russian czar."

The Ukranian forces are ready to cease hostilities against the Poles, if the allies will set a line of demarkation in accordance with the present battle front, they declare.

An Indianapolis traction company official has received the following letter, with 20 cents, from a woman of that city "Inclosed find 20 cents, which I felt that I perhaps owed you for using transfers after a short stopover My intention is to be honest and not let anything come between me and my chance of heaven."

Fifty-one million dollars' worth of new building planned for this year in Chicago is being held up because of high price of building materials, was the information given members of the legislative commission investigating the high prices of building material by four of the leading architects in Chicago.

POLICE IN DUEL WITH ROBBER BAND

One Burglar Dead and One Burglar and Two Other Persons Wounded In Des Moines Battle.

Des Moines, Ia., April 21.—A burglar is dead and three persons are wounded seriously as a result of a pistol duel between police and burglars early today.

Among the injured is a police sergeant, the owner of the store in which the burglars were surprised and a second burglar. A third thief was arrested.

FINDS MAN'S HEAD AT SIDE OF THE TRACK

Marshalltown, Ia., April 21.—Seeing what he thought to be a dead chicken lying beside the Northwestern tracks east of Legrand, a section gang laborer while searching for a lost pocketbook, found the supposed chicken to be the head of a man. Particles of the body were found scattered along the right of way.

The body is believed to be that of Lloyd H. "Frog" Colton, aged 30, a restaurant waiter of this city, who came here recently from Des Moines. Colton is known to have left here during the night, but presumably for Omaha. The body was taken to Tama, where Coroner Whalen is investigating Colton's mother lives at St Charles, Madison county

PLYMOUTH COUNTY PIONEER IS DEAD

Hinton IA, April 21 Mrs. Jane Thompson, a pioneer resident of Plymouth county, died on Wednesday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jos. Richards. She has been in failing health for a long time and for the four weeks preceding her death had been confined to her bed

Mrs Thompson was a native of England and was born on March 3, 1833 When a girl of 10 years she came to this country with her parents, who settled soon after their arrival in America, at Dubuque

She was united in marriage with George Thompson in 1852 at Dubuque They came to Plymouth county in 1880 and settled on a farm in Lincoln township Mr Thompson died in 1895

MISSIONARY WORKERS TO MEET AT MARSHALLTOWN

Marshalltown, Ia., April 21 - Women of three states—Iowa Kansas and Nebraska—will gather in this city May 5, 6 and 7 to attend the annual convention of the west central district of the Women's American Baptist Foreign Missionary Society It is expected that between 50 and 100 delegates will be in attendance Last year's convention was held at Topeka, Kan Mrs R. W Ramsay, of Atchison Kan., is president of the organization, Mrs Kate Kelsey, Omaha, secretary, Miss Nellie E. Lucas, Des Moines, field secretary, and Mrs J B Long, Council Bluffs, treasurer

NEW ADMINISTRATION IS MORE LIBERAL

Cherokee Ia, April 21. -The new administration in this city is evidently going to be a liberal one as Mayor Mulvaney has already permitted pool halls to remain open a half hour later each evening, and to be open on Sundays for the sale of cigars, but not to operate tables. The pool rooms were open for the first time last Sunday

FIRST INFLUENZA DEATH TO OCCUR AT CLEGHORN

Cleghorn Ia, April 21 - The first death from the influenza in Cleghorn or its immediate vicinity, occurred last week when Pearl Ehlers daughter of Mr and Mrs. D H Ehlers succumbed to influenza and pneumonia She was sick just one week She was about 14 years of age

CHEROKEE COUNTY TO GO OVER TOP QUICKLY

Cherokee Ia., April 21 Cherokee county's full quota of $1,024,725 of the Victory loan will be subscribed before the close of business next Monday That is the confident prediction of County Chairman W P McCulla, who last night completed the big task of mailing letters announcing individual quotas to all residents of the county outside the city of Cherokee Notices to residents of the city will be placed in the mails today Individual quotas throughout the county are figured on the basis of 1¾ per cent of personal assets

AWARDS CONTRACT FOR GRADING ROADWAY

Cherokee, Ia., April 21 -The board of supervisors of Cherokee county, at an adjourned session awarded the contract for bringing 11.7 miles of road to permanent grade. This amount includes part of the Cherokee-Larrabee road, and the Cherokee-Quimby and south road.

CHARGE FARMER WITH MYSTERIOUS SHOOTING

Dubuque Ia. April 21 -George Briggs has been arrested as the mysterious person who shot and seriously wounded James Waite, a retired farmer, residing at Edgewood, early on the morning of April 9 Briggs is in jail at Elkader, Ia. Waite's testimony at the recent trial of Briggs who was charged with setting fire to buildings is believed to have prompted the shooting Briggs is now under indictment on another similar charge Waite still is in a serious condition

CONVICTED OF LESSER DEGREE ON SECOND TRIAL

Dubuque Ia. April 21 - Nicholas Christ, charged with murder in the second degree, in connection with the death of George Parols in September, 1918, was found guilty of manslaughter by a jury which returned a verdict after deliberating for three hours. The defense asked until May 1 to file a motion for a new trial Christ was convicted at his first trial of second degree murder

DRAINAGE BOARD IS NOT RESTRAINED

Judge Jepson at Onawa Gives Decision In Monona-Harrison Controversy—To Open Old Ditch.

Onawa, Ia., April 19—Judge George Jepson, of Sioux City, yesterday refused to restrain the Monona-Harrison drainage district trustees from going ahead with the cleaning up of the big ditch. An injunction was sought by landowners near the end of the ditch who declared that the trustees had no authority to make the improvements The case was tried last week.

Judge Jepson ruled that the proposed improvements were within the scope of the authority granted to the trustees. However, Judge Jepson declared that the trustees were violating the law when they divided up the care of the district among them. The trustees must act as a body and not as individuals, he advised.

The decisions means that the contract already awarded by the trustees to Ed Quackenbush for cutoff No 1 and to Mulgrew & Sons, of Dubuque for the main ditch will go through. The contract will be completed by fall. The improvement will cost $134,000

When the big ditch was built 10 years ago it carried the water from the Oliver lakes to the Washout bridge in Harrison county, and then to the Missouri river. As years went by the dikes wore down and the center of the ditch filled up with willow patches and refuse. This impeded the flow at flood time. With this cleaned out, it will be able to carry its full load

The cost will be taxed up to the district, which includes all the land east of the Northwestern tracks.

J. A. Gray, chairman of the trustees, announces that a meeting will be held Monday at the court house.

LATTER DAY SAINTS' HEAD IS NOT TO RESIGN

Lamoni, Ia., April 19.—President Frederick M. Smith of the Latter Day Saints does not find it necessary to resign, as he intimated he was prepared to do if the differences between him and the quorum of 12 could not be adjusted to his satisfaction

Agreement was reached today it was unanimous.

The points of difference had to do with the power assumed by the president to assign the 12 to different missionary districts to do work under his direction instead of on their motion and according to their own dictates

The conference is considering a plan of removing its headquarters to Independence, Mo., having outgrown its facilities here. It is possible a big plant will be erected there.

TO SUPPLY OLD TRADE HE GIVES UP BIG PROFIT

Fort Dodge, Ia., April 19 - W R Beers, manager of the Upper River Ice Company, will be the summer hero of Fort Dodge, if he is not already viewed in that light. Mr Beers has just refused an offer from an outside concern to take over all the ice he has harvested for next summer's sale in Fort Dodge. Although the acceptance of this offer would mean a nice little profit of $10,000 more than he can make in the retail business here Mr Beers has passed it up An ice famine would threaten Fort Dodge had he accepted it.

NEGRO WOMAN DIDN'T LIKE REFORMATORY AT ALL

Perry, Ia., April 19 Emma Johnson Perry colored woman who was sent to the reformatory for women at Rockwell City did not like the humdrum life of the institution She stood it for a couple of weeks and decided to return to Perry

Donning overalls and jumper of the male description she left without saying goodby and started for Perry She was picked up in Jefferson on a charge of masquerading in male attire and sent back to Rockwell City

Mrs Johnson was sent up for 10 years for forgery

BURGLARS MISS BIG ROLL OF MONEY

Luana Ia, April 19 - Would-be burglars broke into P Terry's store they neglected to try the safe It was unlocked and in it was a $700 roll of currency

They hung around long enough to outfit themselves with new clothing indiscreetly leaving some of their old and took $27 out of the cash register But they might have had $700 more turning the knob on the safe door

The thieves scattered their old clothing all over town A garment here and there furnished the sheriff of Clayton county with a fair running trail

COLLEGE BAND AND CADETS ON TOUR FOR THE LOAN

Dubuque, Ia. April 19 A special Victory loan train, carrying the Dubuque college cadet band of 50 pieces two squads of returned veterans and a corps of speakers, including Captain Dan Newquist, of the Rainbow div's on three times wounded at Chateau-Thierry, will leave Dubuque Monday morning for a three days' tour of northeastern Iowa. The train will be in charge of David J Murphy

CLINTON—Miss Margaret Conroy 52 years old, killed herself by cutting her throat with a razor She has been severely ill and is thought to have been unbalanced The deed was committed by her while in bed at the home of her sister Her throat was terribly mangled

MRS. J. P. DOLLIVER TO LIVE AT IOWA CITY

Iowa City, Ia., April 19 -Mrs. Jane than P Dolliver, of Fort Dodge, widow of the senator, will reside in Iowa City

Her daughter Miss Margaret Dolliver, is a sophomore in the university, and her son, 14 years old, will enter high school.

Mrs Dolliver will continue to reside in Iowa City until her children have finished college.

SAW IOWA FLYER KILLED BY HUNS

First American to Return Who Saw Battle, Gives Graphic Description of Unequal Contest.

Waterloo, Ia., April 19.—All the first line soldiers in the sector near Remoncourt, France, May 3, last, were thrilled by a spectacular air battle 7,500 feet up toward the sky

The first American soldier to return who saw the tragedy that ended in the death of Lieut. Charles W. Chapman, jr., is Lieut. W. B. George, jr., of Billings, Mont. He did not know until a few days ago, when he happened to meet and converse with Joseph Chapman, of Minneapolis, Minn., uncle of the dead aviator, that the unfortunate boy was from Waterloo

"We saw a lone American flyer come toward the front line early that morning," said Lieutenant George. "We saw that he was flying in the direction of five enemy planes. I tried to get orders to have the young American recalled, but it was too late. Opposed by a superior force the daring young aviator gave battle. We saw a German plane wriggle, twist and then fall in a nose dive Later the American plane dropped 1 000 feet and then took fire. It disappeared a short distance back of the enemy's lines It was Chapman's"

NO EXTRA MONEY FOR STATE AGENTS

Bill Providing Increase Has Slim Chance—Motor Vehicle Bill Is Agreed To.

Des Moines, Ia., April 17.—Assemblymen today were practically agreed there was little chance for the Dean state agent bill

The bill which increases Attorney General Havner's annual appropriation for agents from $25,000 to $75,000 is now in conference committee, where, according to senators, it is likely to die a natural death

AGREE ON MOTOR BILL.

Des Moines, Ia., April 17 - The motor vehicle bill agreed upon by the conference committee of the house and senate bases the license on both the weight and the cost of a car

No license will be under $10 One per cent of the original price of a car, plus 40 cents for each 100 pounds, will constitute the license After five years the license of a car is cut in half

Truck licenses range from $15 for a one-ton machine to $165 per annum for a six-ton truck. For each ton over six a charge of $50 is made

The above licenses are for pneumatic tires solid tires being slightly higher Trucks used only in the cities on paved streets are taxed two-thirds of the above prices

Licenses will be paid at the office of the county treasurer who will issue the number plates.

IOWA SENATE CONFIRMS NUMEROUS APPOINTMENTS

Des Moines Ia. April 19 The senate has confirmed the following appointments

Board of Education P K Holbrook Onawa, D D Murphy Elkader Charles R Brenton Dallas Center

Board of Control A M McCoy Woodward

Industrial Commissioner -- A B Funk Des Moines

Document Editor—Ora Williams Des Moines

State Fire Marshal J A Tracy Sioux City

CODE REVISION MEN ARE UNDER FIRE

Des Moines Ia April 19 Senator Thompson of Des Moines county charged members of the code revision committee with doing their work of revising the Iowa code in their private offices instead of the state house

The charge was made during the debate on a resolution which asked extension of time for the commission to complete its work The resolution was amended to cut the limit from 90 days to 30 and passed without opposition

RAILROAD DEPOT AT ALTON IS BURNED

Alton Ia. April 19 The Northwestern depot here burned early Wednesday morning shortly after a train had passed It is not known how the fire originated Everything in the building was destroyed

MOVE MUCH WHEAT FROM IOWA ELEVATORS

Council Bluffs Ia. April 17.—One and one half million bushels of wheat held in the elevators here for months subject to the order of the federal government is being rushed out and shipped to the east

TINGLEY—George Eighme, 17 years old, was found dead in his room with a rifle bullet through his heart It is unknown whether he ended his life through disappointment in a love affair or met death by accident Members of the family said he was preparing to go to the home of an uncle to hunt squirrels.

COUNCIL BLUFFS—Looked at from a distance a string of flat cars which passed through Council Bluffs appeared to be loaded with baled hay Instead they carried camouflaged calssons. Two hundred cars of this material manufactured for the artillery branch of the army, are being transported through here to Fort Russell, where it will be stored by the war department

AMES—Prof F Eric Millen, head of the bee department of the Iowa experiment station here, has severed his connection with the college and goes to Ontario, Can COUNCIL BLUFFS—The city of Council Bluffs is going to have a $16,500 incinerator to burn its garbage and refuse.

Training Little Child

Suggestions by mothers who have been kindergartners
The United States Bureau of Education, Washington D C
The National Kindergarten Association, New York,

Enter Into the Play Spirit of Your Boys and Gi
Them That Sometimes Work Can Be Made I

THE play-instinct is inborn in all children the world over; it is nature's own method for developing the senses, the muscles and all bodily growth. Play is even more than this; it is the outlet of expression of the child's inner life. Many faults as well as virtues may be discovered while watching children at play. Perhaps a mother will find that her child is selfish or rude, and it is easy to discover a generous disposition and a good temper in the course of a play-hour.

Games are the expression of the play-spirit and toys are the instruments necessary for the expression of this activity of child-life. As a farmer needs garden tools to do his work, so a child needs toys for his play—or work, which play really is to him. And if toys are not provided ready-made, he will invent them, in order to be able to express his play-spirit.

All play depends upon the physical condition of the child. A normal, healthy child plays all the time, is easily interested in his toys and as he grows older invents games with them. If a child plays but little, cannot easily be interested in his toys, will not play alone and is cross, look first to his physical condition, then begin a course of training, or directed play. Start with a suggestion, "Why not build a high steeple?" or "Make mother a train of cars with your blocks." Often, especially in the case of an only child, if mother can enter into the play-spirit and play hide-and-seek, or march and sing, or even build with the blocks, it is such a treat and often a real help in promoting a readiness to play alone when mother must go back to her work.

Almost every child wants to help mother sweep, dust, make beds, wipe the silver, or run errands. Make play out of the work and yet let the little one feel he is really doing something. With tiny babies too h walk, a mother can make work. Have the high bassinette or carriage in where you are working a busy with toys For inst are working in the kitc baby have a big spoon, tin covers, or anything n but always keep these t kitchen. If he is allo them all the time they s interest and he becomes unhappy.

A sense of newness e toys makes them desirab Children need change an cause their power of co not fully developed Th I use with success with girl Her box of domin of blocks and her bo blocks (composed of sixt keep on a shelf in a sight. I also keep some and toys out of sight Th time comes, as it does so a day, when Little Girl do now, muvver?" I go for a surprise If I blocks, it is always with for making something She now comes to me "a s'prise, muvver" W of the blocks I have h all up, ready to put awa can have another "surp times, days at a time ask for a surprise, and do bring out the domi stance, she is as delight were brand new Her rate in groups. If she put away two, and at week I bring out these away the two she has with. If you follow this toys, grouping them and set put away, you will al little ones interested and

Please pass this article and thus help Uncle Sam mothers of the country

Soldiers on Soldier Jobs

From Overseas Edition of Camp Dodger.

Long haired economists and hairless professors ar their heads and looking distinctly worried these days a going to happen to the discharged soldier. No matter w he has a job waiting for him when he gets out of the fatherly inclined gentlemen seem to feel it their duty him and prepare elaborate pamphlets, crammed with advice.

The soldier isn't worrying about it at all. And, wh There is not a man in the A. E. F. who cannot, if he wish his old occupation, and probably carry on even better t a result of the experience and training he has received The only effect that these employment agencies and advice bureaus have had on the soldier, so far, is to distr tion from his former job and exert an influence to pers new fields. This is the worst thing that could happen time for the returning A E. F. to experiment with new ployment. The welfare of the country demands that it resume the normal channels as soon as possible—the w soldier demands the same.

There is too much of a tendency right now tow unexplored jobs—toward "a change." If every man in tried to change profession and change jobs with some ot his return to the states, the result would be a tremend If a few men, here and there, do the same, the result wil only on a smaller scale. The welfare of the country an vidual will suffer in either case.

Every man in the A. E. F. had some profession befo the service No matter what modifications war may during the last two years, the old positions which have are still waiting to be occupied—for the country is ret pre-war basis just as fast as it can, and that means a de same old economic machinery into which the whole sol once fitted several years ago. Each man who was a co chine owes it to the nation to resume his place there j the order of things will permit.

Probably the strongest tendency evidenced in the that on the part of many men to seek "quick money" some figurative gold mine. A few of these might su great majority would inevitably fail "There is no success."

The great future of the soldier rests, not in some u in a "big idea" for easy money, but in the certain suc before those who will be content with returning to thei war occupations, and taking up the duties of citizensh left off a year or two years ago.

Toleration.

From The Rotarian.

Freedom is not selfish; it cannot be selfish and dom. Freedom means the same rights for the other claims for himself. Essentially, freedom is based up dependence—the right to think for oneself. Soci freedom applied to human relationships—must have ture of toleration in it.

It is reported that there is growing friction betw ican soldiers and the French people in France. It way with the American soldiers in Cuba in 1898, alt the Cubans acclaimed them as liberators and crown flowers. It would be the same way if an army of N were quartered among the people of Louisiana; or an gians were billeted among the Michiganders.

Intolerance is not due to racial or national line is the result of a lack of understanding of the othe understand old friends best, and so consequently we ter with them than with new ones

Toleration means to acknowledge that the other other nation has a right to mental independence himself. Let's go! Allons!

A number of enlisted men at Ellington flying field, led by one carrying a red flag, demanded their immediate release of their commanding officer one day this week The officer assured them the fault lay with the war department in Washington.

A curious comment recently by one of a Pa cerning its American Americans are too dar he said They refuse common sense view there is no law to sup

O AVOID ACHE AND VOUSNESS

Mrs. Lynch From Experience.

R. I.—"I was all run nervous, had headached, my back ached all the time. I was tired and had no ambition for anything. I had taken a number of medicines which did me no good. One day I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for women, so I tried it. My nervousness and backache and soon disappeared. I gained in health, so I can honestly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any woman who is ailing."—Mrs. ADELINE R. [illegible] St., Providence, R. I.

Nervousness are symptom's warnings, which indicate disturbance or an irregularity which often develops into serious ailment.

If this condition should not be allowed without help, but take Mrs. Lynch's experience, and Lydia E. Pinkham's herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co., Lynn, Mass.

Difficulty.

[illegible] ring away from a

[illegible]boy, that was not right; you could find him to [illegible]r."

"He's still where I

EN IN CLASS A1

[illegible]y man is never a back [illegible] can be as vigorous and [illegible]s at twenty. Condition, [illegible] you in the discard. A [illegible] by overwork and careless old age prematurely. [illegible]ctions are impaired and [illegible]ptoms appear. The weak [illegible]y the kidneys. Keep [illegible] in proper working condition will generally find yourself. Take GOLD MEDAL [illegible]Capsules periodically and [illegible] will always be in working [illegible]spirits will be enlivened, [illegible]mple, your mind active, [illegible] capable of hard work. [illegible]until you have been rejected [illegible]to be a first-class man [illegible] your druggist at once. [illegible]x of GOLD MEDAL [illegible]Capsules. They are made [illegible]original, imported Haarlem [illegible]your great-grandfather's capsules each day will [illegible] up and feeling fine. [illegible]If they do not help you, [illegible] ask for the Imported [illegible] Brand. In three sizes, [illegible].—Adv.

[illegible] Is Wanted.

[illegible]et their ruddy cheeks [illegible]mics, others by daily [illegible] ways are satisfac[illegible]ing results but you [illegible] the latter for speed.

[illegible]ous Itching Scalp

[illegible]ly rub spots of dan[illegible] with Cuticura Ointment, [illegible]ming shampoo with [illegible]and hot water. Make [illegible]day toilet preparations [illegible]r skin and soft, white

[illegible]e and well gains re-

Sweep, Wash [illegible]e Long Day!

When you feel worn out, "tired to death" with the household duties—cooking, scrubbing, cleaning, dusting—(it all comes in the day's work in the household)—turn to the right remedy to strengthen [illegible] whose back feels [illegible]l break, who feels [illegible], or black specks [illegible], all are due to [illegible] which should [illegible] to womankind is a [illegible] up of herbs, [illegible] women strong and [illegible]. This is the "Prescription" used by him in active [illegible] and now sold by [illegible] in tablet or liquid [illegible] half century of success [illegible] of the delicate [illegible] of women, [illegible] nervous, or "run-[illegible] life and strength. [illegible] Invalids' Hotel, [illegible] package or write [illegible] medical advice.

[illegible] Attention

[illegible]illfeed Co.

Shippers of [illegible] Grain, Potatoes [illegible] Hay and Straw

[illegible] City, Iowa

Secretary Daniels Sees U. S. Marines Manning Rhine Tugs

By Associated Press.

Coblenz, April 19.—From a parapet of the fortress, Ehrenbreitstein more than 400 feet above the junction of the Moselle and Rhine, Secretary Josephus Daniels of the United States navy had his first glimpse yesterday afternoon of American marines on duty. Patrol boats were darting back and forth among the barges and tugs on the river, the American flag streaming from the stern mast of each little boat.

At the point where the Moselle joins the Rhine stands a heroic statue of Emperor William I, said to be the largest of its kind in Germany. Behind the statue there are great piles of lumber which aroused Secretary Daniels' curiosity as he looked down on the activity of Coblenz, which has been increased two-fold by the American occupation of the city. It was explained to him that the lumber was intended for new buildings which will serve as recreation centers and barracks for the American soldiers of the army of occupation.

MUNICH REDS HARD PRESSED

Battle Desperately to Defend City From Capture By Socialist Forces—State of Siege Again Declared In Berlin.

By United Press.

Berlin, (delayed) April 17.—Desperate fighting continues for possession of Munich, according to dispatches received here.

Several regiments of government troops were reported to have met the socialistic forces outside the city which are making preparations for a grand assault. The communist defenders, while maintaining their artillery fire, are erecting barricades and barbed wire entanglements in the principal streets entering the town. Plundering is said to have gotten beyond control of the communist leaders.

Railroad communications between Berlin and Munich has ceased. Lambery, which is still the seat of the Hoffmann government, also is cut off from Munich. Numerous rumors are current, but there is nothing to indicate clearly which party is in control. The troops apparently have been successful in confining the insurrection to Munich.

The bulk of the Bavarian peasants it is reported, are still loyal to the government of Premier Hoffmann. The peasants' association has issued a declaration asserting that the devastation of the country, the plundering of houses and barns and the murdering of peasants by communist bands have become intolerable.

Munich, it is said is affected only slightly as yet by the action of the peasants in cutting off food supplies.

It is declared that there is enough food in the city to feed the inhabitants for one week, but the communists have seized all the supplies and can live comfortably for a long time if they do not feed the noncommunists.

Gandorffer, a leader of a small section of the peasants, which went over to the communists, has been arrested by the Hoffmann government.

MARTIAL LAW IN BERLIN.

By United Press.

Copenhagen, April 19.—Berlin has been declared in a state of siege as a result of the general strike there dispatches from that city reported today.

Proclamations to that effect were dropped on the city from government airplanes, it was said. The proclamations were signed personally by President Ebert.

Government forces have occupied Brunswick, the Spartacan resistance there suddenly having subsided.

JAPS HURRY BIG FORCE TO KOREA

Two More Divisions Sent to Suppress Revolution—Six Thousand Land at Fusan.

By Associated Press.

San Francisco, April 19.—Two divisions of Japanese troops have been ordered to Korea to suppress revolutionary uprisings, according to a cablegram received here today from Tokio by the Japanese-American, a newspaper. Another cablegram from Fusan, Korea, by way of Tokio, said that 6,000 Japanese troops and 400 gendarmes had landed at that place.

The text of the cablegrams, which were dated yesterday, follows:

"Tokio—The Japanese war department after a conference with the Japanese governor general of Korea today decided to send two more divisions of the Japanese army to Korea as soon as possible."

"Fusan, Korea—Six thousand Japanese soldiers and 400 gendarmes were landed at Fusan, Korea, yesterday."

INDIANA CONSIDERS STATE CEMENT PLANT

By United Press.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 18.—A $1,000,000 state-owned cement plant at the state penal farm to combat what might be called the cement trusts of Indiana was under consideration by Governor Godrich here today. It was said a commission appointed to investigate the feasibility of the plan had reported favorably to the governor.

POWERS READY FOR NEW MARCH INTO GERMANY

Foch Prepares Plans For Invasion to Follow German Refusal of Peace Terms—Starvation Program Also Threatened.

By Associated Press.

Paris, April 19.—Military experts under the direction of General Foch have been engaged with the drafting of a plan to be done if German refusal to sign the treaty of peace on the terms adopted may [illegible] the occupation of the Rhine bridgeheads, the blockade of enemy ports, the maintenance of supplies to Germany.

GERMAN WARNS GERMANY.

[illegible] striking [illegible] Edward Bernstein, [illegible] German [illegible] upon [illegible] terms of peace [illegible] would not ob[illegible] [illegible] William and his [illegible] the [illegible]

The [illegible] of the enormous [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The Jokes on You

if you part with your money for clothing until you are sure you have gotten full value. Value at this store means a lot of things here. It means all those things, not only the price--but it also means right quality—right manufacture—genuine satisfaction all around. All this goes with a purchase at this store.
Our stocks are large—assortments great. You'll enjoy trading here.

Men's Suits $20 to $60
Boys' Suits $7 to $25

PATTON BROS.
Mason City, Iowa
"Where a dollar does it's duty"

Candy Easter Eggs
A Fine Line of them here

Better order your Ice Cream now for the Easter Dinner. We can also supply you with Fresh Fruits, Nuts, Candy and Baked Goods.

"If It's To Eat---We Have It"
CRYSTAL CAFE
Elder & Fuller, Props.

DOCTOR MISSMAN
PHYSICIAN SURGEON
OFFICE--State Savings Bank Building, 'Phone No. 1105
RESIDENCE--North of Park, 'Phone No. 1109
X-Ray Radiographs Electrical Treatments
Eyes Tested Glasses Fitted

Now is the time to make a noise like Spring!

Now is the time to make plans for this year's garden. We have everything you need in that line:-

Garden Spades Forks Hoes
Rakes Plows Garden Seeds
Don't overlook your Lawn or Flowers
Better get some of our Grass Seed and Flower Seeds. Buy a Lawn Mower.

J. W. WATERMAN

The City Dray Line

is prepared to do your hauling carefully and promptly.
Your patronage is respectfully solicited.
Charges Reasonable.

Henry P. Yahnke, Prop.
Coal Hauling Done

Hugo Neff was on the sick list last week.

Ed. G. Ell sold and delivered two more Fordson Tractors Saturday.

Charles Busch was a business caller in Garner Saturday afternoon.

William De Pew spent Easter with his parents at Crystal Lake.

Mrs. Clifford Swartz was a passenger to Garner Saturday afternoon.

Elmer Schmidt spent Sunday with his mother and sisters at Garner.

D. D. Ross, of Garner, was a business caller in Klemme last Friday.

Roy Sinclair came over from Garner Saturday on a business mission.

Mike Haskins, of Garner, was in Klemme on business Tuesday.

A number from here attended the dance at Garner Monday evening.

Emma Wille is reported to be on the sick list this week.

John Henschen drove to Mason City on business Monday.

FOR SALE—13 head of fine yearling Short Horn heifers and steers. Phone 7411, Klemme. 2w.

Holly Lewis is now working for Anderson & Stiehl, the cement workers.

We recommend, sell and guarantee Gould Storage Batteries. Henry Lau & Son. adv.

Mrs. M. O. Hocum and little daughter were visiting in Garner Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. A. Ahrenkiel, of Goodell, visited several days the past week at the Tom Blank home.

Harry Ell returned to Mason City Saturday after a few days visit the past week with his brother Ed.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Ell and Mrs. R. W. Elder autoed to Mason City Monday.

A. L. Strieby and family spent Sunday with Mrs. Strieby's folks at Forest City.

Something doing every minute in "My Uncle From Japan," Saturday night, April 26th.

A dance was enjoyed at the Old Opera House last Wednesday evening after the show.

Hugo Neff is again back at work in the Waterman store after a siege of illness.

C. M. Gram moved into the Gilbert Schaeper house the fore part of the week.

Two Big Nights at the Idle Hour Theatre—April 26 and April 28—"My Uncle From Japan."

Frank Kellogg, of Garner, was in Klemme the fore part of the week reading meters.

Chas. Schoenwetter, of Garner, came Monday noon for a few days' visit with his sons out west of Klemme

Dr. R. W. Schultz, Osteopath of Garner, will be at the Klemme Hotel on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 11:30 a. m. to 2:00 p. m. adv.

Mrs. George Gruetzmacher went to Clarion Monday to attend a county Sunday School convention being held there this week.

Don't forget that Saturday, April 26th, and Monday, April 28th, are the dates for the Boosters' home talent play at the Idle Hour Theatre.

J. B. Mack left for Des Moines on Monday noon, being called there by the serious illness of his mother, who is eighty-eight years old.

Osteopathic adjustments release the blood and nerve supply, NATURE CURES. Osteopathic adjustments are used by the majority of people. adv.

D. B. Anderson and little son were passengers to Garner Saturday afternoon. Mr. Anderson went there on business.

Frank Kluckhohn and family, of Garner, came Saturday evening to help eat Easter Eggs at the George Kluckhohn home.

Henry Lau & Son are running a series of ads on the "Iowa" Cream Separator. These ads are well worth reading and are a money saver for the farmers.

Miss Arwvella Emerson is assisting at the Mrs. John Josten Millinery Shop. We presume she is learning to be a "hat carpenter."

Marlin Croner left last week for a trip out to Idaho and Washington on a business mission and expects to be there for a couple of weeks.

John Abe) Oppal, Wellemeyer's popular grocerman, was on the sick list last week for a few days, but came out Sunday feeling fine.

Some more trees were set out in the park the other day. Klemme has a very beautiful little park and as nice a one as can be found anywhere in this part of the state.

A number of the local nim-rods went a fishin' Tuesday afternoon out in the river south of town. Now listen to them tell how all the biggest ones got away.

Get your seats reserved now at the State Savings Bank for the Boosters' home talent play, "My Uncle from Japan," Saturday night, April 26th, at the Idle Hour theatre.

Miss Emma Slinde, who has been trimming this season at the Mrs. Josten millinery store, returned to her home at Chester, Iowa, on last Thursday.

George Kluckhohn came from Austin, Minn., Saturday evening to enjoy an over Sunday visit with his family here and also to fill up on Easter Eggs.

The Misses Bessie Thompson and Hulda Johnson came Saturday evening for an over Sunday visit at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Johnson.

Oscar Musfelt went to Garner Saturday afternoon for an over Sunday visit with friends. You will notice Oscar's visits are becoming more frequent at that little city, ahem!

Gould Storage Batteries represent the latest advancement in the are of Dependable Storage Battery Construction, exemplified by Gould Built, Gould Designed, Superhard Dreadnaught Plates. adv.

Look here friends—We wish you would return the pump tongs and small thread cutter at once or bring us the money for them. We like to loan you tools but we don't like to give them away. Henry Lau. 2w.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Barr, the Misses Blanche Liljenberg and Lottie Miller, and the Messrs. Billie Busch and Howard Doyle, all autoed to Clarion Sunday.

Walter Schultz and family spent Sunday with Garner relatives.

Miss Mattie Gates and Miss Leafy Wilson returned Monday evening from Armstrong, where they were for an over Sunday visit with the former's sister and J. M. Howdeshell and family. They report a fine visit and like the city up there quite well.

"My Uncle From Japan," the Boosters' home talent play to be produced Saturday, April 26th, at the Idle Hour has not one dull moment as it is running over with the funniest kind of funny fun. Don't miss it. Get your tickets now and be sure of a good seat.

Ben Swalve removed the alfalfa patch from his upper lip the other day and his many friends did not recognize him for some time. Ben must be trying to make a hit with the ladies and beat some of the young men out for he looks like a young man of twenty summers now. Now watch Ben grow that mustache again just to get even with us.

Did you notice that fellow strutting up and down the street last week? Proud? Why he would make a peacock look like a sparrow, but there's a reason: He had that old suit cleaned and that hat re-blocked at the New Process Laundry and they look better than new. McCullough Barber Shop, Agents. adv.

Mr. Wm. Keraus and family, of Austin, Minn., came last Thursday for a visit with Klemme relatives and friends. Mr. Keraus has disposed of his interests in the farm at Austin to Fred Kluchohn. "Bill" says he does not like farming and that he is going back to town life again. He has secured a position at the E. S. Viken hardware store at Garner and we presume he will move there in the near future.

Optimistic Thought.

We must calculate not on the weather, nor on fortune, but upon God and ourselves.

We have it! What

Everything

Which is found in only the best and most up to-date Meat Markets.

You will always find a complete line of Choice Meats, Hams, Bacon, Fancy Meats and Canned Goods

Try Our Oleomargarine---It's Fine

J. P. Larsen & Son

You---And The Victory Loan.

The war being over it is difficult for many people to see the necessity of lending any more money to the government as they will be called on to do when the coming Victory Loan is floated.

At this time there are nearly two million American soldiers in Europe. To keep these men in food, clothing and provided with shelter, calls for millions in money which the Government cannot supply without your help.

Our individual obligations to our Government are as great today as when the guns were firing in France. It will be a mighty poor sample of an American who chooses this time to put his or her patroism aside.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Klemme Io

Subscribe Today at $1

All Kinds of Hardware

HARDWARE AND GROCERIES
Stoves and Furnaces
Paints, Oils, Feed, Flour, Cream Separators, Buggies
Wagons, Gasoline Engines.
All Kinds of Farm Machinery

GREUTZMACHER BRO

KLEMME DRAY LINE

LLOYD LAU, PROPRIETOR

A share of your patronage is solicited.
All work attended to promptly and carefully
Coal Hauling Done Promptly
Telephone No. 14

M. O. HOCUM
The Grain, Coal and Live Stock Man.
We will buy Hogs and Grain six days in the week at Highest Market Price.
Successor to W. R. Bloom

DR. L. R. PARS
DENTIS
Office 1st Floor State Sa
Phone No. 48.
Klemme Io

KLEMME TIMES

Third Year Number 34 Klemme, Iowa, Thursday, May 1, 1919 $1.50 In Advance. $2.00 Outside of County

...less you expect to buy a new car every year or so ...will want to look carefully into the life of the car you ...now.

...Overland is made right; the engine and parts will ...and run satisfactorily for years.

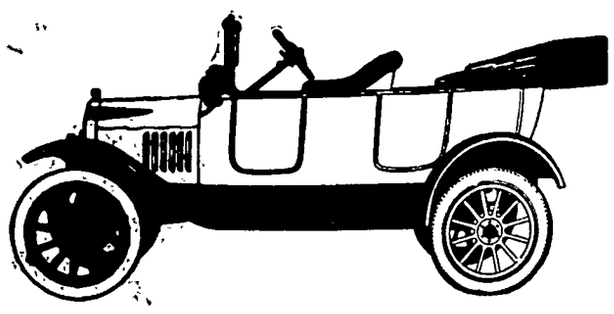
This years model will look right ten years from now. You will never have cause to be ashmed of it. What more do you want in a car.

Miles Garage
PHONE 30
YOU HAVE TRIED THE REST - NOW TRY THE BEST
KLEMME, IA

DR. R. M. THOMAS
Veterinarian
All Calls Answered Promptly
...e, Iowa Office and Residence Phone

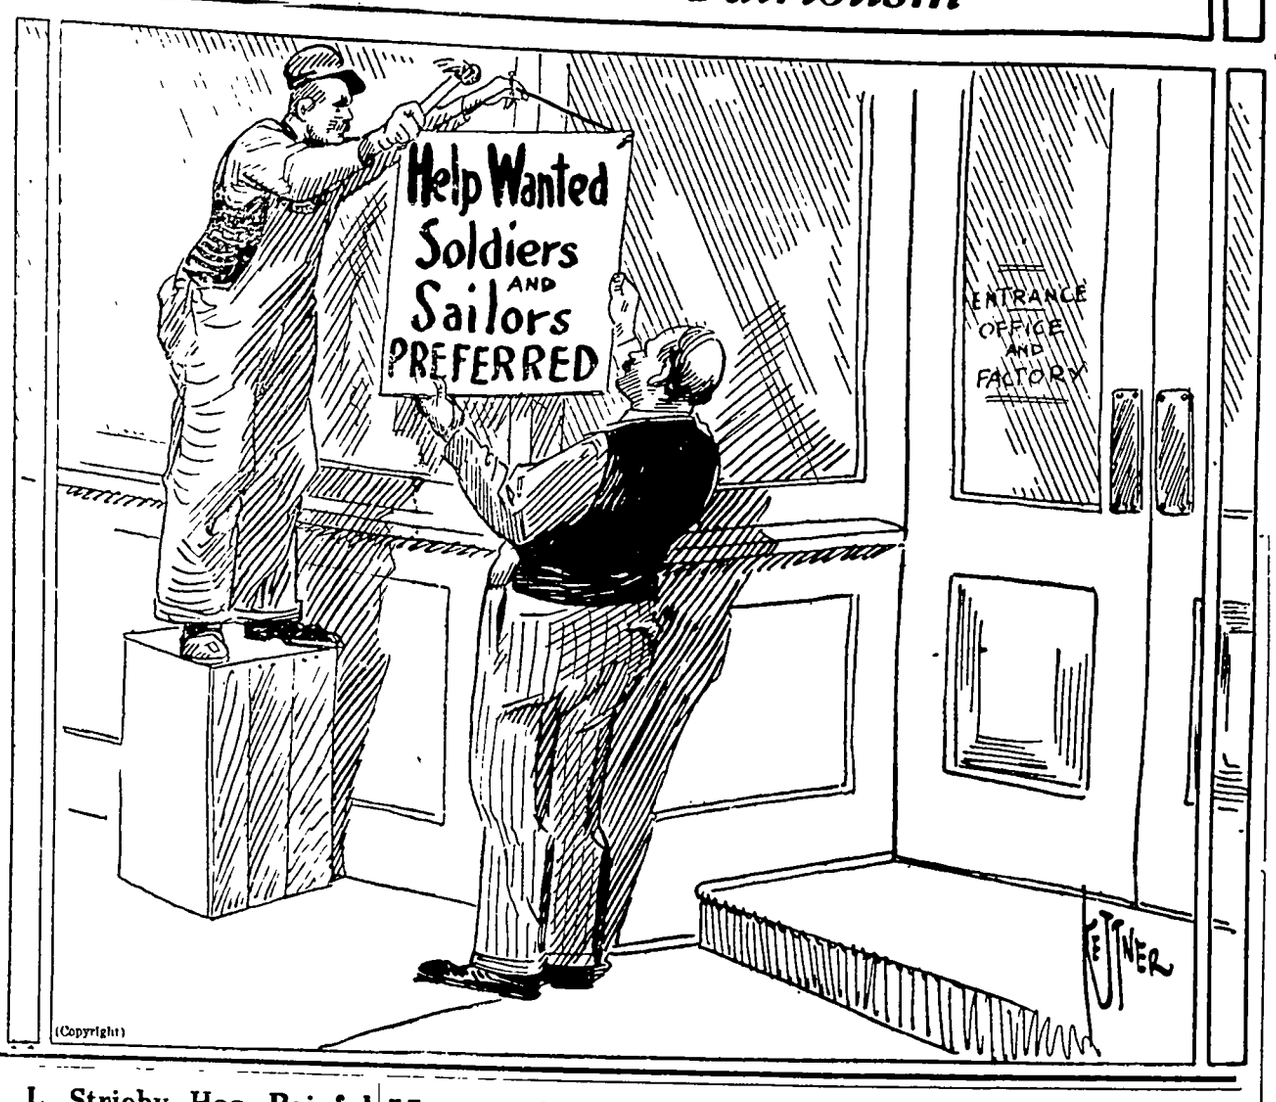
Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR

It's no longer necessary to go into the details describing ...e practical merits of the Ford car---everybody knows a-...out "The Universal Car." How it goes and comes day ...er day and year after year at an operating expense so ...all that its wonderful. This advertisement is to urge ...ospactive buyers to place orders without delay. By a ...d car when you can get one. We'll take good care of ...ur order---get your Ford to you as soon as possible---...give you the best "after-service" when required.



E. G. ELL
Authorized Dealer

After-the-War Patriotism



A. L. Strieby Has Painful Accident

Late yesterday afternoon Louis Strieby met with a serious accident when he was running a meat grinder at the City Meat Market. In some way his hand slipped into the machine and caught his fingers in the cutters before he could pull away. The doctor found it necessary to amputate the two middle fingers of the right hand at the first joint.

Optimistic Thought.

All brave men love, for he only is brave who has affection to fight for.

Home Talent Play Was a Success

Last Saturday night and Monday night the home talent play, "My Uncle from Japan," was given at the Idle Hour to a large crowd.

Mr Ralph Deane, of Cedar Rapids, directed the play and took one of the leading parts. Considering the short length of time that was given to rehearsing, either Klemme has some real talented players or else Mr. Deane has a knack of getting them trained out in a short time. Everybody who attended the play were highly pleased and also surprised that such a good show could be put on by home people and in so short a time.

Mr. Deane played the part of Capt. [illegible] Racket, and unlike most professionals did not overdo his part. Ye[illegible] played the character of "Obadiah from Japan" Sam [illegible] did exceptionally well in play[illegible] the part of Timothy Tollman the [illegible]pecked hubby; his wife, a flighty, [illegible]ack-tempered old lady was played by Miss Adna Church who fitted the part perfectly The heroine, Mrs. Racket, was very well played by Mrs. Sam Harvey. Howard Doyle played the part of an old gentleman, the father of Mrs. Racket, in a most humorous manner. Miss Minnie Blank was the pretty maid and did her part well. Chas. Gibbs, as a French waiter from the Cafe Glorianna, sure looked his part. Then we must not forget the Little Tootsy Wootsy" on whose account Uncle Obadiah came fourteen thousand miles to see—W. F. Pavey made the cutest looking baby we ever saw and we say that Wallace should get a job with a show troup as he is some actor." Music for the play was given by Miss Viola Freie.

G P. McCullough gave very clever rube monologue Monday night which was loudly applauded.

Taken all in all the play was a great success from start to finish, was full of laughs and not one idle moment in it. All the players did exceptionally well and those who attended were very well pleased.

FIRST M. E. CHURCH

A. H. Meyer, Pastor

Preaching Service Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Sunday School at the close of preaching service 12 o'clock.

Midweek prayer meeting on Tuesday evening at 8:00 o'clock.

Church choir meets for practice every Thursday evening.

All are cordially invited to all of our services.

The ? Is--

Monday afternoon, in some very mysterious manner, the electric light post in front of M. O. Hocum's place was tipped over and the globe broken. Now the question arising before the American people is: "Who was the fellow with Non-skid tires on his car who backed into the post and broke it loose?" Our city dads and the police and detective force were all on the scene of the crime and they gathered thes facts, which show that they are mighty good sleuths:—First, that the electric light post on said location had been struck by some heavy obstacle and had been jarred or knocked from it's position. Second, that said post lay in a quite restful position on Hocum's lawn, torn loose from it's foundation, wires broken and glass globe smashed. Third, that the post was evidently struck by a car being backed into it. (This point was plain as day for there [illegible] with non-skid [illegible] known. Fifth, that we are in the air as to [illegible] it was. Sixth, that we give up the job and have the post fixed Seventh, that the city pay the bill Eighth, that we will now adjourn, that we lay aside theu n-answerable question until the next meeting. (All voted aye.)

IT WAS A REAL GOOD DANCE

Last Friday night the first big dance of the season was given at the Idle Hour Theatre. Mr. W. F. Pavey who is now the manager, secured the Novelty Dance Orchestra from Iowa Falls to furnish the music. The dance was well advertised and there was a good big crowd from Goodell, Garner and Ventura. Over fifty numbers were sold. Everybody had a good time and all planned to attend again for they all say they can have a fine time in Klemme. The dance floor at the Idle Hour is perhaps the best floor in this part of the state.

Mr. Pavey informed us that he would have another big dance a week from this Friday evening when he will have another big feature orchestra to furnish the music, he has booked the Harmony Concert Dance Orchestra for that date. Everybody plan to attend the dance for the management assures you a good time and the best music that can be procured.

ENGLISH METHODIST CHURCH

Services next Sunday as follows:

Morning worship at 10:30. Subject "Centenary."

Sunday School at 11:30.

In the evening we hope to have song service and a special music program with a short sermon. The service will be at 8:15. Everyone is invited.

A. W. Barnlund, Minister.

EVERY CITIZEN AN AMERICAN

Women's Foreign Language Division of Victory Liberty Loan Committee Has Active Organization.

"Every citizen an American. Every American a government stockholder. Bolshevik doctrines will not flourish in the minds and hearts of those who have a proprietary interest in their government."

That is the threefold object of the newly organized woman's foreign-language division of the Victory Liberty loan, according to Mrs. Edward Bemis, director for the Seventh federal reserve district.

In reply to a question, Mrs. Bemis said: "Our foreign-born women have often had reason in the past to think we cared little for them, but now since their sons and brothers and husbands have fought side by side with ours the differences have fallen away. We are all women of one country, working to one end—a united America."

Mrs. Bemis believes there need be no lack of co-operation between the native and foreign-born inhabitants of America. She is inclined to place a large part of the responsibility for a lack of united interest at the door of the countless native Americans who stand in need of re-Americanizing. War work has shown that much of the renewed patriotism on the part of descendants of the older generations of Americans may well be learned from our patriotic foreign born.

The Council of Foreign-Language Women has been presenting "Gifts of the Nations" to the people of Chicago since the Third Liberty loan campaign. After a program attended by fifteen nationalities, the majority being Americans, one foreign-born woman said. "This is the first time since I came to America that I have been asked to do anything with the American people." Said another woman: "I always could speak enough English to get things at the store, but never before did American ladies want to talk with me. Now I shall get books and learn to speak English like the rest of them."

"Many do not realize that the heritages of many of our foreign nationalities may well be emulated by our far newer civilization," said Mrs. Bemis. "There is an innate courtesy in some of these older countries, and they have a patriotism engendered by years of seeking the liberty found in America.

"We want to know our foreign-language neighbors for what they can teach us as much as for the service that we ourselves can render them.

"Every member of each community has an interest in supporting our government's financial program. We must bring the boys home; we must establish business for our returned soldiers and we must help this country and Europe to stand free and for peace. We women are as interested in this as men can possibly be."

The five states of the Seventh district Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Iowa, will have a foreign language chairman for women. Each county where there are resident foreign groups will have as county chairman a woman who understands the local needs of the various communities. Group meetings are planned for each nationality wherever it exists in considerable numbers.

"Out of this work will come—if our hearts are in it—that united interest in the service of our country which we call Americanization."

——HELP "FINISH THE JOB."——

Give to Enjoy Blessings of Peace.

We are enjoying the blessings of victory and peace. Think of what, had we been defeated, we would be willing now to give for victory, and make your subscription to the Victory Liberty Loan accordingly.

We may speak of the Victory Liberty loan as a Peace loan, a Victory loan, or a Thanksgiving loan, but in a sense it is a Memorial loan to our brave boys who died on the field of battle.

The Germans, not the Yanks, were the quitters. Help finish the job with[illegible]

Pleasure in Making Others Happy.

If those of us who are spending ourselves in the pursuit of empty pleasures stop for a moment and, resolving to look up our ill or less fortunate friends, would go to see them once in a while, or would send some brief message of cheer, we would experience a joy delightfully new and satisfying to ourselves. We would find it far more worth while to bring a smile to lips that have been set with pain or sorrow than to seek pleasures that may amuse us idly for a moment and then, because we are satiated with "good times," interest us no longer.—Exchange.

For Painful Burns.

A paste of common baking soda and water spread on a burn will stop the pain and inflammation almost immediately

THE KLEMME TIMES

RAY A. JORGENSON, PUB.

KLEMME, IOWA

Acknowledgment of Germany's wrongdoing and contrition by her scholars and savants for "31 kinds of crime" committed by the Germans during the war must be indicated before German scholarship and German science can be rehabilitated in the eyes of university men of France, England and America, says Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, in reply to a protest made by German profesors against "outrages' action" of the French high command in ordering German educators to leave the university of Strasburg within 24 hours. The letter was sent to the rector of the University of Upsala, Sweden, who had transmitted an open letter of protest from the faculty of the universities of Leipzig and Heidelberg, as requested by the Germans. Dr. Butler cites "31 atrocious offenses" committed by German armies and German agents during the war, indisputably proved by international commissions, such as enslavement of women, putting to death of hostages, starvation of civilians, pillage, wanton devastation, etc.

If the Apostle Paul could come to Saloniki today, writes a correspondent, he probably would preach to the Thessalonians a gospel of cleanliness as well as of piety. The allied military authorities soon learned that hygiene and sanitary methods are woefully primitive there. During the allied occupation thousands of British, French, Italian, and Serbian soldiers succumbed to diseases arising from lack of drainage and sanitation. Being on the principal thoroughfare from Asia into Europe, Saloniki has been the means of spreading Asiatic cholera to Mediterranean towns and has itself suffered great losses of life through this scourge.

Although the American peace delegation has repeatedly stated that William C. Bullitt and Lincoln Steffens, as personal representatives of the president, were not empowered to negotiate with the bolsheviats when they recently visited Russia, the fact that they were accompanied by Captain W. W. Pettit of the United States army lent such official coloring to the party that both the French and English newspapers are inclined to regard the delegation as official and credit the red-tictualling plan to its report, says a cable.

Juarez, the Mexican metropolis of border towns, has become the oasis in the great American prohibition desert. On Calle Commercio, the number of saloons has increased since the opreation of the Texas 10-mile military zone law until every other door opens into a barroom. The prosperous Mexican saloon keepers say that a return to normal passport regulation will make Juarez the mecca of sporting men from the United States.

As your political correspondent in Paris pointed out long ago, and as a perusal of the Paris messages to the American press renders almost painfully obvious, not the least of the handicaps under which the conference is laboring is its apparent inability to profit from the propinquity of probably more journalists than have ever been gathered in one place, says the London Times.

There is already brisk bidding for windows to view the triumphant entry of the French troops into Paris through the famous Arc de Triomphe. Single window seats in some of the palatial edifices on the Avenue des Champs Elysees command $200 each and windows for $1,000 are going fast. One or two big balconies are said to have been let to syndicates for $10,000.

At Butte, Mont., the ministerial objection to a Sunday exhibition of the French, British, and American aces brought from leaders of Butte miners' unions the announcement that if the flying circus was not permitted to stage its show there on Sunday they would refuse to subscribe to the loan. A similar situation obtains in Walla Walla, Wash.

Dundee, Scotland, has been driven to the extremity of putting up portable wood houses (made in Kalamazoo, Mich.) in its parks for its workers. Each house is divided into five separate houses of two rooms, the miniature house being 10 feet by 20 feet. Each worker is charged $1.25 a week rent, and all are rented.

In the first detachment of the Rainbow division to return from France—the 117th trench mortar battery—which fought at Chateau-Thierry and in the St Mihiel and Argonne sectors virtually every member has been either gassed or wounded, their officers said. The battery was recruited in Baltimore.

Next June's graduates will have to do without sheepskins. The parchment supply has been exhausted and linen diplomas will be substituted. There isn't a sheet of unused parchment in the United States, it is said and England possesses the secret of making it.

A writer in the British Journal of Astrology prophesies that there will be another world war in 1926. He says the next war will begin with Turkey and the forces of Vienna and Berlin will penetrate the whole of Russia and descend on Syria and Palestine.

Ledimin Chinnit, self styled representative of the Russian soviet government who was prevented by authorities from landing at Rio Janiero and Buenos Aires is being held under strict guard aboard the Dutch steamer Celsia which will take him back to Europe.

London margarine manufacturers using vegetable oil and operating under the government war formula are still making about 5,000 tons of margarine every week. At present market prices margarine is retailed at 18 cents a pound, butter at 60 cents.

Numerous wealthy Teutonic merchants and colonists of western Siberia, who effaced themselves during the war, have been emboldened by the waning popularity of the allies and have begun energetic propaganda, mainly anti-British, says an Omsk cable.

A corporation to dispose of light animals to European dealers in horse meat has been formed by South Dakota horse dealers. For many years light horses have been of little value to South Dakota ranchers.

Marshal Foch, in an interview with the Paris correspondent of the Daily Mail, predicts that 50 years hence the Germans, if given the opportunity, will make another assault on France and Great Britain.

A rumor that Pancho Villa, Mexico's will-o'-the-wisp bandit leader, is a member of the Canadian army in France, was brought back by Private Roman Marque, of Calexico, Cal. He said he was formerly a bugler and orderly for Villa and that he had seen him in Paris in the uniform of a first lieutenant of the Canadian infantry on December 21.

Permission to speak in a high school auditorium in Salt Lake City was denied to Louise Bryant, the wife of John Reed reputed Russian bolshevist representative in the United States. Miss Bryant was to have lectured on "The Russian Revolution as I Saw It."

IOWA STATE NEWS

OWNERSHIP OF ISLAND IN RIVER IN DISPUTE

Salix, Ia., April 28.—Claim shanties are about to reappear near Salix. Henry Foisy and J. J. Hayward, of Salix, and John Herrink, of Wilson, Kan., have filed on land newly platted by the government on Jauron island, west of town. The tract is claimed by the state of Nebraska, the homesteaders and several others. Old settlers predict that the whole question will be settled out of court by the Missouri river.

Felix Jauron, of Salix, and Attorney E. P. Farr, of Sioux City, claim the land by right of tax deeds, accretion rights, squatter's rights, etc., and have notified the would be homesteaders to refrain from trespassing. Nebraska claims the island because it was once on the Nebraska side of the river and still is surrounded by the waters of the Missouri, occasionally.

RUN OVER AND KILLED BY HIS OWN AUTOMOBILE

Waterloo, Ia., April 28.—August Kurtz, 64 years old, was run over and fatally injured by his own auto.

He killed the engine, the starter would not work, he left it in low gear, climbed out of the car and cranked it. It started and ran over him.

His wife was in the car, but did not understand its mechanism and could not stop it. It ran down the road, at a curve crossed a ditch, crashed through a fence and ran in circles in a pasture, the distracted woman in it screaming for help, until a farmer heard her and came to the rescue.

MUCH BUILDING IN PROSPECT AT GEORGE

George, Ia., April 28.—C. J. Locker and Herman Locker are opening an addition to George, consisting of several acres on the north side of town. Seventy-five lots are being platted, and at least 30 will be placed on the market. Several contracts are already pending, and at least a dozen new houses of modern type of construction will be built in the addition this year. In other parts of town considerable building is under headway or planned, and this year will be a remarkably prosperous one for the building trades, the higher costs of building apparently making no difference.

TANK HELPS BOOST LOAN CAMPAIGNS AT GEORGE

George, Ia., April 28.—A small tank was sent to George Friday by the Victory Liberty loan headquarters and went through its paces near town. The three banks of George anticipate that the town's quota will be subscribed, if not on the first day, at least within a week. Every farmer is busy now with spring seeding, and this may halt the loan temporarily.

ODD FELLOWS HAVE CELEBRATION AT ALVORD

George, Ia., April 28.—The George concert band furnished the music for a big Odd Fellows celebration to be held at Alvord today, commemorating the 100th anniversary of the order. Alvord has one of the largest and livest lodges of Odd Fellows in this section and the annual celebrations held in late years were eclipsed this year.

SEEKS DIVORCE FROM HER SOLDIER HUSBAND

Marshalltown, Ia., April 28.—They were married two days before he went to war.

He returned from France a few days ago and she told him she loved him no longer and asked for release from the bonds she had assumed just as he was about to march away.

His name is James E. Saunders and he married the girl at Marshalltown September 3, 1918.

DIVORCED WIFE GIVEN BREACH OF PROMISE MONEY

Clinton, Ia., April 28.—Johanna Milder was given $2,500 by a jury of her peers in district court. She sued Theodore Milder for breach of promise. They were married once and divorced.

For three years she has been his housekeeper. She alleges that he made violent love to her as his housekeeper and promised to remarry her. But he failed to and she sued for $10,000 damages.

FIRE IN EXPRESS CAR DOES MUCH DAMAGE

Logan, Ia., April 28.—Fire of unknown origin in the express car on the fast mail west bound, passing through here yesterday damaged the car and contents before the local fire company could extinguish the flames. The express car was cut out and the other part of the train went on. Express and baggage is said to have belonged to the Pacific coast.

SMALL FRUITS ARE DAMAGED BY FROST

Davenport, Ia., April 28.—Small fruits and truck gardens in eastern Iowa were hard hit by Thursday night's heavy frost, it is learned.

CARROLL BANK IS ORDERED CLOSED

Carroll, Ia., April 28.—The Carroll Trust and Savings bank has been closed by order of the state banking department.

The bank, it is understood, was unable to liquidate on a note for $11,000. Many depositors attempted to draw their money out of the bank Thursday. The bank is capitalized at $50,000.

STRUCK BY ILLINOIS CENTRAL TRAIN DIES

Logan, Ia., April 23.—David Trout, struck by the east bound passenger on the Illinois Central here when handling freight, died of his injuries. His widow and son survive. The son had been with the army in France, and according to a dispatch received yesterday, had landed at Boston with other soldiers returning. Just how the accident occurred seems to be a little bit uncertain.

RETURNED SOLDIER IS TURNED DOWN

Board of Supervisors Refuse to Reinstate Engineer who Volunteered Under Assurance Job Would Be Held.

Dubuque, Ia., April 26.—Clarence Pfeiffner, who gave up the post as Dubuque county engineer to enlist in the army in the spring of 1918, has lost his fight to be reinstated to office. During his absence the supervisors appointed Myron Downie to the post, and January of this year Downie was regularly appointed engineer and filed a bond of $2,000. Pfeiffner returned home three weeks ago from overseas and demanded his position back. County Attorney Willging has ruled that Downie cannot be removed from office without cause so he will hold the job.

QUESTIONS RIGHT OF TEACHER TO IMPOSE FINE

Newton, Ia., April 26.—Because her father considered that she should not be given equal punishment with other children of the Baxter third grade school, who damaged some school property while at recess play recently 9-year-old Gertrude Trager, daughter of Rev. Paul Trager, who is pastor of the Baxter German church, will be suspended from school for an indefinite length of time.

The sum of 25 cents is all that stands between Miss Gertrude's return and her suspension. Her father refuses to pay this sum and says he will go into court.

Recently the pupils of the third grade of the Baxter grammar grade, while at play, damaged the desks in their class rooms to a considerable extent. As a punishment the superintendent decided that the children should pay for refinishing the desks. All of those who were implicated in the misdemeanor complied with the punishment with the exception of Gertrude Trager whose father declared the punishment was not due her.

OWNERS OF CITY REALTY GIVEN HIGH TAX RATE

Des Moines, Ia., April 26.—The heavy appropriations made by the 38th assembly will result in increasing tax levy for state purposes from six to eight mills, according to Harry Deaton clerk of the state auditor's office.

This large levy is made necessary by the low assessment on farm lands. Iowa's farm lands, which sell at from $200 to $400 an acre, have an average assessment of $68.13. City lots on the other hand, he said, are assessed much nearer their real value.

Taking an average of $1,500, a man who owns six lots or one acre of ground in the city will pay $18 taxes for state purposes, as compared with 18 cents by farmers on an acre of farm land according to officials. The two mill increase in the levy will cost the city owner of an acre $4.50 and the farmer but 4½ cents per acre.

MANY SEEK LIGHT ON TEACHERS' WAGE LAW

Des Moines, Ia., April 26.—The state superintendent of public instruction is receiving many inquiries regarding the minimum wage law for teachers.

The bill that passed the 38th general assembly, was a substitute measure differing in many ways from the bill first introduced.

No teachers are hired by the year as the first bill provided.

A teacher who has completed a four-year course and received a degree from approved college and holds a state certificate or diploma will receive a minimum wage of $100 per month to be increased to not less than $120 after two years of successful experience in teaching.

A two-year course in a state normal school and a state certificate will entitle the teacher to a minimum wage of $80 or $100 after two years successful experience.

DESERTED BY HUSBAND, WOMAN BECOMES INSANE

Scranton, Ia., April 26.—R. W. Chase of Scranton, pleaded guilty to the charge of wife desertion and has been taken to Anamosa, where he will serve one year.

Last January Chase disappeared leaving a wife and three children the children all being under 4 years of age.

Worrying over his absence Mrs. Chase became mentally unbalanced and was taken to the hospital at Cherokee. He claims he knew nothing of his wife's condition until arrested.

The children are being cared for by Mrs. Chase's relatives.

He was located through a letter sent by him to his wife from Wisconsin.

IOWA SUFFRAGISTS ARE WELL PLEASED

Des Moines, Ia., April 26.—Iowa suffragists are feeling elated over the granting of presidential suffrage for women, and do not consider their legislative program a failure by any means, although they did not yet all they asked for.

"We are well satisfied," declares Mrs. Frank Dodson, chairman of the legislative committee of Iowa Equal Suffrage Association. "We would have appreciated having primary suffrage, but would rather have lost it than not to have gained presidential suffrage. The latter is more important to us from a national point of view."

BUCK GROVE STORE DAMAGED BY FLOODS

Buck Grove, Ia., April 26.—The heaviest rainfall ever known fell here Monday night, two inches in 10 hours. The lowlands were flooded as never before. A section of the basement wall of the Hulsebus Bros. hardware store gave way from the flood pressure and there were many wagon loads of mud and rubbish to be removed. The mud was a foot deep in some parts of the store. Cellars in town were flooded, but no particular damage was done.

SUMMER WORK IS PLANNED FOR BOYS

Leaders of Various Organizations In O'Brien County Organize In Comprehensive Manner.

Primghar Ia., April 26.—The county executive committee of the boys' working reserve of O'Brien county, consisting of the county librarian, the county superintendent of schools, the county agent, the county Y. M. C. A. secretary and the superintendent of schools at Sheldon, met in conference at Sheldon Tuesday afternoon with District Federal Reserve Officer Edwin S. Shortess of Cedar Rapids, to discuss methods of promoting the reserve in this county.

To date 63 boys have enrolled. They will be assisted and advised in securing work in productive occupations during the summer. The welfare work of the organization will be supervised by the county Y. M. C. A. One-half day, every two weeks for recreation, in addition to one week-end camp at Camp Foster on Lake East Okoboji may be submitted to the employers of the boys as a reasonable time allotment for recreation.

REV. FATHER PAPE A PRIEST 25 YEARS

LeMars, Ia., April 26.—Several hundred people gathered in LeMars to honor Mgr. W. A. Pape, pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic church, the occasion being his silver jubilee.

For 25 years Rev. Father Pape has labored in parishes of Iowa. About 75 priests were present, among them many dignitaries of the church. High mass was celebrated at 10 o'clock in the morning. Rt. Rev. Mgr. Pape, celebrant, Rev. Stephens Butler, of Gilmore City, deacon, Rev. Joseph Fisch, Wesley, subdeacon, and Rev. A. Nuel, Sioux City, master of ceremonies.

The sermon was preached by Rt. Rev. Edmond Heelan, auxiliary bishop of the diocese. Within the sanctuary were Mgr. Griffin, of Fort Dodge, and Mgr. G. W. Heer, of Dubuque; Rev. D. J. Heelan, of Fonda, Very Rev. J. F. Brune, of Alton, chaplains to the bishop, and many visiting priests.

Following the service a banquet was served at St. Joseph's hall. Rev. A. E. Zimmerman, of Sioux City, acted as toastmaster. Addresses were made by Very Rev. F. Huesman, of Templeton, Rev. E. Masterton, of Varina, Bishop Heelan and Mgr. Pape.

In the evening supper was served by the women of the Rosary Society of St. Joseph's church, followed by a band concert and reception, when parishioners and residents of the town assembled to honor the priest.

SEVERE ELECTRIC STORM VISITS IDA COUNTY

Ida Grove, Ia., April 26.—During a violent electrical storm Monday night Harry Tuneberg, a farmer residing southeast of this city, lost seven head of cattle by lightning. The herd had gathered around a straw stack in a field, and when the bolt struck the stack it also killed the cattle. The same evening the little 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Curry of Ida Grove was playing under a tree in the yard just before rain began to fall, when a bolt of lightning struck the tree, knocking the child down. For nearly an hour she remained unconscious.

IDA GROVE SOLDIERS ARE RETURNING HOME

Ida Grove, Ia., April 26.—Slowly members of the contingent taken from Company B, and placed in the Rainbow division, are returning home. There were 13 men in this community who were attached to the famous fighting division in France, and three of them will be missed at roll call when the remainder get home. Corp. Will Ehrp son of Mrs. W. H. Moore of this city was discharged at Camp Dodge this week and has arrived home. He was in every engagement participated in by the Rainbow division and in the last battle was gassed so seriously that he was placed in the casual list.

DAKOTA STATE NEWS.

GOVERNMENT TRUCKS ON SOUTH DAKOTA ROADS

Pierre, S. D., April 26.—The government has sent word to the highway commission that it will distribute among the states the motor trucks which were prepared for the war for use on highway work. Consequently South Dakota's pro rata share is about over 480 such trucks. The machines are trucks of from two to five tons capacity, and cost from $2,200 to $2,800. The only cost to the states receiving them will be for the freight from Washington to the place where the truck is shipped. Of course the highway commission will accept the offer, and it means an average of seven or eight trucks to the county for each county of this state, upon highway work.

The highway commission will receive bids on May 15 for 22 miles of graveled roads between Sioux Falls and Dell Rapids, in Minnehaha county.

MILBANK—Dissatisfied with the service furnished by the local electric light and power plant, which belongs to an outside capitalist, the city council served notice on him that if there is not an improvement in the service steps would be taken to a grant a franchise to other parties.

BANCROFT—Steps have been taken to reorganize the 1917 baseball team that made Bancroft famous in this part of the state in baseball circles. The members of the old battery are available, and three others who were strong members of the club are on their way home from overseas. Several other former members have signified their desire to again get into the game.

WINNER—Henry Hemeyer, for some years a farmer here, died in a hospital at Omaha of the disease known as sleeping sickness. During his illness he slept intermittently, but gradually grew weaker. He was about 60 years of age and is survived by a widow and several [illegible]

Training Little Childr

Suggestions by mothers who have been Kindergartners, In... The United States Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C.... The National Kindergarten Association, New York, N. ...

Simple, Home-Made, Indestructible Scrap-Bo... Are the Most Satisfactory for the Little Fo...

WE have been intensely interested in watching our little daughter with her first books. In addition to their educational value, they are a source of great pleasure, and have grown to be her daily companions. When she was about fourteen months old she was given her first book, a small linen one containing pictures of animals. These we would call by name as we pointed them out to her, and as they became familiar she would point them out herself. After she had learned to talk, she could say the names also. Linen books containing pictures of objects in colors were next given the child and when she had become acquainted with these group pictures were added to the collection.

By counting the objects in the various groups—not over five at first—and by calling attention to their color, the child learned both number and color. Emilie Poulsson's book on "Finger Plays" is an enjoyable supplement to pictures of this kind.

We found simple, home-made, indestructible scrap-books most satisfactory and attractive. Anticipating the book stage, we had collected a number of colored pictures from magazines. For the leaves of these books we used brown paper-muslin, cutting a number of pieces twelve by twenty-four inches and, after laying them one on top of another, stitching them through the center, thus making a book twelve by twelve inches when closed. On the pages we mounted the pictures with paste.

One book contained pictures of fowls, turkeys, chickens, ducks, geese, guinea fowls, and some pigeon and crow pictures also. In another book we pasted pictures of four-legged domestic animals. Many of the pictures showed the family life of these in their natural surroundings. They proved most interesting as the child's experience is confined almost exclusively to the family of which she is a member, and animal families naturally appeal to every child.

Our little girl is now nearly two and a half years old, and she has never tired of her scrap-books. Through them she has become acquainted with the different... and the sound made by ea... able to connect the animals ... calls.

The number of books of ... which would be of great ... value to the child is almos... Birds, flowers, vegetables, tr... ing and history might all be ... to the child in this form. ... the girl grows older we ha... books of harvesting pict... ing the various stages in t... of wheat from the prepara... soil, planting of the seed ... until it passes through th... the miller and baker ... reaches the child in the fo... daily bread.

Another interesting proc... building of the home fro... to the finished product. ... will contain pictures of ... where the trees grow, the ... the great trees, the horses ... which haul the trees to th... the cutting and p... ing of ... the train which transport... the lumber yard, the boards ... in the lumber yard the c... work putting the boards to... house in the process of c... and lastly the finished ho... family who lives in it. ... process books the child ... to realize that it takes rai... and warmth to make the ... the grains grow, and that ... many people to thank fo... our simplest food and that ... God is the great source of ...

"Mother Goose Rhymes" ... child's favorite, "The Ni... Christmas," are always ... versions, and after repeat... the child is able to supply ... and later whole verses, th... ally developing the memo...

With the exception of a ... books which are really ... pictures, I would advocate ... of stories, rather than the... them to small children. ... object of story-telling is ... the imagination of the chi... vate a taste for good lite... guide them to the best boo...

Please pass this article o... and thus help Uncle Sam ... mothers of the country.

Why We Can't Have $5,00... Apiece.

From the Kansas City Star.

Hungary has solved the problem of a good living for ... if a dispatch from Budapest to a Berlin newspaper is to ... The government simply divides the population into three ... tellectual workers, merchants and workmen. The first cl... ceive a minimum income of $7,200 a year, the second of $5... and the third of $3,300.

The plan looks delightful. No more poverty, a decen... every family. What more could be desired?

But here a question must suggest itself. Is there inc... to go round and produce these results? Four years ago a... in the University of Wisconsin, W. I. King, made a stud... published under the title, "The Wealth and Income of th... the United States." In this book he considers the estim... bution of income among the families of the United States i... does not claim accuracy for his study. No definite figures ... able except for certain states. But with the information ... states, from the department of labor and from the United ... sus, he figured in this way... In 1910 there were approx... 000,000 families in the country. The estimated revenue th... $30,500,000,000. Part of this must be set aside for replac... improvements. But if the entire revenue were divided eq... the families, each one would have about $1,100 a year.

What then becomes of the Hungarian apportionmen... before the war showed that Prussia produced only about ... much income per person as the United States, and Hunga... than Prussia. The Hungarian government cannot possibl... such a schedule of incomes for the simple reason, among ... there isn't that amount of income to be divided.

The Hunger Germ.

From the New York Herald.

Vienna's report of the discovery of the hunger germ but adds one more complication to the load of woes and worries heaped upon long suffering humanity by the war for the discovery, it is announced, was made in the bodies of victims of the present famine in Austria.

The germ, it appears, feeds upon the bones of its prey unless other material on which it may satiate its appetite is supplied. This, the Austrian physician says, is phosphorus and cod liver oil, which stamps the hunger germs as something of an epicure, and removes him from the class of those who feed cheaply. Now, instead of taking a cocktail when one is about to dine it will become the proper thing first to gulp a dose of the oleaginous phosphoric compound to appease the germ. But then having appeased his hunger germ, why should the man himself dine, no longer being hungry? Again science takes the joy out of life.

Where Guilt Is Personal.

From the St. Louis Globe Democrat.

It was in a discussion of artificial legal bodies known as corporations that the expression "guilt is personal" was first used. This was really another statement of Sir Edward Coke's often distorted comment in the case of Sutton's Hospital: "Corporations cannot commit treason, nor be outlawed nor excommunicated, for they have no souls." But the men who commit or direct offenses, whether officials or employes, have souls and the guilt is personal. So it is, with a few exceptions, with nations. Officials who order crimes against humanity cannot avoid their personal responsibility. This refers, of course, to acts which the consensus of mankind has formally outlawed.

The military governor at Constantinople has been illustrating this in striking fashion. Inquiries as to responsibility for deportations and massacres of Armenians in the Yozhad district have resulted in the trial and conviction of Kemal Bey, the governor of Kiarbekr, who has been publicly hanged in the presence of the military governor.

Banker's Essay on Money.

Money that is kept is worth more than any other kind because it ... longer. Because you are ... ed with it. You don't mind ... acquaintance slips out of ... when you lose an intimate ... You have learned to plac... on the friend, the passin... is a mere incident in you...

Money that is get almos... long wings and is as restle... "Easy money" is the term ... plied to this kind.

"Made" dollars are almo... those that are "got." Th... easy to make money than ... fact recognized by every...

Dollars that are earned ... little shorter of wing a... quick of flight than those ... how much so depends la... hard it is to earn them.

But dollars that are kept ... stay. They are like honey ... swallows. They work for ... are earning and puttin... aside. The instinct of us... security is in their blood.

Evolution Of W...

From the Edinburgh...

Words that have under... able charge of meaning ... of the centuries are "pre... Both these words mean ... most the reverse of their ... tions. "Pretty" comes ... French word proud or ... Saxon the word became ... cant, splendid, valiant, inso... caitiff "prit" or pritte." ... the same, till at length it ... handsome, bold, or fine... many gradations, reachi... ural sense as a person... girlish and effeminat... "Nice"—which comes f... source—at first meant fo... fidelious; then in course ... to signify wanton whim... then delicate and subtl... was used to denote any ... quality.

Not Her F...

From the Edinburg...

Her Husband—What d... ris, by letting the stand... while you are running a... looking after bargains?

His Wife—I ain't [illegible] deal!

...E JOIN ...H ITALIANS

...d U. S. In Diplo... ...on Territorial ... Adopts More ...y Attitude.

...FERGUSON, ... Correspondent. ...Ambassador Mutual ...tive in France was ...headquarters this ... table at 3 ... the Japanese and ... critical time was re... significant, in view of ... their respective claims ... Shantung peninsula. ... Japanese territorial ... secret treaties. Aside ... secret treaties. Aside ... visit of Japanese ... to Italian headquarters, ... entente has been ... in the past few weeks. ... Mediterranean squadron ... waters is being received ... enthusiasm, both by of... the people.

...ly announcing they have ... withdrawing from the ... Japanese are known to ... at continued opposition ...ation of Chinese terri... ...ed from Germany, as ... of their racial equality ... the league of nations ... based their statement ...t belief that their terri... ...s eventually would be ...

...league amendment was ...s they cabled to Japan ... The nature of the re... ...s closely guarded secret. ...is known to be running ...nstrations have occurred ... now under way in ...

...statement regarding ... interpreted as calling for ...down." Its scope was ... the Italian situation. ...ssa's claims to the ... In fact, it covers ...ideas allied statesmen ...s going beyond the ...ed to in the armis... ...coming on the eve ...delegates arrival, it is ...ion that the president's ... "14 points"—Not the ... prevail in final peace ...

...o Leaves Paris.

...rlando has left Paris. Con... expressed in American, ... French sources that Or...rium or that some other ...ma will be substituted ...

...d by Signor Barzilai, the ...departed from the Gare ...0 last night.

...inister Sonnino has post...arture for home until to... probably be accompanied ...Premier Salandra. General ...der in chief of the Italian ...with Premier Orlando and ...al last night. Italian of...s and civilians cheered ...g the national anthem.

...olution Coming.

...rence circles were in... today that an amic... ...the Italian incident was ...

...g. Italy has shown her ...ain good relations with ...that the Italian delegates ...Paris will continue to ...the work of the inter..., not pertaining to ... of the peace confer...

...possible that Premier ...al the Italian parlia... ...an earlier date than ...ously fixed and that he ...Paris for the opening ...s at Versailles, which ...before the 1st or 2nd of ...

...more hopeful and less ...feeling prevailed at Itali... today. No longer ... of a breach with the ..., but instead, it was ...

...be settled within a fort... Orlando has gone to ... parliament. Thereaf...

This Afternoon.

...ceau and Lloyd ...President Wilson, it is an... ...in conference at 4 ...noon. The topics to ... the meeting are not ...

...Orlando's reception in ...iously awaited here. It ...ented on having his ... capital attended by ...nations, indicating ... of his stand for ac...

...rie "Break."

...of the allied representa... ...will come back, or ... another, was based on ...n yesterday afternoon's ...ng four" which both ... attended. Despite Or... ...that the conference ...that the Italian dele... ...ing as a matter of ... to President Wilson's ... of Wednesday, the ...British refused to in... ...as a definite break. ...and was issued de... ...the conferees displayed ...d to reach a satis... ...and expressing the ...Italian parliament will ...ently. From semi... ...sources it was learned ...gives his word to the ...was going home to ...which will be con...

...ssement.

...ssed by Premier ...said nothing of the ...Italians to quit the ...completely. It merely ...ce concerning Fiume ...alian coast and does not ...form of an ultimatum. ...declares that Presi... ...proclamation is an at...

Million Dollar Carpets Will Protect German Envoys From Possibilities of Cold Feet

By United Press.

Versailles, April 26.—Arrangements for reception of the German delegates here were practically complete today. They include provisions to protect the enemy representatives from mobs of the curious

A long barrier, six feet high, is being constructed from the Hotel des Reservoirs (the German headquarters) to the Trianon Palace hotel, where the preliminary meetings will be held. Further protection will be afforded by a guard of soldiers around the park, from which the public will be barred. The Germans will be permitted to use no other route, between the two hotels than this walled path

A special commission of 14 members has been named by the French [illegible] as intermediaries between the Germans and the outside world. This commission, under Lieutenant Colonel Henri will include two majors three captains two lieutenants and four interpreters

The enemy delegates will bring their own servants, but outside the actual conferences this staff will attend to whatever the Germans desire

Marble polishers upholsterers and cabinet makers are working feverishly to prepare the Hall of Mirrors in the [illegible] carpets tapestries and furniture [illegible] Louis XIV lined have been gathered from government stores. The [illegible] of the room is $1,000,000

The [illegible] which the treaty will be signed has been completed. It is of rose [illegible] slope 81 feet long made of oak and pine and has a green cloth cover. It cost $1,000

Accredited [illegible] rooms in the Hotel [illegible] and 14 rooms overlooking the [illegible] large [illegible] the [illegible] room. The Hotel [illegible] been requisitioned and [illegible] be used for minor German [illegible] clerks temp: to place the government in opposition to the people

"He is treating the Italian people," adds the premier, "as if they were a barbarous people, without a democratic government."

The premier rebukes the president for addressing himself to the Italian people over the head of the Italian government and says he never considered America bound by the treaty of London, but that Italy's case is based rather on right and justice

The premier says he has never denied that the pact of London does not apply to Fiume, but the Italian claim was based on the principles of President Wilson's 14 points

Premier Orlando and the other members of the Italian delegation apparently are much angrier over President Wilson's worldwide publication of his position on the Adriatic question than over his opposition to their claims and the fact that diplomatic procedure had been violated and what is termed an insult offered to the Italian government because the president made his position known to the Italian people over the heads of the peace delegation.

While the Italian situation was at its crisis yesterday, the supreme economic council discussed the coal supply in Europe and plans for overcoming the shortage, especially in Italy. Signor Zuccini represented Italy at the session.

The council also removed fishing restrictions in the Baltic and North seas so as to enable Germany to increase her food supply. It also removed the restrictions against transporting more than 8,000 tons of food at one time into Germany and Czecho-Slovakia by way of Hamburg and from now it is possible 25,000 tons may be moved simultaneously.

MAY OFFER TO RESIGN

London, April 26 - The Paris correspondent of the Evening News reported today that Premier Orlando will offer King Victor Emmanuel his resignation. If it is not accepted the correspondent said, the premier will convoke parliament Monday or Tuesday

JAP-ITALIAN ALLIANCE PROBABLE

By United Press

Washington, April 26 Belief that Italy and Japan may join forces in the conference, in view of the similarity of their interests—both based on secret engagements entered into during the war—was strong here today

Officials are certain, however, that the president will assume the same attitude toward the Japanese claims in China as he has toward the Adriatic objectives if it comes to a showdown

Both Italy and Japan feel that they have been ignored in the peace conference, according to diplomats here. Both have counted strongly on support of Great Britain particularly. The grievances of both now date back to other occasions when they felt that they were discriminated against. It was declared today that Italy has always felt that her colonial progress in Africa has been limited by other powers. Her spokesmen here pointed to Italy's failure in 1899 to obtain territorial concessions in China, though similar demands were granted Germany, Great Britain, France and Russia

Japan and Italy were both losers in China in the '90s, Japan being compelled by the powers to withdraw from the Liao-Tung peninsula after her victorious war with China.

As a result of the pique of both today it would be no surprise to official and diplomatic quarters here if they joined causes at the peace conference

PARIS OPTIMISTIC.

By Associated Press.

Paris, April 25.—The newspapers here are unanimous in the opinion that the departure of Premier Orlando from Paris does not constitute a rupture in relations. "It is not adieu," says the Petit Journal, "but au revoir."

The Petit Parisien is particularly optimistic, saying that the critical tension exists no longer and there are several forms of compromise possible.

A part of the French press manifests some impatience that new complications should arise at the moment when the German plenipotentiaries are about to arrive. The Echo De Paris fears that "as a sequel of the methods employed all alliances may totter."

LONDON PAPERS CAUTIOUS.

London, April 25.—The peace conference crisis continues to be the paramount topic of comment in London's morning newspapers. The support they give to President Wilson's and Italy's views are, respectively, about evenly divided divided, but with two or three exceptions opinions are expressed cautiously and with a manifest desire to show friendliness for both Mr Wilson and Italy, and to avoid saying anything likely to hinder the speedy restoration of harmony.

"Wild West" Diplomacy.

The Post refers to Mr Wilson's "wild west diplomacy" and says:

"Mr. Wilson's name among the allies is like that of the rich uncle, and they have accepted his manners out of respect for his means."

The Express announces that Premier Orlando has gone home and we commend his example to Mr Wilson."

WAR BREAD EDICT FOR ALL EUROPE

Supreme Food Council Takes Action—But U. S Will Remain on White Bread Diet, Says Barnes

By Associated Press

Paris, April 26.—An increase in the meat portion of the bread which will [illegible] daily for all Europe back to a war bread basis for the next three months is part of [illegible] adopted by the supreme [illegible] for the [illegible] of [illegible]

WHITE BREAD FOR U S

[illegible] Americans and continue to eat white bread instead of the [illegible] last year after months of milling [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Plasterers, Masons and Cement Workers

Manufacturers of

Concrete Blocks and Brick

Agents for Hollow Tile. We are in a position to give Excellent Service in same. Give us a try-out, you'll never regret.

Anderson & Stiehl

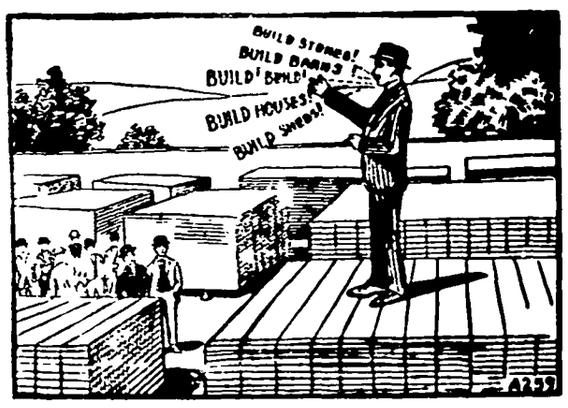
Phone 90 Klemme, Iowa

Sell Your Grain To

Walter F. Lau

And receive the highest price and correct weight. Will buy Hogs every day in the week. Also handle high grade COAL. Give me a trial and I will Show you the RESULTS.

Office Phone No. 16 Residence Phone No. 52



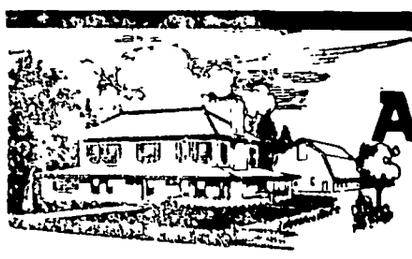
BUILDING RESTRICTION LIFTED

The War Industries Board has lifted the building restriction on farm and city construction, cost not exceeding $10,000. This order went into effect November 12th. Farmers, you can now get busy on that new barn, etc., or you who move to town can now build a new house.

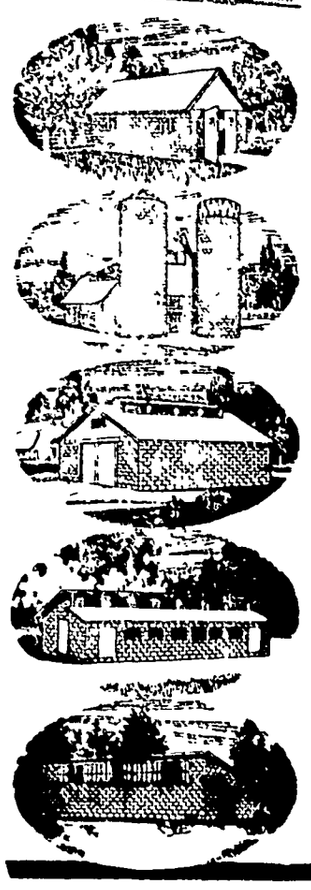
NORTHERN LUMBER CO.

N. L. PALMER, Manager

The Silo to Buy!



Build with AMERICAN TILE Save money



YOU can build your New Home, Garage, Barn, Hog House, Poultry House, Silo, Granary or other buildings of American Tile for Less Money than it would cost to build of wood and you will have permanent improvements, that require no painting or other expense of upkeep. The double hollow walls of American Tile buildings are fire-proof and damp-proof—warmer in Winter and cooler in Summer—more comfortable and healthful.

More Money Made With a Silo

40% of the corn crop is wasted when left in the field. A Silo will enable you to save all the crop It will supply you with Summer pasture the year around.

Beef cattle fed ensilage make bigger gains and milk cows produce more. Many Silo owners say their silos more than earned their cost the first year.

AMERICAN FLINT TILE SILOS

Are built with curved hollow "Flint Tile" Blocks—steel reinforced between every tier. Special construction The American way is stronger. Absolutely guaranteed to stand any windstorm—CYCLONES AND TORNADOES INCLUDED. Last for generations. Keep ensilage better. Cost less than cement or wood. Thousands in use.

Fill Your Silo With a Climax Cutter

Guaranteed to cut more ensilage and better ensilage with less power than any other cutter FREE BOOK Write today for free illustrated book of Silos, Building Tile, Elevators, Ensilage Cutters, Manure Spreaders and Auto Trailers, or get one from our representative, whose name is given below.

W. W. Coates Company

SCHEE BUILDING, DES MOINES, IA.
Sioux City Omaha Denver St. Louis
Kansas City Oklahoma City

Elmer Ludeke

Agent Klemme, Iowa

AMERICAN PEOPLE READY TO COMPLETE THE JOB

Victory Liberty Loan Must Succeed to a Degree In Keeping With Success of Former Loans.

By CHARLES H. SCHWEPPE, Director of Victory Liberty Loan Campaign, Seventh Federal Reserve District.

Despite the fact that hostilities have ceased and preliminary steps to the signing of a peace treaty been taken, our big war job is not finished. The job will not be completed until the war bills are paid and the slate of the nation is clean. Those of us who remained on this side of the water still have work to do to polish off the great victory won by our soldiers and sailors, and the work before us is as patriotic and essential as that already accomplished.

The Victory Liberty Loan must succeed to a degree in keeping with the success of the four previous loans. This success can be attained only through the efforts and enthusiasm of the entire people. Liberty Loan organizations must put into their efforts the same vim and fire that characterized their work in the previous loans. The people must do everything within their power to aid the organizations in performing the task that is as much theirs as in the time when the nation was warring.

The spirit of thanksgiving should permeate the American atmosphere—should dominate the heart of every citizen, for if it had not been for the extensive preparation to fight the central powers until victory perched upon our banner the war would have been prolonged indefinitely, with a consequent loss of thousands of lives that otherwise were saved to us when the German general staff acknowledged the futility of continuing the struggle for world domination. The great victory was achieved very largely through the shells that were never exploded, through the soldiers that did not go across, and through the general preparations in other directions. The American people can give expression to their thanksgiving by subscribing to the limit of their ability in making the Victory Liberty Loan an overwhelming success.

The fullness of the great victory will not be realized until the war bills are paid and all the boys brought home. The expenses of the war have been huge, but America set out to win the war at any cost, and now, with victory secure, the American people stand ready to complete the job assigned to them—providing the money necessary to win the victory.

—HELP "FINISH THE JOB."—

WHY YOUR MONEY IS NEEDED—HOW IT HELPS

This Brief Questionnaire Gives Interesting Information on the Victory Liberty Loan.

The government already is exploiting the Victory Liberty Loan, which will be floated in April, in order that the people may start saving for the purpose of investing in bonds of the "Victory issue." The following brief questionnaire should tend to clarify the mind of any reader regarding the Victory Loan:

Q. The war being over, why is there need of another great popular war loan?

A. The proceeds from the Fourth loan, according to Secretary of the Treasury Glass, were exhausted last December, and the government must have billions more with which to maintain our forces overseas bring the victors home and carry out its reconstruction plans.

Q. If Uncle Sam's strong-box is empty, how is he paying his after-war expenses?

A. This is being done with money borrowed from the banks at the rate of $600,000,000 every two weeks, short-term anticipation certificates of indebtedness being issued in return.

Q. As long as the banks are advancing the money, why not let them continue to do so?

A. Because in order to continue to extend credit to the business interests big and little of the country the banks must get back this money—amounting to 20 per cent of their entire resources—when it falls due, as only thus can the prosperity we now enjoy be continued.

Q. Will the Victory Loan be offered to the people on a commercial basis, or will their patriotism again be appealed to?

A. Secretary Glass says the patriotism of the American people will be relied upon to send the loan triumphantly "over the top." It, however, will be made particularly attractive as to rate of interest and period of maturity.

Q. What are the monthly war expenditures of the government at the present time?

A. The latest official figures show that Uncle Sam is expending money at the rate of more than $2,000,000,000 a month.

Q. Suppose I bought bonds of preceding issues and feel I can't afford to buy any more Liberty bonds?

A. Uncle Sam has to pay his bills, and you must afford it, even if you have to continue for a further time denying yourself luxuries and apparent necessities. Unless the Victory Liberty Loan is a success the government will be compelled to raise the money it needs by direct taxation, and there are no interest coupons on tax receipts.

ALLOWANCE TO CHILD IS ROAD TO ECONOMY

Home Economics Expert Says Way Is to Teach Youth Early Proper Apportioning of an Income.

"The best and most natural way of beginning true national economy, wise spending and wise saving," says Ruth Wardell, head of the home economics department of the University of Iowa, and who last summer started a home economics department in a Cleveland (Ohio) bank, "is by giving the children an allowance. The lesson of properly apportioning an income thus is early learned."

Miss Wardell favors the allowance arrangement at a very early age, say at six or seven. It may then be very small, and out of it the budding citizen may be expected to provide only school pencils, tablets, etc. The purchase of school books provides a logical next step; a little later some personal belongings, such as shoes, may be added.

"I say shoes," explains Miss Wardell, "because children seem to take more interest in shoes than in most articles of wearing apparel, and because shoes represent a highly important item to which children frequently pay little heed."

Fixing the Allowance.

The allowance should provide a little margin to encourage careful buying and saving possibilities. It should not necessitate so much care or thought as to burden the growing youngster. It should never, under normal circumstances, be "helped out" by irregular gifts or expected to cover other than the recognized items. The allowance, with its purchasing responsibilities, should be increased gradually and ably. By the time high school is reached the boy or girl should be buying practically all his or her own clothes.

Miss Wardell tells an interesting story of a boy who called upon her in Cleveland, telling her of his manner of apportioning the rather generous allowance made by his father. He knew to a penny what every article he wore had cost him; he was intelligent regarding relative textile and wearing values, he saved steadily, systematically, with joy.

A Chicago mother started her little daughter out, similarly, at eight years old and at sixteen the girl was a better buyer than she was. These children were well started on the road to fine and self-respecting and independent citizenship. Both will enter college with a nice little financial nest egg to await the beginning of their business or professional life.

Buying His Own Goods.

The child's allowance, it may be added, should be for necessities mainly, with but a fair and modest margin for personal luxuries and pleasures. It should always be recognized as allowing for a regular proportion of savings, preferably invested in governmental securities. It should be carefully adjusted, rigidly adhered to on both sides of the bargain. Such respect and observance not only will teach the child good economic habits, but will abolish many too frequent annoyances for the financial head of the family.

Each child given an allowance will understand that this sum, with his support and other parental provisions, represents his fair share of the family income, and that, as a decent citizen, he must not ask nor expect to exceed it. An adequate allowance system, moreover, will obviate the evil habit of crying or pleading for special indulgences and more funds.

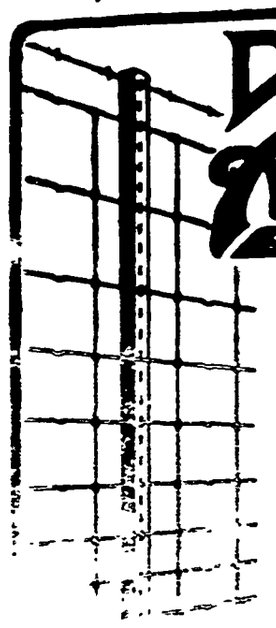
—THINK BEFORE YOU SPEND—

Diamonds? Why Not W. S. S.?

Diamonds to the value of $2,000,000,000—more than half the available world supply and value—are owned in the United States of America.

Pretty things, diamonds, fascinating to watch, pleasing to wear, of high commercial value. Diamond prices rise every now and again, truly, but the rate of increase cannot be precisely calculated, and the risk of owning diamonds is large—unless they're tucked away in the safety deposit vaults where no one ever sees them.

Now $2,000,000,000 invested in government securities, War Savings Stamps, for example, would mean much better times for the country. Why not, for the sweet girl graduate, the bride, wife to be honored, War Savings Stamps instead of a diamond? Bright thought! The War Savings Stamps now and the diamond five years later—out of the War Savings Stamps profits when they mature.



Drive 300 Ankorite Per Day

STEEL FENCE POSTS

LABOR IS MONEY

Ankorite Steel Drive Posts will save both for you

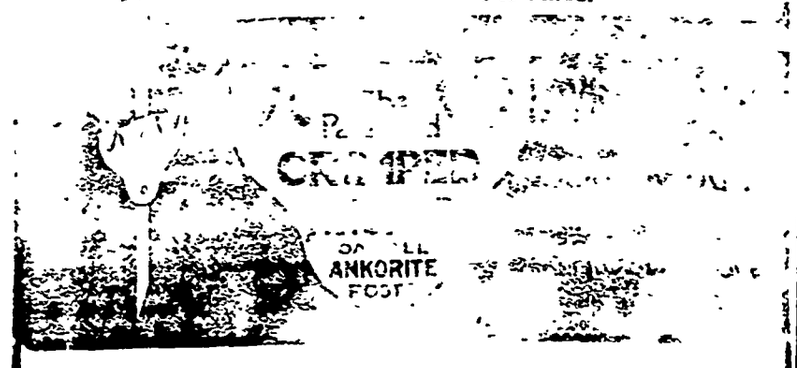
Cheaper installed—last several times as long as wooden fence posts—more rigid—

THE BEST STEEL POST

because with the Patented Crimp Anchor they resist all shocks and pressure and ride storms with unequalled power.

THE ANKORITE POST

is Enameled Olive Green
the Patent Crimped Anchor
The ...



ANKORITE POSTS SOLD BY

Western States Lbr. Co.

Educators and Parents are agreed that the

Time to Develop a childs mental and moral sense is in early Youth.

Why Wait

until maturity to develop his business and financial sense. An early Bank Account and its responsibilities is the best training your child can have.

State Savings Bank

KLEMME, IA.

NEW ROCK ISLAND TIME

North

821, Mixed.....1:35 p. m.
1069, Passenger.....3:03 p. m.
435, Passenger.....8:44 a. m.

South

436, Passenger.....6:17 p. m.
1068, Passenger.....11:25 a. m.
820, Freight.....12:15 p. m.

Appreciative Spectator!

Lawyers are not the only class in which a sense of the pecuniary value of their attentions is well developed. It is recorded of a famous actor that in the course of a tour he rewarded the politeness of a waiter at his hotel with a pass for the theater to which all the town was crowding to see the stage favorite in a great play. The next day the actor asked the man how he had enjoyed the visit to the theater. "Oh, it was very nice, I enjoyed it very well, indeed—but—er—who is to pay me for my time?' was the disconcerting reply.

Nothing Good Made in a Hurry.

No great thing is created suddenly, any more than a bunch of grapes or a fig. If you tell me that you desire a fig, I answer you that there must be time. Let it first blossom, then bear fruit, then ripen.—Exchange.

Optimistic Thought.

We must calculate not on the weather, nor on fortune, but upon God and ourselves.

W. F. PAVE

The Practical Blacksmit

OXY-ACETYLENE WELD

Wagon, Buggy and Mach Repairing

Horse Shoeing and P Work a Specialty

Col. B. A. Reemtsn

General Auctionee

KLEMME, IOWA

Farm and Stock Sales a Spec

Call, write or phone 508 K me for dates, terms, etc.

...Satisfaction Guarante

Geo. ZINN

Physician & Surgeon

Phone No. 19, KLEMME IA

Office in Building East of Gruetzmacher Harness and Shoe Shop.

Eyes Tested.

Glasses Fitt

Just Received

Several Dozen Pairs Men's and Boys'

avy Rubber Soled Work Shoes

These shoes have an extra heavy, vulcanized, hydralic, pressed sole and heel, heavy brown tops, made in blutcher style. See these shoes, they are just the thing for summer months.

ubber Goods

We have a complete stock of the Slicker Raincoats, Rubbers, Rubber Boots and Single and Four Buckle Overshoes Don't put off buying these things—you need them now and you'll need them later.

en's Work Shoes--- is a great pleasure and satisfaction to us to know what people say of our Work Shoes. We've a wonderful line and guarantee them to give you satisfaction.

Our guarantee means something will not "stick 'em together or patch 'em up," but if your claim is just You'll get a new pair. See our line of Work Shoes.

Get To Know

Gildner Bros. & Johnson

The Home of Hart, Schffner & Marx Clothes

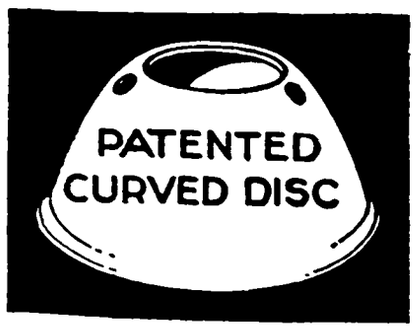
Stores Garner, Ia

THE "IOWA"

Cream Separator

With the Curved Disc Bowl

Will Pay For Itself



The "IOWA" Cream Separator—the only Separator with a CURVED Disc Bowl, will soon pay for itself out of the butterfat it saves and which is lost by the use of the ordinary stright disc machine. The "IOWA" Cream Separator outskimmed the De Laval and all other competitive Separators in the skimming tests made by the Jury of Diary Experts at the Worlds Fair Exposition San Francisco 1915.

Gets ALL The Butterfat

With butterfat selling for better then 50c per pound $100 per ton you cannot afford to waist a single drop Let us put an IOWA on your farm so that you can see for yourself that the IOWA Separator with the CURVED DISC Bowl gets more butterfat then any other Separator. Hundreds of practical skimming tests made on the farms of users prove that the "Iowa" with the CURVED DISC Bowl is the closest skimming Cream Separator on the market

Worlds Best by Auctual Test.

Before you buy a Separator, see and try the "IOWA"

Henry Lau & Son

Origin of "Yankee."

It is said the term "Yankee" originated with the Indians when they were in alliance with the French colonists against the English. They were unable to pronounce the French words "Les Anglais" and pronounced the words "Yangee" which gradually took the form of "Yankee." When the English abandoned the country the Indians made no distinction between the former colonists and the English themselves, and the term clung to the Americans.

Worry Spoils Everything.

More mistakes are induced through worry than any other cause in the world. We fret ourselves into a frame of mind that induces just what we wish to avoid. Go about your work carefully and with faith in your own ability If you fail today, have faith that tomorrow you will do better. Do not let the little foxes of worry "spoil the vines" of honest endeavor.

X-Ray Reflectors.

Mica has been found an excellent material for concentrating mirrors for X-rays. Glass will not do, because, smooth as it is, it is too rough for the extremely minute X-rays, which are much smaller than light waves. Glass diffuses the X-rays, much as a rough surface diffuses light waves, but it was found that the surface of mineral crystals were of the requisite smoothness for reflecting X-rays, and of them mica is the most adaptable, being readily split into sheets.

Getting Even With Him.

"The censor cuts out interesting parts of his letters. I found a way to get even." "What's that?" "He's quit writing."

When It Becomes Interesting.

After sober deliberation one becomes convinced that the only time the masculine ankle is interesting is when it is sprained.—Chicago News.

GREAT GUNS!—WHAT MAIL

Uncle Sam Will Carry a Whopping Load of Reading Matter About Victory Liberty Loan to His Prospects.

Two hundred and fifty tons of first class mail!

That is the staggering weight of the matter which Uncle Sam will distribute throughout the Seventh federal reserve district in giving "scientific billing to the Victory Liberty loan."

To insure maximum efficiency in the distribution of this enormous amount of propaganda material the distribution bureau of the department of publicity for the Seventh federal reserve district has evolved the following scheme, based on the most reliable figures obtainable. The estimated population of the district is 14,246,503 divided as follows:

Divisions	Population.	Per Cent of Total.
Cook county (Illinois	2,858,431	21.18
Illinois (outside Cook county)	2,168,344	11.75
Indiana	2,239,492	17.3
Iowa	2,219,099	1[illegible]
Michigan	2,744,190	20[illegible]
Wisconsin	2,016,647	11.72
Total	14,246,503	100

The above districts are divided into counties, the county being the unit of distribution. There are 339 counties. Each has a chairman. He receives all the propaganda allotted to his district based on the proportionate population, and his own working organization see to it that all "live space" is properly billed. Here are a few facts regarding the whirlwind machinery of distribution:

Twenty thousand square feet of space are necessary for addressing and mailing room.

The distribution bureau has its own post office.

Three hundred men work day and night.

One million posters will be mailed in four-pound packages.

Eight million Victory Liberty loan buttons will be handled.

Two million circular letters to bond holders of previous Liberty loan issues will be mailed

Five million letterheads and envelopes to bond salesmen will be distributed.

Tens of thousands of automobile owners will receive windshield stickers advertising the loan

It has been officially announced that the drive for the sale of Victory Liberty loan bonds will start on April 21 If careful plans of the distribution bureau carry through every American on the morning of April 14, at least a week before the drive, will be greeted with the nation-wide injunction, "Finish the Job."

—HELP "FINISH THE JOB."—

WATCH OUT FOR SHARKS!

BONDHOLDERS. — Get the names and addresses of persons and companies offering you doubtful stocks or speculative securities, particularly if in exchange for your Liberty bonds or War Savings stamps. Mail the names and "literature" of these shady concerns to Federal Trade Commission, Washington, D. C.

—HELP "FINISH THE JOB."—

Get Behind the Victory Liberty Loan.

"Peace must be financed as well as war, and the initial stages of peace may be found even more expensive than war. Therefore, get behind the Victory Liberty Loan when it comes." —Secretary Glass.

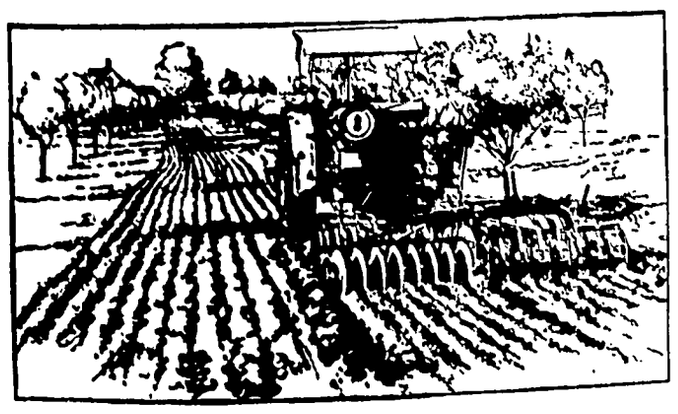
Don't Be a Quitter.

In the last few hours of the war our soldiers fought the hardest. We cannot quit these boys now. Back them up by supporting the Victory Liberty Loan.

"Come Across" Over Here.

If you want the boys to come

CASE KEROSENE TRACTORS



For Field or Orchard

Case 10-20 Features

Pulls three 14-inch plows anywhere a team can continuously pull one plow.

Most powerful tractor in the 5000 pound class. Delivers 14 to 16 per cent more drawbar horsepower than rated.

The 4-cylinder Case valve-in-head motor—head removable. Burns kerosene successfully and economically. Efficient air strainer prevents dust and grit entering cylinders.

Cut steel heat treated transmission gears, enclosed and running in oil. Hyatt Roller Bearings.

When plowing, all wheels travel on unplowed ground. Combined tire width 32 inches. Absolutely no side draft.

Friction clutch pulley with brake, regular equipment. Drives 30x36 Case Thresher with blower, feeder and grain handler; Case No. 15 silo filler and other machines requiring similar power.

The 16-inch idler can be clutched in with a lever and used as an extra driver.

THIS Case 10-20 Kerosene tractor pulls two 8-foot double disc harrows. With it a field can be harrowed in a jiffy.

You'll never go back to the old, slow way, once you use this outfit.

For every farm duty, either draft or pulley, this Case 10-20 is ever ready, day and night. Ready to plow, to disc, to seed, to harvest, to thresh. It can run a 20x36 Case Thresher, or a Case No. 15 Silo Filler with 40-foot blower. You can use it throughout the year.

We'll be glad to show you what this tractor can do, and go over the specifications with you. You'll want no other, once you know this Case 10-20.

W. F. Pavey

We are Selling More Rugs, Curtains and Draperies--- than any firm in Northern Iowa! Why?

Because we carry the Best Stock. Because we have the largest assortment.

Because we have them at any price you wish to pay.

We make up Curtains, Draperies and Cretonnes for you. We also make Rugs any size. If you will give us a chance we will demonstrate that we can suit you on colors, on style and on quality at the lowest prices.

Glad to figure with you on your shade order

The Damon-Igou Co.

Mason City, Iowa

THIS WOMAN SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

By taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, One of Thousands of Such Cases.

Black River Falls, Wis.—"As Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from an operation, I cannot say enough in praise of it. I suffered from organic troubles and my side hurt me so I could hardly be up from my bed, and I was unable to do my housework. I had the best doctors in Eau Claire and they wanted me to have an operation, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me so I did not need the operation, and I am telling all my friends about it."—Mrs. A. W. BINZER, Black River Falls, Wis.

It is just such experiences as that of Mrs. Binzer that has made this famous root and herb remedy a household word from ocean to ocean. Any woman who suffers from inflammation, ulceration, displacements, backache, nervousness, irregularities or "the blues" should not rest until she has given it a trial, and for special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

The Wrong Office.

An absent minded professor out of a job got one temporarily as a book agent.

"Permit me to show you a new dictionary of the English language," he said to the first man on whom he called.

"But I don't speak the English language," impatiently responded the man, who happened to be a busy lawyer.

"I—I beg your pardon," hastily apologized the absent-minded professor as he backed out.—Boston Transcript.

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured

by LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE will cure catarrh It is taken internally and acts through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is composed of some of the best tonics known, combined with some of the best blood purifiers The perfect combination of the ingredients in HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is what produces such wonderful results in catarrhal conditions.

Druggists 75c Testimonials free.

F. J Cheney & Co., Props., Toledo, O.

According to the old saw, "Every dog has his day" So has every saint for that matter

MY HEAD!

When the head feels thick or aches, when one feels all out-of-sorts—perhaps a coated tongue—it is the signal that poisons are accumulating in the system, and should be cleaned out at once.

Auto-intoxication can be best ascribed to our own neglect or carelessness When the organs fail in the discharge of their duties, the putrefactive germs set in and generate toxins—actual poisons, which fill one's own body.

Sleepiness after meals, flushing of the face, extreme lassitude, biliousness, dizziness, sick headache, acidity of the stomach, heartburn, offensive breath anemia, loss of weight and muscular power, decrease of vitality or lowering of resistance to infectious diseases, disturbance of the eye, dyspepsia, indigestion, gastritis, many forms of catarrh, asthma, eczema, skin affections and allied ailments result from auto-intoxication or self-poisoning.

Take castor oil or procure at the drug store, a pleasant vegetable laxative called Dr Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, composed of May-apple, aloes and jalap.

Now Is the Time to Buy a Farm in Good Old U.S.A.

Although the war is over the demand for food continues The business of producing things to eat therefore, gives promise of paying satisfactory dividends

The U S RAILROAD ADMINISTRATION offers the co-operation of its HOMESEEKERS' BUREAU to those who wish to engage in farming, stock raising, dairying, poultry raising, fruit growing and kindred pursuits. Free information will be furnished about farm opportunities in any State on request

Write today Give me the name of the State you want information about say what line of farm activity you wish to follow and the number of acres you will need and let me know what kind of terms you desire The more particulars you can send regarding your requirements, the better I can serve you

Nothing to Sell Only Information to Give

J. L. EDWARDS, Manager,
Agricultural Section, U S Railroad Administration, Room 2000, Washington, D. C.

Guaranteed 4500 and 7000 Miles

30 MINUTES OR LESS SERVICE
If you want to save money on tires, tubes and accessories write us for particulars.
25 Per Cent Discount

AUTOMOBILE OWNERS TIRE CORP
Sold By Dealers Everywhere
SIOUX CITY, IOWA

THE CURVED BLADES

By CAROLYN WELLS

Author of "A Chain of Evidence," "The Gold Bag," "The Clue," "The White Alley," Etc.

CHAPTER XX—Continued.

Stone got up and wandered around. What had that poison been in before it was put in that glass?

The ever-recurring thought that someone might have brought it to the boudoir after preparing it elsewhere, he would not recognize. A sort of sixth sense convinced him that if he kept on looking he must find that clue.

He went into the bedroom. The beautiful appointments, replicas of Marie Antoinette's, seemed to mock at his quest. "We know," they seemed to laugh at him, "we know all about it, but we will never tell."

Untouched since Estelle's deft hand had turned back its silken coverlets, the bed seemed waiting for some fair occupant. With a sigh at the pathos of it, Stone suppressed an involuntary thought of the incongruity of that gilded, lace draped nest, and its pitifully unbeautiful owner. There was a profusion of embroidered pillows, and across the satin puff lay a fairylike night robe of gossamer texture and coquettish ribbons. A peignoir of pink crepe lay beside it, and on the floor a pair of brocade mules waited in vain for feet that would never again slip into their furred linings.

There was nothing helpful here, and with a sigh Stone went on to the bath room. Fit for a princess, the shining white and gleaming silver showed careful readiness. Embroidered towels, delicate soaps and perfumes were in place—all showed preparation, not use.

"If I were searching traces of Estelle, now," groaned Stone, despairingly, to himself, "I could find thousands. But Miss Carrington didn't come in here at all. But, whoever rinsed that glass did!" The thought caused Stone to start with eagerness. It was the fact of the glass being out of line with the other appointments of the wash stand that had first attracted his attention to it. After the test, the glass had been returned to its place, now in strict position between a silver cup and a flask of violet water.

"Spoon in it," mused Stone. "Shows carelessness on the part of whoever put it there. Don't believe a spoon was in a glass, generally, in this celestial bathroom If——"

His ruminations were cut short by a shock of surprise Under the wash stand was a small waste basket. Had this been overlooked by the searchers? Not surprising, for thorough search had not been made in bedroom or bathroom, as in the room where death had taken place.

Stone mechanically looked over the contents of the little basket. There was only a scant handful of papers. But carefully spreading a towel on the floor he turned the basket upside down. Tremblingly he fingered the papers. The first was the wrapper that had contained a cake of French soap. At a glance, Stone saw the corresponding soap in its silver dish. Estelle had doubtless placed it there, casting away its paper.

But among the scraps was another paper—two more. They were—they surely were in creases like the folds of a powder paper!

With lightest touch, Stone unfolded them There was one, about four inches square, that had been folded as if to contain a powder. This was white, and of a texture like writing paper The other was of a paraffin paper, exactly the same size and shape, and in similar creases. Also there was a bunchy ball of tin foil, that, when smoothed out, proved to be of identical shape and size with the other two

There was no room for doubt. These were unquestionably the wrappers of the aconitine! Stone detected on the inside of the paraffin paper traces of the powder itself and knew that a test would prove his discovery a true find.

Now, then, where did he stand? To his own mind, what he had found proved that Miss Carrington had herself gone to her bathroom, opened the powder, thrown the papers carelessly in the basket, and then, mixing the stuff with water, had taken it then and there and rinsed the glass and set it back on the shelf. It was all natural and plausible.

But, he well knew, others would say that, remembering her detestation of medicaments, Miss Lucy Carrington never did such a thing. Also, they would say, someone else, someone of whom Miss Lucy felt no fear, had mixed the draught, and had administered it, by means of some yet undiscovered but plausible misrepresentation.

And only two well he knew whose name would be associated with the deed!

Heavy of heart, he returned to the boudoir and sat in the easy chair, before the mirror.

New thoughts came surging. It was sure, now, that Miss Carrington took the aconitine in a glass of water, in her own apartments—one of them—and took it, if not knowingly or willingly at least without any great objection or disturbance. Clinging to this theory that she was alone, Stone visualized her taking the draught by herself. Assume for the moment, an intended headache cure—but no! If she took the aconitine alone and voluntarily, she knew it was poison, for she said, "Tomorrow I shall be freed forever from this homely face."

Did it all come back, then, to suicide? No, not with that glad face, that happy smile, that joyful look of anticipation. A suffering invalid, longing for death, might thus welcome a happy release, but not life-loving Lucy Carrington.

It was too bewildering, too inexplicable. Again and again Stone scanned the powder papers. They told nothing more than that they were the powder papers. That was positive, but what did it prove? To whom did it point?

Frowning, Stone studied his own face in the mirror before him. Desperately, he repeated again all the sentences on Anita's list.

At one of them he paused, even in the act of repetition.

He stared blankly into his own mirrored eyes, a dawning light beginning to flame back at him. Then, a little wildly, he glanced around—up, down and back, to his almost frenzied, reflected face.

"Oh!" he muttered, through his clinched teeth, for Stone was not a man given to strong expletives, "it is! I've got it at last! The powder, the pearls—the snake! My heavens! the snake! Oh, Pauline, my love, my love—but who? who? Have I discovered this thing only to lead back to her? I won't have it so! I am on the right track at last, and I'll follow it to the end—the end, but it shall not lead, I know it will not—to my heart's idol, my beautiful Pauline!'

XXI.

FLEMING STONE'S THEORY.

Alone in the library, Fleming Stone and Detective Hardy were in counsel.

"I'm going to show you this thing as I see it, Mr. Hardy," said Stone. "I frankly admit it's all theory, I haven't a particle of human testimony to back it, but it seems to me the only solution that will fit all points of the mystery. And I shall ask you to consider it confidential for the present, until I can corroborate it by unmistakable proofs."

Hardy nodded assent, his eyes fixed on the speaker in a sort of fascination

This young detective had not been at all idle of late, but his work had amounted to nothing definite, and though he was himself convinced that Pauline Stuart was responsible for her aunt's death, he seldom exploited that view before Stone, having learned that it was an unwelcome subject.

"Here's the theory in a very small nutshell," said Stone; "but remember, you're not to mention it to anyone until I give you permission Miss Lucy Carrington took that powder, thinking it a drug that would make her beautiful."

"A charm? a philter?" Hardy's eyes seemed to bulge in his excitement

"I'm not sure whether it was a fake magic affair, say, from a clairvoyant or fortune teller, or whether it was a plain swindle from a beauty doctor or something of that sort. You know such people play on the credulity of rich patrons and get enormous sums and a promise of secrecy for a so called beauty producer."

"But why would the beauty doctor or the clairvoyant person give a patient poison?"

"They didn't They gave a harmless powder, and some evil minded person added the aconite, secretly, knowing of the beauty scheme."

"Who did it?"

"That's yet to be discovered, but it will be easier if we can trace the one who sold her the nostrum Now, listen while I reconstruct the scene. Miss Carrington, having dismissed her maid, goes to her bathroom and takes the powder, dissolved in water. These powder papers, which I found in her bathroom waste basket, carry out that idea."

Hardy stared at the papers, but did not interrupt the speaker

"Then, joyfully waiting the effect of the charm, she sits in front of the mirror to watch her features become beautiful. This is why she said to her own reflection, 'Tomorrow I shall be freed forever from this homely face!' She gazed at the picture of Cleopatra above her dressing table, and said, 'Yours is the most beautiful face I have ever seen. I wish mine were as beautiful.' The remarks concerning Count Charlier were addressed to the glove which she held in her hand, a sentimental part of the whole performance."

"Mighty interesting, Mr. Stone, but pretty fantastic, so far."

Fleming Stone gave his slow, grave smile, that always betokened a surety of his own statements. "Wait a bit, Hardy, before you condemn this notion I haven't finished yet. Now Cleopatra figures pretty strongly in graphs taken after death. They show the lady exactly as she looked when she sat there. See, she is gazing at the picture of Cleopatra, too intently to be merely a casual glance. And, what do you think of this? She gazed at Cleopatra, and, holding the count's glove, her mind and heart full of the count, who would adore her when she achieved this looked for beauty, she said, 'You are the Mark I aim at!' meaning, as Cleopatra had her Mark Antony, she, Lucy Carrington, aimed at the mark of her choice—the count."

"If that's true, Mr. Stone, you are the wizard of the ages! How did you dope it out? What——"

"Now, wait a minute. This isn't the pipe dream you think it But listen while I tell the rest in my own way"

"Listen! I should think I would! Go on."

"You know, these fakers give out these charms with all sorts of fool directions to impress the duped customer As I say, I'm not sure yet whether it was a professional of the clairvoyant type, or a regular beauty doctor. But in either case, I've no doubt that Miss Carrington paid him enough to compensate for giving up his practice and leaving for parts unknown. For after the charm failed to work of course she would expose the fraud"

"But the poison——"

"Never mind that for the moment, Mr. Hardy Surely, if we can discover for certain how and why the dose was taken, it will go far to help us trace the criminal who added the deadly element to the powder Now, continuing the Cleopatra idea, I am sure that the clever clairvoyante—we'll assume that's what she was——"

"She?"

"Merely to designate this faker person. Somehow I seem to see her as one of those crystal gazing, frowsy headed, kimonoed females, who prey on the credulity of rich and foolish women—well, let's call her that for the present, this clever clairvoyante somehow conceived the idea of offering to make Miss Carrington as beautiful as Cleopatra. Perhaps she had been here to see Miss Carrington on the subject, and that beautiful picture of Cleopatra put it into her head. But, assuming something of this sort, assume further that she directed Miss Carrington to robe herself, in a general way, like the queen in the picture Note the pearls! Wouldn't this explain Miss Carrington's getting her pearls from the bank for this occasion? And wouldn't it explain her speech 'You love pearls, as being addressed to Cleopatra, to whom she was talking?"

"Go on, Mr Stone! Go on!"

"I will go on! Wouldn't that explain as nothing else on this green earth can, the purchase of a paper snake by the woman who feared and abhorred the reptiles? Supposing the fool clairvoyante had told her that to become like Cleopatra she must have a semblance of a snake at her throat, as Cleopatra had the asp!"

"Good heavens!"

"I tell you, Mr Hardy, nothing else would account for that snake! And any of these things might seem the result of a lunatic imagination by itself, but taken all together, the theory holds water! Why think of the oriental scarf, the embroidered robe, the mass of jewels in addition to the significant pearls, and the scarabs! All point to the type of Cleopatra. If there had been a picture on the wall, say, of Helen of Troy, and Miss Carrington had been rigged up in a Greek costume, with a fillet in her hair, and sandals on her feet—or if the picture had shown the Goddess of Liberty, and we had found Miss Carrington draped in an American flag, could anyone have denied the significance? There can be no doubt—no doubt in this world, Hardy, that the costume, the jewels and the snake all point to a connection with the picture of Cleopatra, and if so, what other connection is possible than the one I've blocked out? Answer me that! And, finally, the speech to the count, whose glove she fondled 'You are the Mark I aim at.' A pleasantry of wording inevitably suggested by the thought of the man Cleopatra charmed and the man Miss Carrington desired to charm And a play on words, too, not at all unnatural to her, for I'm told she was both witty and clever in conversation."

"Mr. Stone, I am carried away by your arguments. I can't deny their plausibility, but I am bewildered How did you fathom this remarkable plan?"

"Simply because there is no other plan that will fit the facts I believe Miss Carrington did say all those things Miss Frayne relates I believe she was alone in the room when she said them. Therefore, they must have had some meaning, and the meanings I have just ascribed to them must be the true ones"

"They must be——"

"And I will further satisfy you that they are. Here is a memorandum I found in Miss Carrington's desk. It is, as you see, a list of items Read it."

Hardy's eyes stared more widely than ever as he read:

Green and gold boudoir robe.
Jewels, especially pearls,
Scarabs.
Scarf.
Snake.
Something belonging to H.

"Now, that," and Fleming Stone spoke in low, even tones, without a hint of boasting or pride in his achievement, "is a list in Miss Carrington's own writing, and is undeniably a list of things to be worn on the occasion which she hoped would mean a delightful change to the beauty she so desired to be, but which, instead, was a change to the cold stillness of death. I found that after reaching my own conclusions about the Cleopatra business If I had known it must refer to her costume, but I couldn't have gleaned from it the conclusions I had already come to. Now, Hardy, are you convinced?"

"I am, Mr. Stone. And I am also puzzled. From all this knowledge, we start fresh, as it were, and we——"

"Wait a minute, Hardy. Let's go slowly. Now, here are two ways to look at this thing. I told you about the clairvoyante first, because that first came to my mind as the inevitable explanation. But, suppose, instead of a professional clairvoyante or beauty doctor, some friend or——" Stone set his teeth, but went on steadily, "or someone in the household, planned all this scheme, and pretended to get a powder that would accomplish this transformation, gave it to the unsuspecting lady to take by herself, and in reality this powder was the aconite,"

Hardy jumped. "Then Miss Stuart——" he began.

"Ah," and Stone's face was white and his voice like cutting steel, "Why Miss Stuart? Why not Miss Frayne, who listened at the door? Why not Estelle, who knew all her mistress' secrets? Why not Haviland, who is openly enjoying his present responsible position as man of affairs? Why not Count Charlier, whose crafty cunning shows on his face? Of course, also, why not Miss Stuart, but why necessarily Miss Stuart?"

"Well, she has run away, you know——"

"So she has, because of unjust and unfounded suspicions! When clues point directly to her, I shall admit them, but when they may equally well point to half a dozen others, I shall patiently investigate them, and learn the truth. Now, I ask of you, Hardy, as man to man, not to favor Miss Stuart unduly, but to give her a fair show, and remember her lonely position and her timid nature."

Hardy looked furtively at Fleming Stone, whose eyes were downcast and fastened on some papers he was holding.

"Count on me, Mr. Stone. I am at your orders. I subscribe to your theories, and I will do exactly what you tell me, and no more or less."

"Good, Hardy, and thank you. Now, look at these papers. They are the ones that contained the fatal powder. See, this paraffin one was inside; then one of tin foil, then one of rather heavy writing paper.'

"That doesn't look altogether like a clairvoyante's work."

"Why not? It does to me. They are mighty careful to do up their goods in an elaborate manner to impress their customers. But, mind you, I don't for a moment suspect this clairvoyante individual of intended murder Either the aconite was added to the parcel from the clairvoyante, or the whole affair was concocted by the murderer and under pretense of its having come from the clairvoyante."

'H'm" Hardy was clearly beyond his depth.

"So," went on Stone, "we must deduce what we can from these papers. What do you see peculiar about them?"

"Just plain little old nothing," Hardy declared after a good scrutiny. "I see, as you remarked, three papers, folded similarly, and of nearly the same size. What do you see?"

"Not much more," confessed Stone, gazing discontentedly at the papers. "And yet, there must be something to notice. Here's one point: These papers, if tampered with, I mean if anything was added to their contents, were manipulated very carefully. You know how difficult it is to unfold and refold a powder paper without making it look messy. These, I would be willing to assert, have never been refolded, or, as I say, if they were, it was done very carefully."

"That isn't much of a clue," and Hardy smiled

"It may be," returned Stone. "It at least indicates a possible elimination of the clairvoyante and an indication of the murderer preparing the powder alone. At any rate, Hardy, I've told you all this in order to ask your help. Will you go and see what you can round up in the way of the clairvoyante of our dreams? Go to all you can find in New York city. That is, the prominent ones. Get a line on beauty doctors, and generally look up this sort of thing. And keep it all under your hat."

"All right, Mr. Stone," and Hardy was off at once.

Fleming Stone put away the papers, and sat for more than an hour in a brown study. It must be admitted that a photograph of Pauline Stuart, which stood on a nearby table, held his eyes much of the time. And his gaze, as it rested on the lovely face, was now tender and now sad.

At last he rang for a servant. To the first man who replied, he made a request that a chambermaid be sent to him.

The girl came, wondering.

"Mary?" said Fleming Stone, inquiringly.

Jane, sir," returned the maid, quietly.

"Good," said Stone. "You have intelligence, Jane, as shown by your calm rejoinder. Now, I want you to go to the various bedrooms or dressing rooms of all the members of the family and of all the servants, and bring me all the manicure scissors you can find. I assume that some of the servants might possibly have them?"

"Yes, sir, some of them."

"Very well. Get all you can possibly find, and be very, very careful to remember which ones are whose. Understand?"

"Yes, sir"

(Continued next Week)

It is rumored that Henry Ford will establish an automobile factory in Jerusalem.

DAIRY PROFITS B

Splendid Returns From Farms Western Canada.

Production of Butter and Cheese, Commanding Highest Prices, Increasing Steadily — Live-Stock Raisers at Height of Prosperity.

Dairying is rapidly approaching of the first positions in Western Canada agriculture. This does not apply particularly to any one of the three Western Canada provinces as they participate in the distinction

A report recently published by Alberta Department of Agriculture shows that in 1918, in spite of adverse conditions of labor and the high cost of feed, there was no decline in the industry. It will be interesting to know that the average number of milch cows per farm is 5.6. The total production of creamery butter in the provinces in 1918 was 9,100,000, against 8,944,000 pounds in 1917

No better evidence of the growth Western Canada can be given than the fact that in ten years the production of butter has increased from 2,500,000 pounds and of cheese from 88,570 pounds to 650,000 pounds. While it is known that in the production of grain so much energy was placed, through which bank deposits were increased, homes made comfortable, farms carefully tilled, it will be realized that the increase in dairy production has been remarkable During the past four years the price to the producer increased 75 per cent

Further evidence of the great interest taken in the dairy and livestock industries is found in recent bull sales At Edmonton the average price of 1 was $231.06; at Calgary 784 bulls were sold, bringing an average price of $269.13; while at Lacombe 179 bulls brought an average of $191.34. Sales in Manitoba a few days ago gave as good an average, or better These sales were attended by farmers from all parts of the country The high prices paid show that good stock was required, and, no matter the price the farmer had the money to pay for it. As evidence of this we find that at a sale recently held at Carman Manitoba, buyers were present from all parts of the province, besides some from Saskatchewan points Five head of Herefords brought $700 each. A Shorthorn bull was sold for $700 and registered Shorthorn cows brought $500 each.

The establishments of creameries and cheese factories throughout the entire West is on the increase and will only be within the period of very few years before Western Canada will occupy a position in the first ranks in the dairy production of the continent.

There is complete government supervision over creameries and cheese factories. The government takes charge of the sales, looks after the manufacturer and employs as heads of the institutions highly paid and efficient managers.

It may well be said that the dairy industry of Western Canada is rapidly coming into its own. At present it is but an adjunct to the parent or foremost industry of the country—the growing of grain, but while an adjunct it is a highly important one The price of farm lands is gradually increasing but not in the rapid proportion that has been shown in other countries This rise in price does not materially increase the cost of production nor lessen the profits that may be derived from an acre of wheat, oats or barley The advance in the prices of the grains has more than doubled the cost of tractors has lessened the cost

The reports from government sources are that the present year will show great increases in immigration over the past four or five years. The man who has made a tour of inspection of the country will give you the reason. He will speak of the fertile soil of the good crops, of the attractive climate of compliance with the law the splendid school system, the almost perfect social conditions that prevail He will have visited settlements composed almost solely of Americans, who have built up their homes and villages, who have brought, and are applying to-day, their experience in economic land culture as applied to large tracts with the result that he obtains yields of $30 an acre land equal to that formerly produced on land that he had seen for $200 an acre. The story of their success he has sent back to his friends in his home state. They in turn follow him, and so it goes on, and immigration to Western Canada increases.

Advertisement.

In Demand.

"Who is your favorite screen star?"

"A man named Hobbs."

"I never heard of him. What company is he with?"

"He's at the head of his own company, and along about fly time he does a land-office business."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

To Have a Clear Sweet Skin.

Touch pimples, redness, roughness or itching, if any, with Cuticura Ointment, then bathe with Cuticura Soap and hot water. Rinse, dry gently and dust on a little Cuticura Talcum. It leaves a fascinating fragrance on the skin. Everywhere 25c each.—Adv.

Over Particular

"I understand they are very particular in that dressmaking establishments."

"So particular that they insist on their mourning suits with self-cuffs."

WITH YOUR KIDNEYS

...ays that old age begins with ...d kidneys and digestive organs. ...e being true, it is easy to believe ...y keeping the kidneys and diges... ...gans cleansed and in proper work... ...order old age can be deferred and ...prolonged far beyond that enjoyed ...the average person.

...over 200 years GOLD MEDAL ...Oil has been relieving the ...ains and disability due to advance... ...ge. It is a standard, old-time ...remedy and needs no introduction. ...GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil is inclosed ...odorless capsules containing ...drops each. Take them as ...a pill, with a swallow of ...The oil stimulates the kidney action and enables the organs to throw off the poisons which cause premature old age. New life and strength increase as you continue the treatment. When completely restored continue taking a capsule or two each day. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules will keep you in health and vigor and prevent a return of the disease.

Do not wait until old age or disease have settled down for good. At the first sign that your kidneys are not working properly, go to your druggist and get a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. Money refunded if they do not help you. Three sizes. But remember to ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand. In sealed packages.

Have You Tried Tuxedo in the New "TEA-FOIL" PACKAGE?

...the most popular innovation ...many years in smoking to... ...packages. Smokers are ...ated with its many ad... ...ages. Handier—fits ...pocket. No digging ...tobacco out with ...finger. Keeps the ...very fragrance of ...acco to the last ...pipeful. Not quite ...much tobacco ...as in the tin, ...but—

10c

"Your Nose Knows"

Finest Burley Tobacco
Mellow-aged till perfect
+ a dash of Chocolate

Tuxedo

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe

Guaranteed by
The American Tobacco Co.

Unnecessary.

"Oh, my," yawned the wife as hubby pleaded with her to arise and prepare his breakfast, "you never let me get my beauty sleep!"

"But you don't need a beauty sleep, dear," answered hubby.

And it came to pass that wifey quickly arose, and there have been more late breakfasts in that household even unto this day.—Judge.

Explaining It.

"This letter from your son is very short."

"So is he. That's why he wrote it."

Sabotage.

"Hey! What the heck ...owded ... customer in the rapid-fire restaurant. "This soup is so full of ... it is almost pasty with ...

"Gee!" triumphantly ... Heloise, the waitress. ... the time there was something ... with that horse-faced guy. That's first! I'll bet he was a busboy. ... had a bad eye. ...

Literal.

"Some, unfortunately, ... the wayside." "Well, ... they are hitting the trail."

"FAKE" ASPIRIN WAS TALCUM

Counterfeiter Caught! The New York health authorities had a Brooklyn manufacturer sentenced to the penitentiary for selling throughout the United States millions of "Talcum powder" tablets as Aspirin Tablets.

Don't ask for Aspirin Tablets—Always say "Bayer."

Don't buy Aspirin in a pill box! Get Bayer package!

BAYER

Always say, "Give me genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin." Insist you want only the Bayer package with the "Bayer Cross" on the package and on the tablets.

The genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" have been proved safe by millions for Pain, Headache, Neuralgia, Toothache, Earache, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Colds, Grippe, Influenzal Colds, Joint Pains, Neuritis. Proper dose in every "Bayer" package. American owned!

Boxes of 12 tablets—Bottles of 24—Bottles of 100—Also Capsules

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

PHYSICAL TESTS.

Col Martin Flack suggests a series of simple tests of physical efficiency which he has employed in testing aviators, but which should be valuable for other persons as well.

Test No 1 The pulse is taken sitting It is then taken standing The subject stands in front of a chair and places one foot on the seat thereof He steps up on the chair and down again five times in 15 seconds holding the same foot on the seat all the while. The pulse is then counted as the man stands If the man is in good condition his pulse should not increase more than 20 beats and his heart should slow down to normal in 30 seconds. If the upset is more than that heart disease should be suspected Certainly the man is not fit in some way

Test No 2 One full expiration is followed by a deep inspiration Then the nose is clipped and the subject holds his breath as long as possible If the subject cannot hold his breath forty five seconds he is looked on with suspicion and the cause investigated The description of his sensation while holding his breath may give a clew to the situation Normal answers would be, had to give it felt he would burst Abnormal answers would be, sensations of choking trouble "blood rushing to the head and lungs became [illegible]

The [illegible] of the [illegible] use of this test in [illegible] another has been developed for [illegible] It shows the oxygen [illegible] tissues and this may [illegible] heart disease kidney [illegible] asthma and other [illegible] basis [illegible] tests are in [illegible] In spite of all [illegible] against Flack [illegible] value

Test No 3 The test consists in [illegible] how [illegible] man can hold his breath after stepping upon a chair seat [illegible] seconds If a man is [illegible] he [illegible] this time be [illegible]

Test No 4 This test is a modification of the methods commonly known as testing lung capacity A fit man should be able to blow [illegible] of air into this machine

Test No 5 This subject blows a column of mercury in a tube as high as he can A man should be able to raise mercury [illegible] millimeters

Test No 6 The subject blows a column of mercury in a U-tube to 40 millimeters He holds it at that point without breathing as long as he can The nose should be clipped The pulse should [illegible] during this test He should be able to [illegible] seconds and [illegible] more than 30 seconds [illegible] good so long as If the pulse [illegible] more than that the condition of the heart lungs and kidneys should be inquired into

REPORT PIRATES BUSY.

[illegible] pirates are [illegible] coast of [illegible] A Japanese [illegible] who was [illegible] swimming [illegible] the sea and brought [illegible] to Japan said he was [illegible] of the crew of eight who sailed in a [illegible] schooner from Tsingtau [illegible] off the Shantung coast three strange junks drew rapidly alongside and 30 [illegible] armed with pistols and swords boarded the [illegible] vessel and put the crew to the sword The [illegible] sailor jumped overboard and swam [illegible] and was rescued

Got the Job.

From the Cincinnati Enquirer

"So you want the job as press agent of the big [illegible] shows," said the Circus Man. "Ever have any experience?"

"Sure, re," said the Applicant.

"Well, what is an elephant?" asked the Circus Man.

"An elephant is a pachyderm," replied the Applicant.

"And what is a hippopotamus?" asked the Circus Man.

"A hippopotamus is a blood sweating [illegible] that [illegible] the Applicant.

[illegible] Man [illegible]

The Right Word.

From the Philadelphia Ledger

[illegible] relates an [illegible] sing [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

When you buy clothes and furnishing the Spring cash in on this big lesson of the war--"VALUE."

See that the things you buy have more than Style and fit, good material.

See that they give "value"—the most for the money

We've picked the goods we offer you with one thought in mind Value First.

The results are that you can be sure here of not only the latest style but of the best value

Men's Suits $20 to $60
Boys' Suits $7.50 to $25

You can't go wrong making your selection from our fine assortment

PATTON BROS.

Mason City, Iowa

"Every dollar does it's duty"

Candy Easter Eggs

A Fine Line of them here

Better order your Ice Cream now for the Easter Dinner. We can also supply you with Fresh Fruits, Nuts, Candy and Baked Goods.

"If It's To Eat---We Have It"

CRYSTAL CAFE

Elder & Fuller, Props.

DOCTOR MISSMAN

PHYSICIAN SURGEON

OFFICE Savings Bank Building. 'Phone No. 1105
RESIDENCE North of Park 'Phone No. 1109

X-Ray Radiographs Electrical Treatments
Eyes Tested Glasses Fitted

Now is the time to make a noise like Spring!

Now is the time to make plans for this year's garden. We have everything you need in that line:-

Garden Spades Forks Hoes
Rakes Plows Garden Seeds
Don't overlook your Lawn or Flowers
Better get some of our Grass Seed and Flower Seeds. Buy a Lawn Mower.

J. W. WATERMAN

The City Dray Line

Is prepared to do your hauling carefully and promptly
Your patronage is respectfully solicited
Charges Reasonable

Henry P. Yahnke, Prop.

Coal Hauling Done

Walter Schultz and family spent Sunday with his folks at Garner.

Clifford Yost spent Sunday with his parents at Garner.

G. P. McCullough spent Sunday at Garner with his parents.

Herman Dietz drove over to Mason City Sunday to spend the day.

Phil Bock left Saturday evening for St. Louis, Mo., for a visit with friends

Osteopaths have a four year course and are licensed physicians. adv.

Chris Gram drove over to Garner Sunday.

Art Wellemeyer was a business caller at Forest City last Thursday.

Art Wellemeyer and family autoed over to Garner Sunday afternoon.

Elmer and Ralph Ludeke drove to Garner Tuesday morning on business

Hugo Neff visited with Garner friends Sunday.

Mrs. A. H. Meyer returned from her visit at Colfax yesterday.

We recommend, sell and guarantee Gould Storage Batteries. Henry Lau & Son. adv.

Ralph Deane, the gentleman who directed the home talent play, spent Sunday with Garner friends.

Clarence Johnson is assisting at the E G Ell Garage during the Spring rush.

John Henschen has been putting in concrete work at Meservey the past week.

Peck Hanson, of Garner, was transacting business in Klemme last Friday and Saturday

Elmer Schmidt spent several days the past week visiting with Garner relatives and friends.

The Royal Neighbors will meet every second and fourth Saturday of the month at the Hall.

Miss Mildred McCullough fo Garner, visited with Klemme friends last week from Friday until Sunday.

Earl Ellsworth, the Garner real estate man, was transacting business in Klemme Monday and Tuesday

G. I Schaper was transacting business at the Court House Tuesday morning

H R. Allaben, the photographer of Goodell, was in Klemme last week taking pictures.

Mr and Mrs. A. Ahrenkiel of Goodell, visited at the Tom Blank home Sunday

Hod Lawhorn and Frank Terhufen autoed over to Garner Sunday afternoon.

Harold Gruetzmacher of Iowa Falls, spent Sunday with Klemme relatives and friends.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Eng. M. E. Church will be postponed until Thursday, May 15th

Joe Johnson purchased a sixty acre tract of land the other day We understand it is the sixty near the cemetery.

Billie Busch was listed with the ailing a few days the past week, but is again on the job at the Wiles Garage.

Lester Stille is home from Camp Pike on a furlough and is visiting with his parents and other Klemme relatives and friends.

Miss Rose Schultz, of Garner, spent a couple fo days the latter part of last week visiting in Klemme with her brother, Walter, and family.

There was a large crowd of Garner young people who came here Friday evening to attend the dance. They drove here in cars.

Work has already begun on the remodeling of the State Savings Bank. Gravel and sand has been hauled and workmen are on the job.

Dr. R. W. Schultz, Osteopath, of Garner, will be at the Hotel Klemme on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings, 9:00 to 12:00. adv.

Henry Lau & Son are running a series of ads on the "Iowa" Cream Separator. These ads are well worth reading and are a money saver for the farmers.

Messrs. Rassmussen and Horup, of Clear Lake, came this week to do the carpenter work in re-modeling the State Savings Bank.

John Etchen and R. A. Jorgenson drove over to Garner last Friday afternoon. The former for dental work and the latter on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Bliss, Art Bliss and the Misses Christine Edmondson and Lulu Olson, of Ventura, autoed over here last Friday evening to attend the dance.

Mr. and Mrs. M O. Barr, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Fuller, Billie Busch and Miss Blanche Liljenberg autoed over to Mason City last Thursday to take in the Yankee Robinson Circus.

A D Gimer and Harl went to Abbot Saturday and stayed over Sunday with his folks. They returned Monday with their car which they left there last fall

Oscar Musfelt, George Musfelt and Holly Lewis were Garner visitors last Wednesday evening and also Sunday afternoon Seems as if the boys are making quite regular trips to Garner

Osteopathic adjustments release the blood and nerve supply, NATURE CURES Osteopathic adjustments are used by the majority of people. adv.

Mrs A H Meyer accompanied Mrs. John Tanner to Colfax, Iowa, last Wednesday Mrs Tanner went there to receive treatment for inflamatory rheumatism and will perhaps remain for some time

Gould Storage Batteries represent the latest advancement in the are of Dependable Storage Battery Construction, exemplified by Gould Built, Gould Designed, Superhard Dreadnaught Plates. adv.

Albert Schmidt was taken to the hospital at Hampton last Wednesday in the hopes that he might recover from the effects of the flu which he had some time ago and which left him in a very weak condition. His many friends hope for his speedy recovery.

Look here friends—We wish you would return the pump tongs and small thread cutter at once or bring us the money for them We like to loan you tools but we don't like to give them away Henry Lau 2w.

The Messrs. Elmer Merten, Vance Olson, McAdams and the Misses Florence Mitchell, Ceil Benzler, Ella Paul and Bremmer, of Garner autoed over to Klemme Monday evening to see "My Uncle from Japan" Some of these people took part in the play when it was given at Garner

Mr and Mrs. Ruddy Baack, Mr. and Mrs. A L Stricby, Mr and Mrs Henry Lewis and Mr and Mrs. A L. Emerson all drove over to Twin Sisters Lakes west of Belmond Sunday for a day's outing and picnic They went over in Ruddy's truck All report a fine time

Marlin Croner returned Tuesday morning from his western trip Marlin was gone about two weeks and during that time he spent a great deal of time in Idaho and later went to the state of Washingon His trip was mostly of a business nature but he found time to look around and enjoy the scenery also

A telegram was received Tuesday by Lew Lewis stating that Mrs. Henry Holm, of Minneapolis, had passed away on Monday Mrs Holm and Mrs. Lewis are sisters. Mrs. Lewis had received a letter from her sister which was written on Monday and at that time she was well, shortly after receiving the letter a telegram arrived giving the news of her death. The remains will be brought to Clear Lake for burial.

Frank Gruetzmacher, A. G. Koerner and R. A. Jorgenson drove over to Garner Tuesday morning to borrow a leak detector from the city of Garner. There are some leaks in the Klemme water system that must be found and checked and with the leak detector they can easily be found without digging pu the whole system. The device is built on the principal of a telephone and has a rod leading to a transmitter which is held on the water pipe and the leaks can be heard thru a little receiver and are then easily located.

WE HAVE THEM!

An elegant display of mid-summer Trimmed Hats, the very hat you have been looking for is here. Miss Stroburh, from St. Paul, has arrived and will be sure to please. A discount on early Spring Trimmed Hats. MRS. JOHN JOSTEN. Adv.

We have it! What

Everything

Which is found in only the best and most up to-date Meat Markets.

You will always find a complete line of Choice Meats, Hams, Bacon, Fancy Meats and Canned Goods

Try Our Oleomargarine---It's Fine

J. P. Larsen & Son

Quick Loans---Satisfactory Terms

An institution that makes a business of loaning money naturally better equipped to give quicker and more satisfactory than individuals who loan money as a side-

Regardless of your requirements we have the facilities and resourses to meet them. Further, you will get courteous and square treatment here and the best possible terms

If you need money for a short or long term and want to be rid of the usual red-tape and delay, investigate our facilities.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Klemme Iowa

Subscribe Today at $1.5

All Kinds of Hardware

HARDWARE AND GROCERIES

Stoves and Furnaces

Paints, Oils, Feed, Flour, Cream Separators, Buggies, Wagons, Gasoline Engines.

All Kinds of Farm Machinery

GREUTZMACHER BROS

KLEMME DRAY LINE

LLOYD LAU, PROPRIETOR

A share of your patronage is solicited.

All work attended to promptly and carefully.

Coal Hauling Done Promptly

Telephone No. 14

M. O. HOCUM

The Grain, Coal and Live Stock Man.

We will buy Hogs and Grain six days in the week at Highest Market Price

Successor to W. R. Bloom

DR. L. R. PARSONS

DENTIST

Office 1st Floor State Savings

Phone No 48.

Klemme Iowa

KLEMME TIMES

Klemme, Iowa, Thursday, May 8, 1919 — $1.50 In Advance. $2.00 Outside of County

World's Record in a Model 90

Won over all cars regardless of size or make

Goes One-sixth around World, 4370.1 Miles in 7 day non-stop run with gear sealed in High.

This Overland Model 90 traveled continuously for seven days and seven nights, in rain and fair, over muddy country roads and slippery city pavements and through the traffic of a busy city. The motor had not once been stopped nor had it missed a single explosion in 168 hours of continuous running. These was no gear shift lever for the driver. That had been removed and the gear sealed in high.

4,370 Miles In 7 Days

In the seven day non-stop, gear-sealed-in-high run, the car had traveled 4,370.1 miles. That breaks the world's record by 129.1 miles. And the previous record was made in Los Angeles as far back as 1914.

Traveling a distance equal to a trip from New York to Los Angeles and back to Oklahoma, or one-sixth of the way around the world, the Overland 90 re-established in this remarkable run it's claim to the title by which the public best appreciates it-the Thrift Car.

1. The car traveled 4,370.1 miles in a 168 hours at a total running cost for gasoline and oil of less then two cents a mile---to be exact one and 17-100 cents for each mile.

2. The model 90 motor ran continuously for 168 hours. The log of the trip shows that no adjustments were made to the motor during that time.

3. The carbuator was never touched. Yet the Overland Model 90 despite weather conditions and road wear and a tight squeeze the second day to avoid a serious accident in the street never missed an explosion.

4. Champion Spark plugs were used. Not one had to be changed.

624 Miles a Day

5. The average speed maintained by the Model 90 was 26.01 miles an hour. The average daily milage was 624.3 miles. Only one day of the trip did the car fail to exceed th A. A. A. official non-stop 24 hour milage record of 587 miles. That was the third day. The car fell short of the A.A.A. record then by eight miles only.

6 The gasoline consumption was very low. The car averaged 20.66 miles on a gallon. The gasoline used was 59 test, Sterling brand.

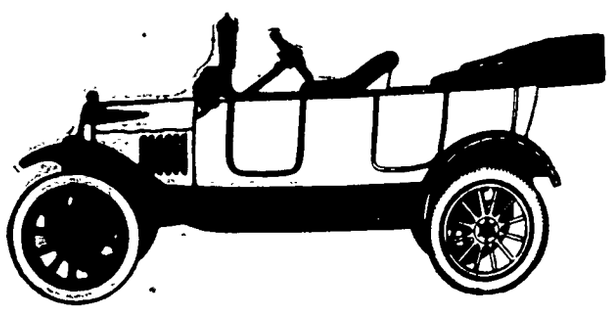
7. The oil consumption would satisfy any motorists pocketbook. Only 5 7-8 gallons were used to send the Overland 90 over 4,370 miles of road and pavement. The oil cost $4.70.

C. W. WILES, Dealer

Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Ford cars are more useful today then ever before; a necessity in village, town, city or country; the utility of the farmer, merchant, manufacturer, architect, engineer, contractor, salesman, doctor, clergyman; a profitable factor in the life of the nation. Runabout, $500; Touring Car, $525 One Ton Truck Chasis, $550; Coupe, $650; Sedan, $775 Above prices f. o. b. Detroit. We can get but a limited quantity. Please give us your order at once as first come get first delivery.



E. G. ELL

Authorized Dealer

CLOTHING CAMPAIGN FOR LIBERATED PEOPLE OF EUROPE EXTENDED

Klemme, Iowa, May 8, 1919

Today over 400,000 children in Armenia are without parents, homes, clothing Many of those children do not even know who they are All of them are walking skeletons. These people must be clothed by the people of America or perish for the want of clothing.

The cit yis asking for everything in the way of clothing that men, women and children wear, including shoes and bedding. If people who read this notice will go through their attics and gather up a bundle of clothing and deliver it to the Red Cross rooms in the First National Bank at Klemme, between the hours of 2 and 5 p. m., Wednesday, May 14th, they will materially assist in the relief of this situation. The committee will be present to receive the clothing.

—Chairman

ECK OUT TRACKING ROBBERS

A. E. Raw was called to Hartland, Minn., Friday with his bloodhound Buster to trace Robbers who had stolen one hundred dollars from a drug store and articles of clothing from a general store. He was successful in getting two trails and each led to a point in the road where the thieves must have boarded an automobile.—Britt News-Tribune.

ENGLISH METHODIST CHURCH

There will be but one preaching service on Sunday, at 10:30 a. m., the service in the evening being a union service at the German Methodist church. The morning subject will be "Centenary." Every member is desired present and all friends. Sunday School at 11:30. Special music. Come.

A. W. Barnlund, Pastor

Any Honest Task Attractive.

Any honest task is capable of being so largely conceived that he who enters into it may see, stretching before him, the promise of things to do and be, that will stir his enthusiasm and satisfy his best desires.—Phillips Brooks.

A FINE COLLECTION OF WAR RELICS

W. F. Pavey has about the best collection of World War souvenirs that we have yet seen. His brother-in-law, Herman Coobs, sent them to him, a few at a time until now Mr. Pavey has a very fine collect on at his office.

The collection composes one German steel helmet, two gas masks, both of which are in the original containers, one gas mask is for wounded men and is in a Red Cross box, the other is the regular soldier's mask. He also has an extra chemical box for this one In his collection he has two German 3 inch shells, 2 German books, a German water canteen, 2 anti-tank cartridges, and a beautiful smoking set made from French 75 shell. About the cleverest piece of mechanism that he has is a folding saw. When the saw is folded up it is wound into a circle and is about 1 inch htick and 3 inches in diameter, but when it is unfolded is a regular wood cutting saw about six feet long. It was perhaps used for cutting down trees and logs, etc.

Mr. Pavey has the above articles on display in his office at the blacksmith shop and will gladly show them to anyone who wants to see them. If anybody near Klemme or in Klemme has a better or larger assortment of war relics we would like to hear from them.

Mr. Pavey also informs us that Herman has also sent some more souvenirs and he expects them almost any day.

When last heard from Herman was on duty in Belgium.

MAN STEALS FARMER'S CORN AT GOODELL

A farmer near Goodell had been missing his corn from the crib as it seemed to disappear rather rapidly with no apparent cause. He decided that some two legged animal was the cause and therefore he and his son-in-law would take turns sitting up in the hopes of nabbing the thief. He was rewarded for his effort for the other night the thief was caught by Mr. Jim Busick. We are not going to mention the thief at this time until we have the verified news of the case. However, Mr. Busick stuck the muzzle of a shotgun into the thief's face and he immediately began begging like a baby, but nothing doing and no chance to get away. He was caught red handed in the act and will no doubt go to the pen for the crime. That is where a low down sneaking thief should be as he is a menace to the community. It was reported to us that the thief had a good night's rest in the cooler and will be turned over to the grand jury.

As soon as we can get the straight of the matter we will publish a full account of the matter.

JOHN OPSAL GIVES DINNER

Sunday evening John Opsal gave a seven-thirty o'clock dinner to a number of his friends at the Kirkwood house. The dinner was served in four courses and was very delicious.

Mr. Opsal is leaving Klemme Friday night and will take up a position with the Black Hawk Fruit Co., of Waterloo. John says he wanted a good blow-out before he left and that a nice dinner wuld be a good means of bidding his friends farewell.

We are sorry to loose Mr. Opsal from our midst as he is a jolly good fellow and is very well liked. His many friends wish him the best of luck in his new undertaking.

WHO CALLED FOR HELP?

Monday night about eleven o'clock someone near the stock yards called loudly for help. The call was heard and three Klemme men, one armed with a stove poker, one with a repeating rifle and the other with a good reputation as a pugilist, rushed to the scne (of murder?). They searched the stock yards, railroad yards, box cars, and in fact every nook and corner of the darkness, but nobody was present to receive any help. The cop came down about that time also and another search was made but no one to be found. It wsa evident that some poor prune thought he was playing a cute joke by calling for help as loud as he could and then perhaps run away. It is no joke at all and anyone calling for help at that time of night for just a joke should be arrested and heavily fined.

THE KLEMME TIMES

RAY A. JORGENSON, PUB.

KLEMME, IOWA

A London paper, speaking of Lillian Scott Troy, recently deported from England to America, says: She was a wealthy woman of rebellious type of mind who for some reason has a violent animus against this country, and became mixed up with the notorious German, Baroness Von Horst, recently deported. Authorities do not think Lillian Troy actually a German agent, but she was cleverly used by Von Horst, who was always on the lookout for discontented minds of the Troy type. She, with Von Horst, attracted the attention of Scotland Yards with the violent phase of the suffrage movement, again in the London dock strike of 1913 and last year, and in the Ulster trouble in Belfast. "It has long been suspected that much of our industrial trouble, before and during the war, was fomented by the baroness, whose mission was the propagation of social and industrial unrest, aided by Miss Troy. Miss Troy is unquestionably fortunate that she escaped a more severe punishment than deportation."

"During the past four years we have acquired many injurious extravagant habits and customs that must be eliminated from our business life at once, if we expect to secure our fair proportion of foreign trade," the foreign trade convention was told. Suggestions offered were: 1. Cut out a third of your personal expenses in the way of luxuries, and you and your families will live longer and happier. 2. Cut out one-third of the go betweens and middle men. 3. The higher ups and supervising class should accomplish at least 25 per cent more actual work and could cut down their office room and expenses at least 25 1-3 per cent. 4. The laboring man could increase his efficiency and output at least 33 1-3 per cent without either inconvenience or injury. 5. Cut out the present unreasonable waste of materials.

A student of history has discovered that the figure 3 has played a dramatic role in the lives of the Hohenzollerns. Two German emperors died in 1888. Two attempts were made on the kaiser's life in 1878. Frederick William IV's mental disease compelled him to make way for a regency in 1861. The year 1943 brought revolutions and a terrible humiliation for the king. Frederick the Great suffered his severest defeat in 1758 at Hochkirch. The 30 years' war began in 1618, and brought unspeakable misery to the lands of the Hohenzollerns. The Great Elector died in 1688, Elector Johann Sigismund in 1608 and Elector Johann George in 1598. The crowning disaster to the Hohenzollerns came in 1918.

"Leprosy can be cured, in some cases, if subjected to medical treatment while still in the first stages," according to J. D. McVeigh, superintendent of the leper colony on the island of Molokai. "In the last few months we have paroled 19 inmates." Patients when paroled are detained at the Kalihi hospital in Honolulu for observation until it is definitely established that the yare free of the leprosy germ.

Maximilian Harden, in an article in the Zukunft, proclaims Germany's responsibility for such crimes as the invasion of Belgium, cruelties in the war and England's right to join in the war her action being obligatory as a consequence of the violation of Belgium. He accuses Germans who deny Germany's responsibilities in this respect of blindness and insincerity.

The mayor of Bristol, Tenn., has adopted a novel plan for calling the public's attention to ordinances relative to keeping the streets clean. He has had two stencils made which will be used for painting on the sidewalks the following notices: "Observe the Law. Do Not Spit on the Walks;" "Observe the Law. Do Not Throw Paper or Trash on Walk or in Street."

The Fred Fear Match Company, of Bloomsburg, Pa., has begun a libel action against Doubleday, Page & Co. in Brooklyn federal court, for $250,000. In the March issue of World's Work an article entitled "Pirates of Promotion" was published, exposing alleged get-rich-quick concerns. A list of concerns printed with the attack includes the match company.

Recent investigations by the state department disclose the fact that Russian bolsheviists are using a mercenary Chinese legion of 10,000, composed almost wholly of laborers imported from China by the imperial Russian government soon after the war began. Until recently their officers were Germans and it is believed most of the Teutons still remain.

The National Association of Manufacturers reports as a result of the canvass of 4,400 large firms engaged in practically every line of industry that these concerns are almost unanimously opposed to government ownership of public utilities. Vigorous opposition to continued government operation of the railroads was voiced in practically all replies received.

Without having made his plans public Maj. Hugh Knerr, chief of the aviation service in the department of Hawaii, flew from Honolulu to Hilo a few days ago in a big army seaplane carrying three officers as passengers. Two days later the return flight was made. This aerial voyage had never been made before. It is approximately 185 miles.

Mrs. Maurice Hewlett, wife of the world famous English novelist, is an airplane pilot as well as a manufacturer of planes. Mrs. Hewlett during the war had personal charge of a factory which turned out two planes a day for the British army. She was the first Englishwoman to win a pilot's license and the second in the world to do so.

The Zeitung Am Mittag reports from Landsberg, on the Warhe, that the German frontier guards stopped an American Red Cross train carrying food to Warsaw and searched it for ammunition. There was no ammunition aboard but the train was obliged to return to Friedberg so that it might continue to Warsaw by another route.

The sentence of $100 fine and 10 days in jail for a Brooklyn physician who said he was speeding on his way to visit patients, has been upheld.

The Y. W. C. A. of New York is entertaining 125 foreign born brides who are awaiting the arrival of their soldier husbands.

The first open lawn tennis tournament since 1914 will begin today on the courts of the Carlton Hotel, says the London Times.

Switzerland has denounced the commercial treaties with Germany and Austria-Hungary, in order to facilitate negotiations for the renewal of the commercial treaties with France, Italy and Spain.

Word is received by the National Geographic Society that its expedition to explore the famous valley of Ten Thousand Smokes has arrived at Kodiak Island, Alaska.

A St. Paul man died this week at the age of 102, from an infection of a toe. When physicians amputated it he remarked: "The first 100 years are the hardest."

WOUNDED SOLDIER BACK AT BLENCOE

Sustained Four Injuries From German Shell In Their Last Great Drive Toward Paris.

Blencoe, Ia., May 5.—Charles Burger, who was wounded four times by a big shell in the last drive attempted by the Huns, has received his discharge from the Fort Des Moines hospital and is at home. Private Burger left here in the July call last year and was sent to Camp Gordon, where he was attached to a replacement group.

Private Orville Johnson, who joined the 168th infantry of the Rainbow division in a replacement unit and who fought in the Argonne forest is at Camp Upton with the regiment. He will be home soon.

BOND SHAVER MADE TO BUY AT PAR VALUE

Newton, Ia., May 5.—Twenty returned soldiers and sailors called on Willis G. Mann and took him over to the court house. Before he left he subscribed for $4,200 of Victory bonds.

Mann had bought $100 worth of bonds on the first four issues during the drives, but he scalped $2,400 worth at from 80 to 96 cents on the dollar, the latter being about the price paid by the financiers of the country.

He was summoned to appear before the council of defense last Saturday. Instead he went to Des Moines and bought $700 of bonds. He again was asked to appear before the council, but did not respond. Instead he put all his property in his wife's name.

Whereupon the returned soldiers called on him.

The soldiers and sailors have formed a court here. They are investigating all charges against alleged slackers.

IOWA FARMERS WANT HARD SURFACED ROADS

Des Moines, Ia., May 5.—Legislators in a number of the counties which are anxious to proceed under the new road law to improve their roads are being kept busy attending road meetings where the new road law and other motor vehicle laws are being discussed. At some of these meetings votes are taken as to whether or not the county shall proceed to hard surface roads, and the sentiment in these progressive meetings is in favor of hard surfacing to surprising degree, according to the reports received here.

Polk county residents in the vicinity of Ankeny, including farmers and land owners, held a meeting at Ankeny and declared for hard surfaced roads. The workings of the road law were discussed by Senator Parker of Polk county, and the motor vehicle law by Representative Hauge.

TWO KILLED IN CROSSING ACCIDENT

Ames, Ia., May 5.—F. I. Williams was instantly killed and Raymond Duckworth was seriously injured when an east bound Northwestern passenger train crashed into an automobile in which they were riding at a downtown crossing today. Williams and Duckworth, who were delivering mail to a sub-postoffice station, were hurled from the machine.

DESPONDENT BECAUSE WIFE LEFT HIM; TAKES POISON

Cedar Rapids, Ia., May 5.—Despondent because his bride of two months deserted him and because of many debts, Charles Blaine, 21, ended his life here by taking strychnine.

SOCIAL DISEASE CLINICS TO BE ESTABLISHED

Des Moines, Ia., May 5.—Social disease clinics will be established soon in eight or 10 cities in Iowa, according to Dr. David J. Jacobson, of the United States public health service. The cities where these will be established are Mason City, Fort Dodge, Ottumwa, Burlington, Cedar Rapids, Dubuque, Muscatine and Keokuk.

MOVE FISH AND GAME HEADQUARTERS TO DES MOINES

Des Moines, Ia., May 5.—The state executive council has ordered the headquarters of the state fish and game warden removed from Spirit Lake to the state house, the order to become effective not later than July 1.

The new warden, W. A. Albert of Lansing, has arranged to move to Des Moines.

SLOW TO FILE CLAIMS IN RATHBUN INVESTIGATION

Des Moines, Ia., May 5.—None of the witnesses before the house judiciary committee in the Rathbun investigation seem to be in need of money because no claims have yet been filed with the state auditor for fees and mileage.

Even Chief Counsel C. W. Byers who has $2,000 coming to him, has not yet made claim for the fee.

The total cost of the investigation as shown in the appropriation made by the assembly on the last day of the session for meeting this expense was $5,136.24.

The only bills so far paid are that of Frank C. Walrath and E. O. Brenton, who reported and transcribed the testimony. Their bills for 17 days' work and the salary of three assistants, totals $1,700. The fees of the 45 witnesses range from 55 cents to $115.75. The latter sum goes to A. C. Johnson, of Ida Grove.

William Rathbun, sr., and his son have $19.25 in fees coming to them.

ISLAND BOOTLEGGER IS GIVEN HEAVY FIN

Dubuque, Ia., May 5.—One of Dubuque's oasis has been closed. Federal Judge Reed ordered the blind pig conducted by Will McGregor on an island in the Mississippi river off here to close. He also fined McGregor $750 for illegal sale of liquor.

DES MOINES—A general round-up and the indictment of any persons who may be preying upon dishonorable soldiers in Des Moines will probably be undertaken.

IOWA SOLDIER MAY GO TO CAMP DODGE

Lieut. Col. Wilbur Conkling, Well Known to Guardsmen of State, Slated For Hospital Work There.

Washington, May 3.—Lieut. Col. Wilbur Conkling, long prominent in the Iowa national guard and in command of the sanitary train of the famous Rainbow division in France, who has just returned to this country, after making a brilliant record abroad, may be put in charge of Fort Des Moines or Camp Dodge hospital work. He has received commendation of his superiors and he may be asked to remain some months longer in the service.

WEBSTER CITY PLANS TO OWN GAS PLANT

Webster City, Ia., May 3.—The Webster City Chamber of Commerce has started a move toward municipal ownership of the gas plant here. A committee of which President W. F. Cole is chairman will call on the council Monday evening to ask their permission to circulate a petition among the citizens asking that the city take over the plant and operate it. If this is done, Webster City will own all her public utilities.

GIRL INHERITS FORTUNE, BUT STICKS TO ELEVATOR

Fort Dodge, Ia., May 3.—Miss Marie Lehr, 18 years old and operator of an elevator in the First National bank building, now looks upon the bright side of life since she was notified a few days ago of the inheritance of a sum of $9,000 as her share from her grandmother's estate. She says it's a gay life to run an elevator in the day time and ride in a new touring car in the evening.

She will not give up her work of hoisting passengers, as she says those duties will aid at least partially in paying for gasoline for the new car.

DES MOINES MAYOR INTO PACKING BUSINESS

Des Moines, Ia., May 3.—Mayor Tom Fairweather today accepted the position of president of the Associated Packing Company, the new $5,000,000 concern which will erect a plant here this summer. Mayor Fairweather announced that he will not resign his office as head of the city government, but will retire from politics when his term of office expires next April. He is a stockholder in the packing company and is president and owner of the Des Moines Western league ball club.

WOMEN TAKE LARGE BLOCKS OF BONDS

Webster City, Ia., May 3.—The honor of having bought the largest individual amount of Victory bonds in Webster City belong to a woman. She is Mrs. J. L. Kamrar and she subscribed for $5,500 worth. Prior to Mrs. Kamrar's subscription, $5,000 was the largest single amount to be taken here. This was held by Mrs. C. A. Brennecke and was the quota assigned her.

DES MOINES—The state of Iowa may go into the business of manufacturing the automobile plates required by the ever increasing army of automobile owners in the state. The recent legislature made provision for this work to be done in the state institutions under the board of control, and members of the board of control have just returned from a trip east where factories making automobile plates were inspected. The board is now devoting considerable study to this question.

DES MOINES—Maj. E. F. Lucas, of the state adjutant general's office, and Lieut. Col. Frank Lyman may go to St. Louis next week to attend the special meeting of the national guard associations of the United States, where the future status of the guard in this country will be discussed. The guardsmen hope to lay out a program to present to congress with reference to the national guard and its status in this country.

DES MOINES—The state board of health soon will undertake a sanitary survey of all the health resorts of the state and an analysis of the water in those bathing beaches which are crowded with bathers during the heated period of the summer. The water used for drinking purposes at these resorts also will be analyzed.

OSKALOOSA—Guy Thomas, 21 years old, was killed in a train wreck on the Buxton branch of the Northwestern. The engine left the rails and turned on its side. Thomas was fatally scalded.

The increased criminal activity noticeable all over the country recently has increased the rate of burglar insurance. The rates on silks, furs and many other hazardous stocks will be between 10 and 20 per cent higher after July 1.

A writer in The Nation says: "While Mr. Asquith was abroad he suffered the gross indignity of having his letters opened and examined by the censor. A remonstrance against this outrage, addressed to the war office, produced neither remedy nor apology."

Several prominent Germans of the old regime will probably be retained as counsel and advisors by Wilhelm. In this campaign, former Ambassador Von Bernstorff is mentioned, says a cable.

"Astor? Oh, sure, he's a regular guy. Mixes with the gang, and you wouldn't know he had more than his navy salary if you didn't know he was Vincent Astor," say the gobs who sailed with him.

General Pershing knew nothing about his son's arrival, reports a K. C. secretary, until he boarded the ship at Brest when a sailor said to him as he came on board: "Warren is aboard waiting for you."

A beverage exposition is announced to be held in Chicago next November, when many new drinks will be introduced to the public. It is said that former bar-tenders will demonstrate their ability at the affair.

Sulgrave Manor, the home of the ancestors of Washington was bought by a committee before the war for $42,000. It embraces eight acres, is two and a half miles from the railway and a typical beautiful country spot.

The model of the poster, "Sure We'll Finish the Job" is that of Tony Avolar who lives in Provincetown, Mass., with his wife and four children. He was born in Provincetown 40 years ago.

PEACE SHOULD COME QUICKLY TO CHECK BUDDING REVOLUTION

William Allen White Says France Is Satisfied With British Promise, But a Military Peace Is Needed to Forestall Anarchy—Worried By Lenine.

BY WILLIAM ALLEN WHITE.

Paris, [illegible]—An agreement has undoubtedly been reached more or less secretly by which Great Britain will aid France against German aggression. This agreement comes in lieu of an interallied army which France desired as a guarantee of the strength of the League of Nations to replace even interallied general staff which France would substitute for supremacy of superstate. This alliance will be announced by President Wilson in a speech in the near future—a speech in which he will repeat sentiments expressed by French chamber of deputies when he declared France is the outpost of civilization and deserves the support of mankind. The agreement reached by the council of four has not been put on paper and possibly never has been written, but it will be a policy like the Monroe doctrine and will probably be known as the Wilson doctrine. It satisfies France. England has a progressive disarmament program and America has the Monroe doctrine fairly stated and when Italy hears the final word about the Adriatic she will be satisfied also. So next week the Germans will come to hear their fate.

That being settled there are two guesses as to the date of the final peace. If it is a military peace it will be signed before May 10, if it is a negotiated peace it may not be signed until midsummer and curiously enough France is supporting the United States in demanding that Germany be given time to read and digest and possibly discuss the peace. To do that will require at least five weeks. The document contains 150,000 words divided into seven parts. League of Nations, labor chart control, international opinion on trade economics, which section alone is longer than the treaty of Vienna, control of Africa, Pacific Islands, north and south pole, Asia Minor and boundaries of all eastern Europe and finally ports, waterways and railroads. It will take at least one month for German experts on boundaries to translate the boundaries section and trace on maps its demands. If the Germans are given opportunity even to make a rough guess what they are signing in an economic clause treaty, it will require at least a month. Similarly the Germans will need three weeks to make out what they are promising in ports, railways and waterways.

This estimate makes no provision for discussion, and there is no point in giving Germany time to read and digest the treaty if she does not have time to discuss it. It is an easy guess if Germany is to be pampered by civil treatment we shall have no peace until mid summer. And it must be remembered that in all these discussions nothing is said about Austria, Bulgaria and Turkey. America is not at war with the latter two, and there is evidence in Paris that Austria is being lured out of German alliance by the promise of better terms than are offered Germany. At least the Austrians are not to be asked to step up and lick the spoon with Germany.

In the meantime in eastern Europe, from Budapest to Archangel, responsible rulers, such as they may be, are laughing uproariously at Paris—the statesmen who are solemnly sitting about green tables figuring out boundaries, spheres of influence and economic restrictions when the new order in the world is establishing itself, concerned only with giving the laborer his share of the profits with no regard to other matters. Lenine is heading the laughter, and during the week his domain is finding foothold in India and Egypt. His birthday was celebrated in Rome under machine guns on fountains, the Spanish ministry is falling, King Albert slid down from the sky telling the peace conference that Brussels could hold out against bolshevism less than a month longer, liberal socialists are whittling Lloyd George's parliamentary majority daily, and Easter Sunday French socialists met to decide how best to show their scorn for the peace conference—whether by general strike or by an attempt at revolution. Southern Germany is torn by bolshevism, and northern Germany is waiting to hear the peace terms before letting go. Wilson's revolutionary talk during December has profited him nothing. He has piped the European masses into a mountain which looks dangerously like a volcano. And this because while he talked with the ardor of a revolutionist, he has acted with chilly discretion. So Lenine and his crowd are making eastern Europe cackle with their laughter at the Paris show. Certainly if peace does not come by mid summer it will be a peace of anarchy.

(Copyright, 1919, by the Wheeler Syndicate.)

Training Little Children

Suggestions by mothers who have been kindergartners. Issued by The United States Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C., and The National Kindergarten Association, New York, N. Y.

ALLOW your child to have company and playmates as often as you can. When possible, have playmates near his own age. Naturally out of this social intercourse will spring valuable lessons in courtesy, generosity and patience. Always be fair in settling disputes among children. Do not favor your own child's story entirely, for though he may never have told an untruth there is always the possibility of a sliding from grace. Sometimes it is very difficult to get a correct account from excited children. If the quarrel is over a doll or a train of cars and you cannot discover who is in the right, take away the toy remarking quietly that if they can't play nicely with it they will have to do without it.

I do not think that there is a better opportunity than in play to teach lessons in honesty, play is so vital a part of child life and the child takes his play so seriously. In teaching a child to be honest in word and action the parents first must be honest in all their dealings with the child. Never make a promise that you cannot keep, or that you do not intend to keep. For the same reason never threaten. Son if you do that again I'll spank you" for if he does it again you will have to spank him or in a short time he will come to laugh at your authority.

Do not confuse the workings of an imaginative brain as evidence of untruthfulness, but enter into the spirit of the make-believe. In the case of the little tot who says, "Mother, I went out in the garden and I saw some Indians," enter into the spirit of the play and say "Just make-believe Indians dear, you mean?"

My little two-year-old daughter quite startled me one day by insisting she saw lions and tigers and great big elephants out in the yard. She was kneeling on a chair looking out, so I came at once to the window, not expecting to see a zoo in the yard, but wondering what there was to make her imagine such things. There was nothing at all in sight but grass and flowers, so after thinking it over for a second I said in reply, "Oh, yes, I see some monkeys, too—just make-believe, like yours." She looked up at me and laughed delightedly, and at once we were entered upon a new game.

Cheerful obedience is another lesson to be learned from play. A child should not cry or fuss when mother says, "Time to put up your toys," or "Come to me, dear, I want to dress you." The average parents demand obedience, but usually exercise their authority only at such times as disobedience means inconvenience to the parents themselves. It is the teaching of constant obedience which requires the greatest patience and tact in all child-training. You cannot let your vigilance flag for one moment, nor can you allow an offense to pass unnoticed.

This brings up the question of punishments. I have said that children are naturally sociable. An effective form of punishment for most offenses therefore, is isolation from the rest of the family, and no reinstating to favor until pardon has been asked and given. Make your punishment fit the offense. Children are so active that to make them sit still on a chair alone is a sufficient punishment for rudeness, whining and the like. The child who persists in touching things which are not his to touch can be punished by having his hands tied behind his back. I used this form of punishment or "cure" successfully in breaking the nail-biting habit also.

Please pass this article on to a friend and thus help Uncle Sam reach all the mothers of the country.

Veterans Planning For Future.

From the Seattle Times.

An interesting statement descriptive of the work mapped out for the American Legion organized overseas by the United States soldiers, has been given out by Brig. Gen. William G. Price of the Keystone division.

"The Legion," he said, "is to be the Monroe Doctrine of decency. It will uphold what is right so firmly and forcefully that whatever party is wrong will learn to fear it. It is a brotherhood of men who have realized thoroughly their responsibilities to the nation."

His concluding statement is decidedly pleasant sounding. It would indicate the purpose of the men who saw service overseas to inject into national politics the intense Americanism they displayed while fighting for Old Glory in France and Flanders.

Where Medals Are Made.

From the Springfield Republican.

Every medal that the United States government confers is made in the Philadelphia mint. For the war department alone, the big federal money factory at present is turning out 22 types of medals. The badges of honor awarded to Marshals Foch, Haig, and Joffre, and other distinguished allied commanders were the product of the mint.

Marshal Foch is reported to have remarked that the American distinguished service medal is the handsomest military decoration awarded. About 200 separate medals of bronze and brilliant blue enamel are made every week in Philadelphia and turned over to the war department for shipment to the camps and army headquarters at home and abroad.

A Wooer's Woes.

He fondly loved a little maid,
One rich in looks and clothes.
But fate was most unkind to him,
He never could propose.

One day while in his motor car
He murmured, "Will you be—"
And then the honking hack broke down,
And so did he.

Again while in his motor boat
He started, "Dear Marie—"
And suddenly the engine stopped,
And so did he.

While on a trolley car one night
He spoke, "Oh, promise me—"
And then the car got off the track,
And so did he.

An anchored airship they were in.
Thus he began, "Can't we—"
Then up the ship went high in air,
And so did he.

Two years went by, he didn't spy
To suave and sweet Marie—
So she got spliced to someone else,
And so did he.

—From Puck.

A report has been submitted to the British house of commons to the effect that the venomous condition of a large part of the population is undermining its health; that there is a recent increase of uncleanliness among children, and urging that the Cleansing of Persons act of 1897 be made compulsory, and that unfurnished houses be declared unfit for habitation if in venomous condition.

Kansas City is said to be in need of 2,000 houses.

FINE CROPS S

Outlook in Western Canada More Favorable.

Perfect Weather Conditions Early Seeding and Wheat Up Seen Above Ground in Land of Opportunity.

The greatest [illegible] throughout every [illegible] Canada. From the [illegible] of Manitoba to the [illegible] Mountains the farmers have been for three weeks in seeding operations. Last fall, even for Western Canada, was an exceptional one. The harvest was completed at an early date, the amount of fall plowing made for crop from fifteen to twenty per cent more acreage than in any year in the brief history of the country. Therefore there was ready for seeding in spring an acreage away beyond anything ever before experienced in the country.

On April 20 Calgary (Alta.) reported that in south country points there was a notable spirit of optimism amongst the farmers there. The soil and weather conditions were ideal, while land in most places was in the best possible condition. More land were being put into operation than any previous year. In some parts of the south country, however, there was marked shortage of labor, but taking consideration of the country as a whole the labor outlook was bright.

Seeding operations were well under way in every part of Western Canada by the fifteenth of April. The majority of the farmers in that country commence as soon as the frost is out of the ground enough to allow a fine inch seed bed to be worked. Beneath this the ground may be still frozen, but from this frost the moisture and tender wheat roots get their nourishment at first so necessary to vigorous germinence. The warm days of spring and the long hours of sunlight which ushered in with it thaw the frozen soil day by day and pay to the growing plant the moisture as it is needed. Nature's way of producing moisture for the young wheat plant is certainly one of the chief reasons why Western Canada has become world famous as a wheat producing country. What may be said of wheat can as truly be said of oats and barley, and yes, in fact, flax too. Rapid and strong growth is stimulated in this manner. Heavy spring rains usually occur after seeding is over and the grain well above ground.

Already a report has been received dated April 20, that a farmer near Abbribri, Saskatchewan, had 180 acres of wheat showing above the ground.

A good, strong and sturdy growing plant is necessary when it is expected that there will be produced the forty-bushel-to-the acre crop of No. 1 of a quality that will weigh sixty-five pounds to the bushel.

These spring wheat conditions are at present but one of the reasons why Western Canada has been the premier province, with so little effort to record grain crops, wheat crops that have carried off all of the championship awards at America's leading exhibitions.

Western Canada has this year shipped ten thousand bushels of No. 1 Red Fife wheat, the variety that produces most of the world's champion wheat crops in Australia, where it is to be found. Seventy-five thousand bushels of the same variety has been sent to Canada to be used for seed.

The wheat lands of Western Canada are probably the most underrated lands any on the continent.

A comparatively small acreage in Western Canada's lands has been sold as high as $00 an acre. The greater portion of the best farming lands in its unimproved state may be bought at $25 an acre. The competition between these prices and an annual revenue derived from grain growing, with big yields and present prices, but more firmly impresses one with the certainty of a rapid increase in value the next few years.—Advertisement.

Willie's Eutopia.

Visitor—Are you going to be a man when you grow up, Willie?

Willie—You bet! I'm going to be an arctic explorer.

"An arctic explorer's life has hardships, Willie."

"Yes'm; but I can stand 'em, I reckon."

"I like your spirit, my boy. It is a great deal of glory to be won in a career of that kind."

"Yes'm. And you don't have to wash your face."

ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE DOES IT

When your shoes pinch or your bunions ache get Allen's Foot-Ease, the antiseptic powder to be shaken into the shoes and sprinkled in the foot-bath. It takes the sting out of corns and bunions and gives instant relief to Tired, Swollen, Tender feet. Sold everywhere. Don't accept any substitute.—Adv.

Yep, He Would Be a Sight.

"In all my travels hither and yon and return," remarked the traveling fellow, "I never ran across a man who was so color blind he couldn't distinguish a roll of greenbacks."

Nobody to Dislike.

Dere—She seems to like everybody.

June—Yes; she has no enemies.—Boston Globe.

KILL the Flies Now and Prevent Disease. A DAISY FLY KILLER Kills thousands. Lasts all season. Can't spill or tip over. Will not soil or injure anything. Guaranteed effective. Sent anywhere by express prepaid for $1.25. Agents wanted. HENRY SCHERER, 150 De Kalb Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

It seems queer that the [illegible] office should supply stupid

REVISED LEAGUE OF NATIONS COVENANT.

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., April 28.—The president made public last night the revised covenant of the League of Nations as it is being presented today to the plenary session of the conference at Paris. The text, with parenthetical interpolations showing changes made in the covenant originally drafted and made public February 14, follows:

The covenant of the League of Nations.

In order to promote international co-operation and to achieve international peace and security—by the acceptance of obligations not to resort to war, by the prescription of open, just and honorable relations between nations, by the firm establishment of the understandings of international law as the actual rule of conduct among governments, and by the maintenance of justice and a scrupulous respect for all treaty obligations in the dealings of organized peoples with one another—the high contracting parties agree to this covenant of the League of Nations.

(In the original preamble the last phrase read "adopt this constitution," instead of "agree to this covenant.")

Article 1.

The original members of the League of Nations shall be those of the signatories which are named in the annex to this covenant and also such of those other states named in the annex as shall accede without reservation to this covenant. Such accessions shall be effected by a declaration deposited with the secretariat within two months of the coming into force of the covenant. Notice thereof shall be sent to all other members of the league.

Any fully self governing state, dominion or colony not named in the annex may become a member of the league if its admission is agreed to by two-thirds of the assembly, provided that it shall give effective guarantees of its sincere intention to observe its international obligations and shall accept such regulations as may be prescribed by the league in regard to its military and naval forces and armaments.

Any member of the league may, after two years' notice of its intention so to do, withdraw from the league, provided that all its international obligations and all its obligations under this covenant shall have been fulfilled at the time of its withdrawal." (This article is now embodying, with certain additions the old article providing more specifically the method of admitting new members and containing an entirely new paragraph, providing for withdrawal from the league. (The provision of withdrawal was made in the original document).

Article 2.

The action of the league under this covenant shall be effective through the instrumentality of an assembly and of a council, with permanent secretariat." (Originally, this was part of article 3 under the name of the assembly, meaning gathering of representatives of the members of the league formerly referred to merely as "the body of delegates.")

Article 3.

The assembly shall consist of representatives of the members of the league.

The assembly shall meet at stated intervals and from time to time, as occasion may require, at the seat of the league or at such other place as may be found upon.

The assembly may deal at its meetings with any matter within the sphere of action of the league or affecting the peace of the world.

At meetings of the assembly, each member of the league shall have one vote and may not have more than three representatives."

(This embodies parts of the original articles 1, 2 and 3 with only minor changes. It refers to "members of the league" where the term "high contracting parties" originally was used, and this usage is followed throughout the new draft.)

Article 4.

The council shall consist of representatives of the United States of America, of the British empire, of France, of Italy and of Japan, together with representatives of four other members of the league. These four members of the league shall be selected by the assembly from time to time in its discretion. Until the appointment of the representatives of the four members of the league first selected by the assembly, representatives of ——— shall be members of the council.

With the approval of the majority of the assembly, the council may name additional members of the league whose representatives shall always be members of the council; the council with like approval may increase the number of members of the league to be selected by the assembly for representation on the council.

The council shall meet from time to time as occasion may require and at least once a year, at the seat of the league or at such other place as may be agreed upon.

The council may deal at its meetings with any matter within the sphere of action of the league or affecting the peace of the world.

Any member of the league not represented on the council shall be invited to send a representative to sit as member at any meeting of the council during the consideration of matters specially affecting the interests of that member of the league.

At meetings of the council, each member of the league represented on the council shall have one vote and may not have more than one representative.

(This embodies that part of the original article 4 designating the original members of the council. The part providing for increase in the membership of the council is new.)

Article 5.

Except where otherwise expressly provided in this covenant decisions at any meeting of the assembly or of the council require the agreement of all the members of the league represented at the meeting.

All matters of procedure at meetings of the assembly or of the council, the appointment of committees to investigate particular matters shall be regulated by the assembly or by the council and may be decided by a majority of the members of the league represented at the meeting.

The first meeting of the assembly and the first meeting of the council shall be summoned by the president of the United States of America."

(The first paragraph requiring unanimous agreement in both assembly and council, except where otherwise provided, is new. The other two paragraphs originally were included in Article 4.

Article 6.

"The permanent secretariat shall be established at the seat of the league. The secretariat shall comprise a secretary general and such secretaries and staff as may be required.

"The first secretary-general shall be the person named in the annex hereto, after the secretary-general shall be appointed by the council with the approval of the majority of the assembly.

"The secretaries and the staff of the secretariat shall be appointed by the secretary general with the approval of the council.

"The secretary general shall act in that capacity at all meetings of the assembly and of the council.

"The expenses of the secretariat shall be borne by the members of the league in accordance with the apportionment of the expenses of the international bureau of the universal postal union."

(This replaces the original article 5. In the original the appointment of the first secretary general was left to the council, and approval of the majority of the assembly was not required for subsequent appointments.

Article 7.

"The seat of the league is established at Geneva. The council may at any time decide that the seat of the league shall be established elsewhere. All positions under or connected with the league, including the secretariat, shall be open equally to men and women. Representatives of the members of the league and officials of the league when engaged on the business of the league shall enjoy diplomatic privileges and immunities. The buildings and other property occupied by the league or its officials or by representatives attending its meetings shall be inviolable."

(Embodying parts of original articles 5 and 6, this article names Geneva instead of leaving the seat of the league to be chosen later and adds a provision for changing the seat in the future. The paragraph relating to positions to women equally with men is new.)

Article 8.

"The members of the league recognize that the maintenance of peace requires the reduction of armaments to the lowest point consistent with national safety and the enforcement by common action of international obligations.

"The council, taking account of the geographical situation and circumstances of each state, shall formulate plans for such reduction for the consideration and action of the several governments.

"Such plans shall be subject to reconsideration and revision at least every 10 years.

"After these plans shall have been adopted by the several governments the limits of armaments therein fixed shall not be exceeded without the concurrence of the council.

"The members of the league agree that the manufacture by private enterprise of munitions and implements of war is open to grave objections. The council shall advise how the evil effects attendant upon such manufacture can be prevented due regard being paid the necessities of those members of the league which are not able to manufacture the munitions and implements of war necessary for their safety.

"The members of the league undertake to interchange full and frank information as to the scale of their armaments, their military and naval programs and the condition of such of their industries as are adaptable to warlike purposes."

(This covers the ground of the original article 8, but is rewritten to make it clearer that armament reduction plans must be adopted by the nations affected before they become effective.)

Article 9.

"A permanent commission shall be constituted to advise the council on the execution of the provisions of articles 1 and 8, and on military and naval questions generally."

(Unchanged except for the insertion of the words "Article 1.")

Article 10.

The members of the league undertake to respect and preserve as against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the league. In case of any such aggression or in case of any threat or danger of such aggression, the council shall advise upon the means by which this obligation shall be fulfilled."

(Virtually unchanged.)

Article 11.

"Any war or threat of war whether immediately affecting any of the members of the league or not is hereby declared a matter of concern to the whole league, and the league shall take any action that may be deemed wise and effectual to safeguard the peace of nations. In case any such emergency should arise, the secretary general shall, on the request of any member of the league, forthwith summon a meeting of the council.

"It also is declared to be the fundamental right of each member of the league to bring to the attention of the assembly or of the council any circumstance whatever affecting international relations which threatens to disturb either the peace or the good understanding between nations upon which peace depends."

(In the original it was provided that the "high contracting parties reserve the right to take any action" etc., where the revised draft reads "the league shall take any action" etc.)

Article 12.

"The members of the league agree that if there should arise between them any dispute likely to lead to a rupture, they will submit the matter either to arbitration or to inquiry by the council, and they agree in no case to resort to war until three months after the award by the arbitrators or the report by the council.

In any case under this article the award of the arbitrators shall be made within a reasonable time and the report of the council shall be made within six months after the submission of the dispute."

(Virtually unchanged except that some provision of the original are eliminated for inclusion in other articles.)

Article 13.

The members of the league agree that whenever any dispute shall arise between them which they recognize to be suitable for submission to arbitration and which can be satisfactorily settled by diplomacy they will submit the whole subject matter to arbitration. Disputes as to the interpretation of a treaty, as to any question of international law, as to the existence of any fact which if established would constitute a breach of any international obligation or as to the extent and nature of the reparation to be made for any such breach, are declared to be among those which are generally suitable for submission to arbitration.

For the consideration of any such dispute the court of arbitration to which the case is referred shall be the court agreed on by the parties to the dispute or stipulated in any convention existing between them.

The members of the league agree that they will carry out in full good faith any award that may be rendered and that they will not resort to war against a member of the league which complies therewith. In the event of any failure to carry out such an award, the council shall propose what steps should be taken to give effect thereto."

(Virtually unchanged except for changes in language.)

Article 14.

The council shall formulate and submit to the members of the league for the establishment of a court of international justice. The court shall be competent to hear and determine any dispute of an international character which the parties thereto submit to it. The court may also give an advisory opinion upon any dispute or question referred to it by the council or by the assembly.

(No change except the addition of the last sentence.)

Article 15.

If there should arise between members of the league any dispute likely to lead to a rupture, which is not submitted to arbitration in accordance with article 13, the members of the league agree that they will refer the matter to the council. Any party to the dispute may effect such reference by giving notice of the existence of the dispute to the secretary general, who will make all necessary arrangements for a full investigation and consideration thereof. For this purpose the parties to the dispute will communicate to the secretary general, as promptly as possible, statements of their case with all the relevant facts and papers, and the council may forthwith direct the publication thereof.

The council shall endeavor to effect a settlement of any dispute, and if such effort is successful a statement shall be made public giving such facts and explanations regarding the dispute and the terms of settlement thereof as the council may deem appropriate.

If the dispute is not thus settled the council either unanimously or by a majority vote shall make and publish a report containing a statement of the facts of the dispute and the recommendations which are deemed just and proper in regard thereto.

Any member of the league represented on the council may make public a statement of the facts of the dispute and of its conclusions regarding the same.

If a report by the council is unanimously agreed to by the members thereof other than the representatives of one or more of the parties to the dispute the members of the league agree that they will not go to war with any party to the dispute which complies with the recommendations of the report.

If the council fails to reach a report which is unanimously agreed to by the members thereof, other than the representatives of one or more of the parties to the dispute the members of the league reserve to themselves the right to take such action as they shall consider necessary for the maintenance of right and justice.

If the dispute between the parties is claimed by one of them, and is found by the council to arise out of a matter which by international law is solely within the domestic jurisdiction of that party, the council shall so report and shall make no recommendation as to its settlement.

The council may in any case under this article refer the dispute to the assembly. The dispute shall be so referred at the request of either party to the dispute provided that such request be made within 14 days after the submission of the dispute to the council.

"In any case referred to the assembly all the provisions of this article and of article 12 relating to the action and powers of the council shall apply to the action and powers of the assembly, provided that a report made by the assembly, if concurred in by the representatives of those members of the league represented on the council and of a majority of the other members of the league, exclusive in each case of the representatives of the parties to the dispute, shall have the same force as a report by the council concurred in by all the members thereof other than the representatives of one or more of the parties to the dispute."

(The paragraph specifically excluding matters of "domestic jurisdiction" from action by the council is new. In the last sentence the words "If concurred in by the representatives of those members of the league represented on the council" etc., have been added.)

Article 16.

"Should any member of the league go to war in disregard of its covenants under articles 12, 13 or 15, it shall ipso facto be deemed to have committed an act of war against all other members of the league, which hereby undertake immediately to subject it to the severance of all trade or financial relations, the prohibition of all intercourse between their nationals and the nationals of the covenant-breaking state and the prevention of all financial, commercial or personal intercourse between the nationals of the covenant-breaking members of the league and the nationals of any other state, whether a member of the league or not.

"It shall be the duty of the council in such case to recommend to the several governments concerned what effective military or naval forces the members of the league shall severally contribute to the armaments of forces to be used to protect the covenants of the league.

"The members of the league agree, further, that they will mutually support one another in the financial and economic measures which are taken under this article, in order to minimize the loss and inconvenience resulting from the above measures, and that they will mutually support one another in resisting any special measures aimed at one of their number by the covenant-breaking state, and that they will take the necessary steps to afford passage through their territory to the forces of any of the members of the league which are cooperating to protect the covenants of the league.

Any member of the league which has violated any covenant of the league may be declared to be no longer a member of the league by a vote of the council concurred in by the representatives of all the other members of the league represented thereon."

(Unchanged except for the addition of the last sentence.)

Article 17.

"In the event of a dispute between a member of the league and a state which is not a member of the league, or between states not members of the league, the state or states not members of the league shall be invited to accept the obligations of membership in the league for the purposes of such dispute, upon such conditions as the council may deem just. If such invitation is accepted, the provisions of Articles 12 to 16, inclusive, shall be applied, with such modifications as may be deemed necessary by the council.

"Upon such invitation being given, the council shall immediately institute an inquiry into the circumstances of the dispute and recommend such action as may seem best and most effectual in the circumstances.

If a state so invited shall refuse to accept the obligations of membership in the league for the purposes of such dispute and shall resort to war against a member of the league, the provisions of article 16 shall be applicable as against the state taking such action.

If both parties to the dispute, when so invited refuse to accept the obligations of membership in the league for the purposes of such dispute, the council may take such measures and make such recommendations as will prevent hostilities and will result in the settlement of the dispute."

(Virtually unchanged.)

Article 18.

Every convention or international engagement entered into henceforward by any member of the league shall be forthwith registered with the secretariat and shall as soon as possible be registered by it. No such treaty or international engagement shall be binding until so registered."

(Same as original article.)

Article 19.

"The assembly may from time to time advise the reconsideration by members of the league of treaties which have become inapplicable, and the consideration of international conditions whose continuance might endanger the peace of the world."

(Virtually the same as original article 24.)

Article 20.

"The members of the league severally agree that this covenant is accepted as abrogating all obligations or undertakings inter se which are inconsistent with the terms thereof, and so undertake that they will not hereafter enter into any agreements inconsistent with the terms thereof.

"In case members of the league shall, before becoming a member of the league, have undertaken any obligations inconsistent with the terms of this covenant it shall be the duty of such member to take immediate steps to procure its release from such obligations."

(Virtually the same as original article 25.)

Article 21.

"Nothing in this covenant shall be deemed to affect the validity of international engagements such as treaties of arbitration or regional understandings like the Monroe doctrine for securing the maintenance of peace."

(Entirely new.)

Article 22.

"To those colonies and territories which as a consequence of the late war have ceased to be under the sovereignty of the state which formerly governed them and which are inhabited by peoples not yet able to stand by themselves under the strenuous conditions of the modern world, there should be applied the principle that the well being and development of such peoples form a sacred trust of civilization and that securities for the performance of this trust should be embodied in this covenant.

"The best method of giving practicable effect to this principle is that the tutelage of such peoples be entrusted to advanced nations who, by reasons of their resources, their experience or their geographical position, can best undertake this responsibility and who are willing to accept it, and that this tutelage should be exercised by them as mandatories on behalf of the league.

"The character of the mandate must differ according to the stage of the development of the people, the geographical situation of the territory, its economic condition and other similar circumstances.

"Certain communities formerly belonging to the Turkish empire have reached a stage of development where their existence as independent nation can be provisionally recognized subject to the rendering of administrative advise and assistance by a mandatory until such time as they are able to stand alone. The wishes of these communities must be a principal consideration in the selection of the mandatory.

Other peoples, especially those of central Africa, are at such a stage that the mandatory must be responsible for the administration of the territory under conditions which will guarantee freedom of conscience or religion subject only to the maintenance of public order and morals, the prohibition of abuses such as the slave trade, the arms traffic and the liquor traffic and the prevention of the establishment of fortifications and military and naval bases and of military training of the nations for other than police purposes and the defense of territory, and will also secure equal opportunities for the trade and commerce of other members of the league.

"There are territories such as southwest Africa and certain of the South Pacific islands, which, owing to the sparseness of their population or their small size or their remoteness from the centers of civilization or their geographical contiguity to the territory of the mandatory and other circumstances can be best administered under the laws of the mandatory as integral portions of its territory subject to the safeguards above mentioned in the interests of the indigenous population. In every case of mandate, the mandatory shall render to the council an annual report in reference to the territory committed to its charge.

"The degree of authority control, or administration to be exercised by the mandatory, shall, if not previously agreed upon by the members of the league be explicitly defined in each case by the council.

"A permanent commission shall be constituted to receive and examine the annual reports of the mandatories and to advise the council on all matters relating to the observance of the mandates."

(This is the original article 19, virtually except for the insertion of the words "and who are willing to accept" in describing nations to be given mandatories.)

Article 23.

"Subject to and in accordance with the provisions of international conventions existing or hereafter to be agreed upon the members of the league (a) will endeavor to secure and maintain fair and humane conditions of labor for men, women and children both in their own countries and in all countries to which their commercial and industrial relations extend and for that purpose will establish and maintain the necessary international organizations; (b) undertake to secure just treatment of the native inhabitants of territories under their control; (c) will entrust the league with the general supervision over the execution of agreements with regard to the traffic in women and children and the traffic in opium and other dangerous drugs, (d) will entrust the league with the general supervision of the trade in arms and ammunition with the countries in which the control of this traffic is necessary in the common interest; (e) will make provision to secure and maintain freedom of communication and transit and equitable treatment for the commerce of all members of the league. In this connection the special necessities of the regions devastated during the war of 1914-1918 shall be in mind, (f) will endeavor to take steps in matters of international concern for the prevention and control of disease."

(This replaces the original article 20, and embodies parts of the original articles 18 and 21. It eliminates a specific provision formerly made for a bureau of labor and adds the clauses (b) and (c).

Article 24.

"There shall be placed under the direction of the league all international bureaus already established by general treaties if the parties to such treaties consent. All such international bureaus and all commissions for the regulation of matters of international interest hereafter constituted shall be placed under the direction of the league.

"In all matters of international interest which are regulated by general conventions, but which are not placed under the control of international bureaus or commissions, the secretary of the league shall, subject to the consent of the council and if desired by the parties, collect and distribute all relevant information and shall render any other assistance which may be necessary or desirable.

"The council may include as part of the expenses of the secretariat the expenses of any bureau or commission which is placed under the direction of the league."

(Same as article 22 in the original, with the matter after the first two sentences added.)

Article 25.

"The members of the league agree to encourage and promote the establishment and cooperation of duly authorized voluntary national Red Cross organizations having as purpose improvement of health, the prevention of disease, and the mitigation of suffering throughout the world."

(Entirely new.)

Article 26.

"Amendment to this covenant will take effect when ratified by the members of the league whose representatives compose the council and by a majority of the members of the league whose representatives compose the assembly.

"Such amendments shall (the word "not" apparently omitted in cable transmission) bind any member of the league, which signifies its dissent therefrom, but in that case it shall cease to be a member of the league."

(Same as the original, except that a majority of the league instead of three-fourths is required for ratification of amendments with the last sentence added.)

Annex to the Covenant.

"1. Original members of the league of nations. Signatories of the treaty of peace."

United States of America, Belgium, Bolivia, Brazil, British Empire, Canada, Australia, South Africa, New Zealand, India; China, Cuba, Czecho-Slovakia, Ecuador, France, Greece, Guatemala, Haiti, Hedjaz, Honduras, Italy, Japan, Liberia, Nicaragua, Panama, Peru, Poland, Portugal, Rumania, Servia, Siam, Uruaguay.

States invited to accede to the covenant:

Argentine Republic, Chile, Colombia, Denmark, Netherlands, Norway, Paraguay, Persia, Salvador, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Venezuela.

"2. First secretary general of the league of nations (blank)."

The annex was not published with the original draft of the covenant.

The sale of bay rum in West Virginia, except when denatured, is in violation of the state prohibition law.

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force.

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are usually due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate quickly produces a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

This increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, soon disappear, the eyes become bright, and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

CAUTION.—Although bitro-phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh-growing properties, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.

One's Identity.

There is, in sanest hours, a consciousness, a thought that rises, independent, lifted out of all else, calm, like the stars, shining eternal. This is the thought of identity—yours for you, whoever you are, as mine for me. —Walt Whitman.

We have to guess what the future, and the merchant who never advertises, have in store.

The colored baby is born to blush unseen.

Strength avails not a coward.

WAS IN MISERY

Mrs. Jobes Was in Serious Condition From Dropsy. Doan's Made Her Well.

"I don't think many have gone through such misery as I," says Mrs. C. Jobes, 139 Federal St., Burlington, N. J. "That awful pain in my back felt as though my spine were crushed. My head ached and I had reeling and falling sensations when everything would turn black. Though the kidney secretions passed ten or fifteen times in an hour, only a few drops came at a time and they felt like boiling water. I soon found I had dropsy. I bloated all over. My face was so swollen I could hardly see out of my eyes. My ankles and feet felt as though they would burst if I put any weight on them. My night clothes became wringing wet with sweat and I would get chilly and shake all over. Doan's Kidney Pills soon had me feeling like a different woman. My kidneys were regulated and all the swelling went away. The aches and pains left me and after I had finished my eighth box of Doan's, I was as well as ever. My kidneys have never bothered me since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me."

MRS. JOBES

Subscribed and sworn to before me,

J. LEEDOM SMITH,
Notary Public.

Get Doan's at Any Store, 60c a Box

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

FOSTER-MILBURN CO., BUFFALO, N. Y.

A Young Girl

well groomed is an attractive sight.

Red Cross Ball Blue

if used in the laundry will give that clean, dainty appearance that everyone admires. All good grocers sell it; 5 cents a package.

Now Is the Time to Buy a Farm in Good Old U.S.A.

Although the war is over, the demand for food continues. The business of producing things to eat, therefore, gives promise of paying satisfactory dividends.

The U. S. RAILROAD ADMINISTRATION offers the co-operation of its HOMESEEKERS' BUREAU to those who wish to engage in farming, stock-raising, dairying, poultry raising, fruit growing, and kindred pursuits. Free information will be furnished about farm opportunities in any State on request.

Write today. Give me the name of the State you want information about; say what line of farm activity you wish to follow, and the number of acres you will need, and let me know what kind of terms you desire. The more particulars you can send regarding your requirements, the better I can serve you.

Nothing to Sell. Only Information to Give.

J. L. EDWARDS, Manager,
Agri. Section, U. S. Railroad Administration, Room 2004, Washington, D. C.

SIOUX CITY PTG. CO., NO. 18-1918

Plasterers, Masons and Cement Workers

Manufacturers of

Concrete Blocks and Brick

Agents for Hollow Tile We are in a position to give Excellent Service in same. Give us a try-out, you'll never regret.

Anderson & Stiehl

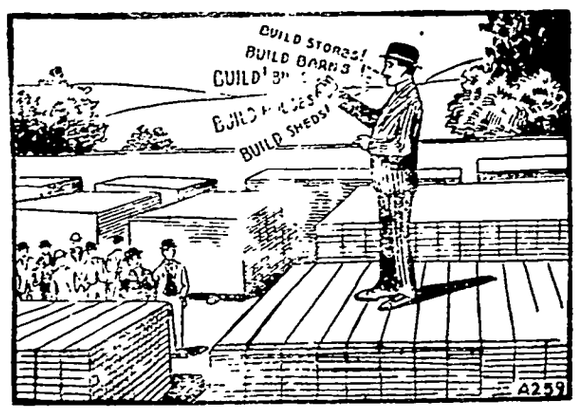
Phone 90 Klemme, Iowa

Sell Your Grain To

Walter F. Lau

And receive the highest price and correct weight. Will buy Hogs every day in the week Also handle high grade COAL Give me a trial and I will Show you the RESULTS

Office Phone No. 16 Residence Phone No. 52



BUILDING RESTRICTION LIFTED

The War Industries Board has lifted the building restriction on farm and city construction, cost not exceeding $10,000 This order went into effect November 12th Farmers, you can now get busy on that new barn, etc, or you who move to town can now build a new house

NORTHERN LUMBER CO.

N. L. PALMER. Manager

The Silo to Buy!

Build with AMERICAN TILE Save money

YOU can build your New Home, Garage, Barn, Hog House, Poultry House, Silo, Granary or other buildings of American Tile for Less Money than it would cost to build of wood and you will have permanent improvements, that require no painting or other expense of upkeep The double hollow walls of American Tile buildings are fire-proof and damp-proof—warmer in Winter and cooler in Summer—more comfortable and healthful.

More Money Made With a Silo

40% of the corn crop is wasted when left in the field. A Silo will enable you to save all the crop. It will supply you with Summer pasture the year around.

Beef cattle fed ensilage make bigger gains and milk cows produce more Many Silo owners say their silos more than earned their cost the first year.

AMERICAN FLINT TILE SILOS

Are built with curved hollow "Flint Tile" Blocks—steel reinforced between every tier. Special construction The American way is stronger. Absolutely guaranteed to stand any windstorm—CYCLONES AND TORNADOES INCLUDED. Last for generations Keep ensilage better Cost less than cement or wood Thousands in use.

Fill Your Silo With a Climax Cutter

Guaranteed to cut more ensilage and better ensilage with less power than any other cutter

FREE BOOK Write today for free illustrated book of Silos, Building Tile, Elevators, Ensilage Cutters, Manure Spreaders and Auto Trailers, or get one from our representative, whose name is given below

W. W. Coates Company

SCHEE BUILDING, DES MOINES, IA.
Sioux City Omaha Denver St. Louis
Kansas City Oklahoma City

Elmer Ludeke

Agent Klemme, Iowa

LAST THOUGHTS OF ROOSEVELT

Desired Republicans to Close Ranks and Give Attention to Domestic Issues.

TANGIBLE EVIDENCE OF WISH.

Colonel Harvey in North American Review Presents Facsimile of Penciled Memorandum Left by Roosevelt.

Theodore Roosevelt's last thoughts were of the great domestic issues of his country, issues whose determination will decide the weal or woe of the next generation. He saw in a united Republican party, just given a vote of confidence and a commission to formulate and carry into action policies of reconstruction, the guarantee of the prompt recognition and successful handling of these domestic problems.

Tangible evidence of this is a memorandum the last penciled thoughts of the late President To Colonel George Harvey and the North American Review the country and the Republican party are indebted for the publication of this interesting document which carries a message from him "who, being dead, yet speaketh." In the leading article of the current number of the North American Review Colonel Harvey sets forth the vital import of this last penciled notation of Mr Roosevelt He says

Facsimile of Last Memorandum of Colonel Roosevelt, Penciled a Few Hours Before He Died.

"Mr Roosevelt died the acknowledged leader of the great party into which he was born. His last written words, penciled by his own hand a few hours before his death and addressed in the form of a memorandum for the brilliant young man for whose selection as Chairman of the National organization he was largely responsible, were these, as reproduced above in facsimile

"'Hays

see him; he must go to Washington for 10 days, see Senate and House; prevent split on domestic policies

'Here is evidenced as clearly as if the few words filled a volume Mr Roosevelt's realization of both his responsibility and his obligation The simple memorandum marked the inception of a definite purpose to be executed through to a no less definite conclusion. It was more than a passing thought or a mere suggestion It was a Message, signifying the need of immediate and unremitting vigilance in not leaving consideration of action in respect of domestic problems before attacking those of wider range soon to be thrust upon the country—a true soldier's call first to close the ranks.

"Nothing could be more characteristic or more clearly illustrative of the breadth of vision, the foresight, the directness in method and the painstaking attention of the man Nothing too, probably could have served his purpose better than that these words should have been his last Sufficient as it is to reconcile oneself to the decree of Divine Providence that the removal of that great patriot at this crucial moment was not untimely, we cannot but realize, as he would have been the first to acknowledge, that the last vestige of animosities which might have continued to impair his highest aspirations was buried with him, and thereby the perfect union which he so ardently desired against all things un-American was attained.

"Thus we find the Republican party resuming full legislative authority thoroughly united and invigorated by the peculiar confidence which so often carried it to victory in former years."

ROOSEVELT'S DEPARTING WORDS TO HIS COUNTRYMEN

Col. Roosevelt died about 4 o'clock on the morning of January 6. The previous evening at a great patriotic rally in the New York Hippodrome a message was read from him, written especially for the occasion. In it was this striking sentence:

"We have room for but one flag, the American flag, and this excludes the red flag, which symbolizes all wars against liberty and civilization just as much as it excludes any foreign flag of a nation to which we are hostile, * * * and we have room for but one soul loyalty, and that is loyalty to the American people."

WOMEN WILL RECEIVE MANY VICTORY LOAN MEDALS

As In Former Liberty Loans, Women of District Will Do Great Work In "Carrying On" to Success the Victory Liberty Loan

Ten thousand medals made from captured German cannon are to be distributed to women Victory Loan workers throughout the states of Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, Indiana, and Wisconsin at the close of the coming campaign

The United States treasury department has taken this means of showing its appreciation of the work done by thousands of volunteer workers in Liberty Loan drives. The medals are to be made from German cannon captured by American troops at Chateau Thierry These cannon have been melted and the metal rolled into sheets, from which the medals are made.

This badge will be the first of its kind to be distributed in the United States since the war It will be about the size of a half dollar and will contain on one side a representation of the United States treasury building, with the words "Victory Liberty Loan" and on the other [illegible] identification of the worker [illegible] Victory Loan [illegible] blank space in which [illegible] the recipient will be engraved

Women all over the country have shouldered a large [illegible] work in preceding loan [illegible] and the roll of honor [illegible] will be just as large in the [illegible] Victory Loan In the last drive [illegible] subscriptions [illegible] amounts of $100 or less, much [illegible] which the women's committees were responsible for

Victory Liberty Loan workers will include many prominent women from this as well as from other sections Mrs G Pelzer Allen of Detroit has been appointed state chairman for Michigan Other states [illegible] working under the leadership of Miss Grace Dixon woman's director for the Seventh Federal Reserve district Mrs Howard T Willson of [illegible] Illinois Mrs James Manner, Wisconsin Mrs F H McCulloch Indiana Mrs W W Marsh Iowa

These are only a few of the many women who will lay aside social and business responsibility for patriotic service during the Victory Liberty Loan campaign and [illegible] among the [illegible] of recipients of the Victory Liberty Loan medals

—HELP "FINISH THE JOB."—

PIANO OR LIBERTY BONDS

Successful Business Woman Says She Cannot Buy Luxuries Until Victory Liberty Loan Is Triumphantly "Put Over."

"No [illegible] piano yet I was just about to buy one when the first Liberty Loan was announced and I couldn't make it seem patriotic to spend for purely personal purposes the money that [illegible] the government I felt just that way about the second Liberty Loan and the third and fourth and of course I can't think of buying a piano [illegible] until the Victory Loan has been triumphantly 'put over' I couldn't make it seem right"

The speaker last year "wrote" over $100,000 [illegible] of life insurance business This year she expects to write a $200,000 [illegible] Mrs Brady devotes to her creditors [illegible] current "buy one of Liberty bond" Oh, yes, she's a [illegible] Her name is Mabel M Brady and she's known to hundreds of Chicago business men [illegible]

She could have bought a piano several times over and still have done her duty by herself and her country in the way of buying Liberty bonds. Putting her full duty as this patriotic and successful citizen sees it [illegible] on the work of the United States government in every [illegible]

She does her [illegible] in the way of War Savings stamps [illegible] to say nothing of Thrift stamps The latter she uses as tips [illegible] traveling, etc. Last

Christmas she used them almost exclusively, for presents for children young people, [illegible] Next Christmas she plans [illegible] while all through the year Thrift stamps will serve her [illegible] as "small change" or currency

"No investment possibly could be so safe or so desirable as United States government securities," says the woman, whose generous income tax was paid cheerfully and without a murmur, because "I'm so glad to have been able to earn so good an income."

—HELP "FINISH THE JOB."—

The money to be raised by the Victory Liberty loan already has been spent. It furnished the "punch" that won the war and saved the lives of 100,000 of America's bravest boys. It is this unspilled blood you are paying for when you subscribe to the Victory Liberty loan.

The war is not over, and our duty to support our forces is not over until they are back home again. The Victory Liberty loan is to bring them back —to finish the job.

We are still the world's Big Brother Stand back of the Victory Liberty loan.

ANKORITE POSTS SOLD BY

Western States Lbr. Co.

Remember

Your money gets into a Bank whether you put it there or not. If you spend all some successful man deposits your money.

Open a Bank Account.

You will be surprised to find how short a time it takes to accumulate a surplus.

We Welcome Your Account

State Savings Bank

WHERE YOU GET THE SERVICE YOU LIKE AND LIKE THE SERVICE YOU GET.

KLEMME, IA.

NEW ROCK ISLAND TIME

North

[illegible] ..... 1:35 p. m.
[illegible] Passenger ..... 3:03 p. m.
[illegible] Passenger ..... 8:44 a. m.

South

Passenger ..... 6.17 p. m.
[illegible] Passenger ..... 11:25 a m
[illegible] Freight ..... 12:15 p. m.

Appreciative Spectator!

Lawyers are not the only class in which a sense of the pecuniary value of their attentions is well developed. It is recorded of a famous actor that in the course of a tour he rewarded the politeness of a waiter at his hotel with a pass for the theater to which all the town was crowding to see the stage favorite in a great play. The next day the actor asked the man how he had enjoyed the visit to the theater. "Oh, it was very nice, I enjoyed it very well, indeed—but—er—who is to pay me for my time?' was the disconcerting reply.

Nothing Good Made In a Hurry.

No great thing is created suddenly, any more than a bunch of grapes or a fig. If you tell me that you desire a fig, I answer you that there must be time. Let it first blossom, then bear fruit, then ripen.—Exchange.

Optimistic Thought.

We must calculate not on the weather nor on fortune, but upon God and ourselves.

W. F. PAVE

The Practical Blacksm

OXY-ACETYLENE WEL

Wagon, Buggy and Mac Repairing

Horse Shoeing and Work a Specialty

Col. B. A. Reemts

General Auctione

KLEMME, IOWA

Farm and Stock Sales a Sp

Call, write or phone 508 K me for dates, terms, etc.

...Satisfaction Guarant

Geo. ZINN

Physician & Surge

Phone No. 19. KLEMME I

Office in Building East of Gruetzmacher Harness and Shoe Shop

Eyes Tested.

Glasses Fit

A Swagger Suit For A Young Man

¶ The waist seam single breasted suit.

¶ A more extreme style in the double breasted waist seam model.

¶ We show them in many pleasing fabrics — the season's latest.

¶ For the older men we show the conservative styles. Prices consistent with good merchandise.

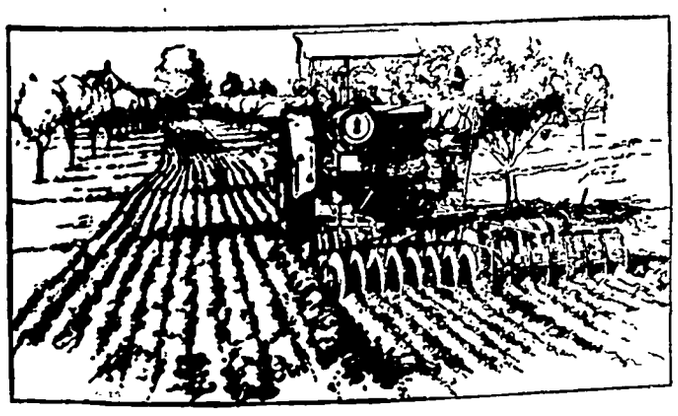
Get To Know

Gildner Bros. & Johnson

The Home of Hart, Schiffner & Marx Clothes

Stores Garner, Ia

CASE KEROSENE TRACTORS



For Field or Orchard

Case 10-20 Features

1—Pulls three 14-inch plows anywhere a team can continuously pull one plow.

2—Most powerful tractor in the 5000 pound class. Delivers 14 7-10 per cent more drawbar horsepower than rated.

3—Has 4-cylinder Case valve-in-head motor—head removable. Burns kerosene successfully and economically. Efficient air strainer prevents dust and grit entering cylinders.

4—Cut steel heat treated transmission gears, enclosed and running in oil. Hyatt Roller Bearings.

5—When plowing, all wheels travel on unplowed ground. Combined tire width 32 inches. Absolutely no side draft.

6—Friction clutch pulley with brake, regular equipment. Drives 20x36 Case Thresher with blower, feeder and grain handler; Case No. 15 silo filler and other machines requiring similar power.

7—The 16-inch idler can be clutched in with a lever and used as an extra driver.

THIS Case 10-20 Kerosene tractor pulls two 8-foot double disc harrows. With it a field can be harrowed in a jiffy.

You'll never go back to the old, slow way, once you use this outfit.

For every farm duty, either draft or pulley, this Case 10-20 is ever ready, day and night. Ready to plow, to disc, to seed, to harvest, to thresh. It can run a 20x36 Case Thresher, or a Case No. 15 Silo Filler with 40-foot blower. You can use it throughout the year.

We'll be glad to show you what this tractor can do, and go over the specifications with you. You'll want no other, once you know this Case 10-20.

W. F. Pavey

THRIFT SCHOOL PLAN OUTLINED BY EXPERT

Dr. Shailer Mathews Explains Scope and Purpose of Great U. S Educational Movement for Saving.

By DR SHAILER MATHEWS.

[Chairman of W S S Educational Committee for Seventh District and Vice Director for Illinois.]

Thrift will be taught in the schools of the states constituting the Seventh federal reserve district.

The department of Iowa will help prepare Little Lessons in Thrift which are being written by Prof. Macy Campbell of the Iowa State Teachers' college under the general direction of an educational committee of the district. Besides the chairman the educational committee consists of W. E. Larson, deputy state superintendent of public instruction, Wisconsin; F. A. McNally, Detroit public schools, Michigan, and Macy Campbell, Iowa State Teachers college.

These Little Lessons in Thrift appear in four printed sheets. The lessons are prepared for the different grades of schools. They are illustrated and interesting. They teach saving as a phase of good citizenship, give problems of arithmetic in terms of thrift stamps, chewing gum, candy and other things children buy.

It is a field which is thus being opened to the war savings organization rendering a great service to the rising generation. Nor is it all mere theory. The teaching of the principles of thrift is combined with a sort of manual training in thrift, through the use of War Savings Stamps in schools.

Along with these Little Lessons in Thrift the educational committee furnishes the schools with pupils' thrift cards on which the teacher keeps an account of the amount, however small, which each pupil brings to her for the purpose of buying stamps. This practice thus becomes educational, because each pupil gets introduced to simple bookkeeping and banking.

These plans have received the heartiest co-operation of the school administration in the various states and cities. The parochial and private schools also are co-operating in the use of the material and plans prepared by the committee.

The young men and women of the next generation will have a higher respect for thrift and a better understanding as to how to spend their money, for they will learn even in the primary grades that thrift is not miserliness but a way of spending money so as to get most for them.

—SAVE; HAVE A PERSONAL— — SHARE IN THE FUTURE —

BILLIONS FROM THE NICKELS

Ever Stop to Think of Vast Sums That Can Be Saved From Small Amounts?

If every person in the United States saved a nickel in one day it would mean that at night the people would be just five million dollars richer. And suppose the people kept this up for one month? It would mean that at the end of thirty days they would have saved one hundred and fifty million dollars.

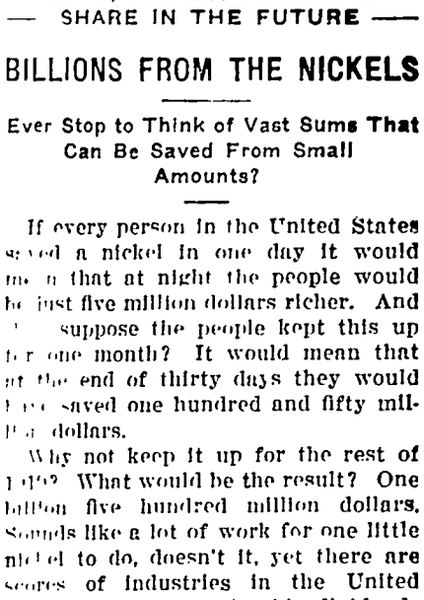
Why not keep it up for the rest of 1919? What would be the result? One billion five hundred million dollars. Sounds like a lot of work for one little nickel to do, doesn't it, yet there are scores of industries in the United States which are paying big dividends on the little nickels gathered day by day.

This immense sum if invested in War Savings Stamps would earn for the savers approximately sixty-four million dollars in 1920—the work of "old man interest," who never takes a day off and who is continuously on the job.

Keep the Money Saved.

Thrift means saving money and keeping it saved. Patriotism does not mean enthusiasm today and indifference tomorrow. Buy War Savings Stamps and hold them. No man's duty is fully done when he purchases the securities. He must hold them.

GARDEN GIVES A LIFT.



A garden gives the game a lift,
And helps us practice ways of thrift;
That give us seeds from which we grow
War Savings Stamps that earn us "dough."
So with a garden toil to save
That you may never be a slave,
But keep on adding to your wealth,
Your peace of mind and ruddy health.

FIRST M. E. CHURCH, SUNDAY, MAY 11th

A. F. Meyer, Pastor

Next Sunday is Mother's Day hence we invite every mother to be present at the morning service beginning at 11 o'clock. The sermon will be especially for mothers. The church choir will render special music at the service. Every young man and woman should attend this service in honor of their beloved mother. The church will be decorated with bouquets of carnations and other floral decorations.

In the evening at 8:00 o'clock Baccalaureate services for the High School graduates. Special music will also be furnished by the choir.

Midweek prayermeeting every Tuesday evening.

All are invited to come and worship with us as we bid welcome to all to come to this temple of our common Father. Here the stranger may find a home, the poor a friend, the rich a saviour. Sorrow will enter these doors and be comforted.| The tried and tempted will find here hope and strength for the battles of life.

John Opsal has resigned his position as manager of the grocery department at the Wellemeyer Department Store and has secured a position as traveling salesman for the Black Hawke Fruit Co., of Waterloo. John leaves for Waterloo this Friday and will begin work Monday. Klemme will be on his route so you can look for him here once a week. Mr Wellemeyer loses a very valuable man but Mr. Opsal is taking the other position for the betterment of his health as it gives him an opportunity to be out-of-doors the greater part of the time. We wish John all kinds of good success and that he will regain his health again.

Saturday a man with the dredging outfit near Klemme had the misfortune to injure one of his fingers when it was crushed between some heavy pieces of the machine. He was brought to Klemme and the finger was amputated. We did not learn the man's name. A few days before this A. L. Strieby had two fingers taken off in a grinder at the meat market. Seems as if it is a new popular sport for Klemme.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ridder, and daughter Minnie, and Walter Lau, Ben Lau and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Harvey attended the funeral of William Howard Jackson, which was held at Belmond Sunday afternoon. Ruddy Baack took them over to Belmond in his Ford truck.

Some of the councilmen went around last week to all the users of city water and inspected the meters. A great many of the meters were found to be in a bad condition and did not register right so they were repaired. The meters are now all in good shape and register correctly.

Prof. Tompkins went to Garner last Friday afternoon to attend the May Day Fete which was given on the court house lawn by the students of the Garner Schools. It is reported that the event was very pretty. It is their first attempt at anything of the kind and they did remarkably well.

George Kluckhohn came down from Austin, Minn., Saturday evening to get acquainted with his family here. George is spending most of his time in Austin helping his son Fred on the farm. We imagine Fred is a fine looking farmer when he gets into blue overalls and a jacket.

Clifford Yost and Gearald McCullough drove over to Garner Sunday afternoon with a team and buggy. Clifford returned that evening but "Slim" was detained at Garner for a "special reason" and came back on the train Monday morning.

X-Ray Reflectors.

Mica has been found an excellent material for concentrating mirrors for X-rays. Glass will not do, because, smooth as it is, it is too rough for the extremely minute X-rays, which are much smaller than light waves. Glass diffuses the X-rays, much as a rough surface diffuses light waves, but it was found that the surface of mineral crystals were of the requisite smoothness for reflecting X-rays, and of them mica is the most adaptable, being readily split into sheets.

Origin of "Yankee."

It is said the term "Yankee" originated with the Indians when they were in alliance with the French colonists against the English. They were unable to pronounce the French words "Les Anglais" and pronounced the words "Yangee" which gradually took the form of "Yankee." When the English abandoned the country the Indians made no distinction between the former colonists and the English themselves, and the term clung to the Americans.

WHEAT GUARANTEE HELPS ALL CROPS

Acts as a Balance That Will Sustain Present Prices on All Farm Products.

PUT THE SURPLUS INTO BONDS

Federal Reserve Board Looks to Farmer for a Generous Support of the Coming Victory Liberty Loan.

The United States Congress has appropriated $1,000,000,000 to guarantee the American farmer $2.26 a bushel for his 1919 wheat crop, a price which is $1 a bushel more than he might reasonably expect if American wheat was thrown on the market to compete with Argentine, Australian and Indian wheat. The American farmer has responded to the government's guarantee by pledging the production of millions of bushels more wheat than he has ever grown before, according to officials of the United States Food Administration's Grain Corporation.

The American farmer has never been in better financial condition, the officials say. The report of the Federal Reserve Board shows that the 1918 farm crop added $17,000,000,000 to the wealth of the country. The corn crop alone put $3,528,313,000 in the farmer's pocket. Hay added $1,500,000,000 to the farmer's income. Apples brought him $230,000,000. Oats sold on the farm for something over $1,000,000,000.

The guaranteed price of wheat will not only assure the farmer a profit on wheat, but will also sustain the prices on other farm products, Food Administration officials point out. With the return of an abundance of labor, the farmer is assured a highly prosperous year.

With the surplus the farmer has from his last abundant harvest and with his present season's return in a large measure guaranteed, the Federal Reserve Board looks to the farmer for a generous support of the coming Victory Liberty Loan. The securities to be offered will merit his attention as first class investments, aside from their patriotic appeal.

"Sixty thousand American lads, many of them farmer boys, gave their lives for the freedom of democracy," said an official of the United States Food Administration. "Had the war continued throughout next summer, as our military chiefs believed it would, two hundred thousand Americans and many more hundreds of thousands of their compatriots would have been sleeping in Flanders' fields and beneath the sod of France and Lorraine.

"That these lives were spared was due in a large measure to the lavish expenditure of the United States government in assembling men and munitions to crush Germany. Most of the men and even less of the material of war was never used. Yet the mighty preparations of our government forced the Germans to cry 'Kamerad'

"The American farmer's sons are coming home for the most part unscathed. For this the American farmer is duly grateful. From his abundance from the past year and from his assured prosperity for the coming season, he should and will set a new record, a Thanksgiving record, in his subscription to the Victory Loan."

—HELP "FINISH THE JOB"—

LET US STAND BY DEAR OLD UNCLE SAM.

Uncle Sam is asking for a Victory Liberty Loan to clinch the stupendous demonstration that moral force not military force, is to rule the world. We must care for our army of occupation and bring it home; we must reconstruct and rehabilitate those who have been wounded and blinded in defense of the right. This is to be a Loan of Thanksgiving, and the response should be more hearty and joyous than the response to any of the preceding Loans. Uncle Sam has helped to save the world for Liberty and Civilization. Let us give him the wherewithal to complete the job.

—HELP "FINISH THE JOB."—

"Peace must be financed as well as war, and the initial stages of peace may be found even more expensive than war. The reason: Get behind the Victory Liberty Loan when it comes."
—Secretary Glass.

THE CURVED BLADES

By CAROLYN WELLS

Author of "A Chain of Evidence," "The Gold Bag," "The Clue," "The White Alley," Etc.

(Chapter XXI continued.)

"Then go If anybody questions you, say Mr Stone ordered it."

Jane returned with many pairs of the kind of scissors asked for by the detective Absorbedly, Stone took them from her, and one by one he used them to snip at a sheet of paper from the library desk

At each test, he asked Jane whose the scissors were, and sometimes he wrote the name beside the cut and sometimes not One pair in especial seemed to interest him. "Whose are these?" he asked

"Those, sir, I took from Miss Carrington's dressing table" Jane gave a slight shudder as if at the recollection of the tragedy of that table

"But these are of a different patterned handle from the rest of that dressing table's silver"

"I don't know, sir, as to that. They were there and I brought them."

"Very well, Jane Take them all back to their places Mind now, don't mix them"

"No, sir Thank you, sir"

A strange excitement seemed to seize upon Fleming Stone Abruptly he left the room, and, flinging on his overcoat in the hall, he snatched his hat and went away, almost on a run. His steps took him to the garage and in a few moments h was in a swift little runabout being driven to the sanatorium where Estelle was still staying

After a call there, he hurried to police headquarters Thence after a rather long call to a telegraph office, to one or two shops and then back to Garde Steps

Here he put several servants at work for him, packing his effects and such matters, then summoning Gray Haviland to the library, he said "I'm sailing for Egypt this afternoon May I ask you to make no further investigations till my return?"

"Egypt!" gasped Gray "Good heavens, man, what for?"

"In the interest of my work for you," returned Stone, gravely

"Rubbish! You're chasing Pauline! We'll never see either of you again!"

Fleming Stone smiled "I do love her, Haviland. I make no denial of that fact. And I do hate to have her alone in a strange land So, if I can be of any help to her, an ocean or two to cross shall not keep me from her."

"And your detective work?"

"Will not suffer by my absence. I've been to the police and to the district attorney and they approve my plans as I've outlined them so far The rest must wait my return."

"And when will you be back?"

"I don't know exactly, but I will keep you informed of my whereabouts. Say goodby to Miss Frayne for me, and please excuse me now, as I've heaps to do By the way, where is that record of Miss Carrington's song that I have heard of? Play it for me, will you?"

"Thought you were in such a hurry!" laughed Haviland, but granted the request

"Wonderful!" commented the detective, as he heard it on the phonograph "It is a perfectly made record If you don't mind, I'll take possession of it."

"All right," said Gray, carelessly, and in another half hour Fleming Stone was on his way to the pier where the Macedonia was making ready to sail.

XXII

PAULINE IN CAIRO

On the 1st of March, about midafternoon, the Catalonia steamed into the harbor of Alexandria Pauline at the rail, watched the clearing outline of mosques and minarets, as the beautiful city became visible It was a glistening dazzling strip, between the deep blue of the sea and the azure of the sky and, breathless with delight, she gazed at the shining sunlit picture

Then the Arab pilot came aboard, and soon Pauline found herself in a shore boat, swiftly making for the quay She knew Loria would meet her at Alexandria, she had had a telegram at Naples to that effect, and she thrilled with pleasure at thought of seeing wonderful Egypt with him Landing, she was bewildered by the crowd of strange looking people, natives, tourists, officials and porters, all shouting, running and getting in each other's way Luggage was everywhere, and the game seemed to be to present any piece of it to anybody except the owner Pauline fell to laughing at the antics of a black man robed in white and a brown man robed in yellow, fighting for possession of a small portmanteau, while its timid and bewildered owner desperately hung on to it herself

Three or four Arabs gathered round Pauline herself, each asserting his claim to all the virtues of a perfect dragoman In more or less intelligible English, each insisted he had been sent to her personally by Effendi This or That, of marvelous wealth and power. Greatly interested, she listened to their arguments, until, encouraged, they became so insistent that she was frightened. Seeing this, they waxed threatening, even belligerent, in their determination to be engaged, and just as one laid his brown, long fingers on her arm, and she drew back in a panic of fear, she saw Carr Loria's smiling face coming to her through the crowd.

With a wave of his hand and a few short commands, he sent the bothersome Arabs flying, and greeted Pauline with affectionate enthusiasm.

"Polly, dear! but I'm glad to see you! Have you had a good trip? But such questions must wait a bit. Where are your checks? Do you see your boxes?"

"There's only one, and some hand things Here is——"

"All right," and Loria took the little sheaf of papers she produced from her handbag. "Ahri, look after these."

A tall Arab glided to Loria's side and took the checks. "Ahri is my dragoman and body servant and general factotum," said Loria, by way of introduction "This lady, Ahri, is my cousin, Miss Stuart. Her word is law"

"Yes, Mr Loria. Miss Stoort is queen of all."

The man made a salaam of obeisance and turned away to look after the luggage

"He's a wonder, that Ahri," said Carrington Loria, looking after the retreating Arab. "But be very haughty with him, Polly. He presumes upon the least encouragement. Treat him like the dust under your feet, and he'll adore you"

"That's easy enough," and Pauline smiled "I'm scared to death of these brown and black men. But your servant is so grand of costume"

"Yes, he's a very high class affair. Handsome chap and fond of dress But he's invaluable to me. Speaks almost perfect English, and knows everything there is to know—and then some Knows, too, everybody who has ever been in Cairo or ever thought of coming here And he possesses the proud distinction of being the only dragoman hereabouts who hasn't a letter of recommendation from Hichens. You haven't that, have you Ahrit?" for the Arab had just reappeared.

A marvelous set of white teeth gleamed in the sunlight, as the response came quickly: "I had one, Mr Loria, but I sold it They are of use to others; Ahri needs none" His self-conceit was superb, and he spoke with the air of a prince. But warned by Loria, Pauline gave him no answering smile, rather a patronizing nod and Ahri's respect for the newcomer went up several points.

"Come along, girlie," commanded Carrington and he took Pauline's arm as he hurried her to the boat train.

Watchful Ahri showed them to the compartment he had secured for them, and soon they were on their way to Cairo.

"Now, tell me evrything," said Carr Loria, as they sat alone "This is a three hour trip and I want to know the whole story. Just think, Pauline, I've had only a few letters, and they were—well—they were almost contradictory in some ways So tell me all, from the beginning"

Pauline did, and by the time they reached Cairo, Loria knew as much as she of the death of their aunt and the subsequent search for the murderer.

"Wasn't it strange," he mused, "that that Bates person should go in to kill her, the very night somebody else had the same intention?"

"Well but, Carr, Bates didn't start out to kill her, you know; he went to steal the jewels, and he knew they were all in the house that night, because Estelle told him so. Now, of course, whoever gave her the poison, must have known it too——"

"Oh, I don't know Why didn't somebody want to put her out of the way to get a bequest? Not necessarily the Count gentleman, but maybe one of the servants Maybe that Estelle? Didn't she receive a legacy in Aunt Lucy's will?"

"Yes, but nobody has thought of suspecting her"

"Don't see why not. I thought of her first clip. I don't think that Stone paragon amounts to much. Hey, what are you blushing about? Sits the wind in that quarter?"

"Don't tease me, Carr I do like him better than any man I ever saw, but——"

"And so you ran away and left him! Out with it, Polly. Tell your old Uncle Dudley the story of your life!"

"There's nothing to tell, Carr, about Mr Stone. But I came to you, because some people suspect me—ME—of—of killing Aunt Lucy——"

"Pauline! They don't! Who suspects you?"

"All the police people, and Gray and Anita Frayne——"

"They do! You poor little girl! I'm glad you came to me. I'll take care of you. But, Polly, whom do you suspect? Honest, now, who is in your mind?"

"I don't know, Carr. I can't seem to think But when they fastened it on me, I was so frighted, I just flew. Why, just think, everyone at Garden Steps was suspicious of me! I could see it even in the servants' eyes. I couldn't stand it, and I was afraid——"

"Yes, dear, go on——"

"Well, I was afraid Mr. Stone would think so, and I couldn't bear that, so I just ran off on impulse. I regretted it lots of times on the trip over—and then at other times I was glad I came. Are you glad?"

"Sure, Polly. I wanted you to stick to your plan of coming over, you know. Yes, I'm glad you're here. Now we'll soon be in Cairo, and you'll love it—all the strange sights and experiences. You'll live at Shepheard's for the present. I've engaged a chaperone for you."

"How thoughtful you are, Carr."

"Oh, of course, a beautiful young woman can't live alone in Cairo, and also of course, you couldn't live with me. So, Mrs. MacDonald will look after you. But she won't in any way bother you. Whenever you need a duenna, she'll be right at your elbow, and when you don't want her about, she is self-effacing. You'll like her, too, she's not half bad as a companion."

At Cairo, Ahri handed them from the train. Again Polly was impressed with the Arab's dignified bearing and rich costume. His long galabeah, shaped like a well fitting bathrobe, was of white corded silk, exquisitely embroidered. Collarless, it gave glimpses of other silken vestments, and over it he wore a correct English topcoat, short and velvet trimmed From his tarbush to his English shoes and silk hose, he was perfectly garbed and groomed, while the scarab ring on his little finger was the only bit of jewelry visible.

"That's nothing," laughed Loria, following her glance. "Wait till you see him in all the glory of his burnoose and other contraptions. Here, Ahri, take this duffel, too. And, now, Polly pops, you'll see Cairo."

The ride to the hotel was like a moving picture in color. The street crowds were rushing by, a flare of bright hued raiment and dark skinned faces. Everywhere, baubles were for sale Street vendors carried thme on their heads, in their arms, or thrust them forth with eager hands.

Postcards, jewelry, scarfs and fans Fly whisks with dangling beads. Embroideries, carved ivories, brasses sweetmeats, fruits and newspapers, all we successfully and collectively offered for immediate almost compulsory sale

"And I want to buy every one!" declared Pauline, entranced at the sight of the catch penny toys.

"All in good time, honey. Tomorrow Ahri shall take you to the bazars, with or without Mrs. MacDonald, as you choose, and you can get a bushel of foolishness if you want to Everybody has to cure that first mad desire to buy rubbish, by yielding to it. You soon get enough"

"Then I may go alone with Ahri to the shops?"

"Yes, anywhere, by daylight, except to social affairs. There, or to any indoor entertainment, you must take her But she'll know all these things Abide always by her decision"

"But won't you be with me, Carr? You speak as if I will be much without you"

"I'm awfully busy, Pauline; I'll tell you all about it this evening Then you'll understand Here we are at Shepheard's Did you ever see such a horde of freaks?"

It was just about dusk The last rays of the Egyptian sunset were lingering, as if for Pauline to get one glimpse of the picture by their rainbow lights Many were at tea on the broad terrace; the scarlet coated band crashed their brasses; and Pauline entered the hotel, her whole being responding to the strange thrill that Cairo gives even to the most phlegmatic visitor or jaded tourist

Later, at dinner, she met Mrs MacDonald, a correct, tactful and diplomatic widow, who looked forward with pleasure to the chaperonage of the beautiful girl to whom she was introduced.

At Loria's advice, Pauline had put on evening dress; and she made a striking picture, in black tulle, devoid of all jewelry or ornament save a breast knot of purple orchids her cousin had sent to her rooms

At dinner, conversation was general, and the trio was made a quartet by the addition of an English friend of Loria's whom he ran across in the hotel lobby. Later, after they had had their coffee in the great hall, Mrs. MacDonald and the Englishman strolled away and the cousins were left alone

"How beautiful you have grown, Pauline," Carr said, his eyes resting on her piquant face, crowned with its mass of soft, dark hair.

"Speak for yourself, John," she returned smiling up into the handsome sunburned face of the man who scrutinized her. "You have acquired not only a becoming tan, but a new air of distinction."

"Glad you think so, girlie. Thanks a whole lot. How do you like the MacDonald?"

"Very much so far She won't try to boss me, will she?"

"Not unless you make it necessary; but you must remember that English etiquet obtains in Cairo, and you mustn't try to be unconventional except as Mrs MacDonald approves"

"Oh, I won't disgrace you, Carr, I've common sense, I hope Now tell me about yourself"

"I'm deep in a new project, Polly, a wonderful one it's an enormous undertaking, but I shall put it through all right."

"What is it? Excavation?"

"In a way. But here's the story. Mind, now, it's a dead secret. Don't mention it to Mrs. Mac I trust you with it, but it must go no further. Well, in a word, I've come into possession of an old papyrus, that tells of a treasure——"

"Oh, Carr, are you a treasure seeker!"

"Now, wait till I tell you. This papyrus is authentic, and it's nothing more nor less than an account of a great hoard of jewels and gold sunk purposely, by an old Egyptian king to save them from seizure. You wouldn't understand all the reasons that prove this is a true bill, but it is, and so you must take my word for it. All right. The old duffer saw fit to sink this stuff in the Nile, at certain spot, designated in this papyrus thing, and all I've got to do is to dig her up, and there you are!"

Carr Loria's face lighted up with the enthusiasm of the true archaeologist, and Pauline caught the spirit, too, as she exclaimed, "How splendid! How do you get down to it -if it's under the Nile?"

"It's a big scheme, Polly!" and Loria's eyes sparkled I've got to have a cofferdam, an enormous one, and, oh, a whole lot of paraphernalia, and it will cost like fury, but the end justifies the expense—and then, think of the glory of it!"

"Have you got a right to do all this? Can anybody dig wherever he likes in Egypt?"

'No, you little goose' But I've managed all that part I won't tell even you about it, but I've well, I've fixed it up Now, listen here Pollypops, you're to tell just simply nobody a word of all this--not one, littlest, least est mite of a word' See?'

"All right, Carr, of course I won't tell, if you say not to But will you be away from us? Out of Cairo?"

"Off and on I'll be back and forth, you know This place is up the Nile a bit, and, of course, I have to be there much of the time But you'll be all right I know heaps of people, jolly sort, too and Mrs Mac will take you round, and you'll have the time of your sweet young life!'

'I'm sure I shall But Carr, have you forgotten all about America, and Aunt Lucy and -and Fleming Stone?"

"No, Pauline, I haven't forgotten those things, But, I own up, aside from the awful circumstances, I'm not terribly wrought up over Aunt Lucy's death Poor old thing, she wasn't so awfully happy, you know, and Lord knows she didn't make anybody else happy Then too, you must realize that as I wasn't there, through the dreadful time, as you were, I can't feel the same thrill and horror of it In fact I try to forget it all I can, as I can't do anybody any good by mulling over it So, if you want to please me, old girl, you'll refer to it as little as you can

'But don't you care who killed her?" Don't you want to find out the murderer and bring him to justice?"

'I want that done, Polly, but I don't want to do it That's why I put it all in Haviland's hands; that's why I didn't want to go to America, unless, as I told you at first, unless you needed me I can't pay proper attention to my work here if I have any such worriment as that on my shoulders And I tell you, Pauline, this chance that has come to me is the chance of a lifetime, the chance of a century' It means fortune, fame and glory for me It means—oh Pauline, it means everything!"

"All right, Carr, I won't interfere in any way with your work I'll do as you tell me, but—but if they continue to suspect me——"

"Suspect you! My dear girl! Let 'em try it! I'll see to that! Don't you fear. If anything bothers you, just leave it to me! Ah, here come our truants Now, Polly, for my sake, leave all those subjects for the present, and be your own dear entertaining self"

And Pauline granted his request, and was so attractive and charming that the Englishman straightway fell over head and heels in love and Mrs. MacDonald was torn between throes of admiration and envy

XXIII.

TWO WILLS.

For a few days Loria stayed in Cairo, and devoted all his time to the amusement and entertainment of Pauline Together they visited the sphinx and the great pyramids Together they made trips to Old Cairo and to the ostrich farm. Together they saw the little petrified forest But the immediate sights of Cairo, the tombs, mosques and bazars, Loria told her, she could visit with Mrs MacDonald or with their dragoman, after he and Ahri had gone on their trip up the Nile.

Pauline was happy. At Carr's request she had endeavored to put out of her mind the horrors she had been through Frightened at the suspicions directed toward herself, fearing that she could not successfully combat them -and, for another reason--she had fled to Egypt, and her cousin's protection This other reason she had almost dismissed from her mind, and she gave herself up to the enjoyment of the novelty and interest of her present situation.

After their sightseeing each day, they returned for tea on the terrace at Shepheard's or went to Ghezireh Palace for it, or to the house of some friend Dinner was always a pleasant affair, and they had frequent guests and were often invited out

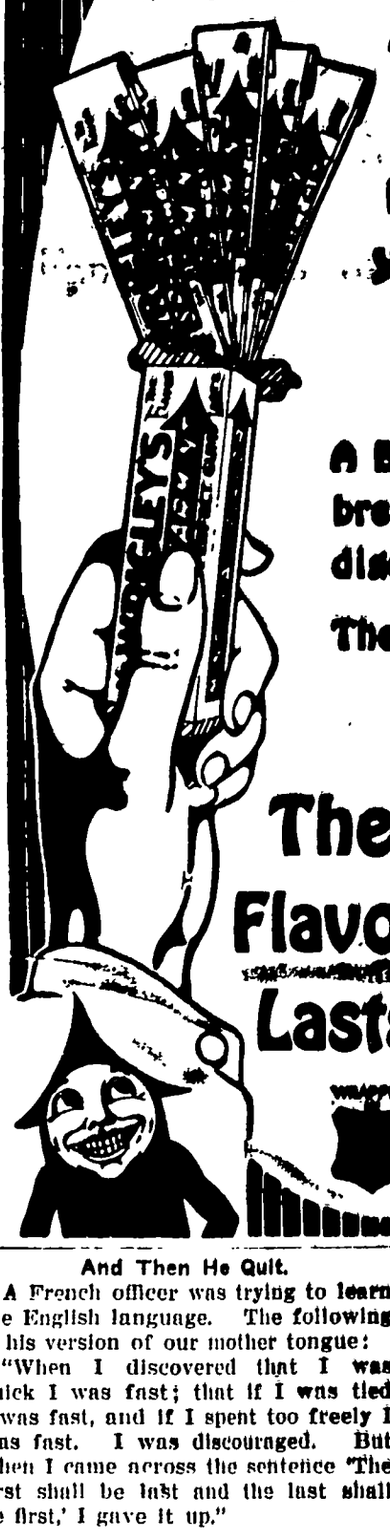
As Pauline was wearing mourning no large social affairs were attended and under Mrs. MacDonald's guidance the girl pursued her happy way.

(Continued Next Week)

To help refurnish northern France, 30,000 chairs and 10,000 tables are being made by schoolboys in the manual training shops of the United States.

WRIGLEY'S

5 long-lasting bars in each package.



The biggest value in refreshment you can possibly buy.

A BENEFIT to teeth, breath, appetite and digestion.

The price is 5 cents.

The Flavor Lasts

And Then He Quit.

A French officer was trying to learn the English language. The following is his version of our mother tongue:

"When I discovered that I was quick I was fast; that if I was tied I was fast, and if I spent too freely I was fast. I was discouraged. But when I came across the sentence 'The first shall be last and the last shall be first,' I gave it up."

BACK LIKE A BOARD? IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS

There's no use suffering from the awful agony of lame back. Don't wait till it "passes off." It only comes back. Find the cause and stop it. Diseased conditions of kidneys are usually indicated by stiff lame backs and other wrenching pains, which are nature's signals for help!

Here's the remedy. When you feel the first twinges of pain or experience any of these symptoms, get busy at once. Go to your druggist and get a box of the pure, original GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules, imported fresh every month from the laboratories in Haarlem, Holland. Pleasant and easy to take, they instantly attack the poisonous germs clogging your system and bring quick relief.

For over two hundred years they have been helping the sick. Why not try them? Sold everywhere by reliable druggists in sealed packages. Three sizes. Money back if they do not help you. Ask for "GOLD MEDAL" and be sure the name "GOLD MEDAL" is on the box.—Adv.

Too Much of a Good Thing.

"I thought," said the boy's mother, "that I told you I wanted you to stay where I could put my hand on you."

"I-I-didn't know," he whimpered, "that ye wanted me to git across yer knee an' stay there."

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured

by LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE will cure catarrh. It is taken internally and acts through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is composed of some of the best tonics known, combined with some of the best blood purifiers. The perfect combination of the ingredients in HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is what produces such wonderful results in catarrhal conditions.

Druggists 75c. Testimonials free.

F. J Cheney & Co., Props., Toledo, O.

On Being Cheerful.

You find yourself refreshed by the presence of cheerful people? Why not make earnest effort to confer that pleasure on others?—Lydia Maria Child.

Important to Mothers

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, that famous old remedy for infants and children, and see that it

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

In Use for Over 30 Years.

Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria

Storms Can Brew, Anyhow.

"I'm, where are those dark-looking clouds going to?" "To thunder, my son!"—Cartoons Magazine.

A girl doesn't trouble herself much about a man's future if he comes with a present or two.

Sppreme Law

The children in the neighborhood ganized a club and are enth about it.

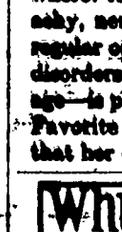
"Tell me about your laws laws," I said to one of the mem

"Oh," he replied, "we only h law, and that is to serve refre at every meeting"

IT'S NO SECR

Probably no man in America better qualified to successfully diseases peculiar to women Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. The come to him run into many th giving him an experience tha comes to any one man. Dr. Pie that in nearly every case th certain vegetable growths whi failed to give prompt relief feminine disorders from which women suffer. He combined th and herbs into a temperance that he called Dr. Pierce's Favo cription. This medicine is sold liquid and tablet form by druggi where. A weakly, sickly, backac achy, nervous, despondent wom regular or irregular pains—with disorders that come in youth age—is pretty sure to find in Dr Favorite Prescription the exact that her condition calls for.

Why Bald So Yo



Rub Dandruff Itching wi Cuticura Oint Shampoo With Cu

An Alibi.

Leave it to the Irish to sq of tight situations. This one fore Judge Richardson and a other testimony it was state called the arresting officer

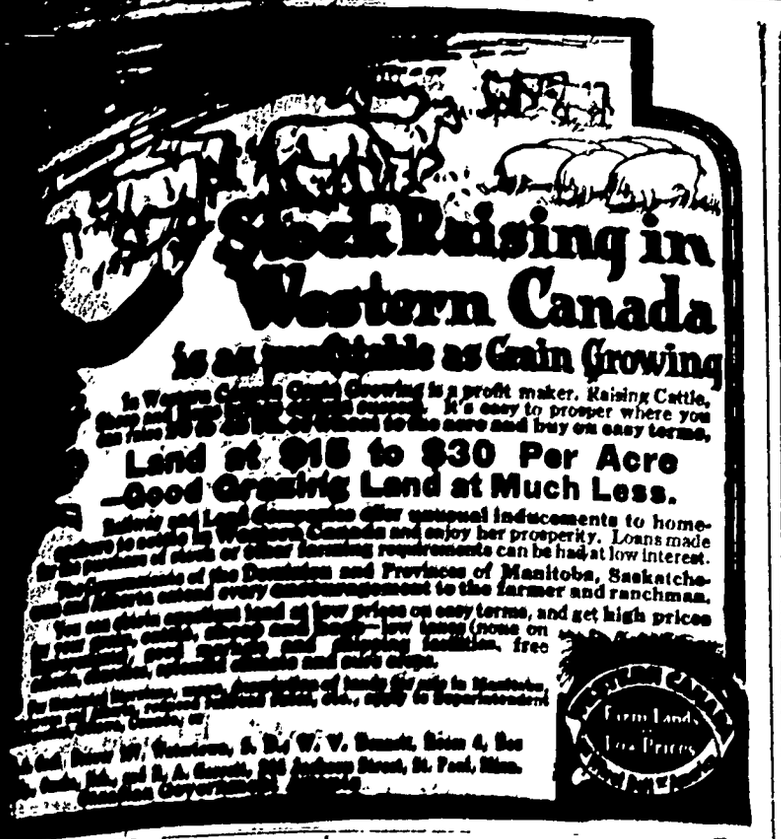
"Shure, Judge, an' I did the koind," protested Pat. was that wan of us should zoo."—Los Angeles Times.

Yes, Rose, every race is a s but the majority of girls bel way.

When Your Eyes Nee

Try Murine Eye Re

No Smarting—Just Eye Comfort. Druggists or mail. Write for free MURINE EYE REM



Needless Alarm.

had not been in the best of and, when he seemed well on to recovery, his mother took cautions to guard him against ks of an influenza attack. evening the anxious mother ried when she entered Junior m to find the little chap in g, with red eyes and wa-ness, gracious!" she cried, "do ck, dearie?"

," Junior replied. "I seem to have caught a old."

any cold."

nose and your eyes?"

covers Junior pro- Uncle Tom's Cabin,' man- and I have just been poor little Eva."—Telegram.

Blushed Then?

young teacher was once charge of a class of boys ked them what they would when grown up.

had very high notions, one an actor, one a sailor, one and another a cowboy.

came to a pretty fair- to state his wish.

would you like to be?" said

blushed deeply, and looked afraid.

, tell me your wish, Jackie, said the teacher.

er-please, my wish-er-is to husband!" he blurted out.—Answers.

Aerial Hunt for Whales.

his airplane equipped with a gun, an army lieutenant re- out on a whale-hunting ex- Flying at an altitude of thousand feet above the Pa- , the airman saw his quarry ur miles out at sea, and down before the great ani- could submerge. A short round machine gun was sufficient vest was soon on its way the carcass, which yielded a considerable profit.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

End of His Rope.

a fellow has failed once or times, you don't want down as a failure till he's loses his courage—and that's thing," George Horace Lorare not necessarily fond of they are always looking for in the fee-line.

what we say or know as it's what we know what not

Inaudible Sum

Germany's stiff necked denseness in sensing the necessity for her strict compliance with the first armistice terms and her brazen neglect of the harder ones imposed as a penalty for nonfulfillment of he first is one think of the banker of Weeping Water, Neb., who was asked by an impecunious farmer for a loan. The banker was one of those people who are deaf for commercial purposes. The farmer was chronically wanting to borrow, and his security was getting shaky.

"I'd like to borrow [illegible]" pleaded the farmer.

The banker cupped his hand behind his lame ear and said.

"Speak a little louder and don't drop the amount."—Philadelphia Ledger.

In Erratic Russia

President George T. Page of the American Bar association told at a dinner in New York:

"An eminent American who once acted in Russia told me that at a Petrograd theater he met an American stage carpenter. The actor was having a good deal of trouble in Petrograd, and the stage carpenter took to console him.

"'I'll tell you how it is Mr. Hamfat,' the man said. 'These here Russians are an ignorant lot of devils. They never know what they want never. Why—and he gave a contemptuous laugh 'why even if you'd been good they wouldn't have liked you.'"

Brevity the Soul of It.

One of the Hollman boys was telling about the saving effect the war has had on bank accounts. Then he laughed.

"It's really contagious, this economy, but I think the limit was reached in a telegram a friend of mine received the other day from his son in college.

"Seems he had told the boy that if he ever wanted help, to wire but to be as brief as possible. The lad wanted help all right and so the wire read like this:

"'Dad—S. O. S. S. I. D. Q. R. S. V. P. Son.'"—Los Angeles Times.

Breaking the News.

"The Warden—You're in luck, Scrippen! There's a reprieve for you come along from the home office.

"The Convicted One (rising to the occasion)—Ha! No noose is good noose!—London Mail.

It people would reflect more they would be brighter, and if they were brighter they would reflect more.

After a man has expressed his opinion he often wishes he had patronized a slow freight.

The Finding of Jasper Holt

By Grace Livingston Hill Lutz

What do you desire in a love story? A beautiful woman whom you love almost as much as does the hero? A man who is a man, and wins recognition through his accomplishment in events multifold and exciting. Humor and fresh outdoor life? If these are the proper ingredients, get you a little "The Finding of Jasper Holt." This is essentially a modern story. It begins with a railroad wreck in which Jean Grayson, the Eastern girl meets Jasper Holt, the so-called outcast rancher. We then move through the pages accompanied by men and women who are alive human and desperate in their love and crimes. Jean and Jasper pass through the fire and the agencies are unusual and startling by which they attain their happiness. The book is in Mrs. Lutz's best manner and will add to her army of friends who are still reading her. Marcia Schuyler, etc.

Starts in this paper soon
Read it

Japanese Proverbs.

"Wise women are created to replace good wives."

"If you want to love women begin by loving money."

"Women who resemble shop signs and cats make good wives."

"Very jealous wives are easy to control."

"Pride goes before a fall, especially in beautiful women."

"Women and mountains should be looked on at a distance."

"Women fall in love with their protectors, men with women."

"Men who can neither brag nor flatter need not fear being loved by women."

"Rather than make love in clumsy language bite your tongue out."

"Plain women bewail their misfortune in proportion to their learning."

"When marriage agents praise any woman for her virtues, you may be certain that is a polite way of saying that she is ugly."

"Women who rest liberty often offer lose it."

"A wife who does not know how to please her husband makes his mouth an end of blunders."

"Men who like to take photos with their wives are henpecked."

"Tip-lipped women tell lies; thick-lipped women are lazy and jealous."

"'Tis women who know that they are ugly that powder their faces."

"Women admire women of their own type."

"The secret of winning the woman who hits you is perseverance."

"Women understand men; those who understand women are also women."

"Poisonous flies carry shiny wings; bad women pretty faces."

"Men laugh with their hearts; women only with their mouths."

"Women who habitually bite their lips are jealous."

"War makes men strong and women lovely."

Willing to Compromise.

From the Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph

A rustic had been hit in the eye by a golf ball while crossing the links. He ran raging toward his assailant shouting:

"This'll cost you forty pounds, forty pounds I want."

"But, my good man, exclaimed the golfer, "I called out 'Fore' as loud as ever I could."

Rustic (greatly mollified) "Did yez, guv-nor? Well I didn't hear it. I'll take four."

Her Discovery

From the Boston Transcript

Seeing a greatly magnified drop of water on the motile screen and noticing the microbes in it, Marjorie whispered to her mother: "Now I know what bites you when you drink soda water."

Maintained His Reputation

From the Boston Transcript

Young Wife—I wonder how the arrange[illegible] ese pickles in the bottle so neatly.

Young Hubby—They pile the pickles up[illegible] dearest and then blow the bottle[illegible] them.

She Had, Too.

From London Opinion

"Get up, Maria," the poet said one night to his sleeping wife. "Get up and strike a light. I have just thought of a good word."

"Shut up," replied the old cat Maria. "I have had a fright, too, and me."

Chicken Farming

From the Washington Star

"What's de matter wid de hens dis mawnin'?" asked Uncle Eben. "Dey seem to be mighty quiet."

"Dey sholy is quiet," replied Mr. Erastus Pinkney. "I reckon dey's pinin' for spring. I'd advise you to put a rooster or two among 'em."

What the Evening Wore

From the Louisville Courier-Journal

Smith was telling Jones a story.

"With the evening wore on—"

"Wore?" interrupted Jones facetiously. "Did it? What did it wear?"

"Well," said Smith, equal to the occasion, "if you must know, it was the close of a summer day."

Easily Obviated

From London Tit-Bits

An Irishman presented himself before a Liverpool magistrate to seek advice.

"So," he said, "I kapes hens in my cellar, but th' wather pipes bust an' me hens is all drowned."

"Sorry I can't do anything for you," said the magistrate; "you had better apply to the water company."

A few days later Pat again appeared.

"Well, what now?" queried the magistrate.

"They toul me, yer honor, was the reply, "to kape ducks."

Tried to Help.

From the Edinburgh Scotsman

Jack Slowboy—I wish I could read your thoughts.

Winnie Willing—So do I; but goodness knows I've tried to help you all I could.

More than 6,000,000 pelts, valued at approximately $10,000,000, will be auctioned off at the International Fur Exchange during the next two weeks. Pelts from every fur producing country in the world will be offered, the largest lots being 800,000 moles and 880,000 muskrats, and the smallest two sea otter and 28 polar bear pelts.

There is evidence of considerable organization in the methods of destruction employed by the mobs in the recent disturbances, suggesting that external influences are working through the Indian revolutionary party, says a dispatch from Bombay.

LIFT OFF CORNS!

Drop Freezone on a touchy corn, then lift that corn off with fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little Freezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. Yes, magic! No humbug!

A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Freezone is the sensational discovery of a Cincinnati genius. It is wonderful.

Criticism.

Billy Sunday tells with gusto of the subtle criticism that a pretty Philadelphia girl once passed on his informal preaching methods.

The revivalist halted at the end of an impassioned Philadelphia harangue, rolled down his sleeves, put on his coat and said:

"And now, dear friends, are there any questions?"

All the congregation was silent except the pretty girl. She asked from her front pew:

"May I smoke?"

GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER

has been a household remedy all over the civilized world for more than half a century for constipation, intestinal troubles, torpid liver and the generally depressed feeling that accompanies such disorders. It is a most valuable remedy for indigestion or nervous dyspepsia and liver trouble, bringing on headache, coming up of food, palpitation of heart, and many other symptoms. A few doses of August Flower will relieve you. It is a gentle laxative. Ask your druggist. Sold in all civilized countries.—Adv.

She Understood.

The preacher had been talking about the necessity for a "new heart." Little Bess' father took her on his knee and gravely asked if she understood what a new heart was.

"Oh, yes," indeed," she answered, brightly. "It's a kind of heavenly stomach."

A Lady of Distinction.

Is recognized by the delicate fascinating influence of the perfume she uses. A bath with Cuticura Soap and hot water to thoroughly cleanse the pores, followed by a dusting with Cuticura Talcum Powder usually means a clear, sweet, healthy skin.—Adv.

When Money Is a Curse.

It is only when money is cheapened to worthlessness for some, and made impossibly dear to others, that it becomes a curse. In short, it is a curse only in such foolish social conditions but life itself is a curse.—George Bernard Shaw.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets put an end to sick and bilious headaches, constipation, dizziness and indigestion. "Clean house." Adv.

If some people were to think twice before speaking they would never say anything.

Counterfeiter Caught! The New York health authorities had a Brooklyn manufacturer sentenced to the penitentiary for selling throughout the United States millions of "Talcum powder" tablets as Aspirin Tablets.

Warning!

Don't buy Aspirin in a pill box! Get Bayer package! Never ask for just Aspirin Tablets! Always say, "Give me a package of 'Bayer Tablets of Aspirin.'" Insist that every Aspirin Tablet you take must come in the regular Bayer package and the "Bayer Cross" must appear on this package and on each tablet.

Bayer-Tablets of Aspirin

For Pain
Headache
Neuralgia
Toothache
Earache
Rheumatism
Lumbago

BAYER

Colds
Grippe
Influenza
Colds
Stiff Neck
Joint Pains
Neuritis

Adults—Take one or two "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" with water. If necessary, repeat dose three times a day, after meals.

Proved Safe by Millions! American Owned!

Boxes of 12 tablets—Bottles of 24—Bottles of 100—Also Capsules.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

They Still Exist.

"The peace-at-any-price man doesn't exist any more." "Doesn't, eh? Don't the married men count at all?"

Friendly Chatter.

Belle—Do I make myself plain?

Nell—Ah, nature saved you that trouble.

Indigestion, Gas and Bloat From Acid-Stomach

An acid-stomach cannot digest food properly. Instead, the food sours and ferments and, passing into the intestines, becomes a breeding place for countless millions of deadly germs—toxic poisons they are called. These poisons are absorbed into the system and cause untold misery. So, you see, it is just acid-stomach, nothing else that makes so many people weak, listless and unfit; saps their strength and energy; robs them of their vigor and vitality. Biliousness, bad liver, nervousness, blinding, splitting headaches, rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica—these and many other still more serious ailments often are traced to the common source—an acid-stomach.

Take EATONIC and get rid quickly of the pains of indigestion, heartburn, that horrible, lumpy, bloated feeling after eating; disgusting, belching, food-repeating; sour, gassy stomach. These stomach miseries are caused by what doctors call "Hyperacidity." It's just ACID-STOMACH. And in addition to the pains and miseries it causes, ACID-STOMACH is the starter of a long train of ailments that most people never dreamed are in any way connected with the stomach.

Pleasant tasting EATONIC TABLETS that you eat like a bit of candy, quickly put an end to your stomach troubles. They act as an absorbent—literally wipe up the excess hurtful acid and make the stomach pure, sweet and strong. Help digestion so that you get all the power and energy from your food. You cannot be well without it!

If you are one of those who have "tried everything" but a split of it still suffer all kinds of acid-stomach miseries—if you lack physical and mental strength and vigor begin at once to take EATONIC. Get back your physical and mental punch and enjoy the good things of life. Like thousands of others you will say you never dreamed that such amazingly quick relief and such a remarkable improvement in your general health was possible.

Your druggist has EATONIC. We authorize him to guarantee it to give you instant relief or refund your money. Get a big box of EATONIC today, it costs but little and the results are wonderful!

TAKE EATONIC TODAY
FOR YOUR ACID-STOMACH

Postum First Found Favor In the Small Communities

then in the cities, then in the nation's great metropolitan centers, until today it is demanded everywhere, and sold everywhere, as America's greatest health drink for table use. You can get from your grocer

The Original POSTUM CEREAL

Boil it just like coffee—15 minutes after boiling begins.

It doubles the enjoyment of the meal with its rich, invigorating flavor; and, unlike coffee, it never upsets nerves, stomach or heart. Children as well as grown folks can drink Postum freely.

"There's a Reason"

Two Sizes, usually sold at 15c and 25c.

ATTENTION! Sick Women

To do your duty during these trying times your health should be your first consideration. These two women tell how they found health.

Hellam, Pa.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles and a displacement. I felt all run down and was very weak. I had been treated by a physician without results, so decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial, and felt better right away. I am keeping house since last April and doing all my housework, where before I was unable to do any work. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is certainly the best medicine a woman can take when in this condition. I give you permission to publish this letter."—Mrs. E. R. Crumling, R. No. 1, Hellam, Pa.

Lowell, Mich.—"I suffered from cramps and dragging down pains, was irregular and had female weakness and displacement. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which gave me relief at once and restored my health. I should like to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's remedies to all suffering women who are troubled in a similar way."—Mrs. Elias Helm, R. No. 6, Box 83, Lowell, Mich.

Why Not Try

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. LYNN, MASS.

Distinction!

Out of the crowd it rises.

Away from the mass it stands in splended dominance.
Where success goes, there goes distinction. When you buy that suit why not get more than just a "suit"-why not get distinction too A suit that stands out beyond the ordinary.

When you buy that suit here you get value, style and distinctiveness combined. A suit you'll enjoy wearing—a suit you'll be proud to wear.

Suits of value style and distinction.
Men's $20 to $60
Boys' 7.50 to $25

PATTON BROS.

Mason City, Iowa

"Where a dollar does it's duty"

I scream U scream We all scream

for

ICE CREAM

Our soda fountain is running in full blast now and we have the very best in Sodas, Malts, Sundaes etc. Get a quart of our delicious Ice Caerm for your Sunday dinner.

"If It's To Eat---We Have It"

CRYSTAL CAFE

Elder & Fuller, Props.

DOCTOR MISSMAN

PHYSICIAN SURGEON

OFFICE--State Savings Bank Building, 'Phone No. 1105
RESIDENCE--North of Park, 'Phone No. 1109

X-Ray Radiographs Electrical Treatments
Eyes Tested Glasses Fitted

Now is the time to make a noise like Spring!

Now is the time to make plans for this year's garden. We have everything you need in that line:-

Garden Spades Forks Hoes
Rakes Plows Garden Seeds
Don't overlook your Lawn or Flowers
Better get some of our Grass Seed and Flower Seeds. Buy a Lawn Mower.

J. W. WATERMAN

The City Dray Line

Is prepared to do your hauling carefully and promptly
Your patronage is respectfully solicited
Charges Reasonable.

Henry P. Yahnke, Prop.

Coal Hauling Done

Osteopaths have a four year course and are licensed physicians. adv.

Aug. Lau shipped two car loads of hogs to Chicago Saturday night.

Mrs. C. F. Keraus was a Garner visitor between trains last Friday.

Mrs. Diehl and Miss Warnock spent Sunday at Iowa Falls.

Philip Bock was a Garner business caller Monday.

Philip Bock returned Saturday from his trip to St. Louis, Mo.

Elmer Schmidt went to Garner on Tuesday for a visit with his folks.

The work of remodeling the State Savings Bank is progressing rapidly.

Fred Arnold, Jr., has been on the sick list the past week.

Leo and Harry Ell, of Mason City, were Klemme visitors last week.

Dr. Geo. Zin was a professioal caller at Maso City last week Wedesday

Sheriff Jimn Ross, of Garner, was in Klemme on business last Thursday.

John Henschen drove over to Mason City on business last Thursday.

R. A. Jorgenson was a business caller in Garner Saturday afternoon.

Chas. Busch was a business caller at Garner between trains last Friday

Nels Palmer was a Garner visitor last Friday between trains.

Rev. Meyer was a business caller at Garner last Thursday.

D. B. Anderson was in Fort Dodge on business a few days last week.

The Overland 90 beats World's Record for Long Distance Test. Adv

Dr. L. R. Parsons, of Belmond, spent Sunday with his family here.

We recommend, sell and guarantee Gould Storage Batteries. Henry Lau & Son. adv.

The city council met at Frank Gruetzmacher's shoe store Monday night for regular session.

A nine pound baby boy was born to Mr and Mrs. John Bitker a week ago Sunday.

If you want the best car on the market get an Overland 90, the car that beat all former records. Adv.

R. W. Sinclair, of Garner, was a business visitor in Klemme last Saturday.

Mrs. Sam Kirkwood came from Goodell last Thursday for a visit with Mrs. A. Kirkwood.

Chas. Stiehl and D. B. Anderson were business callers in Garner Tuesday morning between trains.

Wm. Schaeper, of Charles City, was a Klemme visitor a few days the past week.

Ralph Quintus, of Garner, was in Klemme Saturday doing some plumbing work.

World's Record for Long Distance Run is beaten by the Overland 90, read ad on front page. Adv.

Ye Editor was a business caller at Garner between trains Saturday afternoon.

Marlin Croner was over to Meservey a few days the past week looking after the buildings he is putting up.

Oscar Musfelt went to Garner Saturday afternoon, returning to Klemme Sunday afternoon.

O. W. Lemke was a business visitor at Fort Dodge last Thursday and Saturday.

The Overland 90 won over all former records. Read Wiles' ad on the front page. Adv.

Dr. R. W. Schultz, Osteopath, of Garner, will be at the Hotel Klemme on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings, 9:00 to 12:00. adv.

CUT PRICE SALE on all Early Trimmed Hats, going at Special Cut prices. See the complete assortment of Latest Styles. Mrs. John Josten. ad

Mrs. Platt Strieby and two little sons, of Garner, visited with her son Louis Strieby and family of this city, last Thursday and Friday.

Chas. White attended to the business of Henry Lewis' Poultry House a few days last week during the absence of Mr. Lewis.

Miss Lena Coobs returned to her home at McGregor, Iowa, Tuesday, after visiting with her sister, Mrs. W. E. Pavey, since last Friday.

Herman Dietz, who has been working in the Baumgartner Barber Shop left for Mason City Monday. Mr. Dietz will work at Mason City.

Messrs. Rasmussen and Horup, and son, spent Sunday at their homes at Clear Lake. They are doing carpenter work at the State Savings Bank.

Clarence and Hulda Johnson autoed over to Garner Sunday evening. Miss Johnson is acting as nurse there and was home for over Sunday.

Ernest Henschen, who lives near Garner, sold forty-two head of hogs to A. C. Lau last week that brought him close to $2,000.

Osteopathic adjustments release the blood and nerve supply, NATURE CURES. Osteopathic adjustments are used by the majority of people. adv.

Walter Lau installed a new Burrough's Adding Machine in his office last week. It is the latest type and sure is a dandy.

A. L Strieby, who had two fingers amputated last week is getting along nicely and he says it pains him very little now and that he feels fine.

Wallace Ramsay, the Editor of The Herald-Press, of Belmond, was a caller on Ye Editor between trains last Friday.

Mesdames M. O. Barr and E. Fuller and Miss Blanche Liljenberg were Garner callers between trains Saturday afternoon.

Henry Lau & Son are running a series of ads on the "Iowa" Cream Separator. These ads are well worth reading and are a money saver for the farmers.

Miss Margaret Dickinson went to Crystal Lake last week Wednesday for an over Sunday visit with her parents. She returned to Klemme on Monday.

The Misses Mildred Johnson and Bernice Gimer went to Garner last Friday afternoon to attend the May Day Fete given by the Garner Schools on the Court House lawn.

Chas. Gibbs, our "Printer's Devil," has a side line job as chief flunky at the movies. Charles is learning to run the picture machine and wind reels for Mr. Pavey.

Ralph Elder and Elmer Fuller returned last Thursday from a trip into Stevens County, Minn. They were gone a few days and were up there looking over some land.

Srap Iron Wanted—Bring your rags, iron, bones and all scrap metals to Henry Lau & Son for highest market prices.

Lester Stille returned to Camp Pike last Friday noon after spending a week's furlough with his parents here and visiting his many friends. He hopes to receive a discharge from the army soon.

Aug. Lau has done some repairing on his elevator the past week in the way of putting on a few new shingles and doing other necessary work. While he was in the right mood he also did some repairing on his house.

Gould Storage Batteries represent the latest advancement in the are of Dependable Storage Battery Construction, exemplified by Gould Built, Gould Designed, Superhard Dreadnaught Plates. adv.

Carl Suckow has purchased the Chas. Keraus residence in the north part of the city and has moved into it. We understand the Keraus family have rented a cottage at Clear Lake where they will spend the summer.

Chas. Busch left for Sioux City on Monday to buy up live stock to put on his ranch at Cody, Nebr. Howard Doyle will leave in about a week for the ranch to look after the stock.

Mr. Ben Lau came from Minneapolis Sunday to attend the funeral of William Jackson at Belmond. While here Ben also visited with Klemme relatives and friends. He returned to Minneapolis Monday night.

Bert Mathews, of Garner, will be the new manager of the grocery department at the Wellemeyer store, succeeding Mr. Opsal who resigned to take a position with a Waterloo firm. We are well acquainted with Mr. Mathews. He is a fine fellow and will be a valuable man for the store.

We have it! What

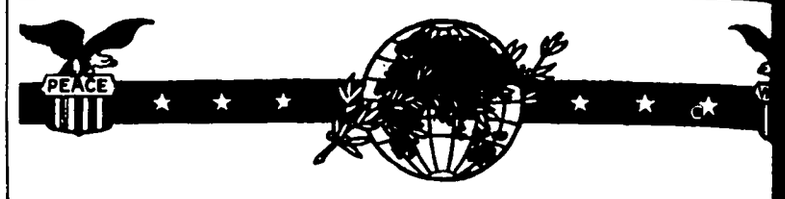
Everything

Which is found in only the best and most up-to-date Meat Markets.

You will always find a complete line of Choice Meats, Hams, Bacon, Fancy Meats and Canned Goods

Try Our Oleomargarine---It's Fine

J. P. Larsen & Son



FIRE!

Don't wait until you hear the clatter of the fire bells before you protect yourself agianst the ever present danger of fire. It may then be too late. The fire engine may be on its way to try and save your home from destruction.

This bank has an inturance department for the convenience of our customers. We urge our clients and friends to call on us for all details about fire insurance policies. We'll gladly look after the adjustment of claims for you.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Klemme Iowa

Subscribe Today at $1.5

All Kinds of Hardware

HARDWARE AND GROCERIES
Stoves and Furnaces
Paints, Oils, Feed, Flour, Cream Separators, Buggies, Wagons, Gasoline Engines.
All Kinds of Farm Machinery

GREUTZMACHER BROS.

KLEMME DRAY LINE

LLOYD LAU, PROPRIETOR

A share of your patronage is solicited.

All work attended to promptly and carefully

Coal Hauling Done Promptly

Telephone No. 14

M. O. HOCUM

The Grain, Coal and Live Stock Man.

We will buy Hogs and Grain six days in the week at Highest Market Price

Successor to W. R. Bloom

DR. L. R. PARSONS
DENTIST

Office 1st Floor State Savings Bank
Phone No. 48.
Klemme - Iowa

KLEMME TIMES

Number 36 — Klemme, Iowa, Thursday, May 15, 1919 — $1.50 In Advance. $2.00 Outside of County

World's Record in a Model 90

Won over all cars regardless of size or make

Goes One-sixth around World, 4370.1 Miles in 7 day non-stop run with gear sealed in High.

This Overland Model 90 traveled continuously for seven days and seven nights, in rain and fair, over muddy country roads and slippery city pavements and through the traffic of a busy city. The motor had not once been stopped nor had it missed a single explosion in 168 hours of continuous running. These was no gear shift lever for the driver. That had been removed and the gear sealed in high.

4,370 Miles In 7 Days

In this seven day non-stop, gear-sealed-in-high run, the car had traveled 4,370.1 miles. That breaks the world's record by 129.1 miles. And the previous record was made in Los Angeles as far back as 1914.

Traveling a distance equal to a trip from New York to Los Angeles and back to Oklahoma, or one-sixth of the way around the world, the Overland 90 re-established in this remarkable run it's claim to the title by which the public best appreciates it-the Thrift Car.

1. The car traveled 4,370.1 miles in a 168 hours at a total running cost for gasoline and oil of less then two cents a mile---to be exact one and 17-100 cents for each mile.

2. The model 90 motor ran continuously for 168 hours. The log of the trip shows that no adjustments were made to the motor during that time.

3. The carbuator was never touched. Yet the Overland Model 90 despite weather conditions and road wear and a tight squeeze the second day to avoid a serious accident in the street never missed an explosion.

4. Champion Spark plugs were used. Not one had to be changed.

624 Miles a Day

5. The average speed maintained by the Model 90 was 26.01 miles an hour. The average daily milage was 624.3 miles. Only one day of the trip did the car fail to exceed th A. A. A. official non-stop 24 hour milage record of 587 miles. That was the third day. The car fell short of the A.A.A. record then by eight miles only.

6. The gasoline consumption was very low. The car averaged 20.66 miles on a gallon. The gasoline used was 59 test, Sterling brand.

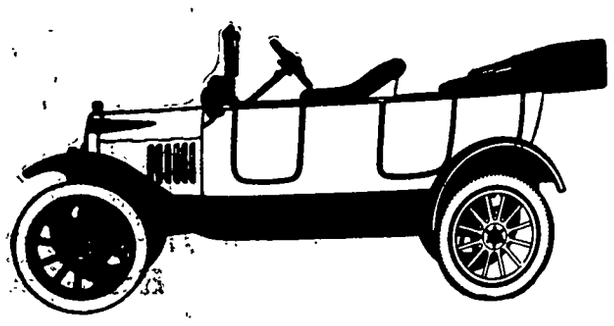
7. The oil consumption would satisfy any motorists pocketbook. Only 5 7-8 gallons were used to send the Overland 90 over 4,370 miles of road and pavement. The oil cost $4.70.

C. W. WILES, Dealer

Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Ford cars are more useful today then ever before; a necessity in village, town, city or country; the utility of the farmer, merchant, manufacturer, architect, engineer, contractor, salesman, doctor, clergyman; a profitable factor in the life of the nation. Runabout, $500; Touring Car, $525 One Ton Truck Chasis, $550; Coupe, $650; Sedan, $775 All prices f. o. b. Detroit. We can get but a limited quantity. Please give us your order at once as first come get first delivery.



E. G. ELL

Authorized Dealer

BOLD BURGLAR SHOT AT CLARION

The fourth attempt to burglarize the clothing store of Crowe & Sons within the past few years was made Sunday night.

A dozen or more silk shirts and five suits of clothes were taken. The burglars, who later proved to be J. H. O'Brien and Ray Richards, were making their get away when Marshal Campbell called on them to halt, discharging a shot gun in the air at the same time. When they refused to obey his command, he turned the gun on O'Brien and he fell to the ground severely wounded in both legs. He was less than fifty feet away when shot and he received the full effect of the charge a few inches above the ankles. Richards hid behind an outbuilding, but on order from Sheriff Fisher and Harry Campbell he soon surrendered. Mr. Campbell had observed them at work and notified the sheriff by phone of what was going on. Fisher was soon on the scene with a shot gun which he gave to Campbell who stood guard while he went for a second gun. Just as he was returning the burglars left the building with their booty and dodged behind Lester's barber shop. It was here that the shooting took place. With the officers thus armed there was little chance for escape and had not Richards surrendered he too would have been shot as Sheriff Fisher guarded the only way of escape. In addition to the stolen goods each had a quart of whiskey and a couple of jimmies for forcing open doors and windows. They were unsuccessful in doing either so removed the window stops and lifted the plate glass from a side window near the rear of the building. In doing so they dropped the glass on the cement walk and it broke with a crash, but this fact did not deter them from their work. O'Brien has been employed as a Great Western brakeman, coming here last July. Both men were indictd by the grand jury Monday evening and it is probable that they will plead guilty. Punishment for such offense is ten years imprisonment for breaking and entering and same sentence for burglarizing.—Monitor.

BUSY WEEK FOR THE GRADUATES

This week marks an epoch in the lives of some of Klemme's young people for it is their graduation week. Sunday evening the Baccalaureate Sermon was preached by Rev. Meyer at the First Methodist Church to a packed house. Thursday (tonight) the Class of '19 will graduate from the school and the address will be given by Rev. Barnlund at the Idle Hour Theatre. Tomorrow afternoon beginning at one o'clock the school will enjoy a picnic, dinner and speeches at Koerners Grove. It is a week full of events that will long be remembered and brings a touch of sadness as memories of school days are brought back to them. Graduation from High School marks the first step in the Game of Life for these young people. Today they are at their books, tomorrow they will mingle with the world in the struggle for life. Some will perhaps enter into the Great Game at once and others will further fit themselves for the struggle by entering higher educational fields. Whichever course they happen to choose we wish them good luck.

GIT DOWN YOUR OL' FISHIN' POLE

The great day has at last arrived, the fifteenth of May, the great day for all lovers of the rod and reel. The bars of the law have been lowered and we can scramble over thet op and at 'em now to our heart's content and can go after the gamey ones. Heretofore we have been confined to contenting ourselves with catching bull heads, suckers and carp, but now the law says we can go out and hook the pike, pickerel and the spunky bass. This sure is some great event and is the greatest thing that has happened since the armistice was signed. All right, let's go. Grab your rod and reel, nice fishin' weather today.

NEW PHONE INSTALLED

Please copy the following name in your directory:

83 Rev. A. W. Barnlund—Parsonage
Koerner Telephone Company

DECORATION DAY PLANS LAID

Tuesday a committee met at the State Savings Bank, with Frank Gruetzmacher as chairman, and discussed plans for the observance of Decoration Day in Klemme. A program committee was appointed consisting of Rev. Meyer, Rev. Thiel, Rev. Barnlund, A. D. Gimer, Valentine Josten, Frank Gruetzmacher and R. A. Jorgenson. Further details of the program will be given out later.

SEVEN CAIRNS BROTHERS COMING

The always popular Seven Cairns Brothers and their own company will make their annual visit to Klemme in the Big Tent theatre, Friday, May 23rd, presenting their new comedy drama, "Honest Hearts." The boys have been coming here for a number of years and our people have learned to like and respect them. They always have a clean bunch of people; their equipment is always in excellent condition and their word is as good as gold. They always carry a company of good actors and present high class plays. Their band and orchestra is a big drawing card. All seven of the brothers are with the company this season, Harry and Rolland having recently received their discharge from service in the 45th U. S. Infantry Band. Everybody likes the Cairns Bros.—There's a reason.

HOW THE MISSISSIPPI FARMER LIVES

"The Mississippi farmer gets up in the morning at the alarm of a Connecticut clock. He fastens his Chicago suspenders on his New York pants. He sits down to a Grand Rapids table and eats Indiana hominy fried in St. Joseph lard on a St. Louis cook stove. Then he puts a Kansas City bridle on a Missouri mule and plows a Mississippi farm covered by an Ohio mortgage. When bed time comes he reads a chapter from a Bible printed in Chicago, says a prayer written in Jerusalem, and crawls under a pair of blankets made in New Jersey, only to be kept awake by the howl of a Mississippi dog, the only home raised product on the farm."—Exchange.

THE KLEMME TIMES

RAY A. JORGENSON, PUB.

KLEMME, IOWA

The terms that Mathias Erzeberger was in favor of imposing upon the allies if Germany had been victorious as set forth in a memorandum written by him in 1914 are outlined by a Geneva dispatch "Germany must have sovereignty over Belgium and the French coast from Dunkirk to Boulogne and possession of the Channel Islands. She must take the mines in French Lorraine and create an African German empire by annexing the Belgian and French Congoes, British Nigeria, Dahomey, and the French west coast. In fixing indemnities the actual capacity of a state at the moment should not be considered. Besides a large immediate payment, annual installments, spread over a long period, could be arranged. France would be helped in making them by decreasing her budget of naval and military appropriations. Indemnities should provide for the repayment of the full costs of the war and the damages of war, the redemption of all of Germany's public debt and the creation of a vast fund for incapacitated soldiers."

The 29th engineers of the American expeditionary force are conducting some interesting experiments in map making. With a five-ton truck as a printing and lithographic establishment they have succeeded in turning out 10,000 copies of field maps an hour The French and British are taking a keen interest in the American outfit, as they have used a railway train for such work and their best output has been about 300 copies an hour. Furthermore, a railway train is limited in operation to available trackage, while there virtually is no limitation to the mobility of the truck.

The executive committee of the Navy League of Great Britain calls attention to "the necessity of preserving in imperial and allied interests, both in peace and war, absolute contral over Irish ports, harbors and communications, and for maintaining inviolate the 'freedom of the seas' in the British sense of the term." A preamble to the resolution shows that it was prompted by the fact that the United States House of Representatives had adopted a resolution suggesting that the peace conference give favorable consideration to Ireland's plea for self government.

Commenting on the criticism of President Wilson over the matter of Fiume, the London Times correspondent admits that "there would be a far greater unanimity of disappointment over any failure to bring the ex-kaiser and others at the top before some sort of tribunal. Indeed, the idea of letting those responsible for the atrocities of the war down easily and punishing smaller people seems to arouse contempt for the whole peace conference rather than any other sentiment."

That Porto Rico is not prepared for either statehood or independence was the opinion expressed by Senators Barbosa and Giorgetti in the course of a debate in the senate of that island this week "A country which has the number of illiterates Porto Rico has, whose masses are without means of education and whose economic condition is deplorable, is not prepared to be either a republic or a state," the leaders of its two parties, the republicans and unionists, agree.

The money raised from the Victory Liberty loan will be used to pay for bringing the American troops home from France, the cost of their demobilization, part of the war insurance claims of the soldiers and sailors killed or injured in the fighting, and will furnish funds for the care of the wounded and for the vocational training of the maimed and other post-war expenses, says a representative of the Liberty loan committee.

The income tax "really places a premium upon immorality." Where a man and woman, both in receipt of incomes, are about to marry, they can save a substantial annual sum by refraining from doing so. We have seen it roughly computed that in the lower and middle classes such a couple can, on an average, "save the rent" by avoiding the formality of marriage, says an investigator quoted by the London Times.

Indications that an organized German propaganda is being carried on in the American area of occupation continue to reach advanced general headquarters at Treves. An officer recently found postcards were being sold to American soldiers, depicting destruction wrought in various towns along the front fighting lines and stating that the damage was done by French and British artillery

A force of workmen is engaged in shutting off that corner of the Versailles park between the Trianon Palace hotel and the Hotel Des Reservoires, through which the German representatives will pass on their way to and from the conferences Baron Lersner head of the German delegation already there, has entered emphatic objections to any restrictions of the freedom of movement of the Germans

The first memorial tree planted in Country Church Community Center was placed today in honor of Theodore Roosevelt at Sharon, Ia the American Forestry association announces "because the present country life movement began with the report of the commission on Country Life appointed by Colonel Roosevelt

The honeymoon flight which Lieut Harry J Runsen late of the Canadian army, and his bride were taking from Toronto, Ontario, to Fort Wayne Ind ended when their machine crashed into a barn 48 miles from their destination The wife will nurse her husband while his two broken ribs heal

The credit for firing the first shot of the war between the United States and Germany is given to the freight steamer U S. S Mongolia of the American line when on April 19 1917 it encountered a German submarine off the English coast and sank it with one shot from one of her guns.

Copies of resolutions denouncing Postmaster General Burleson's administration of the telegraph systems adopted in 150 cities, will be sent to President Wilson, the war labor board and Burleson it is announced by S. J Konenkamp, international president of the telegraphers union.

It will take at least 10 months, the army authorities say, to complete the demobilization of the troops from overseas Their maintenance in that period, including housing clothing and food will amount to about $1,000 000,000 of which $279,428,130 will be for food.

Many valuable pictures from London art galleries, Egyptian mummies from the British museum, and some of King George's personal property, now are being taken from the uncompleted postal tube, where they were stored during the war to prevent destruction in air raids.

The bolshevist commissioner for the interior at Petrograd ordered the sale at auction last week of all the scientific instruments belonging to the Institute for Public Studies These instruments are very valuable and are said to have been sold at ridiculously low figures.

Because practically no masculine garments have been included in the things sent from this country to Belgium by the Red Cross, boys of that country have been compelled to wear girls' clothing.

A ton of dandelions were turned in to the Y M C A of Hutchinson, Kan., last week by the youngsters of the place, who are working for the prizes offered for the largest number of plants.

PORTER ON TRAIN MADE BAD MISTAKE

Hands Out Grip Filled With Booze to Woman Instead of One Containing Her Clothing.

Manilla, Ia., May 12.—What one of the interested parties declares was a real tragedy, and what was admittedly a near tragedy by the other party, resulted when two suit cases got mixed up. The near tragedy occurred in a Manilla home and the sequel was enacted in Council Bluffs.

Mrs. O. S. Olsen, who was returning to her home in Manilla from Wisconsin was handed a suit case by the porter of the Northwestern train when she alighted at the station here It was carried to the Olen home and when opened was found to contain 12 two-quart bottles of liquor, nothing else, no feminine aparel or boudour accessories, as was expected would be found in it.

That there was some excitement in the Olsen home over the discoverey states the case very mildly. Allen Barber, who had gone to the train to meet Mrs. Olsen was an innocent actor in the drama. Mr. Olsen just looked at his wife and sai nothing. A consultation was held and the very reasonable solution was reached, that the porter had been an unconscious participant in the mixup.

Meanwhile there was a sequel. When the train reached Council Bluffs the rightful owner of the suit case full of booze, was given the property of Mrs. Olsen and he was not long in finding out his loss. He began burning up the wires and Mr. King, agent for the railroad in Manilla received a message asking that the missing suit case be sent to Council Bluffs and the exchange made that would right matters.

But the man at Council Bluffs was all out of luck and booze for the answer that was sent to him was something to the effect that his suit case had fallen into good hands. However, the suit case was sent on to Council Bluffs and Mrs. Olsen received her property on the next train.

HOW 168TH INFANTRY WILL MOVE WEST

Des Moines, Ia., May 12 —C. F Stewart, manager of the troop train section of the interurban to Camp Dodge, gives out the following with regard to the 168th regiment

Movement, First battalion (less Company D), which parades at Dubuque and Waterloo, should depart from Camp Upton approximately at 5 p. m. May 11, and arrive at Chicago the evening or night of May 13, which will put organization into Dubuque for parade on the morning of May 14 and into Waterloo for parade on the afternoon of May 14, arriving in Des Moines on the morning of May 15, via Great Western.

Train carrying companies B, G and H, leaves Camp Upton approximately at 5 p. m., May 11, and arrives at St. Louis on the evening or night of May 13, parades at Keokuk in the morning of May 14, reaches Ottumwa at noon of May 14, parades in Oskaloosa in the evening of May 14, and arrives at Des Moines on the morning of May 15 via Rock Island.

Another troop train leaves Camp Upton May 11, arrives in Chicago on the evening of May 13, and will reach Davenport on the morning of May 14 for parade, and in the afternoon will parade in Cedar Rapids, arriving in Des Moines on the morning of May 15. This will probably put the celebration in Des Moines on Thursday May 15.

Word has been received from Col Ernest Olmsted, of the 213th ammunition train as follows:

'Will sail on the 17th'

It is not known whether the entire division is meant or the 88th, which was ordered some weeks ago to prepare for its return to America

DES MOINES PUBLISHER IS ROUNDLY SCORED

Council Bluffs, Ia., May 12 The Rotary club of Council Bluffs at its regular meeting today unanimously adopted resolutions denouncing the publication by the Iowa Homestead of a vicious attack on the military affairs bureau of the Council Bluffs Chamber of Commerce and expressing appreciation of the bureau's war work and complete confidence in its integrity and patriotism The resolution recites that unfortunately there was a minority in the country, due principally to misinformation who failed to realize their duties as Americans To meet this condition found to exist in this community as elsewhere, to provide for a campaign of education and to aid and facilitate the various war activities this organization was effected the members of which labored kindly and patiently with citizens who failed to have a proper vision of their duties to their country, and because of their patience and tact almost without exception succeeded in convincing the persons who came before them that the country was entitled to their unqualified support in the war

ASKS $75,000 FOR LOSS OF HIS LEGS

Fort Dodge, Ia., May 12 —James Phelan, through his attorney, today filed a petition in federal court asking for $75,000 damages as a result of being hit by an Illinois Central freight train in Dubuque, March 29.

Mr Phelan's accident necessitated the amputation of both legs and a portion of his left hand. Phelan is 68 years old, and a former member of the city council here.

COUNCIL BLUFFS—Col Don Macrae will be the guest of the Omaha Bankers' club at the Blackstone next Tuesday evening. The dinner has been arranged expressly in honor of Colonel Macrae. The club is composed of the officers of the Omaha, South Omaha, and Council Bluffs banks Covers will be laid for 100.

DES MOINES- The Decatur Stat Savings bankwas closed Thursday by the state banking department. Improper paper securities was announced as the reason for the department's action. The Decatur bank is the fourth one closed by the department in less than two months

RAISE FUND FOR IOWANS IN EAST

Governor Calls on County Councils of Defense—Says There Is Urgent Need For Quick Action.

Des Moines, Ia., May 10.—Praise for the work of the New York Iowa association in caring for the Iowa boys in New York fill Gov. W. L. Harding's story of conditions in the metropolis

The committee has been laboring under difficulties due to lack of funds, he states. The state appropriation was not available for many necessary expenditures.

Through the county councils of defense throughout the state, the governor will ask each county immediately to raise $200 to be devoted to the needs of the boys in New York, the money to be forwarded to Adjt. Gen. L. G. Lasher, as soon as received, and spent at the direction of the commission in charge of the state fund, composed of Jerry Sullivan, Henry Meyer, and the adjutant general.

"There are hundreds of items for which the state money cannot be used," the governor explained this morning. "For instance, while I was in New York, one of the boys had his shoes stolen, and he was supplied with another pair. This, of course, could not be paid from the state fund.

The Iowa association has already exhausted its own resources, he announced, having spent between $8,000 and $9,000 for the comfort of Iowa doughboys. The members of the association are doing wonderful work, he stated, several of them devoting practically all of their time to caring for the needs of the soldiers.

PEOPLE AT GEORGE TALKING SCHOOL CONSOLIDATION

George, Ia., May 10.—The consolidated school meeting held Tuesday night at the Auditorium was well attended by the people of the town, but there were only a few farmers present, and after considerable discussion of the proposed school and the plan of securing it, it was voted to hold another meeting at an early date, at this meeting a man will be here from the state educational board, to tell the people the actual facts of the consolidated school system as it is found in Iowa communities, and if it would prove practicable here, or advantageous, or whether a large or small district is preferable.

COUNCIL BLUFFS PREACHER IS UNDER INDICTMENT

Council Bluffs, Ia., May 10.—Rev. John W. Hook, mission worker, held for alleged improper relations with a girl named Ethel Johnson, was indicted on the charge of lewdness by the district court grand jury. His bond was fixed at $500.

After information had been filed against Hook early in March, the police were unable to locate him He was said to have gone to Des Moines However he soon returned and was bound over to the grand jury Hook's offense is alleged to have been committed while the Johnson girl was stopping temporarily at his mission on East Broadway.

KEOKUK MAN HEADS DENTISTS OF IOWA

Des Moines, Ia., May 10 - Dr J W Marsh, of Keokuk, was elected to succeed Dr. C. M. Kennedy, of Des Moines, as president of the Iowa State Dental Society, at yesterday afternoon's session of the three-day convention being conducted at the auditorium

Other officers elected are D Charles N Booth of Cedar Rapids vice president, Dr E. R. Swank, of Des Moines secretary, and Dr Frank Fourt, of Chariton, treasurer The two latter are reelections.

NAMED TO INVESTIGATE A VOTING MACHINE

Des Moines, Ia., May 10 The state executive council Thursday selected State Auditor F. S Shaw to go to Madison, Wis., to inspect the electric voting machine of the Wisconsin legislature. The last assembly authorized the council to purchase a similar machine.

DAVENPORT ELECTS MAYOR TO FILL VACANCY

Davenport Ia., May 10 I J Dougherty general manager of the Guaranty Life Insurance Company was elected mayor of Davenport by the city council to succeed Charles M Ludloton recently resigned

Both republican and democratic members of the council supported Dougherty, and the vote was 5 to 2 The other candidate was Dr. C. L. Barewald, upheld by the two anti-ist members.

ATLANTIC Among the numerous bequests to charitable institutions and churches made by Morgan Cullen, well to do farmer, who died a few days ago, was one of $1,000 to the Rev Father F. P McManus of St. Francis Xavier's Catholic church of Council Bluffs, for the saying of masses for the repose of the "soul of the testator and his brother Walter, and sister, Bridget."

LAKE VIEW—Rasmus Nelson sold this week his 160-acre farm north of Lake View to Carl Abel, possession to be given next March, at $205 an acre J N Miller, in the same locality, sold his farm to Dr. E. E., Speaker of Lake View for $275 an acre.

Recognition by Germany of the British protectorate over Egypt, being a part of the peace treaty, is regarded as carrying with it similar recognition of British rights by all of the allied and associated powers, including America, and as settling at once the individualistic aspirations of the Egyptians.

According to the bulletin of the American Chamber of Commerce in London, scientists are trying to abolish the famous London fog An apparatus of suck-in pipes has been devised, connected with air washers, which would remove all smoke from the sucked in air and dissipate the clean air

OLD LAKE BED IS SOLD BY STATE

Had Been Appraised at $60 to $85 an Acre, But Went at $95—Was Drained Several Years Ago.

Des Moines, Ia., May 19.—Iowa's state treasury receives $17,036.90 for the old lake bed of Elbow lake in Palo Alto county, which was sold at public auction by State Auditor Frank S. Shaw.

The tract, lying near Ruthven, included 170¼ acres, and the land had been appraised at from $60 to $85 an acre, while the price received at the auction averaged $95.58 an acre.

Land owners of the vicinity bought up the tract, which was made available when the state drained the old lake a few years ago. The state executive council recently ordered it sold.

ERECT MEMORIAL TO TEACHER WHO FELL

Davenport, Ia., May 10 - A teacher's cottage at Saint Katherine's school will be erected as a memorial to Miss Marion Crandall, former member of the faculty and the first American woman to die in France at the front in the service of her country

Miss Crandall served the boys of the French army through the Y. M. C. A. and was killed on March 2, 1918, at a "Soldier's Fireside" in France during a German bombardment of Saint Mendhould.

A few hours before her fatal wound was received she was asked if she did not fear the bombs. "Oh, no," she replied, "I pray and then I have no more fear"

Miss Crandall was buried with military honors. The body was draped in a tri-color flag, and borne by the military carriage. She received the same honors given to soldiers who die fighting

SURPRISES OFFICERS BY PLEADING GUILTY

Marshalltown, Ia., May 10.—After having been in jail here several months awaiting trial on a charge of forgery, Walter Engleman, alias Earl Miller, a young man from Ann Arbor, Mich., who is claimed by the authorities at Camp Custer, Michigan, to be a deserter, yesterday sprang a surprise in the district court by changing his plea to guilty Engleman forged several checks upon local merchants, and those of other Iowa towns, and when arrested was suspected of being a deserter Investigation showed that he had relatives at Ann Arbor, and later it was learned that he was wanted at Custer Judge Willett has not yet fixed the date for sentence

SEVEN HORSES ARE KILLED BY LIGHTNING

Marshalltown, Ia., May 10.—Orrin Swift, a farmer living near Gilman, could not have planned better had he wanted his horses electrocuted than to have had them standing at their mangers leaning their heads over an iron rod running the length of the mangers, when a thunder storm came up Lightning struck a corner of the building followed a post downward and ran along the iron rod Six of the horses fell dead in their tracks, and another was injured so badly that it will have to be shot The horses were worth $200 each, and were insured for three-fourths of their value

TEACHERS SALARIES TO COST $20,000 MORE

Marshalltown, Ia May 10 —The new law governing the salaries of teachers will cost this county from $20 000 to $25,000 next year over the amount paid this year The school board has paid this year $88 000 for teachers' salaries and it has been estimated that the amount necessary next year will run from $110,000 to $115 000 In order to curtail the budget as much as possible the school year will be shortened from nine and one-half to nine months All increases will be paid, according to the new law in case the teachers meet with the standard of requirements as to preparation.

ROBBER SHOT THROUGH LEG BY THE POLICE

Clarion, Ia., May 10. Police Chief Campbell shot a robber and captured him and a companion when they were trying to escape after robbing the C H Crowe clothing store here

They had grabbed a bundle of silk shirts and other clothing and were making their get away when Officer Campbell called to them to halt Instead they started to run and he shot one in the leg

The men are unidentified and refuse to tell their names

CEDAR FALLS WOMAN TAKES HER OWN LIFE

Cedar Falls, Ia., May 8 —Mrs T C Jergensen, 35 years old, wife of a leading photographer, committed suicide by going to the bath room, closing the door and turning on the gas. The prostrate form of the mother was found by her 15-year-old son, Harry, upon returning from school.

GENERAL PERSHING DECORATES AN IOWAN

Washington, May 8.—General Pershing has cabled the war department the name of 24 additional officers and enlisted men of the expeditionary forces to whom he has awarded the distinguished service cross for acts of extraordinary bravery. The list includes Lieut. Wm. H. Kofmehl, Farley, Ia.

THESE FARMERS BALK AT BUYING MORE BONDS

Atlantic, Ia., May 8.—There is a revolt among the farmers of Lincoln township, in Cass county, against the purchase of Victory bonds.

The farmers declare there is nothing can force them to buy bonds. At a mass meeting it was voted that no person should be reported for failure to buy An agent of the government will go into the township and make an investigation.

WEDNESDAY IS SET FOR 168TH PARADE

Famous Iowa Fighters to March Through Streets of Des Moines and Go to Camp Dodge.

Des Moines, Ia., May 10—The 168th infantry regiment of the Rainbow division will parade and be reviewed here next Wednesday, it was announced by the mayor's committee.

Word received from Colonel Mattinley, commanding the Iowa unit, said the regiment would leave Camp Upton, New York, Sunday night, reaching Iowa Tuesday.

Indications are that practically every county in the state will send delegations to greet the boys when they arrive Tuesday night. According to the committee there has been no change in the plans to have the regiment make short stops at six towns in Iowa before reaching Des Moines.

PUSH PLAN FOR VOTE ON LEAGUE

President to Be Asked Attitude Toward National Referendum —Hitchcock Opposes Delay.

By United Press.

Washington, May 10—President Wilson is to be asked by Senate democrats how he regards the proposal for a national referendum on the League of Nations covenant.

Leaders today said they expect the president to oppose it, probably on three grounds, first, that it necessarily involves separation of the treaty and the covenant, second, that it would cause long delay in getting the league under way, and third, that it is wholly unnecessary, because the people have means of expressing their views to congress on the league and have expressed them.

Congressional sentiment favoring a nation-wide vote has been growing recently. This sentiment increased today among some senators who, after reading the peace treaty summary, believe it will be possible to separate the treaty and the covenant. This they regard as essential if the chance of delaying the peace settlement is to be avoided.

Senator Hitchcock said today he believes those regarding the two as separable will be disappointed. "Those who delay the league will by that much be delaying the final peace," he said.

Kenyon Favors Vote.

Senator Kenyon, who is not hostile to the league covenant in its amended form, favors the referendum as a means of removing all doubts that the final action of the Senate shall represent the people's will.

Senator Borah who will introduce a bill providing for the referendum, said.

"The treaty and covenant are separable if the Senate has the nerve to separate them. The treaty could then be ratified without delay and the league be accepted or rejected on its merits."

The suggestion was made today that the Senate might accept the suggested "triple alliance" between this country, France and Great Britain in lieu of the League of Nations, the alliance to hold good only until opportunity for a referendum and the consequent senatorial action had been given

Senators Lodge and Brandegee are understood to have assured advocates of the referendum of their approval

PREDICT EASY SAILING.

Paris, May 9.—Members of the American peace commission, informally discussing submission of the German treaty to the Senate, predicted today there would be no more than 12 votes in opposition.

BRITISH MUTINY PLOT UNCOVERED

Captured Documents Reveal Conspiracy to Induce Revolt of Soldiers and Sailors and Bring on Anarchy.

By Associated Press.

London May 10.—A conspiracy to induce British sailors to mutiny and soldiers to demobilize themselves by marching out of their barracks has been discovered according to the Daily Mail The premises of various persons have been searched and documents seized

The steps involved, the newspaper says include four in France and several in England, while the sailors in local ports have been circularized with a view to inciting them to seize the ports and invite the soldiers and police to join them.

The object of the plot is stated to be to compel the government to use force if the projected disorders should occur, the organizers believing that this would precipitate anarchy

SIOUX COUNTY TO VOTE ON ROAD QUESTION

Hawarden, Ia., May 10.—The Sioux county board of supervisors has been in special session this week and among other matters that were taken up was a discussion of the new road law. Senator Balkema appeared before the board and explained the provisions of the new road law. Citizens of Alton and Orange City also met with them and urged the calling of a special election to decide the question of Sioux county's policy in regard to hard surfacing the primary road system of the county. The board has taken the matter under advisement and will probably issue the call for a special election at an early date.

VETS TO MEET IN CHICAGO, M

Convention Committee of American Legion Decides "Windy City"—I. W. W. Issue Brought Up.

By United Press.

St. Louis, Mo., May 10—Chicago be the next meeting place of the national convention of the American Legion.

The convention committee of the Legion in session today decided to hold the annual convention the November 11, 12 and 13

The convention committee considered bids from Minneapolis Pittsburg Chicago. November 11 was decided upon as the convention date, the observance of signing the armistice. Soldiers will put up a stand to congress for a six-months' bonus to supplant that present grant of $60 was indicated today

The committee on resolutions determined top resent to the caucus of the American Legion a request that congress grant the the pension to soldiers in service during the war

Election of a third vice president to be chosen from the marines was scheduled for the afternoon session today.

Lieut. Col Theodore Roosevelt declined the chairmanship of the convention late yesterday because he thought it for the good of the legion, it declared today.

"I refused to accept the chairmanship because it is my earnest belief it might hurt the legion," he said. "It has been said time and again that the legion is being fostered by me to further my own personal ambitions. This is absolutely untrue, and I declined to become chairman because I wanted to give as much proof as I can of the fact that this is a nonpartisan and non-political organization."

Officers Chosen.

Maj. D. Lindsley, former mayor of Dallas, Tex., was chosen temporary chairman of the legion, late yesterday after Lieutenant Colonel Roosevelt had been nominated and declined the honor. Major Lindsley will hold office until the next convention

Sergt. Jack Sullivan of Seattle was unanimously elected first vice president man, and H. B. Humphres, of Roswell, N. M., was chosen second vice president man over Chief Petty Officer Goerke, of New York

Lieut. Col. Eric Wood, of Washington, was elected secretary

Formal announcement was made that delegates from the far west the legion will endeavor to have the convention take some definite action concerning the I. W. W. and bolshevism Sullivan presented a resolution questing that a petition be sent to congress urging drastic laws to curb I W. W. activity.

HINES SMASHES STEEL R

Defies Schedule Agreed Industrial Board and Ask For Bids on Steel Rails.

By Associated Press.

New York, May 9 [illegible] director general of railroads announced here, last night that the railroad administration will ask immediately competitive bids for 200 000 tons of steel rails

Mr. Hines' announcement came after he had been informed by representatives that they had been unable to induce representatives of the steel manufacturers at a conference yesterday to agree on a reduction in the schedule of steel prices fixed by the industrial board of the department of commerce. Mr Hines declared it was his settled purpose to buy steel materials on the competitive basis as rapidly as they are needed. He issued the following statement:

"In accordance with the suggestion from Secretary Redfield and Mr. Peek of the industrial board, the railroad administration representatives, Messrs. Henry B Spencer and Howell, had a conference with representatives of the steel industry, Messrs. Spencer and Powell discussed specific criticism of the steel prices heretofore proposed and the maximum prices which the railroad administration would feel justified in paying for the various steels which the railroads use in their industries, including steel rails.

"It was made clear that the railroad administration did not seek to obtain preferential prices but that its interests were unwilling to have any change in the prices announced in March. The conferences on the subject are at an end and the railroad administration will in accordance with its settled purpose, proceed to buy such as it needs steel materials of the various kinds and to ask for competitive bids on the basis accordingly The railroad administration will at once in accordance with this policy ask for bids on 200 000 tons of steel rails."

As a result of the railroad administration's refusal to accept the prices agreed on by the industrial board and the steel producers by the opening up of the steel market by the railroad administration the resolution of the industrial board is expected. It was even reported that Secretary Redfield might resign as a result of his effort to stabilize steel prices on a basis which costs apparently had been determined by another government agency.

APRIL BREAKS REC

Washington, May 10.—[illegible] troops in the United States in April totaled 276,785, breaking all records, according to war department figures issued today Discharges in April numbered 303 000, officers 12,402.

...ANS WILL ... TERMS MODIFIED

...Instructed From Berlin to Make Counter Proposals ... Delegates and ...pers Indignant.

By United Press.

...May 10.—Chancellor ...mann, addressing the ...committee of the national ...yesterday, declared the peace delegates had been ...to make counter propo... demand the right of oral ...

...ed the allies with being ...by selfish policies." ...today represents ...point in the fall of ...he said. "'Yes' or ...lead us lower until we ...annihiliation, with no ...getting up If the col... conditions are in the same ...the main conditions we ...the tomb of the German ...

...Brockdorff-Rantzau ...interpreted the feeling ...empire and the govern... continued Scheidemann, ...he said that we will ex... the terms with good will ...ernment earnestly wishes ...peace."

Delegates Bitter.

...re is only one immediate ...peace with Russia and ...bolshevist troops for ...Herr Geisberts, one of ...an delegates at Versail... ...ed by the Neue Zeit... declaring with reference ...e terms submitted.

...of the German delegates ...d by the newspaper's ...s dispatch as follows:

...Landsburg: "The cruel ...ments of the press have ...eded. No verbal objec... be handed over. We can ...g but say yes or no. That ...uintessence of a peace of ...

...Schuecking: "The ...t is simply awful."

...erlin Zeitung Am Mittag ...German parliamentary ...apparently are solidly ...rming the peace treaty in ...nt form.

PAPERS CRITICIZE TERMS.

By Associated Press.

...May 10.—Condemnation of the ...s is expressed by all news... ...those of the extreme right ...to the condition as "unfulfill... ...to the treaty as an "instru... ...of robbery."

...Freiheit says that compared ...policy Germany pursued at ...sk, the entente peace "must ...quite moderate," but it is ...that the terms are in sharp ...tion with President Wilson's ...

...of annihilation" is the cap... ...by Vorwaerts, which says ...a "ruthless desire to lay Ger... ...anently low by force. If we ...peace it is because we are ...by force, but in our hearts we ...reject it. Such peace is an ...to exterminate a nation, not by ...arms, but by a means more ...economic slavery."

...means poverty, hunger ...," said the Tages Zeitung, ...could not be worse."

...14 points are invisible," ob... ...Tageliche Rundschau. ...humiliating point is the de... ...kaiser's surrender."

..."oversteps the blackest ...," according to the Tage... ...delegation must do its ut... ...change the terms."

...ente, who, through Wilson, ...justice and rights of people, ...," declared the Vorwaerts, ...be forced to sign through ...ger, but we will refuse in... ...We must trust the interna... ...riate to bring real peace."

...d, with the Brest-Litovsk ...terms are moderate," said ...Freiheit. "But several parts ...tion of Wilson's 14 points."

...ues "Mailed Fist."

...Hirsch, of Prussia, speak... ...Prussian national assembly ...characterized the peace ...presenting a purely "mailed ...which would mean slavery ...land and fresh bloodshed."

...ernment appeals to you," ...to close your ranks, pre... ...and avoid indiscretion ...dissensions. We are faced ...tion of to be or not to be. ...nation must stand behind ...it to covert this project... ...of force into a peace of ...is possibly only if the ...is expected to sign its ...warrant firmly supports the ...history, must find its ...

...CUSS REFUSAL.

...Associated Press.

...May 10.—In a review of Ger... ...Thu, the most mournful ...of the terms of peace, ...Reuter's Berlin cor... ...says that a remark heard ...in Berlin is:

..."anarchy than such slavery." ...All the people are discussing ...possibilities of a refusal by Ger... ...to sign the treaty ...Wilson," continues the ...

PRICES FOR WHEAT AND FLOUR TOPPLE

Minneapolis Quotations Drop Rapidly Following Action Taken By Director Barnes.

By United Press.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 10 Wheat and flour prices are tumbling here as a result of government steps to break living costs of the war.

Wheat dropped 25@40c here today, and flour has declined 75c@$1.00 in the last few days, most of the drop accompanying the wheat decline today. Julius Barnes, head of the government wheat division, last week told millers and speculators here that prices must come down, and subsequently ordered release of large stores of government owned wheat here German importation was also held as a club.

correspondent, "is particularly the object of criticism, his so called weakness evoking indignation although there are still many who base their hopes upon him.

"Director Guttman, of the Dresden bank expresses himself as convinced that the peace proposals, unless they are altered, mean Germany's absolute ruin."

AUSTRIAN NAVY TO BE DIVIDED AMONG POWERS

Will Be Completely Eliminated By Terms of Treaty—Drafting Committee at Work—Delegates Expected May 12.

By Associated Press.

Paris, May 10—The naval terms of the treaty to be presented to Austria as they have been completed, entirely wipe out the Austrian navy. All of ships of that navy, large and small, are to be surrendered Their disposition among the allies is to be adjusted later.

Both the council of four and the council of foreign ministers resumed their sessions this morning The former is giving special attention to the impending negotiations between the allies and Austria and the latter is discussing reports on the boundaries of former Austro-Hungarian territories.

The Austrian peace delegation is expected to arrive at St Germain on May 12. Information from French sources is that the delegation has not left Vienna owing to difficulties in the selection of delegates because of differences of opinion regarding the proposed incorporation of German Austria in Germany.

Dispatches received today indicate that while Franz Klein president of the delegation, favors annexation Professor Lamasch, another influential member, opposes it, and that sentiment against the proposal is growing The rest of the delegation is said to be divided on the question

Work on the Austrian treaty is nearing completion it was learned

The "big four" called in its economic and reparation expert today to go over final details of that section of the pact.

The drafting committee this afternoon began work on the treaty as a whole.

The full text of the German treaty, it is understood, provides that Germany shall recognize the inalienable independence of German-Austria unless annexations are approved by the league of nations council

REJECT GERMAN UNION

By Associated Press

Basel, May 10.—The majority faction in the Austrian national assembly, according to a report from Vienna has decided to renounce the idea of the union of German Austria and Germany in the interests of Austria and world peace.

The Austrian peace delegation will leave the Austrian capital for Paris May 10.

FIFTEEN REPORTED KILLED IN TORNADO

Brownsville, Tex., May 10 --Wire communication throughout the lower Rio Grande Valley, which was visited by a severe wind hail and rainstorm Wednesday night, was gradually being restored here today Best estimates placed the number of dead at 15. Property damage, according to meager reports, will exceed $100 000, confined mainly to small farm houses and buildings. The damage to growing crops, it is feared, will reach a higher figure.

Mountaineer Hopes To End Family War Through Army Tank

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., May 10 --Tanks helped end the war in Europe a Kentucky mountaineer thinks one might help end domestic warfare for him

Up in the mountains where he lives, this man writes the war department, the roads get very bad almost impassable. After a hard rain his horse makes slow going and he often does not reach home until very late at night His wife rather doubts that bad roads are the reason.

"I have heard that these tanks travel over impassable ground at good speed," he writes, "so when the government disposes of its surplus war material please send me one so I can get home on time, and live in peace with my wife."

Although Belgium has decided to sign the peace treaty, she is far from satisfied a high Belgian official says.

Do You Know?

From Better Farming.

While some of us are whining about the dolorous fates which beset us; whining about the "awful fall down" of our vast governmental enterprises, whining abut the terrific depletion of human life and capital and the staggering taxes which will confront us world without end, etc , while you hear this ding dong—

Do YOU know that there has never been a time in the world's history when there was so much genuine religion expressed in terms of goodness and generosity and self sacrifice as there is today?

Do YOU know that in the expenditure of about $20,000,000,000 in the last two years there has thus far been proved not one single instance of deliberate collusive dishonesty in any branch of the government nor in army or navy, nor any colossal blunder of administrative or military or navy officers?

Do YOU know that America's net increase in wealth since the world war started is nearly three times what the war will cost us?

Do YOU know that we have approximately $10,000,000,000 of foreign credit due us on which we will collect about $500,000,000 a year interest?

Do YOU know that our national gold reserve is above $2,000,000,000, almost four times that of either Britain, France or Germany, and about equal to the combined gold reserves of all six big nations of the world?

Do YOU know that in the last eight months American exports have doubled and that America now has ships, her very own, to carry these exports to the seven seas?

Do YOU know that the influenza epidemic in six months took more human lives in these United States than the war took in 12, even counting those seriously wounded?

Do YOU know that it is disgraceful, unpatriotic and wicked to bellyache and whine in these inspirational hours of history?

We have made a great investment in human welfare. It has cost money and blood The blood was precious and dear. The money was cheap We will recover it a hundredfold. We have in fact recovered it already in bigger trade and better prices.

Nevertheless, before the next Liberty loan is gathered—the last loan, the Victory loan—we will hear the voice of the growler. His will be a muffled voice, however He will scarcely dare speak aloud his rebellion The blood of the battleleld will rebuke him.

Burleson National Liability.

From the New York World (Administration Democrat.)

Taking the record of the last six years, the Burleson appointment, on the whole, has proved the most unfortunate that the President ever made—unfortunate for Mr Wilson himself, unfortunate for his administration, unfortunate for the democratic party and unfortunate for the country Mr Bryan was a sorry misfit as secretary of state, but Mr Bryan's selection was inevitable, and in naming him Mr Wilson followed the political traditions of the country. Moreover, Mr Bryan's opportunities for mischief were narrowly circumscribed, because Mr Wilson, in reality, was his own secretary of state and decided all questions of policy There have been no such restraints upon Mr Burleson He has roamed at large, been allowed to administer his office in his own amazing way, and the consequences are appalling

Instead of being a link between the President and congress, he has been a source of continuing contention Disliked and distrusted at the capitol, he has made the President's relations with congress more difficult As a political adviser to the President he has been a democratic tragedy If there has been any instance in which Mr Wilson has not involved himself in trouble by taking counsel of Albert Sidney Burleson, we should like to know when it happened.

These are minor matters, however. It is with Mr. Burleson as postmaster general that the country is chiefly concerned, and as postmaster general Mr Burleson is a national liability. The postoffice department was bad enough when he took hold; under his management it has steadily deteriorated The war gave the telegraph and telephone service into his hands, and the blight of Burlesonism has now fallen upon all the agencies of communication. We doubt if there is a single business, a single industry, a single activity, that is not a victim of the Burleson system of administration.

Had the postmaster general set out deliberately to discredit government ownership and operation of public utilities he could not have been more successful in his undertaking.

But in the meantime the American people have to pay for all this blundering incompetency, and the longer that President Wilson keeps Mr Burleson in office the more difficult he makes his own great task Probably two-thirds of the popular opposition to the President, disregarding that which is the conventional antagonism of blind, unreasoning partisanship, is the direct product of Burlesonism, and Mr Wilson could render no greater service to himself than to get rid of his postmaster general

Right Under Our Own Noses.

From the Illustrated News.

While the world is wrapped in a turmoil of revolutions by blood and fire, the most effective though silent one of the day has been taking place in North Dakota, through the ballot, demonstrating beyond question that, given the franchise and the will to use it, far more can be accomplished through it than by force of arms. The non partisan league has so completely revolutionized the state of North Dakota, that it is headed in exactly the opposite direction than it was headed in a few years ago, from top to bottom.

No blood was shed, no arms used, just silent little pieces of paper as bullets, but the slaughter of established privilege and vested rights of a few men over many, has been greater than in any battle of arms. When 10,000 intelligent men will leave their farms and work, stand for hours in the blizzard and snow, to listen to plain talk along honest lines, quietly make up their own minds and then go to the polls and put the matter through without strife, you have a vindication of democracy and the power of the ballot in democracy, as against force of arms, that needs no argument.

Right under our own noses, one of the greatest revolutions of the day and age has been pulled off, but so silently and without bloodshed, we have not noticed it

Fly Traps.

From the New York Sun

The sugeon general of the army has issued orders to all camp surgeons to prepare for a vigorous campaign against the danger of infection by flies during the coming summer Each camp will be provided with suitable "ammunition," consisting of sticky paper slappers and traps of several sizes, the largest ones for stables and stations for refuse transfer, those of medium size for kitchens and mess rooms, and the smallest for hospitals and sleeping quarters. General and specific directions for fly fighting are also to be distributed The danger to health from the common house fly is no joke at all, as has been fully established To swat the fly is a clear duty of everybody, as well as an unalloyed pleasure

Worn Teeth.

From the Literary Digest.

The teeth of all kinds and sizes are shown in a new exhibit recently installed in the American Museum of Natural History in New York

A press bulletin from the museum signed by George Pindar, chairman of the public information committee, describes the odd varieties of teeth shown in the exhibit, from the complicated apparatus called "Aristotle's lantern," worn by the sea urchins, up to the fang of the lion. The former, we are told, consists of five pyramidal jaws, each carrying a long slender tooth of continuous growth, which moves forward in the jaws as it wears away at the point. The horseshoe crab wears his teeth on his legs, at the first joints of which is a series of spines and sharp points. The food is torn to bits on these and worked into the mouth opening. The lobster's teeth are to be found on his fourth to ninth appendages. Some of them are adapted to seizing the food, others to grinding it. The exhibit also reveals the little known fact that the beetle and worm boast teeth as useful and efficient as any.

Another Top Story.

From Stars and Stripes.

When the company was falling in in alphabetical order the old top sergeant became somewhat irritated at one private who seemed to be wandering around loose.

"Hey, there, what's your name?"

"Phillips."

"Well, get up there with the F's where you belong."

DO NOT SIGN, CHINESE ORDER

Pekin Unable to Swallow Shantung Settlement — Belgians and Italians Lay Claims to Slices of German Colonies.

By Associated Press.

Paris, May 10.—The Chinese delegation has received cabled instructions from Peking not to sign the treaty of peace because of the Kiao Chau-Shantung settlement.

Instructions to the same effect have been received by the representatives of both the northern and southern Chinese governments in the peace conference.

The Belgian delegation has issued a note relative to Great Britain being appointed mandatory for German East Africa, saying that it is "unable to believe that this action has been taken by the council of four."

The Belgian delegation called at American headquarters today and made energetic representations regarding the mandate for German East Africa. The members also complained strongly of the omission from the treaty of a provision indemnifying Belgium for the 7,000,000,000 marks of German money forced into circulation in Belgium during the German occupation and which has depreciated to one-fourth of its face value.

Belgium is unable to admit that German East Africa could be disposed of by agreements in which she has not participated.

Aside from dissatisfaction with the apportionment of mandatories over former German territories on the part of some of the allies, the German treaty apparently meets with full approval of the allied delegates themselves. The Belgian protest against awarding the British the mandatory over German East Africa is based on the important part played by Belgium in the conquest of that region. Unofficial reports also have been circulated that the Italians resent being cut off entirely from mandatories.

Interviews with representatives of the countries who territories are affected by the treaty are published in the Temps. Paul Hymans, of Belgium, declares he is generally satisfied and the Polish delegates also express satisfaction, although the solution of the Danzig problem does not give them all they expected.

Danish representatives report deep satisfaction with the disposition of Schleswig-Holstein. Dr. Benes, the Czecho-Slovak foreign minister, also voices his satisfaction with the arrangements which have been made with some minor reservations.

Mandatories for Armenia Mesopotamia, Syria and Constantinople will be apportioned among the entente powers in connection with the treaty that is being arranged with Turkey, it is announced here.

WANTED EAST AFRICA.

Rome, May 10—Italy's exclusion from the apportionment of mandatories over former German colonies has created the most painful impression here.

"It is inexplicable, since Italy formally asked for a mandate," declared the Epoca.

"Italy renounced compensations under article XIII so she might act as the mandatory for East Africa," said the Idea Nationale. "This had practically been granted, but Monday the 'big three' excluded Italy."

The Epoca also criticizes the peace terms as containing the possibility of engendering future wars.

"The treaty contains germs of new and countless wars," the newspaper said. "It is not likely Germany will refuse to sign, as the economic isolation she would face would mean her death Wilson is still unalterably hostile to Italian claims."

"The terms are hard and will not be accepted without a fight," in the opinion of the Giornale D'Italia. "But Germany must sign, as she cannot escape her fate."

DENY RUMANIAN FORCE SUPPORTED BY POWERS

Advance Into Hungary Undertaken on Sole Responsibility of Rumania, Now Stated.

By Associated Press.

Paris, May 10—It is learned on high authority that there is no foundation for reports that the entente powers are supporting the Rumanian advance against Hungary which was undertaken by Rumania to forestall projected operations by the Hungarians and Russians against that country.

MOUNTED MEXICANS RAID SONORA TOWN

Kill Five Police Officers and City Jailer and Throw Open Doors of City Prison.

By Associated Press.

Douglas, Ariz., May 10.—Twenty-two mounted bandits last night raided the town of Cananea, Sonora; robbed a bank, killed five police officers and the city jailer, and released all prisoners.

The chief of police was among the officers killed. The bandits stole a number of horses and escaped to the mountains.

BERGER WANTS SEAT.

By Associated Press.

Washington, May 10—Victor Berger socialist representative-elect from Wisconsin, and under jail sentence for war time violation of the espionage law has sent a personal appeal to every member of the House that he be seated while on ball pending appeal to the supreme court. Representative Gillett the coming speaker, declares Berger can not be seated under any circumstances.

PLANES HELD AT HALIFAX TODAY

Start on Second Leg of Trans-Atlantic Flight Postponed—NC-4 Makes Port With Disabled Engine.

By Associated Press.

Washington, May 10.—The departure of the naval seaplanes NC-1 and NC-3 from Halifax for Trepassey, Newfoundland, on the second leg of their trans-Atlantic flight has been postponed until tomorrow, the navy department was advised just before noon today in a radio message from the supply ship Baltimore at Halifax.

Commander Towers explained that it had been found necessary to do some work on the propellers of the planes, but he did not go into details. Less favorable weather for the flight tomorrow than that obtaining today was forecast by the weather bureau

Lieutenant Commander A. C. Read, commanding the naval seaplane NC-4, telephoned the navy department today from Chatham, Mass., that two days would be required to repair the disabled motors which forced his plane to descend yesterday while on the first leg of the trans-Atlantic flight.

He said, when the engines were again in running order he would proceed to Newfoundland to join the NC-1 and NC-3.

PLANE MAKES PORT.

Chatham, Mass., May 10.—The naval seaplane NC-4, missing since late yesterday when she was forced to descend while attempting a flight from Rockaway to Halifax, was towed into Chatham harbor by a motorboat from the Chatham aviation station about 5:30 o'clock this morning. The NC-4 was first sighted by a guard at the station. The members of the crew of the seaplane reported that they were comfortable and that they had passed the night on a calm sea. Only one engine of the seaplane was in service, the others having been disabled on the trip from Rockaway.

When sighted at daybreak the NC-4 was trying to reach port under her own power. Seaplanes stationed here were immediately sent out to give any needed assistance, but the crew of the NC-4 signalled that all on board were safe and that although three of the four engines had gone "dead" they had been able to make considerable progress during the night in the smooth sea.

HALIFAX WELCOMES FLYERS.

Halifax, N. S., May 10.—The arrival of the two U. S. naval seaplanes here last evening was the signal for a great turnout of Halifax residents and a noisy welcome from harbor boats. Whistles on shore and the harbor shrieked and the crowd cheered as the NC-3, leading, flashed into view and took the water with a cloud of spray. She alighted in the harbor mouth of McNab's island at 7:55 o'clock (Halifax time), nine hours after the start from Rockaway. She rushed along the water at a great speed to Eastern Passage, where, during the war the United States had an air base.

Ten minutes later the second plane came into view and made the same route to eastern bay. Both planes came into the harbor in the face of a strong wind.

The NC-4 was forced to turn back on account of engine trouble, it was stated by naval officials.

The plane landed here to make minor repairs, after which it will sail for Rockaway Beach, New York, where permanent repairs will be completed.

According to plans made known here, the plane will make another start from Rockaway Beach as soon as repairs are made. If it lands at Trepassey Bay, N. F., before the NC-3 and the NC-1 "hop off" on the long journey across the Atlantic, it will join in the flight. Should the plane arrive after the others have started, it was said that no attempt will be made to follow them.

WOULD SELL U. S MERCHANT FLEET

Senator Jones to Present Bill For Disposing of Government Owned Ships to Private Interests.

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., May 10—Private operation of all merchant ships built by the government during the war except those necessary for government departments is proposed in a bill framed by Senator Jones, of Washington, who will be the chairman of the Senate commerce committee in the new congress.

In announcing that he would introduce the measure at the extra session of congress Senator Jones said it was intended "to care for the present situation until conditions shall become more normal and we can develop a wise and permanent policy based upon normal conditions and upon the experience that will give us reliable facts and data to guide us."

Two plans of sale are provided, one permitting payments to be completed in three years and the other in 20 years. Charters for private operation would be for five years. The bill directs that the sale or charter be by the president through the shipping board and it extends the life of the board for five years. Foreigners would be permitted to purchase only steel ships of 300 tons or less.

The president would be authorized to announce where the government desires new lines established for the development of American trade and special consideration would be given to establishing routes in the Pacific and South America. Should private operators fail to operate over the designated routes, however, the president would be empowered to develop the lines with government ships.

Klemme, Iowa.

Not until

Friday, May 23.

CAIRNS BROS. AND THEIR BIG COMPANY

Politly offer for your approval

"Honest Hearts"

A beautiful play of today.

BIG TENT THEATRE

Two Special Cars—Twenty-Five People

wo fine band concerts daily with Warren . Cairn Trombonist. Everybody likes us. There's a reason.

CONCERT BAND AND ORCHESTRA

HIGH-CLASS VAUDEVILLE SPECIALTIES

Famous Megaphone Quartette

Common Sense Prices

hildren, 30c Adults, 60c This includes the War Tax The U S Government gets ten per cent of the gross receipts of every preformance.

STATEMENT

of the ownership, management, circulation, etc., required by the Act of Congress of August 24, 1912, of Klemme Times, published weekly at Klemme, Iowa, for April 1st, 1919, State of Iowa, county of Hancock. Before me, a notary public in and for the State and county aforesaid, personally appeared R. A. Jorgenson, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the publisher and owner of the Klemme Times and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management (and if a daily paper, the circulation) etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of August 24, 1912, embodied in Section 443, Postal Laws and regulations printed on the reverse of this form, to wit:

1. That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, managing editor and business manager are:

Publisher, R. A. Jorgenson, Klemme, Iowa.

Editor, R. A. Jorgenson, Klemme, Iowa.

Managing editor, R. A. Jorgenson, Klemme, Iowa.

Business manager, R. A. Jorgenson, Klemme, Iowa.

2. That the owners are (Give names and addresses of individual owners, or, if a corporation, give it's name and the name and addresses of stockholders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of the total amount of stock.) R A Jorgenson, Klemme, Ia.

3 That the known bondholders, mortgagees, and other security holders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of total amunt of bnds, mortgages or other securities are: (If there are none, so state.) None

R A. Jorgenson

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 31st day of March, 1919

(Seal) P. M Griesemer

(My commission expires July 4, 1921)

BIG DANCE LAST FRIDAY

W F Pavey the manager of the dance hour put on another big dance last Friday at the theatre. There were over forty numbers sold. There were many out of town young folks at the dance and Garner and Goodell each had a crowd Music was furnished by the Harmony Concert Dance Orchestra of which C. C. Tessman is the director. The music is the best ever Mr Pavey announced that the next big dance would be Friday evening, May 30th, a big Decoration Day Dance and one you should not miss

For Painful Burns.

A paste of common baking soda and water spread on a burn will stop the pain and inflammation almost immediately

LETTER! RIVAL? KILLS THE GIRL

Man Shoots Self and Then Learns Note Was From Her Sister.

REFUSED MANY TIMES

Jealousy of Alien Enemy Leads to Double Tragedy—Loved the Girl and Thought There Was a Rival.

Chicago.—Michael Sasko went to the mantelpiece as soon as he entered the boarding house one night recently. He picked up the letters he found there, scanned the addresses and laid them aside—all but one.

It was a letter from Minneapolis, addressed to Miss Georgianna Jorgensen. He studied it for a while, then put it with the others and went to his room on the third floor.

Miss Jorgensen came upstairs, reading the letter, which was written in Norwegian.

He stopped her and asked about the letter. There had been other letters he had demanded to see, letters from France. He had asked the girl to marry him A dozen times he had asked. Each time she had refused him. He had believed there was a sweetheart overseas but she had denied this. Now he was convinced that the other lived in Minneapolis—for the envelope bore that postmark.

She would not tell him the name of the writer turned away from him, went into her room. He dashed in after her, caught her in his arms, struggled with her, left her weeping, half kneeling on the floor, half lying across the bed.

Georgianna's roommate, Frieda Knutsen found her there.

"Get the door," Georgianna said "Keep that Mike out of here."

Frieda presently opened the door and went downstairs. As she passed Sasko's room she saw him rolling a cigarette. She had gone half way down the stairs when she heard a scream then three quick shots.

As she started back upstairs there were two more shots.

Found the Girl Dead.

The [illegible] Georgianna dead. She had been shot three times. Sasko had shot himself twice above the heart. They took him to the Passavant hospital, and there, after a few hours, he made a statement.

Shot Three Times.

He had loved the girl ever since he first came to the boarding house he said. There was another woman in the boarding house who was in love with him, whom he spurned.

She had told the authorities he was an alien enemy skilled in the making of bombs, and they had taken him into custody and questioned him concerning the fatal post office blast. But he had been released.

"Did you know Miss Jorgensen before she came to Chicago, when she was in Minneapolis?" a policeman asked him.

"Minneapolis!" he said. "That's where the letter came from.

"Yes," the policeman said. "It's from her sister, Mrs. Frieda Paulson."

PUTS ONE OVER ON MEN

Minneapolis Woman Works as Farm Hand in South Dakota, Deceiving Employees.

Minneapolis.—A Minneapolis woman earned more than $400 masquerading as a man harvest hand in South Dakota last year, working with her husband. She disguised herself as a man to get the pay farmers were paying harvest hands. Her name is Edna Twaddle, although she does not seem to have been that kind of a woman at all. At the sixth place she worked she revealed her sex to the wife of the farmer and the two women had a bushel of fun at the expense of the men. When the day's work was over the men devoted some time to feats of strength and stunts. As Mrs. Twaddle in earlier years had been an acrobat on the vaudeville stage, she put on a show that distanced them all.

Drive 300 Ankorite Steel Drive Posts Per Day

LABOR IS MONEY

Ankorite Steel Drive Posts will save for you.

Cheaper installed—last several times as long—make a better fence—than wood or concrete.

THE BEST STEEL POST

because with the Patented Crimped Anchor they resist all shocks and upward and lateral strains with unequalled power.

THE GUARANTEED POST

It is Enameled Olive Green

It has the Patent Crimped Anchor

It's The Ankorite

The Patented CRIMPED ANCHOR ON ALL ANKORITE POSTS

ANKORITE POSTS SOLD BY

Western States Lbr. Co.

The Best Way to inculcate the savings habit is by opening an account for the child.

A Child

will become as interested in watching this account grow as it would be with a toy. This intrest will harden into habit and habit into

Character

Open the account today, no matter what the amount

State Savings Bank

WHERE YOU GET THE SERVICE YOU LIKE AND LIKE THE SERVICE YOU GET

KLEMME, IA.

INDEX

PERCHERON SOCIETY OF AMERICA
Chicago, Illinois

CERTIFICATE OF PEDIGREE

WE HEREBY CERTIFY THAT THE PERCHERON STALLION, INDEX recorded by the Percheron Society of America and that his recorded number is 99392

COLOR AND DESCRIPTION—Brown; star.

PEDIGREE—Foaled June 8, 1912; bred and owned by Arthur Etnier, Collins, Iowa.

SIRE—[illegible]CRON, 78677, by MONOPOLE 26873, by MONTELLE 25223, by CONDÉ [illegible]MPILLION 3559 (379), by BRILLIANT (710), by BRILLIANT [illegible], by COCO II (714), by VIEUX CHASLIN (713), by COCO (712), by MIGNON (715), by JEAN LE BLANC (739).

DAM—ROSY 78347, by MONARCH 35065, by LASPAILLE 28692 (45687) by [illegible] (789), by BIEN EVEILLE 9204 (2565), by VOLTAIRE 3540 (4[illegible]), by BRILLIANT 1271 (755), by BRILLIANT 1899 (756), by COCO II. (710), by MIGNON (715), by JEAN LE BLANC (739).

2nd DAM—QUEEN 78340, by MOUTON V. 78327 (12138), by LE NOIR [illegible] by AUGUSTINE 1290 (793), by GRENADIER 688 (726), by COMTE [illegible] by PENCH MONARCH 205 (734), by ILDERIM (5302), by [illegible] by VIEUX CHASLIN (713), by COCO (712), by MIGNON (715), by JEAN LE BLANC (739).

3rd DAM—[illegible]LETTE 78328 (12149), by MONARCH 9363 (365), by CONDÉ [illegible] (763) by FAVORA 666 (725), by FAVORI I. (711), by VIEUX [illegible] (713), by COCO (712), by MIGNON (715), by JEAN LE BLANC (739).

4th DAM—[illegible]LOTTE (6990), by VAILLANT belonging to M. Tacheau.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, we have hereunto affixed the Seal of the Society. Dated at Chicago, Illinois this fourteenth day of October, nineteen hundred and thirteen (SEAL)

Now standing for Service at my barn

Call or Phone C. M. Bredbenner Klemme Iowa

NEW ROCK ISLAND TIME

North

821, Mixed	1:35 p. m.
1069, Passenger	3:03 p. m.
435, Passenger	8:44 a. m.

South

436, Passenger	6:17 p. m.
1068, Passenger	11:25 a. m.
820, Freight	12:15 p. m.

Optimistic Thought.

We must calculate not on the weather, nor on fortune, but upon God and ourselves.

DR. R. M. THOMAS

Veterinarian

All Calls Answered Promptly

Klemme, Iowa Office and Residence Phone

Geo. ZINN

Physician & Surgeon

Phone No 19. KLEMME IA;

Office in Building East of Gruetzmacher Harness and Shoe Shop.

Eyes Tested.

Glasses Fitted

W. F. PAVEY

The Practical Blacksmith

OXY-ACETYLENE WELDE

Wagon, Buggy and Machin Repairing

Horse Shoeing and Plow Work a Specialty

Col. B. A. Reemtsma

General Auctioneer

KLEMME, IOWA

Farm and Stock Sales a Specialty

Call, write or phone 508 Klemme for dates, terms, etc.

...Satisfaction Guaranteed...

Optimistic Thought.

All brave men love; for he only is brave who has affection to fight for.

Copyright Hart Schaffner & Marx

When the Flag Goes By

Memorial Day, May 30

HATS OFF as the Flag passes; that has always been the rule; but Americans had to go to war to learn what the flag means, and how to pay honor to it.

Decoration Day is no longer a memoral of the Civil War; it is a day of tribute to all heroic souls who have shown devotion to the highest patriotism; to those who gave their lives, and to those who were willing to do so.

The clothing business can wait while the flag passes

GET TO KNOW

Gildner Bros. & Johnson

The Home of Hart Schaffner and Marx Cloths

FOURTEEN STORES

GARNER, IOWA

DON'T MISS THE FREE CONCERTS

The "7 Cairns Bros." and their own company will present their new play of love and pathos, "Honest Hearts," for your approval in the big tent theatre at Klemme, one performance —at night only, Friday, May 23rd.

The Cairns Bros. are credited with having the highest class band and orchestra in the business, including "Warren E. Cairns," America's best trombone soloist, Mr. Roy N. Cairns, saxophone soloist and the Famous Megaphone Quartette. No street parades filled with a lot of useless clap trap that signifies nothing but quantity, but two free band concerts on the principal streets daily of the "worth while kind." Quality ,not quantity county. The Cairns Bros. guarantee with every ticket your money's worth or we dont' want it.

Work is progressing rapidly on the remodeling of the State Savings Bank The new vault is going up fast. A new money safe was received last week. With the new outfit the bank will certainly be burglar and fire proof. It is a good equipment as it now stands, but with the added fixtures and new vault it will be right up to date in every respect. A new roof is also being put on the bank.

Now Is the Time

to repair your Farm Machinery

And Remember that we have a full line of

DEERING, McCORMICK, EMERSON and ACME MOWERS

Deering, McCormick and Acme Binder Sections and Ledger Plates

A good stock of Cultivator shovels and tongues on hand. NOW is a good time to bring that Mower for Repairs

ALWAYS HAVE ON HAND PLENTY REPAIRS——

Sections and Sickles—Ledger Plates—Pitman Boxes
Pitman Straps—Pitman Woods—Pitmans Complete
Guards—Guard Bolts—Pinions—Tongues
In Fact anything you want in a hurry——

THE HAY RACK SEASON IS ALMOST HERE!

And if you need a new rack don't fail to see the Burnham Combination Rack before buying, you will SAVE MONEY by so doing.

THE J. I. CASE TRACTORS AND THRESHING MACHINERY has no equal, call and see me before buying. Better be safe than sorry.

W. F. PAVEY

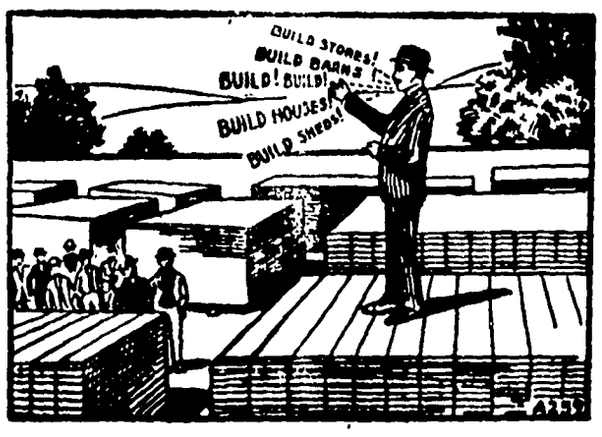
The Practical Blacksmith — Klemme, Iows

Sell Your Grain To

Walter F. Lau

And receive the highest price and correct weight. Will buy Hogs every day in the week. Also handle high grade COAL. Give me a trial and I will Show you the RESULTS.

Office Phone No. 16. — Residence Phone No. 52



BUILDING RESTRICTION LIFTED

The War Industries Board has lifted the building restriction on farm and city construction, cost not exceeding $10,000. This order went into effect November 12th. Farmers, you can now get busy on that new barn, etc., or you who move to town can now build a new house.

NORTHERN LUMBER CO.

N. L. PALMER, M

WOMAN'S NERVES MADE STRONG

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Winona, Minn.—"I suffered for more than a year from nervousness, and was so bad I could not rest at night—would lie awake and get so nervous I would have to get up and walk around and in the morning would be all tired out. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and thought I would try it. My nervousness soon left me. I sleep well and feel fine in the morning and able to do my work. I gladly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to make weak nerves strong."—Mrs. ALBERT SULTZE, 608 Olmstead St., Winona, Minn.

How often do we hear the expression among women, "I am so nervous, I cannot sleep," or "it seems as though I should fly." Such women should profit by Mrs. Sultze's experience and give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial.

For forty years it has been overcoming such serious conditions as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, dizziness, and nervous prostration of women, and is now considered the standard remedy for such ailments.

Kill All Flies! THEY SPREAD DISEASE

Placed anywhere, DAISY FLY KILLER attracts and kills all flies. Neat, clean, ornamental, convenient and cheap. Lasts all season. Made of metal, can't spill or tip over; will not soil or injure anything. Guaranteed.

DAISY FLY KILLER at your dealer or by EXPRESS, prepaid, $1.25. HAROLD SOMERS, 150 De Kalb Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

A toilet preparation of merit. Helps to eradicate dandruff. For Restoring Color and Beauty to Gray or Faded Hair. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists.

Immediate Action Necessary.

Kind Old Gentleman—What are you crying for my little man?

Tommy Tuff—I can't think of a name for dat guy.

K. O G—And why should it be necessary for you to think of a name, my little chap?

T. T—Yer wouldn't ask that if yer heard the one he called me.

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured

by LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE will cure catarrh. It is taken internally and acts through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is composed of some of the best tonics known, combined with some of the best blood purifiers. The perfect combination of the ingredients in HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is what produces such wonderful results in catarrhal conditions.

Druggists 75c. Testimonials free.

F. J. Cheney & Co., Props., Toledo, O.

Cross-Examination.

Mistress—So you are the brother of my cook? Her only brother?

Policeman—I hope so.

FRECKLES

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as Othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from your druggist, and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than one ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.—Adv

Superficiality.

"There are two sides to every question."

"Yes," replied Senator Sorghum. "And too many of us chaps who pose as powerful thinkers don't take the trouble to get to the inside."

BOSCHEE'S SYRUP

will quiet your cough, soothe the inflammation of a sore throat and lungs, stop irritation in the bronchial tubes, insuring a good night's rest, free from coughing and with easy expectoration in the morning. Made and sold in America for fifty-two years. A wonderful prescription assisting Nature in building up your general health and throwing off the disease. Especially useful in lung trouble, asthma, croup, bronchitis, etc. For sale in all civilized countries.—Adv.

None Satisfied

Officer—But stated you, a millionaire, have little to complain about.

Munition Magnate—Oh, I don't know. The munitions orders treat us like so much dirt.—London Opinion.

Shave With Cuticura Soap

And double your razor efficiency as well as promote skin purity, skin comfort and skin health. No mug, no slimy soap, no germs, no waste, no irritation even when shaved twice daily. One soap for all uses—shaving, bathing and shampooing.—Adv.

Always look on the bright side of things—and if you are buying them look on both sides.

Your Eyes Granulated Eyelids, Eyes inflamed by exposure to Sun, Dust and Wind quickly relieved by Murine Eye Remedy. No Smarting, just Eye Comfort. At Your Druggists or by mail 60c per Bottle. For Book of the Eye free write Murine Eye Remedy Co., Chicago.

THE CURVED BLADES

By CAROLYN WELLS

Author of "A Chain of Evidence," "The Gold Bag," "The Clue," "The White Alley," Etc.

CHAPTER XXIII—Continued.

Nearly a week after Pauline's arrival, Loria told her that the next day he must leave her, and go up the Nile to attend to his work there. They were in the sitting room of Pauline's pleasant suite at the hotel, and Mrs. MacDonald promised to cherish most carefully her charge in Loria's absence.

"How long shall you be away, Carr?" asked Pauline.

"It's uncertain, Polly. Perhaps only a few days this time, perhaps a week. I'll be back and forth, you know, and you're bound to find enough to interest you. Keep me advised of any news from America. You can always reach me by mail or wire, or telephone if need be. And, here's another matter, Pauline. You know, this work I'm up against is more or less dangerous."

"Dangerous, how?"

"Well, there's blasting and danger of caveins and such matters—but don't feel alarmed. I'll probably come through all right. Only, I want to make my will, so if anything should happen, you'll be my heir without any fuss about it."

"Oh, don't talk about such things, Carr. You frighten me."

"Nonsense, don't take it like that. Now, see here. You know my way. Touch and go is my motto. So, I've asked a lawyer chap to come here tonight and fix up things. Suppose you make your will too. Then it will seem more like a business matter, and not as if either of us expects to die soon. Who's your heir to be, Polly?"

"Why, I don't know, I've never thought about it."

"But you ought to. You see, now you're some heiress, and it isn't right not to have a will made—on general principles. To be sure, you may marry——"

"Oh, I don't think I ever will, Carr!"

"Nonsense, Pollypops, of course you will. But you must take your time and select a good chappie. Now, how does this strike you? Jeffries, my lawyer, is coming here, right away. Suppose we each make a will, leaving all our worldly goods to each other. Then, later, when you decide on your life mate, you can change and rearrange as you like."

"But I haven't any fortune yet. Aunt Lucy's estate isn't all settled, is it?"

"No matter about that. It will be, in course of time. I have every confidence in Haviland, he's as honest a chap as ever breathed. He'll fix up all our interests over there, in apple pie order, and don't you forget it! Humor me in this thing, Polly, and believe I know more of business affairs than you do, and it's best to do as I say."

Pauline was easily persuaded, and as the arrangement was conceded to be merely temporary, she agreed. Jeffries came. The two wills were drawn, signed and witnessed, all in correct form. Loria, in his, bequeathed to Pauline all he might die possessed of, and except for a few charities and minor bequests, Pauline left her fortune to Carr. The business was soon over, and Loria took both documents, saying he would put them in his safe deposit box for the present, as Pauline had no place for valuable papers.

The next day Loria, accompanied by the invaluable Ahri, went away to the site of his projected enterprise. This affair was conducted with such strict secrecy that even the location was not known to many. Actual work had not yet been begun, but negotiations and preparations of vast importance were being made, and secret conclaves were held by those most interested. Pauline had been emphatically adjured to give not the least hint to anyone whatever of the project, and she had promised faithfully to obey Carr's injunctions.

The next afternoon a telegram from Fleming Stone announced his arrival at Alexandria and his immediate appearance in Cairo.

Addressed to her, in Loria's care, Pauline received it duly, for her mail was brought to her at Shepheard's, and Carr's forwarded to him wherever he might be. She had had a cable from Haviland, but no American letters had yet reached her. Stone, having sailed just a week after Pauline's departure from New York, was arriving eight days after her own advent at Cairo.

The girl's first emotion was of joy. The thought of seeing Stone again eclipsed all other thoughts.

"Oh, Mrs. Mac!" she cried, clasping that somewhat rotund matron around the waist and leading her an enforced dance. "Mr. Stone is coming! Will be here for tea! Oh, I am so glad!"

But her second thoughts were more disturbing. Why was he coming? What were his suspicions? Could he be tracking her down? Though Fleming Stone had never said a word of love to her, Pauline knew, by her own heart's "detective instinct," that he cared. But, his sense of duty might make it necessary to follow where the trail of suspicion led, even at cost of his own affections. Then, too, could he suspect? But Pauline's irrrepressible joy at thought of seeing him left her little time or wish to indulge in gloomy forebodings.

Singing, she ran off to dress for Stone's reception.

"Which is prettier?" she asked of Mrs. Mac, holding up an embroidered white crepe, of Cairo construction, and a black net gown, brought from New York.

"Wear the white, Miss Stuart. It's most becoming to you."

It was, and when arrayed in the lovely, soft, clinging affair, with a cluster of tiny white rosebuds at her belt, Pauline's unusually pink cheeks and her scarlet flower of a mouth gave all the color necessary.

Her beautiful hair, piled in a crown atop her little head, was held by a carved ivory comb, and beneath their half drooped lashes her great eyes shone like stars.

For the terrace, she donned a large white hat, with black ostrich plumes, and flinging a white cape edged with black fur over her arm, she descended to meet her guest.

Though little given to emotional demonstrations, Fleming Stone caught his breath with a quick gasp at sight of her, and advanced with outstretched hands and a smile of a sort no one had ever before seen on that always calm face.

"How do you do?" she said, smiling; for, though thrilled herself, she remembered the unfailing curiosity of the terrace crowds.

But Stone, having taken her two hands in his, stood looking at her as if he intended to pursue that occupation for the rest of his natural life.

"Sit down," she said, laughing a little nervously under his gaze; "this is our table. Will you have tea?"

"Tea, of course," and at last Fleming Stone took himself in hand and behaved like a reasonable citizen. "And how are you? And your cousin, where is he?"

"Mr. Loria is out of Cairo just now," and Pauline turned to give the waiter his order. "But we are three, as I am under the most strict surveillance—" she paused, realizing what that phrase meant to a detective! "Of a perfect dragon of a chaperon," she continued bravely, trying to control her quivering lip. "Here she comes now."

The appearance and introduction of Mrs. MacDonald gave Pauline time to regain her poise, and a glance of pathetic appeal to Stone made him take up the burden of conversation for a few moments. And then, with the arrival of the tea, the chat became gayer, and, of course, impersonal.

The Englishman, Pitts, appeared, indeed, he inevitably appeared when Pauline was on the terrace, and joined the group without invitation.

It was not Fleming Stone's first visit to Egypt, and he noted with interest the changes, and looked with gladness on things unchanged, as the kaleidoscopic scene whirled about him.

Later, they all went up to Pauline's sitting room and viewed the street pageant from second story windows.

And then Mrs. MacDonald, after a short and losing battle between her conventions and her kind heartedness, insisted that Mr. Pitts must take her across the stret to buy some imperatively necessary writing paper.

Outwardly courteous but inwardly of a rampageous unwillingness, Mr. Pitts acquiesced in her scheme, and Fleming Stone politely closed the door behind them.

He turned, to see Pauline looking at him, with a gaze, frightened, but—yes, surely—welcoming, and not waiting to analyze the intent of the gaze more deeply, Stone took a chance, and in another instant, held her in his arms so closely that the intent of her glance was of little importance to anybody.

"Pauline!" he breathed, "how I love you! My darling—mine! No no, don't speak—" and he laid his finger tips on her parted lips, "Just look at me, and so tell me—"

The wonderful eyes raised themselves to his, and Stone's pheneomenal insight was not necessary for him to read the message they held.

"You do love me!" he whispered; "oh, my little girl!" and after a long, silent embrace, he cried jubilantly "Now tell me! Now tell me in words, in words, Pauline, that you do!"

Unhesitatingly, without shyness, Pauline, radiant faced, whispered, "I love you, dear," and the vibrant tones filled the simple words to the brim of assurance.

Though it seemed to them but a moment, it was some time later that Mrs. MacDonald's tap sounded on the door.

"Come," cried Pauline, springing away from Stone's side, while he sauntered to the window. "Oh, Mrs. MacDonald, you must know it at once! Mr. Stone is my fiance!"

Mrs. Mac was duly surprised and delighted, and, after congratulations, sent Stone away to dress for dinner, and endeavored to calm down her emotional charge.

Later that evening Stone and Pauline sat in the hall watching the people. Almost as much alone as on a desert island, they conversed in low tones, and Stone, between expressions of adoration, told her of his theory of the beauty charm.

With paling face, Pauline listened. "Who?" she whispered. "Who?" Do you suspect anybody?"

"You don't know of your aunt ever having consulted any beauty doctor or anay such person?"

"Oh, no! I'm sure she never did. Never!"

"And you don't know of anyone who would give her poison, under pretense of its being a charm or beautifier?"

"Oh, don't! Don't ask me!" and with a face white as ashes, Pauline rose from her chair. "You must excuse me, Mr. Stone. I am ill—I don't feel well—. Really I must beg to be excused."

Almost before he realized what she was doing, Pauline had left him, glided to the elevator, and he heard the door of the cage clang to, even as he followed her.

"Poor child!" he said to himself, "poor dear little girl!" and going in quest of Mrs. MacDonald, he asked her to go to Pauline.

"You will perhaps find her greatly disturbed," he said, "but I assure you it is nothing that can be avoided or remedied. Please, Mrs. MacDonald, just try to comfort and cheer her, without asking the cause of her sadness."

After a straightforward look into Stone's eyes, which was as frankly returned, Mrs. MacDonald nodded her head and hastened away.

As Stone had predicted, she found Pauline sobbing hysterically.

"What is it, dear?" she queried, "tell Mrs. Mac. Or, if you'd rather not, at least tell me what I can do for you. Don't, don't cry so!"

But no words could she get from the sobbing girl, except an insistent demand for a telegraph blank. This was provided, and Pauline wrote a message to Carr Loria telling him that Fleming Stone had come to Cairo. This she ordered dispatched at once. Then she begged Mrs. MacDonald to leave her, as she wished to go to bed and try to forget her troubles in sleep.

Meantime, Fleming Stone left the hotel and proceeded straight to Carr Loria's rooms. He expressed surprise when the janitor informed him of Mr. Loria's absence.

"Well, never mind," he said; "he'll be back in a few days. But I'll just go in and write a note and leave it on his desk for him."

The janitor hesitated, but after a transference of some coin of the realm was effected, he cheerfully unlocked the door and Stone found himself in Loria's apartment. It was a comfortable place, even luxurious, in a mannish way, and the detective looked about with interest. As he had proposed, he went to the writing table and, taking a sheet of writing paper from the rack, wrote a short note. But instead of leaving it, he put it in his pocket, saying to the watchful janitor that perhaps it would be better to mail it. Then he stepped into Loria's bedroom, but so quickly did he step out again, that the janitor hadn't time to reprove or forbid him.

"All right," he said, as he started to leave. "When Mr. Loria returns you can tell him I called."

This permission went far to allay the janitor's fears that he had been indiscreet; for Carr Loria was not a man who brooked interference with his affairs or belongings.

XXIV
CONFESSION.

Carr Loria was at Heluan when he received Pauline's telegram. For a few moments he studied it, and then going to a hotel office, he possessed himself of a telegram blank which he proceeded to write on, by the use of a typewriter near by.

With a preoccupied look on his face, as if thinking deeply, he called Ahri and gave him a long and careful list of directions.

And it was in pursuance of these directions that the Arab presented himself at Shepheard's at 10 o'clock in the morning and asked for Miss Stuart.

"What is it, Ahri?" asked Pauline, as she received the dragoman in her sitting room.

"Miss Stoort," and the Arab was deeply respectful, "Mr. Loria begs that you go with me to Sakkara to visit the pyramids and necropolis."

"Now?" said Pauline, in surprise.

"Yes, my lady. Mr. Loria will himself meet you at the station. Will you start at once, please?"

"But I am expecting a caller—Mr. Stone——"

"Pardon but Mr. Loria said if you hesitated for any reason, to implore you to go with me quickly, and he will explain all."

Pauline paled a little, but she said, simply, "Very well, Ahri, I will go at once."

Escorted by the silent, majestic mannered Arab, Pauline was taken through the crowded streets to the station, and they boarded a train just as it was leaving.

"We did get the train, Miss Stoort," said Ahri, with his sad smile, "Mr. Loria would be greatly mad if we had missed it. Yes."

Pauline nodded at him, her thoughts full of the spoiled day, which she had hoped to spend with Stone.

Yet she longed to see Carr, she wanted to tell him what Mr. Stone had said about the beauty, charm and——

"You said Mr. Loria would meet us at the station, Ahri; you put me on the train so quickly I had no chance to speak. Where is he?"

"Not the Cairo station, my lady. The station at Bedrashein."

"Where is that?"

"Where we are going. We alight there to see the ruins of Memphis and the pyramids of Sakkara."

Pauline looked puzzled, but said no more and sat silently wrapped in her own thoughts, now of Stone, now of Carr, and again of herself.

At Bedrashein they left the train. Pauline looked anxiously around but saw nothing of her cousin.

"I do not see him," said Ahri, gravely, meeting her inquiring glance; "but I obey his orders. He said, if he is not here, we go to the desert to meet him."

"To the desert? How? Where?"

"This way. Here are our carts." Ahri led the way to where two small carts stood waiting, evidently for them. They were a little like English dog carts and drawn by desert horses.

"You take that one, Miss Stoort, and I this," directed Ahri, standing with outstretched hand, like a commanding officer.

Bewildered, but knowing the responsibility of Carr's servant, Pauline got into the cart he indicated. She did not at all like the looks of the gaunt black Moor who drove her, but thought best to say nothing. She had learned never to show fear of the native servants, and she held her head high, and gave the driver only a haughty stare. Ahri, after she was arranged for, sprang into the other car, and they set off.

The road was through the village, through palm groves, past large expanses of water, and at last through desert wastes, among foothills that quickly cut off the view of the road just traversed.

Pauline's cart was ahead of the other, and looking back she could not see the other one, in which Ahri rode.

A strange feeling began to creep into her heart. Covertly she glanced at her driver. The hard bony face was not turned her way, but she had an uncanny sense that the man was grinning at her. Sternly she bade him stop and wait for the other cart.

"No Ingleese," he rejoined, with a dogged expression on his ugly countenance.

"I command you," and Pauline laid hold of his arm, "I insist that you stop!"

"No Ingleese," he repeated, and now he gave her a distinctly impudent look and spurred the horse to faster pace.

Pauline considered. She was frightened beyond words to express, but she knew she must not show fear. Haughtily she held her proud little head aloft, and tried to think what was best to do. Something was wrong, that she knew, but whether it was Ahri who was at fault, or this dreadful man beside her, or—or—she stifled back the thought of Loria.

He would save her, she knew he would, cried her worried brain, but in her heart was black doubt. All the unadmitted fears she had known of late, all the repressed suspicions, all the insistent doubts, these came flocking, clamoring for recognition.

On they went—where they might be she had no idea. Nothing could be seen but the never ending hills, not high, but of sufficient height to cut off all view of anything but their sandy slopes. Miles and miles they traversed. The sun was under a cloud and Pauline had no knowledge of the direction they were taking. But from the man's grim, stony face, and cruel eyes, she knew she was in dreadful, even desperate danger. Courageously, she insisted over and over that they stop. The reply was only a shaken head and a reassertion that English was an unknown tongue. This Pauline knew to be a lie, from his intelligent expression at her words. At last, desperately trying to control her trembling hands, she offered her purse, if he would stop.

To her surprise, he consented, and jerked his horse to a standstill. Pauline handed over the purse, and the driver got out of the cart, indicating by gestures that she should also alight, and rest herself.

The cart was small, and the ride had been uncomfortable, so after a moment's thought Pauline jumped out. She reasoned that the man having her money, had no desire to prolong the trip, and in a moment they would go back to Bedrashein. Often had she heard of these robberies, and she felt that, cupidity satisfied, she had little to fear.

But no sooner was she on the ground than the Moor sprang again into his cart and, whipping up his horse, sped away across the desert sand and in a minute rounded a hill and was out of sight.

Pauline looked after him an instant, and then, realizing to the uttermost what it meant—that she was abandoned to her fate in a trackless desert—fell in a little heap on the sands and fainted away.

It was about 11 o'clock on the morning of that same day, that Carr Loria went to Shepheard's hotel and asked for Fleming Stone.

The two men met, and eyed each other appraisingly. There was no light chat, each was of serious face and in grave mood.

Loria spoke first, after the short greeting. "I have a telegram from my cousin, Miss Stuart," he said, drawing a paper from his pocket. "I know why you are here, Mr. Stone, and I think best to show you this. Frankly, I am glad of it."

Stone took the message and read:

I have run away again. I am afraid of F. S. Don't try to find me, I am all right, and I will communicate with you after he goes back to U. S. I positively will not make my whereabouts known as long as he is in Cairo. Don't worry.

POLLY.

(Continued Next Week.)

German laborers in the shipyards at Danzig, where American food ships are being overhauled, are becoming so imbued with bolshevistic that the American navy probably will abandon any attempt to do the repair work there.

YIELD BIG CROPS

Grain Seeds From Western Canada Do Well in Ohio

Demand for Them Is Bound to Increase Value to the Land of Our Western Neighbor, Now to Be Had Cheap.

A large area of the land in counties in Ohio prepared for seeding will be seeded with wheat—a spring variety. This imported from Western Canada about three years ago that the this seed was imported into the and the result, watched each ing year, proved that Ohio spring seeding was a success demand for the seed has now so great that one of the large houses in the state, that has been chasing from Western Canada and importing it, has decided chase a large block of land country for the purpose of growing grain themselves. They will a considerable portion of their ern Canada holdings to growing barley and rye. Their action strong indorsement of the product some time past a considerable tity of seed oats has also been ed. The prolific yield reported what probably gave an impetus introduction of wheat.

It was found, though, after years the quality of the as well as the yield, began to when grown seed was used, necessary for fresh importation couple of years. It is possible the same experience may follow growing of Western Canada wheat. It is quite probable, and farmer will find it necessary to every two years.

With the success that has the Ohio farmers' experiment this imported seed it is possible states now growing winter wheat begin growing spring wheat. therefore be taken for granted Western Canada, in addition ability to produce hundreds of bushels of wheat per the greatest percentage of gluten any wheat in the world, will be called upon to provide the that will be grown on the acres in the United States that devoted to spring wheat.

It is a well-established fact that further north any product of the can be brought to a state of more vigorous it becomes. has been proven in the grains have been produced in Western ada; it has been shown in the opinion of its horses, its cattle sheep and its hogs; also in its. The neighbor to the north real a splendid future before him many years will not have passed fore the lands that are selling at much less than their present value will bring prices more commensurate with their true worth that do today. Think of lands that their operation a profit of from to twenty-five dollars an acre selling at figures less than $40 an It does not require a mathematician to figure the percentage of profit is unfair to these lands to assume to continue these profits for long it is safe to make the prediction in a very few years they will themselves on a parity with lands that today produce less and for much more.—Advertisement.

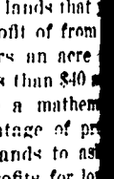
The pen is mighty and there certain kind that some men out live in.

Back Ache and Ac

There's little peace when your days are weak and while at first may be nothing more serious than backache, dizzy, stabbing pains, aches, dizzy spells and kidney irrities, you must act quickly to the more serious trouble, dropsy, heart disease, Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills, the remedy is so warmly recommended every by grateful users.

A South Dakota Case

J. F. Knapp, retired merchant, Armour, S. D., says: "I suffered from backache and other kidney trouble some time ago. Mornings my back was lame and sore and I didn't feel well at all. The kidney secretions passed too often and were unnatural. I was nervous and it didn't take much to tire me out. Someone told me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I got a supply. One box of Doan's did me and I have had no return of complaint."



Get Doan's at Any Store, 60c a Box

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

FOSTER-MILBURN CO., BUFFALO, N. Y.

Now Is the Time to Buy a Farm in Good Old U.S.

Although the war is over the demand for food continues. The best of producing things to eat, that gives promise of paying satisfactory dividends.

The U. S. RAILROAD ADMINISTRATION offers the co-operation of HOMESEEKERS' BUREAU to those who wish to engage in farming, ranching, dairying, poultry raising, growing, and kindred pursuits. Full information will be furnished as to farm opportunities in any State desired.

Write today. Give me the name of the State you want information about, what line of farm activity you like to follow, and the number of acres you will need, and let me know what kind of terms you desire. The more particulars you can send me as to your requirements, the better I can serve you.

Nothing to Sell. Only Information.

J. L. EDWARDS, Manager, Agri. Section, U. S. Railroad Administration, Room 1606, Washington, D. C.

...Boston Transcript.

Proving It.

Pussyfooting is a calamity."

"I suppose it is something of a catastrophe."

What is Castoria

...is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, ...and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither ...Opium nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief ...Infants and Children, for Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic, Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness, ...Worms, giving sleep, and promoting the Stomach and Bowels, ...assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. ...Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

...Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over ...has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher, and has been made under ...personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. ...Just-as-Good" are but Experiments that ...endanger the health of Infants and ...Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Infants and Children, for Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic, Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness, ...Worms, giving sleep, and promoting the Stomach and Bowels, ...assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher, and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. Imitations, "Just-as-Good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Infants and Children, for Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic, Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness, ...Worms, giving sleep, and promoting the Stomach and Bowels, assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher, and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. Imitations, "Just-as-Good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

...Will Be Free ...she's going to give ...have here to ... pay her for them."

...differ as to whether ... should be classed as ... or drawing room.

Rely On Cuticura For Skin Troubles

...Soap 25, Ointment 25 & 50. Talcum 25. ...Book free of "Cuticura, Dept. X, Boston."

...is nothing more idiotic than ... of a pretty girl—when di... some other fellow.

When a man begins to discuss matrimony with a widow the result is usually a tie.

WHEN BUYING ASPIRIN ALWAYS SAY "BAYER"

...for "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" in a Bayer package—marked with "Bayer Cross."

...buy Aspirin tablets in a ... on getting the Bayer ... the safety "Bayer Cross" on ... and on tablets. No other

...must say "Bayer." Never ask ... Aspirin tablets. The name ... means you are getting the ... "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin," ... by millions of people. ... of counterfeits! Only ... Bayer manufacture, who ... the penitentiary for ... ...ny with talcum powder tab... ...is claimed to be Aspirin.

In the Bayer package are proper directions and the dose for Headache, Toothache, Earache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, Colds, Grippe, Influenza, Colds, Neuritis and pain generally.

"Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" American made and owned, are sold in vest pocket boxes of 12 tablets, which cost only a few cents, also in bottles of 24 and bottles of 100—also capsules. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.

...Language in Abbreviation.

...the school nurse has her fun. ...before the central phil... ...council the other day, Miss ... Stewart of the board of ... told of one little boy who, ... had been examined by the ... to the teacher in charge, ...ing that the nurse called him ...

...the teacher expressed her ...the boy sought to prove his ...handing her the card the ...had given to him as her record ...examination.

"...at that!" he cried.

"...ent," read the card.

"...nutrition," explained the ...boy, sending the child away ...opinion of the nurse.

...Tirpitz a Pauper.

...Chateau de Geneve is informed ...Admiral von Tirpitz, ... at Wildegg, Switzerland, the ... of Lieut.-Colonel Willi, com... ...former commander-in-chief of ... army, ...has lost all his fortune. His ...clerk in a bank at Zurich, ...daughter is a governess in a ...family.

...paying the German war ...Tirpitz invested his money ...securities, with the result ...now penniless. What a Information Needs Confirmation.

"Old Dorsey Dudgeon prides himself on knowing where the conflagration is as soon as he hears the fire bell ring," related the landlord of the Petunia tavern.

"By the time half a dozen whangs have changed he has scrabbled into a garment or two and is out on his front porch, hollering to the people running by just where he knows the fire is."

"He should be of considerable assistance to the volunteer firemen and others in sending them in the proper direction," commented the interested guest.

"Eh-yah! He would be if he didn't miss three out of ten know it wrong."—Kansas City Star.

Glossing Over the Facts.

"Pa, what is a euphemism?"

"I'll have to explain that by giving you an example, son."

"Yes, pa."

"The dictionary says a euphemism is 'a figure of speech by which a word or phrase more agreeable or less offensive is substituted for one more accurately expressive of what is meant' as in the case of the society reporter who states that a widow who has been married three or four times is 'led to the altar' by a wealthy old codger who never had the slightest notion of getting married until he found the preacher."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Economy in Postum

Boil Postum as long as you please, and you will extract only healthful goodness. You'll get no caffeine—the coffee-drug—for there's none in Postum.

The Original

POSTUM CEREAL

In fact, should be boiled fully 15 minutes, and if desired the pot can be kept going from meal to meal, adding more Postum and water for the new service.

Postum is the favorite of large numbers of former coffee-drinkers and can be served from grocers everywhere.

Two Sizes, usually sold at 15c and 25c.

A Delicious, Invigorating and Healthful Drink

"There's a Reason"

DEMOCRACY STILL SAFE.

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger

We were speaking a day or two since about the marriage of Miss Margaret Carnegie and Roswell Miller.

There was a pleasant and a reassuring illustration of the way in which the world daily becomes safe for democracy in what happened when the two young people applied at the bureau for their marriage license.

Miss Carnegie and her fiance took their places in line.

When their turn came the clerk said to Miss Carnegie: "What name please?"

She murmured the world renowned patronymic.

"Didn't catch it," said the clerk. "Speak up, please. Spell it out."

"C-a-r-n-"

"Little louder, please."

"C-a-r-n-e-g-i-e."

"Any relation to Andrew Carnegie?" said the clerk amiably enough.

"He is my father."

"Your father? You don't say! Well, well! Why didn't you come in at the side door?"

"We didn't expect any special privileges," said Mr. Miller modestly. "The [illegible] looked all right to us."

"What's your father's profession?"

Miss Carnegie turned to Mr. Miller. "What was it you said your father's profession was?"

"I [illegible] Mr. Miller. "I thought that would likely be sufficient."

The marriage [illegible] a few [illegible] of phonetic spellings and license.

End Of A One Minute War.

From the New York World

When he was Senator Lodge and Alexander Hamilton of Boston was declared on April [illegible]. The first and only engagement took place in the afternoon of that day and lasted one minute. We were [illegible] the [illegible] eve of hostilities with [illegible] many [illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] for pacifism.

In the course of the pourparlers some thing was said by or [illegible] about cows [illegible] by the other [illegible]. The all-[illegible] are regulations of the Senate became scarce of paper and the invasion of Belgium began. Senator Lodge landed on Mr. Bannwart with his mailed fist and his caller came over the top of one with a wallop that must have shaken the first families of Massachusetts to their genealogical roots. Things might have gone on this way for some time if [illegible] had not [illegible] Costs. After agreeing upon [illegible] of an armistice Mr. Bannwart [illegible] away and soon afterward began [illegible] to annex some of Mr. Lodge's wealth in reparation and indemnity.

For more than two years now a congress of Boston and Swiss has been in session, the result of which is a treaty of peace and a covenant of quite as comprehensive as that of the League of Nations, but embracing all points more or less of perpetual amity and self determination between the belligerents. The facts in the case are all agreed upon and guilt is either established or divided. There will be [illegible] straffing, physical or legal, and demobilization is complete.

Why should not this settlement be accepted as a happy augury by those at Paris who did not begin their actual peacemaking until last January?

America Understands

An excerpt from the speech of an new ambassador to [illegible] for Mr. Davis when [illegible] favorable [illegible] the British [illegible] as follows:

When I was inspecting a battery [illegible] artillery there appeared on a young man who had won the Croix de guerre and other honors. He informed me that he was a nephew of one of the directors of Krupp's munition works. He told me that because having learned of his presence there had got a pass and had come through the line to welcome him to Germany in so [illegible] Teutonic manner. He said to his nephew, after inquiring as to his health and that of his relatives: "Of course we [illegible] here because [illegible] to come and [illegible] no escape from [illegible] service and you were drafted." Oh, no, was the reply. I was not drafted. I volunteered the moment war was declared. "But," said the uncle, "there is something wrong with the American people they don't understand." "Well," said the young man, "May be we don't understand but we understood (laughter) and we understood that we were coming over to help the English and the French to do your job." (Laughter.)

And another thing I think the American people have won from this war is a new sense of strength. They know not only the strength that lies in its [illegible] ship not only the vigor that lies in its governmental institutions, but they have discovered with the allies proved the strength that lies everywhere in freedom, proved that free men in self-[illegible] free government are more than a match for the [illegible] millions of any militarized [illegible]. And I think America has learnt a new sense of duty, the duty which the individual citizen owes to his common wealth and to its ideals, and the duty which his nation owes to the other nations of the world. Those who have been members of a common defense against a common danger cannot forget the duty they have learned to one another nor can they longer satisfy themselves as men of nations with the cowardly question, "Am I my brother's keeper?" (Cheers.)

Put Kaiser On German Soil

From the New York Times

There are Germans in Germany, it seems, who, in counting over the various bits of outlying land large and small of which they think they should not be deprived by the league of nations include a certain desolate stretch of rock and ice down in the Antarctic. Now that this point has been raised, there is a useful suggestion in it as to what should be done with the interesting and embarrassing person who used to be the German emperor. Would it not be a variously happy solution of this problem to set him up in housekeeping with a few relatives and admirers somewhere on the coast of the great southern continent between Briscoe land and Graham land? The climate is not very good, but life is possible there, and the penguins and seals are interesting subjects of study. Now and then an explorer would happen along to talk over old times with the ex-kaiser, and the long nights would give him much leisure for thought about this and that.

Where 25,000 Died In Battle

From the New York World

Thirty kilometers north of Verdun near the lines where the closing battle of the great war was most fiercely fought, the remains of 25,000 United States soldiers are being assembled in what will be the greatest of our national cemeteries.

Arlington has more than 20,000 graves, Chalmette more than 12,000, Chattanooga more than 13,000, Fredericksburg more than 15,000 and Nashville and Vicksburg more than 16,000 each. Antietam and Gettysburg ranking among the most sanguinary fields of the civil war have cemeteries containing 4,751 and 3,636 respectively.

SAVED BY A FAITHFUL WIFE

Suffered Thirty Years With Stomach Trouble and Hemorrhages of the Bowels.

The Story of a Wonderful Recovery

There is hardly any one who does not experience some trouble with the stomach. It is so common that we frequently pay little or no attention to it. Yet, the stomach is very easily upset, and catarrhal inflammation of the mucous lining develops, grows worse—the pain and distress is incessant and the truth dawns that we have chronic stomach trouble.

The case of Mr. Louis Young, 205 Merrimac St., Rochester, N. Y., is typical. He writes: "I suffered for thirty years with chronic bowel trouble, stomach trouble and hemorrhages of the bowels. We bought a bottle of Peruna and I took it faithfully. I began to feel better. My wife persuaded me to continue and I did for some time as directed. Now I am a well man." Mr. Young's experience is not unusual.

If you suffer from catarrh in any form, whether of the head, stomach, bowels or any other part of the body, try Peruna. It may be just what you need. Peruna comes in either liquid or tablet form and is sold everywhere. Your dealer has it or will get it for you. Ask for Dr. Hartman's World-Famous Peruna Tonic and insist upon having it. If you want your health accept nothing else.

All the sick and suffering are invited to write The Peruna Company, Dept. 78, Columbus, Ohio, for Dr. Hartman's Health Book. The book is free and may help you. Ask your dealer for a Peruna Almanac.

Mississippi Farms Ranches. Ideal climate, excellent schools, plenty rainfall, good roads, fertile soils. Miss. Land Co., Canton, Miss.

White Diamond Phonograph Needle Co., Minneapolis, Minn., offers $50 cash for best letter describing merits of its needle, pkg. 25c.

$34 Weekly for 2 sales daily. Sell "2 in 1" Reversible Waterproof Raincoats. Big demand. Write Denman Co., Muskegon, Mich.

SIOUX CITY PTG. CO., NO. 20--1919.

Dairies in Holy Land.

The British authorities in the Holy Land have established model dairy farms at Basserah, Amara, Kut, Bagdad, Ramadi, Hillah and Nasiriyah. These are managed by experts and the milk is treated under hygienic conditions. Each farm has been equipped with an up-to-date dairy plant and machinery and the whole dairy product, consisting of milk, cream and butter, is turned over to the military hospitals.

Invention for Bath Tub.

An electric heater, which may be placed in a bath tub after it has been filled to raise the water to any desired temperature is an American invention.

Baby's little dresses will just simply dazzle if Red Cross Ball Blue is used in the laundry. Try it and see for yourself. At all good grocers, 5c.

The nearest approach to a ball-bearing watch is the sign where it is occasionally kept in storage.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets put an end to sick and bilious headaches, constipation, dizziness and indigestion. "Clean house." Adv.

Sometimes an eye is not as black as it is painted.

HAS SEEN AMERICAN HUSTLE

And Therefore General Allenby Also Sees the Point of Rather Good, if Old, Story.

General Allenby in London was speaking on the remarkable speed with which Americ a created an army and got it overseas.

"Now that I have seen what I have seen," he said, "I get the point of a story regarding American hustle that I heard several years ago.

"'I hear Smith has left you and gone into business for himself,' said a friend to the boss. 'Was he really a good salesman?'

"'I'll say he was,' sighed the man who had lost Smith. 'Why, when that bird dies he won't be in hell five minutes before he'll sell the devil a card-index system and an adding machine.'"

At Half Rates.

Several years ago, when I was deputy recorder of an Illinois county, I witnessed the wedding of a prosperous young farmer.

The ceremony was performed by the county judge, whose customary fee was $2; however, in cases where the bridegroom happened to be well-to-do, the old judge made no charge, leaving the size of the fee up to him, and, in such instances, usually received a $5 or $10 bill.

So in this case, when asked his fee, the judge said, "Well, I always leave that to the bridegroom." So the young man handed him a sealed envelope and departed with his bride.

After the couple were well on their way home the judge, feeling sure of having received a good-sized fee, carefully tore open the envelope. It contained a neatly folded $1 bill.—Chicago Tribune.

Affluent Circumstances.

"I really can't spare this quarter, but I guess I'll have to give it to the waiter. Poor fellow! He may have a hard time making both ends meet."

"Save your sympathy for some one who needs it. Gustave enjoys an income of not less than $300 a month. A quarter means nothing more to him than another gallon of 'gas.'"

A floor washing match might be termed a scrub race.

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Nitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force.

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

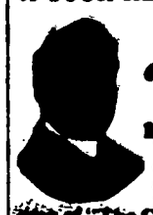
Thinness and weakness are usually due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency as well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as nitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, nitro-phosphate quickly produces a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

This increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, soon disappear, dull eyes become bright, and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

CAUTION:—Although nitro-phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh-growing properties, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.

Stop Losing Calves

You can Stamp Abortion Out of YOUR HERD and Keep It Out



By the use of DR. DAVIS ROBERTS' "Anti-Abortion" Powder

Easily Applied. Two Results. Used successfully for 25 years. Consult DR. DAVIS ROBERTS about all animal ailments. Information free. Stand for Free Booklet on "The Cause, Prevention and Cure of Abortion." Sold by Druggists. Price $1.00 per package. Postpaid. DR. DAVIS ROBERTS VETERINARY CO., 310 Grand Ave., Waukesha, Wis.

Kodak Finishing

Expert work. Prompt return. Special mail order department. We pay return postage. Write for price list. The Robert Dompeier Co., Box 1138, Oneida, Fla.

THE MOST DANGEROUS OF ALL DISEASES

No organs of the human body are so important to health and long life as the kidneys. When they slow up and commence to lag in their duties, look out! Danger is in sight.

Find out what the trouble is—without delay. Whenever you feel nervous, weak, dizzy, suffer from sleeplessness, or have pains in the back, wake up at once. Your kidneys need help. These are signs to warn you that your kidneys are not performing their functions properly. They are only half doing their work and are allowing impurities to accumulate and be converted into uric acid and other poisons, which are causing you distress and will destroy you unless they are driven from your system.

Get some GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules at once. They are an old, tried preparation used all over the world for centuries. They contain only old-fashioned, soothing oils combined with strength-giving and system-cleansing herbs, well known and used by physicians in their daily practice. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules are imported direct from the laboratories in Holland. They are convenient to take, and will either give prompt relief or your money will be refunded. Ask for them at any drug store, but be sure to get the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand. Accept no substitutes. In sealed packages. Three sizes.

WATCH YOUR COLTS

For Coughs, Colds and Distemper, and at the first symptoms of any such ailment, give small doses of that wonderful remedy, now the most used in existence

SPOHN'S DISTEMPER COMPOUND

Safe for all ages, Colts, Mares in foal, Stallions and all others. An excellent preventive as well as a cure. Sold by druggists.

SPOHN MEDICAL CO., Mfrs., Goshen, Ind., U. S. A.

A woman can get a shiftless husband in about five minutes, but it sometimes takes a life to get rid of him.

A musician who can play all kinds of instruments beats the band.

Many a poor man has been arrested for forgery simply because he tried to make a name for himself.

A soft-headed ball and a hard-headed man are both difficult.

Betty Said She Could Bake

"I knew she never had baked a cake and I was doubtful. But I told her to go ahead.

"She got my treasured Royal Cook Book, my can of Royal Baking Powder and all the fixings—and sailed in.

"Honestly, it was the best cake we ever had, and now I believe anyone who tries can bake anything with

Royal Baking Powder

Absolutely Pure

Made from Cream of Tartar derived from grapes

Royal Contains No Alum—
Leaves No Bitter Taste

The Royal Cook Book, containing over 500 recipes for all kinds of cookery, mailed free. Write for a copy to

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., Dept. H, 135 William Street, New York

OUR STANDARD

There is but one standard for anything this store may offer you, whether neckwear, shirts, hats or clothes—thot is quality.

And by quality we do not mean high priced goods—but we do mean the very best goods for the money. Strong materials, full cut and well made—nothing to disappoint you.

If you want the right combination of style and quality and a generous stock to select from this should be your trading place.

Men's Suits $20 to $60
Boys' Suits $7.50 to $25.

PATTON BROS.

Mason City, Iowa

"Where a dollar does it's duty"

I scream U scream We all scream

for

ICE CREAM

Our soda fountain is running in full blast now and we have the very best in Sodas, Malts, Sundaes etc. Get a quart of our delicious Ice Caerm for your Sunday dinner.

"If It's To Eat—We Have It"

CRYSTAL CAFE

Elder & Fuller, Props.

DOCTOR MISSMAN

PHYSICIAN SURGEON

OFFICE--State Savings Bank Building, 'Phone No. 1105
RESIDENCE--North of Park, 'Phone No. 1109

X-Ray Radiographs Electrical Treatments
Eyes Tested Glasses Fitted

Now is the time to make a noise like Spring!

Now is the time to make plans for this year's garden. We have everything you need in that line:-

Garden Spades Forks Hoes
Rakes Plows Garden Seeds
Don't overlook your Lawn or Flowers
Better get some of our Grass Seed and Flower Seeds. Buy a Lawn Mower.

J. W. WATERMAN

The City Dray Line

Is prepared to do your hauling carefully and promptly
Your patronage is respectfully solicited.
Charges Reasonable.

Henry P. Yahnke, Prop.

Coal Hauling Done

Osteopaths have a four year course and are licensed physicians. adv.

Walter Schultz and family spent Sunday with his folks at Garner.

Miss Grace Ruka, of Belmond, was a Klemme visitor Saturday.

Alvin Freie and Elmer Lawhorn autoed over to Mason City Sunday.

Ray Miner, of Garner, transacted business in Klemme Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Hod Lawhorn was a Garner caller Monday.

Elmer Fuller drove over to Garner on business Monday afternoon.

Holly Lewis and Oscar Musfelt were Garner visitors Sunday.

R. A. Jorgenson was an over Sunday visitor at Garner.

The Overland 90 beats World's Record for Long Distance Test. Adv.

G. P. McCullough spent Sunday with his folks at Garner.

Miss Stroburg, the trimmer at Josten's store, spent Sunday visiting with friends at Belmond.

Chris Gram went to Belmond last Friday to have some dental work done.

Oscar Musfelt took a few days off from his work at the depot last week to enjoy a vacation.

We recommend, sell and guarantee Gould Storage Batteries. Henry Lau & Son. adv.

Oscar Musfelt was over at Belmond Thursday and Friday having some dental work done.

If you want the best car on the market get an Overland 90, the car that beat all former records. Adv.

Howard Doyle returned Sunday from Waterloo where he spent a few days the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wenck autoed to Garner Sunday for a visit at the Joe Wenck home.

World's Record for Long Distance Run is beaten by the Overland 90, read ad on front page. Adv.

Clarence Neuberger came over from Mason City Saturday for an over Sunday visit with his folks.

Oscar Schuldt came over from Mason City Saturday for a few days visit at home.

A number from here drove over to Garner Tuesday evening to attend the band concert and dance.

M. E. Peck, of Garner, was a Klemme visitor Tuesday morning. He was here on a business mission.

C. C. Tessier, the elertrician, came over from Garner Tuesday to do some wiring.

Ray Miner, of Garner, was a Klemme business caller last Friday afternoon.

Oscar Wenck drove over from Garner Tuesday afternoon for a visit with his brother, Frank.

A number of Klemme nimrods autoed over to Crystal Lake Sunday to do a little fishing.

The Overland 90 won over all former records. Read Wiles' ad on the front page. Adv.

Walter Lau was a business visitor in Minneapolis a few days the past week.

R. W. Sinclair, of Garner, was a business caller in Klemme Monday between trains.

Miss Emma Sampson left Tuesday evening for Rudd to be present at the graduation of a nephew at that place.

J. N. Sprole, of Garner, drove over to Klemme on business Monday afternoon.

M. O. Hocum left Saturday for Gowrie, Iowa, for a few days' visit with relatives and friends.

Dr. R. W. Schultz, Osteopath, of Garner, will be at the Hotel Klemme on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings, 9:00 to 12:00. adv.

A number of Garner young people attended the dance at the Idle Hour theatre last Friday evening. There was also a dance at Garner that evening and when asked why they didn't stay in Garner for the dance they replied that they always had a better time here.

J. W. Waterman had the panels over his store front filled in with plaster the other day which makes his front look much better.

The members of the Council met Monday evening at Frank Gruetzmacher's store for their regular session.

Osteopathic adjustments release the blood and nerve supply, NATURE CURES. Osteopathic adjustments are used by the majority of people. adv.

Hugo Neff, Holly Lewis, Oscar Musfelt and Gearald McCullough autoed over to Garner Monday evening—on business, we presume.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Fuller, Miss Blanche Liljenberg and Sadie Turgeson autoed over to Garner Saturday afternoon.

Dr. L. R. Parsons, of Belmond, came Saturday for an over Sunday visit at home. Doc reports business as being good.

There was a large delegation of young people from Goodell who attended the dance hre last Friday evening. They came in cars.

Wm. De Pew, who has been working for Harry Gibbs, has been forced to take a lay off as he has blood poison in one of his hands. He is getting along well at this writing.

W. H. Trafford, manager of the Furniture Department at Wellemeyer's was away most of the week visiting the furniture factories at Burlington, Iowa, and Quincy, Illinois.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Fuller drove over to Garner Tuesday afternoon. Elmer went over to assist Billy Werner in the sale of his house and household goods.

Miss Ella Paul came from Garner Friday evening with Miss Donna Baumgartner for a short visit with her and also to attend the dance last Friday.

The Messrs. Rod Rhodes, Chas. Bailey, Isaac Sweigard and H. A. Sweigard of Garner, autoed to Klemme on business Monday afternoon in the former's car.

Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Bar drove to Spirit Lake Saturday afternoon for an over Sunday visit with Mrs. Barr's paents. They encountered some bad roads on the trip but managed to get thru alright.

Charles Gibbs has resigned from the Times Force as chief "devil." Charles has not been in the best of health lately and it was the doctor's advice that he remain out of doors as much as possible that caused him to resign.

Gould Storage Batteries represent the latest advancement in the are of Dependable Storage Battery Construction, exemplified by Gould Built, Gould Designed, Superhard Dreadnaught Plates. adv.

Henry Lau received a telegram last Wednesday morning from his son George, stating that he had arrived safely at New York and that he expected to be home soon. George has seen perhaps more service in France than any other Klemme young man and his return home will be greatly welcomed.

Lester Ross, who just arrived from over-seas, was a visitor in Klemme and vicinity for several days last week. He went to Garner Friday. Lester has seen a lot of service during his nine months time across the pond. He can relate some quite exciting times he had while under fire by German machine gunners and snipers.

G. P. McCullough and Holly Lewis drove over to Garner Monday evening

Fishing has been good in the river the past few days and we have seen some fine bull-heads that were caught there. A few carp and red-horse are also being caught in the river. The fish are caught in the little eddies along the banks as the water is too high for fishing in the main part of the stream.

Oscar Wenck has been honorably discharged from the service and arrived at his home at Garner Sunday afternoon. Oscar was at Fort Des Moines for some time in the hospital receiving treatments for his wounds but has recovered now. He says he would probably have been in the hospital yet if he had not pestered the life out of the doctors to let him go. He says they seem to enjoy keeping a fellow there after he is cured and that you almost have to fight the whole force to get out again. We welcome Oscar back. He says he is coming over to Klemme soon to have a good visit with his friends and also bother them a while.

We have it! What

Everything

Which is found in only the best and most up-to-date Meat Markets.

You will always find a complet line of Choice Meats, Hams, Bacon Fancy Meats and Canned Goods

Try Our Oleomargarine---It's Fine!

J. P. Larsen & Son

A LITTLE TALK TO MEN
But The Women May Read It

You men are so absorbed in your daily business affa that sometime the home affairs become of second interest.

You know the cost of living is high. You wonde the end of the month where all the money has gone home expenses.

If friend wife doesn't make an itemized report—do blame her. Perhaps the fault is your own. Do you g her an allowance—deposited in this bank—upon wh she can check for all household expense?

It's the ideal way to keep a record of home buying. helps keep down expenses. Isn't it worth trying, men

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Klemme Iow

Subscribe Today at $1'5

All Kinds of Hardware

HARDWARE AND GROCERIES
Stoves and Furnaces
Paints, Oils, Feed, Flour, Cream Separators, Buggi
Wagons, Gasoline Engines.
All Kinds of Farm Machinery

GREUTZMACHER BRO

KLEMME DRAY LINE

LLOYD LAU, PROPRIETOR

A share of your patronage is solicited.

All work attended to promptly and carefully

Coal Hauling Done Promptly
Telephone No. 14

M. O. HOCUM

The Grain, Coal and Live Stock Man

We will buy Hogs and Grain six days in the week at Highest Market Price.

Successor to W. R. Bloem

DR. L. R. PARSO
DENTIST
Over 1st Floor State Savin
Phone No. 45.
Klemme Iowa

KLEMME TIMES

Third Year Number 37 Klemme, Iowa, Thursday, May 22, 1919 $1.50 In Advance. $2.00 Outside of County

Cook by Electricity

AND USE THE

Standard Electric Range

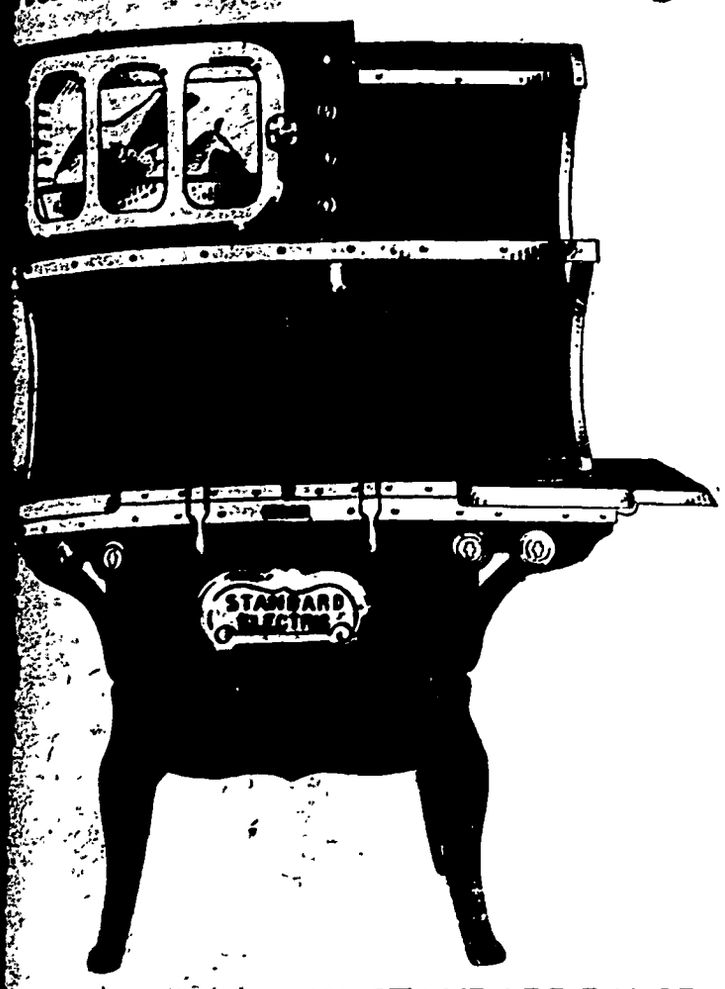

Illustration shows a No. 601 STANDARD RANGE one of the largest and most complete types. A size is made for every requirement.

Combination of Electric Cooking Compartments, Electric Grill and Electric Hot Plates enables you to use Electricity in the most economical way and solves the problem of Electric Cooking.

THE STANDARD RANGE
Saves Fuel
Saves Work
Saves Food

"Let Us Show You How"

REX SHANNON

IOWA

Now Is the Time

to repair your Farm Machinery

Remember that we have a full line of

Deering, McCormick and Acme Binder Sections and Ledger Plates

A good stock of Cultivator shovels and tongues on hand. This is a good time to bring that Mower for Repairs

ALWAYS HAVE ON HAND PLENTY REPAIRS——

FOR DEERING, McCORMICK, EMERSON and ACME MOWER

Pitmans and Sickles—Ledger Plates—Pitman Boxes Pitman Straps—Pitman Woods—Pitmans Complete Guards—Guard Bolts—Pinions—Tongues In Fact anything you want in a hurry——

THE HAY RACK SEASON IS ALMOST HERE!

If you need a new rack don't fail to see the Burn-Combination Rack before buying, you will SAVE MONEY by so doing.

THE J. I. CASE TRACTORS AND THRESHING MACHINERY has no equal, call and see me before buying. Better be safe than sorry.

W. F. PAVEY

Practical Blacksmith Klemme, Iowa

LAST WEEK WAS SCHOOL WEEK

We [illegible] court of the [illegible] left

[illegible] evening in the Idle Hour [illegible] address was delivered [illegible] graduates by Rev Barnlund. [illegible] given out Friday for that was [illegible] school [illegible] Dean [illegible] and [illegible] arrangements [illegible] address [illegible]

BIG BIZ

[illegible] for Klemme Cream [illegible] of [illegible] am [illegible] ts of [illegible] or the [illegible] amount of business [illegible] sands [illegible] total [illegible] going to [illegible] Mr Farmer Dairyman get [illegible] high prices and get your share of the profits

BILLY WARNER TAKEN TO FORT DODGE

Monday Billy Warner was [illegible] Dodge [illegible] Harry Smith [illegible] of him [illegible] attack of the flu some [illegible] such a [illegible] contracted [illegible] and [illegible] many [illegible] recovery and that he can be back [illegible] with us again in good health

FISHIN' SEASON OPENS IN FULL BLAST

[illegible] May 1st one of the biggest days to many of the men, [illegible] women, of Klemme That [illegible] marks the beginning of a series [illegible] times that will [illegible] fishing [illegible] Of course Klemme has a [illegible] but [illegible] record ever [illegible] some fine [illegible] are being caught from [illegible] However it is the same old story, "Gosh, I got the I had a whale hooked, and [illegible] I was bringing him out er the [illegible] I saw her back and say, it was [illegible] anyway, gosh o' hom [illegible] was a corker, but darn it all, [illegible] broke just as I was going to [illegible] get" Yep, it happens in the [illegible] of regulated families

ENGLISH METHODIST CHURCH

Services next Sunday as follows Morning worship at 10 30 Subject of the sermon "The Meaning of the Centenary" There will be special music The Sunday School will meet at the morning service A full Sunday School is desired

The evening service will be on the Centenary and we have the promise of the stereoptican slides for that service The service therefore will begin at 8 30. Everyone is welcome

A W Barnlund, Pastor

FIRST M. E CHURCH

A. H Meyer, Pastor

Preaching service Sunday morning at 11 00 o'clock Sunday School at the close of the preaching services

Epworth League Sunday night at 8 00 o'clock Preaching service at 8 30 Special music by the church choir

Midweek prayermeeting on Tuesday evening A hearty welcome to all to worship with us.

DECORATION DAY

An interesting program has been laid out for Memorial Day, May 30th, and all are urged to meet at the park to take part in the program. The program will perhaps take place about 10 30 a m., although it will be well for all the school children, and the other folks as well, to meet at about 9.30 or 10:00. so that the arrangements of the procession can be put in order Everybody come Good speakers Good music.

Oh, Fellers, the Silk Hat!

DICK GOODELL MARRIED

Dick Goodell has kept his friends in suspense for some time. They had "a hunch" that Dick was married but couldn't get any satisfaction from him He even went so far as to set up the cigars, but informed his friends that he was "only setting them up in advance" Well, the Editor of this paper was asked to get busy on the facts and learn if Dick really slipped one over on his friends. We learned that Dick was married at Mason City, Iowa, on Monday, May 5th, 1919. The fair bride is Miss Naomi Springer, of Rockford, Ill., that Rev. Wilkins tied the nuptial knots and that Dan Webber acted in the capacity of witness Now there are the facts and we will leave it to Dick's friends to say they were bumfuzzled, gee-whizzed and so forth. Well, here's wishing Mr. and Mrs. Dick Goodell the happiness of life.

MASONS GO TO GARNER

Last Thursday evening the Masonic Lodge at Garner gave a reception in honor of Lieut. Col. Carrol Chambers, a former Garner boy who has just come back from the front.

After the reception committee had made the guests all known to Lieut. Col. Chambers he gave an address which was certainly wonderful, telling of his experiences on the front, how the Yanks fought the Hun, the conditions over there, the dreadful crimes committed by the Hun which he actually saw himself. The talk given by Chambers made everybody set up and take notice. Chambers has been in the service of Uncle Sam for several years, has attended Culvers, and later finished West Point, and is a thoroughbred military man. After the address by Chambers a lunch was served by the Eastern Star ladies which was greatly enjoyed by all.

Those attending from Klemme were P. M. Griesemer, M. O. Hocum, J. N. Day, Dr. Missman and R. A Jorgenson

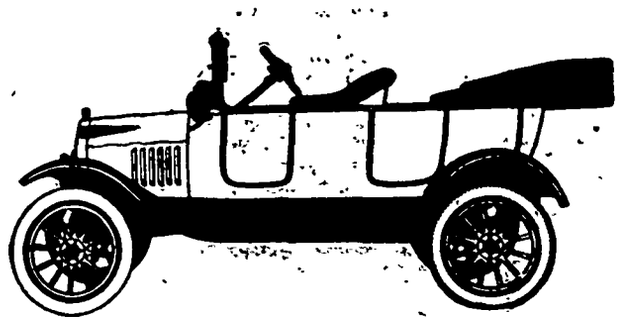
FOR SALE—Some good milk cows. Call me or come and see the stock. J. B. Spittler. adv.-tf.

Paul Stille came from Iowa Falls Thursday for a short visit with his folks.

Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Remember that when you bring your Ford car to us for mechanical attention that you get the genuine Ford service---materials, experienced workmen and Ford factory prices. Your Ford is too useful, too valuable to take chances with poor mechanics, with equally poor quality materials. Bring it to us and save both time and money. We are authorized Ford dealers, trusted by the Ford Company to look after the wants of Ford owners---that's the assurance we offer. We are getting a few Ford cars and first come first to receive delivery.



E. G. ELL

Authorized Dealer

THE KLEMME TIMES

RAY A. JORGENSON, PUB.

KLEMME, IOWA

According to New Jersey farmers, laborers who are being discharged from service are making conditions that promise to revolutionize living conditions in most rural communities. Eighty per cent of them demand shower baths, and such things. Many families have made sudden and unexpected sanitary improvements in order to prevent the son of the household from rushing back into the army, or to the city, where bathing conveniences were more plentiful.

Dr Fridtjof Nansen, head of the commission to feed Russia, has returned to Christianaia without receiving a reply from the messenger sent to Nikolai Lenine, to communicate the entente's plan for feeding Russia through neutrals on condition that the bolshevists cease fighting. The Russian commission in Paris has sent to the entente powers and the United State a formal protest against tthe plan, saying that it would be a recognition of the right of bolshevists to expend Russian government funds.

Utah is celebrating the golden jubilee of the completion of the first transcontinental railroad. Upon this occasion, 50 years ago, the last spike—a golden one, made from 23 $20 gold pieces—was driven by Senator Leland Stanford. Among a number of veterans who worked on the road before its completion who were guests of honor at this celebration, are three Chinese from San Francisco, all over 90 years old.

The Independent British labor party (socialist) has declared: "We strongly denounce the document as a misnamed peace treaty The terms violate the conditions of the armistice and are opposed to every public statement of allied aims, exposing the real aim of smashing Germany politically and economically and involving the impoverishment and economic ruin of Europe.

The latest thing in strikes is that of the "schlepper," who is the husky gentleman who helps you move when they put you out for not paying your rent. Schleppers have been getting 50 cents a room, but, considering the h. c of ., they say it is now worth $1 50 a room

Just what is going to happen to the liquor traffic in Ohio after May 27, when the prohibition amendment to the state constitution becomes effective, is a problem that is bothering state and local officials. The state faces the situation of having a "dry" constitution but no statutes to enforce it.

High prices continue without the slightest reason under the sun, A. W. Douglas, of St. Louis, chief statistician of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, told the representatives of 1,000 American trade organizations in convention in St. Louis this week

General Ironside, in command on the Archangel front, has adopted original methods of propaganda. Bolshevist prisoners are allowed to talk freely to the Russian national army and exchange notes relative to the conditions existing.

A cablegram from President Wilson says that unless congress acts to protect the American potash industry, other government agencies will be unable to guard it against foreign competition. Both Germany and France have potash for export

There are 200 Canadian commercial agents in Europe seeking orders.

China today says that the wheelbarrow and sedan chair are giving away to the carriage and automobile in that country.

A motor truck company at Wabash, Ind., has established an aviation transportation division for the purpose of delivering parts of its products by airplane to users in various parts of the country

Medals for all Alaskans who served in the allied and American armies and navies during the great war would be awarded by the territory of Alaska under the terms of a bill introduced in the territorial legislature.

According to Russian newspapers discontent in the bolshevist army is increasing Five regiments on the Ural front have mutinied and drowned a number of the bolshevist commissaries including Leon Trotzky's secretary

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St Paul railway's annual report for 1918 shows that while the government guaranteed the roads $27,946,000 only $6,241,000 has been received and that a floating debt of $15,765,000 has been incurred

The "First Passage at Arms," the French editorial writers term the exchange of notes between Germany and the allies, in what Le Journal calls a "paper guerrilla war" by the Germans against the allies' terms

The Hamburg stock exchange closed for two days as a result of the situation created by the publication of the peace treaty

The city authorities of New York have pitched tents on school sites in Brooklyn to provide shelter for families evicted for failure to pay rent

The Wellington city council has passed a resolution of thanks to the citizens of the United States for their hospitality to New Zealand troops at the Panama canal

The credentials of the German delegates to Paris were written on parchment.

Under a decision by the federal court the Missouri public service commission is powerless to interfere in establishment of increased telephone rates in St's court

Reporters found no telephones at the Trianon palace, and correspondents at Versailles were obliged to walk half a mile through the mud in order to telephone to Paris.

It will require an army of 100,000 men to handle the Kansas crop, and Kansas City is already planning to close up industry during the wheat harvest in order to garner the crop

One out of every seven adults in the United States can neither read nor write. Of this number, 3,762,000 are native born, and 11,500,000 foreign born

The Sarrasani circus, in Dresden, has had to close because nearly all the animals of its menagerie have died of hunger

Major General Glenn has been asked to take steps toward the elimination of gambling in Camp Sherman, Ohio, following an alleged admission by a New York soldier that he had won $28,000 in 10 months there in dice games.

German helmets, made for the anticipated grand goosestep into Paris, were worth from $2,000 to $2,500 any night in the Victory loan market in El Paso, where one was offered each night to the largest purchaser of the notes.

About 75 commercial travelers, chiefly Americans, French, and Belgian, are visiting Cologne with the object of finding a market for their goods in the district occupied by the army of the Rhine.

William G McAdoo has purchased a 30-acre tract on Mission Ridge, Santa Barbara, for $60,000 It is reported, without confirmation, that he bought the property as a summer home for President Wilson.

Cardinal Mercier, archbishop of Malines, in contributing $1,000 to the Victory loan, wrote: "It is a little, but that little is what you, dear brothers of the great American republic, have in great measure given to me."

STORM LAKE MAN SEEKS NEW HONOR

Scott McClure Would Be Reading Clerk In National House —Has Support of Congressman Boies.

Washington Bureau of The Tribune.

Washington, D. C., May 19.—Scott McClure, of the Storm Lake Tribune, who was reading clerk at the recent Iowa legislative session, is a candidate for reading clerk of the national House. Mr. McClure is now in Washington. If chosen he will succeed M. F. Cronin, of the Second district, who has been reading clerk in recent years. Representative Boies is aiding Mr. McClure's candidacy.

BOND ISSUE CARRIES BY SMALL MARGIN

Dubuque, Ia., May 19.—At the special election here Thursday, at which several thousand women voted, the proposition for an additional $250,000 bond issue for a new high school carried by the close margin of 162 votes. An even 7,000 votes were polled, of which 3,581 favored the issue and 3,419 voted against. The majority for the "No's" was in the Third and Fifth wards, while the other three wards piled up a big "Yes" majority.

The additional bond issue will give $715,000 for the new school. Controversy over the site is responsible for the bitter fight at the polls. The board of education declares the school will be built on Rhomberg hill, at the highest elevation in the city and commanding a view of the Mississippi and three states.

HIGH SCHOOL WILL GRADUATE BIG CLASS

LeMars, Ia, May 19—Thirty-three pupils of the LeMars high school senior class will be graduated this year, commencement week will begin on May 25. The baccalaureate sermon will be preached by Rev H, V. Comen, of LeMars. The class play will be presented by the students. "The Man on the Box" and "The Camouflage of Shirley," Dr. Howland Hanson, of Des Moines, will deliver the commencement address. His subject will be "The Lure of the Perfect."

The members of this year's class are. Theodore J. Asmus, Erwin T. Bender, Mayme C. Bergstrom, Gertrude Bogen, Montague Cass, jr., Lloyd W. Clarke, Mildred J. Clarke, Leone Coffey, Evelyn Coles, Lois I. Cooper, Helen Darville, Sybil Hasbrook, Bertram Heckenliable, Hazel Henry, Lee Herron, Ferne Kendall, Arthur Levins, Frank Levins, Mildred Love, Esther Madsen, Donald Mammen, Floyd McKettrick, Mildred Oswald Peterson, Minnie Smith, Fern Spies, Dora Stockburger, Marie Tincher, Margaret Hale, Parker, Nelson Patrick, George Voelker, Lucy Winders, and Helen Winter.

RETURN OF RAILROADS FAVORED BY MANUFACTURERS

Fort Dodge, Ia., May 19.—Iowa manufacturers in closing their convention here, passed resolutions favoring the return of the railroads to private ownership and operation at the earliest date possible.

Copies of these resolutions are to be sent to the Iowa members of congress also. It also recommended that a joint committee composed of members of the Iowa Manufacturers' association and the Iowa association of insurance agents be formed for the purpose of effecting such changes in the laws and regulations as shall render them serviceable and just to both insured and insurer.

LE MARS GIRL MARRIED TO BRITISH OFFICER

LeMars, Ia May 19 —Miss Colla Moore, daughter of the late M. A Moore, a wealthy lumberman of this city and Capt. George Ferguson, of the British navy were married in London, England, May 11 The wedding is the outcome of a romance which had its beginning before the war, when the two met on board ship on a voyage to New Zealand. Captain Ferguson has been in the service during the war, and his bride was active in war work.

COMMERCIAL CLUB BUYS LAND FOR PARK SITE

Lake View Ia., May 19 —Land is selling at record breaking prices around Lake View Recently several farms have been sold for unheard of prices in this community The Commercial Club of Lake View has just purchased the Hugo Westerman farm, which is just on the edge of town and also borders on Wall lake, for about $400 per acre. It is the purpose to resell 90 acres of the land, but the part bordering on the lake they hope to sell to the state park commission for one of the state parks.

WOMEN REPAIR ROAD WHERE AUTOS STUCK

Griswold, Ia., May 19.—Two women living near Griswold who from their homes had witnessed numerous automobiles get stuck in the mud of a bad piece of road one of the worst near Griswold, became disgusted with conditions and the failure of the men to repair the road They secured material and without the aid or consent of any other woman or man filled the mud holes and repaired the road themselves. The women, Mrs. J. R. Railsback and Mrs. G. DeWitt, can now proceed with their household duties without witnessing the distressing sights that have been so common to them.

LEMARS TO WELCOME ITS SOLDIER BOYS

LeMars, Ia. May 19.—Plans are being made by the members of the Commercial Club and business men to give the Plymouth county boys of the Rainbow division a fitting welcome when they arrive in LeMars. The LeMars contingent is expected to arrive some time tomorrow. Whistles will be blown and bells rung to announce their arrival and they will be met by a parade headed by the LeMars Military band.

UNUSUAL WILL IS FILED IN COURT

Instrument Written By Dead Man Disposes of $100,000 Estate—Executed In California.

Cherokee, Ia., May 17.—The first holograph will in Cherokee county for many years was filed here yesterday It was made by George Hooper, formerly of Marcus, Ia., and is in his own handwriting, and without any witnesses. Although such an instrument would not be valid under the laws of Iowa, it was made and executed in California, where the law permits it, and so must be accepted here. It is dated April 1, 1919, and disposes of an estate valued at over $100,000.

IOWA WOMAN ROBBED IN MODERN STYLE

Fort Dodge Ia., May 17 —Train robberies of the Jesse James style may be somewhat out of date, but robbing passengers on trains is still being done, according to the experience of Mrs E. C. Heslop of Lehigh, located a few miles south of Fort Dodge.

Mrs. Heslop was in Chicago on a train bound for New York when she was relieved of a considerable portion of her bank roll by a stranger who probably would dispute the theory there isn't anything new under the sun

Mrs. Heslop had just seated herself in a coach when a man with a notebook in his hand came up to her and said that he was a government inspector and that since the government had taken over control of the railroads it was necessary for all passengers to give a full account of the money they had.

"I told him that I had $60," Mrs. Heslop wrote to friends here. "He told me he would have to count it. So I turned the money over to him and he handed some bills back to me after making a pretense of counting them. He left the car at once. When I counted my money I found that he had taken $40 I started out after him, but he had disappeared."

IOWAN MAKES APPEAL TO KING GEORGE

Davenport, Ia., May 17.—His Majesty, the king of England, probably never heard of W. H. Patton, of Davenport, and Patton makes no claims to being an attendant at the king's court but such mere formalities have nothing to do with this story.

Patton, claiming to be the sole heir to an English fortune amounting to several million dollars, has grown weary of corresponding with first one set of attorneys and then another and never getting a son. He decided to take the matter up personally with George V

Several days ago Patton bundled up all the papers in the case, tucked them into an envelope and addressed them to George V, king of England. A note enclosed requested that George give the matter his earliest attention

No reply has yet been received from His Majesty, but Patton is not discouraged He realizes the king is busy and he can afford to wait

RELATIVES SHOCKED BY RECEIPT OF SUICIDE'S BODY

Marshalltown, Ia., May 17 The body here yesterday of the body of Frank McKnight, aged 43, of Janesville, Wis., brought the first news of Knight's suicide, which occurred at Janesville Tuesday when he hanged himself

Knight who was son of William Knight of this city, and native of this county disappeared from home when he was 19 and for many years was believed to be dead Eight years ago when it became necessary to settle the estate of his mother, he was declared by the court to be legally dead In a few years however after this action in court, Knight evidently appeared but made no effort to set aside the action of the court in turning over his share of his mother's estate to other heirs

VOTING MACHINE FOR IOWA HOUSE INSPECTED

Des Moines, Ia May 17 State Representative W D Stone, of Boone county who secured the passage of a bill through the last legislature authorizing the purchase of an electric machine for the registration of the vote of the members of the house of representatives, has just returned from Stevens Point, Wis., where he inspected the machine used in the house of representatives at the Wisconsin state capitol. He was in Des Moines on his way home to Boone Representative Miller reports that members of the Wisconsin legislature are pleased with this new system of voting. They declare it is especially desirable because it is a time saver, it is accurate and it is convenient.

MUST ACCEPT LEAGUE OF NATIONS OR BOLSHEVISM

Des Moines, Ia., May 17.—The world must take either the League of Nations, or soviet control, This was the warning of Carl W. Ackerman, newspaper correspondent, in an address before the Iowa business congress here last night. Bolshevist propaganda which is sweeping the world at present finds willing converts in countries which do not function properly, Ackerman added. He recommended a constructive program in the business world to offset this propaganda.

CHEROKEE COUNTY. SCHOOL BOARD MEETS

Cherokee, Ia., May 17.—The new county board of education met at the court house here for organization Two men elected to the board having failed to qualify, W. P. Dawson, of Aurelia, and G. A. Brink, of Marcus, were appointed to fill the vacancies. Miss Margaret Montgomery, county superintendent, is chairman of the board, and Miss Margaret Welch was elected secretary.

MAILS FOR WORLD ARE WORKED THERE

Union Pacific Transfer at Council Bluffs Is One of Busiest Places In Whole Postal System.

Council Bluffs, Ia., May 16.—Growing so gradually that little thought has been given to it even by the officials and men, the handling of mail matter at the Union Pacific transfer in this city has reached proportions greater than any mail station in this country, and there are some features of the service that are claimed by men in the department to eclipse any place in the world.

The largest mail train of which there is any record in the world leaves the transfer in Council Bluffs every morning of the year It carries mail over the Union Pacific railroad for every city and hamlet west of the Rocky mountains, and mail for the orient by the car load Mail for Yokohama, Tokio, Calcutta, Manila, Java, Honolulu Vladivostok and other far east cities is carried

This train consists of nine cars and is a solid, all steel vestibuled train

Early in the morning fast mail trains on the Burlington and Northwestern lines dump their train loads of mail into the transfer. A host of workers have already been lined up, and they immediately and with energy pounce upon the incoming mail and the transcontinental train with crew alert, is ready to pull out the moment the mail is transferred

How Train Is Split Up.

The Union Pacific mail train has 11 expert workers They distribute the mail for 52 so called distributing stations In addition there is one long car that carries mail for local distribution At Green River some of the cars are transferred to the Pacific Northwest At Ogden the mail that has been collected for Los Anegels is taken off the big bulk of the mail for southern California being carried by the Santa Fe There is also one car that is taken off at Sacramento, while the mail for the Orient goes to Frisco Council Bluffs is the only station in this country where the mail for the Orient is thoroughly worked The car carrying it is not even unlocked until it arrives at Frisco

The mail crew of 11 men work as far as Cheyenne where another crew relieves it Another crew is taken on at Ogden who make the run to Frisco.

The superintendent of the mails at the transfer, after examining his records, made the statement that an average of 700,000 pounds of mail and frequently more than 1,000,000 pounds of mail is handled here in a day

Work in Three Shifts.

To handle this mail there are three crews who work continuously on eight hour shifts Included in the distributors are five women employes Fifty men are employed in transferring the mail from the incoming trains to the mail rooms and from there to the west bound train In some cases cars that are entirely worked at New York are not unlocked here.

Forty-two box cars of magazines are brough there every month for distribution at this point The weekly magazines handled are almost of the same heavy proportions. The cosmopolitan character of the mail handled here is of never ceasing interest even to the oldest employes. One day recently there was an entire truck load of mail for Java, another truck load for Hawaii, several for Manila and a reporter was asked to name several big cities in the Orient and was shown mail, lots of it, for each of them In one day nine car loads of mail from London destined for British colonies, passed through the transfer

In addition to this foreign and far western mail that is handled and redistributed at the transfer there are car loads and car loads of pouch mail handled every 24 hours A busier place nor a more important point in the vast service of Uncle Sam is not found anywhere Naturally, sneak thieves and men of holder type are attracted to the transfer and a close watch is kept on everybody who approaches the mail trucks or the work rooms

WIN CHAMP CONTEST

Sioux Center Ia., May 16 Debating the question of universal and compulsory military training, the Sioux Center team defeated the all northwest district champion team composed of three girls The winners will gain possession for one year of a loving cup which is given by County Superintendent Charles H Tye The school of the county to win the cup for three years will be given permanent possession of the cup. The schools in the league this year were Ireton, Hawarden Orange City and Sioux Center Each school had previously participated in the state league

YOUNGEST VOLUNTEER DIED AT GIBRALTAR

Burlington Ia May 16 Word has just been received here that Burlington's youngest volunteer in the world war died a victim of smallpox at Gibraltar, Spain

The lad was Leon Henry Erickson, who enlisted in the navy April 6, 1917, the day war was declared. Erickson was but 15 years old at that time. He had studied radio telegraphy at the Burlington high school where he was one of the most popular and prominent students.

From the 1st of July Norway will have no military attaches in London, Paris, Berlin, Vienna, The Hague and Washington.

GLIDDEN—E. E. York, superintendent of schools, is in a precarious condition, due to a bee sting He attended a demonstration by the county farm agent and the state bee inspector on the farm of George Wetter. A bee visited his forehead and the poison rapidly spread to his entire system.

WATERLOO—Farmers in the vicinity of Dewar and Dunkerton, small towns in the northeastern part of the county, came to the board of supervisors with petitions signed by every man in the proposed improvement district, asking that eight miles of road, branching north from the Hawkeye highway and passing through Dewar and Dunkerton, be paved or graveled.

Training Little Child

Suggestions by Mothers who have been Kindergartners, The United States Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C. The National Kindergarten Association, New York.

It is the Ideals Held Before Little Folk and Spirit In Work and Play That Help to Make Them Useful Men an

BY MRS. JANET W. McKENZIE.

KINDERGARTEN training is often begun at home unconsciously by both mother and child. It has its beginnings in the answers to the first questions familiar to every mother, such as "Mother, what color is this?" "How many are there?" "Which is my right hand?" "Which is heavier?"

If mother will take a little time to play with her children, as Froebel urges, the first question about color can be made the nucleus of a little game. Let the child find something of the same color as that which first interests him, then something in color of the six standard colors, red, orange, yellow, green, blue, violet; count the articles found; classify them as smooth or rough, heavy or light, and so on.

In the same way the three type forms of solids—the sphere, cube and cylinder—can be shown the child, and articles around the house classified as cubical like the cube or block, round like the sphere or ball, or cylindrical like a barrel. The size of objects should also be noted.

Color, form and number can easily be made into games if mother has time to play with her children.

When mother is busy with the pressing routine of housework, perhaps a box of cranberries and a long thread in a coarse needle would entertain a dear little meddler, and give mother a free hour to work. Cranberries may be scarce, but buttons flourish in every home; also bits pieces of macaroni which can be combined with circles or squares of colored paper cut out of bright advertising pages.

When baking is under way, and little hands have to be kept from interfering, a piece of colored string one yard long with the ends tied together will afford much delight. Wet the string and make as perfect a circle of it as possible on a flat surface. By pushing a point in the circle to the center, we change what looked like a full moon into a crescent; pushing in three places makes a clover leaf. The variations are endless. And the child can learn with an occasional suggestion from mother, to make familiar symmetrical outlines in this way

Perhaps it is bread that is being baked What possibilities in a small lump of dough! can be made into a loaf just like mother's, or rolled into tiny biscuits.

Toothpicks have many possibilities as play material With them pictures can be made in outline of houses, fences, furniture, boats or stars, and it is material that can be used over and over again

Chains of paper are made by slipping one short strip within another and pasting the ends Colored stripes may be alternated with strips that have been of narrow ribbon

Coloring with crayons pictures and pasting kindergarten activities that can be carried on at home.

A blank-book in which furniture have been pasted room of a house given have seen last all summer eagerly the advertising pages of magazines are searched for cabinet, bath tub, parlor lamp! How carefully the pictures are cut and pasted in place!

Without a hat-box as the foundation, doll-house, and cardboard boxes making four rooms, a chair and attention may be given to scraps for several months. can be furnished as to color from the magazines can be made for from paper lace used in The furniture can be folded paper or built blocks of dominoes.

These suggestions only a few of activities that training opens up to the What the mother may do be helpful, but what the does every day for three be far more so. In kindergarten child is a member of a and learns the valuable consideration of others and team work.

May I say to mothers within reach of a public that your best course and co-operate to have possible thing

If that cannot be done kindergarten materials can be obtained, a catalogue from Bradley Company, Springfield or E. Steiger & Co., 49 New York, will be helpful in making the list of materials

However, the spirit is more important than the material. "Children live with our children," and "Come and play with children themselves.

Look back in memory to childhood What are your recollections of your mother's unceasing care for your food, teeth, eyes, health? Or rather that happy day you had lunch, mother and the rest for an unexpected picnic? shopping trips, the church calling, the occasional matinee the deepest impress, or the when mother was alone with read or told you stories?

Dear mothers, cumbered with tha, with many cares, can see that the practical and services which you render minister to the physical, while but the hours of play and fort which you share and and the ideals you set up tion, these are the meat of your child which nourishes essence of his life, develops that intangible something personality, and forming his to the race.

Please pass this article on and thus help Uncle Sam reach mothers of the country.

Now "the" League Only.

From the New York World.

The covenant of the League of Nations is now a definite be accepted or rejected as such, together with the entire peace

The action of the conferenee leaves no room for further and conjecture. American critics, especially those members of the United States Senate, can no longer pretend favor a league of nations but are opposed to this particular Nations Either they are in favor of this league or they are favor of any league.

Although some of the changes made in the text of the covenant make for clarity of expression and more precise li of responsibility, the most important amendments were drawn American objections. The purpose was not to make the co more workable instrument of international law and general p to dispose of the senatorial complaints that the United State has suffered least of all the active belligerents, was surrende much into the hands of its associates in the league.

So far as American opposition was coherent or honest, it questionably been met in the amendments suggested by and adopted through the influence of President Wilson. The co has given extraordinary proof of its belief that no league of n possible without the United States, and that every legitimate that might imperil the acceptance of the league by the A people must be met

To have gone further would have been to put in jeop whole structure. The president has adequately met his respon in Paris and the American people must now meet theirs at ho

"Stones Cracking on the Roo

In his great speech in the House of Commons Premier George used this picturesque language to describe the trouble delegates to the peace conference:

I doubt whether any body of men ever worked under greater difficulties, stones cracking on the roof and crashing through the win and somet mes wild men screaming through the keyholes.

Another Englishman, Mr. Kipling, a few years ago e the same idea in a striking poem. If

If you can keep your head when all about you
Are losing theirs and blaming it on you,
If you can trust yourself when all men doubt you,
But make allowance for their doubting, too,
If you can wait and not be tired by waiting,
Or being lied about, don't deal in lies,
Or, being hated, don't give way to hating,
And yet don't look too good nor talk too wise—

Yours is the earth and everything that's in it,
And—which is more—you'll be a Man, my son!

The point being that it isn't merely at peace conferences man needs to keep his head and his joh in spite of distr from the outside.

...STRATION

...by Lydia ...Vegetable ...—This ...Proves It.

...Pa.—"During the ...been married, I have ...been in bad health ...and had several at... ...tacks of nervous ...prostration, until it ...seemed as if the ...organs in my whole ...body were worn ...out. I was finally ...persuaded to try ...Lydia E. Pinkham's ...Vegetable Com... ...pound and it made ...me well woman. ...I can now do ...all my own work ...for my family, ...which consists of ...five women to do ...for. Vegetable Com... ...pound, they will ...promise, they will ...from it."—Mrs. ...N. 41st Street, ...Pa.

...of women every... ...Ronald's condition, ...backache, bear... ...other symptoms of ...It was ...the health restored. ...this letter so that other ...from her experience ...has done. ...regard to your sym... ...E. Pinkham Medicine ...The result of their ...is at your service.

Honor Roosevelt,

...oaks in Bedford park, ...been set out with ap... ...ony in honor of the ...Roosevelt, and because of ...the conservation move... ...outdoor life, the America... ...ation of Washington ...no more fitting memo... ...can be erected to his ...association is making ...roll of all memorial ...men who served in the ...during the great war.

...AN WEAR SHOES ...and shoes last longer ...Foot-Ease, the ...the feet. Shaken ...in the foot-bath ...makes tight or ...gives instant relief. ...prevents Blisters, Cal... ...Sold everywhere.—Adv.

Designation.

Which tooth is it that trou...

Porter—Lower five, sah.

Occult Device.

...you get so many joy ...

...fice auto suggestion."

...are the pride of every ...Keep them in that condi... ...Red Cross Ball Blue in ...5 cents at grocers.

...ills are sometimes the ...poet's best efforts.

PEOPLE ...OLD TAKE ...PHOSPHATE

...Plain Bitro-Phosphate ...Healthy Flesh and ...Strength, Vigor ...and Nerve Force.

...countless preparations ...which are continually be... ...for the purpose of making ...developing arms, neck ...removing ugly hollows and ...the curved lines of health ...there are evidently thousands ...women who keenly feel their ...and weakness are usually due ...Our bodies need more ...it is contained in modern ...claim there is nothing ...this deficiency so well as ...phate known among drug... ...phosphate, which is inex... ...sold by most all druggists ...terms of satisfaction or money ...tones the nerves directly and ...the body cells with the neces... ...food elements, bitro-phos... ...produces a welcome trans... ...appearance; the increase ...quickly being astonishing; ...in weight also carries with ...improvement in the health, ...sleeplessness and lack of ...nearly always accompany ...soon disappear, dull ...bright, and pale cheeks glow ...of perfect health. ...Although bitro-phosphate ...for relieving nervousness ...general weakness, it ...owing to its remarkable flesh... ...be used by anyone ...desire to put on flesh.

...to increase your present in... ...our artistic Glass Name ...Agents wanted; every... ...brings particulars. Peerless ...Co., 1429 Roscoe, Chicago.

...stock ranch, workable coal ...outcrop, $4 per a. WILL sell ...Hugo Seaberg, Ratch, N. M.

...Sure cure for deaf... ...and ringing in the head. ...Nesperce, Idaho.

...NV PTG. CO., NO. 21—1919.

...Star Performer.

Violet—Watch me ...

Water Glass—I can't lend ...

...His Trouble.

...kept him out of the army.

...A Wholesome, Cleansing, ...Refreshing and Healing ...—Murine for Red... ...ness, Soreness, Granula... ...tion, Itching and Burning ...

The Finding of Jasper Holt

BY

Grace Livingston Hill Lutz

Author of "Marcia Schuyler", "Phoebe Deane", "The Obsession of Victoria Gracen", etc

CHAPTER I.

Slowly the train rumbled out of the station, gathering speed with every moment, and leaving behind the friendly faces on the platform.

The girl who had just entered the car looked about her in dismay at the rough looking crowd by whom she was surrounded. It was the last long stretch of her journey now, out on the plains and across the desert, and the porter of the sleeper had refused to let her enter the Pullman coach without a Pullman ticket. Of course it would be all right when the conductor came but—suppose her brother in law had forgotten to telegraph for the reservation and she should have to spend the night in this car?

She slipped into the only vacant seat and sat anxiously awaiting the coming of the conductor, who was not anywhere in sight.

For the most part the people about her were rough, stolid looking men with hard brown faces. Here and there a woman was huddled wearily in a corner of the seat trying to sleep. They were commonplace folk, nearly all of them, and their very ordinariness brought her some measure of assurance, yet she shuddered at the thought of spending her night huddled into a seat, like the other women, with all those men about free to gaze on her as she slept.

She glanced across the aisle where the seat was turned over and two men faced each other, an old man and a young one. The old man sat just across from her, his coarse strong face turned boldly toward her. He had crafty little eyes that peered with their merest glance at windows out of which Coarseness, Hate, Cruelty and Fear alike might look. His loose hung mouth, and [illegible] sive atmosphere [illegible] his face seem utterly evil. Instantly she shrank farther away and looked hurriedly about to see if perhaps there might not after [illegible] vacant seat where she [illegible] ly out of his range. [illegible] suddenly met the eyes of [illegible] tion who faced her, the young man the turned over seat [illegible] dered how she could have failed to notice him at once. There was something about his face [illegible] the splendid gray eyes that were looking at her so keenly, and the [illegible] ing at her so kindly, and the [illegible] or was it the firm chiseled [illegible] stern set of the beautiful [illegible] and brow—that gave her confidence in him at once. For there was strength and beauty in his face such as one seldom sees blended in a man's [illegible] marked him at once as being different from others. There was nothing weak nor womanish about him in spite of the perfect modeling of his features and the clear coloring of his skin. The fine golden brown hair that rippled back from his forehead like a halo gave the impression of curling out of perverseness rather than from the owner's wish.

He was tall and lean and wiry yet giving the idea of great strength and fine training. If it had not been for an abnormal gravity and the sternness about his mouth she would have judged him to be a mere boy yet there was an air of maturity about him that puzzled her. But his gray eyes met hers kindly, understandingly, as if he knew exactly what she was thinking—all her anxiety—and would let her know that she was safe, that he would see that she was safe! It was with an almost startled feeling that she met his eyes a second time as if to be sure she had not been mistaken, and then settled back into her seat, somehow comforted, assured; as if he had spoken to her and told her not to fear. It was really as if something had looked out of their two souls and acknowledged a sort of mute introduction. And yet he had not been obtrusive, and almost immediately his eyes had been withdrawn from her face as if he would not intrude. He was looking now at the dreadful old man, reproving him for his interest in her it would seem, rebuking most effectually yet without a word, for the old man wriggled around uneasily in his seat and turned his eyes away to look out of the window, the hate in his face getting the uppermost as he cast a furtive, fearsome glance at the younger man and then turned back to the window.

They were a curious pair; the younger man had the air of being the keeper of the older one. The girl wondered how they came to be traveling together; they seemed so absolutely alien to each other. It was obvious that the young man had some power over the other, and this fact gave the girl comfort.

To these two men the entrance of the lovely girl into the monotony of the journey was a refreshment. Even the old man, Scathlin, whose low type of life received only fleshly impressions, and who had grown up from his tainted babyhood without honor for any woman, felt the fineness of her nature, the rareness of her modest beauty, the startling revelation of some pure dream of his childhood the reality of which he had come to doubt. His knowledge of the world told him that probably he was false and human and selfish like all the rest if one came to know her, but for the sake of what she seemed to be he was glad of the vision, and would protect her at all costs because she was a woman and ought to have been perfect. That was his attitude toward the world of women at that time.

Nevertheless as he looked again at the pure profile turned now toward her window, and studied the sweet outline of the [illegible] pleasant lips, the gentle contour of cheek and lash and brow the luminous eyes that were glowing for the moment at the stain of sunset beginning to trickle through the gloomy gray of the sky, he could not but feel that here was something different. It was something for which he had been hoping all his life searching for, but never finding. Something it was good just to know existed; something whose existence would make even a stranger better and braver and purer.

She was slight, small exquisitely fashioned, dressed in some simple, clinging dark blue material of form so suitable as to make one fail to notice just what it was. Sheer white rolled back collar and cuffs set out the white throat and the small gloved hands, the close, dark blue hat with its graceful tilt and simple garnishing seemed just the loveliest setting for the beautiful face framed in its soft dark hair. Her face was wonderfully pure from self consciousness and pride, yet she looked as if she knew her own mind and could stand like a rock for a principle. There was also a [illegible] little uplift to her chin that [illegible] a spirit of her own and a [illegible] that promised a merry appreciation of humor if one knew her well enough, but the whole dainty [illegible] was good to look upon and Holt [illegible] the vision with a [illegible] conscious [illegible] while he covered Scathlin with [illegible] gaze.

He loathed his task of watching Scathlin, and somehow the sight of the [illegible] distasteful. For two weeks now he [illegible] days and nights. He had [illegible] Scathlin out of his sight for one [illegible] since it had found him in [illegible] two days after the theft [illegible] of his safe containing valuable papers and grants, water rights and [illegible] documents relating to his silver [illegible] and other property.

Holt had suspected the old man at once when the wallet was missing, partly because Scathlin had been seen [illegible] in conversation with the man Harrington who was Holt's sworn enemy and who was doing all he could to ruin his prospects and dispute his rights to the water power which made the working of his mines possible, and partly because Scathlin had been dismissed summarily from Holt's employ but a few days previous to the disappearance of the property.

He had trailed Scathlin to Pittsburgh where he found him mounted on a high stool in the station restaurant eating a comfortable breakfast. The old rascal turned white under his tan and stubble and dropped his knife and fork loudly on the marble of the counter at the appearance of his former employer, but the cunning in his face had come at once to the front, and he welcomed Holt as if it were the pleasantest thing in the world to have him appear just at that lonely moment and eat breakfast with him.

It was Holt's way not to settle the matter right then and there by turning the old man over to the police on suspicion but to attach himself to Scathlin and find out exactly where those papers were and who were the man's employers in the theft. He was wary enough to know that Scathlin might have already got rid of the wallet, and he wished if possible to find out what he had done with the papers and get Scathlin into his power until he could make him produce them or tell their whereabouts.

Harrington was superintendent of large mine interests in Hawk valley, located near Holt's veins of silver, and owned by an eastern syndicate. Holt knew that capital and cunning might do a great deal to cripple his interests if they once got him in their power. Therefore he had shadowed Scathlin day and night all these days. On pretense of wanting company for a pleasure trip he had gone wherever Scathlin professed to be going, giving him no opportunity to even telegraph to any of the other conspirators for money or instructions, eating with him, sleeping with him—at least pretending to sleep—sticking to him every minute and watching him every waking second.

(Continued Next Week)

The Canadian house of commons committee on titles has adopted a report advising that no more titles be conferred, on the ground that they are undesirable.

Mrs. Julian Heath, of the Housewives' League, wants the government to sell wheat to the mills at cost, in order to sell the 5 cent loaf to the public.

GOODBY, WOMEN'S TROUBLES

The tortures and discomforts of weak, lame and aching back, swollen feet and limbs, weakness, dizziness, nausea, as a rule have their origin in kidney trouble, not "female complaints." These general symptoms of kidney and bladder disease are well known—so is the remedy.

Next time you feel a twinge of pain in the back or are troubled with headache, indigestion, insomnia, irritation in the bladder or pain in the loins and lower abdomen, you will find quick and sure relief in GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. This old and tried remedy for kidney trouble and allied derangements has stood the test for hundreds of years. It does the work. Pains and troubles vanish and new life and health will come as you continue their use. When completely restored to your usual vigor, continue taking a capsule or two each day.

GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules are imported from the laboratories at Haarlem, Holland. Do not accept a substitute. In sealed boxes, three sizes.—Adv.

In Doubt.

"John," said the nervous woman, "there's a burglar in the house."

"Is there anything left worth stealing?"

"I don't know."

"Well, what ought I to do; have him arrested or thank him for the compliment?"

Imbibing It.

"What a liquid voice that prima donna has." "That's why her audiences drink in her notes."

The farmer who would like to see his children do their best should call on them to do big things.

Two Sorts of Joker.

Willie Willis—What is a practical joker?

Papa Willis—One who jokes with his subordinates; and an impractical joker, my boy, is one who jokes with his wife.—Judge.

Nurture your mind with great thoughts, for to believe in the heroic makes heroes.

People who are intoxicated with music must be air tight.

Eve Again.

Small Daughter (tired of playing alone)—Mummy, when I get to heaven shall I always play wif angels?

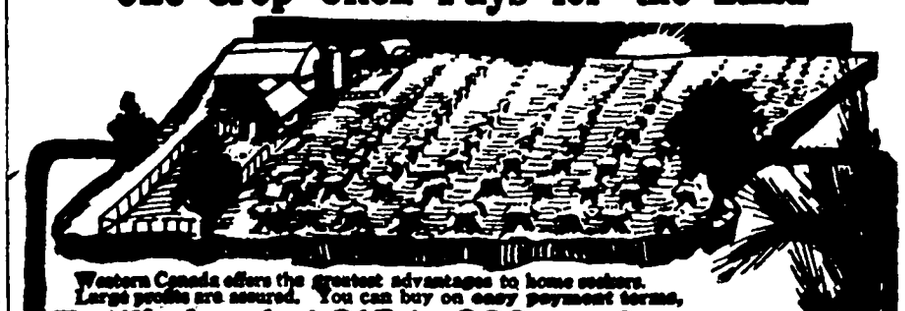
Mother—Yes, my darling.

S. D.—Mummy, don't you fink that if I've been vewy, vewy good all the morning playing wif angels, in the afternoon p'waps God will give me a little devil to play wif?

Immortality is the greatest of all gifts, and involves the greatest of all duties.

Grow Wheat in Western Canada

One Crop Often Pays for the Land



Western Canada offers the greatest advantages to home seekers. Large profits are assured. You can buy on easy payment terms.

Fertile Land at $15 to $30 per Acre—land similar to that which through many years has averaged from 20 to 45 bushels of wheat to the acre. Hundreds of cases are on record where in Western Canada a single crop has paid the cost of land and production. The Governments of the Dominion and Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta want the farmer to prosper, and extend every possible encouragement and help to Grain Growing and Stock Raising.

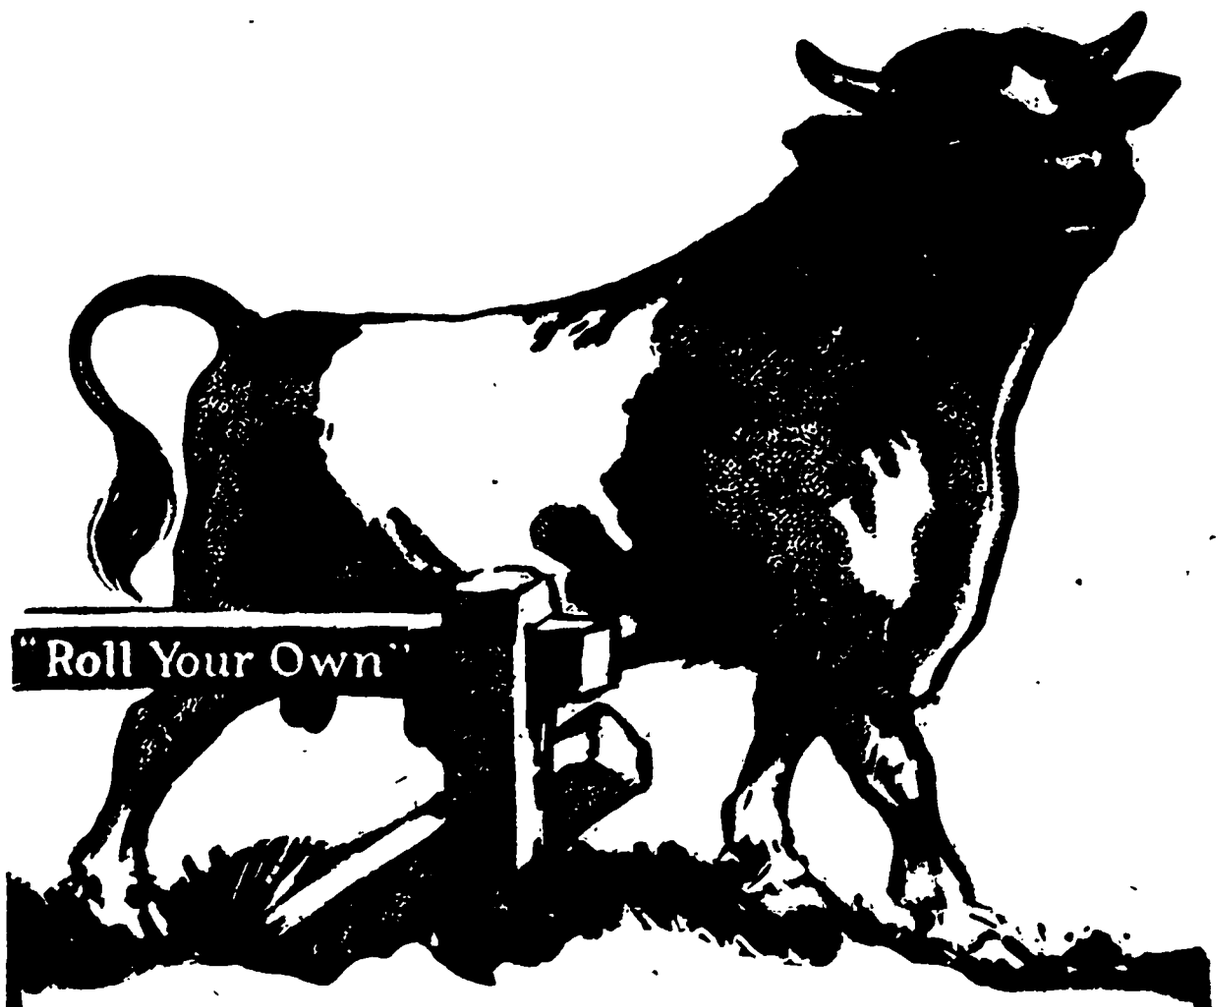
Though Western Canada offers land at such low figures, the high prices of grain, cattle, sheep and hogs will remain.

Loans for the purchase of stock may be had at low interest; there are good shipping facilities; best of markets; free schools; churches; splendid climate; low taxation (none on improvements).

For particulars as to location of lands for sale, maps, illustrated literature, reduced railway rates, etc., apply to Supt. of Immigration, Ottawa, Can., or C. A. Cook, Drawer 197, Watertown, S. D.; W. V. Bennett, Room 4, Bee Bldg., Omaha, Neb., and R. A. Garrett, 311 Jackson Street, St. Paul, Minn.

Canadian Government Agents



HE'S THE OLD RELIABLE

GRAND old "Bull". He's the best there is. He sold over 300,000,000 bags last year.

You know genuine "Bull" Durham—never an enemy; millions of friends.

Genuine "Bull" Durham tobacco—you can roll fifty-thrifty smokes from one bag.

That's some inducement, nowadays.

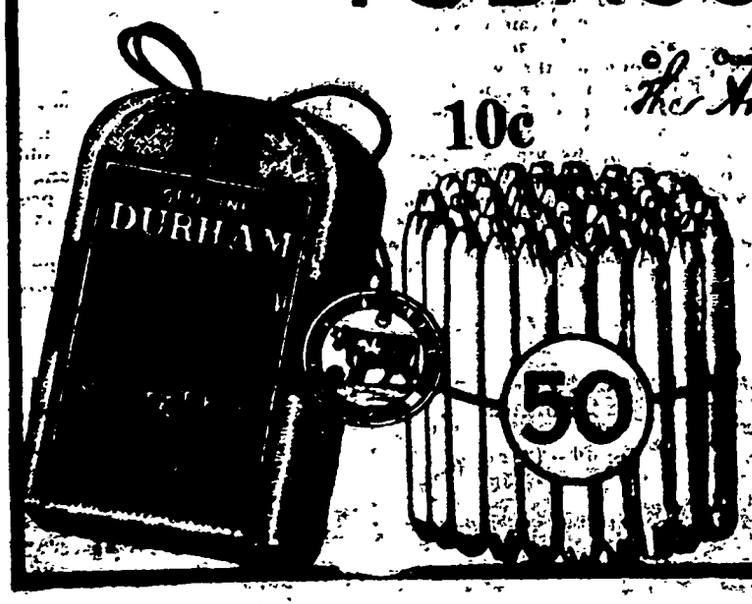
GENUINE

"BULL" DURHAM

TOBACCO



Manufactured by The American Tobacco Co.

You pipe smokers; mix a little "BULL" DURHAM with your favorite tobacco. It's like sugar in your coffee.

I was there to make a sketch of ... Lunch on was just over, and ... was talking to a little knot of ... The first words I heard, as ... quietly into a ... arby seat, were ... Biscuit." ... calling ... ... my own tasty ... I ... her, ... ried com- ... in, my pen ... ...

Rush Is On! People are buying Cars every day now.

Will You Be Next?

An auto ride can't live together. Did you ever see a disgruntled continance in a motor party?

Only happiness radiates from the motorist-man, woman or child.

Be your turn next and join the throng of contented ones who drive Overlands---the world's record car, ask us today.

PHONE 30

Miles Garage

"THE BEST NOW TRY THE BEST"

KLEMME, IA.

re You Hard to Please?

If you think you are pretty "fussy" about clothes, you're just the man we're looking for. You'll find that we have a very keen appreciation of what you want and that we have the clothes that supply your needs. Then to make things 100 per cent certain, we say you can have your money back if you're not satisfied.

Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes spell Satisfaction

There is a lot of satisfaction in buying a stylish suit; in being well dressed; but it can't compare with the satisfaction of getting full value for your money---and style at the same time. That's the satisfaction you get from Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes; we guarantee it.

Your choice of Styles

There are waist-seam models, single and double breasted; Varsity styles; two and three button sacks for the more conservative man. You can make your choice; pick the color you want, too, and the fabric. But you don't have to worry about the quality. All the clothes we carry are well tailored; they're all wool and they'll wear.

Get To Know

Gildner Bros. & Johnson

The Home of Hart, Schaffner & Marx Clothes

Garner, Ia

...some repair... this ...is crew ... put on ...washed the walls ...plaster ...our Next ...have a ...North ...a

...Rimman ...Thursday ...The boys

HOTEL VICTORIA IN GARNER

EVERY

TUESDAY, MAY 27

DR. A. H. WEBER

OF DES MOINES

DISEASES OF THE EYE EAR NOSE AND THROAT

TREATED

GLASSES PERFECTLY FITTED

EXAMINATION FREE

Origin of "Torpedo."

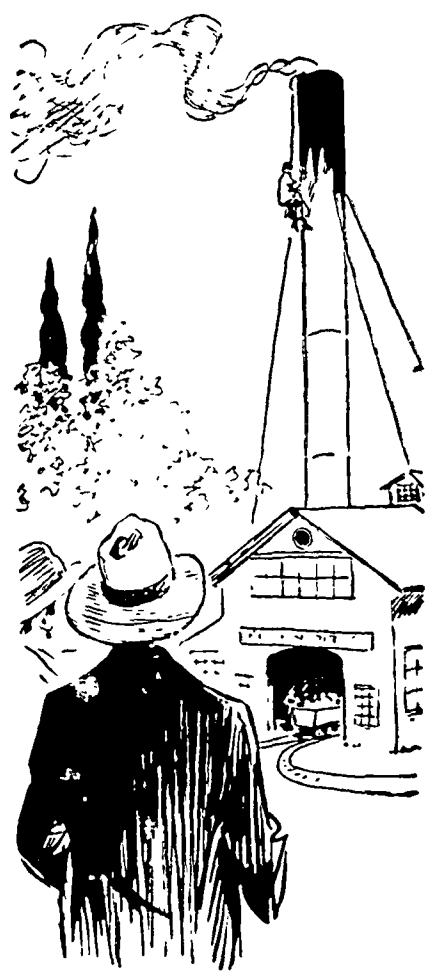
The word torpedo is said by the authorities to owe its designation to the Latin verb "torpere" to be stiff, owing to its torpidious appearance; probably also from its resemblance to the species of fish known by the same name.

BRIDE WORKS AS A STEEPLEJACK

Girl Saw No Romance in Washing Dishes and Cleaning House.

Decatur, O.—When John Kennett forty-... years old, a steeplejack for more than a quarter of a century stopped in Bedford, Ind., nine months ago he secured lodging in a home where the fifteen year old daughter Myrtle ... housework. Now Myrtle says ... romance in washing dishes and in ... and cooking and when she ... asked her to become his bride ... gave up her household ... became Mrs. Kennett.

The wedding took place six months ago, and Mrs. Kennett made her choice of future work by deciding to become a housestack painter. Her ambition now is to become the world's greatest steeplejack. The bride celebrated her seventeenth birthday last month by painting a smokestack in Dayton, O.



Painting a Smokestack.

"... Not a bit," Mrs. Kennett said after she had completed her ... She said that while painting ... in Indianapolis she had to ... 200 feet in the air by ... rope and pulley.

"My work gives me a thrill and also ... me to be with my husband," Mrs. Kennett said.

Instead of wearing bloomers or overall's when she works Mrs. Kennett wears a plush coat over her clothes, even when dabbling with paint buckets and oils.

When the Kennetts reach a city they look around, not like a pair of newly weds seeking a home, but with their eyes open for smokestacks that need painting.

STEALS FOR HER SOLDIER

Virginia Woman Expected Back From France to Be Married—Goes to Jail.

Norfolk, Va.—With a sentence of one year in the penitentiary already pending against her and other charges against her pending, Mabel Morris Rothrock, eighteen year old mysterious self confessed shoplifter is apparently less concerned about her fate than are hundreds of sympathizing citizens, male and female.

Mabel Morris is not a professional thief, at least the police of Norfolk and many other cities in the country have failed to find anything against her previous to her visit to Norfolk—yet she proved herself to be a most adept shoplifter, succeeding in carrying away from Norfolk stores goods to the amount of several thousand dollars.

Mabel said that one of the reasons she stole was that she expected her sweetheart back from France soon and they were to be married.

"I did not have any money to buy wedding clothes," she said, "and I just had to have them. So when I saw pretty clothes and jewelry I wanted I took them."

Kills Mother and Babes as Sacrifice

While laboring under a religious mania, Paul Magge, thirty years old, a farmer living near Caseville, Mich., killed his aged mother with a chair and then murdered his three children in a similar manner. He told Huron county officers he had killed the four as a religious sacrifice.

Stock on the farm also was killed. Three geese, a hen, calf, two cows and a pig were slaughtered. Maggo requested the officers, after his arrest, that they return to the farm and kill any animals which might remain alive.

STATEMENT

OF THE CONDITION OF THE

STATE SAVINGS BANK

Organized under the laws of Iowa, located at Klemme, in the County of Hancock, at the close of business on the 12th day of May, A. D 1919.

RESOURCES

Loans and Discounts	$403,580 42	$403,580 42
United States Bonds	6,422 85
United States certificates of indebt'ness	25,000 00
War Savings Certificates and Thrift Stamps actually owned	830 00	32,252 85
Overdrafts
Banking house	1,100 00	1,100 00
Due from banks and bankers	99,595 50	99,595 50
Gold coin and certificates
Silver coin and bullion	1,186 90
Legal tender and National bank note and subsidiary coins	7,026 32
Exchanges for clearing house and checks on banks in same place	3,473 21
Foreign checks and items in transit	756 21
All other cash items	94 30	12,537 04
TOTAL RESOURCES		$549,075 81

LIABILITIES

Capital Stock	15,000 00
Surplus fund	25,000 00	40,000 00
Undivided profits expenses deducted	4,082 39	4,082 39
Deposits due to banks and bankers on demand
Individual deposits subject to check	174,032 11
Time certificates of deposits	319,087 91	493,120 02
Bank overdrafts
Bills payable other than with Federal Reserve Bank
Rediscounts	11,873 40	11,873 40
TOTAL LIABILITIES		$549,075 49

STATE OF IOWA, HANCOCK COUNTY } ss.

We P. M Griesemer, President, and F J Wenck, Cashier of the Bank above named do solemnly swear that the foregoing statement is full, true and correct, to the best of our knowledge and belief, that the assets therein set forth are bona-fide the property of said Bank in its corporate capacity and that no part of the same has been loaned or advanced to said Bank for the purpose of being exhibited as a portion of its assets.

P M GRIESEMER, President
F. J. WENCK, Cashier

{SEAL} Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence by P. M. Griesemer and F. J. Wenck this 21st day of May, 1919.

CATHERINE V. WENCK
Notary Public in and for Hancock County

Attested by JOE E. JOHNSON
WM. KATTER } Directors.

Allegorical October.

In some of the calendars of our ancient Saxon ancestors the month of October is allegorically represented by the figures of a husbandman carrying a sack on his shoulder and sowing grain. It was the sowing of the fall or winter wheat, as we call it in this country.

Real Meaning of "Salad."

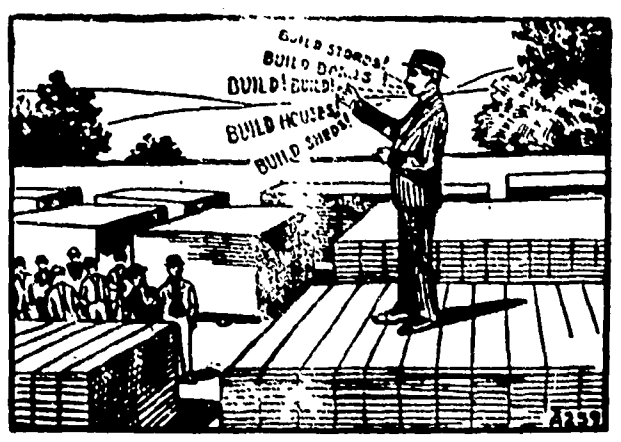
Salad literally means salted and is a direct descendant of the Latin word sal, or salt. The use of "salad" to mean the greens from which or on which a salad mixture is placed is one of only recent origin. The Italian insalata and the Spanish salada, meaning salad in those languages, actually mean salted.

Sell Your Grain To

Walter F. Lau

And receive the highest price and correct weight. Will buy Hogs every day in the week. Also handle high grade COAL. Give me a trial and I will Show you the RESULTS.

Office Phone No. 16. Residence Phone No. 52



BUILDING RESTRICTION LIFTED

The War Industries Board has lifted the building restriction on farm and city construction, cost not exceeding $10,000. This order went into effect November 12th. Farmers, you can now get busy on that new barn, etc., or you who move to town can now build a new house.

NORTHERN LUMBER CO.

N. L. PALMER, Manager

THE CURVED BLADES

By CAROLYN WELLS

Author of "A Chain of Evidence," "The Gold Bag," "The Clue," "The White Alley," Etc.

CHAPTER XXIV—Continued.

"We may as well be honest with one another," Loria went on. "I gather, from your presence here, that you know my cousin is guilty of the death of her aunt; but you don't know, you can't know, what that poor girl had to put up with. I can't blame her, that in a moment—really of temporary insanity she let herself be tempted—

I'm sorry to cut short this interview Mr Loria," said Stone, in his quiet way but, truly, I've a most important engagement just now If I could see you, say this evening, and talk these things over by ourselves—"

Sorry Mr Stone. I must return to my work tomorrow, but I'll see you tonight Will you come to my place'

"Yes, I will About 9"

'Nine it is," and Loria swung away as Fleming Stone turned and hastened into the hotel

Straight to Mrs. MacDonald he went and asked where Pauline was.

"She went to visit Memphis and Sakkara with her cousin," said the scheming chaperon. "That is, she went with her cousin's dragoman, and Mr. Loria met them at Bedrashein."

Oh did he! Now listen, Mrs MacDonald Miss Stuart is in danger. I am sure of this. I am going to her aid but I may not—' Stone choked, "I may not succeed soon Tell me of this dragoman What does he look like?"

Crabbedly Mrs MacDonald described the statuesque Ahri, and almost before she stopped speaking, Stone was flying along the corridor, down the stairs, and out at the door.

He caught a train to Bedrashein, and the first person he bumped into at the little station was Ahri himself waiting for the train to Cairo

Fleming Stone went straight to the point "Look here, Ahri,' he said to the astonished Arab, who had never seen him before, "what have you done with Miss Stuart?"

For once the phlegmatic Arab was caught off his guard

"What do you mean?" he stammered. 'I have not seen her today"

Don't lie to me," and Stone gave him a look that cowed him "Now listen You're in Mr Loria's pay All right He's paid you well for the job you've done. Now, I'll pay you ten times as well to undo it Mind I'll inform you straight that you'll work for Mr. Loria again He's a villain, a wicked man. Take my advice, Ahri, give him up and come over to me By so doing, you'll not only escape punishment for your work today but get a fresh start toward a good position I don't believe you're a bad man at heart, Ahri. At least, I don't believe you'll continue to be if you're better paid to be good."

Stone was right about this, and the talk ended in another expedition of two speed carts into the desert Ahri in one with a native driver, Stone alone in the other, driving himself. Miss Stuart was driven by the same Moor that had driven Pauline only two or three hours before Stone followed them, the wicked driver easily bought over to betray the place where he had left Pauline.

And there they found her

Crouched at the base of a small hill, worn out by weeping and despair, racked by fright and terror she had fallen into a fitful slumber from sheer exhaustion. Jumping from his cart, Stone waved the others back and went to her On her face were traces of tears Her gloves and handkerchief were torn in strips by her agonized frenzies Her shoulders were huddled as if in frantic fear, and her face was drawn and pinched with anguish But in spite of all this Stone thought he had never seen her look so beautiful. Stepping nearer he lifted her to her feet and unheeding the observers, he clasped her closely in his arms and whispered endearing words

Pauline, her eyes still closed, murmured it's only a dream I must not wake. I must not!'

'No dream, darling," said the strong, glad voice in her ear "Does this seem like a dream?" and his lips met hers in a long, close kiss

Then her eyes opened wondering. Fearlest she should faint from very joy Stone carried her to the cart and placed her in it. Jumping in beside her, he ordered the other cart to lead and they started back.

Neither Pauline nor Stone ever forgot that ride. At first she was content to ask no questions, happy in his nearness and her own rescue from an awful fate. But, later, she inquired about Loria.

"You must know the truth soon, dear," said Stone, gently, "so I'll tell you in part now Your cousin is a wicked man, Pauline, and you must realize this fact before I go on."

"Is he wicked?" and Pauline paled and trembled as if struck with a sad blow

'Yes, it was his hand, his will, that sent you to be lost in the desert. He showed me a false telegram, saying you had run away from me!"

"What? oh, I can't believe it!"

"Well, don't try now," and Stone smiled at her. "It's all I can do to manage this fiery steed without trying to tell you unbelievable things at the same time. Let me tell you something more easy of credulity."

Pauline's smile was permission, and Stone had no difficulty in convincing her of certain self-evident truths.

By the time the trio reached Cairo, Ahri was as staunch a follower and as true a slave of Fleming Stone as he had been of Carrington Loria. At Stone's direction, he returned to his former master, for the present, and gave no hint of the later development of the kidnaping scheme.

"All went off as planned?" said Loria, secure in his servant's fidelity.

"Yes, master," answered the devoted trusty, and Loria said no more on the subject.

That evening when Fleming Stone went to Carr Loria's rooms, he was accompanied by Pauline and the Englishman, Pitts.

Loria stared at sight of his cousin, but quickly recovered his poise and jauntily asked her where she had come from.

"No place like Cairo for me," she replied in the same light tone, and they all sat down in Loria's den. "More company than I expected," he said, as he bustled about, seating them. "Ahri, another chair."

Ahri obeyed the request, and then softly left the room.

"Mr Loria," said Stone, directly, "there is no use wasting words, we are here to accuse you of the murder of your aunt and the attempted murder of your cousin."

Carr Loria's face blanched, but he tried to put on a bold front.

'What do you mean by this nonsense? Is it a joke?"

'By no means; I have all the proofs of your crimes, and I ask if you will confess here, or to the police?"

"Friend Pitts, I believe, is connected with the police," and Loria laughed grimly.

"Yes, he is Have you anything to say?"

"Only to deny your accusations. Except that it's too absurd even to deny such foolish talk. What do you mean, anyway?"

"That you poisoned Miss Lucy Carrington, willfully and purposely, by sending her a dose of powdered aconite, under the pretense of its being a beauty charm that would bring fairness and youth to her plain face"

Carr Loria's jaw dropped He looked at Stone as if at something supernatural. "W—what?" he stammered.

"You did it to get her money, now, to go on with your work in the bed of the Nile. Then, in order to get your cousin's share of the fortune, you sent her away to die in the desert, having first induced her to will you her money"

"Ha, ha," laughed Loria, feebly. "Poor joke, Stone, pretty poor joke, I say! Murdered my own aunt! Not much I didn't!"

"Carr Loria, listen!" Impressively Stone held up his finger, to adjure silence, and at the same time he bent on Loria a glance of accusation that made him cringe But, fascinated, he stared into Stone's eyes, and in the deathlike silence came a voice—the voice of Lucy Carrington—in a burst of ringing laughter! Loria's eyes seemed to start from his head, and the sweat gathered in great drops on his forehad, as the voice of his aunt spoke: "This song is one of Carr's favorites," they heard, distinctly. "I'll sing it for him."

Then, in Miss Lucy's high, clear notes, came the song, "Oh, Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms."

Before the last strains came, Loria was, raving like a maniac. He had never heard of the phonograph records of his aunt's songs, for they had meant to surprise him with them on his next trip home.

"Have mercy!" he cried; "stop her! Oh, my God! what does it all mean?"

'Confess," ordered Fleming Stone.

"I will confess! I do confess! I did send her the powder, just as you say. I wrote her to dress up like Cleopatra, and put on her pearls, and scarabs, and fasten an asp, a paper one, at her throat, and take the stuff, and it would cause Cleopatra's beauty to come to her. I told her to hold in her hand something belonging to the man she loved. It was a great scheme—a fine scheme——" Loria was babbling insanely now. "I don't see how anyone ever found it out. I was so careful! I made her promise to burn all my notes and letters about it, before I would send the powder. Who suspected it? I planned everything so carefully—so carefully—— Made her promise to burn everything—everything—letters of instruction, powder papers, everything must be burned, I said—everything—and she said, yes, Carr, everything. Over and over I wrote it. Told her that if she left anything unburnt the charm wouldn't work, and it didn't. Ha, ha," with a demoniac chuckle, "it didn't."

"Take me away, I can't stand it," moaned Pauline.

Again there was silence. The phonograph had ceased; Loria sat, with his head fallen forward on his hands, at his table. He was still, and Stone wondered if he were alive. Then, suddenly, he lifted his head and cried out. "Yes, I did it because I was crazy, wild over my Nile scheme. Ah, that wonderful work! It will never be done now. When I heard Stone was here I knew it was all up. I planned to lose Polly for a time—not forever, no, not forever—I would have found her some day—some day—all dead, in the desert, all dead——"

Pauline fainted and Stone flew to her side. But in a moment she revived, and he begged her to go home. She consented, and Ahri, dependable now, took her to the hotel.

Fleming Stone and Mr. Pitts attempted to get Loria to calm down and talk more coherently. Shortly he did so. He gave a full account of all the details of his crime, and though he denied the intention of leaving Pauline to die in the desert, his word was not believed by the two listeners.

Finally, he rose and walked across the room. "You see," he said, a little wearily, but quite sane, now, "I've a bad streak in me. My father was a Spaniard and he killed his own uncle. The Loria line is a series of criminals. Aunt Lucy never knew this, for my parents lived always abroad. But blood will tell. And my father, after he killed my uncle, followed it up by taking his own life—like this——"

Though Stone caught the gesture and sprang to prevent it, Loria was too quick for him. He had snatched a dagger from the table and plunged it into his heart.

Both men leaped at him, but it was all over in an instant. Carr Loria had himself dealt the punishment for his crimes.

"Perhaps it's as well," said Stone, musingly. "A trial, and all that, would have been awful for his cousin, and the family connections. Now the matter can be disposed of with far less notoriety and publicity."

"Yes," agreed Pitts.

Fleming Stone waited till morning to tell Pauline of her cousin's death. She was wide eyed and pathetically sad, but composed.

"It's all so dreadful," she said, "but, Fleming, I knew it before I left New York. I didn't know it, exactly, but I felt sure it must be so, and I had come here to see. Then I found Carr so gay and light hearted I thought I must be mistaken, and I was glad, too. Then when you came, I couldn't make up my mind whether you suspected Carr, or whether——"

"Whether I came only to see you," supplied Stone. "It was both, dear"

"What made you think of Carr, in the first place?"

"Because there was no real evidence against anyone else, though the police were making things dangerous for you, my little girl" Stone held her close, as if even yet there might be a hint of danger. "And I made Miss Frayne confess that she didn't really see you leave your aunt's room that night, though she did honestly think that you were in there, and your aunt was talking to you. Nor you didn't see her actually leaving the room, did you?"

"I only saw her with her hand on the door knob That was my first glimpse of her, and I thought she was coming out"

"No; she thought of going in to apologize for her hasty temper. But, hearing a voice, she paused, and so thrilling was the talk she overheard, she waited there some minutes"

"And then you thought of Carr?"

"I sized up all the people who had motive, and Loria was surely in that category. And then I found the powder papers. Dear, those would have gone sorely against you if anyone else had discovered them I resolved to wreat the secret from those papers, and I did!"

"You did? How?"

"By studying them for hours, with magnifying glasses, and without I found at last a clue—a possible clue—in the fact that the edges of the papers had been cut with the curved blades of a pair of manicure scissors. I had Jane bring me all the manicure scissors in the house—thank heaven, your scissors didn't come within a mile of fitting the edges! You see, the papers were faintly scalloped on every edge. They must have been cut by the little curved blades, and rarely do two pairs of manicure scissors make the same scallop. The great discovery was that Miss Lucy's own scissors did fit them! This, dearest, would have pointed to you in the eyes of these determined police, for you had access to your aunt's toilet appointments"

"So did Anita or anybody in the house!"

"Yes, but the police were hot on your track, and ready to bend any hint your way. Oh, thank God, that I could and did save you! Well, I further noticed that these scissors of Miss Carrington's were of a different pattern from the brushes and mirrors of her set I went to Estelle, and she told me that the last time Carr Loria was at home he took a great fancy to his aunt's scissors, and asked her to give them to him. She did, and when she tried to get another pair with that especial shaped blade, she could do so only by taking a different patterned handle! Do you wonder that I came straight over here?"

"No," and the lovely eyes beamed with admiration of Stone's cleverness, as well as with affection

"Then, last night, I went to Loria's rooms, and found not only the scissors that fitted exactly the scalloped papers, but found that the outside powder wrapper is undoubtedly a piece of his own writing paper It is the same color and texture. Moreover, as he confessed it all, there is no further room for doubt. Another hint I had was when I found some of Loria's letters in your aunt's desk. Not their contents, they were just such as any affectionate nephew might write his aunt, but the chirography. You know the letter from him that you showed me, was typewritten, and I judged nothing from it. But his handwriting—I have studied the science—gave evidence of criminal traits, and I felt sure then I was on the right track. I brought the phonograph record to frighten him into confession, and it did. Ahri started it, in the next room, at my signal"

"I might have known you would do it. When I came here, you know, I wrote and asked you to drop the case. I feared your investigations would lead to Carr"

"It had to be a question of his guilt or yours," returned Stone gravely. "You don't know, darling, how near you were to arrest! Let's not think of it ever agin. I'll engage to keep your mind occupied with pleasant thoughts all the rest of our life. You don't want to stay in Cairo, do you? Shall we try Algiers for a honeymoon spot? Or, if you don't want Africa at all, how about Greece, or over to Algeciras? Whither away, my Heart's Dearest?"

"Whither? Together, then what matter whither?" said Pauline, her eyes full of a love deep enough to drown the sorrows that had filled the past weeks.

"Together always" he responded, holding her to him, "always, my Pauline."

THE END.

RIDING WITH THE CATTLE.

We rode hard, and brought the cattle from brushy springs
From heavy dying thickets, leaves wet as snow,
From high places, white grassed, and dry in the wind
Draws where the quaken asps were yellow and white,
And the leaves spun and spun like money
spinning
We poured them onto the trail, and rode for town.

Men in the fields leaned forward in the wind
Stood in the stubble and watched the cattle passing
The wind bowed all, the stubble shook like a shirt.
We threw the reins by the yellow and black fields, and rode,
And came, riding together into the town
Which is by the gray bridge, where the alders are.

The white barked alder trees dropping big leaves
Yellow and black, into the cold black water Children little cold boys, watched after us—
The freezing wind flapped their clothes like windmill paddles
Down the flat frosty road we crowded
the herd,
High stepped the horses for us, proud riders in autumn

—H. L. Davis, in Poetry

Edith Cavell.

From the Milwaukee Journal

No nation has a shrine which guards so many memories as England's Westminster Abbey There the British people can wander among the burial places of their illustrious dead and bring to mind the whole history of their island home

Another memory is to be added, a poignant because a recent memory Westminster Abbey is to receive the earthly remains of the nurse, Edith Cavell A British warship with a military escort will bring her body from Belgium and at Westminster the British people will do honor to her unfaltering spirit.

It is well that the body of Edith Cavell is to repose in Westminster Abbey. The world needs such reminders as she that it may not forget what it was for which she died and what is is that must be torn up root and branch if she shall not have died in vain.

Seeing Through You.

From the Rocky Mountain News

If a recent discovery of Dr. Paull S. Hunter, of Denver, does what it is said to do, it will be possible to photograph the bones in our bodies with an ordinary camera. The advantages of such a process can readily be seen, as the X-ray machines used at present are so bulky the patient has to be brought to the doctor's office for treatment or diagnosis.

One night while Doctor Hunter was waiting for a car he held a flashlight in his hand and, covering the light, he was attracted by the marked red glow of his flesh. He noted the dim shadows of the bones in his fingers. "Hm," he said, 'the red rays come through. I can intensify them, making the shadow of the bones sharper, and photograph them.'

Baiting the Signers.

From the Christian Science Monitor

A amusing illustration of the human tendency to sign a petition without carefully reading it was, the other day, produced by a humorously inclined undergraduate in a Kansas military school, who circulated a petition which began by rehearsing the hard work of the students during the war, suggested that they deserved a reward, and printed the word "holiday" in emphatically large letters. Forty signers went no further, but promptly signed the petition When it was later read in public it was revealed that they had really signed a petition advising the school authorities of their feeling that no holiday would be a sufficiently impressive reward for them, and humbly petitioning, as something much more impressive, that they all be taken out behind the gymnasium and "noisily decapitated." Hereafter the 40 petitioners will probably sign no documents that they have not read, pondered, and digested.

Watches From Belgian Cannon.

From the Chicago Tribune

War souvenirs in the shape of watches made of the steel of Belgian cannon which were in active service on the Belgian front from the beginning of the war in 1914 till October 29, 1917, are being manufactured in Switzerland by order of the king and queen of the Belgians. The watches, which bear inset in gold on the cases the monogram "A. E." of the Belgian sovereigns, are to be presented by King Albert and Queen Elizabeth to soldiers who have specially distinguished themselves and also to prize winners of military competitions.

Had the Proof.

From the Brooklyn Eagle.

The proud boy came home with a new golf ball.

"Look at the lost ball I found this afternoon, father he said

"Are you sure,' the father asked, "that it was a lost ball?"

"Oh, yes, sir," said his son. "I saw the owner and he caddie looking for it."

LONG LASTING

WRIGLEY'S

EVER READY REFRESHMENT

Satisfaction for the sweet tooth.

Aid to appetite and digestion — benefit and enjoyment in LASTING form.

And only 5 cents a package.

The Flavor Lasts

Subtlety wins but wisdom holds.

GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER

has been a household remedy all over the civilized world for more than half a century for constipation, intestinal troubles, torpid liver and the generally depressed feeling that accompanies such disorders. It is a most valuable remedy for indigestion or nervous dyspepsia and liver trouble, bringing on headache, coming up of food, palpitation of heart, and many other symptoms. A few doses of August Flower will relieve you. It is a gentle laxative. Ask your druggist. Sold in all civilized countries.—Adv.

Keeping It Up.

A maid servant applied for a week-end off, as her home was distant, for the purpose of being at home on her parents' silver wedding day.

The leave was granted, and the maid returned.

"Well," said her mistress, "did everything go off satisfactory?"

"Oh, yes, thank you, ma'am," said the girl, "and mother told me to say she is very grateful to you for letting me off."

"And what did your father say?" asked the lady.

"Oh, lor! ma'am," replied the girl, "he wasn't there. He's been dead this 20 years."

That Friend!

"Mother doesn't think she'll go to the theater with us tonight, Albert."

"Is that so? I have got three tickets. What shall I do with the third one?"

"Give it to the man you always go out to see between the acts. He can sit with us and you won't have to go out and see him."

Complimentary to Him.

He—But I asked you, dearest, to keep our engagement a secret for the present.

She—I couldn't help it. That hateful Miss Oldum said the reason I wasn't married was because no fool had proposed to me, so I up and told her you had.—Brooklyn Citizen.

Cuticura Stops Itching and Saves the Hair

All druggists. Soap 25, Ointment 25 & 50. Talcum 25. Sample each free of "Cuticura, Dept. K, Boston."

DAISY FLY KILLER PLACED ANYWHERE ATTRACTS AND KILLS ALL FLIES. Neat, ornamental, convenient, cheap, will not spill, soil or injure anything. Guaranteed effective. Sold by dealers or 5 by express, prepaid, $1.25. HAROLD SOMERS, 150 De Kalb Ave., Brooklyn

Mystery Explained.

He stood amid the blaze and d dor of his magnificent mansion in his hand he held the portrait beautiful woman. His face was and haggard, and his lips move vulsively.

What was this mystery. Wa the picture of his departed wife?

No.

Was it the portrait of his de dearly remembered daughter.

No.

What, then, was the cause
haggard face?

Was it not the same portrai
two minutes ago had fallen fr nail, and raised a lump as bi hen's egg on his head?

It was.

A Diagnosis.

"Oh, doctor," said a worried h agrarian, "My wife is in an awf dition! From a medium fat wom has been reduced to skin and She talks incessantly in a loud s ing voice, begins a sentence and finishes it, and jumps from sub subject without uttering anythi has the least sense to it."

"H'm! I see!" returned the cian. "Go home, Mr. Gabbleby, a out your party line telephone
Your wife has been listening t too much."—Kansas City Star.

Lots of people make fortunes other people's curiosities.

Breakfast is Ready when you have a package of

Grape-Nuts

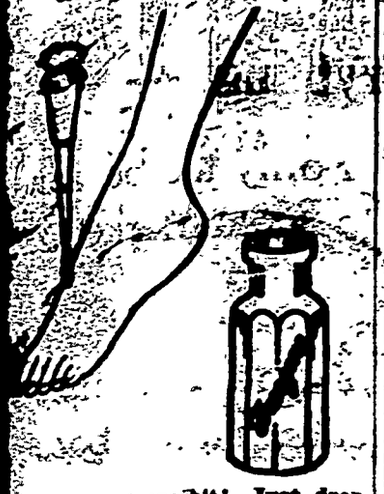
for this tasteful blend of wheat & barley is ready-cooked.

Not a bit of waste: Usable to the last crumb

Usual price 15¢ per package.

UFT CORNS OFF
IT DOESN'T HURT

...n fingers! Corns lift out and ... only few cents



...in? No, not one bit! Just drop ... Freezone on that touchy corn, ... it stops aching, then you lift ... bothersome corn right off. Yes, ...! Costs only a few cents. ... Freezone! Your druggist sells a ... bottle, sufficient to rid your feet of ... hard corn, soft corn, or corn ... the toes, and calluses, without ... particle of pain, soreness or irri... Freezone is the mysterious ... discovery of a Cincinnati genius.

What Esau Sold.

...ity was entertaining the air pilot ... was waiting to see his sister. ..." said Bobby, "flying ma... are mentioned in the Bible." ...they really?" asked the inter...

"...in his sermon this morning ... said that Esau sold his birth... his brother Jacob," replied ...tory Stories.

Cuticura for Sore Hands.

...nds on retiring in the hot suds ...icura Soap, dry and rub in Cu... Ointment. Remove surplus ... with tissue paper. This is ... of the things Cuticura will do. ... Ointment and Talcum are used ... toilet purposes.—Adv.

...Y PIECE OF FOOLING

...Taken by Germany Resembles ...ly Neat Trick That Is Credited to Sheridan.

...Germans, by fooling us with ...bolshevism, hoped to escape ...ment of war indemnities," said ...mas.

...reminds me of a story about ..., the spendthrift playwright. ..., the confectioner, left his ... with Sheridan one morning; ...w hours later Hanson, the ..., called.

"...was very pressing on the ... of his account. He harangued ... harangued. Sheridan, broke, ... the floor in despair. ... an idea struck the ... and he said:

"...Gunter? ... of the safest men in Lon...," Hanson replied.

"...you will be satisfied if I ... his bill for the amount?"

"...," thereupon handed the ... Gunter's neatly folded ac... snatched up his hat and rushed ...

Old-Fashioned.

"...are old-fashioned children."

"...a?"

"They even obey their par...

Ominous.

"...I notice anything of a music... ...t here." "Just wait until ... battle begin to play."

Suffered for Years

Miserable From Kidney Trouble. Doan's Made Mr. Barnett Strong and Well

Mr. Barnett

"I suffered untold agony with my kidneys for years," says John Barnett, 20 Virginia Place, Buffalo, N. Y. "Sometimes I felt that I would burn up with fever, but every now and then would have a severe chill. Often my clothes were wringing wet with perspiration. The kidney secretions were unnatural in color and odor and burned terribly. At night my shoes were so tight on my feet that I could hardly get them off and my hands swelled so I couldn't hold a teacup. My back! Oh, how it ached! I walked with two canes and was all bent over like an aged man. When the terrible pains shot through my kidneys, my knees would give way and many times I had to be lifted to my feet by people on the street. I didn't care whether I lived or died, I was so miserable. I finally used Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured me of all kidney trouble. Doan's made me strong and well."

Sworn to before me.

A. A. WILCOX, Com. of Deeds

Get Doan's at Any Store, 60c a Box

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

FOSTER-MILBURN CO., BUFFALO, N. Y.

Value of Canadian Farm Land.

In the annual report of the Canadian bureau of statistics recently issued, it appears that the average value of farm land in the dominion including improved and unimproved and buildings, was $46 an acre in 1... The average was $41 in 1917, $41 in 1916, $40 in 1915, and $38 in 1914.

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured

by LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE will cure catarrh if it is taken internally and acts through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is composed of some of the best tonics known, combined with some of the best blood purifiers. The perfect combination of the ingredients in HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is what produces such wonderful results in catarrhal conditions.

Druggists 75c. Testimonials free

F. J. Cheney & Co., Props., Toledo, O.

LOOKED LIKE LABOR WASTED

Board's Visit Over, Small Boy Couldn't See Further Necessity for So Much Soap antd Water

He was a new little boy at the orphanage and was much impressed by all the scrubbing and cleaning he saw done there, more so because he had come from a home in which disorder and dirt had held sway. He could not understand it more than that it irritated him, and when he got the job of scrubbing the dining room steps he was almost ready to leave.

But just then came a new experiment to the home. The board was coming to make its annual tour of inspection, and the cleaning was doubled. "Get ready for the board!" was the home watchword it seemed and he, being very human, decided to stay until that big event was over.

The day of visiting came and passed. The next morning the new youngster sought the matron. "Now that them boards has been here, I don't see no use of scrubbing them steps so often—do you?" he asked.

Appropriate.

Outside Brussels is a large monument of a German general. When the allies started to advance last year some wit placed a handbag with the words "To Berlin" printed on in the outstretched hand of the monument.

Very Likely.

"What killed your case in court?"

"I guess it was the fact of its being a short circuit court."

Is Your Table Drink A Real Part of the Meal?

There's no food value in coffee or tea. They are only accompaniments to the meal.

POSTUM CEREAL

is part of the meal and a right royal part, as one well knows who enjoys a hot, full-flavored cup of this snappy, invigorating drink.

Why do hundreds of thousands of Americans now drink Postum in preference to coffee?

The better health from a 10 days' trial in your home will tell.

Postum is boiled just like coffee (15 minutes after boiling begins), is a beverage of rich, delicious flavor, and economical.

Two sizes, usually sold at 15c and 25c.

Peasants May Save Old World.

From the Seattle Times.

The traditional "land hunger" of the European peasant masses may save the old world from the error of bolshevism.

Sovietism is strong only in the cities. Even in Russia, it has not made so great progress in the villages. Proof of this is the discriminatory electoral system devised by Lenine, which virtually robs the peasant of his franchise. The Moscow tyrant refuses to run the risk of being unseated by the votes of the hostile agriculturists.

There, as in Bavaria, however, the peasants have discovered that they possess another and even more potent weapon, now that they have been denied the right to express their views through the ballot. They are refusing to cultivate the land, with the avowed purpose of starving the cities into submission.

Just as soon as the Bavarian food growers heard that arrangements had been made to set up a soviet government in Munich, they announced that they would refuse to deliver supplies to the people of that city were such a regime instituted. If the Bavarian communists follow in the footsteps of Lenine's hordes, their next step will be to send out soldiers to rob the farmers for the benefit of the city dwellers.

This plan worked in Sla...dom—for a time. This year, however, the Russian peasants have gone on strike. They have made no plans to plant foodstuffs and the red guard, though efficient enough in the way of looting existing stores, is powerless to compel the farmers to grow more food.

The Bavarian peasants have taken a leaf from the book of their Russian co-workers. They do not intend to have the land "nationalized." They do not propose to work long hours for the benefit of city laborers who refuse even to produce commodities to be exchanged for food products. They intend to own their own land, to till it for their own benefit and to enjoy the proceeds of their toil.

Sovietism, in other words, has run against the harsh, brutal but impressive fact that man's bread is eaten in the sweat of his brow.

The system which Lenine has imposed upon Russia might work out after a fashion if the peasants were slaves, for whose care and future the state would have no concern. Inasmuch as the majority of the people of Russia and Bavaria are on the land, however, this majority sets the pace in both countries.

It is not at all unlikely that the reaction from the soviet plans of long hours for the farmer and absurdly short hours for the city mechanic will result in the establishment of a new system, under which the city laborer will work as long hours as the peasant and for a wage no greater than the latter receives.

Momentarily the city worker is in the saddle, but in a test of strength the peasant will emerge triumphant, as he commands the "ultimate reserves of victory"—food supplies.

THE FRONT—AT LAST

[...Washington Star Man ... was ... the Mexican Ambassador. He was a ... of Secretary Lansing of South Carolina and is now one of the Washington staff of the New York Times. The poem was published in The Stars and Stripes of February 14.]

Now I am free to do and pay
Not stand to give to other debts I owe.
My debts were these. To smile with ...
On all about too close for other play
To say to all the sayings I could say
And use the service which my friends would know
To hear the clock that ticked me to and fro
To fill done tasks to long drawn diluting day

But now ... made free as a
Of easy breast, where I straight tend ...
And all my debts are ... place
To one debt ... the figures mount the sky
My debts are one ... my foe before ... face—
I shall not mind the paving wide ...

Tough

From the Boston Transcript.

Clerk: We can't pay you the $25 of this money order, but if you are identified—

Man: That's tough. There's only one man ... who will identify me and I owe him $20.

Days to Come.

The ... of motors now will make them pour eye in the ... the ... foot-wi... watch them some will ... a ... of tears and sweat. The ... foots a busy jay he's dodging ... at the time some crazy ... ever ... by attempts his wayworn frame to climb. And there'll be thrice as many cars in days to come, the seers opine, though aeroplanes may graze the stars, the autos won't take in their stride. The man on foot's a busy gent, he hustles wildly through the town, and when he's out to earn a cent some auto tries to run him down. He's always ... ing trees and poles pursued by crazy ... and crawling ... drains and doors to save his ... verse via pants. What will it be in years to come with castings falling from on high where dizzy airships whiz and hum. The man on foot can only die. What profit if he dodge a boat and save a highly valued limb if then some airship gets his goat by dripping rusty ... on him. There'll be collisions overhead of accidents there'll be no dearth and airship chauffeurs quick and dead, will come ... tipping to the earth. The man on foot can dodge them all the autos and ... ship freight and so he'll jump ... mundane ball, and try to keep his ... on straight.

Elephant a Witness.

From Answers, London.

... 1879, an elephant was brought into court as a witness. The action arose out of the visit of a lady to the Alexandria Palace, where a Nubian encampment was attracting crowds of people.

She went there in a pony carriage and after the conclusion of the performance a baby elephant came out, with its keeper and frightened the pony. The pony bolted and the plaintiff was thrown out and injured.

Counsel for the defense said the elephant was willing to go into the witness box to show its harmless disposition; and, the judge consenting, the animal walked ... with bells on its head, and threaded its way through the mazes of the law as though it had been used to courts of justice all its life.

Counsel for defense having no questions to ask in cross examination, the animal withdrew, and the action being settled upon terms the judge remarked that the happy ending was highly proper, since the elephant had come to offer its apologies in person.

Company in Our Misery.

From the New York World.

Sir Eric Geddes' account of the plight of British railroads under government war operation has brought from the American Association of Railway Executives, through Frank H. Fayant, some statistics of comparative interest. The British figures may be summarized as follows for the past year under government operation and for the year before the roads were taken over:

	1918.	1914.
Gross revenue	$780,000,000	$680,000,000
Operating expenses	900,000,000	430,000,000
of which wages	650,000,000	250,000,000
Income deficit. ..	$190,000,000	*$250,000,000

*Surplus.

That is to say, while the British roads before the war had a net income before interest and dividends of $250,000,000, equal to about 4 per cent. on capital, they now have such an income $190,000,000 less than nothing, which the government has to make up, besides the $250,000,000 called for by the standard pre-war return.

The Annual Ablutions.

From Tid-Bits.

Once a year the newsboys of a certain district of London are taken for an outing up the Thames by a gentleman of the neighborhood, when they can bathe to their hearts' content.

As one little boy was getting in to the water a friend observed, "I say, Bill, ain't yer dirty?"

"Yes," replied Bill, "I missed the train last year."

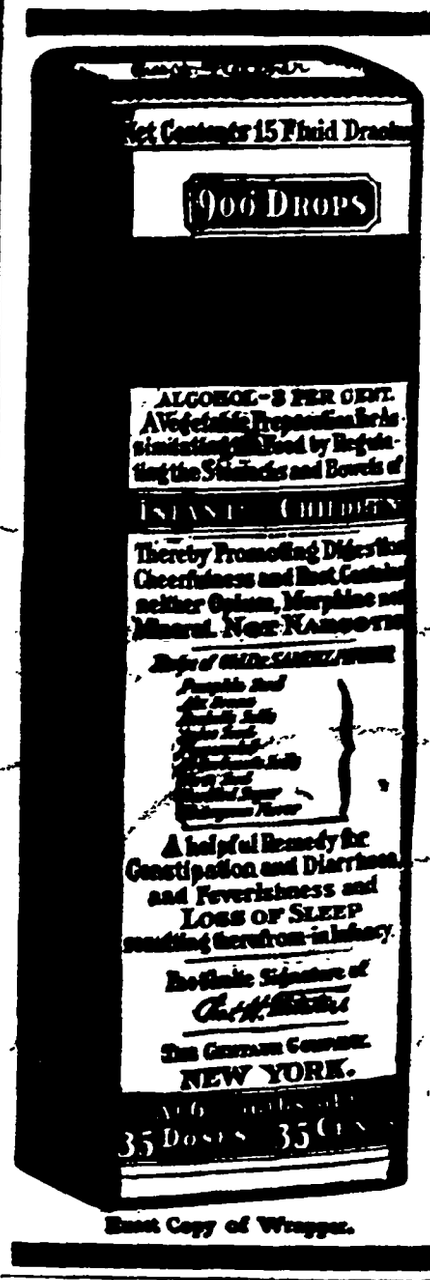
Political Derelict.

From the Saturday Evening Post.

Along with Central Africa, some spilled over islands in the Pacific and certain patches in Asia Minor, many American cities ought to be put under the benevolent guardianship of the League of Nations. Perhaps Germany, which was very successful in municipal government, would consent to become the league's mandatory for them. At present these cities, politically speaking, are simply adrift, without captain or crew. They are equipped with political machinery; but it can hardly be said to work. The machinery contemplates self-determination and self-government. But, because they all live in the country or hope to, or because they are so engrossed in other affairs; or because the cities have become so huge and offer so many distractions that the average citizen is unable to visualize them as any concern whatever of his—their political direction mostly goes by default.

Periodically, on looking at his morning's newspaper the average citizen is startled for the moment by discovering that a primary election was held yesterday at which the active members of the Thomas Jefferson Marching Club of the 14th ward nominated a person named Smith for mayor, and local lodge No. 6, of the True Hamiltonians, nominated a person named Jones. Whereupon the average citizen, who never heard of Smith and despises Jones, swells with indignation and perhaps even rushes off to register. Occasionally he reaches that extreme point of exasperation where he writes a letter to the editor of his favorite newspaper. But there the matter really ends.

These cities contain many millions of worthy inhabitants who are as much entitled to a government they can respect as the dusky inhabitants of the Cameroons are. When it has disposed of more pressing matters the League of Nations should take up their cases.



CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

Mothers Know That Genuine Castoria Always Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

Make This Test For Acid-Stomach

There are millions of people who suffer almost daily from the horrors of an acid-stomach—indigestion; sour, gassy, stomach; distressing heartburn; sickening food-repeating; painful bloat and that miserable, puffed up, lumpy feeling after eating. Many of these people have tried treatment after treatment; medicine after medicine; others have gone to doctors and stomach specialists and some to hospitals, but in spite of all of their efforts they have obtained no lasting relief or a permanent cure.

These symptoms simply mean acid-stomach. If allowed to run on, they are very likely to cause a lot of serious trouble. Dyspepsia, rheumatism, gout, lumbago, sciatica, splitting headache, dizzy spells, nervousness, sleeplessness, mental depression, melancholia, a feeling of listlessness and all-goneness—these are just a few of the disorders which can be traced to acid-stomach. As a matter of fact, acid-stomach is often the direct cause of those almost incurable conditions known as catarrh of the stomach, intestinal ulcer, and cancer of the stomach. The lives of those who suffer from these serious troubles are nothing short of daily agony. Surely, then, you must see how important it is to go at once to the seat of the trouble—acid-stomach. You know what acid-mouth does to the teeth—how it eats right through the hard enamel and causes them to decay. Think then of the havoc that must be caused by excess acid in the stomach!

Even if you are not suffering any immediate stomach pains, but are not feeling just as fit and fine as you should, you should by all means make this test: Go to your drug store at once and get a big box of EATONIC. It is in the form of pleasant-tasting tablets—you eat them like a bit of candy. EATONIC is prepared for just one purpose—correcting acid-stomach by driving out the excess acid. EATONIC literally absorbs the excess acid. It brings instant relief from the pains of indigestion, heartburn, belching, sour, gassy stomach, bloat, etc. It makes the stomach pure, sweet, cool and comfortable, puts it in a normal, healthy condition, so that your food is properly digested. You need every bit of strength you can possibly get out of the food you eat—and EATONIC helps you get it.

Don't put this test off if you value your future good health and happiness. You run no chance at all because EATONIC is absolutely guaranteed to give you relief or your druggist will refund your money. The cost is a mere trifle.

TAKE EATONIC TODAY FOR YOUR ACID-STOMACH

Very Naturally.

Gert—What did Myrt do when she found out you said she was homely?

Mabel—Oh, she got real ugly about it.

If a man is wide awake during the day he can afford to sleep at night.

Most of us are willing to take up our cross, but it must be a gilt one.

Counterfeiter Caught! The New York health authorities had a Brooklyn manufacturer sentenced to the penitentiary for selling throughout the United States millions of "Talcum powder" tablets as Aspirin Tablets.

Aspirin "DON'TS"

Don't ask for Aspirin Tablets—say "Bayer!"

Don't buy Aspirin in a pill box! Get Bayer package!

Don't forget that the "Bayer Cross" is your only protection against dangerous counterfeits.

BAYER

Don't fail to say to druggist: "I want 'Bayer Tablets of Aspirin' in a Bayer package." The genuine! Buy only the regular Bayer package with the safety "Bayer Cross" upon it and on each tablet inside.

Bayer-Tablets of Aspirin

The genuine American owned "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" have been proved safe by millions for Pain, Headache, Neuralgia, Toothache, Earache, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Colds, Grippe, Influenzal Colds, Joint Pains, Neuritis. Proper dosage on every "Bayer" package.

Boxes of 12 tablets—Bottles of 24—Bottles of 100—Also Capsules.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.

LIGHTER UNDERWEAR

FOR LONGER DAYS

With our stock it isn't a matter of "what have you got" but rather of "what will you have."

Almost any length, weight and price are within reach in your arm length, and chest measure.

In Athletic Suits we have three different makes (B V D.) (Mansco) and (Superior) at

$1 $2 and $3

Light weight woolen suits for the wearer of wool year 'round at $3 50 and $6.00.

Balbrigan and Lisle two-piece, 90c a garment.

Before you change, confer with us—confidentially.

A great line of Boys Underwear, Porosknit, Spring needle and Athletic in all grades. The boys stock here gets the same attention as the mens.'

PATTON BROS.

Mason City, Iowa

Where a dollar does it's duty

I scream U scream We all scream

for

ICE CREAM

Our soda fountain is running in full blast now and we have the very best in Sodas, Malts, Sundaes etc Get a quart of our delicious Ice Caerm for your Sunday dinner

"If It's To Eat---We Have It"

CRYSTAL CAFE

Elder & Fuller, Props.

DOCTOR MISSMAN

PHYSICIAN SURGEON

OFFICE--State Savings Bank Building, 'Phone No. 1105

RESIDENCE--North of Park, 'Phone No. 1109

X-Ray Radiographs Electrical Treatments

Eyes Tested Glasses Fitted

Now is the time to make a noise like Spring!

Now is the time to make plans for this year's garden. We have everything you need in that line:-

Garden Spades Forks Hoes

Rakes Plows Garden Seeds

Don't overlook your Lawn or Flowers

Better get some of our Grass Seed and Flower Seeds. Buy a Lawn Mower.

J. W. WATERMAN

The City Dray Line

Is prepared to do your hauling carefully and promptly
Your patronage is respectfully solicited.
Charges Reasonable.

Henry P. Yahnke, Prop.

Coal Hauling Done

Osteopaths have a four year course and are licensed physicians. adv.

P. M. Greisemer spent Sunday visiting with his folks at Garner.

Miss Ella Schuldt spent Sunday visiting with friends at Titonka.

John Suurballe, of Goodell, was a business caller in Klemme Monday.

Marlin Croner is listed among the ailing this week with a bad cold.

W. H. Ramsay, of Garner, was a business caller in Klemme last Friday.

Lester Ross, of Garner, visited Klemme friends Saturday afternoon.

Dr. Parsons, of Belmond, spent Sunday with his family here.

Fred Becker arrived home Tuesday rom over seas service

The Overland 90 beats World's Record for Long Distance Test. Adv.

Rev Wm. Hein, of Mason City, occupied the pulpit at the First Methodist church Sunday evening

R F Schneider, of Mason City, was a pleasant caller on Ye Editor Monday between trains.

Billie Busch and Blanch Liljenberg autoed over to Garner Sunday afternoon

G P McCullough went to Garner Monday afternoon to remain until he recovers from a bad cold

Wm Bell and family spent Sunday with the Dave Ross family near Garner.

C W. Wiles and Dick Bamman drove over to Garner on business Friday afternoon

Alvin Freie and Elmer Lawhorn drove over to Bayside Sunday afternoon.

Mr J N Sprole, of Garner, was a business caller in Klemme Monday morning

Dick Bahmann was a passenger to Titonka Saturday for an over Sunday visit with friends.

We recommend, sell and guarantee Gould Storage Batteries Henry Lau & Son. adv

Bert Mathews and Hugo Neff autoed to Garner last Friday evening in the former's car.

If you want the best car on the market get an Overland 90, the car that beat all former records Adv

Clarence Yost spent Sunday with his folks at Garner. He rode his bicycle over

J W Waterman and family and Mr and Mrs C G Waterman autoed over to Clear Lake Sunday afternoon

Lewie Strieby, "the one-mitted wonder," painted his Ford the other day and old Liz looks like an apple blossom now

A number of Klemmeites went to Twin Sisters and Lake Cornelia Sunday They report good luck and big catches

Dr. R. W. Schultz, Osteopath, of Garner, will be at the Hotel Klemme on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings, 9 00 to 12:00. adv

Mr. Barnabee, of Goodell, was a Klemme caller Monday afternoon and while here stepped into the Times Office for a little chat.

Mr. and Mrs M O Barr and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Fuller drove over to Lake Cornelia last Sunday to spend the day

Just about everybody who had cars went driving last Sunday as the roads were in fine shape and the weather perfect.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Jorgenson and daughter, Mrs. Ben Reibe, of Forest City, visited at the A. L. Strieby home last Wednesday.

I want to go to see my papa Therefore I request everyone who owes me on account to pay before June 1st, 1919. Dr. Geo. Zinn. adv.

Henry Lewis and wife and A. L. Strieby and wife visited at the Ollie Brooks home at Clear Lake last Sunday.

John Opsal, who is now traveling for the Black Hawk Fruit Co., of Waterloo, was a business caller here Monday evening. John says he likes his new work fine and that business is good.

Osteopathic adjustments release the blood and nerve supply, NATURE CURES. Osteopathic adjustments are used by the majority of people. adv.

Oscar Franzen, the Hotel proprietor, and two children, autoed over to Garner Sunday afternoon to meet the Milwaukee train from the east.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Mart Bachman Wednesday morning of this week

For Sale—Residence property, nine room house, all modern. located south of Court House W. D. Miller. Garner Iowa. 1-w

Oscar Schuldt returned to Mason City Saturday afternoon after a week's visit with his folks here. While here Oscar assisted in the Times Print Shop during a rush of work

Henry Lewis and A. L Strieby drove over to Mason City last Thursday and remained until Saturday Mr Lewis was receiving treatments there for a sprained back

Mrs Dewey Rice returned to Clarion Monday after a few days visit here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs Fred Musfelt.

Mr and Mrs George Kluckhohn, Sam Harvey and Mrs Torgeson and children autoed over to Mason City last Friday evening. While there they also attended the show at the Cecil.

George Lau arrived in Klemme on Tuesday morning from Camp Lodge George has been in France for over a year and was in most of the big scraps

Alex Kirkwood was a passenger to Belmond Monday noon where he had dental work done by Dr Parsons Just now Alex, we predict that he will be sporting a new pair of "store teeth"

E L Jacobs of Garner, drove over to Klemme Friday afternoon for a visit with Klemme friends. Ed left Back to a southern camp Saturday night to resume his duties as a mule driver

L F Bell wrote a letter to his father stating that he was now in Germany, that he was having a fine time and enjoys the sights. He says he expects to leave for the states about the first of June

Rev and Mrs. A H. Meyer and Rev. and Mrs Wm Hein went fishing Monday Rev Meyer was going to show the other "sky pilot" a few of the fine points on the art of catching the finny tribe but we understand that the "biggest ones" are sttill swimming peacefully in the river

Gould Storage Batteries represent the latest advancement in the are of Dependable Storage Battery Construction, exemplified by Gould Built, Gould Designed, Superhard Dreadnaught Plates. adv

Art Wellemeyer has quite a novelty as well as a great time saver installed in his new store He has seven small battery telephones installed in various parts of the building. These save a lot of time running around to the different departments when some little thing is wanted.

E. G Ell and Holly Lewis drove to Garden City, Minn, last Friday with Henry Yahnke's car Holly drove Yahnke's car and Mr Ell took one of his own to return in They came back to Klemme Monday They say the roads up there were fine, also that fishing was good Bert Mathews is the new grocer manager at the Wellemeyer Department store Bert comes from Garner, where he has worked in stores for some time. He also ran the meat market at Garner a few months ago, selling out to the man whom Larsens' later bought out. Bert is an all around good merchant and also is a fine fellow. We are glad to have Bert as one of Klemme's citizens.

We are hearing a lot of comment on the fine bunch of steers owned by Wm. Bell. He has nineteen fine steers all fattened for the market, weighing about 1200 pounds each. They were put on feed the 24th of January and at that time weighed about 900 pounds. They are all ready for the market now and Mr. Bell will ship them to Chicago this Saturday night or the week following and will accompany the car load of stock to Chicago himself. Several good judges of live stock have looked over this herd and they say they are as fine a bunch of cattle as any that can be found. Well, it's all in the game and Mr. Bell knows how to feed them up to prime.

We have it! What?

Everything

Which is found in only the best and most up-to-date Meat Markets.

You will always find a complete line of Choice Meats, Hams, Bacon, Fancy Meats and Canned Goods.

Try Our Oleomargarine---It's Fine!

J. P. Larsen & Sons

WHY GO WITHOUT PROTECTION?

Considering that a modern, fire and storm-proof safe-deposit box may be had for $1.00 per year, it seems poor policy indeed for anyone to be without this protection for bonds, stocks, insurance policies and other valuables.

If your valuables are valuable, protect them. The cost is nothing compared with the trouble, inconvenience if not out and out financial loss you may suffer by keeping your valuables insecurely protected at home.

We still have a few boxes for rent but very few. Make your reservation early

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Klemme Iowa

Subscribe Today at $1.5

All Kinds of Hardware

HARDWARE AND GROCERIES

Stoves and Furnaces

Paints, Oils, Feed, Flour, Cream Separators, Buggies, Wagons, Gasoline Engines.

All Kinds of Farm Machinery

GREUTZMACHER BRO

KLEMME DRAY LINE

LLOYD LAU, PROPRIETOR

A share of your patronage is solicited.

All work attended to promptly and carefully

Coal Hauling Done Promptly

Telephone No. 14

M. O. HOCUM

The Grain, Coal and Live Stock Man

We will buy Hogs and Grain six days in the week at Highest Market Price.

Successor to W. R. Bloom

DR. L. R. PARS

DENTIST

Office 1st Floor State Sav

Phone No. 48.

Klemme Io

KLEMME TIMES

Third Year. Number 38 — Klemme, Iowa, Thursday, May 29, 1919 — $1.50 In Advance. $2.00 Outside of County

Cook by Electricity

AND USE THE

ndard Electric Range

tration shows a No. 601 STANDARD RANGE of the largest and most complete types. A size is every requirement.

tion of Electric Cooking Compartments, Electric Electric Hot Plates enables you to use Electricity economical way and solves the problem of Electri-

THE STANDARD RANGE
Saves Fuel
Saves Work
Saves Food

"Let Us Show You How"

EX SHANNON

IOWA

ow Is the Time

to repair your Farm Machinery

member that we have a full line of

McCormick and Acme Binder Sections and Ledger Plates

ock of Cultivator shovels and tongues on hand. s a good time to bring that Mower for Repairs

WE HAVE ON HAND PLENTY REPAIRS——

NG, McCORMICK, EMERSON and ACME MOWER and Sickles—Ledger Plates—Pitman Boxes Straps—Pitman Woods—Pitmans Complete Guard Bolts—Pinions—Tongues Get anything you want in a hurry——

HAY RACK SEASON IS ALMOST HERE!

you need a new rack don't fail to see the Burnation Rack before buying, you will SAVE by so doing.

ALL CASE TRACTORS AND THRESHING ERY has no equal, call and see me before buyg. Be safe than sorry.

W. F. PAVEY

eral Blacksmith — Klemme, Iowa

BIG ENTERTAINMENT GIVEN SUNDAY IN HONOR OF THE RETURN OF GEORGE LAU

About Eighty Guests Present At The Home Coming

Mr and Mrs Henry Lau and daughters entertained on last Sunday May 25th, about eighty relatives in honor of George Lau who just recently returned from the battlefields of France

The day was mostly devoted to visiting and of course George was slated to do most of the talking in teling some of his experiences in his many battles with the Hun About four o'clock an informal dinner was served on the tables which had been prepared on the south lawn at the Lau home which easily seated the eighty guests

George has seen a lot of the war perhaps more than any other young man in this county Some of the most important engagements he took part in were ten days fighting in the front line trenches of the St Mihiel Drive, and twenty-eight days in the open warfare of the heavy drive through the Argonne Forests He is rather modest and does not like to relate his experiences however the guests kept him busy answering questions and thus got som good stories of the war he went through

George says they lost over half of their men in his company but he himself never got hurt, although on several occasions he had to dig himself out from under the dirt which had rolled over him by exploding shells

The day of celebrating the home coming of George will long be remembered by all of those present for it means the happiness over the safe arrival home of a son and brother who has gonet hru dangerous experiences for his country and comes safely home to tell the story

FORGER IN CUSTODY

E Willoughby Is Being Held At Vancouver for Sheriff Ross

E Willoughby, the forger, is in custody at Vancouver according to a telegram which Sheriff Ross received on Monday evening The telegram reads as follows "Vancouver—Willoughby in custody Admits identity Has employed council Will advise if he will waive extradition —W. M McRae, Chief Constable" On Saturday the Burns Detective Agency had asked that a copy of the warrant be wired to them at Vancouver and Sheriff Ross did this It is evident that they had him spotted and picked him up as soon as they got the warrant. If Willoughby waives extradition Sheriff Ross will go after him and bring him to Garner at once, but if he will not waive extradition, papers will have to be gotten and this will take some time However, he is under arrest, and will not be released Since he was located at Saskatoon, he has been going from place to place, and it was hard to get him, as it was necessary to have a warrant to make his arrest. He will be brought here and tried for forgery of the notes which he cashed at the Farmers National Bank of Garner and the First National Bank at Klemme He probably did other crooked work that will come to light when he is brought back

HOW WOULD YOU LIKE TO OWN A WAGONLOAD OF KLEMME CREAMERY BUTTER?

A Load of Gold Bricks Has Nothing on this Klemme Product

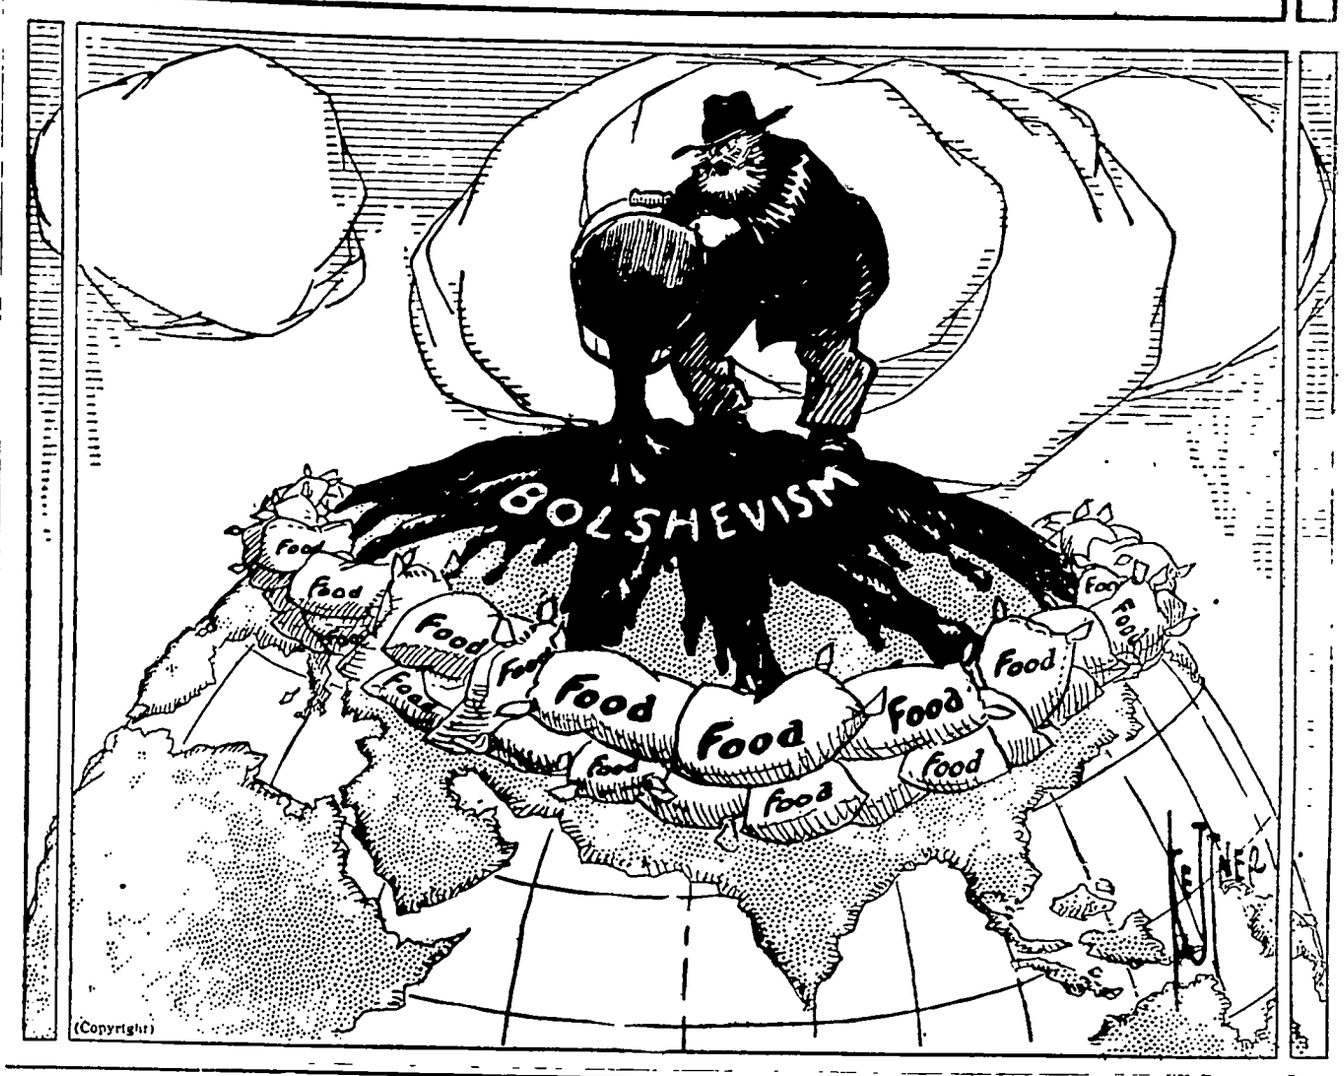
Mr. A. D. Gimer, manager of the Klemme Creamery Company gave us a very interesting news item the other day which is worthy of special mention

Lloyd Lau, one of our Klemme draymen, hauled the largest single load of butter to the depot on last Friday which ever went out of the Klemme creamery. Lloyd's wagon contained eighty-nine tubs of fine creamery butter, the net value of which was $3,150.00. Can you beat it?

The shipment was put direct into an iced refrigerator car set out by the C R. I. & P., who will furnish a car the summer months.

What's the use of burglars breaking thru strong bank vaults for money, they could hook a couple of tubs of butter and be independently rich. We advise the creamery company to build a big vault to store their golden butter in or we may be tempted to swipe a couple bricks of butter ourself and take a vacation on the money the butter would bring.

The Dike



"DICTATED BY HATE"

"The Treaty," howls Herr Fehrenbach, President of the German National Assembly, "was dictated by hate"

It was. For once a Hun speaks truth But he spoke it unintentionally meaning it to be a lie. He meant that the treaty was dictated by hate which the Allies have in their heart toward Germany That is not true. If it were if the treaty had been framed according to the hatred of the Huns which all civilized men would be justified in cherishing, it would have been a far different instrument from what it is.

The hate which inspired this treaty is Germany's own It was the spirit which breathed through that "Hymn of Hate" which four years ago was the most popular ode in Germany. It was the spirit which made the whole Hunnish people adopt, as a morning greeting, "Gott strafe England!" and later, "Gott strafe Amerika!" German scholars have long prided themselves upon their metaphysics and their psychology. Surely they should be able to discern and to understand how that hellish spirit of hatred which they themselves conceived in wantonness and cherished in malignity has racted upon themselves with deadly force.

It was because of Germany's hatred of her neighbors that those neighbor nations were compelled to take up arms in self defense and crush the hating and hateful Thing. It was because of the German people's hatred of other peoples, that those other peoples now take means to prevent them from ever again making that hatred effective for harm.

Yes, the Treaty had it's origin in hate. But it was Hunnish hate.—Harvey's Weekly.

TWO MORE KLEMME FIGHTERS RETURN FROM OVERSEAS

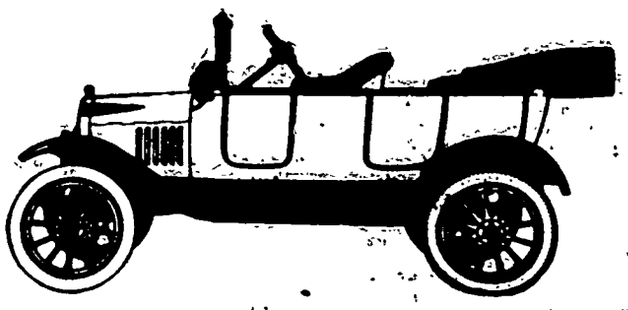
David Schwichtenberg and Bert Gram returned to Klemme the latter part of last week from overseas service where they have been knocking the stuffing out of the Kaiser's soldiers. We are glad to welcome the boys back to Klemme.

A number of Klemmeites attended the Band Concert at Garner Tuesday evening. They have their band concerts every Tuesday evening.

Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Remember that when you bring your Ford car to us for mechanical attention that you get the genuine Ford service---materials, experienced workmen and Ford factory prices. Your Ford is too useful, too valuable to take chances with poor mechanics, with equally poor quality materials. Bring it to us and save both time and money. We are authorized Ford dealers, trusted by the Ford Company to look after the wants of Ford owners---that's the assurance we offer. We are getting a few Ford cars and first come first to receive delivery.



E. G. ELL

Authorized Dealer

THE KLEMME TIMES

RAY A. JORGENSON, PUB.

KLEMME, IOWA

Three secret documents in the form of confidential circulars, very damaging to the German protestations just now, have come into the possession of the allies. The first, signed by the minister of national defense on February 14 last, orders state munition factories to work day and night to produce ammunition for guns of all calibers, and says: "Raw materials will be provided for at Spandau. If necessary to furnish an excuse to the allied commissioners, it is to be stated that factories are kept going to provide work for the unemployed. The second paper, dated March 2, orders troops returning from the front to be disbanded at once on account of their unreliability, and asks that classes of 1897 to 1901 be called up. The third, dated March 15, from the chief in command of the armies in the field, to the commander of the corps in Breslau, tells him to take discreet measures to excite the Poles of upper Silesia, in order to provoke incidents. "Would be useful," the letter states, "to bring about an insurrection of the Poles." Incidents are ordered reported to the press.

A cable from London says: "This great city has been surcharge with excitement over 'the coming of the bird Yanks.' Extras put out by the evening newspapers telling of the stages in the advances of the Americans along a ribbon of destroyers equipped with star shells and flares, said like hot cakes on an excursion train. The whole affair is being treated as a big international sporting proposition."

Legends already are beginning to spring up among the superstitious and ignorant Mexican Indians regarding Emiliano Zapata, the rebel chief who met death on April 10. In an attempt to preserve the bandit's body to give the greatest number of his former followers a chance to see it, it was packed in ice. The ice burst the sides and top of the flimsy coffin and gave rise to superstitious tales that Zapata was not really dead, but had burst his coffin and escaped.

In the porch of Metz cathedral stands a statue of Daniel the Prophet to which a sculptor had given a marked facial likeness to former Emperor William. When the French took possession of the city, they put a pair of handcuffs on the emperor prophet's wrists, from which hung a placard inscribed "Sic transit gloria mundi." Now the statue is to be taken away altogether and a new one substituted.

In many districts of London, and particularly in Yorkshire, where the dearth of houses is acute, the practice of paying "key money" is growing. So keen are prospective tenants to get into a house directly it is vacant that as much as $50 to $100 is offered to the occupier for the key, this transaction generally carrying with it the understanding that the landlord will accept the succeeding tenant.

The whole press is dissatisfied at the suggested solution of the Italian territorial question. "The peace delegates are treating Italy as a culprit or an enemy," says a dispatch from Rome. The Paris correspondent of the Idea Nazionale comments bitterly on the reception given the Austrian delegates, saying it was very humiliating for Italy.

Replying to a question in the house of commons, Andrew Bonar Law said that the council of four, for reasons which could not be disclosed, considered the publication in full of the peace terms undesirable, and a similar course was being followed in the allied parliaments.

The I. W. W. in their recent Chicago convention so framed their constitution that any member who may become an officer in the American Federation of Labor can no longer be a member of the I. W. W. Delegates declared that the two organizations are opposed to each other.

The independent socialist government of the small state of Gotha declines to abide by the restrictions for a "week of mourning" ordered by the national government. The Gotha government explains that it experiences no "bitter deception" through the publication of peace terms.

Proposals have been made at Paris by the British and French governments that the United States accept as part payment for arms advanced them notes and bonds of some of the South American republics, including Brazil which they hold. It was said that there had been no opposition to the plan.

The enemy alien property custodian claims the $4,253,327 estate left by Herman Sielcken, former head of the firm of Grossman & Sielcken, who died an enemy alien in Baden Baden Germany, in 1917. The bulk of the state was bequeathed to his wife who lives in Baden Baden.

Telephone service in New York city has "become so wretched that it seriously interferes with the conduct of business," according to an increasing number of complaints received by the Merchants Association and forwarded to the New York Telephone Company in a letter asking for a frank explanation.

The Russian bolshevists are planning to seek a commercial alliance with the United States which would also include Germany and Scandinavia, according to M. Malowski secret agent of the Lenine government in Berlin. Malowski believes the League of Nations will fail.

The federal council of the Austrian Workers' Union has issued a manifesto to its members announcing the council had unanimously rejected the scheme for the fusion of all labor organizations into one big union. The manifesto describes this as a "can-ouflaged I. W. W."

Nearly all the French manufacturing establishments which were converted into plants for the making of war materials at the outbreak of hostilities have returned to their peace time work. Generally speaking there has been a reduction in the personnel employed in all these plants.

The real "floor" of the House of congress the part where all the orations are delivered and feet stamping is done, has a new rubber covering, made particularly to deaden the sound, says a Washington dispatch.

Seventeen striking machinists members of the International Association of Machinists, were fined an aggregate of $2,200 in Chicago Monday and two were sent to jail for violating an injunction restraining them from picketing.

The British government through its consulate in the City of Mexico has circularized practically every merchant and business concern in Mexico during the last few weeks, with the view of increasing the trade between the two countries.

Cotton seed received at mills during the period between August 1 and April 30, was 4,213,618 tons.

Salmon Brown, aged 82, a son of John Brown, of Harpers Ferry fame, committed suicide in Portland, Ore., last week.

There are enough people in Russia yet to populate Great Britain, France and Germany, with a considerable number left over.

Canteens in which the rural school children of England may have their daily lunch are being opened in all parts of the country.

HAUGHEN WORKING FOR DAYLIGHT ACT REPEAL

Heeds Flood of Petitions From Nebraska, South Dakota and Iowa Farmers.

Washington Bureau of The Tribune.

Washington, D. C., May 24.—With thousands of letters and petitions coming from farmers to repeal the daylight saving act, Representative Haughen, as chairman of the agricultural commission, will work for repeal. Present plans in the agricultural commission are to put the repeal into the agricultural bill. This foreshadows a great fight in both houses.

Many petitions for repeal are coming from Nebraska and South Dakota farmers, as well as from Iowa.

FORT DODGE PLANNING TO ENTERTAIN BANKERS

Fort Dodge, Ia., May 24.—The city of Fort Dodge will have the biggest task in her history in the entertainment of the annual meeting of the Iowa State Bankers' Association on June 23, 24 and 25. Last year in Dubuque there were registered over 1,700 bankers. Added to this number there were nearly 400 wives of bankers present to enjoy the city's hospitality. This year the annual meeting promises a larger attendance than ever, due to the fact that many representatives of the state's 2,000 banks were unable to be present because of regular employes being in the service of the country. War is over and former help is back behind the cages and this will allow a decided increase in attendance.

STRANGER DID SPRAYING, CHICKENS AND PIGS DIE

Hastings, Ia., May 26.—Recently there appeared a stranger southeast of Hastings soliciting the work of renovating hen houses and pig pens in order to kill vermin. He prevailed on Mr. and Mrs. Hamer Smith to let him renovate their hen houses and to spray some young pigs. The spray was applied and the man went away. The next day 100 of the Smith chicks were dead and soon after five pigs, a fortnight old, were dead. Besides this misfortune, Mr Smith has 30 pigs made blind by the spray.

FIX PRICE OF WATER PLANT AT DES MOINES

Des Moines, Ia., May 26.—The Des Moines Water company has made the city of Des Moines a formal offer of sale of all of its holdings here, including 408 acres of land. The price fixed by the company is $3,450,000. Municipal ownership of the water works has been pending for several years and the purchase at this time has been made possible by the acts of the last general assembly in legalizing an election held here, at which election the proposal to buy the water works carried.

CLEANS UP BUSINESS IN AUTO DEPARTMENT

Des Moines, Ia., May 26.—Checks and money orders, some of them as old as 1916 and 1917, sent into the automobile department at the state house by persons who subsequently changed their address without notice are being converted into cash and placed in the treasury by E. H. Hoyt, state treasurer, temporarily in charge of the department.

The checks will amount to several hundred dollars, according to Mr. Hoyt. The money he said, belongs to the state since the applicant was undoubtedly operating a car pending receipt of his license.

FARMERS UNANIMOUS FOR REPEAL OF LAW

George Ia May 26 County Agent Beckhoff has submitted signatures of 1,600 farmers, business men and laborers who favor the early repeal of the "Daylight Saving" law.

That the "Daylight Saving" law is much in disfavor is evidenced by the quick response of people to sign petitions, caused to be circulated a few weeks ago, urging its early repeal. Out of over 1,500 signatures that have been returned to the office of the county agent only three favored the new time.

IOWA OSTEOPATHS ELECT NEW OFFICERS

Des Moines, Ia., May 26.—Dr. C. J. Christensen, of Keokuk, was elected to head the Iowa Osteopath Association at the concluding session Friday. Other officers are Dr. W. C. Gordon, Newton first vice president. Dr. Mary E. Golden Des Moines second vice president. Dr. T. B. Larabee of Webster City, secretary. Dr. L. O. Thompson of Red Oak treasurer.

DES MOINES STRIKERS MAY RETURN TO WORK

Des Moines Ia., May 26.—Des Moines' 5,000 building trades craftsmen who struck eight weeks ago probably will return to work Monday. When builders and employes went to conference at 10 o'clock this morning, only one question remained to be settled.

Both sides agreed a settlement is likely before night.

CLEAR LAKE.—Clear Lake is having so much inquiry for places to house the summer residents, that the Commercial Club and the city council have approved the plan of A. B. Hunkins, of the Mason City Tent and Awning Company to erect a tent city to take care of the large crowds of people who give evidence of coming to the lake this summer.

A British chamber of commerce has been established in Cologne and includes representatives of 70 firms.

DENISON.—Crawford county will have a boys' judging team at the coming state fair. To prepare for the team there is to be a gathering of boys between the ages of 14 and 18 at the court house Saturday. An automobile trip will be made to a number of stock farms and the boys will be given a chance to judge.

SALIX.—Rev. J. E. Hall recently returned from France, received an enthusiastic welcome here when he appeared to deliver the last sermon address at the high school auditorium at exercises. Mr. Hall, who left this vicinity pastorate here for service with the Y. M. C. A. in France, has accepted a charge at Merrill

SUFFRAGE LEADER TO AID DEMOCRATS

Miss Anna B. Lawther, of Dubuque, Gets Important Place on Party's National Committee.

Dubuque, Ia., May 24.—Miss Anna B. Lawther, of this city, has been made associate member for Iowa on the women's bureau of the national democratic committee.

Announcement of the fact has been made by W. W. Marsh, of Waterloo, treasurer of the committee.

Miss Lawther has long been at the head of the woman suffrage organization in Iowa, and was leader in the movement to secure suffrage at the primary election in Iowa next year.

APPEALS CASE WHICH INVOLVES 25 CENTS

Newton, Ia., May 24.—The first case to be appealed to any superintendent of Jasper county in the last 21 years came up here when the Rev. Paul Trager, pastor of the German church of Baxter, tried to break the monotony by appealing a 25-cent decision of the Baxter school board, which, he said, he complied with under protest.

A misdemeanor by several pupils which implicated Gertrude, 11-year-old daughter of the Rev. Mr. Trager, was settled by the school superintendent so a 25-cent assessment should be paid by each pupil for damage done to school property. All but Gertrude complied with the punishment. The affair was then taken up by the school board, which sustained the decision of the superintendent. When the Rev. Mr. Trager still refused to pay his daughter's part of the damage the child was suspended, later being reinstated when Mr Trager paid because of pleas of the child to return to school.

ESCAPING GAS IN BATH ROOM CAUSED DEATH

Glidden, Ia., May 24.—Glidden friends of Lieut. Oscar Holden, who have just returned from Ames where they attended the burial of their former neighbor in Glidden, tell of the tragic death of young Holden. He had lighted the gas heater in the bath room and had gone to his own room to disrobe while the water was heating, and evidently was overcome by escaping gas a short time after his return to the bath room. Circumstances indicated he had tried to shut off the gas and had failed.

CONGRESS IS URGED TO MAINTAIN PROHIBITION

Fort Dodge, Ia., May 24.—The Congregational conference of Iowa in annual session here today passed resolutions urging congress to maintain war time prohibition until the constitutional amendment will go into effect. Two hundred and eighty ministers from all over the state unanimously voted in favor of the resolution. The conference closes tonight. Iowa City gets the 1920 convention.

HIS OLD LETTERS GAVE HER DIVORCE

Anita, Ia., May 24.—After 20 of his letters had been read to a jury in district court Lyell P. Hadley, druggist here, withdrew opposition to his wife's divorce action.

Her attorneys had 40 more of the letter when Hadley gave up.

He had said that he had been coerced into marrying her.

The letters were rich and rare.

DES MOINES BANDIT TOOK SHOT AT BROTHER

DES Moines Ia., May 24.—A running revolver battle with four policemen Raymond Castelline 17 years old, one of the "baby bandits" surrendered to officers in a basement on the east side. Young Castelline drew a revolver and fired six times at his brother, Patrolman Paul Castelline when the latter accosted him. All the shots went wide of the mark.

GRAND JURY EXPECTED TO GET QUICK ACTION

Des Moines Ia., May 24.—The Polk county grand jury will make its report today in the case of Charles Walker, who confessed slaying Mrs. Lizzie Coppock at her home near Akeny about 10 days ago. Walter also confessed several thefts and an assault on a Des Moines girl more than a year ago.

DES MOINES BOILERMAKERS GO OUT ON STRIKE

Des Moines Ia., May 24.—Twenty-five boilermakers, members of the Brotherhood of Boilermakers and Iron Shipbuilders are on strike here. The men ask 90 cents an hour and an eight-hour day with a half day Saturday. They have been getting 68 cents an hour for a nine-hour day. Three shops are affected.

SAC CITY.—Cleo McKeever 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. McKeever lies in a critical condition at the home of his parents suffering with concussion of the brain as a result of an accident Monday evening when he was thrown from a horse he was riding.

KEOKUK.—Ray "Red" Allen, a negro, was sentenced to 20 years in the penitentiary for burglary. This is the heaviest sentence ever imposed here for that crime. He pleaded guilty to the charge.

MACKDONIA.—This section of the state is becoming wild again. Last week several foxes were caught east of town and are now being kept in a steel granary on Jim Henry's farm.

DES MOINES.—Betsy Smith, sent to Anamosa reformatory from Polk county in 1891, after conviction of the murder of her husband, Michael Smith, has been discharged from parole. She was paroled a year ago. She intends to go to California to live with a daughter. Mrs. Smith, who always maintained her innocence, was convicted after a sensational trial.

MASON CITY.—Three Iowa cement mills, two of which are located at Mason City and one at Des Moines, produced 5,316,[illegible] barrels of cement in 1918. This is a decrease in production of 1,6 per cent over the total in 1917.

FINALLY DISSOLVE OLD PARTNERSHIP

Cunningham & Gray, of Blencoe, Ia., Engaged In Land Business For Thirty-six Years.

Blencoe, Ia., May 23.—With the sale of 480 acres of land for a consideration of $60,000 Cunningham & Gray concluded a partnership which has been in existence for exactly 36 years.

In May, 1883, Samuel Cunningham and Angus O. Gray started in the hardware, lumber and grain business in Blencoe.

Mr Cunningham came from Ireland in 1869 and settled near Onawa. He farmed for a time. Angus O. Gray came to the county from London, Ont., Canada in May, 1871. With his parents he drove overland from Illinois. For several years he taught school.

Soon after the formation of the partnership Cunningham & Gray bought land near Blencoe. These holdings gradually increased until they held approximately 1,200 acres. Five years ago they sold a half section. Three years ago they disposed of another quarter. A year ago they sold another quarter section.

One tract of 60 acres sold by them 15 years ago is now valued at $300 per acre. It was sold then for $40 per acre.

In the early days the firm sold lumber to builders for miles around. In 1900 they sold the lumber business and quit buying grain. In 1901 Mr Cunningham disposed of his interests in the hardware business to Mr Gray's brother, Dan Gray. The firm of Gray Bros. sold the hardware business five years ago.

Mr Cunningham has valuable holdings of land in Alberta, Canada. Mr Gray has other land interests near here. They will both continue to reside in Blencoe.

CARNIVAL GRAFTER WAS TAKING NO CHANCES

Muscatine Ia. May 23. "Game of chance? Whatdya mean? How do you get that way? I'm taking no chances and the public hasn't a chance in the world."

So stated the operator of one of the numerous stands at the carnival grounds where one might donate a dime to the cause and receive an alleged opportunity to win some article conspicuously and alluringly displayed in an interview with Sheriff Wiley Saturday.

Walking up to one of the stands the sheriff asked the proprietor of the affair if he was not conducting a gambling enterprise. He was greeted with a stare of blank amazement.

"Gambling?" the operator exclaimed. "I should say not. There's no gambling here."

"But haven't you a game of chance here?" the sheriff persisted."

Evidently appreciating the virtue of frankness, the operator answered in a manner which both surprised and amused the officer.

"It certainly is not a game of chance," he said. "The public hasn't a chance in the world and you can bet I'm taking no chances."

The operator together with others who conducted similar "swindles" were ordered to close shop.

IOWA SUPREME COURT HANDS DOWN DECISIONS

Des Moines, Ia., May 23.—The Iowa supreme court has rendered the following decisions:

Central City Savings Bank vs. Snyder et al; appellant's Linn county; affirmed.

Tetzloff appellan vs. May administrator et al; Floyd county; appeal dismissed.

McCabe, trustee vs. Flanagan; appellant Dubuque county; affirmed.

Sprague Warner & Co. appellant vs. Iowa Mercantile Company, Linn county; reversed and remanded.

King vs. C. R. I. & P. Railway Co.; Jackson county; affirmed.

State of Iowa ex rel appellant vs. Crow et al; Warren county; reversed.

Shortell et al vs. Des Moines Electric Company; Polk county; affirmed.

Hall vs. Jones et al; appellants; probate court of Perry; modified and affirmed on condition.

C. & N. W. Railway Co. vs. Board of Supervisors of Harrison county et al; appellants; Harrison county; affirmed.

In re will of Byrne; Byrne et al vs. Byrne et al; Pocahontas county; reversed and remanded.

Peninsular Bank of Ironton vs. Citizens National Bank of Knoxville; Marion county; affirmed.

Potts vs. Varney; appellant; Butler county; reversed.

Winnebago State Bank vs. Davidson et al; Winnebago county; affirmed.

Crawford appellant vs. City of Walnut; Madison county; affirmed.

Risser vs. Larre et al; Polk county; rehearing overruled.

Rowe vs. United Commercial Travelers Association; Polk county; reversed and remanded.

DIVORCED WIFE OF SOLDIER SHOOTS SELF

Council Bluffs, Ia., May 23.—Mrs. Oliver Kubby of Omaha formerly living at Missouri Valley shot herself three times in the house and may be fatally wounded. She met her divorced soldier husband at the soldiers' reception and after dancing several times with him at the coliseum the two walked out and toward the residence section talking over their troubles. In front of former Mayor Rohrer's home the young woman stopped and fired the shots.

WATERLOO.—Horace Henry Witt, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Witt, Reinbeck, died at the Presbyterian hospital, the result of injuries received Sunday afternoon. A workman, who had been fixing some machinery in the yard where the child was playing, drove into the field with a manure spreader. The child followed and when the man saw the mis-

MAPLETON.—The body of Percy Turner, 24 years old, who was drowned in the Little Sioux river near Mapleton Sunday has been taken to Elk Point S. D. for burial. He was subject to epileptic fits and is believed to have been suffering from this cause when he was drowned as the body was found in shallow water by a brother.

Great Britain desires the [illegible] of the Turkish empire be preserved, in order to avoid religious [illegible] such as might be brought about [illegible] Mussulman dissatisfaction, [illegible]

Training Little Children

Suggestions by mothers who have been kindergartners. Issued by The United States Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C., and The National Kindergarten Association, New York, N. Y.

By MRS. CHARLES R. LONG.

WHAT are the qualities that make a person "livable with," as we say?

Is not the fundamental one respect for our own rights and for the rights of others? And is not one side of the question equally as important as the other?

If my child must respect certain rights and privileges which belong to me as a parent, then I must respect rights and privileges that belong to him.

One of the first marked traits a child develops as soon as he is able to play with others is wanting to have things for his very own. He quickly learns the "mine" and "thine" of things and especially the "mine." It is my book, my rattle, my ball, and great is the uproar when he is requested to share his property rights with another. At this early stage mothers are often given to discouragement and make such [illegible] as "I do not know what I shall do with my boy. I fear he has an extremely selfish disposition. He refuses to let any other child so much as touch any of his playthings." But, wait, dear mother, remember that instincts are crude when they first appear and must be wisely and patiently trained.

Let us first respect the child's rights and say, "Yes, it is your ball, but won't you let your little friend play with it?"

By following this method we shall find the child becoming more and more aware of his playmate's as well as his own rights. He will share his favorite blocks with another because some grown-up in authority says, "You must," but voluntarily because he respects the rights of another to share in his play. The idea does not formulate itself in his little mind in so many words perhaps, but it is the response that follows from instinctively recognizing that he is being given his due and that it pays to mete out like measure to another.

The general idea of the kindergarten is not [illegible] that—the recognition of the individual having rights and of training this individuality, allowing it to express itself [illegible]

Of necessity this expression must be guided and guarded, so that the best qualities of self find the richest expression. Children are quick to accept the standards of living that are privileged to set them, quick to respond to the frown or the smile and slow to question where they are accustomed to receive justice.

At no time of life so much as in childhood is the opportunity [illegible] to bring out and establish traits of character that make for a strong manhood or womanhood.

One of the greatest opportunities within reach of all mothers is the medium of story-telling. [illegible] interest children enormously, giving the entire attention for the time being. They establish a bond of real sympathy between the story-teller and the listener. They [illegible] lessons of bravery, unselfishness, [illegible] and a regard for truth, with [illegible] incoming effort in those directions. They also develop the imagination. When we stop to think that every invention we have, every great accomplishment, was first developed in some individual mind through the power of the imagination, we will do everything we can to foster this power in our children.

Every child who has the opportunity of attending a well-organized kindergarten has a distinct advantage over one who is denied such opportunity. While the kindergarten idea may to some extent be carried out by the mother in the home, additional training is afforded the child by coming in contact with groups of children of similar ages and by spending two or three hours daily under the guidance of the trained worker, whose efforts are all directed at developing what is brightest and best in his unfolding life.

Please pass this article on to a mother and thus help Uncle Sam reach all mothers of the country.

What America Gets Out of It.

From the Chicago News.

People who are studying the rearranged physical balance of the world and asking what America gets out of this war might find satisfactory answer by considering what the settlements would have been if America had not entered the war.

For one thing, German militarism would have triumphed and the world would not now be safe for democracy—and America's existence depends upon democracy. For another thing, America would have had the enmity of the world, whereas it now has the friendship of the greater part of the world.

America's hand to a great extent wrote the peace terms, though the famous 14 points may have been somewhat blunted to survive to form a very formidable picket fence about a new and wonderful crop of human rights. No marauder will lightly undertake to tear them down.

The conscience of the world is aroused, its ideals are lofty because of America's participation in the war and its underwriting victory for the freedom loving peoples. These spiritual assets are not vague nothings in material affairs. This is clear when one considers their inevitable effects upon human relationships. The war and the peace terms have brought remote people together upon a common basis of understanding, and that understanding is largely of American origin.

The Illinois legislature has directed that the week beginning May 11 is to be known as Health Promotion week, and has directed the people under the guidance of the state board of health to put their premises in order.

The cleanliness of the army camps has given some people a "honing" to go and do likewise. The state director general quotes a soldier as saying: "We found out a lot of things about health in the army that we didn't know before. It's a cinch that every returned soldier will help your local committees in every way they can. If every man and woman in America could spend a little time in any army camp they'd know a lot more about preventing disease than they do now."

One object of Health Promotion week is to clean up enough to meet army standards. A "spotless town" for 52 weeks in the year would mean less typhoid, fewer sick babies, but that is too much to hope for at the first try. A spotless town for one week goes more than one fiftieth of the way toward the goal. The effect on the community will last a long time after May 11. It will be felt by the prevalence [illegible] of cases which have no direct relation to dirt and garbage.

The cleanup campaign is only a part of the promotion week. The returning soldiers and sailors know a lot about health. They know how to do the stunt and they are interested in the subject. They are to have an opportunity to tell the people at home what it was the soldiers did to keep well, and how the home folks can accomplish the same end.

We get a little careless and indifferent. One tendency is to get a little sloppy. Health Promotion week will cause us to tighten up a bit. And the best way to begin is by sweeping one's own doorstep—in some case, literally; in others, figuratively.

Following an annual custom, the graduating class at Princeton has been asked for individual preference in literature and the three favorite novels of the graduating men on record as being [illegible] Two Years Before the Mast, and The Three [illegible]

Germany Will Survive.

From the San Francisco Chronicle.—The present German government, is the result of a popular vote of all German citizens of lawful age at an election whose fairness has never been disputed, and that government is entitled to represent and bind the people of the entire German empire as it existed at the outbreak of war.

British [illegible] were active against the Bolsheviki for [illegible] feet [illegible] were [illegible] with a flying patrol which [illegible] through [illegible] enemy-occupied [illegible] of Tulgas and destroyed dumps and an ammunition [illegible]

Nurse's Buddies By and By.

From the Stars and Stripes.

We hate to talk about ourselves. We do, for a fact, despite the [illegible] national willingness of the American [illegible] make known to the world the [illegible] America. "When it comes to hand[illegible]rels to our esteemed contemporaries, we do it gladly but where the A.E.F. is concerned we maintain a modest reticence.

Perhaps that is why the deeds of army nurses have not been duly chronicled in these columns. We have no compliments—every one of them well deserved—to the Red Cross, to the Y. M. C. A. workers, to all those noble women who have sacrificed the comforts of home, a precarious existence in a foreign land in wartime, and to whom we refer as [illegible]

But of the army nurse we have little. Like the doughboy she is there for her hit. She came into the game without desire for reward. She has rolled up her sleeves and toiled along. In short, she is one of us.

When everything is over and the inevitable fireside stories are born, there will come a time when the returned soldier will be recounting his experiences and the girl who has been sitting quietly will say, "Why I was there, too. I was an army nurse."

And then the man who went [illegible] will stretch forth his hand and say, "Shake, Buddy."

That is worth while.

When Capital Has No Wa

From the Scientific Americ

Sixty cents for a lower berth sleeping car from New York to Chicago would be a bit more reasonable than present rates, wouldn't it? asks a merchant from South Africa during a visit to the United States. The charge over a similar distance from Cape Town to Johannesburg, in that country, it covers bedding as well as transportation. Journey, regardless of length. Our dining cars, too, offer a greater variety of food at much lower prices than those in America. Cars operated from one terminal to another are attached to or uncoupled from the regular trains at junction points. The government of the Union of South Africa controls 9,500 miles of railways and derives a profit from [illegible]

By Harry Lauder.

[illegible] New York Wo[illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] will be created by King [illegible] next distribution of birthday honors. Recipients of three rewards [illegible] decorations during the war will receive a different attach than to the [illegible] knighthood to be bestowed on Harry Lauder. Probably a music hall favorite known only for his clever knack of rendering Scotch ballads and telling funny stories was not the man most people would have singled out for such honor through war service. But as a matter of fact there were few better British[illegible] than Lauder. He put his services to a use [illegible] effective use and [illegible] country with an earnestness [illegible] well deserving of the honor [illegible]

PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

...from the countless preparations ...which are confidently recommended for the purpose of making ...nerve force, developing arms, neck ...and replacing ugly hollows and ...by the soft curved lines of health ...there are evidently thousands ...and women who keenly feel their ...thinness.

...and weakness are usually due ...and nerves. Our bodies need more ...than is contained in modern ...Physicians claim there is nothing ...supply this deficiency so well as ...phosphate known among druggists ...nitro-phosphate, which is said by most all druggists ...to be a source of satisfaction or money ...feeding the nerves directly and ...the body cells with the nourishing ...food elements, nitro-phosphate ...usually produces a welcome transformation ...in the appearance; the increase ...frequently being astonishing, ...and weight also carries with it ...improvement in the health, ...sleeplessness and lack of ...nearly always accompany ...thinness, soon disappear, dull ...bright, and pale cheeks glow ...with the beauty of perfect health. ...Although nitro-phosphate ...is used for relieving nervousness, ...and general weakness, it ...owing to its remarkable flesh-producing properties, is used by anyone ...desire to put on flesh.

Looked Like Melodrama.

Lewis Waller was playing ...Surface in "The School for ...unfortunately stumbled ...making his entrance, and ...hand was thrust into a pot ...paint, with which a scenic artist ...been retouching some of the ...There was no time to lose, ...Waller walked on the stage ...his hand apparently dripping ...gore, as from some hideous ...The audience imagined the actor ...injured himself, until his unquenchable mirth reassured them.

Whence "Dutch."

...name Dutch is derived from ...meaning the vernacular, as ...from Latin. It is the ...word as the German Deutsch. ...belongs to the Frankish division ...the Low German, and is closely ...to the Flemish, with which it ...practically identified in its written ...The Dutch language is one ...Germanic group of dialects, and ...tically the same in its structure.

On the Reservation.

...Injun smoke the pipe of peace ...calumet?"

...of date, my dear fellow," replied the Carlisle graduate. "But ...mind having a cigarette."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

...that comes after sees with more than his own.

BRACE UP!

...man or woman with weak kidneys is half crippled. A lame, stiff ...with its constant, dull ache and ...shooting twinges, makes the simplest task a burden. Headaches, dizzy ...urinary disorders and an "all out" feeling are daily sources of ... Don't neglect kidney weakness ...risk gravel, dropsy or Bright's ... Get a box of Doan's Kidney ... They have helped people ...near you.

An Iowa Case

...J. Severine, ...nurse, 1619 ...Ave., Council ...Iowa, says: "I ...used Doan's Kidney ...for a lame ...back and ...symptoms of ...kidneys and ...given me ...excellent relief ...benefit has ...I advise any-...suffering from ...disorders to ...Doan's Kidney ...

...Pills. For sale at any Store, 60c a Box.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

...BURN CO., BUFFALO, N. Y.

SOUTH WALES INFORMATION BUREAU

...30 Broadway, New York City ...to and Government Bulletins ...Inquiries regarding ...Stock raising, fruit ...Investment in New South Wales ...

AUSTRALIA

KODAKS Films and Photo Supplies

Finishing for Amateurs

Enlarging

Prices on application.

...EASTMAN KODAK CO. ...Main St., Sioux City, Iowa

SPORTS Everything for the Sportsman and Athlete

Ask for Catalogue

...Street, SIOUX CITY, IOWA

...Don't Operate—Get Dr. ...Gastro Preparations (pain-...). Used over 30 yrs. The ...Co., Dep. 7, Seneca Falls, N.Y.

Put Glass Pickle Dishes

...your friends give you ...ents enough to start you ...in good shape. ...to be a little awk-...trying to serve roast ...cabbage in pickle ...dishes, we can manage it."

...fear of prosperity should ...baseless calamity hunters.

Your Eyes Need Care

...Eye Remedy

It Had to Be Done.

Being Just One More Reason Why the World Must Have an Effective League of Nations That Will Force Maintenance of Peace by Its Potential Strength.

From the Springfield Republican.

One of the most interesting parts of Lloyd George's speech was something not said by him. He had been relating with pathos how in Vienna two British soldiers tossed a biscuit to a hungry child; 100 hungry children appeared from nowhere, swarming like birds and "it was with difficulty these two British soldiers escaped with their lives." "The blockade," put in a member of the house of commons, and was at once suppressed by cries of "Order." England is very sensitive just now about the blockade. Even navalists are a little reluctant to press the claim that sea power won the war, and a British naval commission visiting Hamburg and other ports declared that little could be seen to suggest that the people were hungry. When General Plumer bluntly told Paris that his troops could not stand seeing the Germans starved, a bishop wrote a deprecatory letter to the Times, saying that he had been in the occupied zone and had dined very well there. Winning the war by blockading the continent is a very different matter from what it was a century ago, and there is natural reluctance to see the connection between the blockade and [illegible] spreading over Europe.

The Process of Democracy.

From the Milwaukee Journal.

It is the peculiar merit of Anglo-American democracy that it is constantly reordering its house to meet new needs and conditions and this it does without tearing down the house or changing its architecture. Democracy exists to secure the rights and further the development of the individual. It does not consciously foster privilege and special benefit, but on the contrary yields to the pressure of those who for any reason suffer from injustice and extends its protection to them.

Democracy is a process of [illegible] so gradually does the process move on that great changes come about without our really knowing what they are and how significant they are. Years afterward when the historian recounts the events of a period we begin to realize that what took place was epoch making in its effect.

We talk glibly of democracy as if it were some concrete, permanent institution whose lines had been laid down for all time. We're realizing that since it has to do with the lives of human beings that are constantly developing new wants and aspirations the process of democracy must somehow extend itself to satisfy those wants and aspirations.

There is room for everybody in a democracy because democracy believes that every man and woman and child be they ever so humble in origin, have possibilities and therefore that the opportunities for all to grow and develop and make the most of themselves must always be open and free.

The aim of democracy is that no one shall be possessed of privileges that do not belong to him. When in a democracy privileges do fall into the hands of a few with resulting social injustice the remedy is not to lop off the privileged and destroy democracy's reasons to broaden the basis of privilege so that all who have merit or service to their credit shall share therein.

We shall be wise in these days of trial and travail as we realize that what we have, imperfect though it is, has yet so many possibilities of development in it that it cannot be thrown away. The road over which we have come to this point has been too long, the toil of travel too great for us to say, "all has been in vain."

THE OLD BROWN SUIT

From the Providence Journal.

"Hey, Bill, look at George over there on the pier, he's still wearing the old brown suit and tie," one New Bedford soldier shouted at a buddy, and in a few minutes some intimate conversation was being exchanged between the three.—Associated Press report of the arrival of the Mongolia.

George has been wearing the old brown suit and tie for the last two years. That is one way he has helped to make the world safe for democracy. He has subscribed for Liberty bonds so far as he could, has planted a war garden, has kept his expenditures down, and so he feels that the suit and tie are badges not of disgrace but of honor. We don't know George's age, but we suppose he was beyond the draft limit in '17, or perhaps he has weak eyes. But we like the little human touch in the homecoming soldier's exclamation. George was wearing his old brown suit and tie when he went down to see the Mongolia come in just as so many of the rest of us are wearing our old suits and ties even on ceremonial occasions and for the same reasons.

Farmer Needs Soldier Sons

From the Syracuse Post Standard.

There is no surplus of labor for farm work, there is the usual shortage. The farmer or the farmer's son or the farmer's hired man who is in the army won't have to look for a job when he gets home. His job is not only waiting for him but it is worried for fear that he won't get back in time to make the best use of it.

The present is the time to return farmers to the farm if they are to contribute to the volume of food production for the year. The farmer in camp is an expense to the government and a total loss to industry. The farmer on the farm is an asset of great value, for, as Hoover figures it, the world is going to need about all American farms can produce this year as it did last, for Europe is still ratheved further, the man who has worked on a farm is worth several who have had no experience.

The Oldest Horse

From the Los Angeles Times.

Every now and then the death of the oldest horse in the world will remind people of an animal that once had a notable place in history. The other day there passed away in a little New Hampshire town a sturdy equine of the strain of Morgan at the advanced age of 43 years. This was a notable achievement in itself for horses who have attained 30 years are few and far between and so far as known 37 years is about the greatest age a horse has ever reached. When these Wild West pictures wane there won't be much use for a horse and another generation will find them tenderly pastureized and cared for as curiosities. They will be suffered to grow old gracefully and none but the very rich can afford to drive them for pleasure. Some genius now living may endure long enough to pen the epic of the last horse in the world. Meanwhile the oldest horse in the world will be passing away at intervals and his death will be a matter for the attention of the press.

"Trotsky occupies the czar's train as his headquarters, while Lenine stays in Moscow," says a correspondent in Russia. All women are in rags. In the case of the higher social ranks this is necessary as a protection against the bolshevists.

Trust Uncle Sam.

From the Los Angeles Times.

Likewise if the Albanians are to have a guardian they seem to prefer an Uncle Sam to a Garibaldi. So far America is wanted as mandatory for Albania and Armenia, which is a pretty good start on the alphabet. We may get down to Zanzibar before we get through. This will give Senator Reed a chance to beat his breast and exclaim, I told you so. But after all, isn't it good business as well as practical humanity to have a reputation for justice and fairness that impels straggling or struggling nations to place their trust in Uncle Sam?

TAKE THE LOAN

Come, fair maids of the land,
Come, meet the present demand,
Take heart and open hand
Take the loan!
For the foes our fathers saw,
In the war our brothers draw,
For liberty's cause
Take the loan!

Ye ladies of the land,
As ye love the gallant band,
Who have drawn a soldier's hand,
Take the loan!
Who would bring them what she could,
Who would give the soldier food,
Who would staunch her brother's blood,
Take the loan!

All who saw her hosts pass by
All who joined the parting cry,
When we bade them do or die,
Take the loan!
As ye wished their triumph then,
As ye hope to meet again,
And to meet their gaze as men,
Take the loan!

Who could press the great appeal
Of our ranks of serried steel,
Put your shoulders to the wheel,
Take the loan!
That our prayers in truth may rise,
Which we press with streaming eyes
On the Lord of earth and skies,
Take the loan!

Written by Edward Everett Hale in May, 1861, when the people of the United States were being urged to subscribe for United States government war bonds.

Our Few Dependent Wounded

From the New York Sun.

Of 296,289 American wounded, the almost complete total as reported the other day, we wait still to hear how many have sustained injuries serious enough to make them partly or wholly dependent upon outside support. An estimate of the Federal Board of Vocational Education sets at 2.3% the number of men who have lost one or more arms or legs. Some 726 others are reckoned to have lost feet, hands or a seriously handicapping number of fingers.

Among the amputated cases, the Board of Vocational Education holds, many but not nearly all will lose the practice of their old callings. Farmers and certain types of artisan oftener than most workers will be [illegible]ated. It is proposed to give them special training leading to self support.

No man's knows to reflect that the total of our men wounded in the war still lacks a few hundred of the total of persons injured in railway accidents in the year [illegible].

Americans All.

From the Milwaukee Journal.

A most inspiring demonstration was staged in the New York Hippodrome recently when 2,000 Americans of foreign birth or extraction and representing 14 racial divisions pledged $150,000,000 to the Victory loan.

Soldiers and sailors wearing overseas chevrons and wound stripes were everywhere in evidence. One of the most interesting events of the occasion was the presentation of 30 banners to as many racial groups in memory of their sons who had made the supreme sacrifice in the war. The delegation of citizens of German extraction, by the way, pledged $[illegible],000,000 to the Victory loan in behalf of 500,000 of their fellows of the Second federal reserve district.

Even at this distance the thrill of that occasion reaches us. Who is such a pessimist as to say that the great adventure upon which America embarked has not brought its reward home?

DEATH.

Algernon Blackwood.

Death is nothing more or less than slipping back into your own subconsciousness, and so becoming greater and freer and more active and more useful too, and with greater powers than we ever had in our physical imperfect bodies in this life. Nothing but an episode in life. Death [illegible] of reflection [illegible] That's all.

CURIOUS IDEAS ABOUT GOLF

Some of Them, That Have Been Preserved, Will Be Appreciated by Devotees of the Game.

Twenty years ago the majority of women knew nothing about golf, and many good anecdotes are still told of some of the curious ideas they had regarding the game. One lady, making sympathetic conversation at dinner, said to an enthusiastic golfer:

"I often see you in your red coat. Do you need many dogs to play golf?"

A younger lady said she knew exactly how the game was played.

"They get what they call caddies to hunt about in the grass till they find a round stone, and then they hit it into a rabbit hole."

A third lady, who had evidently enjoyed a nearer view of the game, said:

"It is played by two men. One is a gentleman and the other is a common man. The common man sticks a ball on a lump of dirt, and the gentleman knocks it off!"

The Main Point.

He—I never kissed any girl but you.
She—Never mind about your past performances. What's your intention in the future?—Boston Transcript.

The housewife smiles with satisfaction as she looks at the basket of clear, white clothes and thanks Red Cross Ball Blue. At grocers, 5c.

All are not saints who go to church, of course, and neither are all such bad sinners who don't go.

A man wastes a lot of valuable time by feeling in the wrong pocket.

Like Mother.

Mrs. Flatbush—So this is the new baby?

Mr. Bensonhurst—Yes, that's our new little angel.

"Who does the dear take after?"

"Oh, her mother. The likeness is very striking."

"I can't see it."

"Well, watch her awhile and you'll see she keeps her mouth going all the time without saying anything."—Yonkers Statesman.

Terrifying.

"A lady of forbidding countenance?"

"Yes, even the automobiles pull up when she crosses the street."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

But few people ever make their way through the world on the strength of their phrenological developments.

Kodak Finishing

Expert work. Prompt return. Special mail order department. We pay return postage. Write for price list. The Robert Dempster Co., Box 1196, Omaha, Neb.

Chicago Dye Works

823 4th STREET, SIOUX CITY

Fancy French Dry Cleaners and Dyers. Hats Cleaned & Reblocked. Dye Work given special attention.

Wanted—Co. agts. for Knoll's Karbonix, latest discovery for autos. Easy money. $7.50 doz. cans. Knoll Mfg. Co., Berwick, N. D.

RATTLE SNAKE OIL—SURE CURE FOR DEAFNESS, dryness and ringing in the head. Minnie G. Scruggs, Nesperce, Idaho.

SOIUX CITY PTG. CO., NO. 22—1919.

THE RIGHT WAY...

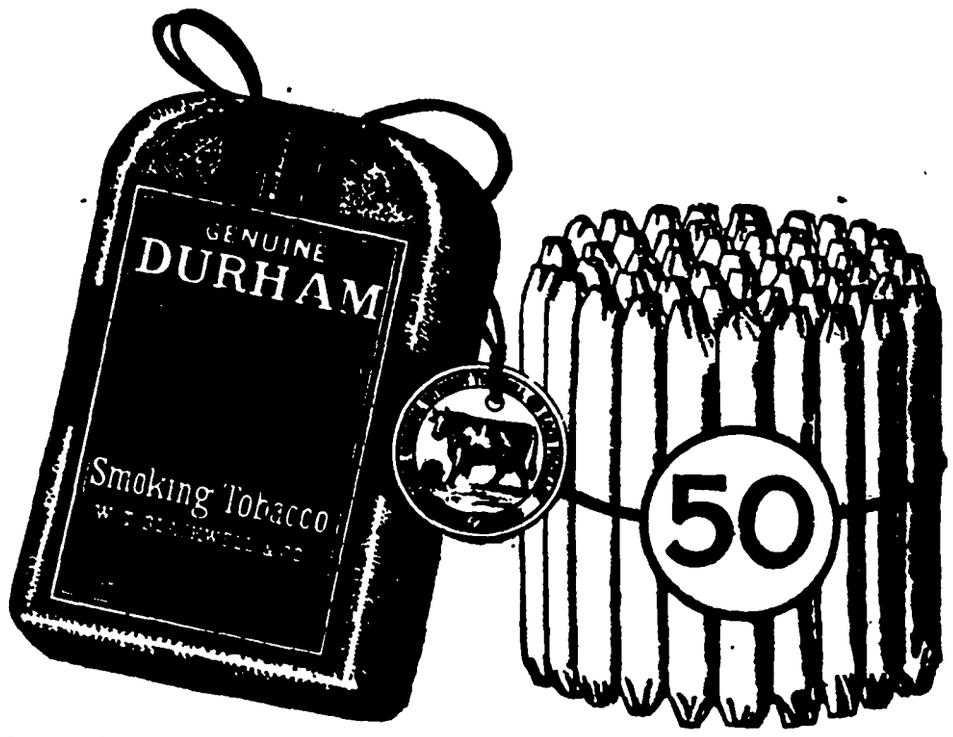
In all cases of Distemper, Pinkeye, Influenza, Colds, etc.

of all horses, brood mares, colts, stallions, is to

"SPOHN THEM"

On their tongue or in the feed put Spohn's Liquid Compound. Give the remedy to all of them. It acts on the blood and glands. It routs the disease by expelling the disease germs. It wards off the trouble no matter how they are "exposed." Absolutely free from anything injurious. A child can safely take it. Sold by druggists, harness dealers, or sent express paid by the manufacturers. Special Agents Wanted.

SPOHN MEDICAL CO., GOSHEN, IND., U. S. A.



© Guaranteed by

The American Tobacco Co.

INCORPORATED

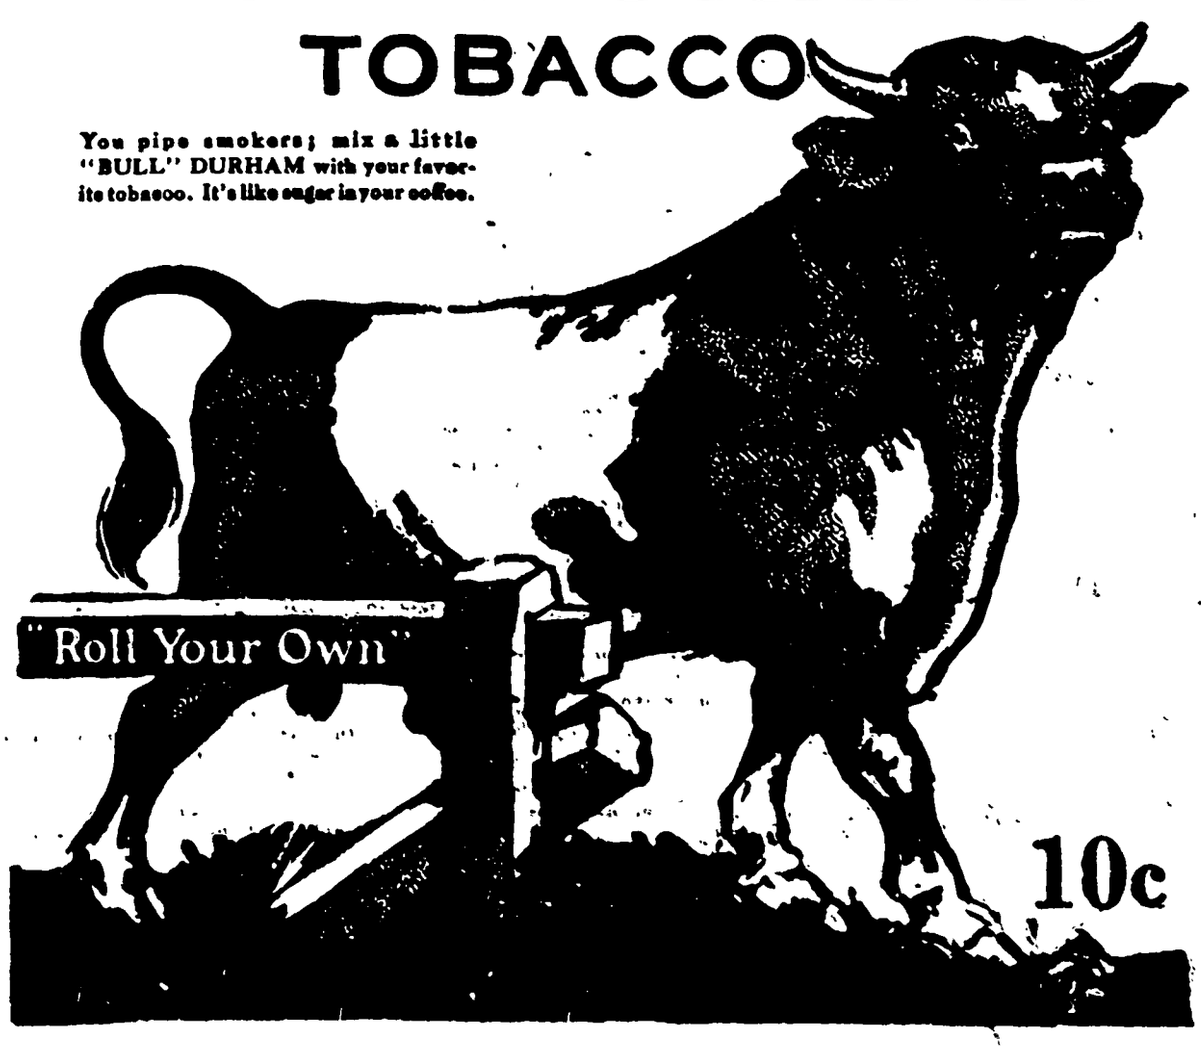
"BULL" Durham smokes; you roll them yourself from genuine "Bull" Durham tobacco; fifty from one bag.

Fifty-thrifty smokes that cost you least, and please you most. No machine can even duplicate your "own" rolled from genuine "Bull" Durham tobacco.

Good old reliable "Bull". Always genuine; since 1865 he's been everyone's friend.

GENUINE

"BULL" DURHAM TOBACCO



You pipe smokers; mix a little "BULL" DURHAM with your favorite tobacco. It's like sugar in your coffee.

I was there to make a sketch of
r. Luncheon was just over, and e was talking to a little knot of omen. The first words I heard, as lid quietly into a nearby seat, were ational Biscuit,' recalling pleas ly my own tasty Uneeda Lunch
. I liked her, and tably as she spoke again, my pe
d eart daylight, ur is just a

started us happily,
is all and made us sure they coming every day—for both know we must feed children, as we must if we would after their ways like eady to up in ent.
em
ed
e, o
of ts, eir
e hour it seem avy enough
ner, but always always dainty, al-
petizing as only National Biscuit Products can be. During the years when my babies were growing up we never missed the Children's Hour with its tasty feast.

Bringing to the door of your dining room—as close as your own kitchen—the matchless facilities of the best and most wholesome bakeries in the world. Uneeda Biscuit come to you as fresh and immaculate as when they were taken from the oven.

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

dren's Hour like a feast. For the tiny toddlers there is a varied menu, sometimes Uneeda Biscuit and milk, sometimes Graham Crackers, Oatmeal Crackers or Lunch Bisuit. This is changed on special occasions to Old Time Sugar Cook-Newtons and, rarest of ill, there are days when we had ce cream and Nabisco, and those were our party days.

angements Have Been Made for at Will Probably Be One of the Best Pig Club Events Ever Held in C

[illegible] Made for [illegible] in this work. They [illegible] loan the boys money to [illegible] essary. Each mem-
[illegible] will [illegible] be at [illegible] Garrett. A prize will [illegible] a free trip to the [illegible] show at Cedar Rapids
[illegible] that wins for the [illegible] will compete with the [illegible] the State, to de-
[illegible] Each Saturday there will [illegible] For this [illegible] of June or July. A free trip
[illegible] Moines fun will be given [illegible] of these months we [illegible] depend upon the num-
[illegible] by the first of June.

[illegible] and regulations
[illegible] certificates, and [illegible] can be obtained from t of [illegible] who has charge of have most fat [illegible] started. Every boy between the ages
Fat boy may secure [illegible] of 12 and 18 inclusive, should write [illegible] arrangements to enter
The prizes are well
for [illegible] club was won by City, who with winners of the a trip to Chicago expenses paid.
[illegible] taken first [illegible]
a good long thrifty pi put on rapid gains
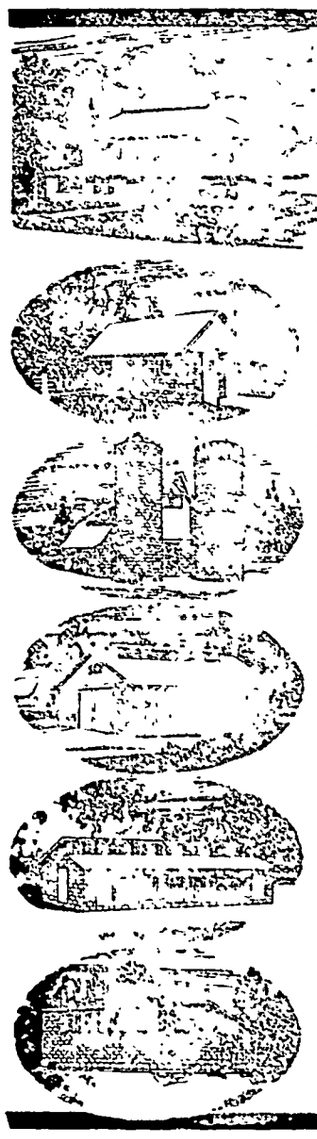
[illegible] would like to have
[illegible]



Build with AMERICAN TILE
Save money

YOU can build your New Home, Garage, Barn, Hog House, Poultry House, Silo, Granary or other buildings of American Tile for Less Money than it would cost to build of wood and you will have permanent improvements, that require no painting or other expense of upkeep. The double hollow walls of American Tile buildings are fire-proof and damp proof—warmer in Winter and cooler in Summer—more comfortable and healthful.

More Money Made With a Silo

40% of the corn crop is wasted when left in the field. A Silo will enable you to save all the crop. It will supply you with Summer pasture the year around.

Beef cattle fed ensilage make bigger gains and milk cows produce more. Many Silo owners say their silos more than earned their cost the first year.

AMERICAN FLINT TILE SILOS

Are built with curved hollow "Flint Tile" Blocks—steel reinforced between every tier. Special construction. The American way is stronger. Absolutely guaranteed to stand any windstorm—CYCLONES AND TORNADOES INCLUDED. Last for generations. Keep ensilage better. Cost less than cement or wood. Thousands in use.

Fill Your Silo With a Climax Cutter

Guaranteed to cut more ensilage and better ensilage with less power than any other cutter. FREE BOOK. Write today for free illustrated book of Silos, Building Tile, Elevators, Ensilage Cutters, Manure Spreaders and Auto Trailers, or get one from our representative, whose name is given below.

W. W. Coates Company

SCHEE BUILDING, DES MOINES, IA.
Sioux City Omaha Denver St. Louis
Kansas City Oklahoma City

Elmer Ludeke

Agent Klemme, Iowa

GREAT EVENT FOR MOSLEMS

Gala Day When the "Procession of the Holy Carpet" Leaves Cairo for City of Mecca.

Always picturesque, Cairo is never more fascinating than during the "Procession of the Holy Carpet." In the bazaars we watch the barefooted workmen embroidering, holding the cloth in their toes, which appear to be prehensile, or watch them go to the nearest mosque to bathe five times a day. As many times a day also from the minarets of mosques the muezzins are reminding the natives of the approaching festival, and that "God is great, there is no God but God, and Mohammed is his prophet. Come to Prayer."

Howling dervishes are dancing in the mosque near the Square of Sutten Hasan, while devout Moslems are engaged in eventide prayer on their housetops. Water carriers are on the way to the yellow Nile for water, or are bearing wine in their goatskins the same as in Biblical times, while aged men in the mosques are appareled exactly as in Abraham's day.

The streets are filled with soldiers, while thousands of civilians attend the ceremonial held in the sacred prophetic [illegible] in the great square near the citadel. The enclosure is a pyramidal wooden structure covered with [illegible] cloth and embla zoned with gold embroidery and quotations from the Koran. Here the people receive the blessings of the prophet, together with special dispensations and sacred talismans.

The khedive and his dignitaries are all present to formally start the caravan and its military escort toward Mecca in far-off Arabia. The people press forward to touch the sacred inclosure, kissing it with fervor. Women let down their shawls and face veils from the windows, as the procession at last starts. Following it are the pilgrims who will accompany the carpet to the sanctuary in the mosque at Mecca, and who will return later with the same caravan to Cairo, bearing the carpet of the previous year.

Marriage in Bulgaria.

Since Bulgaria's unconditional surrender to the allies the men of her armies have been streaming homeward and many weddings are being celebrated in consequence.

Bulgarian methods of courtship before the wedding do not differ materially from those of other nations except that the bride instead of having her trousseau carefully put away in the "hope chest," from which she only takes it for the privileged few, hangs it up on cords which are stretched across the main room of the house. Here it is viewed on the Friday [illegible] by the matrons of the town, while the bride and the maidens dance between the door and [illegible] there. The matrons have given their [illegible] of [illegible] and if it proves [illegible] the bride must [illegible] able."

Instead of rice, corn as an emblem of plenty, is showered over the bride and groom, who are escorted to their home with many ceremonies and they are virtually imprisoned within its doors.

New Uses of Raw Products.

The Weltm [illegible] to new uses of [illegible]. In Holland a useful [illegible] is made from garlic. The [illegible] pressed and the juice or [illegible] so obtained is thickened [illegible] tion. A good substitute [illegible] is obtained from certain fur[illegible] dried and ground [illegible] and consolidated by pressure. Another way a process has been [illegible] enable carbide to be used for motors. In Denmark [illegible] been floated to make [illegible] heather. These have [illegible] value than peat. Experiments are being made to use chalk marl [illegible] that which comes from the [illegible] mines, as a manure.

Typhoon Hurt Coconut Trees

The Christmas typhoon [illegible] over the southern Philippines did considerable damage [illegible] plantations. Trees especially [illegible] along the seashore [illegible] open to the wind were [illegible] down or weakened to such [illegible] that unless the affected [illegible] are cleaned up and taken care of the trees still standing are doomed but for another reason says the bureau of agriculture. The fallen trees become breeding places of all [illegible] of beetles, borers and other [illegible] destroying pests and diseases. The weakened trees, unable to fight these odds, will sooner or later succumb and thus the farmers will suffer more losses.

Got Him at Last.

He was a large, dapple-gray sensible-looking horse. It was his task to pull a baker's wagon from house to house in a district on the North side, as the driver dodged in and out of the houses with his basket of bread and cakes.

"Fritz," called out the driver as he ran down the porch steps, intending that as a notice to his faithful friend to move on down the street. The horse did not move.

"Charlie," spoke up the driver again, and the old dapple-gray stepped off promptly.—Indianapolis News.

Uncle Eben.

"Owin' to de way smarter men on I is nuss got mixed up in argu[illegible]," said Uncle Eben, "whenever anybody 'splains de league o' nations to [illegible] jes' says 'yessh' an' goes on 'bout my business."

FINDS CHILDREN AFTER LONG HUNT

Father's 22-Year Search Is Ended by a Chance Meeting With Old Friend.

MAN IS HAPPY AT LAST

For Score of Years He Wandered Over Country Looking for Children From Whom He Parted When Wife Died.

Chicago—John Corcoran is the happiest man in the United States. He has found his folks. For 22 years he has wandered over the United States and Canada looking for his children from whom he parted when their mother died and they were [illegible]. Now [illegible] them again and they [illegible]. He found them [illegible] grown [illegible] as any [illegible] [illegible].

[illegible] Corcoran [illegible] has traveled long and shook from his feet the dust of Dunnville, Ont., [illegible] had [illegible] happy. He could be happy there [illegible] Cecil to find [illegible] his young wife [illegible] with her.

Told Father Child Was Dead

[illegible]

Rushed Up to the Gates Desk

[illegible] of these [illegible] spend it.

A Friend From Dunnville

"So [illegible]" Corcoran [illegible] of the reunion. "I broke [illegible] place rushed up to the gates desk and said, 'Hello Ella. I'm your daddy.'"

This daughter is Mrs. J. H. Bleden weg. The other daughter whom the father next discovered is Miss Mary Corcoran, a nurse in the general hospital at Niagara Falls. He also found his son John Corcoran grown to manhood.

"It took a long time to find them and I'd just about given it up," the father said, "but luck came my way at last, and now I'm never going to lose them again. It's a pretty small world, after all."

Yelled for Soap One Hour.

Cleveland, O.—Cleanliness may be next to godliness, but the city does not pay firemen to be godly. Director Spresty of the fire department declares. He has fined Richard Benjamin ten days' vacation because Benjamin, he says, sat in a [illegible] station and yelled for soap for a whole hour one night. He doesn't say whether Benjamin got the soap or had to be content with a latherless scrub.

Every man who does not

Save

is in danger of depending on charity

In Old Age

If you would avoid that possibility, start an account with us today. You cannot tell when your

Earning Power Will Stop and the reserve fund of the savings account stand between you and charity.

DR. R. M. THOMAS
Veterinarian
All Calls Answered Promptly
Klemme Iowa Office and Resid[illegible] Phone

[illegible] was again out on [illegible] after being confined to the house for a couple of weeks suffering with a bad cold which later developed an abcess in his head. He went to Mason City one day last [illegible] and [illegible] Monday which he [illegible].

WANTED—Before June 5th all your [illegible] bones, hides and scrap [illegible]. Will be here after the [illegible] HENRY LAU[illegible]SON.

[illegible] nearly autoed over [illegible] Bayside last Sunday.

[illegible] people autoed [illegible] at Mason City [illegible] was ideal, being [illegible] days we have had [illegible] birds are also in [illegible].

FOR SALE—Nearly new Monarch [illegible] hole range reasonable if taken at once. Call at this office.

[illegible] and George Musfelt [illegible] visitors Saturday night. [illegible] they were there on [illegible].

Mr. and Mrs. A. Ahrnkiel, of Goodell, [illegible] Klemme relatives last Friday [illegible] and also attended the [illegible].

[illegible] and his assistant, Sam [illegible] Garner, were in Klemme [illegible] doing some electrical work. [illegible] manager of the Iowa Falls [illegible] Garner now and is an all [illegible] good man for the job.

There were quite a number of people drive from Goodell in cars to Klemme last Friday night to take in Cairns Bros. big tent show. We also noticed a number of people from near Garner who attended the show. Cairns Bros. are a good company and always attract a big crowd.

Greatness and Strength.

Greatness lies not in being strong, but in the right using of strength, and strength is not rightly used when it only serves to carry a man above his fellows for his own solitary glory.

Means Disbelief in Self.

No sadder proof can be given by a man of his own littleness than disbelief in great men.—Carlyle.

Suspicious Creature.

"A hard woman to please." "How so?" "When her husband telephones that he will be detained at the office she wants to know whose office and the nature of the detention."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

W. F. PAVE
The Practical Blacksmi[illegible]
OXY-ACETYLENE WEL[illegible]
Wagon, Buggy and Mach[illegible] Repairing
Horse Shoeing and [illegible] Work a Specialty

Col. B. A. Reemts[illegible]
General Auctione[illegible]
KLEMME IOWA
Farm and Stock Sales a Spe[illegible]
Call, write or pl[illegible]e 508 K[illegible] me for dates, terms etc
...Satisfaction Guarante[illegible]

Geo. ZINN
Physician & Surgeo[illegible]
Phone No 19 KLEMME I[illegible]
Office in Bu[illegible] East of Gruetzmac[illegible] Harness and Shoe Shop.
Eyes Tested Glasses Fit[illegible]

NEW ROCK ISLAND TIM[illegible]

	North
821, Mixed		1:3[illegible]
1069, Passenger		3:0[illegible]
435, Passenger		8:4[illegible]
	South
436, Passenger		6 17
1068, Passenger		11:25
820, Freight		12:15

What Our Heirs Think.

"Our lowest ambition should be life of ninety years," says a physician. Well, it is sort of ambition just merely to hang on.—Boston Transcript.

Homer's Fate Warning to P[illegible]

The greatest poet that ever was a blind beggar, yet when seven cities fought for the cus[illegible] his poor, old, weary bones.

Well, Many Don't Seem to H[illegible]

Robert was a thoughtful chi[illegible] was used to reasoning out the to his own questions. One day boy came in from next door. He questions continually and Robe[illegible] ly looked at him curiously an[illegible] "Haven't you a think of your o[illegible]

Rush Is On! People are buying Cars every day now.

Will You Be Next?

and an auto ride can't live together. Did you see a disgruntled continance in a motor party?

Only happiness radiates from the motorist-man, woman or child.

in for your turn next and join the throng of and contented ones who drive Overlands---90, the world's record car, ask us today.

Miles Garage
PHONE 30
YOU HAVE TRIED THE REST - NOW TRY THE BEST
KLEMME, IA

Public Sale

at'day May 31

3:00 P. M. New time

ce I intend to move from Klemme, all offer for sale, on the grounds of Reformed Church, the following ehold articles.

Cream separator, 29 chickens, bed and mattress, bureau, rocker, kitchen table, sideineas and three kitchen chairs, parlor table, clock, 3 gal. churn, express wagon and many other articles.

Wm. P. Thiel

BROS. SHOW ATTRACTS BIG CROWD

y evening was the seven- visit of the Seven Cairns to Klemme. The large was packed solid from back and from side to st crowd that has turned w in Klemme for some Bros. always attract a when they are in Klem- was the first time in the hat it did not rain while here. The "hoodoo" has ft them but they did not d took all kinds of pre- ase that it did rain again ted the highest lot that find in town so if it did would not have to take their t on boats like they did

FOR CLEAR LAKE

R. T. St. John of Rice- ant fish and game warden hern Iowa district was in Monday, superintending g of a million and a half the lake here. Mr St. John d over the proposed site for rk south of the outlet and favorably impressed with making this beauty spot

ENGLISH METHODIST CHURCH

Services next Sunday as follows:

Morning worship at 10 o'clock. Subject of sermon, "Stations of the Blessing."

The Sunday School meets immediately after the morning service.

The evening song service and sermon will be at 8:15. We hope to have some special music at each of the services. The Centenary, having reached its goal, will now be laid aside, and the regular routine taken up. All members are wished present Sunday, and all friends of the church are most cordially invited to be with us.

A. W. Barnlund, Minister

FISH HATCHERY FOR LAKE

Clear Lake Mirror: Within the next two years Clear will have a fish hatchery, so declared Col. Robt. T St John as he hoved into the city Tuesday morning. He said Clear Lake was entitled to it and he was greatly interested in our lake and people, and under the new regime more favors were going to be shown this lake. Along with it aside from the [illegible] comes purchase of a tract of land for park purposes [illegible] some fellow with a spirit of determination that spells success and having set his heart on [illegible] Clear Lake this recognition, it's a certainty

BIRDS RESCUED FROM QUICKSAND

Three Girls Dug Out by Athlete Recuperating From Influenza

[illegible]—Three [illegible] nurses at [illegible] Winfact [illegible] of Camp [illegible] recently [illegible] probability [illegible] at the resort, contracting [illegible] illness, and [illegible] might have [illegible]

Miss Helen Carr [illegible] went out along [illegible] the bluff at Willow street [illegible] quicksands abound there.

[illegible] Miss Earl Ryan heard the Sinking in Quicksand.

girls scream [illegible] started on a run to the rescue. [illegible] sank [illegible] the young women [illegible]

[illegible] of the nurses were [illegible] Miss Earl started back to Camp Lee to get help. Despite his weakened condition, he probably never did the distance in faster time.

[illegible] sands the girls were [illegible] Ryan dashed off [illegible]

CLASS EGG FATAL TO SNAKE

Pennsylvania Farmer's Wife Puts Decoy in Nest and Ends Reptile's Thefts.

New Bloomfield, Pa.—Snitzenstein's story is the story of eggs from the nest of Mrs. Thomas [illegible] last spring. [illegible] nest along Sherman's creek [illegible] the eggs began to disappear fast as fast as they were laid. Mrs. Forney [illegible] whole week [illegible] of the mystery. [illegible] large snake and [illegible] person who [illegible] And so it is [illegible] The snake was [illegible] nor disgorge [illegible] surrounding four hens [illegible]

SAVED BY RUBBER HEELS

Boy Touches Live Electric Wire Brother to Rescue With Parts of Shoes.

Chicago—Lawrence Ramm's study [illegible] electricity was not for naught. The [illegible] Ben Franklin who is twelve [illegible] his brother [illegible] two years [illegible] set with the "gang." The [illegible] were short with the "gang." The [illegible] end of a broken electric [illegible] was still charged with a strong current. With boyish curiosity John touched the wire. He could not let go. The other boys became frightened and ran. But Lawrence remained. Tearing off his rubber heels he hammered them against the wire and his brother's hand was released.

Risky Celebration

St. Louis, Mo.—A two-foot ledge extending around the tenth floor of Hotel [illegible] was selected by Ralph [illegible] of Higginsville, Ark., a discharged soldier as the place to celebrate his return to civilian life.

It took the house detective, the services of several volunteers and the pleading of anxious spectators to persuade the former soldier that he'd better come down to earth for his celebration.

Tabby Went Along

[illegible] With an eye on [illegible] light company [illegible] to Mrs. N [illegible] to inspect wires. [illegible] he went [illegible] by went with him.

NEW TEMPEST IN OLD TEAPOT

Alas, Poor Yorick! The Women Simply Go Wild About This Chicago Man.

Chicago—[illegible] drama, which moves in mysterious ways [illegible] her wonders to perform, [illegible] glamour from the third reader performed so wondrously well in the case of Yorick Owen Henry as to render him irresistible with members of the other sex.

Alas, poor Yorick! Until yesterday the historian of two adoring wives, singing in happy chorus, "Blessed Be the Tie That Binds," he found himself last night in a cell.

"I can't help it," Henry admitted, "What's a man to do? They go wild about me."

After Henry's curses on his fatal beauty had somewhat abated the reporter learned from the desk sergeant that he was charged with larceny, bigamy, and forgery; also that sometimes his name is R. J. Planer, Fred Lamonte or again Adolph Henry.

On His Honeymoon.

Last year he was employed by the Stearns & White company, wholesale chemists. He met Miss Rose Ludinger, a stenographer, married her, and [illegible] to his home, where she met the other Mrs. Henry, also the Henrys' little Henry.

The two Mrs. Henrys lived in content and comity—Mrs. Henry No. 1 even accompanying Mr Henry and Mrs. Henry No. 2 on the honeymoon trip to Peoria. About this time the Stearns & White company reported to the police the disappearance of $700 worth of chemicals. They accused Henry.

Everything would have been all right at that, because Henry was living under the name of Lamonte, but he decided to return to Chicago. He rented rooms at 10 West Grand avenue and installed his establishment.

And then the two wives quarreled. And one notified the police.

GIRL SAVES HER GARTER

Police Patrol Driver Is Given the Scare of His Life in the Rescue.

Oakland, Cal.—A garter that slipped at the wrong moment nearly wrecked Oakland's $6,000 patrol wagon!

The wagon was answering a hurry call. At Twelfth street and Broadway, in the center of the downtown district, a girl gowned in silk and furs started across the street. Half way over she halted, turned pale and made a wild clutch for her knee.

Pedestrians shouted a warning, but the girl was oblivious. She stooped over and began to fumble. The patrol wagon opened its siren, executed a fancy curve, missed the girl by an inch, careened past a telephone pole by a narrow margin and righted again.

Then only did the girl straighten up bring something blue into view and continue modestly on her way. She got the garter, but the patrol wagon driver got the scare of his life.

Ventriloquist Admits It's a True Story

Los Angeles, Cal.—"Please let me down easy, mister," came a deep voice, apparently from the casket, as Andrew J. Wilson, a negro employed by a Long Beach transfer company, was engaged with another workman in unloading at a freight station there a coffin containing a body that had been shipped to Long Beach for burial from a town in the middle West.

Wilson was just letting his end of the box down, with about two feet to go. He let it fall the two feet with a bang, and with a flying start he sprinted down the street.

Police Sergeant Clyde Allen of Long Beach, who was standing near the scene with a ventriloquist friend, vouches for the story.

The Season For

Summer Wearing Apparel

Is At Hand

Hart Schaffner & Marx

Two-Piece Suits

To Please Anyone

Panama and Straw Hats

In a Large Assortment

Get to know

Gildner Bros. & Johnson

"IOWA'S LARGEST CLOTHIERS"

The Home of Hart, Schaffner & Marx Cloths

Fourteen Stores. Garner, Iowa

Sell Your Grain To

Walter F. Lau

And receive the highest price and correct weight. Will buy Hogs every day in the week. Also handle high grade COAL. Give me a trial and I will Show you the RESULTS.

Office Phone No. 16. Residence Phone No. 52

Screen Windows and Doors

Now is the time to put up your screens if you have an odd size opening come to us we will get screens to fit in short notice. We have all size doors, but before buying a screen door ask to see our combination screen and storm door, the best door to put up in the long run.

"Everything to build Anything"

BUILD NOW

NORTHERN LUMBER CO.

N. L. PALMER, Manager

Allegorical October.

In some of the calendars of our ancient Saxon ancestors the month of October is allegorically represented by the figures of a husbandman carrying a sack on his shoulder and sowing grain. It was the sowing of the fall or winter wheat, as we call it in this country.

Real Meaning of "Salad."

Salad literally means salted and is a direct descendant of the Latin word sal, or salt. The use of "salad" to mean the greens from which or on which a salad mixture is placed is one of only recent origin. The Italian insalata and the Spanish salado, meaning salad in those languages, actually mean salted.

The Finding of Jasper Holt

BY

Grace Livingston Hill Lutz

Author of "Marcia Schuyler", "Phoebe Deane", "The Obsession of Victoria Gracen", etc.

It had not been a pleasant task. Scathlin was a foul mouthed, foul souled companion for any man to tie to, and his personal habits were anything but attractive. Time and again Holt had almost turned from his task with disgust, resolved to let his rights and all go rather than be tied to the creature another hour. Yet he had stuck to him; and now, after these many days of cunning and craftiness, of trickeries too numerous to mention, of attempted escape on Scathlin's part, after taking side trips to funerals of Scathlin's relatives who never had existed, except in imagination; visits to business men who were supposed to be hounding Scathlin to his death and yet who were never found—after all this they were on their way back to Hawk valley! Scathlin had come to the end of his money and his wits, and had been compelled to accept the escort and financial aid of Holt back to the place from which he had started, because he did not dare to do anything else This he did both on his own account and for the sake of his employers, who would not hesitate to leave him in the lurch to save themselves and who had warned him above all things not to let Holt suspect his mission with those papers to the eastern syndicate Besides there was always the hope that he might yet escape and make his way back in time to present those papers to the man whom Harrington had said would pay him a big reward for bringing them. Harrington and his men could not have done it without suspicion, but the plan was that Scathlin should profess to have found something valuable to the syndicate and be willing to sell it at a good price

It was no wonder that Scathlin's eyes had a hunted look, and his bad old face under its stubbly growth was almost pitifully desperate as he looked at the fresh face of the sweet young girl, and for the moment forgot his misery, gloating over her beauty, while Holt seemed to be engaged with the sunset view But Holt caught the gleam in his victim's eye and his heart burned hotly within him He could have crushed the creature then and there for the insolence of his gaze He could have crushed him like vermin and felt no sin All the man in him rose to resent the evil look.

"Scathlin!" His tone was cutting with command and the old man turned creasing and met the steely glance of his captor, then impatient and trembling with anger began to look again out of the window; again the crimson wrath swelled up his leathery neck and suffused his coarse features

The girl half aware of what had been going on turned and took it all in a frightened color flickering up into her cheeks Her eyes, growing large with vague horror, met Holt's steely gaze saw it change and soften reassuringly as if he were holding at bay a lowsome bloodhound and wished her to understand she need not fear. The girl threw one fleeting look of gratitude toward the young man, turned back again to her window as if nothing had happened In fact no onlooker would have suspected that anything at all had happened and yet really a little drama had been enacted and all the actors understood it as thoroughly as if it had been spoken But one word only had been audible and the girl wasn't sure she had heard that aright

The dusk dropped down and the train sped on over the plains

And now the sunset stains grew deeper and blended into gold and crimson and lifted the gray into clear opal spaces of unutterable beauty, spreading the peace of God far along horizon of the plain It was a thing to make one look in awe to hush evil thoughts and bring a holiness to hearts Something of its calm and strength crept into the girl's expression as she watched once she had turned to see if Holt was watching too But Holt was sitting facing the other way and could see only the fading trails of glory in the sky as it sped away from his gaze though he had caught the reflection of wonder from her face and averted his own eyes as if from holy a sight. Those who knew Holt best thought they knew him, would have laughed loud and long at such an idea of him, but it was true. The girl felt it as she turned safely back to her sunset

Scathlin was not enjoying the view. He was looking furtively on every side to see if there could be by any chance a good place where he might risk throwing out that cursed wallet and hope never to find it again If only there would be a station—or he could risk dropping it out of the window near some water tank or something. But the plain slid by, a level monotony, broken only by the rose and emerald and gold of the setting sun Scathlin grew more and more desperate It was growing dark and he dared not throw the wallet where he could not find it again, or where someone else might find it and tell They were near Hawk valley The morning would bring them within the ranges of Holt's men, bands of trained and devoted outlaws who were as relentless in their justice as they were careless of their lives. No mercy was to be expected from their hands if once he fell among them. He shivered as a tall shaft of a bare tree, dead and stark, stood out in the distance against the clear gold of the sunset line. It was on such a tree he had seen a cattle thief hang, ghastly against the sky, as he rode by once just at nightfall. It might easily be his fate before another sunset. If he could not get away in the night all chance of escape before they reached Hawk valley was gone, for well he knew Jasper Holt's men were set at intervals along the way, sentinels ready to head him off. And what treatment could he expect from either Jasper Holt or his men with that incriminating wallet in his pocket? He had been a fool to take up with Harrington's offer. Money or no money, it wasn't worth the risk. He was getting to be an old man and not so ready to face death as when his blood was hot and his hand steady. He had not even any weapons of defense, thanks to his grim captor who had disarmed him while he slept, the first night of their journey together. There had never been any open recognition of the fact between them, save that one glance as Scathlin put his hand to the pocket where it had been and was not. He had charged with his eyes in one look of helpless fury, and Holt's clear gray eyes had met his unflinchingly in acknowledgment. That had been all, but Scathlin knew then that there was nothing for him but to evade Holt and get away if possible. He would stand no chance in an open conflict, and his captor was untiringly vigilant. He glanced again at the stern face opposite him, wondering what would be the fate to which he was surely, swiftly hastening. States prison? Or would they take the law into their own hands? He knew what that might mean only too well, and again the desperate look passed over his face with Hate and Murder looking dimly from his eyes. How he would like to spring at that slim brown throat opposite him and throttle the life from the young fellow. Only a kid—a mere kid—and yet he had withstood many, and had power to cruch Scathlin in spite of all his boasted cunning. The look of a serpent crept into the little gleaming eyes of the old man as he noticed the quick glance his companion cast at the girl across the aisle; and his own eyes followed filled with hate Yes, he would like to drive his fat, hairy fingers into the white throat of the girl before the eyes of her gallant defender if only he had Holt helpless! But instead, here was he, helpless himself! And he must find a way to escape before morning, or else get rid of that wallet in some safe way Surely, surely Holt would be off his guard sometimes for a little space He had scarcely slept a wink for four days, how could he endure it much longer?

But Scathlin's cogitations were cut short by the entrance of the conductor at last and he turned to watch the girl as she spoke to him.

"I was to have had a section reserved for me," she was saying to the conductor "My brotherinlaw, Mr. James Harrington, of Hawk valley, arranged for it, and telegraphed me that it was all right See, I have the telegram But the porter said I must come in here until I saw you because I had no ticket for the Pullman."

She held out the yellow envelope and the conductor looked at it.

"Your brother's name is Harrington? You are going to Hawk valley?"

He looked at her sharply. "Well, just wait a few minutes till I go through the next car and then I'll see to it. It ought to be all right."

He bustled on his way attending to his passengers and the girl sat back again to wait

At the name "Harrington" Scathlin had turned with a start and looked toward the girl; but even in the act he caught the narrow gleam of Holt's half closed eyes, and, remembering, turned back again to his window while his thoughts went pounding into new channels He had made a mistake of course, to let Holt see that he had heard, so he kept his eyes toward the window until it grew quite dark. But he had a plan at last In another minute he got upon his feet, yawning, and declared his intention of getting a drink of water from the cooler at the other end of the car.

"Good idea!" said Holt, rising and following his captive down the aisle lazily

Scathlin reached the cooler first and took his drink, while Holt stood waiting for the cup and let Scathlin go back to his seat alone, apparently not noticing him Scathlin settled back in his seat with one eye on Holt, and one eye on the girl.

Holt stood drinking in a leisurely way, apparently interested in looking through the glass of the door into the next car, though he was fully aware that Scathlin was fumbling in the inner pocket of his flannel shirt. He lingered, hoping that the old man would do something which would make him more certain of what he already believed to be true, and saw Scathlin finally, after repeated fumbling under the shirt, draw forth a small dark object that, in the one swift glimpse Holt had of it, looked like his own leather wallet in search of which he had come this long, hard journey. Anxious to see what Scathlin's next move was to be, he remained quietly standing and still apparently looking through the car door, though not a move of Scathlin's was lost upon him. To his amazement he suddenly saw Scathlin bend forward and pick up something from the car floor, then lean toward the girl in the opposite seat and put the object in her lap, at the same time speaking to her. Had the man picked up something the girl had dropped, or was he——? Preposterous! The fellow wouldn't dare, with a strange girl. She was smiling and looking down at the thing in her lap and seemed to be thanking him. She had probably dropped her handkerchief or pocketbook and Scathlin had picked it up. Holt sauntered leisurely back to his seat and found Scathlin fumbling with his shoe lace. He studied him narrowly and fancied that he detected a look of cunning satisfaction on the stubbly old face, yet was puzzled to know what caused it. Had the scoundrel dared to give those papers to the girl when he stood in full view? It seemed incredible—and yet? If he had, Holt's hands were pretty well tied and he had two to watch instead of one. He didn't like the idea of shadowing this beautiful young woman.

Just then the conductor returned and spoke to the girl.

"Well, your berth's reserved for you all right, but it was in the name of Harrington. It's Section 7, in the next car. This your baggage? Come this way and I'll show you."

The girl followed the conductor, with a half hesitating glance toward Scathlin, who was engaged with his shoe. Holt noticed she held her handbag clasped tightly, as if she were afraid it might be taken from her. When she was gone the night settled down unpleasantly about them and Scathlin, apparently worn out, snored as he had not dared to do for a week. But Holt sat up and studied his problem. He could not afford to take any chances on sleep that night; moreover his heart was in a tumult. This girl was coming to Hawk Valley to visit the Harringtons. She was a sister of Mrs. Harrington, the handsomest woman, the best dressed woman, the most influential woman in all that valley. Would he ever see the girl? Sometimes, from afar perhaps—and a bitter look swept over his face.

Scathlin slept on, with his coarse lower jaw down dropped, and all his unpleasant features relaxed. He was no charming picture to look upon Holt noticed that there was no longer that furtive grasp of one hand upon his breast which had been since their journey together had begun. Scathlin's horny hands, with their grasping look of cunning, were lying idly by his side, and Scathlin himself was enjoying a well earned rest, his heavily shod feet sprawled out under Holt's seat

The night droned on; the train sped on its way through the darkness, and still Holt sat wide awake and thinking.

"I can't quite dope things out," he said to himself as he settled back in a new position.

CHAPTER II.

Meanwhile Jean Grayson had followed her bustling conductor into the sleeper with a sense of deep relief She had been frankly frightened since the rough old tramp looking creature across the aisle had landed a worn looking wallet surreptitiously in her lap and asked if he hadn't heard her say she was going to Mr. Harrington at Hawk Valley, and would she be so good as to give that case of important papers to him and not let anyone else know she had it?

She had accepted the trust because she did not know what else to do; and, after all, it seemed a simple enough request The man had explained that he had to go off in another direction at the next stop and could not deliver the goods himself, and it was most important that it get to her brother at once There did not seem to be any good reason why she should refuse, and yet it had frightened her, and she wished with all her heart that she had gone with the conductor to see about the sleeper and not stayed here to have this dirty old leather case put into her keeping by that dirty old man. She did not know what to do with it. She hated to put it in her dear little new handbag, and she restrained her well cut nose from a shrinking sniff as she hastily put it out of sight

She had sat looking out of the darkened window with her heart in a tumult as the tall young man with the fine eyes and the air of reckless assurance came back to his seat. What had he to do with the old fellow? Could he be his son? No, never! But did he know about the important papers? Could he have put the old man up to giving them to her, so that, under some pretense or other, he himself might speak to her? She did not dare to look his way lest he should presume upon the old man's speaking This, her first western trip, was a fearsome thing to her, although she reveled in the joy of it.

Yet, when she arose to follow the conductor and gave one swift comprehensive glance toward the opposite seat, she saw a respectful pair of gray eyes looking interestedly at her, with nothing presumptuous in them, and she instantly felt that there was no need to fear that young man. He might be dressed like a gentleman but he had eyes like a gentleman

Miss Grayson was tired, for she had come a long journey, stopping a day on the way with relatives who had taken her sight seeing and kept her going every minute, so that she was glad to creep into her berth as soon as the porter had made it up.

She shrank in dislike from the leather case in her handbag, and after some hesitation took it out and wrapped it in a leaf from a magazine she had brought with her. She could not bear to have the thing in with her nice fresh handkerchiefs and dainty little articles. It seemed contaminating. She had a half impulse to throw it away or lose it; and then her conscience reproached her loudly for so dishonorable a thought. The papers might be valuable, of course, and in that case her brother would have just cause to blame her if she did not bring them. At the same time she hated the thought of carrying around anything that had been in the possession of that repulsive looking man.

As she settled herself to sleep and drew around her the folds of the soft silk Pullman robe that had been her mother's parting surprise, loving thoughts of those she had left behind her filled her mind All the little tender words, looks and acts of loving sacrifice that she might be well fitted out for this journey, came flocking to be recognized, until unbidden tears filled her eyes This silken robe was an extravagance, she knew, and would be paid for by many a denial on the part of father and mother, but it represented their great love for her A thought of what they would have felt about her being accosted by that rough man and asked to carry that package for him came to trouble her, yet what other possible thing was there for her to do but to accept it? It certainly could not be dynamite or an infernal machine Her mother would have thought of something of that nature the first thing - or infection, perhaps smallpox or something equally horrible That was possible, of course. But still, the man looked healthy enough.

Her father? Yes, her father would undoubtedly have approved of her taking the package. Her father was one who never thought of himself when anything in the shape of duty demanded attention, and he had brought her up with the same feeling. Anyway, now that she had taken it and agreed to deliver it, there seemed nothing more to be done but to keep her word, and it was a simple enough affair, of course, and, after all, quite reasonable Why should it bother her so?

Nevertheless, it mingled with her dreaming thoughts as she drifted off to sleep, and a kind of assurance with regard to it came as she remembered the steady, clear eyes of the younger man

Softly in her silken wrapping she lay and slept while the monotonous hum of the rushing train only lulled her to deeper slumber

Suddenly, in the midst of the commonplace sounds of the journey there came a grinding, grating shriek as of strong metal hard pressed and unable to withstand A crash, a jolt then terrible confusion The very foundations of the earth seemed upshaken, the cars climbing through the awful air, then pitching, writhing, tossing, and at last settling uncertainly in strange positions, while the night was filled with horrid sounds too varying to analyze. Cries of women and children! Groans of men in mortal agony; breaking glass and splintering timbers; rending of metal in reluctant, discordant clang! And below, rising menacingly to threaten all, came the lurid glare of flame, the wild, exultant crackle of fire that knows its opportunity and power; the desperate hysterical clamor of those who have discovered it, and the mad, brave shouts of those who would attempt to conquer it.

Jean Grayson awoke in dazed bewilderment For a moment the noise seemed a part of her dream; her strange, huddled position on the wood at the foot of her berth a figment of her imagination But almost at once the cold breath from the broken window brought her to her senses. An accident! It had come then! The thing which her mother had feared and tried to provide against She was in a railroad accident all alone and out in the wilds of the west where she was utterly unacquainted with anyone! It was characteristic of Jean that, when she realized her plight, she thought first of how her mother would take the news, and not of how she herself would bear the experience, or whether it meant life and death to herself. That she must get out of danger and let her mother know of her safety was her instant impulse, and from that moment her senses were keenly on the alert for every detail

(Continued Next Week.)

ALLEGED BOOZE RUNNER AND WOMAN ARRESTED

Lincoln, Neb May 17—Al Bush, former soldier who lives at Shenandoah, Ia., is under arrest here, with Alma Simpson, a department store clerk of Omaha, on a charge of booze running Bush's car successfully passed the booze testers at Nebraska City, but when State Agent Hyers examined it he found the imprint of a hammerhead on a board in the bottom of the auto, and when he took the board up he found 71 pints of whisky. Bush claims he bought it in Nebraska.

The girl talked freely after she had been informed by the officers that the officials at Shenandoah said that Bush had a wife and children there, where he was in business. She said Bush posed as a single man and told all the details of their wanderings from the time he came and got her at Omaha and took her to various points in Iowa

A resolution favoring [illegible] was adopted by the Churches of Christ in America.

The Hard-Up British M.

From the Indianapolis News.

Members of congress [illegible] to complain that $7,500 [illegible] enough to live on comfortably in these perilous times should consider the lot of the British members of parliament. Members of the house of commons receive approximately $1,000 annually. That is not enough, generously according to one member who complains to a London newspaper. He says, the $2,500 is exhausted by his 7 shillings 6 pence [illegible] ning town, and owing to the [illegible] facilities cannot [illegible] one. For members whose homes are outside London the case is [illegible] says:

> They have either to break up their homes and come to live in London where living is ruinous in cost for anyone who has not got a home else they have to keep two homes going. They are between the devil and the deep sea. In either case the member has to keep in close touch with his electors, otherwise he is not doing his duty so that no matter how he is situated he has to spend a lot of money on railway traveling. Add the cost of railway travel to the tremendously increased cost of living, to the possibility of having to break up a home, to the fact that one home in London at the moment costs as much as two homes would have cost before the war—and you have a situation that defies argument.

Some day, he modestly hopes, the people of Great Britain can be [illegible] raise the salary of their representatives to $3,000 yearly, but he warns [illegible] the danger of being exploited by adventurers who would be attracted by the salary. He suggests two immediate remedies for the situation of the M. P., which may bring a smile or a groan to American readers He believes that at a very early date the member of parliament will "have a warrant sent him to London and his constituency"—in other words, in cage—and will have the privilege of having his correspondence sent free

When the franking and mileage ples become institutions in Great Britain its final and indisputable claim to democracy will have been established and British people will profit by looking into the experience of others before [illegible] ing all the customs and habits of democracy. Paying [illegible] servants really might be cheaper in the long run. But what a piker is the British member of parliament who only now asks for $3,000 a year and a [illegible] mileage allowance [illegible] ing concession in comparison with his American confrere

Very Prosaic.

From the Edinburgh Scotsman.

We were alone. All day long I had waited for his coming. He recited poetry to me softly, and told me that he preferred my dull blonde hair and lavender eyes to a piquant brunette's flashing black eyes and crimson mouth. We heard soft music in the distance. We talked about love. Suddenly the lights went out. We were alone. All day long I had waited for his coming. "Don't be alarmed," he said, "I have a match."

Inflammability.

From the Washington Star.

"Do you want your hair singed?" asked the polite barber.

"No. I don't want to take a chance. A friend in whose judgment I have some confidence told me I have an ivory dome."

"What difference does that make?"

"He might be wrong. Maybe it's celluloid."

HEROES.

I see them hasting toward the light
Where war's dim watchfires glow;
The stars that burn in Europe's night
Conduct them to the foe.

As when a flower feels the sun
And opens to the sky,
Knowing their dream has just begun,
They hasten forth to die.

Be it the mystery of Love—
Be it the might of Truth—
Some wisdom that we know not of Controls the heart of youth.

All that philosophy might guess,
These children of the light
In one bright act of death compress,
Then vanish from our sight.

Like meteors on a midnight sky
They break—so clear, so brief—
Their glory lingers on the eye
And leaves no room for grief.

And when to joy old sorrows turn
To spring war's winter long,
Their blood in every heart will burn,
Their life in every song

—John Jay Chapman.

Rocks Stop Commerce.

From the Detroit News.

Almost $1,000,000,000,000 worth of freight passed through the Soo canals during 1918 and the transportation involved amounted to 70,107,618,229 mile tons. Such statements look two ways. They give a glimpse of the enormous productivity, the colossal wealth of the vast territory tributary to the Great Lakes. The ships that pass the Soo and Detroit bring ores and wheat and meats and dairy products—food and fabrics for clothing and materials for shelter and implements and equipment, in amounts to contribute to the comfort, well being and prosperity of millons of people. That is looking toward the source. And looking toward the outlet we find a great inland waterway carrying a world commerce, but isolated from the world markets by a stretch of tumbling rapids in one river. Is it conceivable that the genius of two great peoples, those of the United States and those of Canada, will not solve this problem and let the cargo carriers of the Great Lakes out to the sea?

Pershing's French.

Frederick Palmer, in Collier's.

Aside from Pershing's chief of staff and his chief aid, Colonel Boyd, probably his other aid, Colonel Collins, was closest to him. Collins had been with him for seven years, in the Philippines and in Mexico, and had a wise head on young shoulders. The general allowed him to go away for a while to fight; but would not be parted from him for long.

Boyd spoke French well. Wherever the general went there was Boyd, whose death from pneumonia after the armistice was a blow to hundreds of officers, who always thought of him as outside the general's door or at his side. The general's own French was sufficient for an ordinary conversation and influenced by the demands of the occasion. He surpriced a certain interpereter who was interpreting for him to Petain one day by saying "I didn't say 'il dit,' but 'on dit'—they say, not he says."

He Won.

From the Dallas News.

"What are those splendid silver cups there?" inquired the man in the jeweler's shop.

"Thos, sir, are race cups, to be awarded as prizes," replied the jeweler.

"Well, if that's the case," said the stranger, taking the largest one in his hand, "suppose you race me for this one."

He started off with the jeweler after him, but the stranger won the cup.

Gen Leonard Wood will make the commencement address before the students of the University of Pennsylvania next month.

Prince Goes A-Flying.

From the London Telegraph.

In ideal flying weather the prince of Wales spent a full hour in the air the other day, enjoying the wonderful spectacle of the panorama of London. Lady Joan Mulholland clad—like the prince of Wales—in a fur coat and wearing a pilot's fur helmet and goggles, occupied the front gunner's cockpit. There were eight persons in the machine. The machine took off with the usual ease and steadiness which characterizes this type, and soon reached 2,000 feet, which was the hight maintained during the trip. A complete circuit of central London was made with St. Paul's as the outstanding landmark.

.WHEN MAN IS A FAI[illegible]

From the Office Econo[illegible]

The mere fact that [illegible] failed in business or other [illegible] takings does not mean very [illegible] unless we know what he d[illegible] his failure. It's the man [illegible] the failure that will tell [illegible] whether it is the end of the [illegible] just the beginning If he [illegible] of the stuff that wins, he [illegible] come back A man is a [illegible] until he loses heart and gi[illegible] trying. There is no such [illegible] as failure in the man who [illegible] teeth and refuses to quit.

French Girl Surplus.

From the Boston Glob[illegible]

The big problem in France a[illegible] of the peace conference will be [illegible] 000 girls of marriageable age [illegible] live without husb[illegible] according [illegible] Iain Daniel Counc[illegible] a lieutena[illegible] French army and a special repr[illegible] of the French government le[illegible] the United States.

"We have 700[illegible] girls who [illegible] have the chance to marry," th[illegible] said. "In France before the [illegible] educated our daughters to ma[illegible] as; the father of three da[illegible] brought them up with that con[illegible] mind. Their whole life is fitte[illegible]

"We lost 1,400,0[illegible] French so[illegible] of our population of 40,000,000[illegible] the war the population of ma[illegible] men and women almost balanc[illegible] of our honored dead were ma[illegible] with families, and the other ha[illegible] the age to marry

No Gun Toters.

From the Los Angeles Ti[illegible]

The west of the [illegible] is fast becoming a memory Think of it! can't tote a gun in Montana! legislature placed a ban on shoo[illegible] The day when a man dang[illegible] pounds of artillery over his hip[illegible] forever. Nobody but forest ra[illegible] peace officers can carry a sm[illegible] without a permit, and permits [illegible] be had merely for the asking. [illegible] go before a judge and prove g[illegible] acter and some worthy warrant[illegible] ing a weapon before the licen[illegible] tained. This amounts to the [illegible] disarmament of the Montana co[illegible] the tenderfoot may not even b[illegible] to protect himself from the co[illegible] The influence of the peace co[illegible] vast.

America Needs Cable

From the Seattle Time[illegible]

Better cable connections bet[illegible] United States and Japan were urged at a dinner in Tokyo night, held under the auspices American-Japan Society Visc[illegible] neko, one of the speakers, ind[illegible] project on the ground that impr[illegible] munications would promote c[illegible] more cordial relations between countries. He suggested that a way of the Aleutian Islands [illegible] given attention by responsible America and Japan This is [illegible] which, if not attempted by pri[illegible] ital, should be undertaken by [illegible] ernment. The United States sh[illegible] its own cables running to Asia[illegible] rope. It should have so many as might be necessary to assu[illegible] interchange of news and views the major countries of the wor[illegible]

Talking Nonsense.

From the Saturday Evening[illegible]

One of socialism's parrot p[illegible] that governments in the Unit[illegible] and Western Europe are run b[illegible] lats for the benefit of capital. other bird than the parrot th[illegible] see in the daylight If socia[illegible] not similarly afflicted it would have perceived what complete that phrase is. Time was when a government decidedly outwe[illegible] influence of labor. The weight decisively in the other scale everybody who can see straight

A further contemporary fact land is that labor outweighs g[illegible] itself and government knows it comes to coercing, labor c[illegible] government with far greater suc[illegible] government can coerce labor [illegible] combination of unions has [illegible] ing down the terms on which [illegible] shall operate, and g[illegible] has been casting about for the promise it could make

In the United States two [illegible] railroad capital took one positi[illegible] the government and railroad [illegible] another We know which against socialism's silly talk a[illegible] Street running the country—or street in England's case the [illegible] whether another great intere[illegible] able, and quite as selfishly, to arbitrarily will on the country

Unfadeable Ink to Wil[illegible]

From the Milwaukee Jour[illegible]

President Wilson and other peace conference may affix in[illegible] tures to the peace treaty with able ink patented by Alexander [illegible] ing, New Orleans.

Mr. Lichtentag received word [illegible] state department that a half p[illegible] "imperishable" ink had been [illegible] to President Wilson for the [illegible] signing the world peace declar[illegible] Lichtentag has received inform[illegible] the government chemists had after tests that it is impossible [illegible] the ink and that it would last [illegible] the paper on which it is writte[illegible]

Choice bits of veal, creamery butter and fresh eggs combine with other tempting ingredients to give Libby's Veal Loaf its delicate, appetizing flavor. Order a package from your grocer today.

Libby, McNeill & Libby, Chicago

Enemies Now

Mrs. Slush—I don't believe Miss Chatz is a true friend of yours.

Mrs. Mush—Why?

Mrs. Slush—She tried to get me to say something about you. She pressed me to tell my real opinion of you—but not I!

GENTLE REMEDY BRINGS SURE RELIEF

...years GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules relieved suffering humanity of ... attacks of kidney, liver and stomach trouble and ... connected with them, and to build up and ... organs weakened by ... most important of these ... wicked, because they ... the blood; unless they do ... you are doomed.

... sleeplessness, ... backache, stomach ... in the loins and ... rheumatism, ... warn you of ... kidneys. GOLD MEDAL ... Capsules are the remedy you need. Take three or four every day. The healing oil soaks into the cells and lining of the kidneys and drives out the poisons. New life and health will surely follow. When your normal vigor has been restored continue treatment for a while to keep yourself in condition and prevent a return of the disease.

Don't wait until you are incapable of fighting. Start taking GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules today. Your druggist will cheerfully refund your money if you are not satisfied with results. But be sure to get the original imported GOLD MEDAL and accept no substitutes. In three sizes. Sealed packages. At all drug stores.

POULTRY FANCIER

Has Made Success of the Deepest Handicap Which Seem Insurmountable.

...ard Jones of Jefferson ...has made a record in keep... which many who have ...not equaled. Moving among ...which seem to understand ...handicapped, and guided ...his sense of touch, he per... daily work. He has built ...poultry house and brood ...has hatched and raised all ...Blindness does not pre... calling his flock. The ...used to be kept are mar... ...ers, and the others are ...the production of winter ...

...attended every poultry ...held in his section last fall. ...trying to organize a poultry ...of people, and the home ...agent in the county ...ed to read to the meet... ...ications on poultry sent ...United States department of ...

Nonexistent.

...your notion of an ideal hus...

...who lets his wife have the ...in hats, gowns and argu...

The Pleasures of Travel

"Wa-al-p'tu—no," said the ancient Arkansawyer, "I hain't never did much of what you'd call traveling. I was 57 years old last grass; born and raised right here in Shagbark township and hain't been outside of the county but once. That was when I was about 30 years old. I went over to Toughville and they just nacher'ly took and started to lynch me the minute I got to town, for something or nuther I never did find out what. One foot was already in the air and the other barely touching the ground when some feller came running and hollered that they were making a mistake. I wasn't the guilty party a-tall. As soon as they turned me loose I lit out for home as the crow flies, and I hain't done no traveling to speak of since. I always figgered that on the next occasion the feller that knowed it was a mistake might not get there in time to do me any good."—Judge.

The Result.

"The police suspected a blind tiger in the building, so they raided a suspicious photograph gallery."

"Ah! a case of arrested development."

Quite Acceptable

"This star says she cannot bear anything gross to come near her."

"She does, does she? How about the gross receipts?"

Now's The Time to enjoy that drink of all table drinks,

The Original POSTUM CEREAL

An invigorating cup of rich, snappy flavor, full-bodied and delicious to the taste. The very thing to add to your solid table enjoyment, for it is part of the meal—not merely something to drink with it.

Postum is boiled just like coffee and 15 minutes after boiling begins, but unlike coffee it is pure and drug-free. Coffee drinking usually upsets nerves, stomach and heart. Postum contains nothing harmful.

At Grocers — Two Sizes — Usually sold at 15c and 25c

PLANT AND ANIMAL LIFE

From the Springfield Republican

There is a certain dramatic fitness in the fact that one of the early spring plant announcements in the field of science since the Wizard last discerns the nature of living substance. The primary character of protoplasm as the basis both of animal and of vegetable life has long been accepted. That the protoplasm in both cases is identical is the thesis upon which the biologists have been working and which now appears to have been proved. The announcement was made at Philadelphia by the discoverer Dr. D. T. MacDougal, director of the botanical research department of the Carnegie Institution of Washington. The discovery brings together the results of the researches of Dr. MacDougal in the vegetable kingdom and of Prof. Jacques Loeb in the animal kingdom. But "what is life?" remains a question for the philosophers and theologians to answer.

Our Government.

Our old government's respected by all people who are sane here the worker is protected in whatever he may do, and he'll show who is thrifty may seek deeper comfort wade have possession and thrifty and enjoy them undismayed. There's no country short of ever was a government so slick that has no kinds of flaws for ... And there'll never be a nation with a government so great that ... from the pessi... ... who's law ... letters on his shank, in ... reading taking bunnies to the bank. While he pays his ... secure in all he owns and he ... battle axes to protect ... So I think ... our kind of rule ... shipped across the waters ... and splits cool in the ... wanted we could ... in the olden ... couldn't ... Now we know there's ... be rotters fierce ... let us swat the ... stranger ... to be gang...

The Leave Taking

... Johnson about ... Only, ... it's the ... of ... But ... that he is ... probably ever ... foolish some ... will bob up into ... the passage ... while he ... bucket ... will probably be greasy ... the water ...

Electric Antitheft Device.

From Popular Mechanics

The lack automobile thieving is the ... a resort lately de... for ... Essentially the ... of an automobile ... a dry battery circuit ... When the ... ...tate the ... that the ... lodged and ... ...ing the ... the event ... ...owledge ... so equipped the ... ...diately and keep on ... the engine was stopped ...

Washington Theater Fan

From the Christian Science Monitor

The latest news about George Washington ... ...ter more than ... brother ... ...ies might together ... tend a performance by the New York ... ...edians at Fredericksburg ... ...1.52 as somebody ... ...reported ... Washington's own ledger. The New York ... ...party of Comedians ... ...was a theatre to the ... and very likely ... ...presented ... ...for at that ... ...light ... ...English was often ... ...interesting ... ...night ... ...about ... American opera performances before the ... ...Boston, Charleston, New York ... ...Philadelphia were the ... ...stage ... ...and like the New York Company ... ...Williams ... ...used ... ...stagecoach to shuttle communities. But ... ...long ... ...that there was not to ... ...and ... ...of these ... ...was still looked to ... ...where ... ...plays ...

Warm Praise For Sims

From the London Times

Admiral Sims' name has become almost a household word with us since the day in April, 1917, when he arrived within a week of America's declaration of war and was forthwith recognized at the admiralty and in the royal navy as what he is—one of the foremost sailors of the day. Practically throughout his stay in England he sat at the daily council table in Whitehall.

Admiral Sims' diplomacy was typically American. He put on no airs, he meant what he said, he kept nothing up his sleeve. He addressed himself to the people both of the United States and Great Britain with especial fearlessness and insisted that the world at large should be in no doubt that it was primarily British sea power that won the war.

Hand Made Revolts.

From the New York Post.

May day in Europe brought no dramatic affirmation of the revolutionary spirit but, on the contrary, cumulative evidence of a world returning to appeasement. In Rome quiet. In Paris, bad police judgment but popular demonstrations peaceful in character. In Madrid, the normal amount of disturbance. In Berlin, quiet. In Vienna, quiet. At Versailles, the presentation of the German peace delegates' credentials amidst deep German emotion. The connection between what happened at Versailles and what happened in the capitals of Europe is obvious. What we have witnessed in the tumultuous play of forces in Europe has been not only the result of the war, but an authorization of peace.

Here's Hoping It's True.

From the Indianapolis News.

Directors of the National Association of Employment Managers give assurance that by the end of the year all the available labor supply, including especially, of course, the services of returned soldiers, will have come into demand. The directors go further and say that even then there will still be a shortage of labor and more places left for the men who in the country may still be receiving home from France in 1920.

The Canadian government has shipped half a ton of tree seeds to Scotland to replace war devastations on forests there.

Kill All Flies!

THEY SPREAD DISEASE

Placed anywhere, DAISY FLY KILLER attracts and kills all flies. Neat, clean, ornamental, convenient and cheap. Lasts all season. Made of metal, can't spill or tip over; will not soil or injure anything. Guaranteed.

DAISY FLY KILLER at your dealer or by EXPRESS, prepaid, $1.25.

HAROLD SOMERS, 150 De Kalb Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

A toilet preparation of merit. Helps to eradicate dandruff. For Restoring Color and Beauty to Gray or Faded Hair. 60c. and $1.00 at Druggists.

It's Condition.

"A sword-swallower's profession must be appetizing." "I suppose it does put his appetite on edge."

Cuticura Soothes Baby Rashes. That itch and burn with hot baths of Cuticura Soap followed by gentle anointings of Cuticura Ointment. Nothing better, purer, sweeter, especially if a little of the fragrant Cuticura Talcum is dusted on at the finish. 25c each everywhere.—Adv.

Man wants but little here below when the people living in the flat above own a trapdrum outfit.

How's This?

We offer $100.00 for any case of catarrh that cannot be cured by HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE.

HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is taken internally and acts through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System.

Sold by druggists for over forty years. Price 75c. Testimonials free.

F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

A ship is called "she," therefore she must be a sails-lady.

GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER

has been a household remedy all over the civilized world for more than half a century for constipation, intestinal troubles, torpid liver and the generally depressed feeling that accompanies such disorders. It is a most valuable remedy for indigestion or nervous dyspepsia and liver trouble, bringing on headache, coming up of food, palpitation of heart, and many other symptoms. A few doses of August Flower will relieve you. It is a gentle laxative. Ask your druggist. Sold in all civilized countries.—Adv.

Her Work.

Minister—It is necessary for me to ask the mother of the bride if she has anything to say before we proceed with the ceremony.

The Lady—All I have to say is that if I hadn't had a good deal to say already, they never would have landed here.

FRECKLES

Now is the Time to Get Rid of Those Ugly Spots

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as Othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from your druggist, and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than one ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.—Adv.

A man either gives according to his means or his meanness.

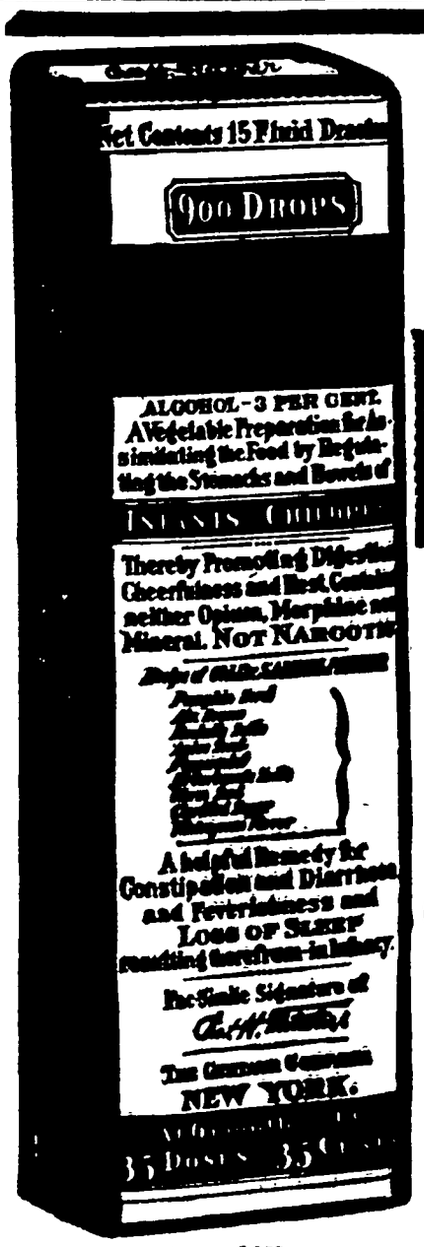
THAT CHANGE IN WOMAN'S LIFE

Mrs. Godden Tells How It May be Passed in Safety and Comfort.

Fremont, O.—"I was passing through the critical period of life, being forty-six years of age and had all the symptoms incident to that change—heat flashes, nervousness, and was in a general run down condition, so it was hard for me to do my work. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me as the best remedy for my trouble, which it surely proved to be. I feel better and stronger in every way since taking it, and the annoying symptoms have disappeared."—Mrs. M. Godden, 925 Napoleon St., Fremont, Ohio.

Such annoying symptoms as heat flashes, nervousness, backache, headache, irritability and "the blues," may be speedily overcome and the system restored to normal conditions by this famous root and herb remedy Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If any complications present themselves write the Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for suggestions how to overcome them. The result of forty years experience is at your service and your letter held in strict confidence.



Exact Copy of Wrapper.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS

Bears the Signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over 30 Years

The Kind You Have Always Bought

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

Guess Manager's Nationality.

Sign in theater lobby—"Crying children must be immediately taken out or we will refuse to admit them."

Salt Houses in Russia.

Houses constructed entirely of salt are a unique feature of some of the villages in Russian Poland.

Modern Marvels.

Joshua made the sun stand still, but we have men today who make the moonshine still.—Boston Transcript.

Bitter or Better Baking

A letter makes a great difference in a word. A word makes a great difference in baking powders.

If the little word "alum" appears on the label it may mean bitter baking.

If the word ROYAL stands out bold and strong, it surely means BETTER baking.

This is only one reason why it pays to use

Royal Baking Powder

Absolutely Pure

Made from Cream of Tartar derived from grapes

Royal Contains No Alum—
Leaves No Bitter Taste

WHY NOT CHOOSE YOUR SPRING OUTFIT
from this store's fine and large variety?

You'll find the right styles here;—you'll find by far the greatest assortment—the widest variety.

Our buyers have just returned from the eastern markets. The newest for man or boy is ready for you. Why shouldn't you have it?

Men's Suits $20 to $60.
Boys' Suits $7.50 to $25.

Our "Furnishing Boods Department" is full to over-flowing. You'll find it here.

PATTON BROS.
Mason City, Iowa
"Where a dollar does it's duty"

I scream . U scream We all scream
for
ICE CREAM

Our soda fountain is running in full blast now and we have the very best in Sodas, Malts, Sundaes etc. Get a quart of our delicious Ice Caerm for your Sunday dinner

"If It's To Eat---We Have It"
CRYSTAL CAFE
Elder & Fuller, Props.

DOCTOR MISSMAN
PHYSICIAN SURGEON
OFFICE--State Savings Bank Building, 'Phone No. 1105
RESIDENCE--North of Park, 'Phone No. 1109
X-Ray Radiographs Electrical Treatments
Eyes Tested Glasses Fitted

Now is the time to make a noise like Spring!

Now is the time to make plans for this year's garden. We have everything you need in that line:-

Garden Spades Forks Hoes
Rakes Plows Garden Seeds
Don't overlook your Lawn or Flowers
Better get some of our Grass Seed and Flower Seeds. Buy a Lawn Mower.

J. W. WATERMAN

The City Dray Line

is prepared to do your hauling carefully and promptly
Your patronage is respectfully solicited.
Charges Reasonable.

Henry P. Yahnke, Prop.
Coal Hauling Done

Osteopaths have a four year course and are licensed physicians. adv.

Joe Wenck, of Garner, was a Klemme business caller Monday.

Geo. Mossel spent a few days with his sister, Mrs. H. Willer, last week.

G. P. McCullough spent Sunday at Garner and Cleaf Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Willer and family autoed to Mason City Wednesday.

FOR SALE—Pure bred Holstein bull, nine months old. C. V. Marshall

We recommend, sell and guarantee Gould Storage Batteries. Henry Law & Son. adv.

Mr. and Mrs. Derk Mossell, who live east of town, drove to Mason City on Tuesday.

Dr. L. R. Parsons, of Belmond, spent Sunday in Klemme visiting his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Elder drove to Belmond one day last week where Mr. Elder had some dental work done.

FOR SALE—Some good milk cows. Call me or come and see the stock. J. B. Spittler. adv.-tf.

Walt. Bloom came from Redwood City, Cal., last week and is here both on business and visiting old friends.

P. M. Griesemer went to Chicago on business Saturday returning Monday.

DELCO Electric Light Plant for farms, see Judd Hardware Co. of Kanawha. Watch for ad next week.

Mrs. Joe Wenck and Mrs. Ed. Wenck, of Garner, drove over here last Friday afternoon for a visit with Mrs. Frank Wenck.

Dr. R. W. Schultz, Osteopath, of Garner, will be at the Hotel Klemme on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings, 9:00 to 12:00. adv.

Clark Bredbener has been shearing his sheep the past few days. He has about 135 head and it is some job to take off their wool "overcoats."

Miss Mildred Johnson has been quite ill the past week. We understand she had an attack of pneumonia but at this writing is rapidly regaining health.

RECEIVED another fine selection of mid-summer Trimmed Hats. Call and see them. Special cut price on Early Trimmed Hats. MRS. JOHN JOSTEN. 1-w

Mr. and Mrs. Derk Mossell and sons Harold and Rollie took an auto trip to Hal, Iowa, last Wednesday where they visited old friends. They then took a trip into Minnesota making the trip of over four hundred miles in their car.

The farmers near Klemme have been real busy the past week hauling shelled corn to th elevators here. We have seen wagon load after wagon load come in from the country for almost a week. The corn has been a good price.

Clarence Kluckhhn moved back into his house Tuesday which was just vacated by the Parsons family. Clarence has been living in the rooms over the Kirkwood Boarding House for some time.

Mr and Mrs. Lew Lewis returned last Saturday from their visit at Garden City, Minn., where they were visiting with their daughter, Mrs. Henry Yahnke and other relatives and friends. They were in Minnesota over a week and while there Lew took advantage of the good fishing. He says the fishing was best in the rivers there and that he caught some very fine fish.

Valentine Josten is putting up a new hog house on his farm occupied by his son, Edwin. The hog house is being constructed of hollow tile and will be about 26 feet x 48 feet. The work is being done by John Henschen and his crew of men. This will be a valuable addition to Valentine's already fine farm.

Oscar Wenck, of Garner, was in Klemme the fore part of this week doing plumbing work. Oscar was recently discharged from the army hospital at Ft. Des Moines where he was receiving treatments for wounds received in his encounters with the Huns. He is again able to attend to his plumbing business and is ready to do your plumbing and heating work with the same satisfactory service as he did before going to war. If you have aynthing along the plumbing line you want done in a first class manner just call up Oscar and he will be right there on the job.

I want to go to see my papa. Therefore I request everyone who owes me on account to pay before June 1st, 1919. Dr. Geo. Zinn. adv.

John Suurballe, of Goodell, was a Klemme visitor Tuesday afternoon and while here stopped for a short chat with the pencil pusher of the Times. John was formerly cashier of the bank at Goodell, but has resigned that position a month or two ago and is now in the real estate business.

Gould Storage Batteries represent the latest advancement in the are of Dependable Storage Battery Construction, exemplified by Gould Built, Gould Designed, Superhard Dreadnaught Plates. adv.

Fishing the past week has not been the very best due to the cold weather and the continued north wind. However the weather warmed up toward the end of last week and we hear that Sheriff Jim Ross of Garner caught his limit at Clear Lake Monday afternoon in a couple of hours. This is the first big catch we have heard of this season His catch consisted of pike, bass and pickerel, so we understand.

A perfectly adjusted spine cures a "lame back" and insures good nerves, freely circulating blood. and a perfect digestion. Treatment will be given in your home when necessary Telephone message may be left at the Hotel to be delivered to Dr R. W. Shultz. tf

Harry and Lee Ell will put up three modern houses in Klemme this summer and have already started the construction of one of them. The houses will be located in the east part of town. They will have no trouble to rent them as houses are scarce in Klemme. This town is the right place to build and we are glad to see the Ell brothers put up their houses here in preference to other places.

Dr. L. R. Parsons moved his household goods to Belmond Monday and Tuesday of this week He had a couple of trucks from Belmond haul his goods for him. It was a hard matter for the Parsons family to find a suitable house in Belmond and so the Doctor had to board out at Belmond for some time, spending Sundays here with his family.

Editor Ted Tierney, of the Garner Democrat, was a very pleasant caller on Ye Editor Monday afternoon. Needless to say Ted spent quite a bit of time "gassing" with his old friends here. Ted was the publisher of the Klemme Times some fifteen years ago and has a lot of friends here who are always glad to shak his mitt. He was accompanied by a gentleman from Lake Mills who was here to secure an agent for some stock remedies.

John Opsal, the salesman for the Black Hawk Fruit Co., of Waterloo, and formerly the manager of the grocery department of the Wellemeyer store here, was in Klemme Monday evening. John has established a record for this territory. He has been with the company only a few weeks, but last week he sold more goods in this territory than any other salesman they have ever had. This is a good boost for John and we are glad to learn he is making good.

C. W. Wiles made a trip to Fort Dodge Saturday night to bring back some Overland cars. He was accompanied by Mrs. Wiles, Miss Blanche Liljenberg and the Messrs. Howard Doyle, Holly Lewis and Billie Busch who drove some cars back. They returned to Klemme Sunday evening with two Overlands and a Willys-Knight car. The cars are sure dandies and no doubt will be sold quickly to eager buyers. The Willys-Knight car is an especially fine model, as fine as any car on the market. You should go to Wiles' garage and look it over.

WARREN CAIRNS AND HIS KING TROMBONE MAKE BIG HIT

One of the best features that the Seven Cairns Bros, show presented while in Klemme was the trombone solo given by Mr. Warren Cairns on his King trombone during the evening concert.

Mr. Warren Cairns deserves special mention for there are few traveling shows that have with them as good a trombone player as this young man. He is perhaps one of the best trombonists on the road. He gets a wonderful tone and has an extensive range. He is an all around player and can play anything from the popular jazzy ragtime music, loud and blustering, or he can play the quiet soothing music of the classics, doing either with the greatest ease and with a true even tone.

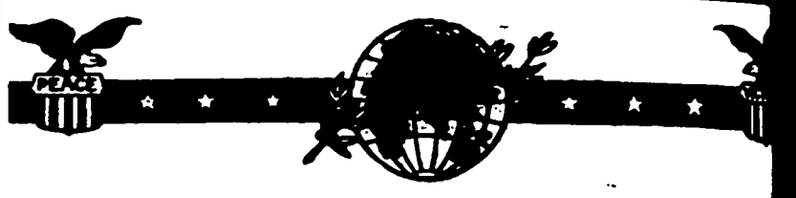
Those who did not hear this young wizzard with his King trombone missed the best part of the concert.

We have it! What?
Everything
Which is found in only the best and most up-to-date Meat Markets.

You will always find a complete line of Choice Meats, Hams, Bacon Fancy Meats and Canned Goods

Try Our Oleomargarine---It's Fine!

J. P. Larsen & Sons



PROSPERITY AND THE FARMER

What business man would be satisfied with a return of 3 per cent on his investment if he had to work from 14 to 16 hours a day to earn it?

Yet, according to government statistics, 3 per cent is all the farmers of this country have made for the past generation.

Some people are complaining about the prosperity of the farmer, but these complaints are not coming from those who know anything about the farmers' problems.

If the farmers make 10 per cent or even 20 per cent on their investment this yeart hey are entitled to it. They have certainly waited a long time for even a fair profit.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Klemme Iowa

Subscribe Today at $1.5

All Kinds of Hardware

HARDWARE AND GROCERIES
Stoves and Furnaces
Paints, Oils, Feed, Flour, Cream Separators, Buggies
Wagons, Gasoline Engines.
All Kinds of Farm Machinery

GREUTZMACHER BROS.

KLEMME DRAY LINE
LLOYD LAU, PROPRIETOR
A share of your patronage is solicited.
All work attended to promptly and carefully.
Coal Hauling Done Promptly
Telephone No. 14

M. O. HOCUM
The Grain, Coal and Live Stock Man.
We will buy Hogs and Grain six days in the week at Highest Market Price
Successor to W. R. Bloem

DR. L. R. PARSONS
DENTIST
Office 1st Floor State Savings
Phone No. 48.
Klemme - Iowa

KLEMME TIMES

...Year Number 39 | Klemme, Iowa, Thursday, June 5, 1919 | $1.50 In Advance. $2.00 Outside of County

A Word Regarding

Electric Ranges

And Other Electric Appliances

...are many electric appliances on the market today, ...too many for the public to make a good selection. ...are, however, a few RELIABLE makes that have ...market for years and their reliability has been ...in a thousand homes. One of these is the

WESTINGHOUSE

...you buy a Westinghouse appliance of any kind you ...the LARGEST electrical manufacturers in the ...today, BAR NONE.

...t sell an electrician a "bum" article in his line, ...can't sell me, nor will I sell my customers any- ...y what is universally considered to be the best.

I SELL

...tinghouse Stoves

...oover Vacuum Cleaners

...-Point Irons and Toaster

...odrow Washing Machines

BECAUSE

I KNOW there are no better articles made :—:

...ence will soon show after you buy a horse, for ex- ...whether the critter will kick or not. Experience ...n me likewise that the above articles are of the ...that I'll have

NO KICK COMING

...se that with them. You assuredly will make no ...in relying upon me to judge electric appliances

Respectfully,

C. C. Tessier

Electrician Garner, Iowa

...ow Is the Time

to repair your Farm Machinery

...member that we have a full line of

...g, McCormick and Acme Binder Sections and Ledger Plates

...tock of Cultivator shovels and tongues on hand. ...s a good time to bring that Mower for Repairs

...S HAVE ON HAND PLENTY REPAIRS——

...g, McCORMICK, EMERSON and ACME MOWER

...and Sickles—Ledger Plates—Pitman Boxes ...n Straps—Pitman Woods—Pitmans Complete ...rds—Guard Bolts—Pinions—Tongues ...Fact anything you want in a hurry——

HAY RACK SEASON IS ALMOST HERE!

...you need a new rack don't fail to see the Burn- ...ination Rack before buying, you will SAVE ...by so doing.

...I. CASE TRACTORS AND THRESHING ...ERY has no equal, call and see me before buy- ...be safe than sorry.

W. F. PAVEY

...ocal Blacksmith Klemme, Iowa

DECORATION DAY OBSERVED

Decoration Day was fittingly observed here last Friday when the people of Klemme and surrounding vicinity gathered at the park where the memorial address was delivered to a large audience by Mr. Bert Rhodes, who was introduced by Mr Paul Greisemer, who acted as officer of the day. National selections were sung by the large choir. The parade was formed consisting of the speaker and officer of the day, followed by the Veterans of the Civil War, who were followed by the Klemme boys, the Veterans of the World War. Next in procession were the Red Cross and Junior Red Cross and then the school children who carried flowers to decorate the graves of the heroes of both wars. The citizens completed the procession which went to the cemetery where a short program was given and the graves of the heroes marked with large bouquettes of flowers.

A DANDY WINDOW DECORATION

Mrs. Smith, one of Wellemeyer's clerks, deserves a lot of credit for the time and labor she spent in planning and making the beautiful display in the east window of Wellemeyer's Store

Mrs. Smith spent a great deal of time in getting the pictures of Klemme's soldiers for the display, but she succeeded in getting nearly every one and had them nicely arranged on a large frame in the window. Across the top of the piece was placed in red, white and blue letters, "In Honor Of Our Boys," above this a large golden American eagle with bunting streamers to each side. Gold stars were placed on the pictures of those boys who made the Supreme Sacrifice and for those whose pictures could not be had were placed blue stars with the names. It is the most beautiful window decoration we have yet seen an dthe originator, Mrs. Smith, must be given all the honor for it's making.

In addition to the above she also had a number of war relics most of which were furnished through the kindness of W F Pavey. All together it was a very interesting display.

DICK BAMMAN BUYS GARNER GARAGE

Dick Bamman closed a deal with Wayne F Waller of Garner last Saturday whereby he becomes owner of the garage building next to the electric light plant on Main Street. The building is the best garage building in town and is well located.

Dick will run a first class repair shop and battery service station and will also handle new cars.

We wish Dick all kinds of good luck. He is one of the best mechanics in this part of the state and knows a car from the wheels up, from the bumper to the tail light and if he can't make them go then they should be junked. The people of Garner are fortunate in getting this young man into their business circle for he is a hustler and wide awake.

FIRE WATER DISAPPEARS

Quite a bit of excitement was caused last week when a shipment of exceedingly wet "whistle washer" was received in Klemme. The box containing the "joy water" had been opened before it reached Klemme and so was held up by the agent. Well Klemme was about sixteen quarts wet for a few days, that is the wet stuff was perfectly safe locked up in the express office until Friday night or Saturday morning when somebody got drier than the law allows and broke through the door at the depot and made away with the whiskey. Just how the matter will turn out we don't know, but somebody got somebody else's "bottled in bond" and the other somebody is probably dry as a fish out of water while the guy who swiped the stuff is perhaps having a high old time and not worrying much whether July 1st comes or not. It's a great life if you don't weaken.

DOC. TAKES A VACATION

Dr. Zinn left yesterday for Chicago where he will visit a nephew for a few days and will then go to Battle Creek, Mich., where he will visit with his brother a while. From there he will go to Detroit to visit a sister and will later return to Battle Creek and with his nephews he will drive to Canada for a visit with his father Doc expects to be gone about a month

LEE AND BILL GET DUCKED

The other day Chris Gram, Walt Schultz, Lee Ell and Bill Traford went fishing. They took Gram's little fishing boat with them to the lake. Chris and Walt were out in the lake fishing in the little boat and Lee and Bill were fishing off the shore with the result that they were not catching as many fish as the fellows in the boat so they set up a holler for the boat. Finally Chris and Walt rowed in and let them have it. Now there is a trick to stay in that little boat which Lee and Bill didn't understand (much to their sorrow). They hadn't any more than gotten well started into the lake when a high wave comes along and for a few minutes they thought they were taking a joy ride in a submarine. Result: Two fellows setting on the bottom of the lake hollering to get pulled out, Chris and Walt on the bank busting with laughter and holding their sides. Well, we have said nuf about it, guess maybe Bill or Lee can tell how wet they got.

ENGLISH METHODIST CHURCH

On next Sunday morning, at 10:30, the Church and Sunday School will observe Children's Day, a very excellent program having been prepared. The main part of the program will be furnished by the children, but the older also will have part.

The evening service will be, as usual, at 8:15. Everyone is invited to come and have part in the song service. Some special music, and a timely message.

A. W. Barnlund, Minister

FIRST M. E. CHURCH

A. H. Meyer, Pastor

Preaching service Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. At the close of preaching service the Sunday School meets.

Epworth League Sunday night at 8:00 o'clock. Preaching service at 8:30.

Midweek prayermeeting each Tuesday evening.

Rev. Thiel held a public sale last Saturday afternoon to dispose of some of his household goods as he intends t move with his family to California in a few weeks.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our neighbors and friends during the death of our little son and brother. Also thanks for the flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Webner Jr. and Family

THE COMMON AVERAGE

No stronger evidence of the important fact that the Ford Motor car has become a veritable part of the life of the people, could be asked for than is given in the registration records of the various states which comprise our country.

For instance, in the month of January there were 11,450 cars of all makes registered in the State of Montana, of which 5,790 were Ford Cars. This means one Ford car for every other car, of every make and 130 over This proportion is very evenly maintained in the other forty-seven states. There are more than 6,000,000 motor cars in operation in the United States, more than one-half of which are Fords

Truly, Henry Ford has been a great factor of benefit to humanity as he has brought the most economical solution to the great problems of transportation, and by the fruits of his genius has linked town and country, community to community, and made the whole country a common place for all the people.—adv.

BIG DANCE LAST FRIDAY AT THE IDLE HOUR

Last Friday was sure a big dance night in Klemme and Mr. Pavey, the manager of the Idle Hour, informed us that he sold more numbers at this dance than any other dance which was ever held in the hall. He sold over seventy numbers. The music was given by the Harmony Concert Dance Orchestra. The next dance will be held at the Idle Hour Theatre on Wednesday, June 11th.

...red Hartke.

Hod Lawhorn sold his 80 acre farm last week to Lew Neuberger.

John Bitker has purchased the 160 acre farm on which he lives, from

Chas. Busch was a business caller in Britt Saturday.

Rev. and Mrs. A. H. Meyer autoed to Fenton last Thursday. Rev. Meyer delivered the Memorial Address to about twelve hundred people at Fenton on Decoration Day They returned to Klemme Saturday noon.

Joe Johnson and family autoed to Mason City Sunday for a visit with Mildred who is in the hospital there. They report that she is getting along nicely and will soon be able to return to Klemme.

Frank Kluckhohn, of Garner, spent Sunday with his folks here, Mr. and Mrs. George Kluckhohn. Frank says it's great to get home once in a while and get some of mother's good cooking undr his belt.

Mrs. Frank Wenck entertained as guests last Friday her cousins, Mr. John Zimmerman and the Misses Ellen and Edith Dawson, of Renwick, Iowa. They returned to Renwick the same day.

The 88th Division arrived in New York last Thursday and will soon be mustered out. There are several Klemme boys in this division and those we can think of at present are Oscar Larsen, Albert Etchen, Henry Linne and Lester Wilkins. It is expected that these boys are now in New York or on their way to Camp Dodge where they will be mustered out.

C. W. Wiles, accompanied by Oscar Wenig, Alvin Freie, Howard Wiles and R. A. Jorgenson, went to Fort Dodge to bring back some Overland Model 90 cars. While waiting at Belmond to catch the train for Fort Dodge, Mr. Wiles sold a car to Mr. Ruka, near Goodell. Mr. Ruka went along to Fort Dodge and brought back an Overland Se...n, the finest looking car we have seen yet. The party arrived with the five Overlands in Klemme Friday morning. G...W. now has a fine line of Overlands but says they will soon be gone as he is selling a lot of cars this year.

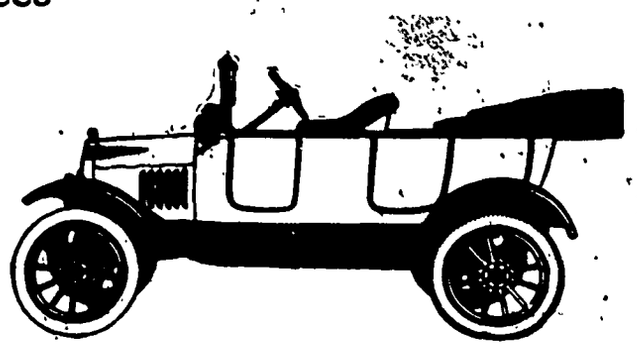
Any Honest Task Attractive.

Any honest task is capable of being so largely conceived that he who enters into it may see, stretching before him, the promise of things to do and be, that will stir his enthusiasm and satisfy his best desires.—Phillips Brooks.

Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Ford cars are important servants everywhere. They help the family enjoy life, bring the pleasures and advantages of the town within reach of the farmer and give practical service every day in country and town. They require a minimum of attention; anyone can run the Ford and care for it, but it is better to have repairs and replacements taken care of by those who are familiar with the work and have the tools, the genuine materials, and skilled men to do the work promptly. We pledge Ford owners the reliable Ford service with real Ford parts and standard Ford prices



E. G. ELL

Authorized Dealer

THE KLEMME TIMES

RAY A. JORGENSON, PUB.

KLEMME, IOWA

Resumption of trading in all commodities, including wheat, on an open market basis as a means of reducing the high cost of living, was urged by Stephen C. Mason, of Pittsburgh, in his address as president of the National Association of Manufacturers. Wheat $2.26 a bushel—the federal guaranteed price—is the peg on which the fabric of the high cost of living is hung, he asserted.

When the John Fritz medal was presented to General Goethals last week as the builder of the Panama canal, the general said: "The man to whom we really owe this Panama canal, and without whom it would not exist today, is Theodore Roosevelt. He had the courage and the foresight to reject the majority report of engineers, and advocate to congress thee construction of a lock type canal."

Pacific coast shipping interests will bring all possible pressure to bear on Chairman Hurley, of the shipping board, in favor of a return to private ownership of the mechant marine. "Without private ownership it will be impossible to go out successfully after world trade," said Capt. Robert Dollar. "Government ownership won't do. Rates cannot be raised when we are competing in foreign markets."

DES MOINES—Maj. A. C. Fraser, of the vice investigation bureau at Washington, arrived in Des Moines yesterday afternoon for a second investigation of vice conditions here. Major Fraser, who two weeks ago declared that conditions in Des Moines were "rotten," would make no statement to the press.

A study of the reports of London's recruiting medical boards reveals surprising fact. Out of every nine men examined, three were fit for military service, two were more or less unfit, but able to serve at specified things; four were wrecks of some sort, most of it preventable. The totally incapacitated were 10 per cent.

The killing of little Vincent Walsh McLean last week has revived interest in the fact that his family possesses the famous "Hope diamond" of sinister history. The sultan of Turkey once owned it, but believing it a stone of ill omen, sold it. Its value is estimated at from $180,000 to $300,000.

ter council, which, however, has decided to allow jazz dancing in the public parks.

Half to three-quarters of a billion dollars has been voted or appropriated in the United States for road building this year. Never in the history of the world has a nation set aside so large a sum for road building before.

President Wilson has ordered the latest clip of wool from the White House flock of sheep sold for the benefit of the Salvation Army's $13 000 000 drive. There are 31 pounds of wool from the backs of the Shropshires which graze on the White House lawn ready for the auctioneer.

One of the largest taxi companies in New York city has declared that it will employ as chauffeurs only discharged soldiers and only wounded soldiers in clerical positions. As a result, 55 women now employed in the offices are to be discharged.

In co-operation with the Rockefeller foundation the Panama canal health department will undertake to vaccinate passengers for South and Central American ports where fever is epidemic. Particular attention is to be paid to making persons immune to yellow fever.

The American military authorities in Coblenz are permitting a certain amount of comment on the peace terms by the newspapers there. The Volks Zeitung after dwelling upon the severity of the terms says: "And yet the dangers of rejecting the terms should not be underestimated."

A very dead whale on a beach near San Francisco has been proving a serious embarrassment to that city.

Representative Mansfield, democrat, of Texas, has introduced a bill for 1-cent letter postage and increased charges on advertising sections of publications under the zone law.

When he returns to America President Wilson plans to make a definite and public announcement that under no circumstances will he be a candidate for reelection, says a dispatch to the Los Angeles Times.

The biggest saloon in the world until midnight last night was located at Bridgeport, Ohio. It was owned by Samuel Ungerleider and employed 77 bartenders and clerks. For the past four years it has sold an average of 4,000 drinks a day.

Creation of a department of education with a cabinet officer at the head and proposals that $100,500,000 be appropriated for combatting illiteracy and for Americanization is proposed by Representative Fowler, of Iowa.

According to information sent to the United States department of labor Cleveland has set aside $500,000 for the purpose of providing recreation centers when the city goes dry.

London is reported to have decreed the colored dress suit for men. They will be in dark blue, dark purple, chocolate, and possibly sky blue. Popular dark blue ones have black silk lapels and black silk buttons.

Japan is making a determined effort. What support bolshevism has obtained is ascribed by Secretary Wilson to the "mistaken belief that it is democratic." For South American trade, according to information received in Washington,

The new gas replacement depot is receiving men for the service in large numbers, and at the rate they are coming now it will not take long for the desired 50,000 troops to be sent to France. Most of the recruits are very young.

Soldiers who fail to pay their premiums on government insurance after discharge will be given a nine months' period in which their policies may be reinstated under a new war risk bureau ruling.

Regular army enlistments since the armistice have totalled roughly 33,000. Enlistments for three years have been in the majority, 15,687 as against 14,570 for one year.

A number of the big country estates with which England abounds are going under the auctioneer's hammer. One advertisement of a country house for sale says the house contains 50 bedrooms.

The American-Irish delegation which has just returned to Paris, claims that its visit to Ireland has "been productive of the most important results."

The honorary degree of doctor of laws has been conferred on Gen. John J. Pershing by the University of St. Andrews, the oldest university in Scotland.

The British postoffice, in spite of wartime conditions, reports a profit in 1918 of $33,241,000. Its operation of the telegraph but it lost over $2,500,000 in operating the telegraphs.

The University of Chicago faculty has granted the "University Students' Socialistic League" the right to a outdoor meeting in the campus tonight.

Eight hundred and forty members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, with the exception of a few on the lines of the United States and Canada,

"I knew one American was better than 10 Germans if he kept his wits," says Sergeant York.

IOWA IN POSITION TO DO ROAD WORK

Government and State Funds Amount to $16,000,000—Many Counties Hurry to Vote on Propositions.

Des Moines, Ia., June 2.—Passage of the new federal aid road law by the last session of the general assembly will facilitate road building in Iowa during the coming season, in the opinion of the state highway commission.

Except for the amendment requiring counties to hold special elections before proceeding with their construction programs, it is believed that several contracts would be under way now, the commission thinks.

Up to Counties.

In substance, members of the highway commission pointed out recently, the question before the counties is whether or not they intend to participate in the benefits of a tax which is to be collected whether they use it or not. The federal government has appropriated some $280,000,000 to be used in the construction of permanent and durable highways in every state in the union during the five-year period ending 1921. Iowa's share is approximately $8,000,000.

The conditions under which this federal money may be extended are that the state match it dollar for dollor with a similar fund, and provide an adequate highway commission to supervise road planning throughout the state and see that the various counties do not work at cross purposes.

Fund of $16,000,000.

This the state has agreed to do, and has added to the government appropriation another $8,000,000 to be collected in automobile license fees, making a total of some $16,000,000 in what is known as the primary road fund, to be used for the construction of a primary road system recommended by the highway commission.

However, the federal aid money is available only for the construction of highways contemplated by the postoffice appropriation measure providing the fund that is for hard surfaced roads or for other durable and permanent improvements. Graveled roads, the commission has ruled, are not permanent improvements and counties may not gravel their roads and present the bill to the treasurer of state.

HELD FOR THEFT FROM HIS OWN AUTOMOBILE

Sac City, Ia., June 2.—W. B. Persons, of Wall Lake is to have a preliminary hearing at the office of Justice of the Peace John R. Conklin, in Sac City, next Monday afternoon on the charge of larceny of the tires and windshield of his own automobile.

In the present term of court an action was brought by C. W. Spencer against W. B. Persons for an amount alleged to be due for repairs and labor on an automobile owned by the defendant. Persons appears to have been dissatisfied with the bill and to refused to pay it and his automobile was held in the garage as security. Shortly afterward on January 10, 1919 somebody broke into the garage and took away from the car five tires and the windshield, valued at about $125. The defendant, through his attorney, filed an answer admitting that he owed a certain amount for the repairs but also made a counter claim for damage to the automobile, alleging carelessness on the part of the garage owner in permitting it to be abused.

Last Monday Mr. Spencer appeared before Justice Conklin, in Sac City and filed information against W. B. Persons and Robt. Simmons on the charge of larceny of the tires and windshield. A search warrant was issued and the property recovered by the searching officer.

TWO SERIOUS AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS AT LAKE VIEW

Lake View, June 2.—Two rather serious automobile accident have occurred near Lake View recently. The Meister brothers had just recently bought a new car and while driving it near Lakewood Park they made the turn at the corner at high speed and ran into the curb, smashing the car so badly that it will cost $700 to have it repaired.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Jacobson of Lake View were on their way to Fort Dodge for a visit when they came to some new graded road near Grant City. The car got into the ruts in the road and turned across the road and off into the ditch and struck the bank at the side. Mrs. Jacobson was badly cut about the face with glass and some of the fingers of her right hand broken.

COLORED WOMEN'S CLUBS ELECT NEW OFFICERS

Marshalltown, Ia., June 2.—Officers were elected and Davenport was chosen as the place of the next annual convention at the closing session of the Iowa State Federation of Colored Women's Clubs in this city. The officers chosen were: Mrs. Martha White of Indianola, president; Mrs. Jennie Johnson, Davenport, first vice president; Mrs. Lulu Horne, Cedar Rapids, second vice president; Mrs. Roberta Bailey Buxton, recording secretary; Mrs. Jessie McClain, Des Moines, treasurer. Mrs. Grace Humphrey, of this city, was chosen state organizer and Mrs. Helena Downing, Ottumwa; Mrs. S. Joseph Brown and Mrs. George C. Young, Des Moines, and Miss Jessie Walker, of this city, were named as members of the executive committee.

CATHOLIC SCHOOL WILL GRADUATE CLASS OF SEVEN

Marshalltown, Ia., June 2.—St. Mary's Institute, the Catholic parochial school of this city, will graduate a class of seven young women on June 12. The commencement address will be given by Rev. E. J. McDonald, of Dubuque.

Jack Johnson, former heavyweight [illegible] Chicago, is now training a M[illegible]

CARROLL BANKER BLAMES EXAMINERS

Asserts Failure Due to Their Refusal to Permit Him to Make Collections—Tells of His Whereabouts.

Carroll, Ia., May 31.—The discovery and arrest of Banker John Roelfsema in Sioux Falls, S. D., came about through his being recognized there by a railroad man from Carroll. The railroad worker was standing on the street when Roelfsema passed him. The chief of police was given the tip and promptly arrested Roelfsema after he had been shadowed for some time, and until the chief could get into communication with Sheriff Jannsen, of Carroll.

Roelfsema's charge that the closing of the bank was due to dirty work and the refusal of the state bank examiners to permit him to make collections of $70,000 worth of drainage bonds was received in Carroll with incredulity. He says Examiner Morris told him it was all right for him to leave town and that he had merery gone to Texas and to New York to make some collections and raise some money. He denies that he embezzled any of the bank's funds.

LE MARS TO HAVE BIG MANUFACTURING CONCERN

LeMars, Ia., May 31.—Incorporation papers for the Automatic Feeder Company, the $1,000,000 enterprise to be launched in this city, are now in preparation. The purpose of the company is the manufacture of the automatic grain feeder for separators. The stock of the company will be sold exclusively among the people of Plymouth county, as near as possible. The corporation will be officered by the following LeMars men: Dr. M. W. Richey, president; Dr. G. H. Mammen, treasurer and vice president and A. L. Kreutzer, secretary.

A factory will be built within 60 days at LeMars, but the site has not yet been chosen.

HELD FOR WEARING UNIFORM OF SOLDIER CONTRARY TO LAW

Creston, Ia., May 31.—The first arrest in southern Iowa for an alleged violation of the United States statute prohibiting the wearing of the army uniform by one not entitled to do so, was made by United States Marshal S. A. Plum, who brought Carl Upfield, of Van Wert, Decatur county, before United States Commissioner J. C. Hunt on such a charge. It is charged also that Upfield was wearing a decoration for overseas service unlawfully. The accused plead not guilty, waived examination and was bound over to United States court.

BOY SCOUT MOVEMENT TO GET MORE LIFE AT LEMARS

LeMars, Ia., May 31.—At a meeting of the men and boys of LeMars interested in the establishment of a Boy Scout organization, a temporary scout council was formed and J. C. Gillespie was elected president. A committee was appointed to secure more members for the council. The meeting was also addressed by Fred C. Woolworth, a Sioux City scout executive. A large number attended the meeting and the scout prospect is bright.

HIGHER GAS RATE TO COURT OF APPEALS

Des Moines, Ia., May 31.—H. W. Byers, city corporation counsel is in Minneapolis appearing for the city of Des Moines before the United States circuit court of appeals in the matter of rates awarded the Des Moines Gas Company by a decision of Judge Martin J. Wade in the federal court last year.

By Judge Wade's decision the gas company was given the right to raise their rate of 90 cents to $1.10 per 1,000 cubic feet.

The city appealed the decision and for a year have been preparing their appeal. It is the contention of the city corporation counsel that the increase is unreasonable.

BLOOD INFUSION IS KEEPING MAN ALIVE

Newton, Ia., May 31.—The Rev. J. A. McCalmont has returned to his home here after submitting to four large blood transfusions during the past three months in a Chicago hospital.

His sons, Theodore and John, both of Chicago, gave the blood necessary for the transfusions.

This makes 23 transfusions which have been made in the last three years. Mr. McCalmont is afflicted with pernicious anemia.

IOWA CHILD LABOR LAW WILL BE ENFORCED

Des Moines, Ia., May 31.—Enforcement of the child labor law on the part of the state is to be made a matter of special concern from now on, State Labor Commissioner A. L. Urick, announces. Inspectors are being instructed to look after the enforcement of this law with special diligence.

During the war, when labor was so scarce, there was a disposition to be somewhat generous in the granting of work permits. Hereafter work permits will be granted only after a thorough examination.

An American woman (name not mentioned in the dispatch) has rid Jerusalem of mosquitoes, the cause of epidemics for many generations.

DESPONDENT SOLDIER TAKES OWN LIFE

Stanwood, Ia., May 31.—Fred Hachman, returned soldier, was taken to a Cedar Rapids hospital with a bullet in his brain and another in his abdomen, but with no hope of his recovery. He was found in a feed yard here, the revolver by his side. He recently was supposed to have been coming here to visit his brother near town. He had been very despondent over the effects of gas, from which he suffered when in service overseas.

MISSISSIPPI FISHERMEN ARE MAKING FORTUNES

McGregor, Ia., May 30.—Commercial fishing was never better on the upper Mississippi than it is at this time. Fine hauls are being made and the high prices are affording the fishermen big returns for their labors with motor boats and nets.

One dealer at North Buena Vista, this county, shipped in one day 12,166 pounds of buffalo and sturgeon and 4,110 pounds of German carp.

Another dealer in this vicinity paid a single fisherman over $1,000 for a single catch.

ALLEGED SOLDIER IS HELD FOR ROBBERY

Council Bluffs, Ia., May 29.—County Attorney Swanson and Sheriff Groneweg are holding for investigation a man who, when arrested, gave the name of Guy Smith, otherwise known as Andrew Wright. Smith was arrested for the alleged theft of clothing and money of Jesse Copeland, a discharged soldier at Walnut, where the two occupied the same room during one night. Smith is said to have admitted the theft and later to have denied it and claimed to have won the clothes and money in a game of poker.

The main reason for the holding of Smith is contained in a soldier's discharge papers which he holds. The papers, it is claimed, were stolen recently in a postoffice robbery at Oscecola, together with a check for the $60 war bonus belonging to Smith. When arrested Smith said his age was 34 years. The discharge papers say Guy W. Smith was 26 years old when he enlisted at Des Moines in September 1917. Later Smith said his age was 26. The accused man threatened the county attorney and was in a rage while being questioned by the officer. When his attention was called to the discrepancy in his statements and the facts in the discharge papers Smith became furious. He has intimated, it is said, he would like to plead guilty to some charge and be put away.

IOWA BANKER DEAD UNDER STRANGE CIRCUMSTANCES

Worthington, Minn., May 30.—The body of C. E. Knaack, vice president of the German Savings Bank, of Hartley, Ia., was found four miles southeast of Worthington lying face down in the water of Lake Ocheda, a short distance from shore yesterday.

His touring car was found right side up with the gear set in high, and absolutely uninjured.

When last seen alive Knaack left a garage here at about 11:30 o'clock Tuesday night.

Sheriff Ira Mishler and Coroner C. H. Dolan, assisted by T. A. Palmer and William Devaney members of the Worthington fire department recovered the body and notified Hartley people. It is believed Knaack was met by speeders on the narrow grade and turned out to avoid them. The bank evidently gave way under his machine, throwing him out of the car.

MISS LAWTHER RESIGNS PRESIDENCY IOWA SUFFRAGISTS

Des Moines, Ia., May 30.—Domestic duties, caring for three children of her sister, caused Miss Anna B. Lawther, of Dubuque, president of the Iowa Equal Suffrage League, to resign it was learned here today. Mrs. James Devitt, of Oskaloosa first vice president, will act as president of the suffrage league until September, when the annual league election will be held.

COMMISSION ADJUDGES WOMAN'S SLAYER INSANE

Des Moines, Ia., May 30.—Charles Walker, 28, alias William Gray, confessed murdered of Mrs. Lizzie Coppock of Ankeny, has been adjudged insane by a medical commission. He will be placed on trial before a jury in criminal courts June 2 for insanity. The charge of murder will not be tried unless Walker is proven to have his right mind.

ORGANIZER IOWA CROP SERVICE IS DEAD

Des Moines, Ia., May 30.—John R. Sage, 86, organizer of the Iowa weather and crop bureau died at his home here yesterday. Sage, who came here from New York in 1870, first located at Mitchellville. Later he moved to Newton where he edited the Democrat.

In 1883 he became associated with the Cedar Rapids Republican and two years later was editor of the Des Moines Capital.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS TO AID WORLD PROHIBITION

Des Moines, Ia., May 30.—Bolshevism cannot exist where people are intelligent and sober said M. B. Patterson former governor of Tennessee, addressing a "dry" rally here last night.

Patterson predicted a super-race with a "dry" America, and urged continuation of the effort to make the world "dry."

The League of Nations among other things, will work wonders for world prohibition, in Patterson's opinion.

IOWA WILL RECEIVE 158 MILITARY TRUCKS

Des Moines, Ia., May 30.—While swords may not be beaten into plowshares following the world war, the United States department of agriculture is doing the next thing to it in distributing military trucks for use in road building.

Iowa will receive 158 of these trucks which can only be used in building roads under the federal aid plan.

DES MOINES—A school of instruction for scout masters will be opened here June 15, running until July 15, for men who offer their services during the national Boy Scout campaign, June 8-14, according to Gilbert Gendall, chief scout master of Des Moines. Recent statistics show there are now 11,457 scouts, scout masters and assistants in Iowa, comprising 163 troops.

DES MOINES.—The second annual midwest horticultural exposition will be held in Des Moines November [illegible] premiums and [illegible] best exhibits in fruits, flowers and [illegible]

Training Little Children

Suggestions by mothers who have been kindergartners. Issued by The United States Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C., and The National Kindergarten Association, New York, N. Y.

Article II—Kindergarten Activities Afford Profitable Amusement to Little Folks at Home.

BY MRS. ALICE WINGATE FRARY.

THE mother of small children who does not live within reach of a kindergarten need not feel compelled to deprive her little ones of the pleasures and benefits of systematic training. It is true that the stimulus of co-operative work and play, so vital a feature of the kindergarten, is not so apt to be found in the smaller group at home and is entirely lacking in the case of the only child. Nevertheless, many of the activities provided in kindergarten can be carried on not only by the small group but by the lonely child as well.

"Come let us live with our children!" is the old familiar Froebelian slogan. We might paraphrase it by saying, "Come, let us sing with our children!"

Why shouldn't children sing morning greetings to father and mother as well as to teacher? Even 2-year-olds that I know can sing them and delight in doing so. The good morning songs to various members of the family, to the new day, to sun or clouds, sung while dressing, do much to create a sunny morning atmosphere. There are songs to accompany many of the home duties, besides a wealth of nature songs. At bedtime the devotional spirit of the evening prayer may be enhanced by the singing of a child's hymn. Songs such as these can be found in "Games and Music of Froebel's Mother Play" and in other kindergarten song books. Any good library would have some of these, or it would be possible to buy copies through a bookstore.

A kindergarten calendar may easily be made at home. For this purpose a sheet of white cardboard is ruled off into a sufficient number of blank squares for the days of the [illegible]. The children mark the calendar day with a suitable emblem. [illegible] circles should be provided for days and gray for cloudy. [illegible] brellas denote rain, a gray circle [illegible] covered with white indicates [illegible]. Advertisements furnish pictures for special occasions—a little chick, a birthday cake, a Christmas [illegible]. The particular emblem is [illegible] portant to the children than the [illegible] ure they take in attending to [illegible] endar regularly, and the fact that [illegible] are being helped to a realization of time. The card should be large enough to allow for a [illegible] picture for the month to be placed outside of the ruled portion. [illegible] seer's "Squirrel and Pair of Crackers" may be used for the [illegible] sheet. Correggio's "Holy Night" for December, Washington's or [illegible] portrait for February.

Games train the senses at the same time that they afford keen [illegible]. A mother can play many games with her child without interrupting her work. Dramatization is a wonderful stimulus to the imagination, and [illegible] berless stories lend themselves to this form of reproduction.

The kindergarten, aiming [illegible] to relate the limited world of the child [illegible] person to the larger world about him, to quicken his appreciation of [illegible] and all world-workers, to develop wonder and reverence for natural [illegible] nomena, is much more than a mere place of amusement. The home should be made more than this also.

Please pass this article on to some friend and help Uncle Sam to educate the mothers of the country.

SCARLET FEVER REMEDIES.

The serum method of preventing scarlet fever proved so effective in one trial that it theoretically offers a solution of the scarlet fever question.

The same method had proven successful with mumps and other diseases. It consists in injecting some blood serum from a convalescent into the tissues of a person who has been exposed to the disease.

The shortcoming of the method lies in the difficulty in finding convalescents from scarlet fever willing to give blood.

Carmola of Naples makes use of a slightly different method. He gathers the scales from a case of scaling scarlet fever and soaks them in the serum of convalescents. The serum is supposed to dissolve the protecting substance from the scales. The scales and the latter is injected under the skin.

In the Naples Hospital at Naples, children with different forms of contagion are all treated in the same ward. A case of scarlet fever was placed in a ward where there were 23 other children, none of whom had had scarlet fever. Two had a mild disorder that might have been a typical scarlet fever. The remainder escaped entirely. Three doses of vaccine, each consisting of 15 minims, were given every day in some cases and on alternate days in others. Other children in private families protected in the same way.

This method is open to the objection difficult to get the serum. The question is which is the curative, the scales or the serum. If the scales, in whole or in great part, then it should be possible to find some other solvent for them. In fact, simple salt solution should act as well. If it is a matter of serum, the wards of a scarlet fever hospital can supply an abundance.

The research men engaged in studying for the cause of and a cure for scarlet fever have had no success in spite of 20 years of work by many able men no progress has been made. The art stands now where it did when the germ theory was being applied. Perhaps this recent return to methods of the Eighteenth century will promise something.

In that age the remedies for scarlet fever and almost all other diseases, such things as skin, scales, lungs and beef hearts. The use of convalescents is based on the same basis. There is no scientific basis for them as remedies used, but it is based on rule of thumb and somewhat loose reasoning. Of course, the method of preparation and use is far more cleanly and scientific than that of the old days.

Potash from Alsace.

From the New York Times.

A change in the French government's attitude toward exports of potash to this country from the mines in Alsace, formerly controlled by the German syndicate, is indicated by President Wilson's cable message to Senator Hitchcock, in which he says that France is "now offering" this potash for shipment. At the end of December Mr. Hurley, chairman of the shipping board then in Paris, gave out a statement about his plan for placing cargoes of potash from the Alsatian deposits on those ships that were returning to this country with empty holds. He was confident that a large potash needed in the United States could be sent from there at once.

Senate Power at Stake.

From the Chicago News.

From Washington comes the report that certain republican senators are considering the advisability of separating the league of nations covenant from the peace treaty, ratifying the latter and submitting the former to a referendum. Without accepting this forecast as accurate one may observe that the league of nations covenant, with its administrative provisions, is an extremely important, not to say essential part of the treaty itself, and, further, that a referendum on the league or any other part of the treaty would be a clear abdication by the senators of one of their highest constitutional functions.

France Sends Vases.

From the Boston Transcript.

A letter from the French embassy to the United States, addressed to William Henry Fox, director of the Brooklyn museum, gives the advice that the French ministry of fine arts has authorized a gift to the museum of two large Albi vases known as "Les Cygnes" (the swans). These vases stand seven feet high with their pedestals.

A Lowered Percentage.

From London Ideas.

Donald—Dye ken Mac fell in the river on his way hame last nicht?

Willie—Ye dinna mean tae say he was drooned?

Donald—Not drooned, but badly diluted.

It appears that there is a general uprising of Ukrainian peasants against the bolshevists.

An Insult.

From London Tit-Bits.

Lady—I want a pair of shoes for this little boy.

Shop Assistant—Yes, certainly. Pre-French kid?

Lady—No, sir. He is my own son and was born at Brixton.

The Situation.

From the Louisville Courier-Journal.

"Your husband is hitting up a fast pace at the punch bowl."

"Well?"

"If I were you I'd call him down immediately."

"That will have to wait until tomorrow. If I quarrel with him now he won't unhook my dress for me, and I can't sleep in a ball gown."

Vital Statistics Report.

From the Cincinnati [illegible]

"We were beginning to believe 'flu' was the only cause of death in fair land, but the editor of the bulletin of vital statistics [illegible] lowing in reports of causes of death to him:

"Died suddenly; nothing [illegible] dead."

"Patient should not have died fully recovered from his illness."

"The cause of his death was [illegible] died in infancy."

"Don't know cause of death; [illegible] without the aid of a physician."

"Kicked by horse shod on [illegible]."

"Died from blow on the head. Contributory cause was [illegible] wife."

"Deceased died from blood [illegible] caused by broken ankle, which [illegible] mobile struck him between the [illegible] the radiator."

Made Him Nervous.

From Stars and Stripes.

The colonel of the 324th was out on a night prowl when he [illegible] was in a quiet sector. Suddenly he was blocked by a gigantic negro who addressed him in a stage whisper.

"Halt; who goes there?" whispered the officer, whispered back.

"Advance, commanding officer, and give the password."

The password was stealthily [illegible] in the doughboy's ear. Then [illegible] whispered.

"How far is it to the trenches?"

"Three miles, sir."

You could hear the colonel's knees [illegible] block as he demanded [illegible] tion of why he had been kept [illegible] there with the Germans [illegible] away.

"I gotta turrible cold, [illegible] explained.

A Reunion of Relics.

From the Atlantic [illegible]

One of the revelations [illegible] expectant eagerly is the [illegible] ment of the number of [illegible] have enlisted since August [illegible] the Canadian forces. [illegible] hardly a day for four years [illegible] have not been [illegible] the Canadian casualty list [illegible]

One has lived to hear [illegible] children sing "God Save [illegible] public places. Long to [illegible] and all. Finally, if my [illegible] you could not have got the [illegible] fancy (if one can teach the [illegible] of so complex a thing) the [illegible] miles did the job for the [illegible] We are told that the [illegible] never salute a [illegible] and that the [illegible] have a hance the world over [illegible] allowance for the [illegible] personnel is more the [illegible] told that the Australians [illegible] was to salute [illegible] the doughboys [illegible] blood brothers at sight.

War Promoted Commerce.

From Commerce and Finance.

There are but few who understand that the science of political economy is comparatively young. Adam Smith's classical work upon the "Wealth of Nations" was not published until 1776, and prior to that commercial enterprise generally went hand in hand with military aggression. Trade, or at least, international trade, was piratical in its character and the hope of finding peoples and countries they might exploit and pillage was the chief inspiration of navigators of the 15th, 16th and 17th centuries. As long as commercial supremacy was a question of physical prowess, a knowledge of political law was not essential in its attainment.

It is, therefore, chronologically appropriate that the birth of economic science as we know it today should have been contemporaneous with the French revolution and the establishment of the American republic, which were the result of the first really successful effort that society had made to substitute the law of right for that of might.

In the days of Adam Smith and for 50 years thereafter there was practically but little international trade and practically none of the international community of financial interest that exists today. Great Britain's imports and exports in 1750 were valued at an aggregate of £17,400,000.

In 1915 they were worth £1,403,555,065, or 80 times the total of 1750, while the population in the interval had only multiplied itself by 5, having been 6,517,035 in 1750 as against 46,089,249 in 1914. Up to the year 1800 and previously, loan and deposit banking as it exists today was practically unknown. Most transactions were settled by the payment of gold or silver, and the supply of these metals is said to have been altogether inadequate, for, according to Soetbeer, their production during the 40 years ending with 1799 averaged less than £3,000,000 annually, as against a present average of about $700,000,000.

It was not until labor saving machinery had made production on a large scale possible, and steam provided a prompt and reliable means of transportation, that the development of modern commerce began, and it was only when distance and time were annihilated by cable and telegraph that prices throughout the world began to act in unison and the law of supply and demand became so operative in its operation that generalizations in regard to it could be formed."

German Losses Elucidated.

From the New York Post.

Of her original area of nearly 209,000 square miles Germany loses about 25,000 square miles absolutely and stands to lose 8,500 square miles in addition if the prescribed plebiscites in East Prussia and Schleswig should go against her. Nine-tenths of the province of Posen, nearly as much of the province of West Prussia, and one-third of Silesia go to Poland, with the prospect that something like one-quarter of East Prussia being added by plebiscite. As the outcome of her bid for world domination Germany will therefore lose one-eighth of her European territory. This is a formidable penalty with which in all history we can only compare the terms imposed upon Russia by the German at Brest-Litovsk. Irrespective of the outcome of the plebiscites, four-fifths of the cessions will go to the upbuilding of the new Poland.

This fact must be kept in mind as we face the first impression of the blow administered to German power and prestige. If the outcry against the "humiliation" be raised in German quarters, if appeal be made to the 14 points, if Germany insists upon as the basis of a just peace, then it must be remembered that two of the outstanding points in Mr Wilson's program are concerned with Alsace-Lorraine and Poland. The cessions to France and the Polish state make up 95 per cent of German territorial losses. To the benefit of Poland, Germany will in any case contribute about three-fourths of what Russia will give back, and somewhat less than the Hapsburg loss will go to Poland in the form of Galicia. For everything except 5 per cent of the soil taken from her Germany must therefore have been prepared when she asked for an armistice. To this must be added the cessions she must equally have been prepared for in Schleswig and in the form of cessions on the Belgian frontier.

In population the German loss will be between 6,000,000 and 7,000,000, with 2,000,000 dependent on plebiscites, or a little over 10 per cent of the population of the empire at the outbreak of the war. This relation between area and population arises from the fact that one-fifth in territory and one-tenth in population arises from the fact that the cessions are, for much the greater part, of non-industrial regions. With the exception of portions of Alsace-Lorraine and a section of Silesia the cessions are of agricultural territory. The fact bears directly on the obvious question how a Germany reduced to four-fifths of its area can be expected to meet the enormous burdens imposed on her by her own war debts and reparations of the entente. In the treaty handed to the German delegates a doubt is expressed at least once opnly and is repeatedly implied. But at least this much is clear, that the vital organs of Germany's economic recuperation have been seriously touched.

SUMMER FOOD FOR BABY.

The month of May the mother, in keeping her baby well, shifts [illegible] from the chest to the [illegible]. All winter long she has [illegible] her baby to prevent him [illegible] cold; from now on for [illegible] at least she tries to prevent disorders of the abdomen.

The board of health furnishes [illegible] of that state a manual [illegible] Feeding and Care of the [illegible] chapter is headed, "Some [illegible] Children." From it the following [illegible] are taken:

Vomiting—A baby may [illegible] because he has fed [illegible] too much. To prevent [illegible] up interrupt nursing. Stop it before the [illegible]. Do not lay the baby [illegible] horizontal position immediately [illegible] feeding. Rough handling after feeding may be a [illegible] up of food merges into [illegible] vomiting may [illegible] of food. The food is [illegible] in fat or sugar. The [illegible] too short an interval be-

Diarrhea—These are generally [illegible] of incorrect feeding. [illegible] may be too frequent [illegible] feeding or feeding food [illegible]. If the diarrhea is not [illegible] change from raw to boiled [illegible] it. It may be necessary [illegible] all milk for several hours, [illegible] or drink, except water. [illegible] different kinds of diarrhea [illegible] is risky to allow the [illegible] continue long before calling [illegible].

Urine—This symptom [illegible] is too rich. In most [illegible] too much fat. The symptom [illegible] when the child is [illegible] and oatmeal gruels [illegible] of skim milk the child [illegible] on ordinary milk but [illegible] of cream should not be [illegible] mixture given when [illegible].

In some cases this [illegible] from a diet in which [illegible]. In most cases [illegible] loaf is too rich. Often [illegible] too much sugar. They [illegible] to give more than an [illegible] in 24 hours to a baby [illegible] than 10 pounds or more [illegible] and a half to a baby over [illegible]. For constipated babies [illegible] better than other sugars. [illegible] scraped fruits and [illegible] and dates for older [illegible].

Voice From the Past.

From the New York World.

The president succeeded on this occasion because he acted without sense and without constraint in a panorama that was gotten up more for the benefit of his party than for the glory of the nation and the honor of the dead. * * * We pass over the silly remarks of the president; for the credit of the nation we are willing that the veil of oblivion shall be dropped over them and that they shall no more be repeated or thought of.

This is not an extract from an editorial in the New York Sun or the New York Tribune. Nor were the sentiments quoted above taken from any of the public utterances of Senator Poindexter or Senator Sherman or Senator McCormick. They are from an editorial that was printed in the Harrisburg Patriot and Union on November 24, 1863 and have no reference to Woodrow Wilson.

The president in question was Abraham Lincoln. The "silly remarks" were the Gettysburg speech.

Pat's Mistake.

From Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Pat Mahon, the village druggist, during the last influenza epidemic used to be called at all hours of the night to make up prescriptions. Curious to state, he never made a light to make them up. So one night one of the villagers who was getting a mixture made up by Pat remarked:

"Do you never make a mistake, Pat?"

"Oh, begorra I do," said Pat. "I took in a bad half dollar last night."

"CAPITAL" FOR SIBERIA.

From Leslie's Weekly

When the Siberian peasant speaks of "capitalism," he is thinking of something entirely different from what the American associates with the word. There is hardly any capital in Siberia that is, money invested in public utilities, factories, systems of distribution or machinery. Siberian capital consists of a wilderness of rich plains, and the landowner is the "capitalist." Therefore to destroy capitalism the bolshevists have only to take the land. Having gone so far, they know how to proceed. For land is indestructible and its working is simple. But what happens when the property involved is a factory? The answer is non-production, for a factory is a human institution, and its working is not simple. Unlike land, a factory, to be successful, calls for organization and cash.

The honorary degree of doctor of laws has been conferred on Gen John J Pershing by the University of St. Andrews, the oldest university in Scotland.

SAFE FARMING

Every Farm Should Have An Acre Garden

There Should Be Fruit Trees and Berry Bushes and Vegetables

By P. G. HOLDEN

EVERY farm should have an acre fruit and vegetable garden. It is profitable because it helps us to feed ourselves; saves what we otherwise would be obliged to pay for this food.

It is healthy because it means more fruit and vegetables, less beef and pork on our table all the year around. If we don't grow our fruit and vegetables, we won't have any—we will just eat meat and bread.

It means a real farm home, where the boy will love to stay, where the children will love to invite their friends because they have something to give them—strawberries, raspberries, cherries or apples.

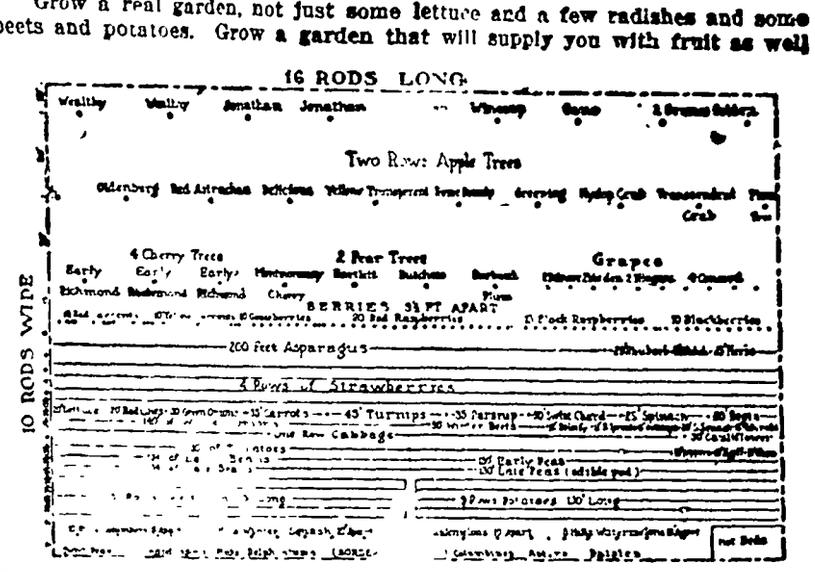
Don't say: "Oh, I'm too busy to plant a garden. I'll grow corn and wheat and hogs and cattle, and buy my fruit and vegetables." As you know, we do not buy them, and we will not have them. We'll just go on eating pork and more pork, wondering why our family is unhealthy, why our children want to move to town. If we don't have a real garden, with some strawberries or other berries and some fruit trees, we won't have a real home.

We have often planned to have a real garden. If we don't plant one now—if we keep putting it off—we never will have one.

Don't Crowd Garden

Don't crowd your garden into a little patch near the house, with little, short, stingy rows close together, "so it will be handy for mother to gather the vegetables." Handy for mother? Not on your life! That isn't the reason you put the garden near the house. It is so mother will pull the weeds and do the hoeing. But mother has many things to do; the garden is poorly cultivated, the chickens get most of the stuff.

Grow a real garden, not just some lettuce and a few radishes and some beets and potatoes. Grow a garden that will supply you with fruit as well as vegetables all season, and provide a surplus for canning or drying or storing for winter use. A good garden is like heaven—it is universally desired, but few get it.



Suggestive Plan for Acre Garden—Varieties Shown Can Be Changed to Suit Conditions.

Put your garden where it will be easy for you to use a horse cultivator. Plant it in long straight rows, with the rows as far apart as you plant your corn. Then when you are using your horse cultivator, run it through the garden a few times. It will take only a few minutes and mother won't need to break her back pulling weeds; and your boy won't have to stay home on Saturday afternoon and hoe when he wants to go fishing. Besides, it will be better cultivated. It will be a garden worth while.

What of Your Neighborhood?

If you took a trip of six or eight miles in any direction from your home, on what per cent of the farms would you find gardens such as outlined in the plan shown in the cut—gardens having a few fruit trees, strawberries and other berries, as well as rhubarb, tomatoes, asparagus, and other vegetables?

What per cent would be represented if you omitted fruit trees, but included small fruits and the vegetables mentioned?

What per cent would have cold frames for growing early vegetables, starting tomato plants, etc?

What per cent would be without gardens that contained more than just such things as radishes, onions, lettuce, beets, etc? How many farms would you find that had no gardens of any kind?

"Merely Newspaper Report."

From the New York World.

In reply to an inquiry asking his opinion of the proposed Anglo American agreement to assist France in case of an unprovoked attack by Germany, Senator Lodge said he must decline to express an opinion on the question you suggest, which is merely a newspaper report."

So far as that goes, Senator Lodge does not know that there has been a war except from mere newspaper report. He never saw the war. He never saw the German armies mobilized, he never saw the invasion of Belgium, he never saw the battle of the Marne, he never saw the Hindenburg line, he never saw the spring offensive of 1918 and the turning back of the Germans at Chateau-Thierry in the summer.

All the proof he has that a peace conference is in session is "merely a newspaper report." We doubt if he could produce a scrap of legal evidence to prove that the president of the United States is in Paris and not in Hoboken, N J. And the senator has "merely a newspaper report" to show that the German delegates are at Versailles, that the peace treaty has been presented to them, that Clemenceau made a speech and Brockdorff-Rantzau replied. And he had "merely a newspaper report" that the president called a special session of congress, but he promptly ordered the republican senators to attend a caucus. In short most of the things engaging Senator Lodge's attention these days are merely a newspaper report.

Pat a Sportsman

From Everybody's Magazine

Pat, a soldier in the American army, was asked on his return to tell about his successful hand-to-hand encounter with a German.

"I got separated from the rist o' me min'," he began, "and foive o' the villains came charjin upon me. None o' that, sez I. 'I'll tache ye cowardly spalpeens some o' the rules o' the game.' They wuz husky brutes, but ther wuz wan small wan, and I wuz shure I cud lick 'im. So I sailed into the rist o' thim and bate thim into silence. 'Now,' sez I to me German frind, 'the odds are even, and I'll fight ye.'"

ON CHASING PLEASURE.

From Josiah Allen's Wife."

"I don't believe in makin' such exertions after pleasure. I don't believe in chasin' of her up." Says I, "let her come of her own free will." Says I "you can't catch her by chasin' of her up, no more than you can fetch a shower up in a drewth, by goin out doors, and runnin after a cloud up in the heavens above you. Sit down, and be patient, and when it gets ready the refreshin' raindrops will begin to fall without any of your help. And it's jest so with pleasure. Jo Josiah Allen, you may chase her up all over the oceans and big mountains of the world, but she'll keep ahead of you all the time, but set down, and not fatigue yourself a'thinkin' about her, and like as not she will come right into your house unbeknown to you."

Nothing, it seems, now can prevent the United States from going bone dry July 1. The forever sale of alcoholic beverages cannot exceed a court decision declaring the law unconstitutional or repeal of the law by congress.

Prohibition and Hogs.

From the Houston Post.

Not even the most ardent of "dry" advocates ever claimed that any benefit would accrue to the hogs of the country from prohibition, but if tests now being made at the experiment station of the Texas agricultural and Mechanical college prove successful the Texas swine may in the future get the grain that has been going into beer.

Various tests are being made, according to the A. & M. Reveille, to find a good feed for hogs among the grains formerly used in brewing and from materials formerly wasted. Barley chops give promise of the best results, while tests with brewer's rice are also being made.

If a feed for hogs capable of fattening them for the market can be produced from these grains it will mean a new market for the farmers growing barley and rice, while the hog raising industry in Texas will be materially aided. The brewers have been taking practically all of the barley crop of the state until beer making was stopped, while they took much broken rice also. By feeding these products to swine they will go to swell the food supply of the country, whereas converted into beer they might be said to have been wasted.

With corn at $2 per bushel hog raising is now an expensive business; in fact, too expensive for it to be followed extensively in this state. But if cheaper feed can be developed the Texas farmer can reap the benefit of raising more hogs, while the producer of barley and rice will continue to find an outlet for his crops.

Soldiers at 75 Cents.

From East and West News.

In the opinion of the Jiji, the pay of Japanese soldiers is too small. At present it is 1.56 yen (78 cents) a month for the first and second class privates, and 1.95 (98 cents) for corporals. Even if the pay be increased 50 per cent, says the editor, it will not suffice for the needs of the soldiers. At present, they have to get money from home to make up the shortage, which is not right. The total pay of the soldiers amounts to $2,150,000. If it is trebled, the government will need only $4,300,000 additional.

Willing to Oblige.

From the Boston Transcript.

A woman who was troubled with chronic nightmare, and who frequently cried out in her sleep, advertised for room and board "with a family who would not object to screaming in the night." Among the answers she received was one which asked, "How often would you require us to scream?"

Three of the German delegates to the Paris peace conference took golf clubs with them.

[illegible] Efficiency.

From the Philadelphia Inquirer.

"Well, sir, Professor, does my boy show any special aptitude for work?" [illegible] parent.

"I think so, Mr. Bronson," answered the schoolmaster. "I am not certain as yet whether John will make a sculptor or a baseball player. He is uncertain in his [illegible] with paper balls, but the condition of his desktop convinces me that he can [illegible] with considerable facility."

Literary Punishment.

From French and Elliot.

Willie Jones—Maudie—When I'm naughty my daddy uses my basket with a Sam Brown belt that was used by Captain Courageous in the war for democracy.

Landlord and Rent.

From the Milwaukee Journal.

Landlords in Pittsburgh raised their rents 20 to 25 per cent. In many cases they gave as their reason increased taxation. The mayor and council of the city replied by inserting an advertisement in the newspapers showing that taxes in Pittsburgh for 1919 were no higher than in 1918, and on many pieces of property actually lower. The advertisement had a coupon attached which could be sent to the city hall for information on the assessment of particular properties. Several hundred of these were returned.

In almost all cities of the country, rents are being similarly raised, not infrequently to extortionate figures. The result is that thousands of people are compelled to seek cheaper houses or apartments, of which there are not nearly enough to go around. The reasons given are higher taxes, higher cost of coal and upkeep.

Now, to the extent that the landlords are put to greater expense they are justified in protecting themselves by charging enough more rental to give them a reasonable return upon their investment. But the fact of greater expense and the amount of it are things susceptible of proof. If taxes are not any higher, the tenant can easily inform himself of the fact. Coal, as everyone knows, is higher, and so is labor, but these items do not justify radical increases in rentals.

Tenants who have had their rents raised are entitled to know the facts which justify the raise. If they find that landlords, under the excuse of high prices, are taking advantage of them to do a little profiteering, they should make an organized protest. Full information and publicity will go far to prevent extortion.

To Stimulate Exports.

From Bulletin of Guarantee Trust Company.

The recent convention in Chicago of the Foreign Trade Council was productive of a number of stimulating discussions, and codified as they have not previously been codified, the present economic and technical problems of the exporter. The resolutions adopted at the final session embody the combined thought of some of the leading men of the country. It is significant that the first and last subject discussed in the general resolution was that of finance, in the sense which it has here been considered. The council committed itself to definite pronouncements on a number of propositions, among which the following may be chosen:

The early completion of the government's shipbuilding program.

The establishment by the government of coal and fuel oil depots on all great trade routes.

Cable and wireless facilities equal to those owned by other countries.

The establishment of free ports.

The enactment of a bargaining tariff.

The extension of the international parcels post.

Expansion of the commercial attache and trade adviser service of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce.

being traditionally bound to America by bonds of sentiment, has been called upon to do its bit. It may be that the present troop movement is forced upon us by some Indian uprising near Schenectady or Newark or other settlements in that vast wilderness; it may be that our intrepid men may have to stem a stampede of angry buffalo, which, the French tell us, roam wild from Vermont into South Carolina, and from whose hoofs, it is charged, is manufactured the national American dish—canned willie.

But whatever the cause, let us go to do our bit. Furthermore, let us remember that Americans are Americans, with their own customs and ideas—primitive, no doubt, but none the less to be respected. Even in a land as sparsely populated as that, it would never do to antagonize the natives by openly sneering at their peculiar institutions—the Saturday night bath, the Thanksgiving dinner, the occasional change of underclothes, the longitudinal pants that will not come unwrapped. They, too, as well as we, have a certain sneaking fondness for their country. If we canot accept their ways, we can at least tolerate them.

And let us go with a dry eye and a merry smile. When we bid farewell to our mademoiselles, and our trench shoes, and our cooties, and all that we hold most dear, let us not break into hysterics. We must remember that we are soldiers.

This is grim business, yes, damned grim business.

Few of Pilgrim's Progeny.

From Commerce and Finance.

In 1920 the tercentenary of the sailing of the Mayflower will be celebrated. The anniversary is to be observed in England. No doubt there will be great "doings" here. But somebody ought to shake up the descendants of the Pilgrim Fathers or there will be none of htem left, according to the way they are thinning out.

A careful search of the Pilgrim families has been made by the editor of the Journal of Heredity. He found the descendants increased nobly for the first 100 years after the landing in Massachusetts and then the families began to decline. It is the same with all the old families of New England. Few children. At the present time the Mayflower descendants are not holding their own and unless the families increase extinction is certain.

Lesson From Silver.

From the Christian Science Monitor.

The interdependence of each part of the world on the other parts makes expert explanations of the increased value of silver look like a kind of mosaic of character and events in different nations at the same time. All over the world people have hoarded silver because of their wartime distrust of paper money. India continues to demand silver because there it not only legal tender but it prized for decorations and art work. Soldiers at the front wanted silver because they found it the most convenient currency. The mines in the western United States produced less silver because of I. W. W. activity in preventing industry. Mexico produced less silver because of internal troubles. Asia charged more for commodities for which Asian merchants insist upon being paid in silver. All of which does not increase the supply of silver, but looks very much like another argument for the expediency of united action by all the nations to prevent any one, two or three of them from again unsettling normal conditions.

"YANKS ON THE MARNE."

(Popular Song Among Soldiers of American Expeditionary Forces.)

Oh, the English and the Irish, and the 'owlin Scotties, too,
The Canucks and Austrilee-uns, and the 'airy French poilu;
The only things that bothered us, a year before we knew,
Was 'ow in 'ell the Yanks'd look, an' wot in 'ell they'd do.

They 'adn't ad no tryin; they didn't know the gime;
They 'adn't never marched it much, their shootin' was the sime;
An' the only thing that bothered us that day in lawst July
Was 'ow in 'ell the line'd 'old if they should run aw'y.

The leggy, nosy new 'uns, just come acrosst the sea,
We couldn't 'elp but wonder 'ow in 'ell their guts'd be,
An' the only thing that bothered us in all our staggerin' ranks
Was wot in 'eil would 'appen w'en the 'Uns 'ad 'it the Yanks.

My word, it 'appened sudden w'en the drive 'ad first begun;
We seen the Yanks a-runnin'—Gaw Blimy how they run!
But the only thing that bothered us that seen the chase begin,
Was 'ow in 'ell to stop 'em 'fore they got into Berlin.

They didn't 'ave no tactics but the bloody manual,
They 'adn't learned no order but "Ooray" and "Give 'em 'ell!"
But the only thing that bothered us about them leggy lads
Was 'ow in 'ell to get the chow to feed their kamerads.

Oh, the English and the Irish, and the 'owlin' Scotties, too,
The Canucks and Austrilee-uns, and the 'airy French poilu;
The only thing that bothered us don't bother us no more,
It's only w'y in 'ell we didn't know the Bloody Yanks before.

A Chicago judge ruled recently that it legal for a man to steal from his wife as "what is a wife's is also her husband's."

Thousands of shipyard workers in Philadelphia paraded in a demonstration favoring making the shipbuilding industry permanent.

THE BREWER'S CHANCE.

Hawk and his associates offer the brewers a chance to grow rich after July 1. Yeast is a microscopic plant closely allied to those minute bacteria about which some people are so incredulous. The brewers use one kind to make beer and the bakers use a near relative to make bread.

Hawk and his associates claim that baker's yeast is a food closely akin to wheat and that it can be used as a substitute for some of the wheat in flour. Also that as a food it is so closely akin to meet that it can be used in place of that expensive food. It also has a growth principle capable of taking the place of some of the butter and cream nof required.

And, although akin to wheat, it does not require rich land to grow in. Although akin to meat, it does not require to be corn fed. Although akin to butter, it does not require pastures. It can be grown in brewer's vats and it is a veritable Jack and the beanstalk, growing prodigiously overnight.

It is possible that the brewers may yet be as grateful to the prohibitionists for bringing them wealth just as the packers thank the health authorities who forced them to use their byproducts some 50 years ago.

Hawk found that dried baker's yeast had three times as many calories as beef containing an average amount of fat. It can be mixed with advantage in hamburger steak, sausages, and other meat dishes, making a palatable food, a very rich one, and a cheap one. When dried at 105 degrees Centigrade it can be substituted for 20 per cent of the wheat flour in bread with advantage to the palatability and food value of the bread.

If too much of the yeast is eaten it causes diarrhoea. Bread containing a considerable proportion of dried yeast should be good for constitpation. Of a group of men fed rather freely on yeast, several gained in flesh at the rate of about one pound a week. With some of the men experimented on the diet caused a loss of flesh.

When yeast dried at 105 degrees was fed to young animals they continued to grow. This experiment showed that yeast contains a water soluble growth principle. It was found advisable to give these young animals some food in addition to the yeast. For this purpose casein from milk was found to be better than protein from meat.

An Injustice Survives.

From the Indianapolis News.

So far the citizens of the District of Columbia have not appealed to the peace conference for the right to be represented in the government by which they are taxed, and inasmuch as the peace conference has about passed the stage in its deliberations where it can consider the troubles of small political entities they are not likely to.

Not With Him.

From the Washington Star.

Mrs. Will Irwin said at a Washington square tea:

"The more modest fashions would disappear if men would resolutely oppose them.

"I know a woman whose dressmaker sent home a skirt that was, really, too short altogether. The woman put it on. It was becoming enough, dear knows, but it made her feel ashamed. She entered the library and her husband looked up from his work with a dark frown.

"'I wonder,' she said, with an embarrassed laugh, 'if these ultra short skirts will ever go out!'

"'They never go out with me,' he answered in decided tones."

Losses by fire in the United States and Canada during the year 1918 reached the enormous sum of $[illegible].

...r. Luncheon was just over, and ...e was talking to a little knot of ...men for the first words I heard, as ...lid quietly into a nearby seat, were ...ational Biscuit, recalling pleas...ly my own tasty Uneeda Lunch... I. I liked her and ...tably as she spoke again, my per... ...d ear... ...d daylight,' ...

Bringing to the door of your dining room—as close as your own kitchen—the matchless facilities of the best and most wholesome bakeries in the world. Uneeda Biscuit come to you as fresh and immaculate as when they were taken from the oven.

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

...dren's Hour like a feast. For the tiny toddlers there is a varied menu, sometimes Uneeda Biscuit and milk, sometimes Graham Crackers, Oatmeal Crackers or Lunch Biscuit. This is changed on special occasions to Old Time Sugar Cookies, Newtons and, rarest of all, there are days when we had ice cream and Nabisco, and those were our party days.

"Don't think ... is just a lunch hour. It started us happily, ... is all, and made us sure they ... coming every day—for both know we must feed ... children, as we must ... if we would ... after their ... ways like ... ready to ... up in ... ent. ... ... hour ... it seem ... avy enough ... er, but always ... always dainty, al... appetizing as only National Biscuit Products can be. During the years when my babies were growing up we never missed the Children's Hour with its tasty feast.

"You see even little ... went on, ... are much like little ... als. They are ... lovable and most trustable after they've had ... National Biscuit ... our Chil...

Historians Differ as to Sugar.

Hist... ...ce sugar cane ... ...s in Santo ... ...fee that ... ...d that ... cane ... ...m Madeira. ... ...t sugar ... ...ion in ... ...had it ... while ... ...est plant... ...I make no ... ...brought ...

Unskilled Labor.

A ... ...what the term ... ...until he ... ...screen ... ...r.

... Is Fatal

... ... the ... ...ac... which ... marriage ... or ... Daily ...

Has Two Independence Days.

There is one country on the American continent, Ecuador, which actually boasts of two national days. These independence days of the little republic are the 9th of August and the 9th of October, and mark two determined revolutions, the first of which failed, only to spur the patriots, revolting against Spanish domination, to shake it off, a few months later, forever.

No Need for Disarmament.

Some enthusiastic reformer has suggested disarming the farmers of their shotguns and squirrel rifles. Our observation and experience is that the farmer's gun rarely goes off accidentally, and a good citizen is as safe from it as he is from the Constitution of the United States.—Ohio Farmer.

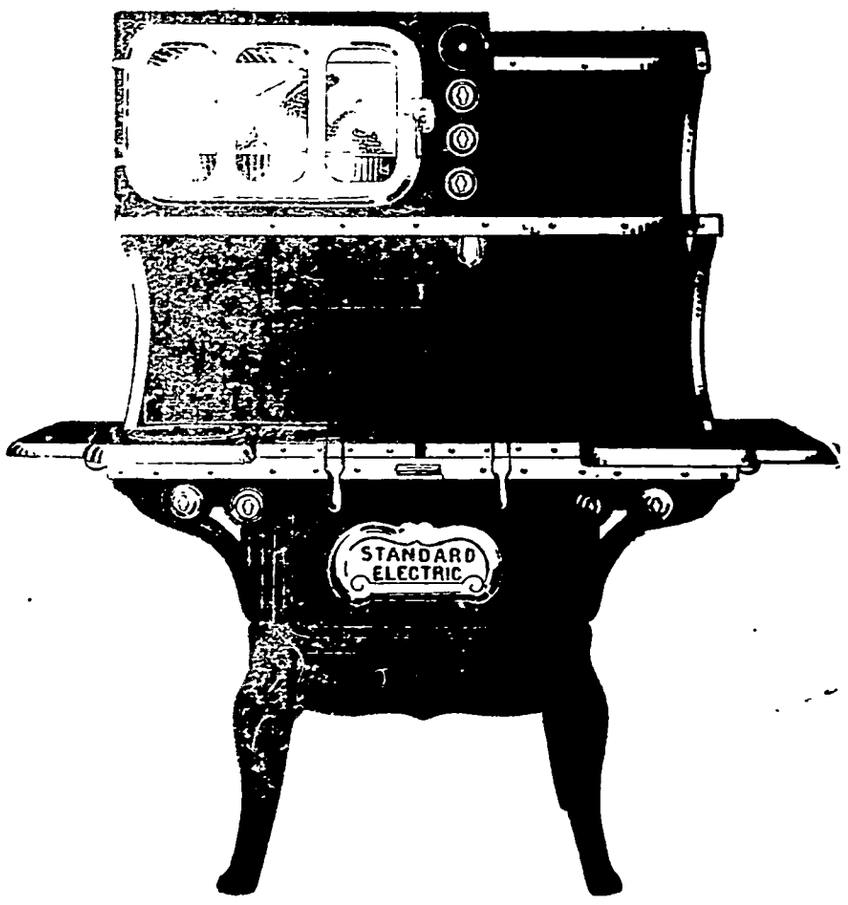
Taking No Chances.

Two mothers, one with a five-year-old girl and the other with a seven-year-old boy, set out for a walk. For convenience it was suggested that the children walk together and ahead. Said the boy: "I will if they won't call it marry."

Cook by Electricity

AND USE THE

Standard Electric Range



The illustration shows a No. 601 STANDARD RANGE

This is one of the largest and most complete types. A size is made for every requirement.

The combination of Electric Cooking Compartments, Electric Ovens and Electric Hot Plates enables you to use Electricity in the most economical way and solves the problem of Electrical Cooking.

THE STANDARD RANGE

Saves Fuel

Saves Work

Saves Food

"Let Us Show You How"

REX SHANNON

GARNER - - - - IOWA

SANG REQUIEM OF THE HUN

How the Cannon Roared During the Glorious Offensive of the Forest of Argonne.

It was night in France and the great Argonne offensive was on.

The section chiefs grew hoarse shouting their commands, the gunner corporals manipulated their sights with speed and accuracy and the gun crews eagerly put forth superhuman effort in serving their pieces which were being loaded and fired as quickly as possible. The terrific detonations shook the forest which actually seemed like a live, throbbing, burning monster, who vomited fire and flame, and roared inhumanly with its terrible voice. Every man in the four gun crews was soon rendered temporarily deaf. Lit up by the ghastly flashes from the fire of their own guns, they looked like veritable devils, their faces gleaming with fiendish joy as they leaped into the pit to shift the gun trail or sprang to the wheels, at which they tugged and pulled with might and main. It was exceedingly tiresome work for the earnest lads. The rate of fire was so rapid that it was necessary for them to pause occasionally in order to permit the intensely heated pieces to cool.

It presented a thrilling scene to see, in the dim light of the early dawn, a stalwart lad, bareheaded, eyes heavy and red from the burning powder gas, his square jaws grimly set and shirt open at the throat, his arms bare to the elbows and black with grease, standing out there, swabbing out the steaming gun with the slender rammer. A lanyard broke from too constant use on one of the guns. Not hesitating a moment to repair it, the "No. 1" man simply used his fingers to draw back the "striker." A lad fell limp and exhausted into the gun pit, but was quickly pulled out of danger, where he lay quite still and was undisturbed by the terrible barrage. Another man quickly took his comrade's place.

So the terrible fight continued. The great iron orchestra played its terrible symphony madly until ten o'clock in the morning, when the tired musicians began one by one, to lay aside their weary instruments, for the score they had been playing had sent the Fritzies scampering over the hills and far away.

Where Foch Is Second.

Madame la Marechale Foch is commander in chief in her own home. She is said to be a French lady of quiet and calm determination where the order and regularity of her household are concerned. She dislikes being late for luncheon, and she dislikes the marshal being late for luncheon. Fortunately, the marshal dislikes it himself. On one occasion, when after the signing of the armistice Foch was engaged in prolonged conversation with allied representatives and the hour for luncheon had gone by, a message came into the conference room to say that Madame la Marechale could wait no longer for lunch. It may have been impatience on the part of Madame la Marechale, or perhaps Foch expected that message, according to a possible little prearranged stratagem between monsieur and madame. Needless to say that, in times of great pressure, madame makes no demur when the rules of her household are just simply ignored.

Was Great Jap Soldier.

Gen. Baron Fukushima although one of Japan's most notable military men, received but scant notice in the American press on the occasion of his death in Tokyo. He began life as a drummer boy, and in 1892-93 distinguished himself by a trip he made on horseback from Berlin to Vladivostok, through Russia, Siberia, Mongolia and Manchuria, a distance of 9,000 miles. From 1887 up to the time he started on this famous trip he had been military attache in Berlin. General Fukushima was in command of the Japanese contingent in the war with China until the fall of Tientsin, and was general staff officer during the Boxer troubles. He was staff officer at headquarters of the Manchurian army in the Russo-Japanese war in 1904-05. At different times he represented his country in China, India, Egypt, Turkey, Persia, Caucasia, Arabia, Turkestan, Burma, Siam and Annam.

Hanging Between the Two.

Last summer the Hulman brothers, at Terre Haute, gave the Rose Polytechnic the grounds for the new school. The year before that they gave the land for Calvary cemetery. One of their townsmen recently met Herman, the younger brother, on his way to his farm, which is between the two pieces of ground above mentioned. "Well, Herman, he remarked smilingly, "I see you've solved that often disputed question of whether we should consider our cemeteries or seminaries of the more importance."

Mr. Hulman looked at him, and then his eyes twinkled. "Not exactly solved it," he drawled. "You know where my farm is. Well, you see, I'm still just hanging between the two."—Indianapolis News.

Submarine in Warfare.

In spite of the fact that the British have some steam-driven 2,700-ton submarines, capable of a surface speed of from 20 to 25 knots, the submarine, as a weapon of war, is too slow and too blind when it is submerged to be considered a serious weapon of naval warfare. When it can see, electrically, to a distance of ten to fifteen miles, while it is submerged so deeply as to be invisible to the air scout, and when it can steam 20 knots submerged it will dominate the naval situation.—Scientific American.

ON LOFTY ARARAT

Beautiful Mountain Is a Long-Extinct Volcano.

It Has Been Scaled, and, Contrary to Tradition, No Proof That Noah's Ark Ever Landed There Could Be Discovered.

The recent appeal made by the newly established republic of Ararat for recognition by the United States will be better understood, at least geographically, when it is explained that the region in question is a province of Armenia.

It takes its name from the mountain on which the ark made a landing after the flood—Ararat meaning Noah's mountain.

The whole world, according to the Bible story, was submerged during the period of the Deluge and Ararat's topmost peak was the first dry land to appear above the waters, for the simple reason that it was the loftiest—in Armenia, at all events.

As viewed today it gives a notion of the depth of the flood, inasmuch as the peak is more than three miles above sea level. It is dome-shaped, and its slopes for 9,000 feet from the top are covered with everlasting snow and great fields of glittering ice.

The climb down must have been rather difficult for Noah his family and all the animals disembarked from the ark. As for an ascent to the top, it was formerly believed to be impossible. The Armenian monks declared that remains of the Noachian bark still existed on the summit, and that by reason of their sanctity a supernatural influence forbade approach.

Nevertheless, in September, 1829, a bold climber, Dr Johann Parrot, succeeded in reaching the top of Ararat, and on coming down stated that he had found not even the keel of the ark up there. Since then the feat has been repeated by several other adventurous persons.

Ararat comes pretty near to being the most beautiful mountain in the world. It is a long-extinct volcano, standing almost isolated save for a lesser peak, called Little Ararat, which (really part of it) is a cone of exquisite symmetry—an ideal volcano of a type plainly recognizable as an ash-pile formed about an eruptive chimney.

Below, in the valley of Araxes, was the Garden of Eden, according to Armenian tradition. At Marsand, in that neighborhood, was (so say the monks) the burial place of Noah's wife. At Arguri, a village near a great chasm that runs into the heart of the mountain, Noah planted the first vineyard.

Turkish Promises.

The first of more than a hundred treaties wrung from Turkey by which the porte promised protection to the Christians within the boundaries of the Ottoman empire, was signed 145 years ago, at the instance of Russia. Not one of these hundred promises has ever been kept—which is sufficiently indicated by the fact that all the treaties cover practically the same points. Every time the European powers saved Turkey from dismemberment, the reigning sultan in his gratitude, solemnly promised that he would grant his Christian subjects in European Turkey liberty and equality before the law with Moslems. After France and England, at the tremendous cost of the Crimean war, had saved the Turks from the Russians, the sultan issued the famous Hattihumatoun of February 18, 1856, in which he swore by the beard of the prophet to give Christians full equality. The promise, like so many others, was but a "scrap of paper." Abdul Hamid on his ascension to the throne, declared that he would make "no distinction of creed" and posed as the protector of the Christians and Jews, of whom probably more than a million were slain during his reign of 33 years.

"Radio-Compass" New Invention.

The naval communication service is perfecting a new and important invention called a "radio-compass."

To illustrate its use: A ship, let us say, is 200 miles out at sea. Owing to persistent bad weather, her navigating officer has not been able for many days to get a sight of the sun. He has lost his bearings, and can only guess at his latitude and longitude.

But he has on board a radio-compass—an instrument otherwise called a "direction-finder." His wireless outfit enables him to receive messages from shore stations. The radio-compass gives him the directions of the stations from which these messages come. Thus he can locate the position of the ship with exactness, and the problem of navigation is safely solved.

Their Surprising Way.

"I was never more disappointed in anybody in my life than I was in my cousins up to Kay See," admitted Gabe Gosnell of Grudge, who was just back from a visit to the Big Burg. "Why, with everything on earth going on and anything you could think of liable to happen at any moment, I'll be switched if they don't poke off to bed at between 9 and 10 o'clock every night of the world!"—Kansas City Star.

Animals in War Service.

Animals on hand in the service of the war department November 2, 1918, were 113,725 cavalry and riding horses, 186,348 draft horses, 144,611 draft mules, 17,298 pack and riding mules, and 15,280 unclassified animals, making a total of 477,262 animals ready for use.

NEW ROCK ISLAND TIME

North

821, Mixed	1:35 p. m.
1069, Passenger	3:03 p. m.
435, Passenger	8:44 a. m.

South

436, Passenger	6:17 p. m.
1068, Passenger	11:25 a. m.
820, Freight	12:15 p. m.

Are You Interested

In the Future of Your Child? Habits of Thrift, formed in early years, are the Best Insurance

for that future. We have given this matter careful thought and invite the opening of an account for your child as the best business training available.

State Savings Bank

KLEMME, IA

DR. R. M. THOMAS

Veterinarian

All Calls Answered Promptly

Klemme, Iowa — Office and Residence Phone

W. F. PAVE

The Practical Blacksmi

OXY-ACETYLENE WEL

Wagon, Buggy and Mac Repairing

Horse Shoeing and Work a Specialty

Col. B. A. Reemts

General Auctione

KLEMME, IOWA

Farm and Stock Sales a Sp

Call, write or phone 508 F me for dates, terms, etc.

...Satisfaction Guarant

Geo. ZINN

Physician & Surge

Phone No. 19. KLEMME

Office in Building East of Gruetzmacher Harness and Shoe Shop.

Eyes Tested. Glasses Fi

Means Disbelief in Self-

No madder proof can be given of man of his own littleness than disbelief in great men.—Carlyle.

The Big Co-operation Sale will close on Saturday of this week.

Mason City The Damon Igou Co. Mason City

Have been making very Special Prices during the Sale

Come Saturday and get in on this if possible

We will offer one gross (144) Carpet Sweepers, $3 value at special price of-- $1.49

Saturday will be the last day of the sale and we place this offer on Carpet Sweepers at a time in the day when everybody can be present and secure one. Time: 2:30 P. M. Sharp, Saturday, June 7th, Price $1.49

e Are Too Busy

Selling Overlands

d, but we have just returned with another 90's. Get yours now while we can wants.

t Buy A Farm Lighting Plant have investigated the Owens. The only automatic machine made by an old reliable

We als Handle the

OLUMBIA Storage Battery Dry Cell

latter goods are made we will handle them

les Garage

KLEMME, IA.

hange of Program

at the

e Hour Theatre

beginning

aturday June 7th

Eddie Polo

in the 2 Reel Western

Prisoner For Life

A 2 Reel Lo-Ko Comedy

A Skate at Sea

also

versal Screen Magazine No. 102

addition to the above we will show the slides the Klemme folks which were shown some ago.

Eddie Polo Picture every Saturday

...ed Your Work.

...rk so hard that you have ...k up and around you; no ...change ideas with another, ...r quiet thought. To work ...th means exhaustion. The ...must be fed if its waters ...ll.

...r Industry.

...d States and Spain are the ... which produce both ... sugar in any consider... ... The development of ... industry in the United ... been one of the great ag... and manufacturing growths ...try. From 1896 the beet ...ction in the United States ...m 50,000 tons to approxi... tons in 1915.

... Pipes and Scotland.

...der, or trousers, which ... the arms of Scotland in the ... of arms is the emblem of ... or protection. A legend ... the border was given to ... by the Scots, by Charle... ... relates that the French ... the Scottish Kin... ... of this lies in the de... ... border, which is composed ...

Suspicious.

...ou got a lawyer looking af... interests?" "Nominally; but ... he has his eye on my ... Boston Evening Tran...

Fox Farms.

There are ten or twelve fox farms in Alaska. One of them, situated in the Tanana valley, a mile and a half from Fairbanks, consists of ten acres of cleared land, the greater part of which is covered with pens in which the animals live.

Cows Sleep Upstairs.

Three valuable heifers, belonging to a farmer at Blairgowrie, Scotland, were lost for three days recently, and it was supposed that they had been stolen. Passing an uninhabited house later in the week, a soldier was surprised to see the head of a heifer at an upper window, and the missing cattle were found together in the front bedroom of the house. How they got there is a mystery, and considerable difficulty was experienced in removing them.

October.

October is so called from being the eighth in the year, according to the old Latin calendar. It was styled "wine month" by our Saxon ancestors. The festival of the Rosary is celebrated Oct. 1 in honor of the Virgin, who is especially invoked in the devotions for success, believed to have been obtained through her intercession in the battle of Lepanto, in 1571, when the Turks were defeated.

Daily Thought.

He makes no friend who never made a foe.—Tennyson.

LINGERED TOO LONG

Great Men Who Outlived Their Hours of Fame.

Henry Watterson Tells of Statesmen, Nationally Famous, Who Became Pitiable Spectacles Amid Scenes They Once Adorned.

Between the idiot and the man of sense, the lunatic and the man of genius, there are degrees—streaks—of idiocy and lunacy How many expectant politicians elected to congress have entered Washington all hope, eager to dare and do, and have come away broken in health, fame and fortune, happy to get back home—sometimes unable to get away, to linger on in obscurity and poverty to a squalid and wretched old age.

I have lived long enough to have known many such: Senators who have filled the galleries when they rose to speak; house heroes living while they could on borrowed money, then hanging about the hotels begging for money to buy a drink.

There was a famous statesman and orator who came to this at last, of whom the typical and characteristic story was told that the holder of a claim against the government, who dared not approach so great a man with so much as the intimation of a bribe, undertook by argument to interest him in the merit of the case.

The great man listened and replied: "I have noticed you scattering your means around here pretty freely, but you havent said 'turkey' to me."

Surprised, but glad and unabashed, the claimant said, "I was coming to that," produced a thousand-dollar bank ...l and entered into an understanding what was to be done next day, when the bill was due on the calendar.

The great man took the money, repaired to a gambling house, had an extraordinary run of luck, won heavily, and playing all night, forgetting about his engagement, went to bed at daylight, not appearing in the house at all The bill was called, and there being nobody to represent it under the rule it went over and to the bottom of the calendar, killing it for that session of course.

The day after the claimant met his recalcitrant attorney on the avenue face and face and took him to task for his delinquency

"Ah, yes," said the great man, "you are the little rascal who tried to bribe me the other day. Here is your dirty money. Take it and be off with you I was just seeing how far you would go."

The comment made by those who best knew the great man was that if instead of winning in the gambling house he had lost he would have been up betimes at his place in the house and doing his utmost to pass the claimant's bill and get another fee.—Henry Watterson in Saturday Evening Post.

Watterson's Early Recollection.

I was fond of going up to the capitol and of playing amateur page in the house, of which my father had been a member and where he had many friends, though I was never officially a page, writes Henry Watterson in the Saturday Evening Post.

There was a particular little old bald-headed gentleman who was good to me and would put his arm about me and stroll with me across the rotunda to the library of congress and get me books to read. I was not so young as not to know that he was an ex-president of the United States, and to realize the meaning of it. He had been the oldest member of the house when my father was the youngest. He was John Quincy Adams.

By chance I was on the floor of the house when he fell in his place, and followed the excited and tearful throng when they bore him into the speaker's room, kneeling by the side of the sofa with an improvised fan and crying as if my heart would break.

Gum Chewing Popular in Far East.

One can escape chewing gum by departing this life, but he cannot do so by merely taking leave of America. It has become virtually universal, due to the universality of mortal waywardness because of the energy and ingenuity of American advertisers. England resisted perpetual motion of the jaws for a long time, then fell; parts of Europe still hold out bravely, but it is in the eastern hemisphere that chewing gum's greatest and most surprising ravages are to be found. The Chinese rickshaw coolie now has his gum; the Japanese geisha chews in rhythm with her dancing feet; and there are similar manifestations of the growing popularity of gum in Burma, Siam, India, the Dutch East Indies, the Philippines and Australia. Happily this token of civilization is not worse, but infinitely better, than the Orient's unwholesome betel nut, which it is to some degree supplanting.—Bellman.

Clever Hubby.

"The man who can meet emergencies, who can rise to the occasion, is the man who will succeed," declares Charles M. Schwab, "like the chap who was one evening suddenly confronted by a discontented wife. She said:

"'Before we were married you used to bring me flowers every day, but now you never think of getting me even a bunch of violets.'

"'But, my dear,' he protested, without a second's hesitation 'the pretty flower girls don't attract me now as much as they used to.'

"And, of course she told him that on second thought she really didn't care for flowers."

THAT ROCKING-CHAIR SHRINE

Place Where Mother Sat Is Forever Sacred in the Memories of Her Children.

By the window in the sitting room stood the old chair. It was "mother's chair"—otherwise it would have been just a chair. With mother in it, however, it became a shrine to which flocked her devoted little worshipers.

In the rocker, as we sat on mother's knee or at her side—for the chair was generously made—the bumped head and the bruised heart were healed, says a writer in the People's Home Journal Frightened, we found there a safe retreat, a refuge from every harm. At night the bedtime story was told to the rhythm of its soothing swing. Joys, sorrows, all were brought to its encircling arms. Mother's chair, rocking, rocking, rocking by the window.

The old chair, we think, had a hand in the making of character. Maybe it was more effective in this service than we realize. Seated in it, we watched the needle in quick, nimble fingers, glinting in and out among the frayed edges tirelessly; we heard our childish perplexities explained over and over again, with no hint of vexation; we sang the songs which taught us some of the beauty of life; we listened to stories of bravery and truth. Industry, patience, beauty, courage, honesty—they can be traced back through a golden pathway straight to mother's chair.

The old chair has seen valiant service. Old-fashioned, scarred and worn, it still stood in the familiar place by the window Why is it not refinished—the scars smoothed out, the worn places covered? What! Cover the marks which little hands have made, the worn spot where mother's tired head rested the scars made by tiny, restless feet? Such a question came from one who did not understand. To him the old chair was mere wood and paint—just a piece of furniture, not a shrine.

We do not say it aloud—our greatest longings are not spoken—but sometimes when life gets tangled we find ourselves going again to the old chair to have the knots untied. When grief comes we sob it out there. When joy comes we run to tell it there. When we fail, when we win, our thoughts take us to the old chair. And at night the little lisping prayers come begging to be said, and we send them, along with our grown-up petitions, up to heaven by way of that sacred shrine.

Simple Resistance Units.

To a British firm goes the credit for introducing a very simple type of resistance unit which possesses numerous and important advantages. The wire or strip member is supported on a single rod passing through the center section of each leg of the zigzagged wire or strip. Among the special advantages claimed are: Very large radiating surface for a given capacity; small weight for a given capacity; absolute freedom for expansion; owing to the large surface and small bulk of metal they cool very quickly; they are absolutely unaffected by vibration or jolts; units can be run red-hot without danger of sagging; repairs can be effected on separate units; tapping can be taken off anywhere along the center clamp; the number of units being small compared with a grid resistance of equal capacity, there are not many joints to cause trouble.—Scientific American.

Congress Shoes Come Back.

There has been a very decided revival of the old "congress gaiter," with its elastic insert at the sides, which were very generally worn more than a quarter of a century ago. The explanation rests in the fact that American shoes are now being extensively worn by the natives of Japan. The more rapid adoption of the western styles of lace and button shoes is made difficult by the native custom that requires that shoes be removed before a person enters a home or inn. In some cases it is even required that the shoes be removed or at least covered with cloth protectors before entering shops, theaters and similar public buildings. This custom has led to the quite general adoption of the old-fashioned but convenient "congress" boot by those who wear occidental footwear during business hours.

Danger in Imported Earth.

For a long time a great many ships coming from Europe into the port of New York have been dumping earth ballast along the shores of East river, Hudson river, and elsewhere around the bay. This is a source of risk of the entry of undesirable plants and plant pests, in the opinion of the United States department of agriculture, and an inquiry has been started to determine the extent of this risk and to provide safeguards against it. There is a possibility of the introduction of soil-infecting diseases, injurious nematodes, and hibernating insects, any of which, unless preventive measures were taken, might spread over the country or considerable parts of it.

National Forest Area Reduced.

The president on February 25, 1916, signed a proclamation eliminating 81,770 acres from the Helena national forest, Montana. The lands affected are situated along the exterior boundaries of the forest and a large portion of the lands excluded are already in private ownership.

This action is based on the recommendation made by the secretary of agriculture as a result of the land classification done by the forest service. It was found that the lands had practically no value for national forest purposes.

Raincoats Slip-on Cravenettes

Rainy Weather Apparel

We have everything to keep you dry during the rainy season. This is the time to protect yourself against prevailent colds, flu, etc.

We name some of the numerous things you may need:

Rubber Coats	Slickers
Slip-ons	Rubbers

Rubber Boots, both in hip and short lengths, in fact everything you need to keep dry and healthy.

We have just received several cases of Howard & Fostere advanced styles of dress shoes. Many of you have been waiting—come in while we have a line of sizes,

Within a day or so we will receive a liberal shipment of Hart Schaffner & Marx Singld and Double Breasted Waist Seam Suits. Come in and look them over.

Gildner Bros. & Johnson

"IOWA'S LARGEST CLOTHERS"

The Home of Hart, Schaffner & Marx Cloths

Fourteen Stores. Garner, Iowa

Sell Your Grain To

Walter F. Lau

And receive the highest price and correct weight. Will buy Hogs every day in the week. Also handle high grade COAL. Give me a trial and I will Show you the RESULTS.

Office Phone No. 16. Residence Phone No. 52

Screen Windows and Doors

Now is the time to put up your screen,s if you have an odd size opening come to us we will get screens to fit in short notice. We have all size doors, but before buying a screen door ask to see our combination screen and storm door, the best door to put up in the long run.

"Everything to build Anything"

BUILD NOW

NORTHERN LUMBER CO.

N. L. PALMER, Manager

Allegorical October.

In some of the calendars of our ancient Saxon ancestors the month of October is allegorically represented by the figures of a husbandman carrying a sack on his shoulder and sowing grain. It was the sowing of the fall or winter wheat, as we call it in this country.

Real Meaning of "Salad."

Salad literally means salted and is a direct descendant of the Latin word sal, or salt. The use of "salad" to mean the greens from which or on which a salad mixture is placed is one of only recent origin. The Italian insalata and the Spanish salada, meaning salad in those languages, actually mean salted.

THIS WEAK, NERVOUS MOTHER

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I was very weak, always tired, my back ached, and I felt sickly most of the time. I went to a doctor and he said I had nervous indigestion, which added to my weak condition kept me worrying most of the time—and he said if I could not stop that, I could not get well. I heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound my husband wanted me to try it. I took it for a week and felt a little better. I kept it up for three months, and I feel fine and can eat anything now without distress or nervousness."—Mrs. J. WORTHLINE, 2342 North Taylor St., Philadelphia Pa.

The majority of mothers nowadays overdo, there are so many demands upon their time and strength; the result is invariably a weakened, run-down, nervous condition with headaches, backache, irritability and depression—and soon more serious ailments develop. It is at such periods in life that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will restore a normal healthy condition, as it did to Mrs. Worthline.

The Situation.

"Your husband is hitting up a fast pace at the punch bowl."

"Well?"

"If I were you I'd call him down immediately."

"That will have to wait until tomorrow. If I quarrel with him now, he won't unhook my dress for me and I can't sleep in a ball gown."

A fish in the hand is worth a dozen in the angler's story.

Weak From Pain

Mrs. Gibbert Was in Misery, But Doan's Brought Her Splendid Health.

"About 15 years ago my kidneys were in bad condition," says Mrs. Lucy Gibbert, 15319 Columbia Ave., Harvey, Ill. "There was a constant, dull, bearing down pain in the small of my back. I couldn't turn over in bed without such pain I could hardly breathe. Morning I was stiff, sore and lame all over, my back was like a rusty hinge.

"Inflammation of the bladder nearly drove me wild. The kidney secretions passed every little while, day and night a little at a time, and burned like fire. Great sediment formed under.

Mrs. Gibbert

"I suffered such misery I was so weak and so nervous I would scream. I had nerve-racking headaches, the back of my neck pained me and so dizzy I didn't dare be on my feet for fear of falling on my face. My vision became blurred. I was sick all over.

"Five boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of kidney trouble. Since then I have enjoyed good health and I owe it all to Doan's."

Sworn to before me.

SAMUEL DAMICK, Notary Public.

Get Doan's at Any Store, 60c a Box

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

FOSTER-MILBURN CO., BUFFALO, N. Y.

Every Woman Knows that clean, snow-white clothes are a constant source of pleasure.

Red Cross Ball Blue

if used each week preserves the clothes and makes them look like new.

Try it and see for yourself.

All good grocers sell it; 5 cents a package.

Cuticura Soap Best for Baby

Soap 25c., Ointment 25 & 50c., Talcum 25c. Sample each mailed free by "Cuticura, Dept. E, Boston."

DAISY FLY KILLER PLACED ANYWHERE ATTRACTS AND KILLS ALL FLIES. Neat, clean, ornamental, convenient, cheap. Lasts all season. Made of metal, can't spill or tip over; will not soil or injure anything. Guaranteed effective. Sold by dealers, or 5 by express, prepaid, $1.00.

ARTHUR SOMERS, 149 De Kalb Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Guaranteed 4500 and 7000 Miles

No agents or salesmen. If you want to save money on tires, write us for particulars.

Like $ 25 Discount

AUTOMOBILE TIRE & SUNDRIES CORP.

The Finding of Jasper Holt

BY

Grace Livingston Hill Lutz

Author of "Marcia Schuyler", "Phoebe Deane", "The Obsession of Victoria Gracen", etc.

Jean drew back and attempted to look out into the car, but the curtains were jammed tight by some heavy object which had fallen against them, and she could get no idea of the situation on that side. When she at last succeeded in pulling the curtain away enough to look she saw only a dark precipice below, with writhing forms and jumbled shapes. No one seemed to have thought of any way of escape for the passengers, or to be making any attempt to get them out before it was too late. The shouts and cries that came from below had no authority among them. It was plain that the only hope of escape was through the broken window and down into that abyss of water and fire below.

Jean drew back and felt carefully around for her shoes. She could not take much with her, and she must work rapidly. The shoes and little handbag were almost under her, and she drew on the shoes, fastening a button or two. She hesitated a second with her hand on the precious bag. All her money, her trunk check and her little bits of jewelry were in it. She must save them if she could. Those papers that had been trusted to her were there also. Quickly she stuffed the bag within the breast of her garments and fastened it there with a large safety pin, with which she had fastened the berth curtain the night before, when a refractory button kept coming undone. Her heart gave a leap of excitement. Now, in her need she remembered it, and, groping, found it there in the semi-darkness, big enough to be found when wanted, and to hold the bag in safety.

She gave one frightened look out the window at the growing, widening horrors below, and then began slowly, cautiously, to creep through, feet first. It was a dangerous and painful task, as there was much glass still adhering firmly to the window frame, and she found that she had to draw back at first and hunt up her hair brush with which to break away the sharp edges and make the opening large enough.

It seemed an hour, though in reality it was but a moment or two, before she finally succeeded in getting out of the window, so that she clung, suspended, both arms still inside the berth, but her body hanging over the abyss of black depths mingled with flames.

Dark shapes were moving about down there, dark, moaning creatures were dropping with sickening splashes into the water. She dared not look to see if they rose. Her head grew light, and she felt her fingers slipping. Her strength would not hold her long, and she was almost on the point of trying to creep back inside the berth when a long cry as of the lost, mingled with moans and screams of women and children, arose from below, and she saw a great sheet of fire leap up and lick the lower end of the very car to which she clung. She could feel the heat of it where she was, and but for the slight inclination of the car it would have been between her and the water.

With a low moan of horror she closed her eyes and let herself drop. Down, down, she felt herself falling, through aeons of time and space, and knew that she was wondering how her mother would bear it when she heard. Then the shock of the water, and darkness closed over her in a smothering chill.

CHAPTER III.

She came up again gasping, choking, aware of the shouts and the noise, of the struggling figures and dropping objects; aware that she was only one more in the way and might better have stayed where she was; then struck out feebly; but something fell upon her head, something soft like a pillow, perhaps, but enough to pue her under water again, and she felt that this was the end.

When she could get her breath again a strong arm was pulling her away from the crowd and noise. There were things in the way, people and heavy objects but she was being steered through them all, out of the labyrinth of horror and into dark, still waters.

There followed a long stretch of toiling through the water, which seemed like ages. When her breath came in gasps, and her heart seemed pounding her very life away as she ploughed through the blackness, making a brave effort to keep up with the strong, steady stroke beside her, though scarcely aware of what she was doing. Life seemed going from her ebb by ebb and it was not worth while to try to hold on to it any longer, and yet the memory of her mother's fears kept her trying. After that she kept on, unconscious of anything save that she must keep going, she must, she must—till finally even that dim impulse flickered out and the water flowed about her very soul; softly, dreamily possessing it. Yet still she was drawn on and on through the blackness to a distant shore.

He dragged her up on the bank at last, the man who had saved her out of the chaos of peril and brought her with him at the expense of his own almost exhausted strength. He was gasping and all but finished himself, when he dropped beside her among the tall reeds that served to shelter them from the night, and for a few moments they lay quiet, passive; the girl unconscious, the man panting for breath and unable as yet to think what to do next; two stranger souls in common peril, knowing naught of each other or of what was before them.

In a moment, however, the chill of the night roused the man and he shivered and sat up. Whoever it was that he had saved—a woman—her long hair and trammeling garments had already told him that—she would die if she lay long in that condition. What could he do?

He shivered again and got up. He shook the water from himself. His splendid strength reasserted itself and his breath was steady now. He was surprised that even a swim like that, encumbered as he was with heavy clothing and shoes, and bearing another helpless creature, should have knocked him out so completely. Then he reflected that he had lost much sleep during the past few days; still, that was not enough to make him feel so worthless. He shook himself again and stretched his muscles, as he used to do on the football field in his near-by boyhood days, after a knockout, when he heard the call back into the game. If ever there was a call to come back into the game it was now, for this woman would die if he did not do something at once.

The night was wild and chill. Across the river, farther away than he dreamed they had come, the sky was lurid with the fire that flared grotesquely against the darkness. The current must have carried them down stream as they crossed. He had thought to go back and help save others so soon as he had this one safe, but the way was far and this woman was apparently helpless, perhaps unconscious, or at least exhausted. If she lay here in her wet garments she would die from the cold. He must get her to her feet and keep her warm somehow.

Stooping, he lifted her light weight and bore her farther up the bank into the woods, then laid her down on the ground and knelt to listen to her heart. It was beating weakly. If only he had fire or stimulant or both! Perhaps there was a house somewhere near. He would carry her a little way and see. So he picked her up again, holding her close to keep her warm, and struggled on through the thick undergrowth in the darkness.

That night was an experience to be remembered through a lifetime. The young strength of the man seemed to revive with the necessity, and he carried the woman a long distance before, with the warmth of his body and the motion of the going, the girl came to her senses and was able to walk for herself.

For the first instant of her waking to consciousness her soul seemed to stand still with horror. Where was she and who was carrying her? What would happen to her? Would she ever see her home and friends again? The questions rushed madly through her mind and almost paralyzed her thoughts for an instant. Then memory reasserted itself. All the facts of the disaster as she had seen them, came back. She knew that whoever was carrying her must have saved her out of kindness. She knew that he must have had to swim alone during at least a par tof the way through the water, for she could distinctly remember, now, the horror of being unable to keep up any longer. Then there was something else, a kindly, strong, impersonal clasp that made her unafraid. After a minute she signified her ability to walk, and he set her down at once yet held her arm and put his own about her for support.

"If you can walk it will keep you warm," he said briefly; and with no apology for his arm about her he hurried her on, it was all she could do to keep up with his pace, and when her feet faltered he seemed to almost lift her from the ground as he still strode on.

"We must keep going," he said again, and he had no more breath to waste in words. On and on they went, but still they did not come to any human habitation. Finally when he saw that she could go no further, and that she needed rest, he made her sit down in a sheltered place behind some trees. Later, when she was almost asleep, she knew her head was resting against his shoulder. Once in the night she awoke and saw the blazing pile, and realized that a man's coat was spread over her and she was warm and comparatively dry. There was no one in sight, but she heard a step not far away and the crackling of breaking branches. She did not wonder how the fire came. She slept again.

It was in the early dawn that she awoke sharply as if she had been called, and stretching her stiff limbs looked wildly about her, startlingly aware of the night that had passed and her strange isolation with an unknown man.

He lay upon the ground at the other side of the fire which had been piled high with wood and was burning beautifully, his strong fine figure stretched wearily at full length, the brown curly hair tumbled back from his bronzed face, which in spite of its soil and grime showed a manly beauty. The utter weariness and relaxation of his body made him seem like a boy.

The girl looked and wondered, and turned away to remember. He must have had to swim with her quite a distance, and drag her to land after she ceased to help herself. Also, he must have carried her a long journey. He had upheld her when she walked beside him, and had sat against a tree and made her lean against him part of the time while she slept. Then how did he get that fire? Some mystery known to woodcraft no doubt. She glanced at herself with the thick brown coat tucked carefuly about her still. She touched it softly, almost reverently with her finger tips. It was dry. He had contrived to dry it and put it about her!

She looked over at the man again. He wore a brown flannel shirt and heavy trousers like the coat. He must have been cold himself without his coat while she slept in comfort. And he had stayed awake all night to keep the fire going to dry her things and keep her warm!

There were tears in her eyes as her glance lingered on the boyish face. She pictured writing to her mother what he was like, this strong man like an angel who had saved her. Then she shuddered at the thought of the wreck and all she had gone through. What would have been her fate if he had not put his arm beneath her when she was sinking?

Presently, as the dawn crept higher up the sky and lit the world with rose and golden light, she stole shyly from her couch under the treet and, stepping softly, came to where he was and tucked the coat carefully about him as he lay, one cheek pillowed on his arm. Her hand brushed lightly against his hair, and she marvelled at its softness—like a baby's. His skin, too had that clear ruddy glow of perfect health, even beneath the grime of the night. She looked down on him with wonder and a great gratitude that seemed to almost overwhelm her. Perhaps all people felt so toward men who had saved their lives, but Jean Grayson had never before seen a man who seemed one-half so strong and great and good as this mere boy looked to her now in the early light of morning, asleep upon the ground and soundly unaware of her tender ministration.

She slipped away quietly without wakening him, and stood a moment looking about her upon the strange unknown world, wondering where she was. What state was this? She could not even be sure of that. Then she looked down at herself.

She wore the long black Pullman robe of soft silk, sadly draggled now and torn in two or three places. How beautiful and fine it had been but a few short hours before! And her other pretty clothes that had been bought and made so carefully at the cost of such family sacrifice? Were they all gone? Would her trunk burn up? Or had it gone on ahead of her when she had stopped to visit her friends and so escaped destruction? But she dismissed the thought as unworthy of one who had but just escaped with her life. What were clothes beside life? But how was she to go on with her journey looking like this? Her pretty traveling gown! She felt a pang for that. Well, she must do the best she could.

Her hair was the worst of all, but she could put that right. Her precious handbag! She put her hand to her breast to be sure it was there safe. Yes, it was still fastened to her clothing, though the pin had torn away and there was but a small hold of the cloth still in it. She pulled it out and examined it, seated behind a tree away from the fire and the sleeping man. Yes, the bag was safe, and its contents, but its beauty was gone, for the thin leather finish was blistered and peeling from the inner lining. The things inside were all there, even the strange man's leather case, wrapped in a wet pulp of paper. She took the paper off and threw it from her; then realizing how few worldly goods she was now possessed of, she reached and spread the paper out to dry. It would be needed, of course.

Her small store of money was safe, and her bits of pins and watch, the little timepiece ticking bravely on as if it were alive and trying to be cheerful under adverse circumstances.

Jean took out her combs and hair pins which she had stowed in the pocket of her handbag that they might be easily found in the morning, and felt rich indeed to have them. They would assist very materially in her toilet.

With the aid of the combs she presently had her hair soft and shining in its accustomed coils and fluffy masses, for fortunately for her appearance that morning her hair was of the kind that tries to curl in spite of floods and winds, and it fluffed its prettiest with the first rays of the sun glinting over it.

The handbag held, among other things, a needle and both black and white thread. With their aid Jean mended the rents in her robe, and managed to make herself look quite like a maiden of the present day. Then wrapping the soiled paper about the disfiguring leather case she stowed it with a shrug of disdain in the disfigured bag once more and started forth in search of water to wash off the stains of the night.

Her hands were badly scratched and one had been bleeding. She remembered the glass and wondered now how she had escaped with so few scratches as she had.

But water she could not find within sight of the fire, and she dared not go further lest she get lost. She found, however, a dense growth of bushes bearing great luscious berries, and though they were not exactly like any berries with which she was familiar, she decided that they were probably edible, and gathered her hands full. Then, coming softly back near the fire, she looked around for a suitable place for the breakfast table. The sleeper had not awakened. She went about cautiously and found a great flat rock quite near where he lay that would do beautifully. Here she laid her berries on a dish of green leaves, with their points all radiating from the center and two large leaves, one on each side, for plates.

Then remembering something, she opened her handbag again.

The day before, when her cousins had been taking her sightseeing, they had treated her to ice cream sodas, with which had been served a tiny envelope of wax paper containing three small wafer crackers. She had put hers in the bag, laughingly declaring that she would eat them on the train when she was hungry, and one cousin had added her envelope as well. She had not thought of them when she opened it before, but now she hurried to bring them forth. Of course they would be spoiled! But no—the envelopes were still about them, and though somewhat damp they had retained their shape and looked exceedingly good to a hungry mortal.

Eagerly she set them forth, three on each leaf-plate, and hurried back to the bush to get more berries.

Either the soft stepping feet as they went lightly through the grass, or the falling of a stick into the ashes of the fire, disturbed the sleeper, for he awoke suddenly and looked about him.

The girl was gone! That was his first thought.

The look of boyishness fell away from him in a flash, and he rose to his feet and gazed about him anxiously, alertly, as if he feared danger near. Then his eyes fell on the flat rock with its mimic banquet spread forth! A flood of wonder and delight swept into his face and a great tenderness, such as no one of his friends or foes ever dreamed would be hid away anywhere in his nature. He had never played dolls on a rock with some little girl, and moss and acorns for carpets and dishes, but the "playhouse" spirit was there in his heart and leaped at once into consciousness. A table for two! The woman had provided a meal even in the wilderness!

He had been turning about in his mind how he was to get something to eat with neither powder nor hook, and here she had been quicker than he and breakfast was all prepared!

Something stirred in Jasper Holt's heart that he had not known was there, a longing for companionship in his life and home; the table set for two and someone to care! He had never felt its need before and he did not call it by that name now—he merely experienced a strangely beautiful thrill at the new possibilities that life suddenly revealed to him; something higher and better and infinitely sweeter than any of the ambitions and ideals he had hitherto entertained.

He was still standing, gazing in wonder at the table, when the quick crackling of a twig made known her return.

CHAPTER IV.

She stood for an instant, framed in the opening of the trees, her eyes bright, her lips parted, her cheeks pink with the exertion of picking the berries. Both her hands were full of the fruit.

"Oh, good morning!" she said shyly before he could think what to say, "I hope I didn't waken you. I am sure you needed to sleep longer."

His eyes glowed with admiration, and he stood startled at her beauty, marveling that she had accomplished a toilet with so little at her command.

"How about you?" he said, watching her with admiring glance, "You didn't need any sleep at all, I suppose. You were just about all in last night and no mistake."

"Yes, I guess I was," she answered penitently, "and I'm afraid I gave you a lot of trouble, not being able to walk when I should. I can never thank you enough! You saved my life, of course! I never should have got to shore——"

"Forget it," he said with a smile, "It was nothing."

"And you had to carry me a long distance, I am sure you did. I can remember a long time when I know I was not walking. You must be worn out!"

(Continued Next Week.)

Lebanon.

From the Brooklyn Eagle.

Most persons do not know that there exists a little privileged kingdom or province called Lebanon, in northwestern Palestine, on the shore of the Mediterranean. And yet, since 1864, when the Maronites united with their former enemies, the Druses, and fought so wholeheartedly that they obtained unusual consideration from the porte, the people of Lebanon have been free to till their soil and watch their flocks comparatively unmolested. Their population has grown steadily until it is now more than 400,000 and, as a consequence, many Lebanonites have emigrated both to Egypt and America.

Ruth St. Denis and her husband are going to retire from the stage and devote their time to establishing an out door school of dancing, for which purpose they have bought a 25-acre tract of land in the [illegible] Angeles.

"CALLUS CORN LIFT RIGHT

Apply a few drops of "Freezone"

Don't suffer! A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store. Apply a few drops on corns, calluses and "hard skin" on bottom of feet, then lift them off.

When Freezone removes corns from the toes or calluses from the bottom of feet, the skin beneath is left pink, healthy and never sore, tender or irritated.

MARINES SURELY MADE GOOD

But Not Altogether to the Extent One Doughboy "Over There" Imagined.

He was a United States marine who arrived in France as a relief for one of the men who had been discharged upon condition of relief. He spoke no French, and he wasn't aware of the fact that everything in the least town like Brest is named after the sea, which, of course, is "la mer."

Therefore, when he walked down the streets reading the signs his eyes began to open wider and wider. There was the Brasserie de la Marine, the Patisserie de la Marine, the Cafe de la Marine and everything else that possibly could carry the affix "de la marine." Long the "devil dog" scratched his head.

"Gosh!" he murmured. "I always knew the marines were good, but I never had any idea they'd made such a hit as this. By golly, they've captured the whole darned town after 'em."

"FAKE" ASPIRIN WAS TALCUM

Therefore Insist Upon Genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin"

BAYER

Millions of fraudulent Aspirin tablets were sold by a Brooklyn man before which later proved to be compounded mainly of Talcum Powder. "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" the genuine, American made and American owned Tablets are marked with the safety "Bayer Cross."

Ask for and then insist upon "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" and always find them in the original Bayer package which contains proper directions and dosage.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.

British in German Graves.

Viscount Curzon, in the house of commons, was asked if the secretary for war would give an assurance that he would permit the remains of British soldiers buried in Germany to be exhumed and brought home for reinterment, should the relatives desire it as soon as the transport facilities permitted.

Captain Guest (joint parliamentary secretary to the treasury) replied that this matter would receive sympathetic consideration as soon as the conditions of affairs permitted.

Cuticura Soap for the Complexion. Nothing better than Cuticura Soap daily and Ointment now and then needed to make the complexion clear, scalp clean and hands soft and white. Add to this the fascinating, fragrant Cuticura Talcum, and you have the Cuticura Toilet Trio.—Adv.

No Place for Him.

"What are your impressions of no man's land?"

"I didn't get into the war," answered the morose citizen. "My only idea of no man's land is home with spring housecleaning in going on."

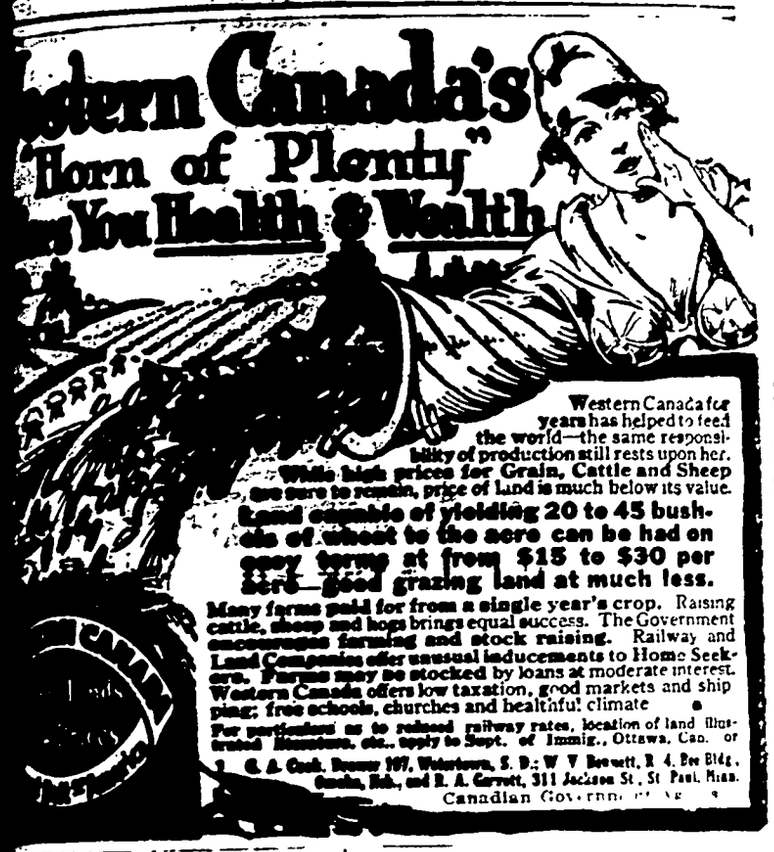
Lots of men who have traces of greatness in their makeup spoil everything by sticking over the traces.

Some men's greatness is due to their smallness.

Your Eyes Granulated Eyelids. Eyes inflamed by exposure to Sun, Dust and Wind quickly relieved by Murine Eye Remedy. No Smarting, just Eye Comfort. At your Druggist's or by mail 60c per Bottle. For Book of the Eye Free write Murine Eye Remedy Co., Chicago.

A cream sauce poured over tender, uniformly wafer-like slices of Libby's Dried Beef makes a delightful luncheon at little cost. Ask your grocer today for Libby's Dried Beef.

Libby, McNeill & Libby
Chicago



Western Canada for years has helped to feed the world—the same responsibility of production still rests upon her. While high prices for Grain, Cattle and Sheep are sure to remain, price of Land is much below its value.

Land capable of yielding 20 to 45 bushels of wheat to the acre can be had on easy terms at from $15 to $30 per acre—good grazing land at much less.

Many farms paid for from a single year's crop. Raising cattle, sheep and hogs brings equal success. The Government encourages farming and stock raising. Railway and Land Companies offer unusual inducements to Home Seekers. Farms may be stocked by loans at moderate interest. Western Canada offers low taxation, good markets and shipping; free schools, churches and healthful climate.

For particulars as to reduced railway rates, location of land illustrated literature, etc., apply to Supt. of Immig., Ottawa, Can. or C. A. Cook, Drawer 107, Watertown, S. D.; W. V. Bennett, R. 4, Bee Bldg., Omaha, Neb., and R. A. Garrett, 311 Jackson St., St. Paul, Minn.

Canadian Government Agents

That "Lost Battalion"

For [illegible] at Strype Press
No [illegible] of the A. E. F.'s history [illegible] on its magnificent [illegible] looks back none the less to that of the beleaguered battalion—the episode of the encircled ravine in the Argonne Forest. It is one of the few stories that have already taken on the character of legend.

Now the unfortunate battalion is surrounded again—surrounded by a great mass of inaccurate detail and misleading comment. For example, the battalion commander, as we all always will be fondly known from Maine to California as Go-to-Hell Whittlesey, under the delusion that he made that ringing reply to the German call for surrender when as he has always scrupulously explained, he made no reply whatever, ringing or otherwise.

Then, too, some not altogether dispassionate observers, feeling that the legend has outgrown all reason, cannot resist a tendency to belittle the achievement. They say that Colonel Whittlesey, once finding himself surrounded, should have fought his way back to the main body of division troops before his own forces were decimated by hunger, wounds and exposure. In saying this they overlook the fact that that course would have abandoned to their fate, while there was yet hope of saving them, 50 American boys wounded in the advance on the ravine.

[illegible] Relief is contemplating [illegible] fact that the battalion would [illegible] surrounded at all if the [illegible] had succeeded perfectly and [illegible] gone wrong. Naturally if nothing [illegible] wrong we should never have heard of the Light Brigade nor [illegible] a thrill for us now in [illegible].

[illegible] spirit displayed by [illegible] that ghastly week [illegible] reason the foreg[illegible] and to see them [illegible] they were [illegible]. That [illegible] staff [illegible] most [illegible] heard [illegible] said [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] were right [illegible].

Located

[illegible] Globe-Democrat.
"[illegible] [illegible] yesterday?"
[illegible]
[illegible]
He [illegible] graph[illegible]

Sold

[illegible]
"[illegible]
"Sold!
"[illegible] you [illegible] for?"
"[illegible]

When One Seeks a Housemaid

[illegible] the [illegible]
Prospective Housekeeper—[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]

Timorous

[illegible]
[illegible] after
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible] steam

Plays Better

[illegible]
"[illegible] would [illegible] noted
[illegible]
States
[illegible] but yo[illegible]

The Next Crusade

We [illegible]
I suppose I'm [illegible] we [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

With real summer and hot weather at hand your thoughts naturally turn to this store and its great variety of comfortable clothing.

You'll find it a pleasure to choose your summer suit and furnishings from our complete assortments.

The newest suits	$15 to 60
The newest shirts	$1.50 to 12
The newest hats and caps	$1 to 10
The newest Underwear	$1 to 4.50

All priced with the determination to give our customers the best money can buy.

PATTON BROS.

Mason City, Iowa

"Where a dollar does it's duty"

I scream U scream We all scream

for

ICE CREAM

Our soda fountain is running in full blast now and we have the very best in Sodas, Malts, Sundaes etc. Get a quart of our delicious Ice Caerm for your Sunday dinner.

"If It's To Eat---We Have It"

CRYSTAL CAFE

Elder & Fuller, Props.

DOCTOR MISSMAN

PHYSICIAN SURGEON

OFFICE--State Savings Bank Building, 'Phone No. 1105

RESIDENCE--North of Park, 'Phone No. 1109

X-Ray Radiographs Electrical Treatments

Eyes Tested Glasses Fitted

Now is the time to make a noise like Spring!

Now is the time to make plans for this year's garden. We have everything you need in that line:-

Garden Spades Forks Hoes
Rakes Plows Garden Seeds
Don't overlook your Lawn or Flowers
Better get some of our Grass Seed and Flower Seeds. Buy a Lawn Mower.

J. W. WATERMAN

The City Dray Line

Is prepared to do your hauling carefully and promptly.
Your patronage is respectfully solicited.
Charges Reasonable.

Henry P. Yahnke, Prop.

Coal Hauling Done

Osteopaths have a four year course and are licensed physicians. adv.

Holly Lewis is now working at the J. P. Larsen Meat Market.

FOR SALE—Pure bred Holstein bull, nine months old. C. V. Marshall

Harry Roberts spent Sunday at Mason City.

An Eddie Polo Picture at the Idle Hour every Saturday night. adv.

Fred Blank is now back on his old job at the depot as assistant.

Something special at the Idle Hour every Saturday, see Eddie Polo. adv.

Alvin Freie was an over Sunday visitor at Mason City.

Big feature show at the Idle Hour Saturday night. adv.

Mrs. Chas. Ax was a Garner visitor between trains Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Fuller autoed to Mason City Saturday afternoon.

Fishing has been good the past week, ask any of the local sports.

Mrs. A. H. Meyer spent Sunday at Garner visiting with friends.

John Etchen drove to Garner Thursday on business.

John Kline, of Garner, was in Klemme on land business Tuesday.

We recommend, sell and guarantee Gould Storage Batteries. Henry Lau & Son. adv.

August Lau is the owner of a new Briscoe car which he purchased of Henry Lau & Son.

Wm. Bachman and son, Clarence, were business callers at Garner Tuesday between trains.

C. C Tessier, the electrician from Garner, was in Klemme on business Tuesday between trains

MILK COWS for sale, or will trade for some young stock. J. B. Spittler. adv-tf.

C. C. Tessier, the electrician has an ad in this issue which is well worth reading.

R. A. Jorgenson was a Garner business caller between trains last Saturday afternoon.

Don't miss the Eddie Polo Pictures at the Idle Hour every Saturday night. adv.

Herman Heppen was a Kanawha visitor Sunday. He drove over in his car.

Isaac Sweigard, of Garner, was a business caller in Klemme Tuesday and also visiting old friends.

Attorney W. H. Ramsay, of Garner, was a business caller in Klemme on Tuesday.

Sheriff Jim Ross, of Garner, was in Klemme on official business Tuesday of this week.

Dick Bamman was a Garner business caller between trains Saturday afternoon.

Ed. G. Ell was a Mason City business caller Monday. He went over to get a car.

Ed. Wellemeyer, of Garner, was a Klemme business caller Monday between trains.

Alvin Freie played the drums with the Goodell band at Goodell Decoration Day.

Lee and Harry Ell autoed over from Mason City Monday to continue work on their houses.

Miss Blanche Liljenberg is taking a vacation from her duties at the Crystal Cafe.

WANTED to buy—a good wall tent. Inquire at G. P. McCullough's Barber Shop.

Harvey Stille, who has been working at Belle Plaine, returned to Klemme last Wednesday.

Morrice Hanson is the proud possessor of a car which was presented to him by his dad.

Rev. and Mrs. A. H. Meyer, Ella Ridder, Deloris Koerner, Blanche Medaus, Glena Gruetzmacher, Emil Bier, Fern Ulrich and Mildred Anderson attended the Epworth League convention at Dows last week. They were gone from Monday until Thursday.

FOR SALE:-Monarch six hole range used 1 1-2 years, good as new, good reason for selling and will sell for reasonable price if taken at once. Call at this office.

Chas Ax purchased the 160 acre of John Bitker known as tne Hartke place, yesterday. The consideration was $180 per acre.

Verner Lewis arrived in Klemme yesterday afternoon. We did not learn if he had received his discharge from the navy.

Carl Suckow has resigned his position at the J. N. Day store and is now working with his brother John, in the carpenter trade.

A number of Klemme people autoed to Garner Sunday evening to hear the Baccalaureate address given by Father Baumholdt.

Dr. R. W. Schultz, Osteopath, of Garner, will be at the Hotel Klemme on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings, 9:00 to 12:00. adv.

A. L. Strieby and family returned Saturday from Forest City where they have been visiting Mrs. Strieby's folks for about a week.

Johnnie Etchen received a card from his brother, Albert, stating that he had arrived safely in New York last Thursday.

Walt Bloom is still in town and says he likes it so well and is having such a good visit with old friends that he will remain about a month yet.

G. P. McCullough and Billy Busch "borrowed" a car Sunday and went to Garner for a little joy ride. They got scared and came right back.

Casie Blank returned Monday from over-seas service. Casie was in France about seven months. He says he is tickled to be back home again.

Oscar Musfelt has resigned his position at the Rock Island depot and is now working in the E. G. Ell garage as book-keeper and accessories man.

C. V. McCullough, of Garner, A. F. Marshall and W C. Keller, of Northwood, visited with G P McCullough last Thursday.

Will Lillibridge, who is working for his brother, Ray, returned Saturday from a week's visit at Grundy Center, Iowa.

The many friends of Billy Werner will be glad to learn that he is feeling much better and is regaining his health. Billy is at the Bolder Lodge Sanitarium at Fort Dodge.

Fred Radloff returned from camp Sunday. We understand that Fred was appointed to break cavalry horses while he was in the camp and has been doing that work for some time.

C. W. Wiles, Howard Doyle and Gus Frahm drove to Forest City last Friday where they made some deals with cars. They also returned with an Overland 90.

Quite a number of farmers around here have done some corn planting until the rain stopped them. Corn and small grains are looking good around here.

Gould Storage Batteries represent the latest advancement in the are of Dependable Storage Battery Construction, exemplified by Gould Built, Gould Designed, Superhard Dreadnaught Plates. adv.

Mr. Ralph Deane, the gentleman who directed the home talent play here a few weeks ago, was in Klemme last Friday evening visiting with friends.

A perfectly adjusted spine cures a "lame back" and insures good nerves, freely circulating blood, and a perfect digestion. Treatment will be given in your home when necessary. Telephone message may be left at the Hotel to be delivered to Dr. R. W. Shultz. tf

Mrs. Frank Wenck is enjoying a visit fro mher nieces, the Misses Dorothey and Pearl Luchsinger, of Renwick, Iowa, who came last Friday for a week's stay.

Chas. Papousek, of Garner was a business caller in Klemme last Thursday. We understand that Charlie has started an Electric Shop at Belmond. Chas. will sure make things hum around Belmond and we can say that the people of Belmond have as good an electrician as can be had. We wish Chas. all kinds of good luck.

Try a want ad in the Times—it brings results.

We have it! What

Everything

Which is found in only the best and most up-to-date Meat Markets.

You will always find a complete line of Choice Meats, Hams, Bacon, Fancy Meats and Canned Goods

Try Our Oleomargarine---It's Fine

J. P. Larsen & Son

Your President Said This--

"The life of the nation is in the success of the rural communities....."

The success of a rural community such as this lies in community co-operation.

There are few better places to live in then this—and there a lot which offer less in advantages and comforts.

So long as we live here lits do everything we can to make this community an ideal place in which to reside.

Lets buy and sell at home and be good neighbors—we will all profit by it.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Klemme Iowa

Subscribe Today at $1'5

All Kinds of Hardware

HARDWARE AND GROCERIES

Stoves and Furnaces

Paints, Oils, Feed, Flour, Cream Separators, Buggies, Wagons, Gasoline Engines.

All Kinds of Farm Machinery

GREUTZMACHER BROS.

KLEMME DRAY LINE

LLOYD LAU, PROPRIETOR

A share of your patronage is solicited.

All work attended to promptly and carefully

Coal Hauling Done Promptly

Telephone No. 14

M. O. HOCUM

The Grain, Coal and Live Stock Man.

We will buy Hogs and Grain six days in the week at Highest Market Price

Successor to W. R. Bloom

DR. L. R. PARSONS

DENTIST

Office 1st Floor State Savings Bank

Phone No 48.

Klemme Iowa

KLEMME TIMES

...y-third Year Number 40 | Klemme, Iowa, Thursday, June 12, 1919 | $1.50 In Advance. $2.00 Outside of County

A Word Regarding

Electric Ranges

And Other Electric Appliances

...e are many electric appliances on the market today, ...t, too many for the public to make a good selection ...e are, however, a few RELIABLE makes that have ...the market for years and their reliability has been ...n in a thousand homes. One of these is the

WESTINGHOUSE

...n you buy a Westinghouse appliance of any kind you ...from the LARGEST electrical manufacturers in the ...today; BAR NONE.

...n't sell an electrician a "bum" article in his line, ...y can't sell me, nor will I sell my customers any- ...only what is universally considered to be the best.

I SELL

...estinghouse Stoves

...oover Vacuum Cleaners

...t-Point Irons and Toaster

...oodrow Washing Machines

BECAUSE

...I KNOW there are no better articles made

...rience will soon show after you buy a horse, for ex- ..., whether the critter will kick or not. Experience ...own me likewise that the above articles are of the ...nd that I'll have

NO KICK COMING

...those that buy them. You assuredly will make no ...ke in relying upon me to judge electric appliances ...ou. Respectfully,

C. C. Tessier

...Electrician Garner, Iowa

The Feeling of Assurance

...bank account gives is worth many times the effort ...d to establish one at this bank. Because this feel- ...assurance plays a large part in the Success of Life

...boy should have it at an early age. Give him as- ...ce and self-reliance by entrusting him with an ac- ...t today.

...State Savings Bank

KLEMME, IA.

OBITUARY
Anna Margeret Nelson

The deceased, Anna Margeret Nelson, was born in Denmark in 1847. She came to America when 21 years of age All but one year of the time since then until her death her residence has been in Klemme or it's vicinity She was married to her first husband, Jacob Nelson, in 1870; from which union there were born four sons and one daughter, all of whom were presnt at th funeral services. She was married to Mr Tommie Nelson, who survives her, in 1881, and to whom were born two sons, Tommie and Andrew Death came to her on last Sunday morning as it comes to those who are weary from toil and wish rest She is mourned by her husband, seven children, nineteen grandchildren, and four great-grandchildren, and will be deeply missed by all who knew her in Klemme The funeral services were at the Methodist Church at 2 30 p m the sermon being preached by the Rev Howdeshell, a former pastor of the church. The large number of friends present, together with the beautiful floral displays, testified to the high esteem in which Mrs Nelson was held, and everyone who had formed acquaintance with her, especially in her late months of suffering and patience, will feel they have lost a true and worthy friend Interment was at the Klemme cemetery

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends and neighbors for their kindly assistance during the illness of our beloved wife and mother, for their sympathy in the hour of our deepest sorrow and for the beautiful floral offerings.

Tom Nelson, Sr., and Children

A couple of weeks ago we were in the office of the clerk of the courts. It was shortly after several cases of booze had been seized at Corwith As we gazed upon that quantity of stuff that makes hiccoughs, we thought to ourself, "It will be strange if someone about this place does not contract 'em" Sure enough, it happened For nearly a week Clerk of the Court Baumgartner has been confined to his home with what was really a serious case of hiccoughs. For a day or two August's condition was more serious than this article would indicate, but he is getting along nicely, and a "little poke in the ribs" will not hurt him. The trouble is of old standing with Mr Baumgartner For a number of years he has been bothered with gastritus, and at times is subjected to violnt pain This time the gas in his stomach started him hiccoughing and for several days it puzzled his attending physician to stop them. An attack of hiccoughs when prolonged into several days, is no funny stunt, as Gus will testify —Garner Democrat

WM SUCKOW AND MISS BREDLOW UNITED IN MARRIAGE

Mr and Mrs. Wm Suckow arrived in Klemme last Friday from Vinita, Oklhaoma

There is more to it than merely the local above "Bill" slipped quitely down south on day to pull off a big surprise to his friends and when he came back he had a blushing bride on his arm. The lady of his choice was formerly Miss Bredlow. Both are excellent young people and are highly esteemed by their many friends who wish them lots of happiness. We undrstand that the young people have gone to house-keeping on a farm near here.

CAMP MEETING THIS WEEK

The annual camp meeting began session at Garner Monday of this week and as usual the rainy spell goes with it. Whenever there is a camp meeting on at Garner it is a sure sign of rain. Seems to be something peculiar about it. They should have arranged with the weather man to have held their meeting last week when it was raining and save all the bother of having another rain again this week.

Pennsylvania Pioneer.

John Harris, after whom Harrisburg, Pa., was named, organized the first corps of riflemen on the Susquehanna to protect his infant settlement from Indians.

FISHING HAS BEEN GOOD THE PAST WEEK

Our local nim-rods have a lot of success fishing the past week even if the weather was cold and wet. Sunday most verybody who liked to fish were either out along the river or at the lakes fishing. Most all of them brought in some dandy strings of fish. One bunch of fellows drove over to Twin Sister Lake in a truck and brought back the biggest catch of the season, they actually had the back end of the truck loaded with fish.

FAILED TO PUBLISH MINUTES

The attorney for the Iowa River Light and Power Co., has amended his petition in the matter of the injunction proceedings against the city, alleging that the ordinance is null and void for the reason that the city council failed to publish any of the proceedings leading up to the passage of the ordinance as required by law. The council has never officially published any of the minutes since the law went into effect July 1, 1917. There are no ifs or ands about the law. It distinctly says the minutes Shall be published. It now looks as if it would have been much cheaper for the city had the council complied with the state law.—Ex.

SPREADING OVER THE WORLD

Brimming full of that confidence which brings success, and that active energy which creates success, the Ford Motor Company are establishing assembling plants in Copenhagen, Denmark, and in Cadiz, Spain.

The Ford Motor Company believes the war is over, that a new dispensation has been established, and that the sooner American manufacturers can align themselves to the new conditions and reach out to meet the great demands of the world, why, the quicker the havoc wrought by the war will have been effaced. The quicker we can get international business at work, the sooner will the horrors of the war disappear and the earlier we can reach out our hand of trade to help, the earlier will be the disappearance of hate and enmity between people.

The Ford Motor Company believes if you want the foreign market, go to it. Don't wait for it to come to you. Take what you have to sell to the market, and there show its advantages to the people who visit that market and to the people who buy in that market. If you wish foreign trade, become an active, living part in the red blood of that trade. The whole world is a market today for American enterprise, and who realize this truth and make honest efforts to get that trade, will have it.—adv.

MUST PUBLISH PROCEEDINGS

A law created by the last legislature requires school boards of independent districts to publish a report of their proceedings with a schedule of the bills allowed at least quarterly, under the bill of Senator Foskett, which was enacted. This bill comes as a direct demand of the people all over the state and newspapers should get copies of the law, and insist on its observance by their school boards.

FIRST M. E. CHURCH
A. H. Meyer, Pastor

Praching service Sunday morning at 11:00 o'clock. Sunday School at the close of the preaching services.

Epworth League Sunday night at 8:00 o'clock. Preaching service at 8:30. Special music by the church choir.

Midweek prayermeeting on Tuesday evening. A hearty welcome to all who worship with us.

ENGLISH METHODIST CHURCH

Services next Sunday as follows:

Morning worship at 10:30. Subject of the sermon, "Stations on the Way to the Blessing."

Sunday School following the morning service.

The evening song service and worship will be at 8:15. Some special music at each service. Everyone is cordially invited to all the services.

Windmill Electricity.

Windmills are used to generate electricity in the Netherlands, where waterpower is scanty. The wind acting through the windmill drives the generator, producing the electricity, which is then stored in a storage battery and used for various purposes.

Harold Livermore, of Garner, came Friday evening for a visit with Ye Editor "Lefty," as he is better known among his friends, was recently discharged from the service after serving Uncle Sam two years as a radio operator in the navy. Livermore has gone thru some exciting experiences while in the service. He will he remembered by many as the young man who was on the fated ship Tyler when it was torpedoed twice 200 miles off the coast of France by a German submarine, and sinking in less than three minutes after it was struck. The men on board had to jump for the water and many were caught in the suction of the ship going down. Livermore was one of the lucky lads to get away but was in the water several hours before being picked up. His chum and bunkie, Leo Carey was among those who perished. Livermore has been about in every land on the globe during his service and has seen many sights but says he is perfectly willing to keep his feet on solid ground for the rest of his life. Since the armistice was signed h ewas on a large boat bringing back troops.

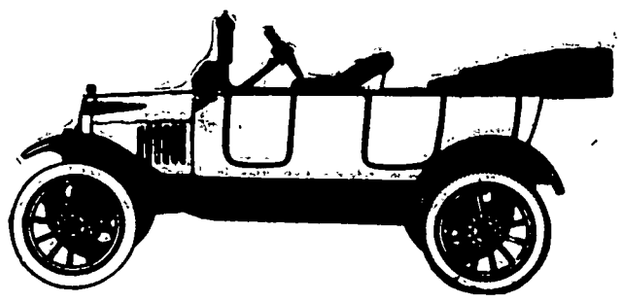
It was reported to us the other day that quite a little excitement was caused over a quaranine sign between the cop of Goodell and Tom Hamilton. It seeems that the Marshall had taxed Tom too much for putting up the sign and then taking it down. An arguement was started which came to blows, the cop soaked Tom a couple and then Tom soaked the cop a couple which put him to sleep and he dreamed sweet dreams of birds singing and saw pretty flowers and several hundred stars, all at the same time. It was the end of a prfect day for the cop. That is about as much as we could learn of the matter.

GOULD BATTERIES are rugged in construction and lasting in their performance. The secret of their long life is in the hard paste plates, this construction has never been successfully imitated by any competitor. It was the Gould Battery with the Dreadnaught Plates that was principally used in Uncle Sam's Navy, and Uncle Sam's Navy buys the BEST. Adv-tf.

Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Ford cars are important servants everywhere. They help the family enjoy life, bring the pleasures and advantages of the town within reach of the farmer and give practical service every day in country and town. They require a minimum of attention; anyone can run the Ford and care for it, but it is better to have repairs and replacements taken care of by those who are familiar with the work and have the tools, the genuine materials, and skilled men to do the work promptly. We pledge Ford owners the reliable Ford service with real Ford parts and standard Ford prices



E. G. ELL

Authorized Dealer

THE KLEMME TIMES

RAY A. JORGENSON, PUB.

KLEMME, IOWA

Three large Cleveland employers some time ago adopted a system of basing wages upon the prices of necessities. It is called the H. C. L. pay plan. The workmen are said to like it, even though it does involve the cutting of wages whenever the cost goes down somewhat. Ninety-six items are considered in computing the rate. For every 20 points of variation, 1 per cent of the month's salary is paid in addition. The cost of living was 319 points higher in October than the preceding January, so on November 1 a bonus of 16 per cent was paid. Salaries are increased for skill, irrespective of the bonus.

The army's champion stowaway is 14-year-old Michael Gilhooley. Michael arrived for the first time shortly after demobilization began, was deported by the immigration authorities; reappeared two months later, and was redeported; and now makes his third appearance on the transport Agamemnon. On the two previous occasions he wore a soldier's uniform, but this time he tried to better his luck dressed as a sailor. The boy says that his mother was a Belgian and his father, who came from Cork, died in 1910. He was living with his mother at Charlevoix, Belgium, when a German airplane dropped a bomb on his home, killing her.

A Berlin dispatch says "The ever recurring strikes of miners are causing a catastrophic condition in the Rhenish-Westphalian mining region. One company has declared itself insolvent because of strikes. The demands of the miners have ruined a number of mining companies. Two, which in November last had a reserve of 18,000,000 marks, now have overdrafts at the bank of 12,000,000 marks and have been refused further credit."

A new trade market, ready for business, and able to pay, awaits the exporters of the United States. Lithuania, that little Baltic republic of 7,000,000 inhabitants whose blockade has just been lifted by the American war trade board, looks to this country for immediate shipments of raw materials, machinery and seed. American exports can be sent to Lithuania by way of the ports of Memel, Koenigsberg and Libau, on the Baltic sea, which are easily accessible.

Maximilian Harden, in Die Zukunft, supported by 10 pages of advertisements of German banking companies, says that the only weighty statement in the recent speech by President Scheidemann was contained in the phrase, "WE fight no longer." Germany must submit. Harden enumerates the various steps by which the allies could force their will as soon as the Germans formally refused to sign.

Mrs. J T Harahan, widow of a former president of the Illinois Central railroad, who volunteered as a "searcher" for the military bureau of the American Red Cross in Paris, is said not only to have been the best searcher of them all, but to have gotten better results in locating the "killed, wounded or missing" than any other two searchers put together. She ascribes her success to the fact that she "simply disregarded all red tape."

Francisco Villa has threatened to cut the line of railway between Juarez and Chihuahua City before the end of this week He is reported to have a constantly growing force, now estimated to be 1,000 men, and is known to have captured 1,000 rifles and a large quantity of ammunition at Parral on March 8, and to have taken 30,000 rounds of rifle ammunition at Villa Allende, in the same district.

Stephen Lausanne, editor of Le Matin, considers that it will be impossible ever to reconcile the Monroe doctrine with the idea of a league of nations He says in Le Matin "Is It Violated by the League of Nations? It seems to me monumentally paradoxical and a trifle infantile to pretend the contrary"

The 10th annual convention of the International Association of Rotary Clubs, to be held in Salt Lake City June 16 to 20, inclusive, will be one of the few conventions held in that section of the country that attracts such a large attendance that use of the famous Mormon tabernacle will be necessary

The Rand School of Social Science, the anarchistic school of New York city which is mainly supported by Prof George Herron, once a resident of Iowa, is seeking to restrain the postoffice department from interfering with its efforts to send a pamphlet by Nikolai Lenine through the mails.

In performing his famous "leap for life," in which he rides a bicycle down a 90 foot runway and dives into a tank of water, for the 2,020th time, Max Schreyer was probably fatally injured last week. This time he was doing the stunt for charity, had paid all the expenses himself and had promised his wife it was to be his last performance.

A one week drive throughout the nation will be started on June 23 to raise $9,000,000 for a national victory memorial building to be erected in Washington It will be continued and administered by the regents of the Smithsonian Institution and will be used for international conventions.

London girls are not buying small handkerchiefs any more. During the war while in uniform, they became used to men's handkerchiefs, about 18 inches square, and the general demand, especially in the country, is for the bandana in all colors and designs.

The American system of settling farmers upon government land by distributing it among them either free or at nominal cost has inspired N Petroff, the minister of agriculture of the All-Russian, or anti-bolshevist government, to formulate a similar plan for dividing Russian land among the peasants.

When a Brazilian statesman returned to his native country recently with the report that the United States was about to annex Canada, the Toronto Globe remarked "Canadians live nearer to the United States than Brazilians, and they know better"

Demand that official action be taken to prevent a recurrence of demonstrations by soldiers and sailors, who raided its office, has been made by the (socialist) New York Call in telegrams to Secretary Glass, Secretary Baker and Secretary Daniels.

It is possible to go into air of a temperature of 300 degrees without the body's temperature being raised more than 20 degrees.

A Kansas City church has prefaced its adoption of advertising, as recently advised, by adopting a trade mark.

On the theory that no one would steal a tombstone, a marble worker of Oregon has left his door unlocked for many years. But one day last week someone stole a headstone.

About 8,000,000 letters, or more than 200,000 pounds of mail, have been carried by the New York-Philadelphia air postal service, which celebrated its first anniversary on May 15.

Deaths in Sweden during 1918 exceeded the previous year by 27,000, the increase being ascribed to Spanish influenza, the worst epidemic that has raged in Sweden for the last 100 years.

SPEEDING TRAINS WILL BE HALTED

LeMars City Council Proposes to Make Crossings Safe—Police Chief Instructed to Cause Arrests.

LeMars, Ia., June 9.—At a meeting of the city council Chief of Police Tucker reported that several passenger trains still violated the speed ordinances of the city and were coming in at the rate of 25 and 30 miles per hour, in violation of the ordinance, which establishes six miles per hour as the maximum speed. According to members of the council several crossings in the city are dangerous to the public and speeding of trains makes them doubly so. The marshal was instructed to time trains as they were going over crossings and if necessary arrest the train crew for speeding.

CHILD TOOK FAST RIDE ON REAR OF AUTOMOBILE

Craig, Ia., June 9 — Jess Pebbles drove in from his country home, three miles distant, on business yesterday and came in a hurry. Stopping his machine at the curbing he was surprised to hear called to him from the rear of the machine "Daddy, I am here" It was his 4-year-old daughter who seated herself in the place usually used for an extra tire and in that position had ridden all the way to the city without injury.

UNCERTAIN AS TO FATE OF HER SON IN SERVICE

Cherokee, Ia., June 9 — Is Walter Sones dead or alive? That is the question his mother, Mrs. Joseph Drai[illegible] (formerly Mrs. A. A. Sones, of this city) would like answered. She has received conflicting reports, but still hopes.

A telegram was received from the war department stating that Sones had died of wounds about May 1. Later, however, his mother received a letter from him, dated May 6, stating that he was in a hospital in France. However, nothing has been heard from him since that time, and it is feared the first report is true.

PHONY TALK OVER PHONE TO PASS BAD CHECK

Iowa City, Ia., June 9 — A charge of passing a bogus check for $1,800 has landed Ben H Jones, a former student at the university in the vocational corps during S. A. T. C days, in jail for the second time in a few months.

While in school he was charged with having forged his commanding officer's name to a check He was placed in the guard house for the offense, escaped, and was caught in an automobile on a country road near Iowa City in the company of a girl. His latest offense involves a new Kissel car, the check having been drawn to pay for the machine.

Jones bought the car from the Lukavsky garage in Lone Tree. He has signed a confession in which he admits to holding a fake telephone conversation in an endeavor to establish credit at the First National Bank in Iowa City The young man held the receiver hook down with his hand while "stage talking" for the benefit of Mr Lukavsky, convincing him by a one-sided conversation with the phone that the money was in the bank to cover the check

RESIST COAL RATE RAISE TO THE LAST DITCH

Des Moines Ia., June 9.—The proposal of the railroad administration at Washington to increase the rates on shipment of coal along the line of the Milwaukee in northern Iowa 30 cents per ton has raised a storm of protest from the cities and towns along the Iowa-Dakota division of the Milwaukee. State Railroad Commissioner Charles Webster has just returned from a hearing at Washington, D C., together with Commerce Counsel J M Henderson, with reference to these proposed rates

"I don't see how the railroad administration can have the nerve to increase those rates in the face of the showing made at Washington," said Commissioner Webster. "Commissioners from Minnesota and Wisconsin, as well as shippers, were there protesting against the raise.

LEAVES FUND FOR DEFENSE OF ALLEGED MURDERER

Topeka Kan., June 9.—Lying on her deathbed here, Mrs. Ella B. Reed added a codicil to her will just before she expired, creating a trust of $3,000 which it was stated in the will, "was to be used to pay for the defense of her son Leroy Reed in an action of the court at Covington, Ia., where he is charged with murder."

ROBBER SUSPECT MAKES ESCAPE FROM OFFICERS

Des Moines, Ia. June 9 — Frank Keating, fifth suspect arrested in connection with the robbery of the Iowa State bank, escaped from the custody of Deputy Sheriffs Clarence Best and Gust Patek in Chicago. Keating had been held secretly in the county jail by Sheriff Griffin for several days. When taken to Chicago to show officers where the $3,500 was planted Keating went into a house in the packing house district, and while deputies waited he jumped over a back fence and made his escape

MAPLE VALLEY FIREMEN TO MEET NEXT WEEK

Sac City, Ia., June 9. — The 23d annual tournament of the Maple Valley Firemen's Association will be held at the Sac county fair grounds here next Wednesday June 11. A large number of departments from the northwestern part of the state have entered for the various events and a large attendance is anticipated Band contests will also be staged Good cash prizes are to be awarded winners of contests participated in by the firemen and the bands.

WAR VETERANS TO ASK EXPLANATION

Demand Editor of Des Moines Farm Journal Give Reasons For His Adverse Attitude Toward Home Organization.

Council Bluffs, Ia., June 7.—A delegation of officers and men from the overseas army and navy forces of Council Bluffs and vicinity, members of Rainbow post, World War Veterans, will go to Des Moines next Wednesday to interview Jim Pierce, editor and publisher of the Iowa Homestead, regarding his attitude in public and in his paper towards the people of Iowa who have been faithful in backing the soldiers while they were at war.

His attack upon the Iowa system of soliciting sales of war bonds and funds for the various war organizations, and his especially bitter attack upon the Council Bluffs Military Affairs Bureau and chamber of commerce, are matters which the delegation will ask him to explain.

More than one month ago a telegram to Pierce asking for an interview was met with the reply that Pierce was sick and that he would let the soldiers know when he could see them. Not hearing from him another request was made and after some correspondence Pierce fixed the date for Wednesday.

PAYS $5,000 RATHER THAN STAY IN JAIL

Keokuk, Ia., June 7.—Ury J. Odell, late of Davis county, but at present a resident of Louisa county decided to pay the $5,000 fine imposed upon him by Judge Wade in the federal court here rather than to spend the rest of his life in jail.

Odell was tried at Ottumwa, and sentenced at Keokuk He was given the privilege of buying $3,000 in Victory bonds to apply to that amount on the fine. He was given 30 days in which to pay the fine and buy bonds. This was later extended 15 days more.

Today he was arrested for non-payment of the fine. He pleaded the poor man's act to escape payment, but as he was found to be worth $50,000, the authorities ruled that he would spend his life in jail until the fine was paid.

Odell had retarded the draft.

WORLD WAR VETS PLAN FOR FINE CLUB HOUSE

Davenport, Ia., June 7.—In order to form the American Legion here, the former soldiers and sailors in each ward will be personally canvassed by one officer and three enlisted men from each ward.

The organizers of the legion plan to ask the city council for a club house site on the river front and to erect a club house which shall be a home for all service men.

Securing employment for returned soldiers is a big feature of the legion's program

SCHOOL TEACHERS TO MAKE SCHOOL FURNITURE

Iowa City Ia., June 7.—Those un- of education here has, in effect, gone into the manufacturing business and manual training teachers from virtually all the local schools will manufacture desks and other articles of school furniture this summer

All of the articles will be of special design, it is said, and could not be ordered from catalog. Included in the job sheet are:

One hundred desks, estimated cost $1,900, 100 primary tables, $1,526, 50 book cupboards, $1,650, 60 working benches, $840 and other articles which bring the total to approximately $5,000

Members of the board of education say that at least $3,000 will be saved on the entire job by having it done by the teachers.

CRIPPLED CHILDREN TO HAVE CONSTANT ATTENTION

Iowa City Ia., June 6 - Those unfortunate, crippled children from over the state who come to the university hospital for treatment under the Perkins law, are no longer to be forgotten and deprived of skilled care after they have been discharged from the hospital

Miss Lola Yerkes, of Columbus Ohio, a nurse with experience particularly fitted for post treatment, has been elected to take charge of this new work and will travel over the state visiting the patients. She is a graduate of Ohio State University and has specialized at Bellevue Hospital, New York

Miss Yerkes will report to the university about August 1

"CAMP DODGER" WILL APPEAR ONCE MORE

Camp Dodge, Ia., June 7 The "Camp Dodger" the 88th divisions newspaper plans to issue one more edition and then go out of existence forever The "Camp Dodger" was founded here when the 88th was in training It went overseas with the division, being published over there while the division was in training and even after it went to the front Now, with the division back in the United States being demobilized, its editors have received consent to take over "Taps," the present Camp Dodge paper, and issue one big farewell number of the two papers

After that, it will be "30" for the paper, which has come into national prominence as a camp paper

COUNCIL BLUFFS — Licensing of plumbers after they have been passed by a board of examiners as provided for in an ordinance which the city council has before it for consideration. The ordinance is required by a state law which goes into effect July 4

OSAGE—While working in the field, James Tibbetts, living five miles north of town was seriously injured and his team killed by lightning The young man was unconscious for over 24 hours and it is feared that he will lose the sight of both eyes if he recovers from the [illegible]

NEEDLE INFLICTS SERIOUS INJURY

Young Woman at Harlan Under Surgeon's Knife For Removal of Object Which Penetrated Back.

Harlan, Ia., June 6 — Miss Petrea Hansen, daughter of Deputy County Treasurer Hansen and wife, is suffering from the results of a peculiar accident. Miss Hansen was lying upon an upholstered couch in their home, upon which a long darning needle had become embedded. The needle penetrated her back just below the shoulder, just missing one lung. The needle entered the flesh its entire length, and apparently struck a rib as it became so firmly embedded in the flesh that it was removed with the greatest difficulty. The needle had entirely disappeared, the only indication of its presence being a slight swelling on the skin A physician who was called had to cut the skin to get a grasp on the needle with an instrument.

FINALLY GIVEN DAMAGES FOR INJURIES NINE YEARS OLD

Marshalltown Ia June 6 - After litigation that has extended over a period of nine years, including three trials in the lower court and before the supreme court, the Iowa Central Railway Company, now the Minneapolis & St Louis, recently paid into the office of Clerk of the Courts G W. Gilbert a judgment of $7,500, $2,412.50 accrued interest, and $742.95 in costs, resulting from an accident that resulted in 1909.

The accident was one in which Myles Kelleher, an old engineer, was injured when a drive rod on the engine broke, crashing through the cab.

Kelleher brought suit against the company in August, 1910, after his case had been assigned to J W. Breen, of Missouri Twenty-five thousand dollars' damages were asked, the plaintiff alleging defective upkeep of locomotives owing to inexperienced shop labor, the company then having a strike in its local shops.

AVOCA MAN KILLED IN AUTO WRECK NEAR OMAHA

Avoca, Ia June 6—The body of Samuel H Lee 56, who was killed in an automobile accident near Omaha, was brought to his home here for burial Mr Lee, his wife and baby were caught beneath their car when it overturned He was crushed and died of internal injuries. Mrs Lee's right arm was broken and the baby slightly hurt Mr Lee lived in the vicinity of Avoca for the greater part of his life. His widow and six sons and one daughter survive. All but one son live here or near Avoca.

AUTO DEPARTMENT SOON BACK TO SECRETARY OF STATE

Des Moines, Ia., June 6—The motor vehicle department, which was taken away from Secretary of State W. S. Allen by the Iowa legislature last March and transferred to the office of the state treasurer, will go back as a part of the secretary of state's office July 1 On that date the new secretary of state, Walter Ramsey, of Belmond, Ia., will take his office.

The legislature transferred the department because it did not want the present secretary of state to handle it during the remainder of his term in office. It provided also that as soon as he was out the department should go back to the secretary of state.

State Treasurer E. H Hoyt asserts that the work of registering motor vehicles will be kept up to date and there will be no back applications not taken care of when he turns over the department July 1

WOMAN CITES BURGLAR BUT HE ELUDES POLICE

Council Bluffs Ia June 6 -A sensational dramatic episode in which two burglars and a woman played important parts was neacted here late last night. The woman, passing a 10-cent store, saw the burglars at work on the store safe She went to the central police station two blocks distant to give the alarm In a few minutes police had surrounded the place, but when an entrance had been made to the store the burglars had escaped over the roofs of the three-story building and adjoining structures, leaving a fine overcoat near the safe as the only clue

About the same hour a well known society girl, whose name the police refuse to give out, was assaulted by a negro as she was passing the Bloomer school building Her screams frightened the negro who loosened his grasp on her and she reached home unharmed except for a severe fright and shock

IOWA HARNESS MAKERS MEETING IN DUBUQUE

Dubuque Ia June 6 — The annual convention of the Iowa State Harness Makers' Association was called to order at 10 o'clock this morning at the Hotel Julien Dubuque by President P H. Schattler, of Decorah, with 200 delegates in attendance The address of welcome was delivered by Mayor Saul The convention will last three days and among the entertainment features are an excursion on the Mississippi.

The War Mothers of Maryland have decided that no German made toys shall enter their homes. Its president says "We are bound to refuse forever any German made toys.

HIGH WATER IN CENTRAL IOWA CAUSED BY RAINS

Des Moines, Ia June 6 With heavy rains throughout the central portion of Iowa Monday and Tuesday and creeks and small streams swollen, the Des Moines river within the last 24 hours has risen 2.6 feet The stage today was 8.4 feet with a prospect of further increase before night.

Hon Gideon Robertson dominion minister of labor says the promoters of the general strike in Winnipeg "[illegible] in the ashes of their own

Training Little Children

Suggestions by mothers who have been kindergartners. Issued by The United States Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C., and The National Kindergarten Association, New York, N. Y.

Delightful Occupations for Mothers to Follow on Their Walks With Their Children.

By MRS. BERTHA EMELIN.

WALKS and talks foster a desire for wholesome recreation that can be enjoyed whether the purse is full or empty, that is of benefit physically, morally and mentally, and that can be shared with others. On your walks point out the trees that make a strong appeal to the children; those that bear fruit, also the hickory and chestnut trees, the maples with their keys that fit so snugly on the nose; the oaks with their acorns that can be hollowed out and used as cups or pipes.

Collect milkweed pods and bittersweet with its bright berries to beautify the children's rooms. Pick wild flowers, each in its due season, spring-beauty, violets, wild geranium, daisies, black-eyed Susans, and goldenrod, and you will soon be asked to tell why the bees hover over the flowers, and you will also watch the bees at work.

Keep your eyes open for cocoons in the fall; put them into a wide lantern chimney resting upon a saucer, the top covered with mosquito netting, and await developments. When the butterfly emerges, the children will have had an experience more deeply impressed, because more intimate, than any classroom illustration. As the children grow older, you will try different caterpillars in this same chimney device, and will watch the spinning of the cocoons or the transition into the chrysalid state. Sometimes the children's sharp eyes (usually sooner than your own) will discover eggs already laid on leaves, and you will watch them emerge into wriggling little bodies. One little girl was fortunate enough to see the eggs hatch about ten minutes after she had gathered the leaf, and ever since she has kept her eyes open for another such "find." Frogs, toads and tadpoles are sure to be noticed by the children, and will afford much interesting study if an aquarium can be provided for them at home.

Get acquainted with the birds. Begin in the late fall and winter when there are so few species that they can be easily learned and their notes readily distinguished—the woodpecker, the nuthatch, the chickadee, the junco, the English sparrow, and the white-throated sparrow. When these have become familiar, the early-spring birds will soon be added to the list—the robin, the grackle, the flicker, the meadowlark, the song-sparrow, the bluebird. With these birds well known, the child will possess sufficient knowledge to discover others for himself, and he will find never-ending delight in greeting the birds as the harbingers of the seasons.

The nests that are common, such as the chipping sparrow's in the [illegible], the oriole's, stocking hanging from the branch, the robin's well-shaped nest in the crotch of the tree, and the house-sparrow's careless untidy home will soon be readily recognized.

Development of Imagination.

On your walks retell stories read or heard, both you and the children participating in the telling. Invent stories, basing them on a beautiful sunset which you are witnessing, or on a cloud-scene as the clouds shape themselves into varied forms, or on any other phase of the landscape which may attract you.

Repeat "Mother Goose" jingles as you go marching on; make up jingles yourself and get the youngsters to help. You will have great fun acting out some of your stories like "The Three Billy Goats Gruff," under a real bridge.

Number-Work Preparation.

Count your steps from one post to another (with little ones only ten or twenty). Count forward and backward. Odd numbers, even numbers, simple multiplication table combinations in adding and subtracting, can be well drilled, especially during the colder weather, when out walks briskly and observation or lingering is impossible. Simple problems will be really enjoyed if you use names of playmates and stores and purchases with which the child is thoroughly familiar in his own experiences. Seeds and shells can be used for concrete work in simple adding, subtracting, etc.

At times you will encourage communion with nature, which in more mature years gives a "peace that passeth understanding." Your children will readily accede to your request, "Let us all be quiet for a while," especially at the twilight hour when the sun's glory, and radiance are still reflected in the west.

Moonlight walks, despite the advantage of exceeding the usual retiring hour, have no equal in inculcating children with a sense of the mystery and the power and the glory of the universe, and this experience should not be denied our children. They should be permitted this with the parents at least once each season, when the moon is full and seems to bathe not only the earth, but the innermost soul in soft, healing light.

Then, if you will add a few sunrise walks in the summertime, you will be certain of having stored up in your children and in your own memories and delights that will remain forever.

Please pass this article on to a friend and thus help Uncle Sam reach all the mothers of the country.

DIAGNOSIS ERRORS.

Dr B. C. Cabot made medical profession feel very uncombortable a few years ago when he wrote of the high percentage of errors in diagnosis which he found at autopsy.

A few years earlier, Dr. C. M. Wood, of Maroa, Ill., had made a similar statement relative to cases of consumption coming under his care at the Dunning Hospital for Consumptives. The case coming to Dunning were supposed to have advanced consumption. Most of them had been inmates of Cook county hospital, where the medical service is exceptionally good. In a large proportion of the cases the diagnosis of consumption was erroneous.

If good men make mistakes in diagnosing advanced consumption it is certain that there is a great deal of error in diagnosing early consumption. Symptoms of early consumption are frequently published. These are signs which the persons concerned are able to observe. No one of them is a certain sign of the disease. In fact, they are usually given as signs which should cause suspicion and which should lead to examination.

The examination for consumption to be worth anything must be thorough. It is essential that the clothing be removed from the chest. An examination of a chest for early consumption made through the clothing is worse than a fraud The man who pays for it gets fooled" He has the right to sue the man making the examination for taking money under false pretenses.

It is worse than a fraud because it often misleads, sometimes by frightening a person who has not consumption and sometimes by delaying a true diagnosis until cure is costly or impossible. When the lecturers from the tuberculosis institute warn people against diagnosis made by examination through the clothing they know what they are talking about.

In addition to the examination of the chest there should be microscopic examination of the sputum, consideration of the history and X-Ray examination and a tuberculin test when possible and necessary.

Flying Criminals.

From the London Times.

One of the problems of the future will be the effect which civilian flying will have upon crime and the escape of the criminals In the United States arrangements have already been made for the training of aerial police, and the flying routes during the aviation meeting of the pan-American aeronautical exposition will be guarded by the police next month Aerial police will be required in all countries to prevent violation of the rules of the air, when flying becomes general, but a much more serious problem will be to prevent criminals escaping from the country by airplanes. Customs authorities will undoubtedly deal with the aerial smuggler, and it is possible that the same authorities may be able to do something towards catching the criminal who is trying to get abroad by air The man with nothing incriminating upon him, who is merely anxious to get away in order to secure his own personal safety, has a much more difficult case. It is not anticipated that many criminals will have their own airplanes for some time yet, but when aerial passenger services to the continent become a regular thing they may be used by people anxious to quickly to make their escape.

The medical men of Hamilton, Ont., have decided not to work Wednesday afternoons except by appointment It seems to them that they need a half holiday during the summer months as badly as anybody.

Unsuccessful Artists as Wives.

From the Vancouver Province.

Geraldine Farrar said at a tea at Sherry's:

"Girls who have gone in for the arts, failed, and then married as a last resort, make poor wives.

"I know a girl who married after failing in music. It is reported that her husband said one night in his cups

"'My wife used to play the guitar [illegible] she—hic—picks on me.

Bovine Antics.

From the Edinburgh Scotsman.

Guest—Waiter, are you sure this is tail soup?

Waiter—Yes, sir.

Guest—But I've found something that looks like a tooth in it

Waiter—Well, I don't know sir, but I reckon that ox must ave been bitin' its tail.

The New Version.

From the Kansas City Journal.

"We'll beat our swords into plowshares," proclaimed the poet.

"And straighten our corkscrews and bill files," averred the practical person.

Old Folks O'er and O'er.

From the Pittsburgh Sun.

The coupled were married and repaired to the lakes for their honeymoon. As soon as they arrived they had a meal and then took a boat upon the lakes

The following morning the bride's mother got a postcard which read.

"Arrived safely. Grand row last night."

She read it and sighed

"Good gracious," she muttered. "I didn't think they'd begin to quarrel so soon."

She' Ha'd Boiled.

From Plane News.

"Now all you niggahs wants to git this heah," said a negro sergeant dressing his company, "cause if you don't yo' sho' will be weepin and wailin'. Ah comes from a family dat tough dey manicures dey hands wit sage grinders, an' one day when Ah in de onion patch Ah spits on de [illegible] an' dey all died."

Bismarck's Beer.

From the Christian Science Monitor.

Among the reminders of 1871 evoked the present historic hour in France former scene shows with the vividness of an etching in the description of Julienne Adam, repeating to a reporter what Thiers himself had told her. In the one sided discussion between Bismarck, Thiers and Favre, Bismarck "at each pause drank a big mug of heavy black beer Thiers could not drink, but as he noticed that Bismarck despised him for it, disliked drinking alone and grew, accordingly, worse tempered, he used to bring with him the mayor of Rouen, a worthy man whose name I have forgotten, but who had the greatest capacity both for finance and beer." Thus oddly the very figure of Prussian conquest stands, beer mug in hand; and in the hour of Prussian defeat and humiliation prohibition is cited among the factors that brought victory to the allied arms.

The Jiji Sugroo, a commercial paper of Tokyo, has made a symposium of the opinions of prominent Japanese with respect to American character [illegible] them makes the chief good point in Americans: "The unanimity and resolution with which America entered the war, and her enterprising spirit in business affairs." Another: "The American is downright by nature, and not expert at cunning and intriguing like the Japanese." The president of the Industrial Bank says the Americans "spirit of social service is most remarkable. American is daring, optimistic and never-say-die smiles."

EAL FARM LANDS

...nesota Man at Last Found What He Sought.

...ter Long Search, the Wonderful Productiveness of Western Canada Was Pointed Out, and He Is Going There.

He farmed for a number of years ...r Wisdom, Minnesota, and as Mr. ... Marcy told it, he had done well. ... had made sufficient money to see ... and his wife through their re...ining days.

"But there were the boys," said Mrs. ...rcy, "and six of them, too—some of ...m not yet back from overseas. ... we are proud of them," the fond ...other said, "but, oh! my, we had no ...rl, and she bemoaned that. These ... had to be looked after. "Why not ...ttle them about you in your own ...ighborhood? You have good land ..., splendid neighbors, and everything that might be desired."

"Yes, that is all true," replied this ...timable lady, "but the land is so ...gh-priced we couldn't afford to buy ..., although worth every cent ...ked for it. You see, we have six ...ys, and they are good ones, too."

So, one day, three years ago, Mr. and ... Marcy rigged up the automobile ... a touring trip. They wanted to in...ulge for the boys' benefit. The ...rney lasted for a year. It took ... through Arizona with its varied ...nery, its climatic and agricultural ...ractions; into the canyons of Colo...do they went, and the agricultural ...ssibilities there aroused a large ...ount of interest. Still undecided, ...n into the valleys of California the ...tomobile went. Fruit orchards were ...utiful, grain fields were attractive, ... the psychological time had not ar...ed. Reversing their way, they ...sed through Washington, Oregon ... Montana and home. A year's jour... and no results. "Oh, yes," Mr. ...rcy said, "we had a delightful time, ...joyed it all but the day and night up ... Colorado, when we were held up by ... wonderful snowstorm; we and six ...ers. Planking the snow emoankment, we came through safely, if a ...ttle inconvenienced."

It was interesting to hear these peo...le talk. Their practical minds showed ...at they had not lacked opportunities ... observation. They could not find ...at they wanted for the boys. When ... was between twenty and twenty-... years of age, Mr. Marcy pictured ... himself the kind of a home he ...anted. He reared a family of boys ... had yet to find such a place. His ...ar's journey had been fruitless in ...at respect.

One day he decided he would try ...at Western Canada could do. He ...ad read of it, and he had friends ...ere who had done well. He toured ...e provinces of Manitoba, Saskatche...an and Alberta. He saw the vast ...airies, yielding their twenty and ...enty-five, and as high as forty bush...s of wheat, with enormous yields of ...her grains. The north central coun..., which afforded the grass and the ...ter that made stock-raising a val...le adjunct to the growing of grain, ... visited, interviews were had with ... settlers, many from his own home ...rict, and all were satisfied.

Only the other day he arranged for ... car in which he will load his effects ... be taken to the Alberta farm he had ...rchased when on his visit. Mrs. ...rcy goes with him, and the six boys ... follow. He found the place he ... pictured in his mind when he was ...enty or twenty-five years old. "I ... unable to find it until I made my ...estern Canada visit. I bought the ..., and I am satisfied. When I saw ... carload of four-year-old steers ...ght into the Edmonton market, ...ging 1,700 pounds, that had never ... inside a building nor fed a bit of ..., I was glad I had made up my ...d."—Advertisement.

As He Walks Along.

The local soviet in the town of ...ensk in Russia has discovered ...at everyone else has failed to find, ...mely, a royal road to learning. And, ... every really great discovery, it is ...mplicity itself. Placard the principal ...ecinctfaires of your town with "por...ant brief news items," and what ...ore? Why, a "Street University," ... this way," declares the Izvestia ... citizen, instead of spending years ... bourgeoise university, can pick up ...neral knowledge of the principal ...cts as he walks along." As he ... along. Even so.

An Offset.

... O'Brien—Are yez laundry bills ...igh, Mrs. Casey?

... Casey—Not so very. It's true ... charge be the piece, but they lose ...any pieces it keeps down th' ex...—Boston Transcript.

No Luxury.

"I assure you, my patience was ... to the utmost."

"And yet patience is a necessity."

"Assure glistening white table ... use Red Cross Ball Blue in your ...y. It never disappoints. At all ...grocers, 5c.

...ppy is the connecting link be...en joy and sorrow.

Your Eyes A Wholesome, Cleansing, Refreshing and Healing Lotion—Murine for Redness, Soreness, Granulation, Itching and Burning of the Eyes or Eyelids. After the Movies—Motoring or Golf Murine Instantly Relieves. Ask Your Druggist When Your Eyes Need Care. Murine Eye Remedy Co., Chicago

First Hand Information As to Bolshevist Crimes

Full details as to the crimes of the bolshevists in the outer edges of Russia have reached this country during the past six months, but what men have been most anxious to discover is what has gone on in the interior towns and cities of that land. Mr C D. Wood has just arrived in New York, coming from Berne, Switzerland, a city which has become the center for the Russian refugees. He has just laid before me a mass of material, clippings from Russian newspapers published in towns remote from the frontier, with letters and copies of proclamations, and this testimony therefore, is bolshevist testimony. Out of their own mouths comes this information.

Among these clippings from Russian newspapers, published by the bolshevists, the following titles are typical "Nevel, September 26 1918 —All bourgeois and parasites must repair the roads and clean the streets without remuneration." This means that the professional classes, those who live upon interest or dividends in their old age, and the savings of their maturity, are spoiled of their goods and made slaves" "Bednota, September 20 —No man who is healthy in body and mind should be forbidden to marry as many women as he wishes" This decree establishes polygamy "Nourzillowka, September 16, 1918.—The soviet gives to Comrade Savelieff full power to requisition 60 women and young girls of the bourgeois class and deliver them to the barracks for the men of the artillery division" Signed, Skameikime "Bednota, September 27, 1918.—The soviet has decided to furnish no food to non-bolshevists Saratoff. The surplus belonging to the capitalists in this province is hereby confiscated for the soldiers." "Vitebek, September 17, 1918 The soviet has decided to shoot all anti-bolshevists. Condemnations to death are to be made by the commission and ratified by the president"

A review of scores of Russian newspapers published in the interior towns establishes the following facts as set forth by the bolshevist press.

(a) Schools are closed
(b) Factories are, for the most part, either closed or destroyed.
(c) In many districts in Russia, exchange of articles is the basis of trade.
(d) Forced labor has been established for non-bolshevists.
(e) Serfage exists in concentration camps
(f) Discrimination is exercised against all who do not belong to the Red Guard, official or soviet proletariat
(g) That requisition takes the form of armed bands as in feudal days.
(h) That vengeance on the family takes the place of justice.
(i) That even the right to eat is not granted certain classes
(j) That polygamy is allowed.
(k) That prostitution in some cases is ordered by the government.

All these facts are established, not by opponents of Trotzky and Lenine, but by their own officials and supporters "Out of thine own mouth will I judge thee, thou wicked and faithless servants."

PITY THE POOR LITTLE RICH.

Dr. W R. P Emerson, of Boston, finds more malnutrition among rich children than among the poor The following faulty health habits are responsible for faulty nutrition

1—Use of tea and coffee
2—Omission of milk and cereals from the diet.
3—Fast eating and irregular meals
4—Use of sweets between meals
5—Sleeping with closed windows.
6—Overfatigue.
7—Late hours—
8—Too little time spent in the open air.
9—Irregular living due to lack of home control

Although he does not list them in his numerical list I know that he considers neglected tonsils and adenoids, bad teeth and other physical defects as major factors in malnutrition Of course there are some children who are thin, bony and scrawny because their parents are poor and they do not get enough food or their food is of bad quality, but they are the exception

Dr. Emerson goes into a school at the beginning of the school year and weighs and measures all the children All found to be 7 per cent or more under weight are placed under special observation They are carefully examined. If they are found to have bad tonsils, or adenoids or decayed teeth these defects are remedied

They are weighed weekly and a weight chart is made for each child The worst ones are put in open windows rooms. The stress of school work is lightened They are required to wrap up in a blanket and lie down flat for half an hour in the middle of the forenoon About that time they get a light lunch. At noon they get a full warm meal One session will serve to make a scrawny youth into a rosy cheeked, dimpled lad able to keep up his end at school

Dr. Emerson has been at this work for several years These are some of his conclusions

All children should be weighed and measured at the beginning and once a month during the school year

Parents and teachers of all children 7 per cent or more under weight should be notified that the children may have special attention.

A rest period in the mid forenoon is necessary for under nourished children

While school lunches should be available provision for food is not in itself adequate to solve the problem of malnutrition. Decayed teeth do not necessarily cause malnutrition.

From the Seattle Times

The flexibility of the American governmental system, which accommodates itself to the diverse desires of people in widely separated sections of the country was strikingly illustrated by two recent incidents, one occurring in Massachusetts and the other in Michigan.

The legislature of the former state killed a bill, legalizing amateur baseball and other sporting contests on Sunday where no admission was charged

On the same day, the governor of Michigan signed an act permitting 10 round boxing bouts.

Prize fighting in Michigan. Not even amateur sports on Sunday in Massachusetts!

That's the American idea of liberty Each state of the 48 decides for itself what domestic policies it shall adopt, and the representatives of the 48 legislate on matters that affect the interests of all.

Inasmuch as the United States today has the strongest government in the world, its people are justified in believing that its system of popular rule under and in conformity with a written constitution is the best that the wisdom of man ever yet has devised.

The table of our losses in the world war just issued by the government is especially significant, and it shows what a bully work the regulars were. Three regular divisions, the 1st, 2d and 3d, including originally 81,000 men, suffered 22 per cent of all our casualties, and from first to last, according to General March, we had about 1,350,000 men in battle The 2d, to which the marines were attached, leads with more than 25,000 casualties, more than twice as many as were suffered by New York's 77th, draft troops who had a most valiant record.

Kerensky Asked for Trotzky's Return.

From Ole Hanson's Address

But when the critical time came, Kerensky tried, honeyed words and sent to other lands for the very men that overthrew his government. Trotzky was, at that time, in the United States. He had applied for passports and our government had refused, but the government of Kerensky and Kerensky himself asked our government and pleaded with our government that Trotzky be given his passports and allowed to return to Russia This our government finally did and he returned to assist in the overthrow of the men who thought they could compromise with anarchists.

Unsettled.

The world seems going to the dogs, and governments are slipping cogs, and everything is wrong, all sorts of crazy notions thrive and Windy Jims are much alive, and anarchy seems strong The workless workers brag and boast, and send us bombs by parcel post, and rough on rats by mail, and while the lawless hoboes yip some nervous gents may lose their grip and sweat some blood and wail. The world's unsettled for a time, the German carnival of crime broke all our moorings loose, it's vain to walk the floor at night and say that everything in sight is going to the deuce Did you suppose when war was done that everything would smoothly run without a kick or balk? Did you suppose we'd all get back to walking in the same old track without a squeak or squawk" The world was shaken to its base, and everything knocks out of place and naught uninjured stood did you suppose the dawn of peace would make all signs of tumult cease? Your reasoning was no good I am surprised things run so well right after four long years of hell, when all our holds were lost we can't endure such years of strife and then resume the old time life we have to pay the cost The cents who send their bombs by mail in time will find such pastime stale and they'll start pitching hay, and all the talk of blood we hear, of bringing in a reign of fear, will shortly die away

The Changing Times.

From the Indianapolis News

Residents of Kendallville are reported to be stepping their ordinary pursuits each day in order to see the mail airplanes go by The east bound plane is due to pass about 10:1 a. m., and the west bound plane comes along at 11 50 a. m., traveling about two miles a minute.

In the old days those who lived along the railroad tracks knew the trains by name and number The farmers along the right-of-way knew the crews as well The farmer's wife ran to the window long enough to wave to the engineer Maybe the brakeman threw off a package sent out from town In the fields the farmer stopped the plow and consulted his watch, wondering what was the matter with No 6, because she was 16 minutes late He worried about this until the train limped around the curve and showed him a broken connecting rod.

A Grandma Schooner.

From the Christian Science Monitor

Now and then an old vessel sails in and out of port and sets the few who know her along the water front gossiping over her long life and salt water adventures. So the gossiping was the other day, when the coasting schooner Joanna Durgain, came into harbor at Bangor, Me., and attracted attention by her spick and span appearance More than 90 years ago she had been built at New York, sloop-rigged, and setting sail on her first voyage under the name of Hudson For 40 years, more or less, she coasted the United States, carrying cargo, while on shore the nation expanded met and passed through its crisis of Civil war, and opened up its great west Then she came to Maine, was refitted as a schooner, renamed, went back to her work, and was apparently wearing out. But twice more the old schooner was bought and restored, and the other day came into port, to the wonder of those who knew her, looking as young as ever Woman Suffrage For France.

From the New York Sun

The report that the French chamber of deputies has adopted the bill granting women the right to vote in all elections for members of communal and departmental assemblies is of unusual interest and significance in view of the fact that the women of France have never made any very strenuous efforts to gain the franchise. As in all democratic countries, they could have had it long ago had they wanted it badly enough but, more than in English speaking countries, or even in Italy, the French women have remained indifferent. Thus it appears to be a part of the general movement, a manifestation of a world wide tendency rather than a national affair No clearer sign of the times could be found. One wonders, however just how the average French woman feels about it, though we may be very sure that with her wonderful, practical common sense she will make good and full use of the new rights if she finally has them thrust upon her

The Auto Blue Book.

From the Christian Science Monitor

Reduced to practical information about all the roads in the United States over which some motorist may decide to travel, the nine volumes of the Automobile Blue Book show that the present range of the touring car covers about 500,000 miles of roads, which is about 20,000 more than were listed in 1918. A seed catalogue is a more paragraph compared to the Automobile Blue Book, with its 50,000 words of general information about routes and places

Chicago women who lost sons in the war are entertaining the wounded men in the hospitals of that city.

KEEP YOURSELF FIT!

You can't afford to be laid up with sore, aching kidneys in these days of high prices. Some occupations bring kidney troubles; almost any work makes weak kidneys worse. If you feel tired all the time, and suffer with lame back, sharp pains, dizzy spells, headaches and disordered kidney action, use Doan's Kidney Pills. It may save an attack of rheumatism, dropsy, or Bright's disease. Doan's have helped thousands back to health.

An Iowa Case

Charles C. Hayes, 122 N. 2nd St., Albia, Iowa, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of lameness in my back and other symptoms of kidney trouble. Whenever the opportunity has occured, I have recommended this medicine, for I know that it can be relied upon to bring relief I have had no need of Doan's Kidney Pills for the last few years for they permanently cured me."

Get Doan's at Any Store, 60c a Box

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

FOSTER-MILBURN CO., BUFFALO, N. Y.

Agents--Everybody

Make your hours profitable. A legitimate seller; big profits; everyone buys. Presidential indorsements. Sample 25c stamps.

ARMY & NAVY RECORD
San Fernando Bldg., Los Angeles, Calif.

Harvest Hands Wanted for 300,000 acres wheat in Ford County, Kansas. Good wages. Write Commercial Club, Dodge City, Kan.

Wanted—Co. agts. for Knoll's Karbonix, latest discovery for autos. Easy money $7.50 doz cans. Knoll Mfg Co., Berwick, N. D.

CAR-BO-DEEN removes your carbon while you ride, 50c, pint cans, agents and salesmen wanted. Car-Bo-Deen Mfg Co., St. Louis, Mo.

Living Monstrosities.

Instances where a living creature appears to consist of two similar parts capable of a certain degree of separate life are cited by many authorities. It is noted that this phenomenon occurs abnormally and occasionally even among human beings. Instances are Helena and Judith, the Hungarian sisters (1701-1723), the famous Siamese twins (1814-1874), the South Carolina negresses Millie and Christina, and the Bohemian sisters, Rosalie and Josepha.

Often the union is so much closer that the consolidated individuals do not survive long after birth. Among the lower animals the phenomenon is far more common than it is among human beings, and it is thought possible that by persistent selection and breeding a race of double monsters might be established.

Can Wear Masks and Smoke.

For persons who wear influenza masks and desire to smoke, Edward T. Duncan suggests a way, which is described in Popular Science Monthly. Get two corn plasters and stick them on the mask, one inside, one outside, and bore a hole through the mask to fit the holes in the plasters. Through this hole a cigarette can be smoked. It can be corked when not in use.

No Complaint.

"Your friend, the politician, is not of the type that will ever get in a hall of fame."

"That doesn't worry him. He will be content if he gets into a haul of graft."

Farms For Sale—Lee Co., good lands at moderate prices; good roads, elevators, creameries and co-operative shipping. Homeseekers write Tupelo Realty Co., Tupelo, Miss.

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force.

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are often due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate should produce a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

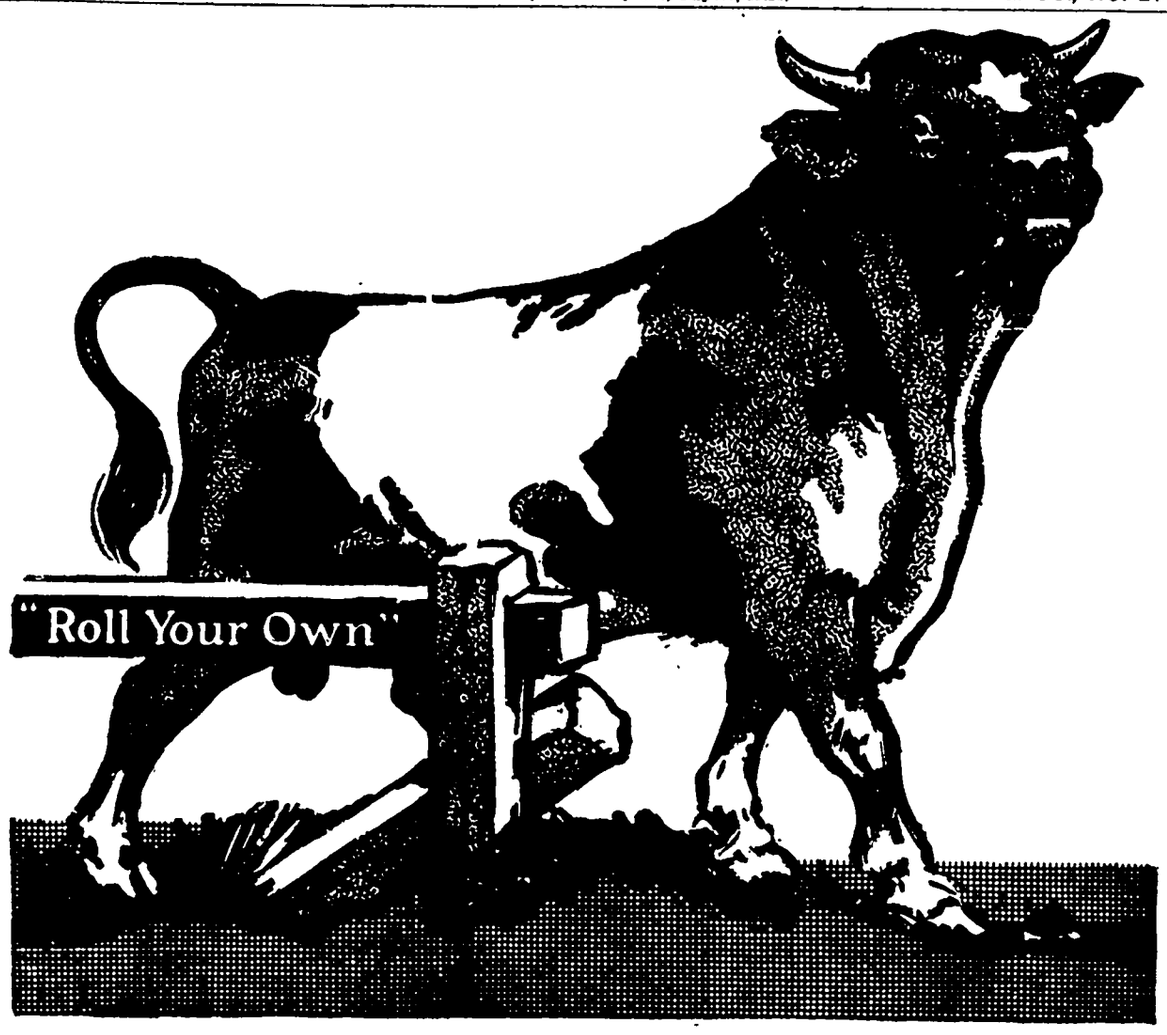
Increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, should disappear, dull eyes become bright, and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

CAUTION: — Although bitro-phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not, owing to its tendency to increase weight, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.

Suspender and Brace combined, keeps you erect, straight, comfortable; one operation releases trousers. Send $1; money returned if unsatisfactory. Jos. Sloe, 253 B'way, N. Y.

Free on request, pictures and exceptionally interesting infor of world famous Texas Oil Fields. Room 6, Coulson Bldg, Ft. Worth, Tex.

SIOUX CITY PTG. CO., NO. 24--1918.



YOUR OWN "BULL"

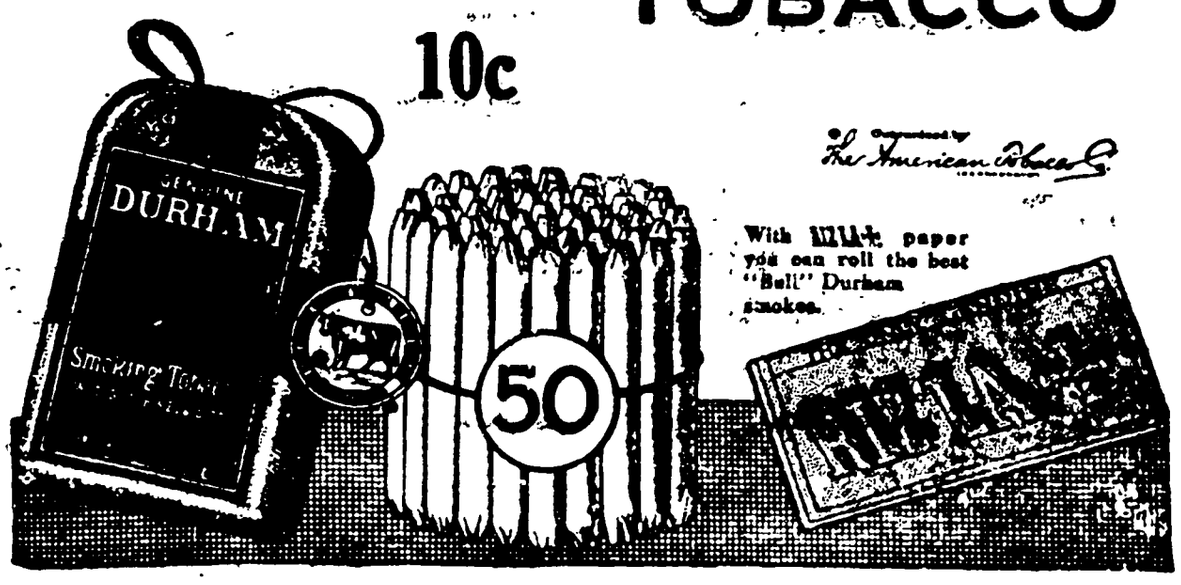
YOU buy a bag of genuine "Bull" Durham tobacco.

With your own hands you roll your own smokes. They are made just as you like them. You've rolled your own—for yourself.

As a result, you have a smoke that machines can't equal. (And—fifty-thrifty smokes from one bag!)

GENUINE
"BULL" DURHAM
TOBACCO

10c



...her to make a sketch of her. Luncheon was just over, and she was talking to a little knot of women. The first words I heard, as I slid quietly into a nearby seat, were "National Biscuit," recalling pleasantly my own tasty Uneeda Luncheon. I liked her, and ... fortably as she spoke ... and ears busy.

"Between the dark and daylight," she was quoting, "there's always a bit of paus... seems waiting and listening—for ... children. Since they were ... things, I've given that hour ... babies. First I had to ... Then, when they ... to toddle, I ... me in my ... no one ... Childr...

"I ... and ... pu... te... m... w... t... te... so... list... too-r... ten to... pad of... were wait... Hour.

"You see, even ... went on, "are much like ... mals. They are most lovable and most tractable after they've had something to eat. National Biscuit dainties always begin our Children's Hour like a feast. For the tiny toddlers there is a varied menu, sometimes Uneeda Biscuit and milk, sometimes Graham Crackers or Oatmeal Crackers or Lunch Biscuit. This is changed on special occasions to Old Time Sugar Cookies or Fig Newtons and, rarest of treats, there are days when we had ice cream, and Nabisco and those were our parties. "Don't ... ready to ... up in ... tent! ... em ... ed ... ir ... hour ... Mem... ...ivy, enough ...er, but always ... always dainty, always appetizing as only National Biscuit Products can be. During the years when my babies were growing up we never missed the Children's Hour with its tasty feast.

The original, inherent goodness of Uneeda Biscuit is due to the superior materials and methods employed in the baking. The everlasting table-goodness of Uneeda Biscuit is due to security of the In-er-seal trade mark package.

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

Historians Differ as to Sugar.

Historians say that the sugar cane was introduced by Columbus in Santo Domingo, that it spread from that island to Cuba and Mexico and that the Portuguese introduced the cane into Brazil, bringing it from Madeira. Some authorities have said that sugar cane was introduced into Louisiana in 1751 by Jesuit priests, who had it brought from Santo Domingo, while others give the date of the first planting of sugar cane as 1737 and make no reference to its having been brought in by the Jesuits.

Unskilled Labor.

A man never realizes what the term "unskilled labor" can mean until he boldly volunteers to repair the water faucets and take down the screen doors.—Washington Star.

Delay Is Fatal.

When a marraige is put off, the probability is that it will never occur. The fine burst of courage which enables a man to face a marriage service comes to him only once or twice in his lifetime.—Topeka Daily Capital.

Has Two Independence Days.

There is one country on the American continent, Ecuador, which actually boasts of two national days. These independence days of the little republic are the 9th of August and the 9th of October, and mark two determined revolutions, the first of which failed, only to spur the patriots, revolting against Spanish domination, to shake it off, a few months later, forever.

No Need for Disarmament.

Some enthusiastic reformer has suggested disarming the farmers of their shotguns and squirrel rifles. Our observation and experience is that the farmer's gun rarely goes off accidentally, and a good citizen is as safe from it as he is from the Constitution of the United States.—Ohio Farmer.

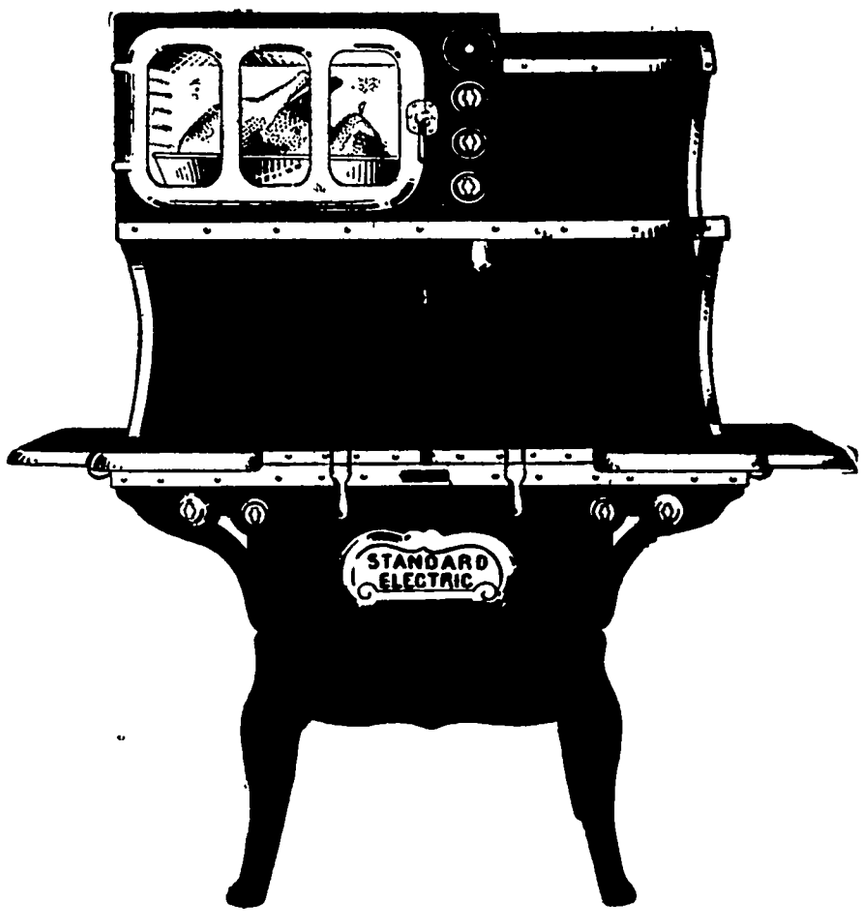
Taking No Chances.

Two mothers, one with a five-year-old girl and the other with a seven-year-old boy, set out for a walk. For convenience it was suggested that the children walk together and ahead. Said the boy: "I will if they won't call it marry."

Cook by Electricity

AND USE THE

Standard Electric Range



The illustration shows a No. 601 STANDARD RANGE

This is one of the largest and most complete types. A size is made for every requirement.

The combination of Electric Cooking Compartments, Electric Ovens and Electric Hot Plates enables you to use Electricity in the most economical way and solves the problem of Electrical Cooking.

THE STANDARD RANGE

Saves Fuel

Saves Work

Saves Food

"Let Us Show You How"

REX SHANNON

GARNER - - - - IOWA

NEW DAY AT HAND

World Sees the Dawn of Universal Democracy.

With the Downfall of the Turk and the Hun Santa Sophia Will Be Restored as a Christian Temple.

Among the happy rejoicings of these victory days we are inexpressibly glad that the war did not end until the unspeakable Turk was well started down the toboggan of defeat toward the bottomless pit, writes Dr. Charles Edward Locke. It is a mighty triumph for democracy. With Jerusalem and Damascus in the hands of the Christians, and with Constantinople no longer desecrated as the capital of a filthy Mohammedanism, the foul Turk is now getting his long-delayed deserts. Constantinople was named for a zealous Christian prince. It was made the imposing headquarters of the Greek church, and a beautiful temple was built in the year 537 by Justinian which is so stately and gorgeous that this proud builder on the dedication day exclaimed: "O Solomon, I have surpassed thee!"

But in 1453 the city was captured by the sacrilegeous and infidel Saracen, and for 465 years it has been the center of Moslem worship and propaganda. It is beautifully situated on the western slopes of the Bosporous, and looks out upon the picturesque Marmora. Justinian's minister grand was transformed into a Moslem mosque. All the altars and crosses and frescoes and insignia of Christianity were ruthlessly removed, and for nearly five centuries, instead of the worship of the most high God resounding beneath a wonderful dome which Michael Angelo said was like a part of the heavens brought down to earth, it has been the scene of Mohammedan mummeries and semi-pagan idolatry.

With the victories of this war, no doubt magnificent Santa Sophia will be restored, and once again the praises of Christ will resound through sanctuary and cloister; and the marvelous fresco of Jesus and his disciples in the high dome, which for centuries has been concealed behind the incrustations of a detestable Moslemism, will once again utter its inspiring and artistic messages to reverent Christian worshipers. The overthrow of the Turk is not only a triumph of democracy, but it is likewise a mighty victory for the truth and justice which are interpreted to the world by the gospel of the Son of God and the Son of Man, Jesus Christ of Nazareth.

Until the savage Prussian Hun appeared the Turk had conferred upon him the ignominy of being the most brutal degenerate of all human history. A religion of lust, re-enforced by the bloody scimiter, the Turk cut his way through human bodies to an ignoble place of power in Europe and Asia and his murderous hate venting itself on the defenseless Christians, and especially, upon the innocent Armenians.

With the collapse of the Turkish government, "the Dardanelles will become a highway for the commerce of the free nations of the world, in place of a waterway held by pirates;" the Balkan terror comes to an end, and the ignoble crescent fades out of sight before the increasing effulgence of the blazing cross of the Christ of truth and freedom.

The years have waited long for the tremendous historic events which are now being enacted in bewildering succession. It was only yesterday that there were four powerful autocracies that seemed so intrenched in opulence and might that the centuries would not overthrow; but today, Russia, and Austria, and Turkey, and Germany, have all fallen, and great has been the fall thereof; the twilight of the kings has deepened into night, and the dawn of universal democracy is already reddening the eastern sky with premonitions of the new day of the people; and the harbingers of the morning are shouting on all hilltops and in all languages, "Proclaim liberty throughout all the land and to all the inhabitants thereof."

Old Bells Will Ring for Peace.

The six old bells of Westminster abbey are being restored and augmented to take part in the celebrations that will follow the signing of peace. The old bells are of great historic interest. All except the treble were cast at the old Whitechapel bell foundry—the tenor, weighing 1½ tons, in 1738, the fifth in 1593, the fourth and second in 1743, and the third in 1583. The treble was cast probably at the end of the thirteenth or the beginning of the fourteenth century, and must therefore have rung out to celebrate the great victory over the Spanish armada in 1588. Whitechapel foundry, which has been working coutinuously since 1570, has been intrusted with the restoration work and the casting of the new bells. The connection of the old firm with the abbey, after nearly 350 years, is thus being continued.

Important Army Officer.

The adjutant general of the United States army is an officer who keeps the records, orders and correspondence of the army. He serves under the direction of the secretary of war and of the chief of staff. Through him and over his name instructions and regulations of the war department are sent forward to military officers and troops. He is secretary and archivist to the secretary of war.

DRAINAGE NOTICE

Hearing on Establishment of Drainage District No. 96.

State of Iowa, County of Hancock, ss.

To John Christians, George Zinn, W. R. Bloom, Sadie A. Bloom, Charles S. Lawhorn, William J. Irving, Elmer Howard, F. A. Arnold, Herman H. Theimann, George Schroeder, Henry Schroeder, The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company, Almon G. Danforth, Trustee, W. L. Lawhorn, Winnie Walsh, Frank Walsh, Valentine Josten and Peter Josten, Executors of the Estate of Valentine Josten, Deceased, Aetna Life Insurance Company, Henry Martens, Northern Lumber Company, The Peter J. Seippel Lumber Company, J. W. Waterman & Son, Ernest Anderson, owners and lienholders and to the Trustees of Ell Township and to Peter Josten, Township Clerk of Ell Township, and to all other persons in any way interested in any of the following described real estate in Hancock County, Iowa, to-wit:

SE NE; NE SE; SE SE; NW SE; SW SE; in Section 23; SW NW; SE NW; SE; W½ SE; W 10 A. NE SE; W 10 A SE and SE¼; Section 24; NW NW; NE NW; NW NE; Section 25; NE NE; Section 26 all in Township 95 North, Range 23, West of the 5th P. M. and all roads and highways in Ell Township included within the watershed.

You are hereby notified that on January 25th, 1918, there was filed in the office of the County Auditor of Hancock County, Iowa, a petition addressed to the Board of Supervisors of said County asking that certain lands above described be incorporated into a drainage district and that a system of drains be constructed for the relief of said districts.

You are further notified that on April 4, 1918, W. S. Bemis, Jr., was appointed engineer to make a survey, plat, profile and field notes of said proposed district, and that on June 5, 1919, said engineer filed his report recommending the establishment of said district and the construction of system of drains for the relief of said district and that said report is now on file in the office of the County Auditor of said County and may be amended at any time before final action is taken thereon by the Board of Supervisors, and that July 11, 1919 has been fixed as the time of hearing thereon. All objections and claims for damages must be filed in the office of the County Auditor not less than five days before said hearing.

Witness my hand and official seal at Garner, Iowa, this 9th day of June, 1919.

(Seal) CHRIS JACOBS,
Auditor of Hancock County

Locals

A baby girl was born to Mr. and Nrs. John Swalve Wednesday morning.

We have had about two weeks of rain in this vicinity now, which surely ought to settle the dust for awhile. We have had more rain than we need and almost more than the crops can stand, but thanks to the well drained land here, it is keeping the grain and corn from drowning out and there is no dangr yet. Too much rain is more than plenty.

Otto Lemke is making some extensive improvements on his farm west of town in the way of having a new granery and machine shed constructed. We understand he is having it built of hollow tile. Both of buildings are large and have ample room for his needs. Otto will have a fine place when he gats everything all fixed up the way he wants it.

Lew Lewis and son, Verner, went to Minnesota Monday to visit at the Yahnke home at Garden City, Minn. Now it is alright for Lew and Verner to say they merely went for a visit, but we know better. You just can't keep Lew away from good fishing and when they come back just listen to Lew tell about the big ones he caught while he was there visiting.

A farewell party was given Rev. Thiel and family at the parsonage last Friday evening by the members of his congregation. A large crowd was present and the evening was spent in games and visiting when later a light luncheon was served. A beautiful rocking chair was presented to Rev. Theil by the members in appreciation of the excellent services he has given them. The family will move to California in the hopes that the Reverend will be benefited in health. It is with regret that the people of Klemme bid this family farewell but wish them only the best in their new California home.

Determining Day or Night's Length.

The length of the night at any time of the year may be found by multiplying by two the time of the sun's rising. Doubling the time of its setting will give the length of the day.

Permanent Jobs at Good Wages

MASON CITY, Ia. offers unequal attractions for laboring

1. Our industries are essential. Our products are in use the whole year around, bad years as well as good years. This insures steady year round work.

2. Our industries operate the entire year, not simply one or two seasons in the year. This gives continuous employment to any man who desires work. It makes it safe for a married man to bring his family and make this his permanent home.

3. More than one hundred manufacturing, and wholesaling houses employ over 4,000. Our six railroads and miscellaneous industries, employ another 2,000 men and women. This insures any industrious or woman reemployment at any time, without having to move to another town.

4. Our public schools are unexcelled Any boy or girl may take the first two years of college work right here in the Junior College Department of our magnificient high school. These school priveleges are free to every child, and insure a thoro education at a minimum expense.

5. Three hospitals, with complete staffs of highly competent physicians and nurses, insure the very best possible care in case of sickness or accident.

6. Churches of all leading denominations give one whatever religious affiliations they may desire. No one need be without a church home or religious influence.

7. Mason City has more ... per thousand population tha... other city in the west, if not ... nation. Her streets are wid... shaded. Sewer, water, gas a... tricity are accessible to all re... districts, so the most humble ... may have these modern conve...

8. Several new residence di... with all modrn improvments h... cently been opened up. Any ... trious man, with only very sm... ital can have his own home; ... roomy yard, a house built ... him, and perfectly healthful ... conditions.

9. For the past fourteen ye... average annual increase in ... tion has been 22.6 percent ... wonderful growth of our est... industries, and the constant ... of new ones, assure that this ... will continue, if not even i... This is a further insurance ... stant employment. It also ... that your investment in a ho... not depreciate, rather will ... and give you a good retunr ... investment any time you se... sell out.

10. Our beautiful parks, ... cellent theaters, and delightf... Lake at the other end of a... urban line and a concrete ... all furnish the choicest and ... lightful recation one can des... the cost of such recreation ... the reach of every one.

Come now or write for further information

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
MASON CITY IOWA

DR. R. M. THOMAS
Veterinarian
All Calls Answered Promptly
Klemme, Iowa — Office and Residence Pho...

Idle Hour

Saturday
June 14

2 Reels of Eddie Polo
in
"A Phanton Fugitive"

1 Reel
International News

2 Reel Lo-Ko Comedy
"Its A Bird"

NEW ROCK ISLAND TIME

North

821, Mixed	1:35 p. m.
1069, Passenger	3:03 p. m.
435, Passenger	8:44 a. m.

South

436, Passenger	6:17 p. m.
1068, Passenger	11:25 a. m.
820, Freight	12:15 p. m.

Sheep Best Farm Fertilizers.

Sheep produce the most valuable of all farm fertilizers. Their sharp hoofs work this well into the soil. This quality has earned for sheep the title of "Golden Hoof." In England land which during Queen Elizabeth's reign produced only six bushels of wheat per acre has been made to yield 80 bushels at present, simply by pasturing the land to sheep.

From Jerusalem to Dead Sea.

Nearly everybody who visits Jerusalem rides to the Dead sea, down through Jericho. By starting from Howard's hotel, outside the wall near the Jaffa gate, at daylight, and having a fresh horse to meet you at Jericho on the way back, a man used to equitation can have a swim in the Dead sea and return by dark. It is about 40 miles, round trip. Of course, "the pull" is on the return, especially from Jericho onward, for the city of Jerusalem is almost a mile in the air above the Dead sea!

W. F. PAV...
The Practical Black...
OXY-ACETYLENE W...
Wagon, Buggy and ... Repairing
Horse Shoeing and ... Work a Special...

Col. B. A. Reem...
General Auctio...
KLEMME, IOWA
Farm and Stock Sales a...
Call, write or phone 5... me for dates, terms, et...
...Satisfaction Guar...

Geo. ZIN...
Physician & Sur...
Phone No. 19. KLEM...
Office in Building ... of Gruetzmacher ... ness and Shoe Sto...
Eyes Tested.
Glasses

STOP CARS TO BAG

Motormen on Electric Line ... Pot Bunnies From F... Vestibule.

St. Louis, Mo.—Motorm... Clayton Log Cabin line are ... of fun these nights pott... from the front vestibule of ... Besides cutting down butch... are becoming expert rev... and, incidentally, are rap... out the rabbit population ... right of way.

Patrons of the Log Cabi... remark that its service is ... with its name) tell how the ... to a jerky standstill, the ... aims a revolver, there is ... port and the trolley pilot ... the car, dashes down th... way and comes back with ... bunny.

Three Pairs of Twins Didn't Bring Ha...

Cleveland, O.—Child... ally hold the home tog... said. But three pairs ... now aged ten and sev... and three months, re... failed to avert a div... filed here by Mrs. Elsi... their mother. She comp... the children's father ... her and the twins and ...

You may depend upon the quality of the service rendered you in every department of this garage.

We offer you the services of skilled workman only. Every job is done neatly correctly and with the least expense possible.

When you garage service and want it right come to us.

PHONE 30

Wiles Garage

YOU HAVE TRIED THE REST NOW TRY THE BEST

KLEMME, IA.

The Burnham COMBINATION RACK

THE HAY RACK SEASON IS ALMOST HERE!

And if you need a new rack don't fail to see the Burnham Combination Rack before buying, you will SAVE MONEY by so doing.

W. F. PAVEY

The Practical Blacksmith — Klemme, Iows

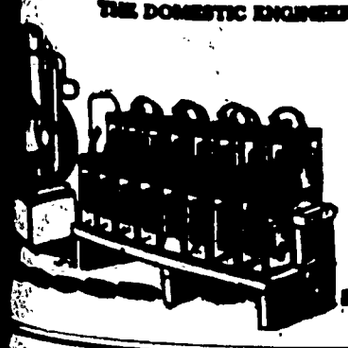
DELCO-LIGHT
Increases Farm Efficiency

1. Saves time and labor—Work formerly done under poor light and by hand can be done better and in less time with the aid of electric light and power.
2. Labor is attracted to the farm—The "back to the farm" movement is made practical when the conveniences afforded by electric light and power can be had in the country.
3. Keeps the boys and girls on the farm—Electric service on the farm offsets city attractions. Valuable labor and valuable young manhood and womanhood are saved to the country community.
4. Solves the retired farmer problem—Electric light and power make the farm home so attractive and comfortable that the farmer and his wife remain on the farm where their advice, experience, and immediate interests are of great practical value.
5. Lightens burden of the housewife—Increased farm work in war times means increased labor for the housewife. Electricity offers the only practical means of taking the drudgery of household tasks from her shoulders.

Delco-Light is a compact electric plant for farms or country homes. Self-cranking. Air-cooled. Thick plate, long-lived battery. Ball bearings. No belts.

RUNS ON KEROSENE

THE DOMESTIC ENGINEERING CO., DAYTON, OHIO, U. S. A.



Judd Hardware Co.

Kanawha, Iowa

Over 50,000 Satisfied Users throughout the World.

Mother's Advice.

...member, my son," said his mother as she bade him good-by, 'when you go camp try to be punctual in the ..., so as not to keep breakfast ..."—Life.

Cheering Him Up.

...cant Instructor (to Cadet)—"Na, ...no mak' an officer. But it's just ...ble if the warr keeps on a while ...ye practice harrd—verra harrd—ye ...micht, mind ye—begin to hae ...immer that ye'll never ken th ...eats o' the wurrk!"—Punch.

Homer's Fate Warning to Poets.

The greatest poet that ever lived was a blind beggar, yet when he died seven cities fought for the custody of his poor, old, weary bones.

Joys of Companionship.

Half the difficulty of fighting any severe battle or accomplishing any hard task vanishes when a man feels that he has comrades at his side fighting in the same cause, or that the eyes of those he loves are upon him, and their hearts praying for his victory.—C J Perry

One of the Interesting Exhibits Shown at the Methodist Centenary Celebration

TO prove that his soul is above worldly troubles and physical pain, this Hindu fakir nonchalantly reclines on a bed of spikes, much to the amazement of less spiritual observers The bed of spikes will be one of the interesting exhibits shown at the Methodist Centenary Celebration, in Columbus, O., June 20 to July 13 Whether a fakir, Hindu or otherwise, can be found to demonstrate his power of endurance on it is still an unsettled question with celebration officials.

To Play Great Organ at the Methodist Centenary

MRS MONTGOMERY LYNCH of Seattle will play the great $50,000 organ in the presentation of "The Wayfarer," the magnificent pageant of the Methodist Centenary Celebration, in Columbus, O., June 20 to July 13. Montgomery Lynch her husband, will direct the chorus of 1,000 voices, which is a part of the pageant

REDUCED FARE ADDS INTEREST

Visitors to Methodist Centenary to Be Well Cared For.

REGISTRATIONS ON INCREASE

Housing Committee of the Celebration Have More Than Forty Thousand Rooms In Private Homes at Their Disposal, Where Those Who Attend Can Be Lodged as Conviently as at a Hotel.

Announcement by the government that a special low rate of one and a third fares for the round trip has been authorized for the celebration, Columbus, O., June 20 to July 13, has tremendously increased the interest in that event and advanced manifold the inquiries and registrations coming from all parts of the United States At headquarters the other day a single mail brought cash registrations from 14 separate states and South America.

The low rate has increased work for the special committees, which are responsible for housing the large influx of visitors now seen to be certain. Accommodations fall into three classes

First, the hotels, which have an average daily capacity of 5,000 visitors

The second field of accommodation will be in public buildings, which have been specially fitted up for this sort of service for the celebration These include the State School for the Blind the State School for the Deaf, the large barracks which were provided at Ohio State university for the student army training corps, and other buildings of a similar nature held in reserve should the throng exceed even present generous expectations.

The third line of convenience for the hospitality of Columbus is in the homes of the citizens themselves. More than 40,000 rooms have been listed with the housing committee, and these are card indexed by location, telephone number and best means of access. Visitors to the Celebration can be lodged as conveniently as a clerk at a hotel assigns a visitor to his room In order that there might be no misunderstanding, the committee in charge has a uniform rate for accommodations in private dwellings The charge will be $1 per day for a single person in a room and $1 50 per day for two persons in a room

Always generously provided with restaurants, Columbus at the present time is having its number largely reinforced by reason of many places being turned into restaurants which were occupied as cafes before May 24, when the state became dry. In addition to these, extraordinary facilities for feeding large numbers quickly are being installed in the exposition grounds.

MONSTER SCREEN AT METHODIST CENTENARY

Special Lantern Devised For Throwing Pictures.

Finishing details are being placed on the arrangements for the erection of the largest screen for the projection of pictures ever built in the world. This is to be one of the features of the Methodist Centenary Celebration, to be held in Columbus, June 20 to July 13.

This monster screen will have a surface for pictures 115x115 feet. The actual structure will be several feet larger in each direction. A special lantern has been successfully devised for throwing these tremendous pictures the necessary distance. The screen will be 250 feet from the nearest spectator and will be built to withstand 40 pounds pressure to the square foot. The lantern which will project these pictures has already successfully thrown pictures on a screen in New York City across a distance of four and a half city blocks. According to Architect Harry C. Holbrook, the screen will be, in effect, three sides of a house. It is necessary to give it the foundations equivalent to a four-story building

In order that there may be as much salvage as possible after the screen has served its purpose, the picture face will be of fitted lumber, which later will be treated with a white surface preparation.

The estimated cost of this screen will be $8,000. The screen and the lantern will be used in showing the tens of thousands of views, made all over the world by the Methodist Missionary Survey, which has the finest collection of pictorial reviews anywhere in the world.

Columbia Professor in Charge of Exhibits at Methodist Centenary

PROFESSOR LA MONT A. WARNER of Columbia university is director of fine arts and designer of exhibits and scenery for the Methodist Centenary Celebration, in Columbus, O., June 20 to July 13. On plans which he laid down, the multitude of exhibits, domestic and foreign, have been arranged in the buildings in scenic effects, making them at once appropriate and effective.

Professor Warner had charge of world exhibits held in Boston, Chicago, Baltimore and Providence in past years, and has studied and worked abroad.

Raincoats Slip-ons

Cravenettes

Rainy Weather Apperal

We have everything to keep you dry during the rainy season. This is the time to protect yourself against prevalent colds, flu, etc.

We name some of the numerous things you may need.

Rubber Coats — Slickers
Slip-ons — Rubbers
Rubqer boots both in hip and short lengths, in fact everything you need to keep dry and healthy.

We just received several cases of Howard & Foster's advanced styles af dress shoes. Many of you have been waiting---come in while we have a good line of sizes.

Within a day or so we will receive a liberal shipment of Hart Schaffner and Marx single and double Breasted Waist Seam Suits. Come in and look them over.

Gildner Bros. & Johnson

"IOWA'S LARGEST CLOTHERS"

The Home of Hart, Schaffner & Marx Cloths

Fourteen Stores. — Garner, Iowa

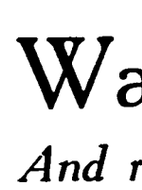
Sell Your Grain To

Walter F. Lau

And receive the highest price and correct weight. Will buy Hogs every day in the week. Also handle high grade COAL. Give me a trial and I will Show you the RESULTS.

Office Phone No. 16. — Residence Phone No. 52

Why Wait Until The Enemy Attacks?



Are you prepared for the attack of the worst enemy of the summer season--General Fly and his army of disease spreaders are about to attack. Don't wait until he is upon you. Come in and let us quote prices on screen doors and windows.

"Everything to build Anything"

—BUILD NOW—

NORTHERN LUMBER CO.

N. L. PALMER, Manager

Allegorical October.

In some of the calendars of our ancient Saxon ancestors the month of October is allegorically represented by the figures of a husbandman carrying a sack on his shoulder and sowing grain. It was the sowing of the fall or winter wheat, as we call it in this country.

Real Meaning of "Salad."

Salad literally means salted and is a direct descendant of the Latin word sal, or salt. The use of "salad" to mean the greens from which or on which a salad mixture is placed is one of only recent origin. The Italian insalata and the Spanish salada, meaning salad in those languages, actually mean salted.

The Finding of Jasper Holt

BY

Grace Livingston Hill Lutz

Author of "Marcia Schuyler", "Phoebe Deane", "The Obsession of Victoria Gresham", etc.

"Why, you're not heavy," he said amusedly, eyeing her slender frame. "I could carry you a good deal further than that and not play out. I'm glad to see you look so rested this morning. I didn't expect it after what you went through I see you have your nerve with you. It was a prettey nervy thing you did, you know, that stunt of dropping out the window. I had just got out myself further down and climbed on shore to see if there was anything I could do for any one, when I saw you drop, and I thought you were gone for sure. There were rocks and timbers all around there and heavy things falling, and I thought I saw your finish."

"And so you came and rescued me!" she said, with a look of gratitude that brought a flush over his strong, tanned face.

"Oh, I just floated over that way to see if I could pick up anybody I couldn't tell who I was fishing out when I took hold of you, there were so many sounds and things around."

"Well, I—I can't thank you enough now," she said, and there was a glisten of tears in her eyes. "I know it was wonderful what you did."

"Oh, forget it!" he said again, laughing lightly. "It was bad enough all around, and we were lucky to get off as we did But we aren't out of the woods yet We'd better let bygones be bygones for the present anyway. Don't you want to sit down?"

Jean smilingly acquiesced, dropping down beside the rock with her berries, and leaning over to arrange them with the rest

"These ought to be washed," she said as she arranged them on the leaf plate in the center, "but I couldn't find any water"

"Water won't be so hard to find, but we haven't anything to put it in," he answered laughing, "and besides, we oughtn't to mind a little dirt after all we've been through I doubt if the berries I usually get are washed anyway But if I had anything to carry it in, I'd find some water I haven't even a hat——"

"Why I had a little drinking cup, but I don't remember whether it's in my bag or not It's always I put it in the suitcase, though I think I left it in my bag"

She laid down the last berries, and wiping the stains from her fingers on the grass she opened the bag which she had slipped through the belt of her robe and made to hang at her side. It was rather ful, and when it was opened the leather wallet, wrapped in its damp paper, fell out on the ground, and the paper came unfolded, revealing what it contained

The young man stooped gravely, a dark flush rising to his cheeks, and picked it up. He did not look startled nor surprised, and she noticed nothing strange in his manner as he handed it to her Afterward she wondered at that.

The cup did not materialize, but there were the two little wax paper envelopes, which might hold water. She held them out to him, and looking up their eyes met.

"Why, you are the man who sat opposite to me in the day coach," she said in pleased surprise, "I didn't recognize you before without your hat on. But I remember thinking when I went to the other car that you had a face that one need not be afraid of. I was a little frightened by the old man who sat with you—he spoke to me—but when I saw you I was not afraid any more Mother says I'm always going by my intuitions, but I think this time you've proved them true. I knew you were a person to be trusted."

He looked at her wonderingly, a strange expression of wistfulness crossing his face.

"People don't often feel that way about me," he said in a strange low tone that seemed to hide a good deal more behind the words than was said. "I guess you're the first person who has trusted me in a long time."

"Oh," she said, looking at him seriously, "I guess you don't know—or else——" she paused as if in doubt whether to finish the sentence.

"Or else what, please?" he asked with compelling gaze

"I was going to say or else they don't know you; but that sounds rather bold for a stranger to say when I've known you only a few hours. But I've had opportunity to prove that what I thought about you was true. Perhaps it's that you do not always let people see the nice things in you the way you have had to let me because of my need."

"Well, that's a new way of painting my character, I must say. I rather like it myself, but I doubt if anybody would recognize it for me. I wouldn't mind being that way, believe me, and I thank you for sizing me up in that style. I'll think it over, but I'm afraid you've got your characters mixed and I'm not in your line at all However, I'm glad you think so. Now I'll see what I can do about water."

He took the two envelopes as if they had been rare glass goblets and walked away into the woods. In a few minutes he returned with them dripping, his own face ruddy with recent washing, and his curls still damp and dark above his forehead; while the strong hands that held the would-be cups were clean as water could make them.

"Would you like to wash your face?" he asked as he held out the cup for her to drink. "Never mind the berries, they are all right as they are. I'll show you the water and then come back to guard the food. We don't know what wild creature may find our table and clear out with the whole set-out."

"Oh, would they do that?" laughed Jean, interested. "Wouldn't that be funny?"

"It might not be so funny if we don't strike a ranch pretty soon," said Holt, looking serious. "We need all that breakfast to help us on our way after the night we've spent."

"I will not wash my face until after breakfast," said Jean decidedly, coming back to the rock and seating herself by one of the leaf-plates. "Sit down, please, and break your fast, for we are not running any risks on this trip. I want to get to a telegraph office and send word to my mother and father They will hear about the accident and will be terribly frightened about me. You won't mind my eating with unwashed hands, will you?"

"I should worry!" declared Holt, seating himself on the other side of the rock with the ease of one who is as much at home on the ground as on a chair.

"These crackers are a little limp," said Jean, "but it was the best I could do considering that they were submerged for a long time."

"They're great," said Holt, sampling one, "but how did you happen to have them?"

She told him merrily of her visit the day before and how she had saved them

"They're all you have!" said Holt suddenly; "you may need the rest of them before we are through. Put these away and keep them till you need them. I'll just eat the berries. I'm used to going without for a long time"

"Wasn't your life the only one you had when you risked it to save me?" asked Jean, looking at him earnestly. "I guess you'll eat half of all there is or I won't have any."

Holt looked at her admiringly.

"That's all right, but I'd rather you saved them. You're a woman."

"That may be all right, but I won't," said Jean decidedly, "and I won't eat another bite until you eat yours."

He looked at her with the glow of appreciation growing in his eyes. He never had seen a girl like this.

"You're all white!" he said at last. "You're the real thing. You're a good fellow. I guess we're partners, then."

He held out his hand as he would have done to a man, and the girl, with a quick appreciation of his words, laid her small berry-stained hand in the big, hard one.

"Thank you," she said earnestly; "that rather puts us on an equality, doesn't it? But I'm not so foolish as to think we really are. I know it's only a very little bit that I can do on this expedition. You do all the big, grand, hard things. But you mustn't deny me the chance to do the little things I can do; and sharing, or even going without sometimes, belongs to my part. I haven't forgotten yet that you saved my life."

He looked at the little hand wonderingly and held it gently in his own, with just a slight, lingering, wistful closing of his strong fingers around it; then let it go as though he were afraid he might crush it, it seemed to him so frail and exquisite and fine.

"I can tell you one thing," he said, "you're some improvement on the last partner I had." Jean gave him a swift, relieved look. "That horrid old man?" she asked, comprehendingly. He nodded, but searched her face keenly, as if he would make sure of something. He seemed satisfied, however, with the frank look in her clear eyes and said no more. Perhaps he hoped she would confide in him—or perhaps he liked her all the better that she did not—who knows?

They ate their meager breakfast hungrily, yet lingered over it happily. The morning seemed to each as an exquisite treasure of time loaned to them for this once, and there fell a charm upon them that neither quite understood; only they were conscious of joy in being alive and having each other. The experiences of the night and the unusual surroundings did away with all conventionalities and feelings of embarrassment they would otherwise have had in their strange plight; and their laughter mingled and rang out among the trees joyously on that early beautiful morning after the disaster.

He led her down to the stream to wash while he made a basket of leaves, pinned together with stems, and filled it full of berries.

"We may need them for dinner," he remarked as he went back to the bushes.

Jean finished her ablutions, and, washing out her handkerchief, filled it also with berries; and thus provided with a lunch, they started on their way.

After coming out of the woods they climbed first to the highest point of ground near them and surveyed the landscape in every direction, but nothing more serene on a summer morning could be found anywhere than was before them. Turn which way they would, there was no sign of disaster or wreck. The soft, green hills on every side hid the secret of its location, and the world lay spread before them without a hint of ravage or distress There was absolutely no way to tell direction except in a general way by the sun; and where the wreck had been it was impossible even to speculate, for they could not tell how they had come in the darkness.

This gave a new aspect to their situation. Holt had been thinking during the night that if they could work their way back to the wreck they would probably reach home more quickly, for surely by this time a relief train must have come. But now he saw that it was useless to consider that longer. They must just press on till they came to a house, where possibly they could procure horses, and certainly information as to their whereabouts. There was a reason why he wished to get back to the world as quickly as possible; yet something taught him to be glad that necessity had given him this day or part of a day, whichever it was to be, with this girl.

He looked down almost tenderly at the bright, trusting face that smiled up at him so bravely. He had a sudden comprehending glimpse of what it must be to a girl, such as he could see she was, to be dropped down into a strange world, far from home and protection, in company with a man about whom she knew nothing.

"Tough luck," he said, answering the question in her eyes, "but don't you worry, we'll get out sooner or later."

"I'm not worrying," she answered earnestly, "but I was wishing we knew how to send a wireless to my father. I wonder if some day they won't perfect the system so that people can send messages from anywhere without any instruments, if they just know how."

"That would be great," said Holt, thoughtfully. "I'd send one this minute to the nearest inhabited point for two good saddle horses. Can you ride?"

"A little. I've never had much opportunity. Father used to keep a horse, but when we moved to our present home he had to give it up There wasn't really any need for it But I'm to ride while I'm away visiting my sister." Her face brightened at the thought, and then clouded "That is if we ever get there——"

"Oh, we'll get there all right," said Holt easily, taking his bearings and deciding which way to strike out. "You're Mrs. Harrington's sister, aren't you?"

"Why, yes; how did you know?" said the girl with a ring of relief in her voice. "You know my sister, then?" This was almost equivalent to an introduction, and she knew her mother would be particular about that.

"I heard you tell the conductor," he said. "Shall we start? We've got a good journey to travel judging by the look of things. This way," and he led her down the slope out into the open, where they could see where they were going.

"But you wouldn't have remembered all this time if you hadn't known who she was," she flashed back, smiling. "How pleased Eleanor will be when she knows one of her own friends took care of me and saved my life."

Holt's face darkened suddenly and he did not answer at once. When he did his voice was cold and hard like a sudden storm on a sunny day.

"I don't think she'd exactly call me her friend!"

His eyes were narrowed, and his chin was set with a haughty lift.

"Well, acquaintance, then," said Jean brightly. "Eleanor is a lot older than you, of course. She was married and went away from home when I was just a tiny girl. I haven't seen her all these years, and of course she's changed a great deal."

"Yes, I suppose you'd call us acquainted," answered Holt, still in that queer, hard voice. Jean felt it intuitively, but talked on, feeling her way to surer ground.

"I wonder if my sister has ever mentioned you in her letters," she said brightly. "She tells me about all the people"

"Possibly!" You could have cut ice with the sharpness of his tone. Then he added quietly:

"My name is Holt. Jasper Holt!"

He watched her with wide, challenging eyes, but although there was a puzzled look in her face the name evidently told her nothing

"Jasper! What a beautiful name! I always thought that was the most beautiful word. The walls of the heavenly city are built of jasper, you know."

"No, I didn't know," he spoke slowly, almost worshipfully This truly was a new kind of girl. A citizen, more like, of that heavenly city about which she spoke with such assurance as if it were an actual place, than like a mortal girl. His face softened, made tender, as he looked at her, and saw the morning shining in her eyes. His haughtiness fell away, and all the goodness and native truth and purity that were hidden in his soul came out and sat upon his face. The people who thought they knew Jasper Holt would not have recognized him thus, walking beside the girl and looking down upon her as one looks upon the face of an angel.

Jean looked up, seeing in him only the beauty of his true self; and looking, trusted, and was not afraid.

CHAPTER V.

He helped her over rough places and up the steep climbs. Hand in hand they ran down the slopes like two children out for play; their merry laughter ringing out, forgetful of the recent dangers through which they had passed; forgetful, too, of perilous possibilities before them. It was enough that the day was fresh, the sun was shining, their strength renewed, and they were together. Each was occupied most with the fact of the other and the day.

They ate their berries before the heat of the noon was fully come, and hurried on. But Holt could see that his companion was growing weary, for the excitement of the night before had left her shaken, and more and more she faltered and leaned heavily upon him up the hills. Then he found a quiet resting place under some trees and bade her sleep, and while she slept he hovered not far away.

He found a pool where by a skill he had long practiced he could catch some very small fish; and with due patience he at last secured enough to make a meal. Then with infinite pains and his knowledge of woodcraft he accomplished a fire once more and cooked the fish, so that when she awoke there was dinner spread under a tree-- broiled fish, with clear water from the brook to drink.

Holt was in a hurry to get on, for he was growing uneasy about the direction they were taking. It seemed as if they were off the regular line of habitation and travel. Was it possible he had turned too much to the north and was set to enter the desert at the most remote and lonely part, where they might travel for days without meeting anyone?

He changed the direction slightly, and they started on again, the young man watching the sun anxiously from time to time. And now he kept the girl's arm, touching her elbow lightly to be ready with help when it was needed. Often he drew her arm within his own and fairly lifted her over hard places; and so they came to higher ground and looked out before them once more. The sun was lower now, and growing redder as it went down with premonition of the night. The man could see that the girl's steps were slower, and that her face was pale with weariness, though she said not a word and plodded cheerfully on by his side. He could see that she looked anxiously about on all sides whenever they came to the higher ground, and knew that she was thinking all this time of her mother.

The fair, weary face and bright, determined countenance touched his heart deeply, and brought out all the latent tenderness in his nature; and there arose in him a great longing to help her that made him wonder at himself.

At last as they reached another slight elevation he looked to the west and to his relief saw a small house with horses and cattle moving about in the fields. He showed it to her and her eyes lighted with joy.

"Oh, that is so good! I was worried, for I know I'm a burden. You would have gone the distance twice if you had been alone."

His hand touched her arm more reverently close.

"I am glad I was not alone," he said earnestly. "And I'm glad you were not alone."

She looked up to meet his eyes and there leaped from each to the other a wonderful realization of the beauty of the companionship they had held that day.

"Yes, I am glad I was not alone," she said with deep feeling. "for, oh, it would have been dreadful! And this has been—beautiful," she finished, and wondered at herself for speaking so freely. Then each was suddenly silent at the appalling realization that the free companionship of the day was almost at an end. They were coming to the world of convention and form again, where words and actions were weighed and motives questioned. There had been othing of that here, for necessity and common peril had blotted them out of existence for the time, and it had been blessed. Now the thought came simultaneously to both: Would they ever see one another again and be friends?"

The way wound down into a ravine, and the heavy growth of trees shadowed the path. It was rough and he guided her tenderly, respectfully, as one might guide a little child one loved. She felt his care in every step she took, and her heart responded gratefully to his gentleness. Her own father could not have been more thoughtful; and there was nothing familiar or presuming in his touch. He might have been a mother, the tenderness he showed. Perhaps Jean felt it more because she was so very tired, and realized her lonely position now that night was coming on again.

In the valley they came to the bank of a stream, deep and turbulent; and standing upon its brink, looking either way, there seemed no possible ford. How deep it was they could not guess, but there was plainly a strong current.

Holt stood a moment surveying the barrier to their progress, walked a few steps up the bank and down, and looked up at the westering sky. Then he deliberately walked out into the stream.

(Continued Next Week.)

A Cologne correspondent writes that "the constant succession of strikes at Essen, and demands for higher wages and shorter hours, have had a most serious effect. Mine after mine tells the same story They have, as the socialistic newspaper of Cologne expressed it, 'struck to death.'"

MADE IT WORK BOTH WAYS

Editor Gave Rough Check in Exchange for Rough Verses Offered by Poetic Youth.

The young man [illegible] the editorial sanctum.

"Here is a poem which you may publish in your paper. I dashed it off in an idle moment, and you will perhaps find it a little rough. You can make any correction you please."

"Thank you," said the editor, "I will give you a check for it at once."

"You are very kind. I shall be delighted."

The editor handed him a check.

"Many thanks," said the poet. "I will bring you some more poems."

He had reached the door, when suddenly he turned.

"Excuse me, but you've forgotten to fill up this check!"

"Oh, that's all right," said the editor. "I have given you a check in the rough state, as it were. You can make any corrections you please."

May Use Cottonseed Oil.

In the United States the yellow unbleached palm oil is used very largely in the tin plate industry. So far it is almost the only substance which has been found satisfactory as a flux on the discharge side of the pots of melted tin through which the sheet iron plates are passed to receive their coats of tin. Recent experiments with hydrogenated cottonseed oil, however, indicate that our tin plate industry will be independent of this foreign-controlled oil.

After all, the "harmonica bands" may not discourage amateurs from practicing on the accordion.

Don't try to pull yourself out of trouble with a corkscrew.

HOW MRS. [illegible] AVOIDED AN OPE[illegible]

Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from female trouble which [illegible] so I can do my house work with difficulty. I advise any woman afflicted with female trouble to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do them."—Mrs. MARIE BOYD, [illegible] St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

Sometimes there are situations where a hospital operation is the only alternative, but on the other hand so many women have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's famous root and herb remedy, Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that many doctors have said that an operation was unnecessary—every woman should first try this famous medicine to avoid an operation should at least give it a fair trial before submitting to the dangerous and trying ordeal.

If complications exist, write the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice. The result of their long experience is at your service.

Kodak Finishing

Expert work. Prompt return mail order department. Send for return postage. Write for price list. The Robert Dempster Co., Box 1[illegible]

INFLUENZA

Catarrhal Fever, Pink Eye, Epizootic

And all diseases of the horse affecting his throat cured; colts and horses in the same stable kept from contracting them by using SPOHN'S COMPOUND, 3 to 5 drops on the tongue twice a day. Safe for brood mares baby colts, stallions of all ages and conditions. Most skillful scientific preparation. SPOHN'S is sold by your druggist

SPOHN MEDICAL CO., Mfrs., Goshen, Ind.

SPOHN'S DISTEMPER COMPOUND

The Mission of Swift & Company

Swift & Company has become one of the large businesses of the world through continuing to meet the growing needs of a nation and a world.

Society has a right to ask how the increasing responsibilities and opportunities for usefulness which go with such growth are being used by the men who direct its affairs—and the men have the right to answer:

To promote the production of live stock and perishables and increase the food supply;

To reach more people with more and better meat;

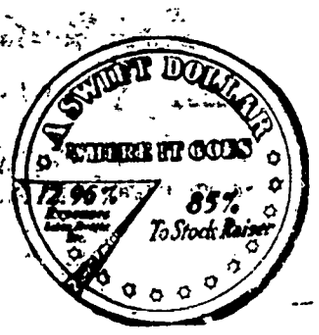
To make a fair competitive profit, in order to reimburse the 25,000 shareholders for the use of their capital, and to provide for the future development of the business;

To reduce to a minimum the costs of preparing and distributing meat and to divide the benefits of efficiency with producer and consumer;

To live and let live, winning greater business only through greater usefulness, with injury to nothing but incompetency, inefficiency and waste; to deal justly, fairly, and frankly with all mankind.

These are the purposes and motives of the men who direct the policies and practices of Swift & Company.

Swift & Company, U. S. A.



WRIGLEY'S

5c a package before the war

5c a package during the war

5c a package NOW

THE FLAVOR LASTS
SO DOES THE PRICE!

INSTEAD OF DOGS

the Cascades in a Gasoline ...ugh Was a Distinct Success.

...ular trial trip was recently ... the Cascades in a motor ... a number of photographs, ...rious stages of the journey, ...duced in Popular Mechan... achievement of the motor ... almost as amazing as that ... army tank, conquering, as ...kinds of obstacles. Skimming ... of snowfalls, old or new, ... little vehicle broke its way ...neral passes with never a ... The rescue of an automobile, ... stalled in the drifts of Sno..., was a mere incident in ... Crossing a deep gully on ...hemlock poles was but one of ...dventures. The intended ... of the motor sleigh for the ...dedges of Alaska's snow- ...trails means more to the ...nt great territory than may ...y realized. Jack London and ...e limned the malemute as a ...gure; but the followers of ...ow well he is never that. It ...ation of much human hard- ... as canine inefficiency, that ... the gasoline method.

Action Called For.

An angler drops a line he got an answer right away.

Time's Changes.

"Times shore change," philosophically said Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge. "Just tuther day, as it were, nobody thought anything in pertickler if a feller took a demijohn to church under the back seat of his wagon, and after the sermon had grown sorter tiresome winked a few of his friends outside to help him lap it up and fool around and swap horses and mebbey fight a little in a general way.

"But now, by grit, if he even smells of patent medicine on a week day he's got to produce the omenick and p'int out the place whur it says he's got the deadly disease that he claims to have taken the medicine for."—Kansas City Star.

Proud of His "Profession."

"Burglars who served in the army are going back to their old trade" said a London police official the other day "These men deliberately elect to live by stealing because they find it adventurous. It was with the same spirit that they joined the army. At least one convicted burglar won the Victoria cross." Confirmation of this characteristic is provided by a captain in a famous fighting regiment, who declares that one of the bravest men in his company, a corporal with a D.C.M. and other honors, declared himself a professional thief. "His one regret," remarked the officer, "was that the recruiting authorities would not let him describe his occupation on his attestation papers as 'burglar.'"

...iked Better Than Coffee for its uniformly high grade of flavor, its always steady and fair price, and its economy—

POSTUM CEREAL

If you want a satisfying beverage that will stop complaints about "poor coffee" or the "high price" of coffee, start using Postum and note results.

Equally sold at 15c and 25c

Everywhere at Grocers

Detroit.

I'd like to visit in Detroit, where soom ices cars are made and watch the artisans adroit pursue their helpful trade. I earn much money while I toot my tunbrels and my I ves Detroit n Akron get the loot for car and rubber tires Detroit's fine buildings many a one shows how that city leads, I paid for them with hard earned men, but others have the deeds Detroit has dwellings say and bright and palaces of stone I paid for everything in sight Though these are not my own My wife she needs a chafing dish, the kids need teddy bears but all my money's gone to Mich. Detroitward, for repairs. Detroit has social functions great, where youths and maidens dance and when it's time to pay the freight, I dig down in my pants Detroit has grown and grown again until she's over six and I provide the iron men that pay her hustling guys Nine dollars for an extra rim, and $20 for a wheel it makes my aged eyes grow dim to tell how poor I feel I used to calmly spend my days with neighbors, pitching quoits and still might follow frigid ways if there were no Detroits But now I labor night and day and ... to money down, I have to send it all away to Eddie Guest his town

History at Fayal.

From the New York Times

Now that Fayal Azores is brought to our notice through the courageous undertaking by American naval officers of a flight across the Atlantic, it brings to mind that it was in the harbor of Horta Fayal that one of the outstanding exploits of the war of 1812 was performed when Capt. Samuel Chester Reid, of the private ... Armstrong of 246 tons ... to be attacked by the British Plantagenet, Rota, ... and Carnation 18 ... people of this expedition, ordered by Capt Robert Lloyd who was on his way to reinforce Admiral Sir Theobald Cochrane's fleet at Jamaica and who must have imagined that the little privateer would be easy prey was a loss to the British of not less than 146 killed and 179 wounded while the Americans sustained a loss of two killed and seven wounded

The first attack by three barges of the Carnation was repulsed with a loss to the enemy of eight to 10 men whereupon the Plantagenet and the frigate Rota manned 10 barges with about 450 men and Reid forced into them as they divided into four divisions The first lieutenant of the Carnation was killed at the first fire and as the boats stood on the Americans poured shot into them from three long 9s and the famous Long Tom 42, which can be seen at this day in the Washington navy yard Every attempt to board the Armstrong was repulsed, Reid himself having a hand to hand encounter on the deck of his ship with a brave British officer Reid, hopelessly outnumbered, was forced to scuttle the brig and abandon her and the British commander completed her destruction by setting fire to her The Americans retreated to the shore in good order and prepared for another attack but no further fighting took place

IF SILVER SOARS ON

From the Hartford Courant

Most of us while acutely interested in the price of many things, have failed to notice that the price of silver is rising and has now reached the point when the government stamp upon the coin adds little to its value It has sold recently at $1.235 the ounce, the highest point, it is said, since 1877

This is interesting to those who have the metal for sale, but if the metal should progress until it reaches $1.2929 a silver dollar would be worth $1 at its bullion value and the slightest advance above that figure would see a rapid disappearance of silver coinage Statutes against the transformation of coin into bullion would not wholly prevent the evil and such appearance of small coin would result

The cheaper money always runs out the dearer This is the fresh am law

Earlier Air Mails

Letter in London Daily Mail

Indeed there is little new under the sun An announcement appeared in the Daily Mail about photographing business letters very small so as to reduce their weight for dispatch by air mail across the Atlantic Three hundred tons of letters so treated would weigh, it is said, only about ...

... a few days before reading that notice I had been looking over the account of how the air mails were sent into Paris during the siege of 1870. They were carried by pigeons and the letters were photographed very small so that as many as possible could be sent on one bird

The photographs were on thin little films of collodion, each film holding 100 messages A pigeon could easily carry a dozen of these light films or 30,000 messages. On February 3, 1871, one arrived in Paris carrying 40,000, none the worse for its flight

When the birds arrived the films were taken off them, the messages were enlarged in a magic lantern, which threw the images on a screen, and they were then copied in manuscript and sent to their destinations

In order to allow for the birds going astray a number of copies of each message was sent on different birds, the average number being about 20, but it varied from two to 40, according to the weather conditions and the reliability of the messenger. Twenty words was the limit for each message

A Looking Glass Curtain.

From the London Times

When Mr de Courville takes possession of the Little Theater in the Adelphi he will change its name to the Looking Glass For his intention is that not only the entertainment, which is to take the form of a "revue intime," but the drop curtain as well shall hold a mirror up to nature. Instead of the usual painted scene, Mr. de Courville is to install a gigantic mirror as the drop curtain,

The idea is not altogether new, for there is a precedent in that home of precedents, the "Old Vic" When the Royal Coburg theater, as the "Old Vic" was then called, was first opened, in May, 1819, a special feature of the building which attracted considerable attention was the looking glass curtain. John Booth in his history of the institution says that when not in use it was hauled up into the roof but its weight, which was five tons, proved a danger to that part of the structure, and if was removed. A second glass curtain was installed some years later, and was first used in September, 1834, after a performance of "Othello," when an Indian juggler gave his performance in front of it This curtain is described as a surface of many plates of looking glass neatly fitted together, and in it was reflected the whole interior of the theater boxes, pit and gallery in a way that make the building look like a circle instead of a

Owing to the number of bolsheviets attempting to cross Germany into Holland the Dutch frontier is being strongly guarded

COCA-COLA WILL BE USED TO CHRISTEN ENGINE

Program Will Feature Exercises at Fire Hall on Wednesday.

[From Nashville Tennessean.]

Ann Dallas Dudley, the new fire engine at the Waverly-Belmont fire hall, will be christened on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with appropriate exercises Mrs. Guilford Dudley, for whom the engine gets its name, is one of the state's pioneer suffrage workers and it is due to her untiring work that partial suffrage was given the women of Tennessee Mrs. Miles Williams, a resident of the twenty-first ward, is chairman of arrangements, and also a pioneer suffragist, and little Judith Winston Folk, the 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reau Folk, also a pioneer suffragist and the youngest member of the Nashville organization, has been chosen sponsor. Miss Folk has selected as her maids the following young girls, daughters of prominent suffrage leaders: Travania Dudley, Lenore Kenny, Kate Barksdale, Harriet Ingram, Mary Sue Cantrell, Jane Davis and Elizabeth Smith.

At the christening not champagne but a bottle of coca-cola will be broken and the maids will shower the engine with yellow flowers. Speeches will be made by Mayor William Gupton, Commissioner Tompkins and Chief A. A. Rosetta Mrs. Dudley, a member of the national suffrage organization, and Mrs Reau Folk, chairman of the city organization, will be honor guests of the occasion.—Adv.

All some women talk about is—well, about 18 hours.

Cry tomorrow, if you must, but laugh today

Freshen a Heavy Skin

With the antiseptic, fascinating Cuticura Talcum Powder, an exquisitely scented convenient, economical face, skin, baby and dusting powder and perfume. Renders other perfumes superfluous. One of the Cuticura Toilet Trio (Soap, Ointment, Talcum).—Adv.

Do you put your "O. K." on your day's work?

Laws are not alive until they are executed.

Their Faithfulness.

"Force of habit is almost as hard a master to some people as rum is said to be," commented the landlord of the tavern at Grudge. "Although the post office moved to its new location more than a month ago, and, too, though they never were compelled by law to do so, 'most any time o' day a bunch of prominent and influential junkheads can be seen standing in the doorway of the old post office room, patiently waiting for busy people to come, as they used to, and scrouge past them, trying to get in."—Kansas City Star.

Hard facts do not always make an impression on a soft-headed man.

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying powers are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and if is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics.

Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

Don't Sneeze; You May Die.

Scientists say that we are never nearer death than when we sneeze, the act causing a momentary convulsion of the brain.

FRECKLES

How to the Time to Get Rid of Those Ugly Spots

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as Othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from your druggist, and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than one ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.—Adv.

The bet you intended to make but didn't is always a safe bet.

NEW SOUTH WALES INFORMATION BUREAU

Singer Building, 149 Broadway, New York City Will be pleased to send Government Bulletins or answer any inquiries regarding opportunities for farming, stock raising, fruit growing, mining and investment in New South Wales,

AUSTRALIA

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

A toilet preparation of merit. Helps to eradicate dandruff. For Restoring Color and Beauty to Gray or Faded Hair. 60c. and $1.00 at Druggists.

IT'S NOT YOUR HEART; IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS

Kidney disease is no respecter of persons. A majority of the ills afflicting people today can be traced back to the kidney trouble.

The kidneys are the most important organs of the body. They are the filterers of your blood. If the poisons which are swept from the tissues by the blood are not eliminated through the kidneys, disease of one form or another will claim you as a victim.

Kidney disease is usually indicated by weariness, sleeplessness, nervousness, despondency, backache, stomach trouble, pain in loins and lower abdomen, gall stones, gravel, rheumatism, sciatica and lumbago.

All these derangements are nature's signals that the kidneys need help. You should use GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules immediately. The soothing, healing oil stimulates the kidneys, relieves inflammation and destroys the germs which have caused it. Go to your druggist today and get a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. In twenty-four hours you should feel health and vigor returning.

After you feel somewhat improved continue to take one or two capsules each day, so as to keep the first-class condition and ward off the danger of other attacks.

Ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand. Three sizes. Money refunded if they do not help you.

Good Riddance.

"Shall we hire a detective to watch our wedding presents?"

"I hardly think that will be necessary, my dear. Our friends have seized the opportunity to work off a lot of old junk."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The General Tendency.

"Everybody in America belongs to some kind of a social or commercial organization," observed the distinguished visitor."

"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum. "We have developed into a nation of leagues."

Kill All Flies! THEY SPREAD DISEASE

Placed anywhere, DAISY FLY KILLER attracts and kills all flies. Neat, clean, ornamental, convenient and cheap. Lasts all season. Made of metal, can't spill or tip over, will not soil or injure anything. Guaranteed.

DAISY FLY KILLER at your dealer or by EXPRESS, prepaid, $1.25. HAROLD SOMERS, 150 De Kalb Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Cuticura Heals Itching Burning Skin Troubles

All druggists: Soap 25, Ointment 25 and 50, Talcum 25. Sample each free of "Cuticura, Dept. X, Boston."

HEARTBURN

Caused by

Acid-Stomach

That bitter heartburn, belching, foul-repeating, indigestion, bloat after eating—all are caused by acid-stomach. But they are only first symptoms—danger signals to warn you of awful troubles if not stopped. Headache, biliousness, rheumatism, sciatica, that tired, listless feeling, lack of energy, dizziness, insomnia, even cancer and ulcers of the intestines and many other ailments are traceable to ACID-STOMACH.

Thousands—yes, millions—of people who ought to be well and strong are mere weaklings because of acid-stomach. They really starve in the midst of plenty because they do not get enough strength and vitality from the food they eat.

Take EATONIC and give your stomach a chance to do its work right. Make it strong, cool, sweet and comfortable. EATONIC brings quick relief for heartburn, belching, indigestion and other stomach miseries. Improves digestion—helps you get full strength from your food. Thousands say EATONIC is the most wonderful stomach remedy in the world. Brought them relief when everything else failed.

Our best testimonial is what EATONIC will do for you. So get a big 50c box of EATONIC today from your druggist, use five days—if you're not pleased, return and get your money back.

EATONIC

FOR YOUR ACID-STOMACH

Hard to Determine.

Ruth Clifford, the moving picture star, has a cousin overseas. Recently his name appeared in the casualty list as wounded.

"Yes," said Miss Clifford, in answer to an inquiry by her director, "he was wounded, but not seriously. We had a letter from the regimental surgeon."

"Where was he wounded?" asked Gerard.

"We are not quite sure. The surgeon mentioned the place, but we don't know whether it's an anatomical phrase or a French village."

Health Insurance

One of the distinctive qualities of food baked with Royal Baking Powder is wholesomeness.

This is health insurance of such vital importance that millions of women bake at home just to be sure that Royal Baking Powder is used.

Remember the adage—"Bake it with Royal and be sure."

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

Made from Grapes of Tartar derived from grapes

Royal Contains No Alum—
Leaves No Bitter Taste

Graduation Suits are the sole topic of Conversation.

this week at Patton Bros. Co.
For the past three weeks, special suits have been pouring in as thick and fast as examinations until today we're in a class by ourselves with the most beautiful styled and wonderfully trimmed young men's suits in the city.

Any Style, Stich, or Shade, you say.

Any Pattern, Pocket or Price you like.

Truly we've earned a diploma for the effort we've put forth in getting you ready for yours.

All the correct fixings too.

PATTON BROS.

Mason City, Iowa

"Where a dollar does it's duty"

I scream U scream We all scream
for
ICE CREAM

Our soda fountain is running in full blast now and we have the very best in Sodas, Malts, Sundaes etc. Get a quart of our delicious Ice Caerm for your Sunday dinner

"If It's To Eat---We Have It"
CRYSTAL CAFE
Elder & Fuller, Props.

DOCTOR MISSMAN
PHYSICIAN SURGEON
OFFICE--State Savings Bank Building, 'Phone No. 1105
RESIDENCE--North of Park. 'Phone No. 1109
X-Ray Radiographs Electrical Treatments
Eyes Tested Glasses Fitted

Now is the time to make a noise like Spring!

Now is the time to make plans for this year's garden. We have everything you need in that line:-

Garden Spades Forks Hoes
Rakes Plows Garden Seeds
Don't overlook your Lawn or Flowers
Better get some of our Grass Seed and Flower Seeds. Buy a Lawn Mower.

J. W. WATERMAN

The City Dray Line

Is prepared to do your hauling carefully and promptly.
Your patronage is respectfully solicited.
Charges Reasonable.

Henry P. Yahnke, Prop.
Coal Hauling Done

Osteopaths have a four year course and are licensed physicians. adv.

Miss Charlotte Miller was a Garner caller between trains Monday.

FOR SALE—Pure bred Holstein bull, nine months old. C. V. Marshall

Mart Bachman was a business caller at Garner Saturday afternoon.

An Eddie Polo Picture at the Idle Hour every Saturday night. adv.

Something special at the Idle Hour every Saturday, see Eddie Polo. adv.

Try a want ad in the Times—it brings results.

G. P. McCullough made a business trip to Garner between trains Monday afternoon.

We recommend, sell and guarantee Gould Storage Batteries. Henry Lau & Son. adv.

Mrs. Lee Ell, of Mason City, came Monday evening to attend the funeral of her grandmother, Mrs. Nelson.

MILK COWS for sale, or will trade for some young stock. J. B. Spittler. adv-tf.

Miss Edna Smith was a passenger to Belmond Tuesday noon for a visit with friends.

Bert Mathews, Wellemeyer's groceryman, spent Sunday at Garner with friends.

H. R. Allaben, of Goodell, was a business caller in Klemme between trains Tuesday morning.

Don't miss the Eddie Polo Pictures at the Idle Hour every Saturday night. adv.

Miss Milderd McCullough, of Garner, visited her brother, Gearald, between trains last Friday.

A. D. Gimer took a little vacation the past week enjoying (?) a few days on the sick list.

WANTED to buy—a good wall tent. Inquire at G. P. McCullough's Barber Shop.

Chris Nelson, of Garner, was a business caller in Klemme last Saturday between trains.

C. W. Wiles sells the Owens Lighting Plant for farms. Call on him for particulars. adv.

Paul Yeager, of Grundy Center, came Saturday to work for Chas. Fritzell.

The councilmen met at Frank Gruetzmacher's store Monday evening for important work.

Clark Bredbenner accompanied a shipment of hogs to Chicago Saturday night. We understand that he was shipping for himself.

Miss Maude Wenck, of Garner, came Monday noon for a visit at the F. J. Wenck home, returning to Garner Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Helen Lenz, of Minneapolis, came Saturday evening for an extended visit at the home of her sister, Mrs. Rv. A. H. Meyer.

Mrs. J. C. Kirschner and granddaughter, Vivian, left Tuesday noon for Clarion for a visit with relatives and friends.

Fred Musfelt hold his residence Saturday to Ralph Elder. The place is on of the best in Klemme and is well located.

Arthur Schultz, of Garner, came Saturday evening for an over Sunday visit at the home of his brother, Walter, and family.

Henry Beier and son left last Wednesday for Des Moines to return with his daughter who has been in the Methodist Hospital at that place.

DROP US A CARD and let us demonstrate the Delco-Light to You. Judd Hardware Co., Kanawha, Iowa. adv.-2w.

D. B. Anderson has comlpeted the plastering on his new house in Morning side addition and is now ready for the carpenters to finish the job.

Miss Lenora Schultz, of Garner, came Monday evening for a short visit at the home of her brother, Walter.

Richard and Harold Bamman came over from Garner Saturday evening for an over Sunday visit with friends. Dick has opened up a garage in Garner and is about ready to do business. They returned to Garner Monday morning.

FOR SALE:-Monarch six hole range used 1 1-2 years, good as new, good reason for selling and will sell for reasonable price if taken at once. Call at this office.

"Schanke & Company, Investment Bankers, M. B. A. Building, Mason City, Iowa, will buy or sell all issues of Liberty Bonds at highest current prices."—5w.

Elmer Larsen, of Denison, Iowa, came Monday evening for a visit with Klemme friends. We understand that he intends to work near Klemme this season.

LOST—Goodyear Tire 34x4 and Haynes rim between Garner and Klemme Monday. Finder please return to First National Bank for $5 reward.

We have a few Cream Cooling Tank left. These tands are indespensable to the selling of a quality product in cream. Come and buy one. Klemme Co-Operative Creamery Co. adv.

Henry Schuldt returned to Klemme from over-seas service Monday morning. Henry has been over-seas for quite a long time and is glad to get back home again.

Virgil Glaneville, of Brainard, Minnesota, arrived in Klemme Monday evening for a visit with friends. He was recently discharged from the army.

Dr. R. W. Schultz, Osteopath, of Garner, will be at the Hotel Klemme on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings, 9:00 to 12.00 adv.

Mrs. Harry Bonwell, of Renwick, visited last week at the R. M. Thomas and W F. Pavey homes. She left Saturday for a visit with relatives at Goodell

LOST—A book of "Rules and Regulations of Interurban Railways" between Klemme and Harry Gibbs' on May 30th. Finder return to this office for a $2 reward. 3w.

Mr. and Mrs. Thirow Brown, of Mason City, came Monday evening to attend the funeral of her grandmother, Mrs. Thos. Nelson, which was held Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Aug. Lau, Jr., and children of Garner, visited at the Tom Blank home the latter part of last week, returning to Garner Sautrday afternoon.

Horward Doyle and Gearald McCullough claim the championship for walking. The claim they walked to Goodell and back Sunday afternoon. Maybe they were only counting the railroad ties for a past-time.

Milverne Ell returned Monday evening from several weeks' visit with relatives and friends at Buffalo Center, Iowa, Garden City, Minn., and other points While there he did quite a lot of fishing.

A perfectly adjusted spine cures a "lame back" and insures good nerves, freely circulating blood, and a perfect digestion. Treatment will be given in your home when necessary. Telephone message may be left at the Hotel to be delivered to Dr. R. W. Shultz tf

The town of Belmond began their paving last week with a gang of about fifteen men, but later it is planned that about fifty or sixty men will be on the job, according to The Herald-Press.

Sam Larsen purchased a new Ford of E. G. Ell the other day. It happened to be a "Lizzie truck" this time and we presume Sam will put "Scoop" back of the wheel as he has been driving army trucks in France for sereval months.

JUNE CLEARANCE SALE of Trimmed Hats. One lot at 15 per cent discount, one lot at 20 per cent discount and ont lot at 25 per cent discount. Don't miss purchasing an elegant hat at a sacrifice at Mrs. John Josten's. Adv-q.

Rev. and Mrs. Howdeshell, daughter Edna and son Paul, of Armstrong, arrived in Klemme Monday evening. The Reverend assisted Rev. Barnlund with the funeral services of Mrs. Thos. Nlson Tuesday afternoon. While here the family visited with old time friends.

Dr. Zinn left Wednesday noon for Goldfield, Iowa, for a few days visit with a nephew before beginning his trip to Michigan and later Canada. Doc. promised to write a letter for the Times telling how the crops were in different sections of the country but up to th present time we have failed to hear from him

We have it! What

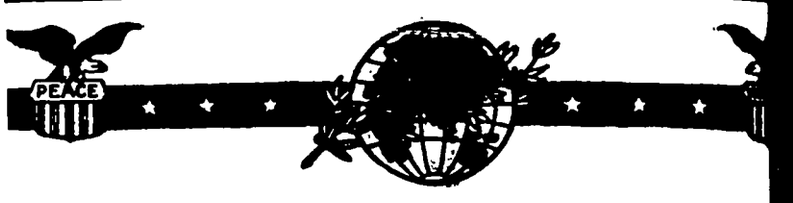
Everything

Which is found in only the best and most up-to-date Meat Markets.

You will always find a complete line of Choice Meats, Hams, Bacon Fancy Meats and Canned Goods

Try Our Oleomargarine---It's Fine!

J. P. Larsen & Sons



Harvest Loans for Farmers

From now until harvest time many farmers will be need of ready money to carry on farm operations un the seasons crop money begins to come in.

This bank is prapared to supply such funds in a amount an the most advantageous terms. Fair and sq are treatment is assured; prompt and satisfactory servi guaranteed.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Klemme Iowa

Subscribe Today at $1'5

All Kinds of Hardware

HARDWARE AND GROCERIES
Stoves and Furnaces
Paints, Oils, Feed, Flour, Cream Separators, Buggie
Wagons, Gasoline Engines.
All Kinds of Farm Machinery

GREUTZMACHER BROS

KLEMME DRAY LINE

LLOYD LAU, PROPRIETOR

A share of your patronage is solicited.
All work attended to promptly and carefully
Coal Hauling Done Promptly
Telephone No. 14

M. O. HOCUM
The Grain, Coal and Live Stock Man.
We will buy Hogs and Grain six days n the week at Highest Market Price
Successor to W. R. Bloom

DR. L. R. PARSON
DENTIST
Office 1st Floor State Savings
Phone No. 48.
Klemme Iowa

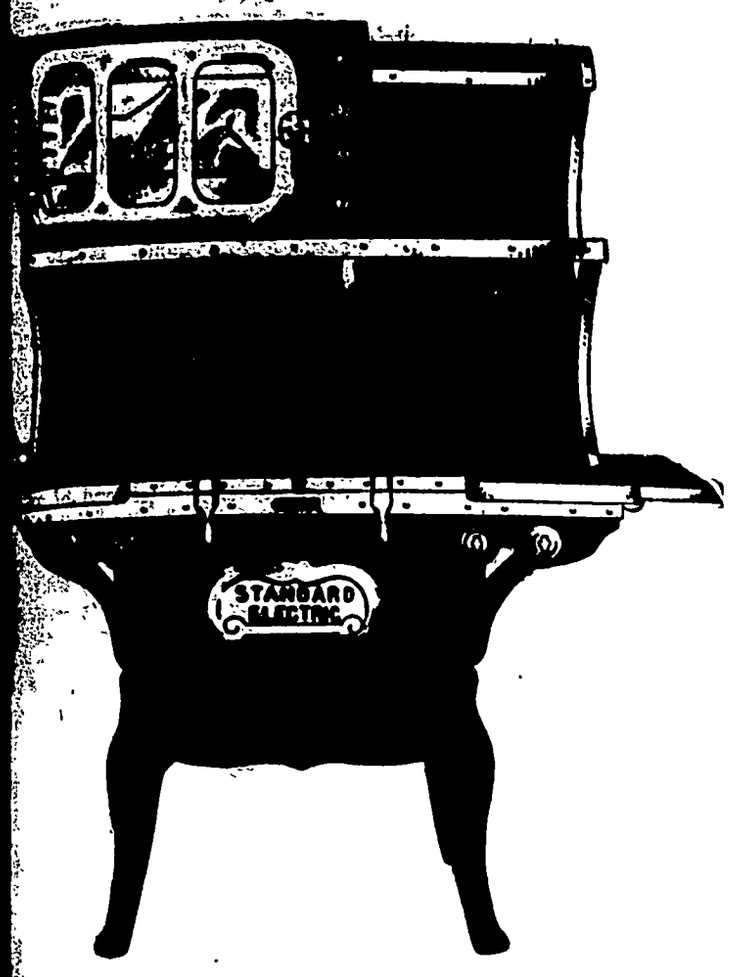
KLEMME TIMES

Third Year Number 41 | Klemme, Iowa, Thursday, June 19, 1919 | $1.50 In Advance. $2.00 Outside of County

Cook by Electricity

AND USE THE

ndard Electric Range



ustration shows a No. 601 STANDARD RANGE
one of the largest and most complete types. A size is every requirement.

bination of Electric Cooking Compartments, Electric and Electric Hot Plates enables you to use Electricity st economical way and solves the problem of Electri-ng.

THE STANDARD RANGE
Saves Fuel
Saves Work
Saves Food

"Let Us Show You How"

REX SHANNON

- - - - IOWA

Ask

e man past middle age who has succeeded yond his expectations.

Ask

ool-mate who has miserrbly failed, and the an- will agree that the bank account, properlp nurtured e best friend and helpmate.

Isn't the unanimity of this advice, born as the result of Experience, Significant to you

First Saving Bank

KLEMME, IA.

DOC ZINN WRITES INTERESTING LETTER

We Are Printing A Letter Which We Received Tuesday

On Boat Cleveland III.
On Lake Erie

R A Jorgenson,
Klemmme, Iowa.

Dear Friend As I promised you, so I will write you about my trip.

The first splendid experience was, when the agent at Klemme told me my train was thirty minutes late, so I hiked to our mother Kirkwood and told her I was hungry and would like another meal from her table She kindly prepared it for me, and when I was going to take my first bite, the train whistled and I made a gallant run for the depot and luckly made my train.

I went to Goldfield where I met my nephew, Edgar N. Zinn, M D. On the evening train I started for Chicago and at Iowa Falls I was met by my associate traveler, Mrs Schroeder

Right here, I wish you would see the old widowers and intercede for me. If they say anything about my going with their girl, you tell them to come to me

Mrs Schroeder has certainly found out how to reach the heart of a bachelor, viz The bachelor heart is reached by way of the stomach.

We arrived in Chicago where Mrs. Henry Schroeder and Albert met us. There we parted and I went to St. Anne's Hospital where my nephew Dr R. N. Pewber was assisting in surgical work I stayed with him several days and then proceeded to Bottle Creek, Michigan, where I met my brother and his family

While at B C, my sister and my nephew, Howard W Zinn, who is the advertising manager of the Hunting Press, and Bernard F. Zinn, who is a student at Culver Military College My brother at B C has three boys at home and they with Howard and Bernard had one good time at B C I had intended to buy a car and take it out of the factory, but the strikers gave fair warning to the Battle Creek and Kalamazoo men, if they take a car out it will be smashed and the men too, so these parties went home without a machine, and warned me not to try to get one.

My nephew Bernard has a Dodge Bros car which we drove from B. C. o Dtroit, 140 miles in six hours. I was not at the wheel, you may know. We have the Dodge on the boat with us and when we arrive at Buffalo we will cross at Niagra Falls to Canada and continue our journey through the province of Ontario

This is a fine boat but these nigers who serve do not know how to reach a bachelor's heart I am going to send them to Mrs Schroeder to take a lesson In the former part of my letter referred to Mrs Schroeder's ability to reach a bachelor's heart She had one of the finest lunches with her on her trip, which she shared with me and a soldier boy who was on his way to Cuba It is needless to say we both relished it

Say Jorgy, I had some Michigan men ask me how to raise alfalfa They got a copy of the Mason City paper Please be careful what you print after this

I will write you again later when I have seen my father, etc

Be of good cheer

Your friend,
Geo. Zinn

"SHORTY" INSTALLS NEW ELECTRIC HAIR CLIPPER

G P McCullough has installed the very latest model Moore Electric Hair Clipper in his barber shop. It sure is a neat machine and is a great time saver for "Shorty" and also puts out a better job than can be done by hand. He is right there on hair cuts too, and a rial will convince you. If you have never tried an electric hair cut then go to "Shorty's" shop and let him run his new lawn mower over your old dome.

CARD OF APPRECIATION

We want to thank our many friends for their liberal contributions toward defraying of expenses, and for their help in various ways. We appreciate it very much.

William Werner and wife.

Well, Many Don't Seem to Have.

Robert was a thoughtful child and was used to reasoning out the "why" to his own questions. One day a little boy came in from next door. He asked questions continually and Robert finally looked at him curiously and said. "Haven't you a think of your own?"

FIRST M. E. CHURCH

A. H. Meyer, Pastor

Praching service Sunday morning at 11:00 o'clock. Sunday School at the close of the preaching services.

Epworth League Sunday night at 8:00 o'clock. Preaching service at 8:30. Special music by the church choir.

Midweek prayermeeting on Tuesday evening. A hearty welcome to all who worship with us.

ENGLISH METHODIST CHURCH

Services next Sunday as follows:
Morning worship at 10.30. Subject
Sunday School following the morning service.

The evening song service and worship will be at 8:15. Some special music at each service. Everyone is cordially invited to all the services.

ANOTHER LAND DEAL

Tuesday J J. Stille closed a deal with C F. Shell, of State Center, whereby Mr. Stille became the owner of a 160 acre farm west of Klemme. This land is located west of the Cameron Homestead which is now owned by Wm Neuhring, Sr. The consideration was $170 per acre and the crop. The land is all well tiled and has a well and windmill but no other improvements

DRAINAGE NOTICE

Hearing on Establishment of Drainage District No. 96.

State of Iowa, County of Hancock, ss.

To John Christians, George Zinn, W. R Bloom, Sadie A. Bloom, Charles S. Lawhorn, William J. Irving, Elmer Howard, F A. Arnold, Herman H. Theimann, George Schroeder, Henry Schroeder, The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company, Almon G. Danforth, Trustee, W. L. Lawhorn, Winnie Walsh, Frank Walsh, Valentine Josten and Peter Josten, Executors of the Estate of Valentine Josten, Deceased, Aetna Life Insurance Company, Henry Martens, Northern Lumber Company, The Peter J. Seippel Lumber Company, J. W. Waterman & Son, Ernest Anderson, owners and lienholders and to the Trustees of Ell Township and to Peter Josten, Township Clerk of Ell Township, and to all other persons in any way interested in any of the following described real estate in Hancock County, Iowa, to-wit:

SE NE; NE SE; SE SE; NW SE; SW SE; in Section 23; SW NW; SE NW; SE; W½ SE; W 10 A. NE SE; W 10 A SE and SE¼; Section 24; NW NW; NE NW; NW NE; Section 25; NE NE; Section 26 all in Township 95 North, Range 23, West of the 5th P. M. and all roads and highways in Ell Township included within the watershed.

You are hereby notified that on January 25th, 1918, there was filed in the office of the County Auditor of Hancock County, Iowa, a petition addressed to the Board of Supervisors of said County asking that certain lands above described be incorporated into a drainage district and that a system of drains be constructed for the relief of said districts.

You are further notified that on April 4, 1918, W. S. Bemis, Jr., was appointed engineer to make a survey, plat, profile and field notes of said proposed district, and that on June 5, 1919, said engineer filed his report recommending the establishment of said district and the construction of system of drains for the relief of said district and that said report is now on file in the office of the County Auditor of said County and may be amended at any time before final action is taken thereon by the Board of Supervisors, and that July 11, 1919 has been fixed as the time of hearing thereon. All objections and claims for damages must be filed in the office of the County Auditor not less than five days before said hearing.

Witness my hand and official seal at Garner, Iowa, this 9th day of June, 1919.

(Seal) CHRIS JACOBS,
Auditor of Hancock County

Art Haes, of Garner, has been here with his well drilling outfit for about a week now fixing up the town well. The well was going dry, at least it was not giving as much water as it should, so something had to be done about it. The well was supposed to be about 150 feet deep but when it was measured up it was found to be only about 125 feet deep. The well was drilled deeper and has been drilled into solid rock and slate and is now down to about 185 feet so an ample supply of water should be had now. It has caused a lot of inconvenience for many families in this city to be without water and the various wells about town have had to supply the demand. However now you can turn the faucet and get all the water you need.

The Joe Johnson family went to Mason City Sunday to see Mildren who is still in the hospital here. They report that she is getting along nicely at the present writing and her many friends hope for her speedy recovery.

A. D. Gimer went to Sheffield Sunday. His daughter, Bernice, accompanied by Arvella Emerson took him to Clear Lake in their Overland car. The girls got back to Klemme just ahead of the rain.

Oscar Larsen, better known as "Scoop" arrived in Klemme Monday afternoon from Camp Dodge where he was discharged from his job with Uncle Sam. "Scoop" has been across the pond for over ten months and has seen actual service and plenty of it. He was in the Motor Train Corps and most of his work was driving supply trucks up to the front. "Scoop" says he is mighty glad to get back home and that he is perfectly willing to stick around in this neck of the woods for the rest of his natural life. He went to work the next morning in the meat market and is now right back into the old job and happy. Welcome home "Scoop."

Marlin Croner is building a fine new garage and work shop east of Mrs. Schroeder's residence. The building will be about twenty feet by thirty feet and will be a pebble dash or rock finished when completed. The upper part will be used for storing lumber and the lower part will be fitted up for his work shop where he will install all the latest machinery for wood working. Marlin believes in having the best and this building will not only be a fine appearing building but will be useful in his trade.

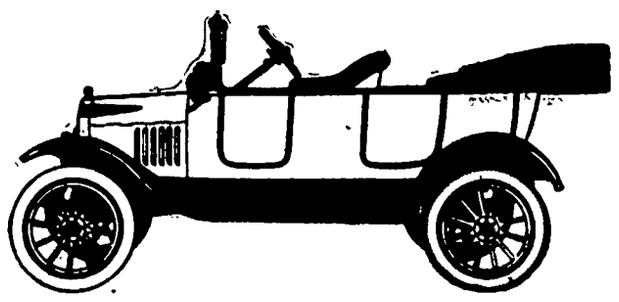
Walt Bloom has been around Klemme almost long enough to become a regular citizen. Maybe Walt better stay here the rest of his life. However, we suppose he will be beating it west again soon to look after his lumber business.

Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

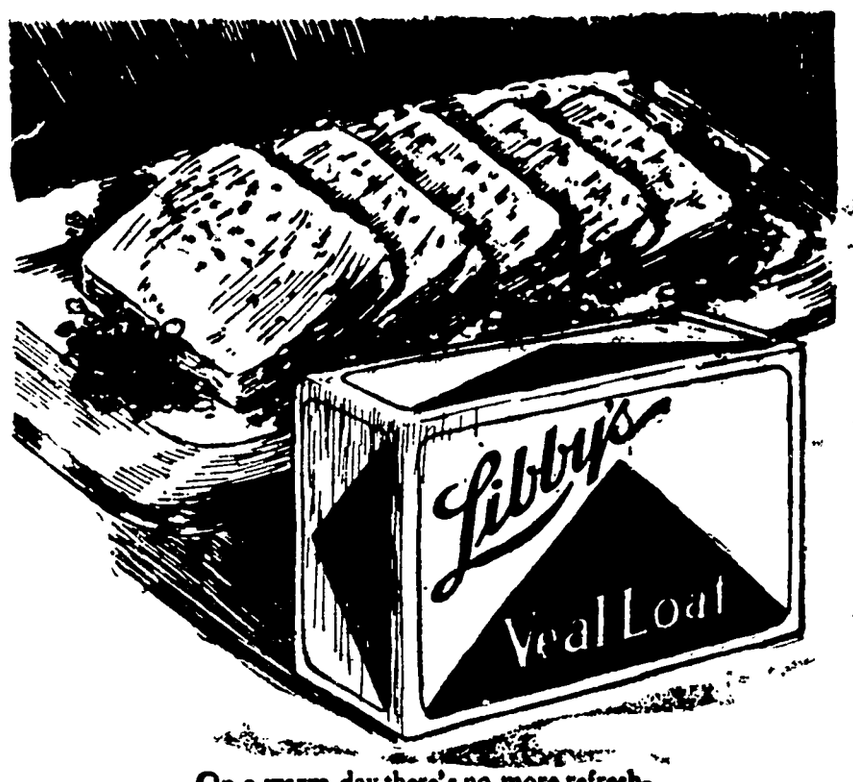
We are experienced, and know how to give sevice to the owners of Ford cars. We have the same methods, machinery and skill that they have in the Ford factory, and we use the same parts made by the Ford Motor Company. Ford owners are doubly guaranteed by us as to the reliability of our service on Ford cars. Don't try to do it yourself bring your car here. Incicentally we are getting a few Ford cars ane are able to make fairly good deliveries.

Touring Car, $525; Runabout, $500; One Ton Truck Chassis, $550; Coupe, $650; Sedan, $775. These prices f. o, b. Detroit.



E. G. ELL

Authorized Dealer



On a warm day there's no more refreshing luncheon than Libby's Veal Loaf, chilled and sliced! So easy, too. Ask your grocer for a package today.

Libby, McNeill & Libby, Chicago

Kill Dandruff With Cuticura

All druggists: Soap 25, Ointment 25 and 50, Talcum 25. Sample each free of "Cuticura, Dept. K, Boston."

Every Woman Wants

Paxtine

ANTISEPTIC POWDER

FOR PERSONAL HYGIENE

Dissolved in water for douches stops pelvic catarrh, ulceration and inflammation. Recommended by Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co. for ten years. A healing wonder for nasal catarrh, sore throat and sore eyes. Economical. Has extraordinary cleansing and germicidal power. Sample Free. 50c. all druggists, or postpaid by mail. The Paxton Toilet Company, Boston, Mass.

DAISY FLY KILLER PLACED ANYWHERE ATTRACTS AND KILLS ALL FLIES. Neat, clean, ornamental, convenient, cheap. Lasts all season. Made of metal, can't spill or tip over; will not soil or injure anything. Guaranteed effective. Sold by dealers, or 5 by EXPRESS, prepaid, $1.25.

HARRISON SOMERS, 150 De Kalb Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Everything Lovely.

"Howdy, Gap!" saluted an acquaintance, upon meeting the well known Rumpus Ridge citizen on a shopping expedition in Tunkinville. "How's everything going with you?"

"Fine 'n frog hair, Jurd!" triumphantly replied Gap Johnson. "Of course, my wife has been sorter puny, yur of late, and several of the children have got the measles and mumps and one thing and another, and the lightning struck the corner of the house tuther night and like to have tore the whole place to pieces, and one of the kids fell out of a tree and broke his arm, and a feller took a shot at me day before yesterday and ventilated my ear, and such as that, but I swapped for a running horse last week, and a couple of my hounds have got six pups apiece. Aw, I tell you, they can't keep a good man down!"—Kansas City Star.

Well Known.

I was hurrying home up the hill when a little boy came rushing down in such haste that he ran headlong into me. He was quite breathless and very flushed.

"Have you seen my pa?" he managed to stammer.

"I don't know your pa, little boy," said I.

He looked at me in round-eyed wonder and his pink cheeks fairly stuck out.

"You don't know my pa?" he said incredulously. "Why, I know pa just as easy!"—Exchange.

BELCHING
Caused by
Acid-Stomach

Let EATONIC, the wonderful modern stomach remedy, give you quick relief from disgusting belching, food-repeating, indigestion, bloated, gassy stomach, dyspepsia, heartburn and other stomach miseries. They are all caused by Acid-Stomach from which about nine people out of ten suffer in one way or another. One writes as follows: "Before I used EATONIC, I could not eat a bite without belching it right up, sour and bitter. I have not had a bit of trouble since the first tablet."

Millions are victims of Acid-Stomach without knowing it. They are weak and ailing, have poor digestion, bodies improperly nourished although they may eat heartily. Grave disorders are likely to follow if an acid-stomach is neglected. Cirrhosis of the liver, intestinal congestion, gastritis, catarrh of the stomach—these are only a few of the many ailments often caused by Acid-Stomach.

A sufferer from Catarrh of the Stomach of 11 years' standing writes: "I had catarrh of the stomach for 11 long years and I never found anything to do me any good—just temporary relief—until I used EATONIC. It is a wonderful remedy and I do not want to be without it."

If you are not feeling quite right—lack energy and enthusiasm and don't know just where to locate the trouble—try EATONIC and see how much better you will feel in every way.

At all drug stores—a big box for 50c and your money back if you are not satisfied.

EATONIC

FOR YOUR ACID-STOMACH

KNEW THAT WOULD STOP HIM

Lawyer Evidently Was Well Acquainted With the Weakness of His Long-Winded Friend.

C. H. Murphy relates the story of a Philadelphia lawyer, retired, who, in the days of his active practice, was notorious for his long-windedness.

On one occasion he had been spouting forth his concluding argument for six hours, and the end was nowhere in sight, when the opposing attorney beckoned his associate and whispered:

"Can't you stop him, Jack?"

"I'll stop him in two minutes," Jack replied confidently. And he wrote and passed to the orator the following note:

"My Dear Colonel—As soon as you finish your magnificent argument I would like you to join me at the hotel in a bumper of rare old Bourbon."

The lawyer halted in the midst of an impassioned period, put on his glasses, and read the note that had been handed him, then he removed his glasses again and, taking up his hat and bag, he said:

"And now, may it please the court and gentlemen of the jury, I leave the case with you."

A minute later he was proceeding in stately fashion in the direction of the hotel bar.

Who'd do the work of the world if everybody were rich?

Brighten the Morning Meal

with a hot drink that gives refreshing invigoration.

The Original

POSTUM CEREAL

is so pleasing and satisfying that it has completely taken the place of tea and coffee in many homes everywhere.

Try this healthful Drink and note results.

Two sizes, usually sold at 15c and 25c.

At Grocers Everywhere!

The Finding of Jasper Holt

BY

Grace Livingston Hill Lutz

Author of "Marcia Schuyler", "Phoebe Deane", "The Obsession of Victoria Gracen", etc.

The girl on the bank caught her breath, but said nothing. Must they swim across? Was there no other way? She watched Holt standing, strong and manly, in the middle of the stream, the water above his waist. Presently, when he had gone more than half way across he turned and came back to her.

She was white with excitement, but her lips were set and her eyes were bright with the intention of doing his bidding.

"I am sorry. There is no other way, and we must hurry, for the sun is getting low. We should reach that house before dark."

He stooped and gathered her in his strong arms, lifting her shoulder high, and stalked out into the stream before she knew what he was doing.

"Oh, please, I can walk as well as you," she deprecated.

"Put your arms around my neck, please," he commanded, and waded in, holding her high and dry above the water.

She obeyed instantly, in trust and shy wonder, and the water rose about them, but did not touch her.

Once, when they were in the middle of the stream, Holt's foot slipped and for an instant it seemed as though he would lose his balance, but he lifted her the higher and almost instantly recovered himself. In a moment more they had crossed the stream, and he had set her down upon the bank and was shaking the water from his garments as if it were a common thing which he had done and he enjoyed it. She looked down at herself. Not a shred of her garments was wet, while he was drenched almost to the arm pits.

"You are all wet!" she exclaimed, conscience stricken.

"You wouldn't expect me to keep dry in all that, would you?" he asked with his eyes dancing.

Then they laughed like two children, and a frightened chipmunk ran chattering away in the trees.

"Are you all right?" he asked solicitously. "Are you perfectly dry?" His voice was husky with emotion and his eyes tender.

"Of course I'm dry," she answered dubiously, as if half ashamed of the fact. "Why wouldn't I be when I'm treated like a baby? It seems to me you didn't quite keep to the terms of our partnership."

"This was one of the big things," he said, "only I didn't want you to know it. To tell you the truth, I didn't know whether that stream was fordable or not; and, besides, I knew that if you got your clothes wet again it would hinder you in walking. Come, we must make that house before dark. I'm hungry, aren't you? And we're pretty sure to find bacon and corn bread at least. How does that sound?"

"Good!" she cried, laughing, and took the hand that was held out to her. Together they ran on over the rough ground toward supper and rest.

But the way was longer than they thought, and Holt had not been able to calculate on the slow steps of the girl who was unused to such long tramps, nor to going without adequate food. The sun went down and the darkness was upon them before they were anywhere near the little house.

Once Jean stumbled and almost fell, and a sound like a half sob came from her throat as she clutched at his arm to save herself. It was then he picked her up like a tired child and carried her over the rough ground, until she protested so vigorously that he was forced to set her down and both stopped to rest. For, indeed, Holt's own strength was somewhat spent by this time, though he showed no outward sign of fatigue, having been trained in a school that endures until it drops.

By this time they felt as if they had known each other for years, for there is nothing like a common peril and a common need to make souls know one another, and to bring out the true selfishness or unselfishness of each character. Because these two had been absolutely forgetful of self, each felt for the other a most extraordinary attraction and reverence.

As they sat silently under the stars, resting, it came to their minds how far from strangers they now seemed, and yet how little they knew about each other's lives; and they felt they needed not to know because of what each had been to the other during the night and the day that were passed.

When they started on their way again, arm in arm, they walked silently for a time, marvelling at what the day had brought them in knowledge of the other's fineness.

"I cannot be mistaken," thought Jean. "He is fine and noble—all that a man ought to be. He looks as if he had never done anything wrong, yet is strong enough to kill the devil if he would."

But this time the little house in the distance had put a light in its window, and guided them twinklingly to its door, where three great dogs greeted them from afar and disputed their entrance.

The house was not very large, only three rooms. A man and his wife and some hired hands huddled around a kerosene light, the men smoking and playing cards; the wife knitting silently in the rear.

They looked up curiously to hear the stranger's story, half incredulous. They had not heard of any railroad accident. They lived 20 miles from the railroad and went to town only once a fortnight.

"This your wife?" questioned the householder of Holt.

Jean's face flamed scarlet as a new embarrassment faced her. She had not thought of proprieties until now. Of course they existed even in the wilderness.

Holt explained haughtily.

"H'm!" said the man still incredulous. "Any more in your party? Wal, my woman'll take keer your woman fer t'night, an' in the mornin' we ken talk business. Yas, I've got horses, but I need 'em." The man looked cunningly from one to the other of the men.

Jean looked at Holt, and thought how far above these people he seemed as he stood haughtily by the door in his wet and draggled clothing, with the bearing of a young king.

"Oh, I can pay for the horses," said Holt, "and see that they are returned, too, if that is what is the matter." And he pulled out a roll of bills and threw several carelessly on the table.

"Wal, that alters the case," said the man more suavely; "of course, fer a consideration——"

"Can we get some supper?" asked Holt, cutting him short. "We've had very little to eat all day, and this lady is tired and hungry."

The man's wife bustled forward.

"Fer the land sake!" she exclaimed, "hungry this time o' night? We ain't got much ready, but ther' was some corn bread and po'k lef' from supper, ef they'll do. The men is powahful eatahs."

She set out the best her house afforded, eyeing Jean's tattered silk robe enviously between trips to the cupboard. The men went on with their card game and Jean and Holt ate in silence. The girl was beginning to dread the night and to wish for the silence of the starlit world and the protection of her strong, true friend. She did not like the look of the men who fumbled the dirty cards and cast bold glances in her direction.

She was even more frightened when she learned the arrangements that were to be made for the night. She was assigned to a bunk in a small closet like room opening from the big room in which they were all sitting—which appeared to be kitchen, parlor and dining room combined, and was to be, for that night at least, sleeping room for Holt and the other men, several rolls of army blankets being the only visible provision made for their comfort.

Holt managed to get opportunity to whisper to her as the men were disputing over their game while the housewife retired to the guest chamber to "red up."

"Don't you worry," he reassured her softly. "I'll bunk across in front of your door. You can sleep and trust me."

She flashed up at him a bright, weary smile that sent a thrill of joy through him and made him feel that nothing in life could be better than to defend this girl who trusted him.

In the early rose and gold of the morning Jean awoke to the smell of cooking ham and the sizzle of eggs frying just the other side of her thin partition, and knew that she had slept in safety under guard of her new found friend.

"Jasper! Jasper Holt!" said a strange, sweet voice within her soul, and she wondered at the beauty of the name and the thrill of possession she felt in it.

Jean had a little money carefully sewed inside her clothing. It was to have done for her whole western trip and bought gifts for the dear ones at home before her return. Now she realized it was her fortune. She made a bargain with the woman of the cabin for a khaki skirt and blouse, of doubtful cut and shabby mien, but whole and clean. For these she gave $2 and the remains of the once treasured, but now tattered and traveled stained, silk robe she wore. And so it was as a western girl, in riding skirt and blouse, that she emerged from the little closet where she had slept, but so wholly was she able to subjugate her clothes, and so exquisitely did her flower face and golden brown hair set them off, that they took on a style and beauty entirely out of their nature; and their former owner stared in wonder and sighed with envy as she beheld. It had not been the silken garment that made this girl a queen, but her own beauty of countenance and regal bearing; for here were her own old clothes, worn like a royal robe, making the stranger lovely as the morning.

Holt looked at the girl in startled wonder when she appeared, so trig and sweet in her traveling garb, ready for the next stage of her journey, and trembled with joy at the day that was before him, albeit the end of the journey would bring sadness and parting, he knew. He wanted to knock down the men who stared impudently, offering audible comments on her complexion and bearing that made the swift, frightened color come to her cheeks. He ate his breakfast in haughty silence, sitting between Jean and one of the men, and shielding her as far as possible from any need of conversation save with her hostess, who waited on them all and hovered admiringly 'round her young guest's chair with offers of molasses and mush that were fairly overwhelming.

"Any need for a clergyman?" asked the ugliest of the three men, leaning forward across the table, his knife and fork held perpendicular each side of his plate, a large piece of ham aloft on his fork. He gave an ugly wink at the others and they laughed coarsely and meaningly.

"Yas, you could git the elder by goin' about 10 mile out o' yer way," added another, and devoted himself audibly to his thick cup of muddy coffee.

Holt ignored these remarks and began asking questions of his host about the crops and the exact location of the house with regard to railroads, wondering meanwhile, if Jean understood their rough jokes, and hoping she did not.

If she did she was serene with it all, and smiled her very sweetest on her hostess, making her heart glad at the parting by the gift of a pair of cheap, but pretty, little cuff pins that had been fastened on the front of her traveling robe.

So they mounted and rode away, Jean like the queen of a girl that she was, and her companion no less noble in his bearing. The joy they felt in the day and each other was only equalled by their own shyness in speaking of it.

CHAPTER VI.

They talked about many things that morning as they rode happily toward Hawk Valley. Holt felt no anxiety, now, about reaching there by night, for he knew exactly where he was and how to get there. He had bargained with one of the men for firearms, and he could now shoot enough to keep them from hunger even if they were delayed. He had matches in his pocket and an old cowboy hat on his head, and he felt rested and fit for the journey. For the first half of the way, at least, he could give himself up to the bliss of a companionship such as he had never known in the whole of his young life. Reverence, awe, adoration were in his glance as he looked at the girl, and a great, wistful sadness grew as the day lingered toward evening.

They rode first straight down to the telegraph station, which was about 15 miles from the settler's cabin, and sent reassuring telegrams from the forlorn little office set out alone in the middle of the prairie; one to Jean's father and mother back in the eastern home, and one to her sister, Eleanor Harrington, in Hawk Valley.

"Don't worry about accident. Am safe and well and shall reach Hawk Valley tonight.—Jean." said the first message. The second Holt worded for himself, for he had left the girl outside the station on her horse. She had asked him to be sure and tell her sister that he was with her so she would not worry, but the message he sent was:

"Safe and well, and on my way to you with a friend who will look out for me. Expect to reach Hawk Valley tonight.—Jean."

Inquiry concerning the accident brought little information. The wreck had been on the "other road" and the agent "hadn't heard much." He "didn't know whether many lives were lost or not," and he "guessed it was the engineer's fault, anyhow—it usually was."

They rode on their way in happy converse. Jean was led to tell of her home life. Not that Holt questioned her, but she seemed to love to talk of home, and picture her family, her friends, the church where her father preached, the companions of her girlhood, the serious school life and church work to which she had been devoting herself; and, above all, he saw and wondered over the sweet confidence that existed between this girl and her parents. A wistful look came into his eyes as he thought what might have been his life if someone had cared for him and trusted in him that way; or if he had had a sister like this girl.

Suddenly, in the middle of the afternoon the girl looked up and asked: "Will your mother worry? Did you send her a telegram, too?"

"My mother?" he said in a strange, cold voice. "My mother never worries about me. She isn't that kind. I doubt if she even knows where I am these days. I've been west for a long time. Father died and mother married again since I left home. I don't suppose she would even hear of the accident. There's no one to care where I am." There was a bitterness in the young voice and a hardness on the handsome features that cast a pall over the beauty of the afternoon for Jean.

"Oh," she said, looking at him earnestly. "Oh, don't say that! I'm sure someone cares."

There were tears in her eyes. He looked so noble and good to her, and her heart went out to him utterly in his loneliness. In that moment she knew that she cared with all her heart, that she would always care. It was strange and wonderful, but she knew she would always care!

He looked at her with wonder again and a yearning that he could not hide.

"I believe you would care!" he exclaimed.

She smiled through a sudden mist of tears.

"Yes, I should care. I couldn't help it," she said. "You have done so much for me you know and I—know well——" she hesitated, "I don't see how anybody who belonged to you could help caring." Her cheeks were rosy with the effort to say what she meant without seeming unmaidenly.

His brow darkened.

"Belonged!" he said bitterly. "Belonged! Yes, that's it. I don't belong anywhere long. I don't belong anywhere."

His voice was so different, so harsh that it almost frightened her. She watched him, half afraid, as he brought his horse to a sudden stop and looked about him. Then he changed the subject abruptly.

"This is a good place to camp for supper and rest," he said, as if he had quite forgotten what they had been saying.

He swung down from the saddle, hobbled his horse, and came around to her side to help her alight; but for a moment looking earnestly, tenderly to her eyes, and she looked back at him trustingly, wonderingly, with a worshipful homage a woman can hold for the man who has her tenderest thoughts. She did not know she was looking that way at you, no! She would have been covered with confusion if she had known it. It was unconscious, and the more sweet and treasured her look was for that.

"I believe you do care, now," he said in a voice filled with a sort of awe that made the girl's heart leap and the color flame into her cheeks.

Then before she could analyze or think to be embarrassed, he lifted her reverently from the saddle and set her on the ground.

He hobbled her horse, unstrapped the pack of provisions and went to gather up firewood but when he returned she was sitting where he left her under the tree, her face buried in her hands, her slender form motionless.

He stood for a moment and looked at her, then came over and knelt down beside her, and taking her hand gently from her face, looked into the dewy depths of her sweet eyes and spoke:

"Don't!" he pleaded gently. "We'll have supper now and then we'll talk it all out. Will you come and help me make a fire?"

There was something in his voice, a tender glance that helped her to obey his call. A lovely smile dawned in her eyes. She let him help her to her feet, and casting aside the last bit of shyness that had fallen over her like a misty veil, she ran here and there gathering sticks and helping to build the fire blaze, talking merrily while the supper they were preparing for she had done all day; but he was in a tumult of wonder.

Holt shot a couple of rabbits and put them to roast before the fire, then set herself to toast the soggy bread and make it more palatable. Their merry laughter rang out again and again as they prepared the simple meal. They were like two children playing house. No one looking on would have seen any difference in their demeanor from what it had been all day. It was only when Holt would go into the open, shooting rabbits, that followed the sadness and gloom would settle down upon his young face. It was only when he was away getting more wood that Jean, left to watch the sputtering rabbits let the cloud of pain burn, while her face grew tender and her eyes sweet with a new light.

It was when the supper was over and the fire flickering low in the last light of sunset that Holt came and sat down beside the girl, and then a great silence fell between them.

Holt had planned their home coming to be in the dark. For the first time he would not have witnesses to his arrival. This thoughtfulness came from finer feelings than the rest. Hawk Valley dreamed that it possessed. There remained but little more than over an hour's ride now to reach Hawk Valley, and Holt did not mean that they should get there before 9 o'clock if possible, the earliest.

He sat gravely quiet, his hands folded across his raised knees, his back against a tree, looking steadily, wistfully, off into the distance. He seemed a great deal older, with that grave, sad expression. Jean stole a glance at him now and then, and plucked at the vegetation around her and wondered why this appalling silence, which she seemed powerless to break, had so suddenly fallen between them.

Then the man's voice broke the stillness in a low, tense tone. "There is something I must tell you."

The very air seemed waiting to hear what he would say. The girl scarcely breathed.

"It wouldn't have been the right thing for me to tell you that before you if I had been the only one concerned; but we've been through so much together, and it's as if we had known each other for years—and—you care, too! I can see it in your eyes. I am not worthy of it—but you have made it's up to me to help you so that I would be an easier job, perhaps you were used to being trusted; and the honest fact that you're the most respectable person that has ever noticed me since I can remember makes it comes hard——"

His voice broke as if an emotion had wandered into his throat. A sob swelled in the girl's throat at her little briar-scratched hand stole out and just touched his sleeve shrinkingly with a feather touch of pressure, and withdrew as if afraid.

"I will bear my part of the trouble whatever it is—please do! It is more than your own part."

(Continued Next Week)

The request for an increase in fare from 5 to 6 cents in Pe

MAKING OF A FAMOUS MEDICINE

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Is Prepared For Woman's Use.

...to the laboratory where this ...al remedy is made impresses ...e casual looker-on with the reli... accuracy, skill and cleanliness ...ends the making of this great ...e for women's ills.

...,000 pounds of various herbs ...annually and all have to be ...at the season of the year when ...eral juices and medicinal sub... are at their best.

...e powerful solvents are used ...extract the medicinal properties from ...em, and tank after tank of this ...ed with the medicine in correct ...ortion. Final precaution in cleanliness ...edicine is pasteurized and sealed ...o bottles.

...he wonderful combination of ...ve herbs, together with the ...ial care used in its preparation ...s made this famous medicine ...rful in the treatment of ...ke ...

...ers from women who have ...ained to health by the use of ...E. Pinkham's Vegetable Com... which we are continually pub... about to its virtues.

Growing Old.

...n gets so he can philoso... means he is getting along in ...Macon Republican.

...are already using hard words ...tax on soft drinks.

LIFT OFF CORNS!

...n't hurt a bit and costs only ...a few cents

...! Just drop a little Freezone ...touchy corn, instantly it stops ...then you lift the corn off with ...gers. Truly! No humbug!

...Freezone! Your druggist sells a ...ttle for a few cents, sufficient to ...r feet of every hard corn, soft ...or corn between the toes, and ..., without one particle of pain, ...ss or irritation. Freezone is the ...ery of a noted Cincinnati genius.

General Pershing's War Map.

...stalling General Pershing's war ...the old National Museum build... Washington, the commander's ...at the front just as it looked ...the map was in actual use, is ...reproduced as a setting. Here ...the chairs used by the general ...his aids while they studied the ...which changed hourly, night and ...new reports came in and were re... The table at which the officers ...over documents will stand as it ...at one side, and the walls will ...covered with the identical lineoleum ...as a background for the map. ...The map was brought over in pieces ...and put together, and the conven... design of the lineoleum is said ...to add odd kitchenlike domesticity ...to the room in which General Pershing ...and history writing itself in a ...literal sense on the wall.

A Fair Proposition.

"Grabcoin, I've saved up $8,000 ...and want to marry your daughter." ...Do you realize that $8,000 won't ...go nowadays?"

"Yes, sir. But it ought to take ...you for at least six months and ...at the end of that time if I haven't ...told you that I'm an ideal son-... you needn't do a thing for us."

...We have to live with ourselves ...and see to it that we always ...keep good company.

FARMERS ARE WORKING HARDER

And using their feet more than ever before. For all these workers the frequent use of Allen's Foot-Ease, the antiseptic healing powder to be shaken into the shoes and sprinkled in the foot-bath increases their efficiency and insures needed physical comfort. It takes the Friction from the Shoe, freshens the feet, and prevents tired, aching and blistered feet. Women everywhere are constant users of Allen's Foot-Ease. Don't get foot sore, get Allen's Foot-Ease. Sold by dealers everywhere.—Adv.

The Ruling Passion.

Mrs. Talkerton—Oh, dear! I wish there was some way to break little Gladys of sucking her thumb!

Her Husband—Don't worry when she gets a little older she'll notice that it interferes with her talking. Then she'll quit it herself.

Buy a Farm Now.

Because land is cheaper than it will ever be again. The U. S. Railroad Administration is prepared to furnish free information to homeseekers regarding farming opportunities. We have nothing to sell, no money to lend; only information to give. Write me fully with reference to your needs. Name the state you want to learn about. J. J. Edwards, Manager, Agricultural Section U. S. Railroad Administration, Washington, D. C.—adv.

"The way of the transgressor is hard," when he is trying to transgress the laws of nature.

The Cuticura Toilet Trio

Having cleared your skin keep it clear by making Cuticura your every-day toilet preparations. The soap to cleanse and purify, the Ointment to soothe and heal, the Talcum to powder and perfume. No toilet table is complete without them. 25c everywhere.—Adv.

Calling names in an argument may make the chap called sore, but do they answer his arguments?

Important to Mothers

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, that famous old remedy for infants and children, and see that it

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

In Use for Over 30 Years.

Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria

A daughter is an embarrassing and ticklish possession.—Menander.

STRENGTHENS KIDNEYS—PURIFIES BLOOD

You can't expect weak kidneys to filter the acids and poisons out of your system unless they are given a little help. Don't allow them to become diseased when a little attention now will prevent it. Don't try to cheat nature.

As soon as you commence to have backaches, feel nervous and tired, GET BUSY. These are usually warnings that your kidneys are not working properly.

Do not delay a minute. Go after the cause of your ailments or you may find yourself in the grip of an incurable disease. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil capsules will give almost immediate relief from kidney troubles. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules will do the work. They are the pure original Haarlem Oil Capsules imported direct from the laboratories in Haarlem, Holland. Ask your druggist for GOLD MEDAL and accept no substitutes. Look for the name GOLD MEDAL on every box. Three sizes, sealed packages. Money refunded if they do not quickly help you.—Adv.

Authors' Handwriting.

If readers and admirers of the published sentences of popular authors could see the original manuscript from which their works are printed they would be given interesting side lights on the character and personality of the writers. The handwriting of G. K. Chesterton has been described by an English editor as "shocking." W. W. Jacobs, comedy writer of the sea, has all his literary work typed and makes but few corrections on the finished manuscript. Other English writers whose copy is reputed to be neat and quite acceptable to a printer are H. G. Wells, Rudyard Kipling, Arnold Bennett and Sir Arthur Conan Doyle. Editors say they never know what to expect from that imaginative genius, H. de Vere Stacpoole. Sometimes his work is neatly typed on good paper, but often it is scribbled on sheets torn from a copybook.

Heard on the Train.

"Is this Mr. Riley?"

"Eh—what?" said the deaf old chap.

"Is this Mr. Riley?'

"Riley! Oh, yes!"

"I knew your father."

"No bother."

"I say I knew your father."

"What?"

"I—knew—your—father."

"Oh, did ye? So did I"—Boston Transcript.

"Advice" for the Senate.

From the New York World.

The president is so supreme under the constitution in the matter of treaties excluding only the Senate's ratification, that he may negotiate a treaty, he may send it to the Senate, it may receive by way of "advice and consent" the unanimous judgment of the Senate that it is in the highest degree for the public interest, and yet the president is as free, when it is sent back to the White House with resolution of ratification attached, to put it in his desk, never again to see the light of day, as he was free to determine in the first instance whether he would or would not negotiate it.

This definition of the president's powers in respect to the negotiation of treaties was made by John C. Spooner, republican senator from Wisconsin, and admittedly one of the ablest constitutional lawyers who ever sat in either house of congress, on January 23, 1906.

Henry Cabot Lodge, the present republican leader of the Senate, was so impressed by Senator Spooner's argument that in the course of a speech made the next day on the same subject he said:

Mr. President, I am entirely conscious of the great difficulty involved in following the senator from Wisconsin in the discussion of the important subject upon which he spoke to the Senate yesterday. I quite realize that after the manner in which he dealt with those questions anything that I may say is in great danger of being an anticlimax. Where the senator from Wisconsin has reaped there is very little left for any one else to glean.

But to make sure that there could be no possible doubt of his complete approval of the Spooner argument Senator Lodge added:

WE HAVE NO POSSIBLE RIGHT TO BREAK SUDDENLY INTO THE MIDDLE OF A NEGOTIATION AND DEMAND FROM THE PRESIDENT WHAT INSTRUCTIONS HE HAS GIVEN TO HIS REPRESENTATIVE. THAT PART OF TREATY MAKING IS NO CONCERN OF OURS.

These words of wisdom in respect to the treaty making power of the United States are respectfully submitted to those senators who are demanding that the president submit to them at once a treaty of peace that has not yet been negotiated, and are also threatening to intervene in the Paris negotiations by framing amendments of their own and sending them to the peace conference.

First Aid for the Lawrence Babel.

From the Christian Science Monitor.

Few cities have exemplify social and industrial [illegible] that ought not to [illegible] the United States than the Massachusetts city of Lawrence. It has a population of about 100,000, more than one-third of whom are workers in the great textile mills for which the city is famous, but of these 35,000 operatives more than 10,000 or about one-third do not speak or understand the English language. That in itself would appear to be enough to explain the sort of unhappy labor troubles from which the community suffers, but the situation is aggravated by the fact that the non-English-speaking portion of the population is divided into many different nationalities or races. Almost the last thing that might be expected from such a condition would seem to be that the city's public schools should be able to arrive at a true understanding, whether over industrial matters or anything else, of such differences can never be [illegible] and they learn to [illegible] with one another intelligibly.

Only those who have had [illegible] that who had lived and worked [illegible] city for at least half a lifetime can [illegible] to the social welfare agencies [illegible] the assistance went [illegible] to the gates of the mill where a woman employee was prevented from entering by the police, who took him to be one of the ringleaders. He could neither speak or understand English so in spite of his attempts to explain that he [illegible] to go to work in the mill he was arrested and kept in police hands until an interpreter could make his position clear. This man recognized the light of the situation. He began to plan to study English. If the same could be made to appear to the thousands of other Lawrence operatives who have for years contented themselves with being in the United States but not of it there would be some reason to look forward even for Lawrence, toward a future of cooperative peace. Detroit, Michigan, in a similar fashion of years just before the nation entered the war got right by means of a comprehensive and [illegible] campaign to make English the common language but the factories all [illegible] out the city.

Constructive Preparedness

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Sergeant [illegible] of Cleveland just [illegible] has brought to the [illegible] work of [illegible] before the war. He was [illegible] to [illegible] age. He [illegible] his [illegible] experience [illegible] that the [illegible] training says is [illegible] field work as correct as [illegible] of the European armies [illegible] they didn't know how to build bridges, in the absence of standard [illegible]. The Americans would [illegible] poles and parts of buildings and rig one up in an hour. They had been trained to quick resourcefulness.

Sergeant Taylor has a 500 acre farm seven miles south of Plattsburg where he means to work out problems of Arizona and Flanders engineering with some lads this summer.

I once put a bunch of 15-year old boys at work making a mess hall. In six days those young sons of guns had put up a shingled building [illegible] feet long and 25 feet wide.

The period from 13 to 17 the sergeant calls the constructive period. Then it is that a boy learns this kind of work most readily.

Rumors About Army Dissipated

From Army and Navy.

Secretary of War Baker explaining the work of American soldiers in building roads in France, said an erroneous impression had got abroad, and that while it was true that soldiers are occupied in certain instances in repairing roads, it is only where the roads are in or around American army camps, or where American army traffic has torn them up. Mr. Baker also denied the truth of rumors of drunkenness and lawlessness of American troops in Siberia. He said "General Graves says in recent correspondence that there are all kinds of stories afloat through Siberia about American soldiers, just as there are gossipy stories about men everywhere, but that the stories of drunkenness and lawlessness on the part of American soldiers are entirely without foundation. General Graves' report was quite definite on the subject of drunkenness, so these rumors are not to be relied upon."

Relatives to Know.

From Soldiers' and Sailors' Weekly.

Relatives of the men who went to France, but did not return, are soon to know how they paid the supreme sacrifice. The individual casualties suffered by each division in France, with the manner in which each man went heroically to his death, are now being compiled by the division adjutants. Instructions to obtain this data and forward it immediately to Washington have been issued by the war department to General Pershing. As soon as the lists are received they will be made public.

An Indiana hunter, in quest of ground hogs, accidentally shot a tramp last week. The hunter, a discharged soldier, took the tramp home with him and is taking care of him while he recovers from the effects of 95 shot, extracted from his body and face.

SONG OF THE SWEEPERS.

Now we are names that once were young
And had our will of living weather
Loved dark pines and the thin moon's feather
Fought and endured our souls and flung
Our laughter to the ends of earth,
And challenged heaven with our spacious mirth

Now we are names, and men shall come
To drone their memorable words:
How we went out with shouting swords
And high devoted hearts; the drum
Shall trouble us with stuttered roll,
And story Latin laud the hero soul.

And generations unfulfilled,
The heirs of all we struggled for,
Shall here recall the mythic war,
And marvel how we stabbed and killed,
And curse us savage brave, austere—
And we shall think how very young we were.

Archibald Macleish, in The Lyric.

Hunt Outlaws By Air.

From the San Francisco Chronicle.

The department of agriculture has adapted the airplane to its needs and plans to have a large fleet of machines to serve the farmer, lumberman and orchardist during the next six months, according to an announcement from Washington recently. The machines will be used to find forest fires, map out forest and other surveys and to act as detectives to find outlaw cotton planters in Texas, Arizona and southern California.

Lieutenant Compere, at Ellington, a year ago investigated the cotton situation. Owing to danger of an invasion of pink bollworm from Mexico, it was necessary to create restricted safety zones where no cotton could be grown. Certain outlaw planters in land surrounded by heavy forests have defied the government and planted in these districts which are difficult to find. The young Californian took a camera with him, cruised over the forests at a 7,000-foot altitude and snapped seven outlaw fields. The fields were destroyed.

The Fighting Regulars.

From the New York World.

It is right for every city or state to take a peculiar pride in the battle record of its guardsmen and draft troops, but it is always the regulars who are in the thickest of the fighting. Receptions and local enthusiasm are not for them, because they belong only to the country in general but they can have the consolation of knowing that they are to America what the Old Guard was to Napoleon.

Worked Both Ways.

From the London Morning Post.

His many admirers will rejoice to hear that Professor Saintsbury—the grand old man of literary criticism—escaped from his recent accident with nothing worse than bruises. As he explained the accident to a friend, the motor cut his legs from under him, and he was carried along, sprawling on the bonnet and objurgating the chauffeur. When the car finally stopped, the driver said very calmly: "You ought to thank God, sir," whereupon the professor replied: "So I do, but I damn you."

Changed Him.

From the Houston Post.

"He was a very eloquent talker before she married him."

"And now?"

"He is one of our most accomplished listeners."

In Her Favor.

From the Louisville Courier-Journal.

"She doesn't dance very gracefully."

"Neither does she dance disgracefully. And that's a point, too."

Had Plenty.

From Judge.

The Dentist—I'm afraid I shall have to kill the nerve.

The Book Agent—Go ahead. I guess I've got plenty left.

Too True.

From Life.

Doughboy (made irritable by shell shock, parading dwith his regiment through a crowd of vociferously cheering citizens)—I wish dey'd shut up der noise!

Pessimistic Doughboy (marching at other's side)—Dey will if you take dem for a job.

Advances to railroads totaled $17,112,600 from April 23 to May 14, inclusive.

Rev. Eugene Bell, Presbyterian minister of Shelbyville, Ky., has been convicted of criminal carelessness in a trial in Seoul, Korea, for his part in an automobile accident last March that resulted in the death of his wife and another missionary.

A pair of patriotic Wisconsin robins, building the home nest about the time of the Victory note drive, wove into it a string to which was attached a card that they left fluttering in the breeze. On the card was inscribed: "Sure, we'll finish the job."

HAVE "CA' CANNY" DOWN FINE

English Labor Said to Lead the World in the Fine Art of Working Slowly.

Atwood Flower, the industrial expert, said at a Sphinx club dinner in New York:

"English labor wants high pay, like what we give our own labor over here, but the trouble about that is the 'ca' canny' English labor policy.

"'Ca' canny' means going slow, and it's got to be admitted that for going slow, for keeping output down, English labor beats the world.

"One day in London I was inspecting a building operation. A foreman, as I passed, bawled up a ladder:

"'Hodges, what the blazes are you doin' up there?'

"'I'm layin' bricks, o' course,' an angry voice bawled down.

"'Well, by heavens, by the stillness of you,' yelled the foreman, 'you might be layin' eggs.'"

"FAKE" ASPIRIN WAS TALCUM

Always Ask for Genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin"

If you see the "Bayer Cross" on the package you are sure you are not getting talcum powder. Millions of fraudulent Aspirin Tablets were recently sold throughout the country. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.

Immense Dock for London.

With the object of regaining for London her former proud position as premier port of the world, a new and enormous dock, capable of accommodating the world's liners, is being constructed on the south side of the Royal Albert docks. Its water area is to be 34 acres and, by means of a floating caisson, its normal length is capable of extension to 910 feet—large enough for a bigger boat than even the 868-foot Aquitania.

Can't Be Done.

"One of the oldest and most famous taverns has been forced out of business by prohibition."

"Drat these reformers! I dare say many interesting stories are told about that place."

"Of course."

"How we are ever going to attach any legendary lore to a soda fountain is more than I can see."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

No Sense of Humor.

"How did you happen to lose your last cook?"

"She didn't like my style of humor."

"No?"

"Having shown symptoms of an artistic temperament on several occasions, I asked her if she thought our kitchen was a way station on the road to the movies, and, bless my soul, she quit."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Just Married.

"This book says to put some of yourself into everything you do."

"Yes?"

"And then it is bound to be a success."

"Ah, my dear, you were cut out to make angel cake."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

No ugly, grimy streaks on the clothes when Red Cross Ball Blue is used. Good bluing gets good results. All grocers carry it—5c.

Men condemn because they do not understand.—Cicero.

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force.

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are often due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate should produce a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

Increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, should disappear, dull eyes become bright, and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

CAUTION.—Although bitro-phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not, owing to its tendency to increase weight, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.

"Spanish Bayonet" for Toilet Soap.

Soap manufacturers have found soapweed, or Spanish bayonet, excellent for toilet soaps and soaps intended for washing woolens.

Ordinarily one man can harvest a ton of soapweed in a day. After cutting the plants are allowed to dry for two or three months, and then are baled up in the ordinary broom corn baling machine.

Young America.

"Don't you want to hear about Tom, Tom, the piper's son?"

"No, too busy. I belong to a pig club myself and it's time to feed the stock."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

There is no redress for the man who has but one suit of clothes.

True greatness never has to announce itself.

COULDN'T SLEEP

Was Miserable and Loosing Weight Suffering From Kidney Complaint. Doan's Removed the Trouble.

Mr. Griffith

"I was about down and out from kidney trouble," says Harry Griffith, of 228 N. Darlington St., Westchester, Pa. "The kidney secretions burned like scalding water. Sometimes there would be a complete stoppage and, oh! what pain I suffered! My feet became swollen and I had a time of it getting on my shoes.

"My back hurt right over my kidneys. Nights I did nothing but toss about. It was just as though a knife were thrust into my back. I couldn't bend over without terrible pain and I would fall to my knees and crawl along to get hold of something to help myself up. Blinding dizzy spells came on and terrible headaches added to my misery.

"I was rapidly losing weight and knew something would have to be done. I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills and was more than surprised. The troubles were soon leaving me and six boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills cured me entirely. To this day I have been free from kidney complaint."

Sworn to before me.

A. J. TOWNSEND,
Notary Public.

Get Doan's at Any Store, 60c a Box

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

FOSTER-MILBURN CO., BUFFALO, N. Y.

Wanted—Co. agts. for Knoll's Karbonix, latest discovery for autos. Easy money. $7.50 doz. cans. Knoll Mfg. Co., Berwick, N. D.

If you have $100 or more to invest in profitable, substantial business, write Chomley Copper Co., 203 Epler Bldg., Seattle Wash.

SIOUX CITY PTG. CO., NO. 25--1919.

Stock Raising in Western Canada is as profitable as Grain Growing

In Western Canada Grain Growing is a profit maker. Raising Cattle, Sheep and Hogs brings certain success. It's easy to prosper where you can raise 20 to 45 bu. of wheat to the acre and buy on easy terms.

Land at $15 to $30 Per Acre —Good Grazing Land at Much Less.

Railway and land Companies offer unusual inducements to home seekers to settle in Western Canada and enjoy her prosperity. Loans made for the purchase of stock or other farming requirements can be had at low interest. The Governments of the Dominion and Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta extend every concern, interest to the farmer and [illegible]. You can obtain excellent land at low prices on easy terms, and get high prices for your grain, cattle, sheep and hogs. Low taxes (none on improvements), good markets and shipping facilities, free schools, churches, splendid climate and sure crops.

For illustrated literature, maps, description of lands for sale in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, railway rates, etc., apply to Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or

C. A. Cook, Room 307, Wilkinson, B. B.; W. V. Bennett, Room 4, Bee Bldg., Omaha, Neb., and R. A. Garrett, 311 Jackson Street, St. Paul, Minn.
Canadian Government Agents

Trade to Form.

"What did you do with the play you tried on the dog?"

"Made the fun a bit more waggish, fixed up the tail end and licked the whole thing into shape."

As a rule we have only words of praise for the dead. Our stock of censure is exhausted on them while alive.

Unscoothed.

"Music has charms to soothe."

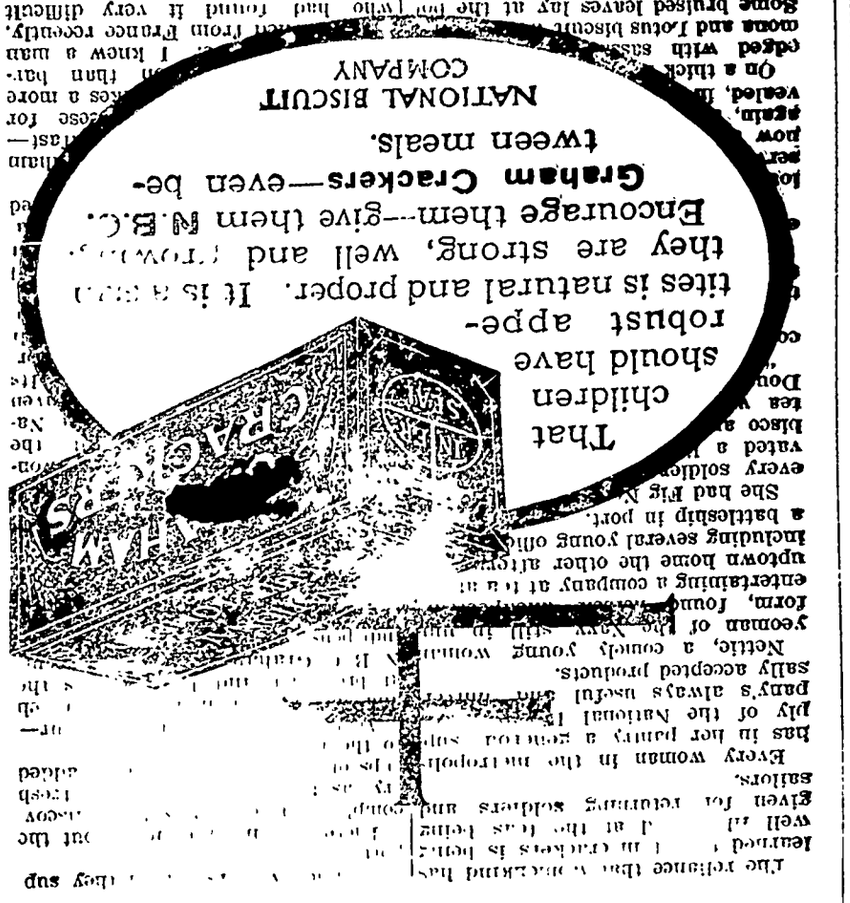
"Yes," replied the impresario. "And yet some of the best singers are the hardest fighters."

When Your Eyes Need Care Try Murine Eye Remedy

No Smarting—Just Eye Comfort. At your Druggists or mail. Write for Free Eye Book. MURINE EYE REMEDY CO., CHICAGO.

There's a Reason why so many people make Grape-Nuts

the regular part of at least one meal each day. It's because of the delightful flavor, and wonderful values of Grape-Nuts as a health builder.



Tunnels and Geology.

Geologists owe much of their knowledge of the Alps [illegible] which have been bored [illegible] in- [illegible] to make railway route [illegible] between the northern and southern parts of Europe. There [illegible] were no more interesting [illegible] and in this way the during the construction of the Lotschberg tunnel. This was the unexpected [illegible] of a good seam in the center of a massif. Many ungers [illegible] stone.

Ouch!

[illegible] was shooting bedbugs in his room, when [illegible] glanced and wounded his roommate. We have roomed in other towns where you had to go after the bedbugs with a hammer or a baseball bat, but we'd hate to room in Toledo where you have to go after 'em with a gun.

His Great Task.

"I want to get some information," said the tired man with three suitcases. "Why don't you apply to the bureau of information?" "I'm working up to that. First I've got to get information as to how I can find the bureau of information."—Washington Star.

Avoid Brooding.

It is a salutary thing to regret past errors and sincerely resolve not to fall into them again, but it is a foolish and most dangerous thing to brood over mistakes we have made, sins we have committed. Brooding cannot possibly lead to healthy-minded action. Its tendency, rather is to develop a state of mind that may pass over into insanity. Yet many people indulge in this dangerous luxury of brooding. Particularly is this likely to be the case with people to whom life has not been as kind as it might have been.

Got George in Wrong.

Little Ethel, whose big brother, George, was her teacher's beau, walked proudly to the desk with her examples worked neatly. The teacher, after looking them over, said "Ethel, I don't like your methods." "Well, then," said Ethel, "I'll tell my brother, George. He wrote them for me."

DANCE!

Where?

At the

Idle Hour Theatre

Klemme Iowa

Thursday, June 26

The place where there is always a good crowd and of course the Harmony Concert Dance Orchestra cannot be beat for good good music. Every body cordially invited.

Come early and have a long time to dance

Dance tickets $1 Spectators 50c

Plus Tax

BLIND EYES

By IVAN GRAHAM.

(Copyright, McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

The day that J. Hartly Fordyce became a bond salesman and acquired a wife and three children it was just his luck to meet the loveliest girl he had ever seen.

It was early morning, and the golf links were deserted. Only the graceful figure of a girl swinging a club broke the tranquil peace of the scene.

Jim Hartly, as he had registered at the hotel, advanced toward her. He raised his hat.

"You'll pardon me, miss," he said, "but I guess you came out for much the same reason that I did—to get a breath of fresh air. Doctor's orders. Shall we play a round together?"

The girl seemed not to resent his aggressiveness, however, for very soon they were tramping together over the great open stretch.

This was only the first of their early morning games. After the second or third they began to grow confidential. J. Hartly was enjoying himself immensely.

Sometimes they would sit for a while on one of those mounds of sodded earth called so appropriately bunkers, and tell each other all about themselves. Jim was a bond salesman in Wall street, with a snug little flat in the Bronx and a wife and three children.

The girl was a stenographer and enlarged to the listening Jim on the shortcomings of her boss, the department manager. She also had a beau, and tentatively showed the little ring that ornamented her third finger. Jim was here for his health. She on vacation.

It was not until James Hartly Fordyce was back again in his sumptuous apartment in New York that he fully realized how deep his friendship with the girl had gone. They had not exchanged addresses and the incident was closed. Fordyce was regretting the wife and three children. That had been a little artistic touch of his own to help carry out the illusion and drive from his tired brain the thoughts that would come surging within him.

But how he missed those sunlit hours on the open turf with the chummy little stenographer as his partner! There was no use denying it even to himself; he felt her loss more than he could have imagined.

Fordyce was sitting in the conservatory when his hostess discovered him and led him forth "to the slaughter." It was the night of the Vansittarts' ball and he had ensconced himself among the screening palms and banks of blooming hothouse flowers for a quiet smoke.

"Now, Hartly," Mrs. Vansittart said on finding him, "you shall not mope there all evening!" And she literally dragged him out from his hiding place.

He was duly presented to various blushing debutantes, whose names he inscribed on his dance card.

"And now I must introduce you to my niece from Boston.

"Betty, let me present Mr. Hartly Fordyce, the famous novelist. Hartly, my niece, Miss Barstove."

Fordyce bowed before the girl at the introduction, but there was no acknowledgment on her part. She drew herself up.

"Auntie," she said in ice-cold tones, "this man is an impostor. He's not Hartly Fordyce. He's James Hartly, a bond salesman. He has a wife and three children.

"My dear child!" The amiable hostess fairly gasped.

"Yes," went on the girl inexorably, "I was playing golf at Paxton before I came on to you, auntie dear. This man was there. He told me all about himself."

Mrs. Vansittart turned from one to the other speechlessly.

"Alas; it's too true," broke in Fordyce. "I am a bond salesman with a wife and three children. And she," he indicated the pretty girl with a deep sigh, "she's a stenographer."

This was too much for the elder lady. She looked as though a fit of apoplexy would cut the proceedings short.

"What is the matter with you two?" she stammered at last. "Hartly! Betty! Are you mad?"

The two impostors stood one on each side of her. Their eyes met. Then twin merry peals of laughter floated across the ballroom.

"Oh, auntie," laughed the dimpling girl, "it's been such a joke! You see, I recognized him the first time I saw him. Why, I've seen his photograph in the papers a dozen times. I guessed he was just pretending so as to avoid publicity."

"But—but you, Betty, a stenographer? What does it mean?" The dear lady was bewildered.

"Oh, auntie, you don't suppose I was going to let him do all the fooling, do you?"

A few moments later in the conservatory Fordyce was holding a girl's white hand in the palm of his own. He pointed to the ring that was on the third finger.

"And was that fooling, too?" he asked tensely.

The girl nodded her head. He slipped the ring off the finger and put it in his pocket.

Paxton is an ideal place for a honeymoon!

Financial Truism.

The man who can save $25 a month out of a salary of fifty is better off than the man who only saves twenty out of a salary of a hundred.

Locals

The George Kluckhohn family were Mason City callers last Saturday.

Camp Meeting closed at Garner on Sunday night. There were a number of Klemme people in attendance at the meetings each day but Sunday marked the largest attendance of the week. Many remained there for the entire week's services.

The dance at the Idle Hour last Wednesday night was not very well attended due to the muddy condition of the roads which made traveling very difficult. However, those who did attend report that they had a good time and that the music was excellent

The Misses Mildred McCullough and Nettie Ruff, both of Garner, came to Klemme on the evening train last week Wednesday and returned to Garner Thursday morning. The object of the young ladies' visit was to attend the dance here last Wednesday evening.

Jensen Horup and son spent Sunday with folks at Clear Lake. They returned to Klemme Monday noon to continue work on the remodeling of the State Savings Bank. The bank is sure fixing things up fine and will have a fine appearing place when everything is all completed.

Albert Etchen returned last Thursday from Camp Dodge where he was discharged from the services of Uncle Sam. Albert has been serving with the 88th Division and has been in France for some time. We welcome him home again

Marvin Weigmann, of Garner, came last Thursday to begin work in the First National Bank. Marvin graduated from the Garner high school this year He is a pleasant young man to meet and will no doubt be a valuable addition to the bank.

We inquired of Mrs. Werner the other day about Billie. She told us that he was getting along very nicely at htte sanitarium at Fort Dodge. Billie is at Bolder Lodge Sanitarium at Fort Dodge and a letter or card addressed to him will reach him there. We are glad to learn that he is improving in health.

A big bouncing baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Josten Monday morning. Edwin is traveling high, but he can't even keep up with Grandpa Valentine Josten. Valentine is around on the streets each day explaining all the fine points of his new grandson, that's what has been ailing Val. all week and no wonder he is taking a vacation as secretary of the creamery.

Wm. Dore, who has been in service overseas for about nine months, landed safely at his home in Louisburg, Kansas, and after a couple of weeks visit there he decided he would come back to Klemme to live again and so h blew in here last Thursday. Bill is looking and feeling fine and he is as glad to see his many friends as they are to see him.

Fred Kluckhohn, who is farming near Austin, Minn., blew into town one evening last week for a visit with his folks, Geo Kluckhohn and family. Fred says the crops are looking fine in Minnesota, also that they have had very little rain up there compared to what we have had here. During all our rainy spell they have had but a couple of small showers.

The Garner ball team went over to Britt Sunday afternoon to play that aggregation and got trimmed up by the tune of 8 to 2. Now let's get up a bunch of players here in Klemme and go after Britt and some of the other towns who claim to be so fast. There is a lot of talk of organizing teams in each town of the county and playing for a county championship. We believe a good team could be raised right here in Klemme that would be the equal of any in the county.

Snakes in the Ocean.

It is not generally known that there are snakes in the ocean. There are numerous varieties of small snakes that live in all oceans; then there are the eels, of course, which go from the salt water to the fresh. In the waters around southern Asia there lives the banded sea snake, which has stripes around its body and broad tail, and can swim with great speed.—Christian Science Monitor.

England's First Typewriter.

So long ago as 1714 a patent for a typewriter was taken out in England by Henry Mill; it was called a "machine for impressing letters singly and progressively as in writing, whereby all writings may be engrossed in paper so exact as not to be distinguished from print." His machine was very clumsy, and it was not until more than a century later (1829) that anything further was attempted. Then the first American typewriter, "called a typographer," was patented by W. A. Burt.

Permanent Jobs at Good Wages

MASON CITY, Ia. offers unequal attractions for laboring m

1. Our industries are essential. Our products are in use the whole year around, bad years as well as good years. This insures steady year round work.

2. Our industries operate the entire year, not simply one or two seasons in the year. This gives continuous employment to any man who desires work. It makes it safe for a married man to bring his family and make this his permanent home.

3. More than one hundred manufacturing, and wholesaling houses employ over 4,000. Our six railroads and miscellaneous industries, employ another 2,000 men and women. This insures any industrious or woman reemployment at any time, without having to move to another town.

4. Our public schools are unexcelled Any boy or girl may take the first two years of college work right here in the Junior College Department of our magnificient high school. These school priveleges are free to every child, and insure a thoro education at a minimum expense.

5. Three hospitals, with complete staffs of highly competent physicians and nurses, insure the very best possible care in case of sickness or accident.

6. Churches of all leading denominations give one whatever religious affiliations they may desire. No one need be without a church home or religious influence.

7. Mason City has more pa per thousand population than other city in the west, if not in nation. Her streets are wide shaded. Sewer, water, gas and tricity are accessible to all reside districts, so the most humble may have these modern convenie

8. Several new residence distr with all modrn improvments have cently been opened up Any in trious man, with only very small ital can have his own home; wi roomy yard, a house built to him, and perfectly healthful li conditions.

9. For the past fourteen years, average annual increase in po tion has been 22.6 percent. wonderful growth of our establi industries, and the constant add of new ones, assure that this gro will continue, if not even incre This is a further insurance of stant employment. It also in that your investment in a home not depreciate, rather will incr and give you a good retunr on investment any time you see f sell out.

10. Our beautiful parks, ou cellent theaters, and delightful Lake at the other end of an i urban line and a concrete hi all furnish the choicest and m lightful recation one can desire. the cost of such recreation is w the reach of every one.

Come now or write for further information

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

MASON CITY IOWA

DR. R. M. THOMAS

Veterinarian

All Calls Answered Promptly

Klemme, Iowa — Office and Residence Phone

Idle Hour

Saturday

June 21

2 Reels of

Eddie Polo

in

"The Wild Rider"

1 Reel

International News

2 Reel Lo-Ko Comedy

Fools and Devils

NEW ROCK ISLAND TIME

North

821, Mixed	1:35 p. m.
1069, Passenger	3:03 p. m.
435, Passenger	8:44 a. m.

South

436, Passenger	6:17 p. m.
1068, Passenger	11:25 a. m.
820, Freight	12:15 p. m.

Sheep Best Farm Fertilizers.

Sheep produce the most valuable of all farm fertilizers. Their sharp hoofs work this well into the soil. This quality has earned for sheep the title of "Golden Hoof." In England land which during Queen Elizabeth's reign produced only six bushels of wheat per acre has been made to yield 80 bushels at present, simply by pasturing the land to sheep.

From Jerusalem to Dead Sea.

Nearly everybody who visits Jerusalem rides to the Dead sea, down through Jericho. By starting from Howard's hotel, outside the wall near the Jaffa gate, at daylight, and having a fresh horse to meet you at Jericho on the way back, a man used to equitation can have a swim in the Dead sea and return by dark. It is about 40 miles, round trip. Of course, "the pull" is on the return, especially from Jericho onward, for the city of Jerusalem is almost a mile in the air above the Dead sea!

W. F. PAVE

The Practical Blacksmi

OXY-ACETYLENE WEL

Wagon, Buggy and Mac Repairing

Horse Shoeing and Work a Specialty

Col. B. A. Reemts

General Auctione

KLEMME, IOWA

Farm and Stock Sales a Sp

Call, write or phone 508 K me for dates, terms, etc.

...Satisfaction Guarant

Geo. ZINN

Physician & Surgeo

Phone No. 19. KLEMME I

Office in Building East of Gruetzmacher Harness and Shoe Shop.

Eyes Tested. Glasses Fit

STOP CARS TO BAG RA

Motormen on Electric Line in M Pot Bunnies From Front Vestibule.

St. Louis, Mo.—Motormen o Clayton Log Cabin line are havi of fun these nights potting from the front vestibule of the Besides cutting down butcher bi are becoming expert revolver and, incidentally, are rapidly out the rabbit population alo right of way.

Patrons of the Log Cabin lin remark that its service is in k with its name) tell how the car to a jerky standstill, the mot nine a revolver, there is a lo port and the trolley pilot jump the car, dashes down the ri way and comes back with a bunny.

Three Pairs of Twins Didn't Bring Happi

Cleveland, O.—Children ally hold the home together, said. But three pairs of t now aged ten and seven and three months, respecti failed to avert a divorce filed here by Mrs. Elsie K their mother. She complains the children's father negl ber and the twins and was

Your Safety First

dents are Generally the ult of One Thing-Careless-carelessness of the driver, someone else on the of the manufacturer of the car.

Overland you are assured of the greatest care part of the maker to insure your safty. The e right and every part is tested for doing its

It Is the Car to buy.

PHONE 30

Niles Garage

KLEMME, IA.

The Burnham COMBINATION RACK

HAY RACK SEASON IS ALMOST HERE!

If you need a new rack don't fail to see the Burn- Combination Rack before buying, you will SAVE Y by so doing.

W. F. PAVEY

Practical Blacksmith Klemme, Iowa

DELCO-LIGHT

Increases Farm Efficiency

Fifty thousand Delco-Light plants in operation on American farms are saving at the most conservative estimate, an hour a day each—or over 18,000,000 work hours a year

That is equal to an army of 60,000 men working ten hours a day for a full month.

Delco-Light is a complete electric light and power plant for farms and suburban homes.

It furnishes an abundance of clean, safe, economical light, and operates pump, churn, cream separator, washing machine and other appliances.

It is also lighting rural stores, garages, churches, schools, army camps and railway stations.

Judd Hardware Co.

Kanawha, Iowa

The Domestic Engineering Company, Dayton, Ohio

Over 30,000 DELCO-LIGHT Plants in Actual Use

Mother's Advice.

...r, my son," said his moth- ...ade him good-by, "when you ... try to be punctual in the ... do not to keep breakfast ...

Covering Him Up.

Instructor (to Cadet)—"Na, ... an officer. But it's just ... the warr keeps on a while ...tice harrd—verra harrd—ye ...ght, mind ye—begin to hae ... that ye'll never ken th ... o' the wurrk!"—Punch.

Homer's Fate Warning to Poets.

The greatest poet that ever lived was a blind beggar, yet when he died seven cities fought for the custody of his poor, old, weary bones.

Joys of Companionship.

Half the difficulty of fighting any severe battle or accomplishing any hard task vanishes when a man feels that he has comrades at his side fighting in the same cause, or that the eyes of those he loves are upon him, and their hearts praying for his victory.—C J Perry

Dromedary Came a Long Distane to Attend Methodist Centenary Celebration

THE first Methodist Centenary Celebration dromedary has arrived in Columbus, O., and has consented to an interview. In fact so contented was his disposition by the familiar scenes which greeted him in the North Africa exhibit section at the exposition grounds that he seemingly consented to pose for a picture with the reporter perched precariously on his hump.

"I've come a long distance to attend the Centenary celebration he stated, "and I don't regret a mile of it now that I have seen the preparations being made for it at the exposition grounds. The world's missionary exposition is going to beat anything I have ever seen and I have seen many thing in my travels."

The dromedary is one of a number of animals who are arriving to take part in the Methodist Centenary celebration in Columbus. They will appear in the exhibitions of foreign countries and some absolutely safe camels and elephants will be ridden by children who come to the exposition.

Associate Director of Music at Methodist Centenary Celebration

TO Horace Whitehouse, head of the department of music of Ohio Wesleyan University, at Delaware, and associate director of music of the Methodist Centenary Celebration, which will be held in Columbus, O., June 20 to July 13, is due the credit for the remarkable success of the Children's Crusade chorus of 500 young voices. Professor Whitehouse has been training his chorus for several weeks. They will appear as an effective feature of the Centenary celebration program.

COLISEUM HAS LARGEST STAGE IN THE WORLD

Crowning Feature of Methodist Centenary Celebration.

Columbus, O.—As the Coliseum is the crowning feature of the exposition grounds where the Methodist Centenary celebration will be held June 20 to July 13, so it will house a number of the crowning features of that celebration.

Built originally by the state of Ohio at a cost of a quarter of a million dollars to house live stock exhibitions, it has been transformed by liberal expenditures into one of the finest auditoriums in America.

It has been furnished with a $50,000 pipe organ.

It has been fitted with the largest stage in America.

It has been reseated to accommodate 8,000 spectators.

The stage will accommodate 2,000 people.

The orchestra pit is arranged for 75 musicians.

The building is solid concrete, steel and glass, and has extraordinary acoustic properties.

In the building will be given the daily presentation of the pageant, "The Wayfarer," with 1,000 participants, the daily organ recital, periodic concerts by the symphony or... concerts by the trombone choir of 100 pieces, lectures by Lowell Thomas distinguished traveler and writer from the Holy Land, and other events equally notable.

The architecture of the Coliseum is such that every person will have an unobstructed view of what goes on upon the stage and can hear every word spoken or note played or sung.

ENTERTAINMENT AT CENTENARY VARIED

Every Effort Made to Popularize Daily Programs.

CHILDREN TAKE GREAT PART

Huge Pageant, Representing the Children's Crusade of the Twelfth Century, Will Be Given Each Day. Famous Speakers Have Agreed to Attend Celebration at Columbus, June 20 to July 13.

In addition to the religious features of the Methodist Centenary celebration, which opens in Columbus, O., on June 20, every effort is being made to popularize the daily programs and to make them attractive to the varied tastes of all visitors, according to Alezo E. Wilson, director of the department of special days.

The Rainbow Division band and a famous Jackie band will furnish music daily, and well known Chautauqua entertainers have contracted to be here with lively programs of singing and instrumental music. For lovers of classical and sacred music, the Coliseum at the exposition grounds will be a Mecca. Daily recitals by Professor William J. Kraft of Columbia University, at the $50,000 organ, a symphony orchestra, famous singers, a chorus of 1,000 voices and the trombone choir of 100 pieces will be featured there.

Pageants, life plays, motion pictures and educational lectures will fill the mornings, afternoons and evenings. "It is our aim to provide entertainment for everybody every minute of the day," says Mr. Wilson.

That the celebration is not for grownups alone is proved by the extensive preparations being made for the children who come. In addition to playgrounds, well equipped and attended, there will be elephants, camels and burros to ride, and a Wild West show every day. A huge pageant representing the Children's Crusade of the twelfth century will be presented daily by 500 children, accompanied by a children's chorus of 500 voices.

Among the famous men of the country who have agreed definitely to be here for the Centenary celebration are ex-President William H. Taft, Major General Leonard Wood, Secretary Josephus Daniels, William Jennings Bryan, Lieutenant Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, Governor Henry J. Allen, Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior; John Barrett, director general of the Pan-American Union; Henry P. Fletcher, United States ambassador to Mexico; El Sr. Dr. Lie Bonilla, Mexican ambassador at Washington, and Chaplain Tiplady of the British army. These men will speak in the Coliseum during the celebration.

Summer Clothing

Buy one of our two-piece FLANNEL or PALM BEACH SUITS and be comfortable during hot weather. They are very reasonable in price and something you really need.

We also show a very complete line of Men's and Young Men's Flannel, Light Worsted and Palm Beach Trousers. Just the thing for the present

Complete you attire with a silk shirt, pique and fine madras wash neckwear, nifty hosiery, nea patent duck oxfords, tennis shoes, etc.

Summer Suits	10.00 to 27.50
Summer Trousers	3.50 to 7.50
Men's Oxfords	3,00 to 6.50
Neckwear	25c to 2.50
Wash Ties	25c to 65c
Hosiery, Lisles	30c to 50c
Hosiery, Silks	50c to 1.00

Get fitted out for July 4th--Don't Wait--Do it now.

Gildner Bros. & Johnson

"IOWA'S LARGEST CLOTHERS"

The Home of Hart, Schaffner & Marx Cloths

Fourteen Stores. Garner, Iowa

Sell Your Grain To

Walter F. Lau

And receive the highest price and correct weight. Will buy Hogs every day in the week. Also handle high grade COAL. Give me a trial and I will Show you the RESULTS.

Office Phone No. 16. Residence Phone No. 52

Why Wait Until The Enemy Attacks?

Are you prepared for the attack of the worst enemy of the summer season--General Fly and his army of disease spreaders are about to attack. Don't wait until he is upon you. Come in and let us quote prices on screen doors and windows.

"Everything to build Anything"

BUILD NOW

NORTHERN LUMBER CO.

N. L. PALMER, Manager

Any Honest Task Attractive.

Any honest task is capable of being so largely conceived that he who enters into it may see, stretching before him, the promise of things to do and be, that will stir his enthusiasm and satisfy his best desires.—Phillips Brooks.

Guard Your Work.

Do not work so hard that you have no time to look up and around you, no time to exchange ideas with another, no time for quiet thought. To work without growth means exhaustion. The spring itself must be fed if its waters are not to fail.

THE KLEMME TIMES

RAY A. JORGENSON. PUB.

KLEMME, IOWA

Dr. J. A. Witherspoon, head of the medical department of Vanderbilt University, who, as a member of the draft board at Nashville, drafted Alvin C. York, says: "One day the door opened and in walked a 6-foot Tennessee mountaineer with a petition in his hand. The petition contained the names of members of the Church of Christ and Christian Union and asked the board to exempt York from military service on religious scruples. I motored to the village to interview York's pastor, the Rev C C Pile. Two days later I informed York that the petition of the congregation would not be considered. 'Well,' said York, 'I want to tell you that I am not afraid to fight, but I feel troubled in going contrary to the belief of my church.'"

Belief that Great Britain can have the trade of South America for the asking, despite the competition which the United States has built up, was expressed by Gordon Ross, formerly financial editor of the Buenos Aires Standard, in an address he delivered in London recently. Mr. Ross is quoted as saying that there is in some South American republics a jealous fear of the extension of the influence of the United States, and that it had been said in South America that the Monroe doctrine meant not so much "America for the Americans" as "America for North Americans."

During the war 24 spies were arrested at Hog Island. These men, most of whom since have received severe penalties, obtained jobs at the shipyard for the purpose of gathering information. They were trapped by sleuths who posed as workmen Throughout the war there were secret service men who wielded riveters' hammers and did other shipyard jobs. Some of the spies were among the cleverest agents of Germany, and one was a notorious Mexican.

Nearly everyone in England has changed butchers in the past few weeks, or is doing so now When strict rationing was in force each householder was compelled to register with one butcher and buy all meat from him. Soon the butcher and the consumer were hardly on speaking terms. This went on during the war because the butcher if he had meat was forced to supply the registrant, he could not overcharge him and the registrant was forced to buy from that butcher. The result was that when the govern-

The College of Hawaii, soon to become a university, is planning to establish a college of commerce, organized with a curriculum designed to equip young men and women of all Pacific countries for a part in the solution of Pan-Pacific trade problems. Chinese, Japanese, Russian and Spanish and commercial law, trade customs, transportation methods, port regulations and land development will be among the courses been resumed. Six thousand spectators, many of them from the United States, recently witnessed the revival in Matamoros. A special appeal for patronage from the United States was made in half page advertisements in American papers Best seats sold for $3 each General admission to the shady side was $2 50 and to the sunny side $1 25, children under 7, half price

The famous 94th pursuit squadron, formerly commanded by Eddie Rickenbacker, arrived last week, in command of Maj. Read Chambers, 24 years old, a winner of the D. S. C., the Legion of Honor and the croix de guerre. This squadron is said to have bagged the first and last German planes during America's participation in the war, and it was the only one that went to Coblenz with the American army of occupation.

On Memorial day Cleveland dedicated "Liberty Row," an avenue of oak trees nine miles long, every tree of which is a memorial for a Cleveland boy who gave his life in the war In its admiration for of the deed, the city of Los Angeles sent a beautiful floral piece to be laid on the memorial altar for Cleveland's gold star men.

A recent London Times prints an advertisement, "to the middle classes," which appears to be the start of a union of the middle classes, which are described as "bearing the weight between the contending forces of irrational industrial aggression and capitalistic domination." The movement is directed by gentlemen of title.

Refugees who got out of Odessa after its evacuation by the French troops say the city was occupied only for a brief period by the Ukrainian revolutionary peasant army They state that it was governed by local soviet, with an executive committee composed chiefly of local Jewish revolutionary commissionaires from 16 to 25 years of age.

If it be true, as Washington rumors have it, that General Obregon has flatly refused to take the field in opposition to Villa in the north, and that Diaz, in the south, is effectively upsetting railroad operation, it looks dark for Carranza, says the New York Evening Sun.

One New York city court fined 25 persons in one day recently for violations of automobile regulations. The campaign is a sequel to the great increase in the number of motor car accidents in that city, and even minor offenses, such as failing to hold out a hand to signal they are about to turn, bring penalties.

A deputation representing over 35,000 British war veterans who lived in Canada before they joined the colors in England has requested the parliamentary pensions committee to grant them Canadian rates of pension and the Canadian rate of war gratuity.

Japan's aim and motives are being misrepresented in America by "biased or hired agents of China," according to Viscount Ishii According to him, Yuan Shih Kai, president of China in 1915, was intensely pro-German and dreamed of modeling the country after Germany

Western potash producers representing that shipments of potash from Europe already are being brought to the United States have secured the promise of Chairman Porndexter to give early consideration to legislation designed to protect the industry from foreign products.

The grand mufti of Palestine, head of all the Moslems of Palestine and descendant of the great Mohammed, has frankly stated his opposition to the establishment of a Zionist commonwealth in the Holy Land.

The further the trial here of 28 alleged pro-German agents proceeds, the more evidence is produced tending to show that German secret diplomacy has been at work throughout the whole world, says a dispatch from Zurich.

Berger, Milwaukee socialist nominee for congress, says that if the socialists are not successful, the anarchists will start a cataclysm "such as the world has never seen before."

Philip Gibbs prophesies that the men who went through the life in the trenches will generally come out with their inherent qualities intensified, whether they be good or bad.

The New Zealand government has received advices from London indicating that Great Britain will ask New Zealand to help her fight the American packers, says a dispatch to the Daily Mail.

CARROLL BANK IS SHORT $120,000

Is An Increase Over Former Estimates Admitted By Roelfsma, Accused President.

Carroll, Ia., June 16—J. A. Daugherty receiver for the defunct Carroll bank in a statement sent to stockholders announces that the shortage in the bank is approximately $120,000. This is an increase over former estimates and is much larger than the accused president, John Roelfsema, has ever admitted was the case. The sum named is about one-fourth of the visible assets. The Iowa law making claims of depositors prior to other debts, saves them from heavy loss and it is now believed deposits will be paid in full or nearly so.

Receiver Dougherty has sent out notices of an assessment upon the stockholders, who are the luckless ones in this case.

Further examination of the indictment against President Roelfsema shows that one count, for alleged embezzlement appears to rest upon the charge that he withdrew $20,000 from the bank's account with the Continental and Commercial National bank of Chicago and converted the same to his own use. The second count is for making false reports to the superintendant of banking. The last published statement bills payable were listed at $65,000. It is alleged that at the time the bank owed the Chicago correspondent approximately $90,000, secured by notes held by the bank. The third Count is for "exhibiting false paper with the intention of deceiving the bank examiner"

CATTLE SHOOTING MYSTERY CLEARED; YOUTH CONFESSES

Onawa, Ia., June 16.—An unusual case has been brought to light here through the solution of the mystery which has surrounded the loss of live stock by farmers, and involves a youth, son of a well known family.

Since last March farmers in the vicinity of Soldier have been losing their stock in a most mysterious way being found in the pastures with bullet holes in their heads In spite of a close watch that was kept the losses continued with no clue being secured A one time it was thought to be the work of some pro-German, and finally the State Society for the Protection of Animals was appealed to and through their investigations a confession was secured from Raymond Severson that he had killed the cattle. The boy, no quite 16 years of age can give no reason for the act He has borne the best reputation and the revelations are a shock to the community as well as to the lad's family The boy's father will reimburse the loser and the lad probably will not be proscuted. Young Severson almost collapsed when making the confession

IOWA SHRINERS ARE OFF FOR IMPERIAL CONCLAVE

Des Moines, Ia., June 10.—Iowa Shriners left here on a special train last night for Indianapolis to attend the Imperial conclave The Zig-Ga-Zig temple band and drum corps is an entry hoping to bring back drill and band honors.

IOWA CLUB WOMEN GATHERING AT AMES

Ames, Ia., June 10—Iowa club women from all parts of Iowa were here today for the opening sessions of the biennial convention of the state federation of women's clubs. The first session began this afternoon with a welcoming address by President Pearson of Iowa State college.

SOLDIERS' WIVES IN OMAHA POLICE MIXUP

Shenandoah, Ia., June 14.—The Omaha police force may be torn to shreds on account of the arrest of three Shenandoah women.

Police officials from that city are here investigating the reputations of the three women, Mrs Esther Applegate, whose soldier husband was killed in France; Mrs. Helen Baldwin, wife of an overseas soldier, and Miss Wilma Reed.

They were arrested in a Cass street house in Omaha and fined for being found in a disorderly place.

At the same time Mrs. Thomas Brown, who owns the property, but did not live in it, was arrested, jailed in the men's ward and sent the next day to the hospital

Mrs. Brown is wealthy and has instituted war on the police force.

FORT DODGE—Mrs. E. R. Campbell, wife of a Fort Dodge banker, with her husband and two other Fort Dodge people were in a Minneapolis hotel several days ago eating dinner. With the exception of Mrs Campbell, all in the party ordered fish Mrs. Campbell said she was afraid of fish bones and ordered chicken. Now she is in a Minneapolis hospital with a small chicken bone lodged in her throat which nine Minneapolis physicians have been unable to remove.

HARLAN—It has become known that Mr. and Mrs. Frank Slates of Kirkman, are the people who made the $40,000 subscription to the Centenary fund recently. They are childless and the money is given with the understanding that it is to be used for the founding of a college at Bombay, India. The money s to be paid from their estate and will not become available until after their deaths.

INDEPENDENCE—During the past week there has been considerable activity in the real estate of this county and some good prices have been realized Perry J.

COUNCIL BLUFFS—Senor Valentine Borrego, a Mexican, is in the city jail trying to figure out why the laws off Dan Cupid are so different in the United States than in Mexico. Borrego became enamored of a prominent Council Bluffs young woman, Miss Olsen, daughter of a merchant, and because of his ardent manner of wooing, was arrested. Love sick and pining, he sits in jail.

AURELIA—The $500 mark for Cherokee county land was reached last week. A. L. Noville purchased 66 acres belonging to Earl Knight and Ed Linton, adjacent to Aurelia, at that price The farm has practically no improvements.

ANNOUNCE MERGER OF IOWA COLLEGES

Consolidation of Leander Clark and Coe College Made at Cedar Rapids.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., June 14—The merge of Leander Clark and Coe colleges was officially completed today by the turning over o fthe $150,000 endowment fund of Leander Clark to Coe. The fund will be used in carrying out the consolidation work. All graduates of Leander Clak will be enrolled in the alumni list of the consolidated colleges. One of the new buildings on the Coe campus will be designated as Leander Clak college building. Three members of the Toledo college are added to the Coe faculty.

500 MEN OF 352ND INFANTRY ARRIVE AT CAMP DODGE

Des Moines, Ia., June 14.—Five hundred men of the 352nd infantry, composing the first battalion, arrived here early today.

The second section of the 352nd arrived at 10:15. One half hour later the third section of the regiment arrived.

Units to arrive in Des Moines late tonight or early Saturday are: 338th machine gun battalion, show troupe 88th division headquarters troop, ambulance company, field hospital.

Organizations together late Saturday are: 313th sanitary train, 88th division military police, 313th motor ordnance, third battalion, 313th engineers, 313th machine gun headquarters, and 276th military police.

The 313th engineers are scheduled to arrive late Saturday or early Sunday.

BLAME AN ENGLISH POET FOR LOSS OF TAX SUIT.

Fort Dodge, Ia., June 14.—The F. W. Fitch Company of Des Moines, well known manufacturers of hair tonics and shampoos have Alexander Pope the English poet of two centuries ago to blame because they lost their suit to recover $2,500 tax paid under protest two years ago. Judge Reed decided that they could not recover the tax in Federal court here yesterday after Seth Thomas, assistant United States attorney quoted from Pope as follows

"First robed in white the nymph intent adores. With head uncovered, the cosmetic powers"

It was all a question whether or not a shampoo is a cosmetic. The federal tax of 1914 made on perfumeries and cosmetics caused a levy of $2,500 on the Fitch Company then located at Boone. The company insisted that the shampoo was a soap and therefore not subject to tax.

LITTLE SIOUX RIVER IS ON FLOOD RAMPAGE

Cherokee, Ia., June 14.—The Little Sioux river is at flood stage on account of recent rains and is still rising The Hawkeye highway for a half mile east of the city, is covered with eight feet of water, and miles of bottom lands are overflowed. Farmers living east of town cannot get into Cherokee except by going several miles south and coming in that way. Where the river is spread out over the bottoms many people are spearing buffalo and carp. One man is said to have gotten 165 pounds yesterday.

Observers here state that over four inches of water has fallen in the last three days, over half of which fell during Wednesday night A further rise in the river is coming down from the north, which menaces the lower residence districts.

FT. DODGE IS ASSUMING PEACE TIME FRIVOLTIES

Fort Dodge, Ia., June 14 — Fort Dodge has put the dark days of the war far behind and in the past few weeks there has been a return to the old before the war gaiety. An exceedingly busy season is promised for the Country Club which was recently reopened after the cessation of social affairs made necessary by the war Several new dance halls have been opened andthe armory is being redecorated and refurnished for the summer season dances.

RIVER SIOUX PARK TO HAVE BIG CELEBRATION

Westfield, Ia., June 14. — Arrangements are being made for a big celebration, July 4, Sunday picnic July 6 and military and homecoming day July 8, at River Sioux Park near here.

All the surrounding towns and country will attend and a crowd of 20,000 people is expected.

Vermilion, Akron, Hawarden and Merrill will play baseball during the three days and the Vermilion concert band will furnish music all three days

It is planned to have the Alcester home guards have charge of the grounds.

PREVENTED FROM SLAYING HI SWIFE BY MOTHERINLAW

Des Moines, Ia., June 14—Jess Reichart, a farmer living near Sheldale, twice attempted to shoot his wife, but was prevented by her mother, who knocked the gun away. When his wife fled into the yard Reichart followed her, shooting at her as she ran. Later he KIMBALL—Timothy Gavin, a resident of Kimball since 1881, died, after being bedridden by paralysis for three years. The deceased was well known and leaves a wife and several grown children. He was 50 years of age.

CONTRACT FOR AUTOMOBILE NUMBER PLATS IS AWARDED

Des Moines, Ia., June 14.—The contract for 300,000 pairs of automobile number plates was let to the S. G. Adams company of St. Louis by the state executive council. The price was 13½ cents per pair. Last year's plates cost 20.2 cents per pair.

PEEVER—The business men and other residents are discussing the organization of a commercial club, so various projects for the upbuilding of the town can be pushed to a successful conclusion

REV. MR. KELLY IS SEEKING AID

Preacher Acquitted of Villisca Ax Murders Would Now Sue Attorney General Havner For Damages.

Red Oak, Ia., June 13.—George J. Kelly, acquitted of the Villisca ax murders, "from somewhere in Chicago," has written a number of letters to people in Montgomery county appealing for funds with which to "prosecute Attorney General Havner and others responsible for the outrages against my character and my absolute innocence." Kelly asks that $50 or $100 be sent to him, but he hints that he would accept smaller or even larger sums.

Kelly says in his letters that the doctors in Chicago assert that his health was broken, 'wrecked by the tortures, persecutions and ordeals," but that he has now recovered sufficiently that he is able to make the fight.

"Prominent Chicago officers have offered me their services to win my case for me as far as they can at very low and reasonable fees if I can only raise the money for the expenses of the suits and their temporary fees" The rest of his letter of appeal is of a rambling character He asks for a promise to pay when he and his lawyer come to Red Oak if the importuned one does not care to send the money to Chicago, and says it would be a shame for him not to be aided in the collection of the big damages which are due him.

ROCK RAPIDS PLANS FOR MODERN SCHOOL

Rock Rapids, June 13.—Plans for one of the finest and best equipped school buildings in Iowa are under way at Rock Rapids. The school attendance has been growing rapidly in recent years and now numbers nearly 600. The new school subject is a popular one and there is every indication that the measure will carry.

WOULD FORCE ROAD TO OPERATE TRAINS

Creston, Ia., June 13.—An action in mandamus has been brought in court here by attorneys representing public interests against Ralph H Beaton, Sigmund Qrmstain, Nathan Harris and Louis Greenburg, owners of the Creston, Winterset & Des Moines railroad, to compel them to operate the road They are the owners under a receivership sale.

The petitioners charge that the owners have never sought or received the sanction of the state to cease operating the line and this action seeks to compel the operation of the line or a court action determining their rights in the matter

The court is also asked to issue an order compelling the defendants to pay all taxes, cost of labor and value of property donated for the building of the railroad and that if the line is dismantled that the defendants be required to bring the right-of-way to grade cuts filled and fills cut down It is expected the case will be heard at the June term of court

IOWA OFFICER RETURNS BURDENED WITH HONORS

Waterloo, Ia., June 13—Maj. Gen Hanson E. Ely, distinctly an Iowa product, born at Independence in 1867 is coming home from France with the Fifth division laden with honors.

Major General Ely was cited for gallantry in action at Cantigny by the First division and again by the Second division at the Soissons offensive He was decorated with the legion of honor by Marshal Petain He has been awarded three croix de guerres, with palms and has been decorated with the distinguished service medal by Gen John J Pershing

Hanson E. Ely became a cadet at the age of 19 He graduated with the rank of second lieutenant at 23 Since then he has been active in army work and has had many promotions. His elevation to major general came October 13, 1918

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS FOR ORGANIZED SOCIETY

Cascade, Ia. June 13—When the announcement was made a few days ago that Attorney General Palmer, of Washington, had established a new bureau to run down red flag agitators and industrial disturbers, J. H Devaney, of Cascade, state deputy of the Knights of Columbus, immediately sent the following telegram to him "As an organization that has always stood out against socialism, anarchism and any other ism detrimental to good government, 21,000 Knights of Columbus of Iowa commend the stand taken by your bureau and offer you our undivided support."

GOVERNMENT PLANE FALLS AT CEDAR RAPIDS

Cedar Rapids, Ia., June 13 —A government airplane from Rantoul, Ill., piloted by Lieut J B. Machle and carrying Lieut. George Grupe, jr of this city fell a distance of 30 feet here yesterday and was badly smashed. Both men escaped injuries. The machine was ascending when something went wrong with the motor. Machle came here last week to fly for the G. A. R. encampment, but one accident after another has kept him on the ground.

MANCHESTER—During the past week more than 1,000,000 young pike from the hatcheries here, have been dumped into Des Moines river The largest batch was tossed into the stream at Boone. Six hundred thousand fry took up their home there.

IOWA CITY—Prof. Bohumil Shimek, who has been a member of the state university faculty for 29 years, has resigned as head of the botany department and will devote his time to carrying on research work in taxonomy and ecology

STORY CITY—Although the meeting is two months away, plans today were laid for the national convention of the Young Peoples' Luther League of the Norwegian church It will convene here August 12 for a four day session

TEMPLETON—A new K of C council, will be instituted here Sunday June 15, which makes the third new one in the state within the past two months A large crowd is expected for the doings.

Training Little Childr

Suggestions by mothers who have been kindergartners. I... The United States Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C. ... The National Kindergarten Association, New York, N. ...

BY MRS. LOUISE GUILDIN SIMMONS

EVERY young mother should memorize a few of the songs and finger plays and study the explanations, mottoes and pictures in Froebel's "Mother Play," so that she may begin to use them in her home long before the kindergarten age. I have used them and find that they teach the virtues which later it is so hard to instil, for, as Froebel says, "Mother, you can now do with a touch as light as a feather what you cannot later accomplish with the pressure of a hundredweight."

I have also found that the songs and plays fill the child's heart with joy and contentment, entertain him immensely and supply his imagination with wholesome food. If the mother has memorized some of the songs, she can sing or croon them while busy about her household tasks, and in this way can often direct her child's thoughts and play, with definite aims in view. Her walks or rides with the children may also be made occasions for such play.

To illustrate how Froebel's philosophy helps the mother to train her child, let us consider first the pat-a-cake play. You smile and say, "Why, all mothers play pat-a-cake with their babies; that is nothing new." Yes, mothers have played pat-a-cake for ages and ages, but if they want to know why they play it, let them turn to Froebel, who points out that the reason the little game is so widely known is because "Simple mother wit never fails to link the initial activities of the child with the every-day life about him." He also says, "The bread or, better still, the little cake which the child likes so well, he receives from his mother; the mother in turn receives it from the baker. So far, so good. We have found two links in the great chain of life and service. Let us beware, however, of making the child feel that these links complete the chain. The baker can bake no cake if the miller grinds no meal; the miller can grind no meal if the farmer brings him no grain; the farmer can bring no grain if his field yields no crop; the field can yield no crop if the forces of nature fail to work together to produce it; the forces of nature could not conspire together were it not for the all-wise and beneficent Power who incites them to their predetermined ends."

It is because we mothers have felt perhaps dimly and unconsciously the lesson which the pat-a-cake play teaches of dependence on one another, and the gratitude each owes to all, that we have played this little game from ancient times.

The Value of "Pat-a-Cake.

I start to play pat-a-cake with my baby when he is six months old. It affords him great satisfaction to exercise his arms and to direct his movements so that both little dimpled hands meet together. When he is about 18 months or 2 years old I begin to show him the picture of pat-a-cake found in Froebel's "Mother Play." Through this means, I gradually and easily lead him to see that "For his bread he owes thanks not only to his mother, to the baker, the miller, the farmer, but also and most of all to the Heavenly Father, who, through the instrumentality of dew and rain, sunshine and darkness, winter and summer, causes the... bring forth the grain."

It is only after having ... picture thoroughly and read... ter on Pat-a-Cake in the... and Commentaries" and co... memory the verses and ... "Songs and Music" of ... "Mother Play," that I am ... teach pat-a-cake to my ba... I have shown, I do ... it all at once, but re... again and again, perhaps ... are out working in the ... sunny day, or in the house ... the rain When my child is ... to be interested in such th... into a bakery shop and, to ... ishment of the baker, ask... see his ovens. We often ... and I tell my child that ... place where the farmer ... grain. Thus the lesson of ... goes on for a long time ... first played in babyhood. ... us to be ever thankful ... learns to say: "Thank ... mamma," "Thank you, de... "Thank you, dear God."

There are many other ... games in Froebel's "Moth... which I give to my children ... fore the kindergarten age. ... these they take the great... I begin early to sing the ... play the finger games wh... the instinct of love for the ... of the family and affecti... mals.

THE FAMILY.

Mother Song for Teaching Af... on Baby's Fingers, Beginning with ...

This is the mother, so busy at ... Who loves her dear children, w... come.

This is the father, so brave and ... Who works for his family all th...

This is the brother, who'll soon ... He helps his good mother as ... can.

This is the sister, so gentle and ... Who plays that the dolly is her ...

This is the baby, all dimpled and ... How soft his wee hands and his ... feet!

Father and mother and children ... Together you see them, one fa... —Emilie ...

The active child of 4 ... stinctively desires to measu... against children of his own ... if deprived of the opportu... this, loses much of what is ... for his highest and best de... Through contact with ... children learn to wait their ... to be considerate in many o...

Moreover, the child want... things, and, although the m... play little songs and games ... while carrying on her ... tasks, she cannot always tak... necessary to direct and assi... in manual occupations. T... reason why the kindergar... great need. Associations ... mates, work with various ... and tools and songs and ... all provided in the kinder...

It was because of my stu... belian methods and their ... application to the child be... because I realized how im... was for me, a busy mothe... the growing needs of my chi... I wanted a kindergarten in ... not only for my own little ... fer all the boys and girls ... of mothers and fathers bec... ested in my project; we ... our Board of Education and ... garten was soon establishe... a success from the very sta...

Please pass this article on ... and thus help Uncle Sam re... mothers of the country.

There Was a Reason.

From the Indianapolis News.

However the nations were or might have been divided in the great conflict just ended, there never was a belief in any quarter of the world that English speaking people would be on opposing sides. Germany recognized the power of the unwritten treaty by which, when the question is one of right or wrong, there can be no two sides among people reared on the same traditions. An extract from the program of the memorial service for the officers and men of the American army and navy who have fallen in the war, held in Westminster Abbey, expresses this feeling in the eloquent language of the British clergy, who speak the voice of the empire:

Let us now unite in thanking God for those of our brothers of the great American republic who have laid down their lives in a sacred and righteous cause Their deaths have sealed the unwritten but inviolable covenant of our common brotherhood. Their deaths have laid the enduring foundations of the world's hope for future peace. For their sakes we raise this day our proud thanksgiving in the great abbey which enshrines the illustrious dust of the makers of the English speaking peoples. Let us render our humble and joyful price to Almighty God that in their response to the clarion call of freedom and of justice the two commonwealths have not been divided.

This service was short, as becomes the tribute of a nation of fightin men to the fighting men of an associated nation.

The Truthful Ticker.

From the Los Angeles Times.

"The ticker never lies," is a familiar adage in Wall street. The thought behind is that the funny little instrument, which nervously tells off the story of the day on the stock exchange, which in its turn reflects the optimistic or pessmistic trend of business, truly records the pulse beats of our trade and commerce. When stocks are buoyant, money free, credit easy, the public speculatively inclined; when brokers are blithesome and optimists are rampant and entirely surrounded by hulls, the ticker ticks fast and its dots and dashes are of business strength; of development maximus; of prosperity, present and to come The financial columns are the most reliable barometer to be found. They read now, "continued fair weather, with steady trade winds."

Road Making.

From the Los Angeles Times.

The state of Illinois, voted a bond issue of $60,000,000 for highway construction over a period of three years or more. Now it is reported that contracts have been let for 50 miles of road building as a starter. According to the figures, the average cost per mile will be $20,000, which is almost $10,000 a mile above the estimates made by the engineers at the time the vote was taken. It is tough when a war in Germany can boost the price of broken rock and gravel in this country out of sight. But as a people we are now healthily committed to a program of road construction and we are going ahead with it in spite of all.

Cape to Cairo By Air

From the Columbus Dis...

Actual construction work ... been begun in connection wi... jected Cape to Cairo air servi... ish air military announces. Al... being set up every 600 miles, ... nonstop limit, from one end ... the other, the principal ones ... at Cairo, Khartum and two ... East Africa at Kampla and U...

The route then passes into R... along the course of the rail... Cape. Long before the fam... Cairo railway is in operation ... dently expected that airplan... covering the route on regula... The distance is 5,200 miles. ... lishing this service the plan ... ministry is to hand it over ... enterprise to a British comm... pany. The air ministry is acti... neer in various undertaking... cording to one of its officials, ... to commercial flying will b... to that of the British admiral... chant marine service.

Why Not Plain Americ...

From the Kansas City ...

When a British minister to ... States wrote a letter touching ... can politics, President Cleveland ... his passports. But now a m... the United States—unofficial ... is abroad to give the British ... instruction on how to man...

Just how is this sort of thin... tified? What business have A... isens with the domestic policy ... ish empire?

The question of the hyph... arises. We have been conduc... er active campaign against ... Americanism for the last ... Doesn't that include all hy... we to have the Czecho-Slova... petitioning the government ... management of the city of P... Jugo-Slavic-Americans talk... about Fiume, and Italian-Am... testing, and Anglo-Americans ... Polish-Americans making de... Magyar-Americans remonstra...

Why not really get rid of ... and be just plain Americans?

Political No Man's L...

From the New York ...

Nothing could more clearly ... the political center of gravity ... tion has shifted than the a... of Chairman Homer S. Cumm... democratic national committ... is about to spend two months' ... the states that lie between ... sippi river and the Pacific c... used to be a solid block of sta... no democrat had more than ... interest. Now and then one of ... go democratic because of loc... mere deviltry But when M... denly and unexpectedly went ... was the beginning of a chang... made the middle west and t... debatable ground, a political ... Land.

...K LEAVES ...JOHN'S ON ...AN FLIGHT

...r Hops Off Recently In Attempt To ...land In Attempt To ...th Feat In Which ...Failed.

...Associated Press.

...N. F., June 16.—The ...y biplane started on ...Atlantic flight at 4:13 ...afternoon, Greenwich

...Vimy machine carries Capt. Jack Alcock, ..., as pilot and Lieut. ...hitten Brown, an Ameri... navigator.

...will make an effort to accomplish what Hawker tried to do, ...ly across the Atlantic, ...making any stop en route. ...plane weighs 7,000 pounds. ...It was hoped would be de... the London postoffice was ...the airplane just before the ...of the start was 1:13 ce...

...Brown expected to follow ...course laid out by Hawk... ...the most direct route ...mainland to Ireland. ...ers was equipped with a ...which operated successfully ...in preliminary flights to keep in touch with ...dio all the way across. ...Jack Alcock was among the ...neers in aviation. He ob... flying certificate in 1912, and ...royal air service immedi... the outbreak of the war. He ...as instructor at first, but was ...to the Turkish front, where ...record for long distance ...raids. He was later cap... the Turks and held prisoner ...armistice was signed. ...ant Brown, navigator of the Vimy plane, also is a veteran ..., having served first as an ...officer and later in the Brit... service until an accident ...time in which he was an ob... in 1915, forced a descent in ...territory, where he was ...and taken prisoner.

...EWS FOR EXCURSIONISTS

...eclares Ban on Summer ...h Order to Aid Trans...rtation of Returned Veterans.

...By United Press.

...ton, D. C., June 16.—Drastic ...in summer and holiday ex... were ordered today by Rail... Hines to make way for ...troop movement in the his... the country.

...same reason, Hines' office re... a special train has been denied ...ck fight fans who wanted to go ...to for the Willard-Dempsey ...July 4. Similar requests from ...ities will be denied also.

...order was issued at the re... of Secretary of War Baker, who ...other the railroad administ... that 375,000 troops will have to ...d from debarkation ports to ...ation camps during June and ...large a number during July. ...a notice to the public that ...traffic must be cut to the ...said:

...the paramount duty of the rail... administration to provide ade... facilities for safe, prompt and ...return of soldiers to their ...Every effort will be made to ...this duty with the minimum of ...ce to those who travel for ...or pleasure, but until the ...have been moved coaches and ...cars will be crowded and tem... discomfort will result.

...railroad administration confi... upon your cooperation in ...out this necessary program."

...CAN DEAD TO ...E BROUGHT HOME

...s of War Heroes Ex... Strong Preference For ...rn of Bodies to U. S.

...By Associated Press.

...ton, D. C., June 16.—Three... of the American dead in France ...their final resting place in ...test. Answering an inquiry ...Senator Chamberlain as ...wishes of relatives, General ...of staff, said it was esti... ...replies from relatives thus ...showed not more than 25 ...who expressed a preference ...'s body remain perma... ...place. With more than ...dead of allied and ...countries buried in French soil, ...March said that nation was ...proceeding slowly with the ...exhuming those that are to go ...lands. No date has yet ...for beginning the return of ...dead.

...for the most original work in ...diplomacy has been given by ...university to one of its Chinese ...in the award of the Einstein ...Diplomacy prize.

MOTOR TRANSPORTS TO CROSS COUNTRY

May Follow Lincoln Highway—President Wilson to Dedicate Mile Stone at Washington

Washington, D. C., June 14.—Plans were completed by the motor transport corps for the first transcontinental trip of an army motor truck train. It will start from Washington July 7 and reach San Francisco from 47 to 56 days later. Before the machines get away President Wilson is expected to dedicate a milestone in front of the White House to represent the starting points for highways radiating out of Washington.

The itinerary of the trip has not yet been completely worked out but so far as known the truck train will follow the Lincoln highway.

"WETS" IN BIG DEMONSTRATION

Labor Unions and Other Anti's Stage Ovation In Washington Against Prohibition

By United Press.

Washington, June 16.—Organized labor, backed by many anti-prohibitionists, today marched on congress with an appeal for the repeal of wartime prohibition.

Delegates from the American Federation of Labor convention at Atlantic City and scores of local unions swarmed the capitol plaza until it was one big mass of people, carrying flags and banners urging congress to act.

From the capitol steps several short speeches were made by President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation, who is back of today's demonstration, and other labor leaders.

Representatives from the various states were assigned to present it to their congressmen. Meanwhile dry leaders asked the Senate judiciary committee to act before further on the question of prohibition.

Several "drys" in the House are planning a counter demonstration in the form of telegrams to show that the locals unions, in prohibition circles particularly, do not approve the stand of Gompers.

A St. Louis delegation headed by Marvin J. Cassidy appeared before the House judiciary committee.

"The only place where prohibition has been in effect is Russia and that will deliver us from conditions there," Cassidy said.

The "beer special," as it has been called, left Atlantic City tonight. It carried nearly 400 members of unions who are attending the American Federation of Labor convention.

The train carried a baggage car, fitted up as a bar which was attached at Baltimore to be restocked for the return of the delegates to Atlantic City tonight.

The cost of the special which consisted of eight pullman coaches and parlor cars, was defrayed by brewery workers and owners.

RECORDS SHATTERED IN DEMOBILIZATION

General March Announces 100,000 Discharged Week Ending June 11.

By United Press.

Washington, D. C., June 16.—Demobilization of the American army is breaking all records, General March, chief of staff, stated today.

During the week ending June 11, 100,000 men were discharged, a high mark except for one week in December when the S. A. T. C. troops, thousands of student soldiers.

Returns from France during the first 10 days of June totaled 110,058, an unprecedented number.

The sertngth of the army on June 10 was 1,232,625, March stated. Demobilization has taken place at the rate of 357,000 a month, whereas during the war the average of men inducted into service a month was 229,000.

Demobilization, he said is now two-thirds complete. 2,500,034 officers and men having been discharged. Sailings from Europe are 1,350,101 officers and men.

YANKS CAN'T RETURN UNTIL SEPTEMBER 1

Discharged Three Weeks After Leaving For Home—Demobilization May Be Delayed.

Washington, D. C., June 16.—Demobilization will not be technically complete until the last emergency man now serving in the A. E. F. and elsewhere is discharged, according to Secretary of War Baker today.

All American troops will not be out of France until September 1, and the men will not be discharged until about three weeks after leaving for home, according to plans outlined at the office of General March, chief of staff.

If an army of occupation is required after the signing of the peace treaty demobilization will be still longer delayed.

There was no intimation at the war department as to whether President Wilson would adhere to this technical definition as to when demobilization ends in connection with wartime prohibition.

DISMISSES SUIT.

Fargo, N. D., June 14.—The suit brought by 42 taxpayers of North Dakota, assailing the constitutionality of the industrial program of legislation sponsored by the National Nonpartisan League, was dismissed today by Judge C. F. Amidon, of the United States district court.

RAIL KEYMEN GIVE SUPPORT IN BIG STRIKE

Operators In 23,000 Offices Refuse to Handle Commercial Business—Call Issued Today to Phone Operators.

By United Press.

St. Louis, Mo., June 16.—Railroad telegraphers in 23,000 offices in the United States today refused to handle commercial business as a means of aiding striking keymen, according to reports at the office of E. J. Manion, president of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers.

The railroad telegraphers' fund of nearly $1,000,000 will be put into the fight, union officials announced.

Both Western Union and Postal officials said the order will handicap business only slightly.

PHONE GIRLS TO QUIT.

By United Press.

[illegible], N. J., June 16.—Julia O'Connor, head of the telephone operators department, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, declared [illegible] sent orders to the Pacific coast for a strike of telephone operators there effective Wednesday.

Miss O'Connor, who is a delegate to the labor convention here, said this was [illegible] sympathy with the electrical workers who are scheduled to strike Monday. She asserted a general telephone operators strike would be called next if no settlement [illegible]

[illegible] O'Connor's statement follows: [illegible] a strike [illegible] to union [illegible] and San Francisco [illegible]

This [illegible] instructions that a number of [illegible] one workers in [illegible] Telephone and Telegraph company will be effective Wednesday at 7 o'clock Pacific [illegible] unless necessary [illegible] effect. All operators be given wide [illegible] for purpose [illegible] electric [illegible] ing the Eastern [illegible] ds remaining [illegible] tion [illegible] increase to [illegible] more work [illegible] A dispatch [illegible] to the Western [illegible] awaiting [illegible] ment is [illegible] the strike will spread [illegible] the New England states [illegible] the list affected.

KONENKAMP ENCOURAGED

By Associated Press.

[illegible] Leaders of the [illegible] strike of [illegible] today [illegible] Reports received showing that [illegible] of Western Union telegrams [illegible] at key points because of refusal of railroad telegraphers to handle commercial business.

Railroad operators were instructed [illegible] Railroad Telegraphers [illegible] handling commercial [illegible] today as a means [illegible] commercial telegraphers in [illegible] for the right of collective [illegible] and wage adjustments.

[illegible] of the Western Union Telegraph Company had declared the [illegible] operators were not following [illegible] business was [illegible] international [illegible] graphers, said not [illegible] message had moved [illegible] Mackay lines, that definite [illegible] hundreds of towns in [illegible] other nearby states [illegible] graph service and that [illegible] would be [illegible]

[illegible] telegraphers today [illegible] commercial business en[illegible] said.

[illegible] the latest move in [illegible] Association of [illegible] Employes today [illegible] of Western Union [illegible] wired E. J. Manion, president of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, [illegible] consideration to the [illegible] operators. The telegram said that as operators in Western Union operators are not [illegible] Western Union has placed the [illegible] on record [illegible] Western Union workers [illegible]

"Railroad operators have scheduled [illegible] with the railroads which provide [illegible] to handle commercial business," said Edward Wech, deputy president of the Association of Western Union Employes.

113,000 TO STRIKE.

By United Press.

San Francisco, June 16.—Approximately [illegible] electrical workers employed by the telephone and telegraph companies of the country will walk out at 8 o'clock standard time next Monday unless agreements are reached before that time.

This statement was made today by C. P. Ford, secretary of the International Brotherhood of Electrical workers. He received word from conferences in Washington between representatives of employes and the companies. Secretary Ford added he had abandoned hope of a satisfactory settlement. As originally called the strike would have affected 125,000 workers but since that time, Ford said, agreements have been signed with a number of companies and the grand total of men liable to walk out is 113,500.

The following are the main demands of the employes.

1. The right to organize without interference.

2. Designation by the companies of some representative in every community to hear grievances.

3. No discrimination against organized employes.

4. That discharge or demoted employes be returned to their former positions, pending an investigation.

GOVERNOR STEPHENS ENDORSES JOHNSON

Executive's Letter Read at Opening of California Demonstration For Senator

San Francisco, Cal., June 16.—Declaring himself solidly behind the move to nominate Senator Hiram W. Johnson, of California, for president, Governor Stephens in a letter to the Johnson ratification meeting here today said:

"The California should send a son to the president's chair is a matter of tremendous concern. It means a change in the political map as drastic as is being made in the map of the world. It is a question of justice against geography."

The letter was read at the opening of a monster state wide Johnson rally which is being held at the Palace hotel today to formally propose Johnson as a presidential candidate.

forces are diminished be given preference when an addition to the force is made.

PHONE GIRLS QUIT.

By United Press.

Louisville, Ky., June 16.—Beginning at 8 o'clock Monday morning unless unexpected orders are received from the International Electric Workers' headquarters, telephone connections in Louisville and suburbs will be paralyzed.

Approximately 400 telephone operators decided unanimously last night to strike.

READY FOR STRIKE.

San Francisco, Cal., June 16.—California telephone operators practically 100 per cent organized, who voted early this year to strike have been eagerly awaiting walkout orders, and phone girls in other coast states are also ready to quit work Wednesday, union officials stated today. They predict a complete tieup of the nation's phone systems by the strike called for Wednesday morning.

The strike is to be started on the Pacific coast and the operators will set an example for the whole nation in the way of a complete tieup," one union official declared.

The organization of operators is not confined to the larger cities. Miss E. Schultz, coast organizer for the hello girls union, has been working in the smaller cities, and these are all reported fully lined up for the union.

The walkout of telephone and telegraph electrical workers slated for Monday will be joined in California by 2,000 power company electricians.

The latter took a strike vote some time ago and decided to couple their walkout with that of the communications workers.

FIUME COUNCIL CREATES ARMY

Poet Sam Benelli Becomes War Commissioner as Result of Action In Adriatic City.

By United Press.

Fiume, June 16.—The national council of Fiume passed a bill today creating an army and appointing the poet, Sem Benelli as war commissioner.

Sem Benelli is the author of the play "The Jest," in which John and Lionel Barrymore are now playing at the Plymouth theater in New York. This play is the dramatic sensation of the season.

BOLSHEVISTS CROSS GALICIAN BOUNDARY

To Join Hungarian Bolshevists at Frontier—Czecho-Slovaks Recapture Several Towns.

London, June 16.—Russian bolshevist troops are reported to have crossed the Galician boundary and to be approaching Tarnopol with the evident intention of joining the Hungarian bolshevists when the Hungarian frontier is reached, says an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Vienna under Thursday's date.

The Czecho-Slovaks, the Vienna advices add, report a favorable turn in their military operations. They have recaptured several towns from the Hungarians.

A pledge that no expense would be spared to create a cable service between the United States and Central and South America, which would be the equal of any in the world, has been made by John L. Merrill, president of the All-American cables.

Butchers Blaming Consumer for High Quotations on Meat

By United Press.

Chicago, Ill., June 16.—The victim himself, not the retailer or wholesaler, is responsible for the high cost of meats the United Master Butchers of America claimed today.

In a statement given out by Secretary C. W. Kaiser, the butchers said failure of the consumer to adjust himself to post war conditions by resuming use of his favorite cuts is responsible.

"When a butcher buys a beef carcass," the statement said, "he buys many different cuts. If the cost of business is kept down his sales must show good volume on each sort of cut. If any cut is neglected, the popular cut must help bear the selling expense of the unpopular."

Chucks and stews are neglected, the butchers said, for the more easily prepared meats. Mutton and lamb are passed up also.

"People should eat more beef and cease discriminating against low priced and high priced cuts in favor of those sold at middle figures," the statement read.

KANSANS BATTLING AGAINST I. W. W

Wobblies Take to Woods as Citizens Join Authorities In Hunt For Harvest Disturbers.

Kansas City, June 16.—Reports that "the wobblies were jungling up" which is the I. W. W. expression for mobilizing, continued to reach the office of Fred Robertson, United States district attorney for Kansas today.

A conference of all county attorneys in the wheat belt of Kansas, was called to meet at Hutchinson to combat the campaign of the agitators now under way in that section of the state. The meeting was called at the request of W. H. Burnett, prosecutor of Reno county. Mr. Robertson left today for Hutchinson, where he will attend this meeting and question the three men now in jail there.

So far no acts of violence have been reported, but the actual harvest has not commenced and there has been no chance for I. W. W. outrages. Sheriffs and marshals in the wheat belt report, however, that the agitators are gathering in little groups in the woods and holding meetings. This is called "jungling up" and is the process used in 1917.

"There are several thousand I. W. W.'s now in this section of the state," Mr. Robertson said today. "I do not know how many more 'locusts' are scheduled to arrive, but they have been appearing for the last week."

The information indicates that the "wobblies" are avoiding the towns and keeping in the wooded country along the river valleys, where they are arranging for their campaign. Those under arrest sent calls yesterday to Chicago for legal aid.

"We are going to rid Kansas of these agitators and do it quickly," Mr. Robertson said. "If necessary we will call special grand juries and indict all for revolutionary activities, as we have done those in Wichita."

LEAGUE CAMPAIGN OPENS IN ENGAND

Seven Thousand Attend Meeting Launching Movement to Popularize the World Pact.

London, June 16.—A campaign to popularize the league of nations was launched last night by the British league of nations union. The principal address was made by Lord Robert Cecil, other speakers being John Robert Clines, former food controller, Dr. Alexander Irving, Archbishop of Canterbury and Dr. John Clifford. John W. Davis, American ambassador was present with his wife, and Vice Admiral David Beatty, was in attendance.

All the speakers dwelt on the necessity for united and zealous popular support to make the league a reality and a success. Lord Robert Cecil, in the course of a defense of the league, twice referred to President Wilson, being vigorously applauded.

The enthusiasm of the audience for the league was in evidence throughout Lord Robert's speech, but here and there were a few hecklers who tried to interrupt him. Several men in the gallery unfurled a red flag inscribed, "war ships are fighting a socialist republic," evidently referring to the fighting betwen British and Russian war ships in the Baltic.

Lord Roberts said that nobody could claim the covenant of the league of nations was perfect.

"But it is a living organism," he continued, "which will grow and adapt itself to requirements."

FORMER SIOUX CITY MAN BACKS REGULARS

Maj. Orville J. Taylor, jr., who was assistant judge advocate of the 86th division both at Camp Grant and abroad and who later held the same post for the district of Paris, started the day's proceedings of the court martial inquiry yesterday by unqualified indorsement of the present system. He said his experience with regular army officers had convinced him that trained line officers were superior to legal minded men as dispensers of military justice, inasmuch as they understand men better.

Deplores Bow-Leg Exposure Through Vise-Like Skirts

By United Press.

Urbana, Ill., June 16.—Milady's er—bowlegs, revealed by skirts so tight that they cannot conceal, were blamed today on fashion's fickleness by Miss Leona Hope, teacher of economics at the University of Illinois here.

The offending skirt and evening dresses "not having much above the waist and very little below," suggested to her the return of the sumptuary laws of the 14th and 15th centuries, prohibiting any but those of noble birth to wear "indecently short skirts and coats."

"Why should one desire to show her dress shields and underwear to the public?" askes Miss Hope.

Miss Hope deplored the fact that dress is not limited to protection and modesty.

"Witness the devotees of the Goddess Fashion going about the streets on cold, rainy days in thin silk stockings and equally thin shoes, enduring for her sake the discomforts of wet feet," she declaimed.

"Artists advise students to go back to nature," Miss Hope said. "This advice might be followed as to clothes.

"The animal is at least born with his clothes on and nature has considered appropriateness, beauty and decency."

2 DAYS FIXED AS LIMIT FOR SIGNING TERMS

Allied Powers to Demand Quick Action From Germany on Revised Treaty Now Nearly Completed By Commission.

The heads of the great powers are declared to be convinced that the Germans will accept the revised terms. Paris advices report that an air of optimisms is evident on this point.

Paris, June 14.—Confidence was expressed today by the British, French and American delegations to the peace conference that the reply to the German counter proposals will be completed and delivered to the Germans Monday with a provision that the Germans will be given two days in which to answer. With an additional three days of grace before the armistice is suspended, there would be a resumption of hostilities, Sunday June 21, if the Germans refused to sign.

The indisposition of the council of four to submit the revised treaty to a plenary session of the peace conference before sending it to the Germans, is, however, causing another protest from the small powers, which resent "steam roller" methods.

The council of five continued the work of editing the revised treaty this morning at the same time enabling Baron Makino, the Japanese representative to acquaint himself with the document. The work is nearly completed. It is expected it will be printed and delivered to the Germans Monday or Tuesday.

It is the present plan of the council to renew consideration of the Austrian terms Monday, representatives of Turkey will be received Tuesday.

If no further developments arise President Wilson probably will make his trip to Brussels between Wednesday and the expiration of the German time limit.

Som modifications were made by the council yesterday in the labor covenant in the peace treaty.

The existing labor situation in various countries, coupled with clever German tactics has resulted in this part of the treaty becoming one of the principal points of attack in the counter-proposals. The situation caused a lengthy discussion which resulted in certain modifications in the convention.

The allied reply to the German proposals, it developed today, will lay particular stress upon the character of the permanent reparations commission. It will be explained to the Germans that this commission is not a tyrannical body, but that it will administer its duties in a spirit of fairness and helpfulness so as to facilitate Germany's economic reconstruction.

It is learned that the short time limit given Germany for a reply is largely due to the Germans themselves. They are understood to have said they would not require more than five days to reach a decision.

While reports from Germany on the prospects of Germany's signing the treaty are lacking in clarity, it is known that the council is acting on the belief that there is no general feeling on the part of the masses against German acceptance of the terms. An air of optimism pervades the council in this respect.

BAKER HEEDS CALL FOR SALE OF MEAT

War Department Placing Surplus Canned Supply on Market In Answer to Public Demand.

By United Press.

Washington, June 16.—Secretary of War Baker is yielding to widespread criticism and is making every effort now to sell the huge meat surplus of the war department to the public.

Circular letters are going out to every canned goods and meat dealer today, it was announced, and all state, municipal and charitable institutions are being canvassed to take some of the 143,000,000 pounds of canned meat originally bought for the army.

The war department's original announcement that it would keep this meat off the market to prevent a break in prices brought a storm of protest.

Secretary of War Baker said today he recently has instructed the director of sales to make every effort to sell these surplus meats to the public and arrangements have been made, he said, to allow individuals to buy small lots at the supply depots in Chicago, Baltimore, Columbus, Ohio, and other places where the surplus is stored.

HOPE FOR STRIKE SETTLEMENT SOON

Intervention of Government Officials May Settle Paris Strike Controversy of Miners Soon.

Paris, June 16.—Intervention by government officials in the strike situation has aroused hopes of a settlement soon. However, it is doubtful whether the claims of the miners can be satisfied before they put into effect their decision to go on a general strike Monday.

A general strike of the miners, would have a serious effect on industry and business, but the situation would be graver still should the organization known as the Internation Trust which includes railroad workers, registered seamen, metal workers and transportation workers, in addition to the miners, carry out its decision to walk out in sympathy with the miners.

Wool is Wool
Color is Color

The fit speaks for itself and you'll have to take our word for the wear. But we won,t take your money without standing by every purchase.
You'll find the good kinds of men's and boys' wear in this store and you,ll find it priced right.
Good make—good quality and right price go hand in hand here. Its no gamble its a sure thing.
Summer clothes of all descriptions. Come and see them.

PATTON BROS.
Mason City, Iowa
"Where a dollar does it's duty"

I scream U scream We all scream
for
ICE CREAM

Our soda fountain is running in full blast now and we have the very best in Sodas, Malts, Sundaes etc. Get a quart of our delicious Ice Caerm for your Sunday dinner

'If It's To Eat---We Have It"
CRYSTAL CAFE
Elder & Fuller, Props.

DOCTOR MISSMAN
PHYSICIAN SURGEON
OFFICE--State Savings Bank Building, 'Phone No. 1105
RESIDENCE--North of Park, 'Phone No. 1109
X-Ray Radiographs Electrical Treatments
Eyes Tested Glasses Fitted

Now is the time to make a noise like Spring!

Now is the time to make plans for this year's garden. We have everything you need in that line:-

Garden Spades Forks Hoes
Rakes Plows Garden Seeds
Don't overlook your Lawn or Flowers
Better get some of our Grass Seed and Flower Seeds. Buy a Lawn Mower.

J. W. WATERMAN

The City Dray Line

Is prepared to do your hauling carefully and promptly.
Your patronage is respectfully solicited.
Charges Reasonable.

Henry P. Yahnke, Prop.
Coal Hauling Done

Osteopaths have a four year course and are licensed physicians. adv.

Dick Bamman, of Garner, was a business caller here last Saturday.

C. W. Wiles drove over to Garner on business last Thursday afternoon.

An Eddie Polo Picture at the Idle Hour every Saturday night. adv.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Griewe were passengers to Garner last Saturday.

Something special at the Idle Hour every Saturday, see Eddie Polo. adv.

George Musfelt and Holly Lewis autoed over to Bayside last Sunday.

Try a want ad in the Times—it brings results.

G. P. McCullough spent Sunday with Garner folks.

Mr. Frank Rurick, of Britt, was a business caller in Klemme Tuesday.

We recommend, sell and guarantee Gould Storage Batteries. Henry Lau & Son. adv.

Mrs. J. Jorgenson, of Garner, was a Klemme visitor between trains last Saturday afternoon.

Herman Ludeke was a passenger to Garner Saturday afternoon on business.

MILK COWS for sale, or will trade for some young stock. J. B. Spittler. adv-tf.

Marvin Weigman, the new assistant at the First National Bank, spent Sunday with his folks at Garner.

Mrs. Fred Musfelt and daughter, Mrs Lanahan, returned Tuesday from their visit at Clarion.

Don't miss the Eddie Polo Pictures at the Idle Hour every Saturday night. adv.

Mrs. Oscar Franzen visited at Manly, Iowa, Monday of this week, returning to Klemme Tuesday noon.

Donald Nissen, of Milford, Iowa, began work in the J. N. Day store last week.

WANTED to buy—a good wall tent. Inquire at G. P. McCullough's Barber Shop.

Bert Mathews assisted at the camp meeting at Garner several days last week.

Harvey Stille left last week for Algona where he has taken a position in the States Cafe.

C. W. Wiles sells the Owens Lighting Plant for farms. Call on him for particulars. adv.

Verner and Holly Lewis went to Mason City on business Monday of this week.

Mrs. L. R. Parsons and daughter, of Belmond, visited over Sunday with Klemme friends.

George Musfelt visited from last Wednesday until Monday with his sister, Mrs. Dewey Rice, at Clarion.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Fuller and Mr. and Mrs. Barr were Mason City callers last Saturday.

Elmer Schmidt drove to Garner last Friday for a few days visit with his mother and sisters.

Art Schoenwetter had a runaway in Klemme Monday but the team soon gave up the sport and stopped near the railroad track.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Schoenwetter, of Garner, came Monday noon for a few days visit with Klemme relatives and friends.

The George Kluckhohn family autoed to Garner Sunday to attend the camp meeting and also for a visit with relatives and friends.

C. W. Wiles has installed a new electric soldering iron in his shop which will come in mighty handy for quick soldering.

DROP US A CARD and let us demonstrate the Delco-Light to You. Judd Hardware Co., Kanawha, Iowa. adv.-2w.

Billie Busch left last Friday morning for Whittemore, Iowa, for a visit with his mother and friends. He returned to Klemme Monday noon.

M. Croner was a business caller in Garner Saturday afternoon. He drove over in his car and was accompanied by Ye Editor and his mother.

F. H. Ridder and family, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Harvey and Mrs. Emerson autoed to Garner Sunday to take in the camp meeting.

Mr. C. F. Shell, of State Center, Iowa, was a business caller here Tuesday. Mr. Shell sold a piece of land to J. J. Stille.

Henry Linne returned Tuesday afternoon from several months' service overseas. We welcome him home again.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Ell, of Mason City, came last Thursday for a few days visit with the E. G. Ell family of this city.

Henry Lewis and August Baack were over to Clear Lake fishing last Thursday, Friday and part of Saturday. They had a fine catch.

Mrs. Schroeder is visiting her son and family in Chicago. We neglected this item last week thru an error, but better late than never.

Johnnie Etchen, Art Johnson and Levi Ridder autoed to Garner Sunday to see the sights of that wonderful place. They report that the buildings are not as high as they used to be.

FOR SALE:-Monarch six hole range used 1 1-2 years, good as new, good reason for selling and will sell for reasonable price if taken at once. Call at this office.

Hugo Neff and Bert Mathews drove to Garner Sunday morning to spend the day and also to take in the camp meeting. They returned to Klemme Monday morning.

"Schanke & Company, Investment Bankers, M. B. A. Building, Mason City, Iowa, will buy or sell all issues of Liberty Bonds at highest current prices."—5w.

Rev. Howdeshell left Saturday morning for Armstrong after spending a few days in Klemme. His wife and children will remain for a while visiting with Klemme friends.

LOST—Goodyear Tire 34x4 and Haynes rim between Garner and Klemme Monday. Finder please return to First National Bank for $5 reward.

Dick and Harold Bamman, of Garner, were Klemme visitors Sunday afternoon. They came over in a car with Albert Kraus who drove over to Garner that day.

We have a few Cream Cooling Tank left. These tands are indespensable to the selling of a quality product in cream. Come and buy one. Klemme Co-Operative Creamery Co. adv.

Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Croner autoed to Mason City last Friday. They encountered some bad roads near Ventura, but the rest of the way was good sailing.

Wm. De Puy, the young man who works for Harry Gibbs, returned last Thursday from a two weeks' visit with friends at Minneapolis. He also spent a few days at Mason City.

John Lemke breezed into town from Garner Monday noon for a visit with Klemme relatives and friends. Jack has just recently returned from over-seas service and was discharged from Camp Dodge about a week ago.

Dr. R. W. Schultz, Osteopath, of Garner, will be at the Hotel Klemme on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings, 9:00 to 12:00. adv.

LOST—A book of "Rules and Regulations of Interurban Railways" between Klemme and Harry Gibbs' on May 30th. Finder return to this office for a $2 reward. 3w.

A perfectly adjusted spine cures a "lame back" and insures good nerves, freely circulating blood, and a perfect digestion. Treatment will be given in your home when necessary. Telephone message may be left at the Hotel to be delivered to Dr. R. W. Shultz. tf

Lew Lewis and son, Verner, returned from their Minnesota trip Saturday. Now they said they went on a visit but we bet nickels to doughnuts that they were fishing most of the time.

GOULD BATTERIES are rugged in construction and lasting in their performance. The secret of their long life is in the hard paste plates, this construction has never been successfully imitated by any competitor. It was the Gould Battery with the Dreadnaught Plates that was principally used in Uncle Sam's Navy, and Uncle Sam's Navy buys the BEST. Adv-tf.

We have it! What

Everything

Which is found in only the best and most up-to-date Meat Markets.

You will always find a complete line of Choice Meats, Hams, Bacon, Fancy Meats and Canned Goods

Try Our Oleomargarine---It's Fine

J. P. Larsen & Son

Farm Livestock and Chattel Loans

Farm Livestock or chattel loans can be made here short notice and on the most satisfactory terms.

We co-operate with borrowers, helping them in every way to make the most profitable use of money loaned.

This kind of service costs the barrower nothing extra. Most of our patrons find it a decided economy.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Klemme Iowa

Subscribe Today at $1.5

All Kinds of Hardware

HARDWARE AND GROCERIES
Stoves and Furnaces
Paints, Oils, Feed, Flour, Cream Separators, Buggies
Wagons, Gasoline Engines.
All Kinds of Farm Machinery

GREUTZMACHER BROS

KLEMME DRAY LINE

LLOYD LAU, PROPRIETOR

A share of your patronage is solicited.
All work attended to promptly and carefully.

Coal Hauling Done Promptly
Telephone No. 14

M. O. HOCUM
The Grain, Coal and Live Stock Man.
We will buy Hogs and Grain six days in the week at Highest Market Price.
Successor to W. R. Bloom

DR. L. R. PARSONS
DENTIST
Office 1st Floor State Savings
Phone No. 48.
Klemme Iowa

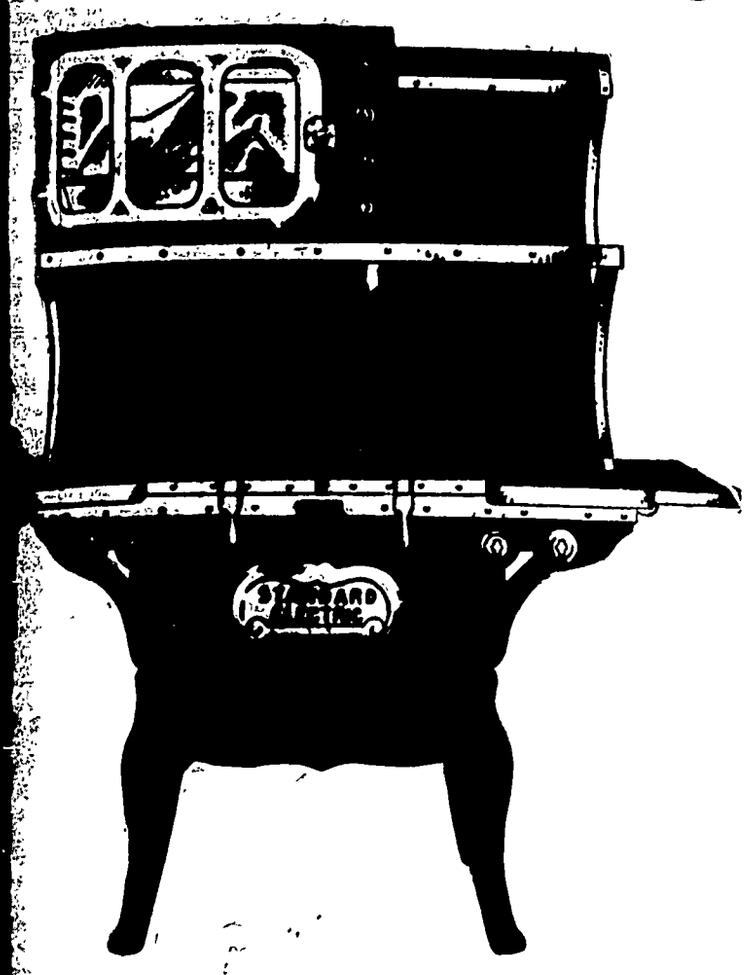
KLEMME TIMES

Number 42 — Klemme, Iowa, Thursday, June 26, 1919 — $1.50 In Advance. $2.00 Outside of County

Cook by Electricity

AND USE THE

andard Electric Range



ustration shows a No. 601 STANDARD RANGE

one of the largest and most complete types. A size is every requirement.

ination of Electric Cooking Compartments, Electric and Electric Hot Plates enables you to use Electricity most economical way and solves the problem of Electri-ing.

THE STANDARD RANGE

Saves Fuel

Saves Work

Saves Food

"Let Us Show You How"

REX SHANNON

IOWA

SAVINGS

FOUNDATIONS

SAVINGS SAVINGS SAVINGS SAVINGS

Money

bank is a strong foundation to build upon. Not us can be rich, but each of us can better his condi- Saving steady and persistent will accomplish won-

Open an Account

us today with whatever amount you can spare; then to it as opportunity permits. A foundation for start- some business or a competence for old will result.

State Savings Bank

KLEMME, IA.

KLEMME

CHAUTAUQUA

July 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5

CHAUTAUQUA BEGINS JULY 1st

Will Continue For Five Days Music Singing, Lectures and Miscellaneous

Get Your Season Tickets Now at Any Of The Stores And Save Money

Next week will be a big week in Klemme for beginning on Tuesday, July 1st, will be the opening day of the Jones Chautauqua in Klemme

The Chautauqua this year will be bigger and better than ever before and no time or money has been spared by the Jones people to make this one of the biggest and best chautauquas on the entire circuit The program will consist of the very best talent to be obtained anywhere and at any price in the line of music, singing, lectures, readings, entertainers and miscellaneous It will be so good that you cannot afford to miss a single number.

The children are not going to be overlooked A children's play instructor will come a few days ahead of the chautauqua to organize the children of the community She will give them kindergarten work, exercises, drills and various play ground work Also the children will be drilled in learning a tableau which will be one of the features of the chautauqua and will give the parents a chance to see their children on the chautauqua platform in a little play

Programs will be passed out telling you al about the talent and what the chautauqua will consist of Read these over carefully for they are of interest and will better acquaint you with the chautauqua people

Above all, don't forget the dates, July 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 FIVE BIG DAYS of wholesome amusement

A good way to spend the Fourth of July Take your family, have a picnic dinner and enjoy the chautauqua in the afternoon and evening

Remember get your season tickets now, it will save you money

FIRST M E CHURCH

A. H Meyer, Pastor

Praching service Sunday morning at 11:00 o'clock. Sunday School at the close of the preaching services

Union services in the evenidg at the English M E Church

Midweek prayermeeting on Tuesday evening. A hearty welcome to all who worship with us.

ENGLISH METHODIST CHURCH

Services next Sunday as follows: Morning worship at 10:30. Subject Sunday School following the morning service.

The evening song service and worship will be at 8:15. Some special music at each service. Everyone is cordially invited to all the services.

Well, Many Don't Seem to Have.

Robert was a thoughtful child and was used to reasoning out the "why" to his own questions. One day a little boy came in from next door. He asked questions continually and Robert finally looked at him curiously and said. "Haven't you a think of your own?"

About Stains on Marble.

For removing dirt stains on marble, gum arabic is excellent. Make a solution of gum arabic and water, letting it remain on until it dries. Then peel or wash it off, and the dirt comes with it.

Ye Editor answers "The call of the Wedding Bells"

Last Saturday afternoon R. A Jorgenson was breezing around the street of our little city, with a simle all over his 'map' and informed us all that he was going to take a "fishing trip" but Sunday evening accompanied by Harold Livermore of Garner autoed to Mason City and took the Choo-Choo Cars to Lincoln Nebraska where the propective bride, Miss Davis along with 'Little Dan Cupid" waited for him. If you had listened real close last Wednesdao you could have heard the Wild peal of the Wedding Bells We have thought for a long time that there was something decidedly wrong with Ye Editor but could not quite figure it out. Now it is'nt often we get to slip anything over on him so fish out those old shoes and bring out the dish pans as he intends to raurn the first part of next week and we'll show him how much we appreciate the great occasion.

WEST LAKE TO BE CONVERTED INTO PARK

According to the Kanawha Record of last week the citizens and business men of that town held a mass meeting Monday evening to arrange ways and means for making the east shore of West Lake into a beautiful park. They appointed committees to go ahead with the work

West Lake is a natural beauty spot, nicely wooded and has a fine sandy bathing beach. A few conveniences are all that is necessary to make the lake an ideal summer resort and park

The lake is within easy reach of Klemme folks and we predict they will spend many idle hours there

E P Hanson and family, of Garner, autoed over to Klemme last Friday evening. Mr Hanson lost a big cord tire from his carrier on the rear of the car when crossing the river bidge west of town, but did not notice it until he reached town. However, Levi Ridder found the tire and guessed that it belonged to Hanson as he had seen the car go by, so he brought the tire back to town and was given a nice reward for finding it. The tire was valued at $75

HERBERT BREDLOW IS B[ACK]

Soldier Who Was Reported Killed In Action Last Fall Visiting Klemme Relatives

Herbert Bredlow, who was reported killed in action on the battlefields of France last fall, arrived safe and sound at Camp Dodge and was mustered out of service Monday Herbert is a pretty much alive corpse and didn't know that he was supposed to be dead until his friends told him so Evidently some other soldier with a like name was killed and the confusion was caused in that manner

Herbert arrived in Klemme [Tuesday] afternoon and is now visiting with his brothter, Walter, for a [few days] when he will leave for his home in Vinita, Oklahoma, where his parents now reside

Young Bredlow [was in the service] about one year, and was over-seas all that time with the exception of less than two months

Tea Blending Practical Monopoly.

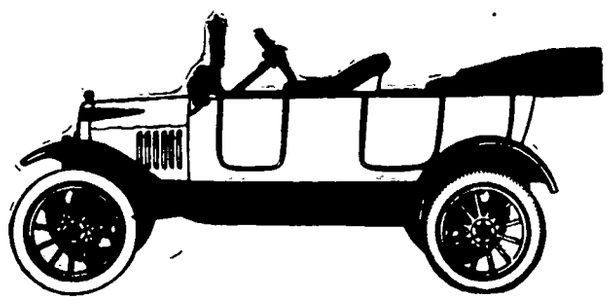
The business of tea blending is peculiarly British. For 100 years Mincing lane has blended tea for the whole world and brought the work into the region of an exact science.

Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

We are experienced, and know how to give sevice to the owners of Ford cars. We have the same methods, machinery and skill that they have in the Ford factory, and we use the same parts made by the Ford Motor Company. Ford owners are doubly guaranteed by us as to the reliability of our service on Ford cars. Don't try to do it yourself bring your car here. Incicentally we are getting a few Ford cars ane are able to make fairly good deliveries.

Touring Car, $525; Runabout, $500; One Ton Truck Chassis, $550; Coupe, $650; Sedan, $775. These prices f. o, b. Detroit.



E. G. ELL

Authorized Dealer

THE KLEMME TIMES

RAY A. JORGENSON, PUB.

KLEMME, IOWA

A plan to permanently eliminate strikes, lockouts and other labor troubles, was presented to the building trades department of the American Federation of Labor Thursday The proposal has the indorsement of Samuel Gompers. It provides for the creation of a national board of eight members for jurisdictional awards in the building industry, to be comprised of three international officials of the building trades department and one representative each for the American Institute of Architects, the Engineering Council, the Associated General Contractors of America the National Association of Builders Exchanges and the National Building Trades Employers' Association. The board is to have power to investigate all disputes and to make awards in ac-

Mayor Ole Hanson, of Seattle, denied the petition of the Mooney defense committee to hold a "Mooney tag day," saying The affair is to be handled by the central labor council, which body, I believe is absolutely under control of the reds I W W and bolshevists. It is neither for a charitable nor patriotic purpose but is, I am informed, for the purpose of paying I W W organizers to go throughout the land and foment disorder, with the object of overthrowing the government

The Milwaukee Journal has been awarded the Pulitzer medal, given by Columbia University for the most disinterested and meritorious service rendered by any American newspaper" during the past year. Only once before have its deserts judged any newspaper's claims to superiority sufficient to deserve it The Journal won it for its strong and courageous campaign for Americanism in a city where foreign elements made such a policy hazardous from a business point of view

Europe says Frank W Vanderlip, has received such a shock as cannot be measured by those who have not seen it at close range Men all over the country are idle The disorders are a result of want idleness and revolution and cannot be confined to any one locality Do not think that I am predicting a conflagration in Europe but I believe that continent is now balanced upon a knife edge that the future alone can tell whether there will be a conflagration or not

Merger of eight independent packing houses into one organization capitalized at $165 000 000, to operate in the United States Canada, and later in foreign countries is announced The identity of the packing houses involved was not disclosed Mr Imbrie stating that Mr Hawkinson would announce details of the merger next winter

Residents of Fairbanks Alaska living on the north fork of the Big Chena river, next fall plan to experiment in domesticating the wild Alaska caribou Should the experiment prove successfull Alaskans see the possibilities of a great industry which will provide an abundance of fine fresh meat for the interior, as well as choice morsels for export

When a Milwaukee family phoned to the employment service for a laundress, and was asked the usual question Why is the last one leaving? the surprised representative of the agency was told 'Her work was very satisfactory—she did our laundry work for 32 years, and we have pensioned her

A hollow 3 inch shell, fused to emit on striking a gas of smokelike density by day and luminous by night, and used to transmit messages from division headquarters to advanced or exposed positions, is another war time secret which has now been made public

That a letter addressed to the mayor of Pittsburgh was returned to the sender marked unknown by local postal authorities, was brought to light recently when Mayor E V Babcock received a communication from the mayor of Nancy, France, after it had been delayed eight months

In these days of strikes for seven and six-hour days the action of workmen at the Kiel docks in voting voluntarily to work eight rather than seven hours is so unusual that the papers call attention to it in special articles, says a Kiel dispatch

Chicago business men have been advised to open their doors and get their share of the foreign trade by Saburo Kurusu, Japanese consul "The usual plan in my country is to send all Japanese goods direct to New York,' Kurusu said

Abandonment of efforts of the National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage to prevent adoption of the suffrage amendment is favored by Mrs James W Wadsworth jr president of the association

The city council of Janesville, Wis, unanimously refused the Federation of Labor the use of the city hall for socialistic lectures although they were permitted the use of it to hear only local speakers

Congress is being flooded with pro-German propaganda It comes in the forms of accusation that the president has deceived the Germans, and in protests against the peace terms Most of it comes from Chicago

Direct telephone service between Key West and Havana will be a reality by December The submarine telephone cable connecting the mainland and Cuba, which was planned before the war, will be laid within the next few months

A movie man of Norwalk Ohio, keeps his theater dark for half a minute at the close of every unusually sentimental play to give the girls and—others—a chance to brush the tears away

All London is carefully scanning its treasury notes these days, following an announcement by Scotland Yard of a bolshevist conspiracy to fill the country with counterfeit money

Meat prices in New York city the first of this week were Breast of veal, 18c to 20c, pot roast, 30c to 34c; chuck steak, 24c to 26c, lamb chops, 18c to 24c, veal chops, 28c, to 30c, spring lamb 30c

Ruth Law who recently announced she would attempt a trans-Atlantic airplane flight this summer, says she will go over the route Harry Hawker attempted to use from Newfoundland to Ireland

Planting of flowers to replace vegetables in the great round of the fountain garden at Hamuton Court has been commenced in anticipation of the next invasion of American tourists, says London

Only by buying coal now, so that the miners will have work and will continue to mine coal, can a very serious situation be averted, says Professor Garfield

The Belgian socialist party has decided to present President Wilson while he is in Brussels with an address dealing with the treaty of peace

The sum of $34 200 was subscribed for the fifth Liberty loan by a handful of American naval officers, sailors and white civilians in Pagopago, American Samoa.

On the first day American bacon was on sale in Cobienz butcher shops a crowd of more than 200 Germans formed in line awaiting their turn at the counter

The increase of a single pair of rats in five years has been calculated at 940,-369 969 152 rats. One pair of rats may raise 880 descendants in a year.

Standardizing Houses.

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Nothing so differentiates Europe from America as the complete failure over there to standardize articles of convenience and comfort which here are produced in wholesale and with such perfection as to meet all demands. While a large part of Europe depends, for instance, upon the individual tailor, we have long since solved the question of standardized clothes, and from Maine to Oregon, Canada to the Gulf, the smartness of the American man yields nothing to the chicness of the standardized shirtwaist girl of fiction and the fashion plates. Our standardized shoes have conquered the world, and the same is true of many of our engineering products, not excluding bridge spans, as Egypt and India well know.

Now comes a widely known architect, Grosvenor Atterbury, who has advised the New York Reconstruction Commission that the solution of the house famine is the production of "ready-made houses." This is hardy, however, a new idea or a novel one. Edison took a hand at it some years ago, and the advertising pages exploit numerous styles and makes of portable houses which have gone all around the world to meet necessities resulting from flood and earthquake as well as simple social needs at home. The appeal of this type of house for more than casual summer experience in this country is very compelling But Mr. Atterbury quite extends this idea and generalizes it for all kinds of living. As he sees it, the "ready-made house" has a great advantage over the individual house, since it represents "organized construction, cooperation against disjointed individual effort, and standardization against constructional chaos".

From the Milwaukee Journal

Someone has said that we should try to make "the thirst for real education take the place of the thirst for money making" By "real education" this person doubtless meant education as an end in itself and not as a means to money making The trouble with our education today is that it is made a task How many who go to school or college acquire a real liking for their studies so that when they are through with school they will keep on studying all of their lives just for the pleasure and profit they get out of it?

Amenities of Rural Life.

From the London Times.

Sir Henry Rew presided over the first general meeting of the Village Clubs Association, which was held at 80, Pall Mall He said that the development commissioners had been approached with a view to a government grant to assist in the purposes of the association. These are to promote the formation of clubs in all the villages of the country which shall be self supporting and free from the element of patronage, open to all the inhabitants of the village, without distinction of class or opinion, and controlled by committees elected by the members."

Though the association has not yet received very substantial pecuniary support, its propaganda has attracted considerable attention in the country, where enlightened rural reformers agree that no permanent revival of agriculture is possible without an accompanying increase in the amenities of village life.

To Washington's Ancestor.

From London Landmark.

A correspondent in a recent issue of the Morning Post, writing in connection with the Washington birthday celebrations, draws attention to the fact that the great president's ancestor, Laurence Washington, who died in 1619, at Maidstone, Kent, is buried in the grand old Church of All Saints, where there is a mural tablet recently restored, with the arms surmounted by the Stars and Stripes with the following quaint inscription Spoiled by War Wages.

From the Oregon Journal.

How many youths have been spoiled by wartime pay in the shipyards? Money was easy for them while the jobs lasted. Four, five and even six dollars a day for boys of 18 and even less seemed almost a fortune made over night. It came easy and, in some cases, went easy. A dealer tells how boys of 17 and 18 bought necktier at $3.50 per, sometimes taking two and paying the cash without batting an eye.

'I will not work for $2.25 or $2.50 a day," is the remark now of some of the lads to persons offering them employment It is quite natural The thought of the boy is that he got twice that much before and that he can always get as much He hasn't in the hard school of experience reasoned it out that those were wartime days, that the government and the people weren't thinking of money, but of ships, ships to build a bridge to Pershing

275,000 Manufacturing Establishments.

From Ole Hanson Address

In 1850 we had 123,000 manufacturing establishments, in 1880, 250,000, in 1900, the progress of consolidation had reduced this number to 207,000, and today we have but 275,000 such establishments, or about the same number that we had 40 years ago.

On Borrowing.

Some unknown one has said:
He doubles
His troubles
Who borrows
Tomorrows.

And I venture to add:
That he owes Tomorrow's debts
Who pays
Today's.

—From the Persian, by W R. Alger

OUR ORDERS.

Weave no more silks, ye Lyons looms,
To deck our girls for gay delights!
The crimson flower of battle blooms,
And solemn marches fill the nights.

Weave but the flag whose bars today
Drooped heavy o'er our early dead,
And homely garments, coarse and gray,
For orphans that must earn their bread

Keep back your tunes, ye viols sweet,
That poured delight from other lands!
Rouse there the dancer's restless feet—
The trumpet leads our warrior bands.

And ye that wage the war of words
With mystic fame and subtle power,
Go chatter to the idle birds,
Or teach the lesson of the hour

Ye Sibyl Arts, in one stern knot
Be all your offices combined!
Stand close, while Courage draws the lot,
The destiny of human kind.

And if that destiny could fail,
The sun should darken the sky,
The eternal bloom of Nature pale
And God and Truth and Freedom die!

MORTALS MORTE IMMORTALS.

Here rested the body of Laurence Washington, Esq, of the family of the Washingtons, antientlie of Washington, in the Countie Palatine of Durham, Register of the Highe Court of Chancery xxvii yeares. He had two wyfs, Martha, daughter of Clement Newce, of Hartfordshire, Esq., and Mary, daughter of Sir Raynold Scott, of this Countie, Knight, * * * He havinge lived a Vertuous life of Singular Intiecrity in this place, being of the age of lxxvii years, died the xxi of December, A. D. 1619.

A faithful believer in the merrits and mercies of his Saviour
To whose memeory his Sonne hath erected this monument
Though after my skinne Wormes destroy this Body, yet I shall see God in my flesh

America Must Conserve.

From Bulletin of Department of Commerce.

The war is not ended! America is engaged in a struggle which knows no armistice or peace terms. The struggle for the preservation of our national resources, bitter in the past, has been but intensified by the war. The unprecedented demand for raw material, so essential to the needs of our war industries, intensified the conservation and utilization of waste material. This has resulted in a scarcity of the substitutes for virgin raw material, and unless our efforts for conservation are continued, the natural resources must be utilized as soon as our industries resume operation at full capacity.

Waste material is the protector of our natural resources. Waste paper, rags, and other waste material can be used in new forms, thereby decreasing the annual consumption of virgin material. The conservation of this material must be continued in order to save our natural wealth for future needs.

The present turn-in of waste material, resulting from the spring collections, is indicative of the influence of the war The waste dealers report that this is the lightest collection in the history of the trade. The cause of this lies in several factors. The volunteer movement for collection of waste material resulted in a tremendous turn-in during the last two years. Civic bodies, charitable organizations and women's clubs all contributed to this movement of waste material which brought to the market the accumulations of regions heretofore untouched by the commercial collector

A second factor lies in our relief and recreational work overseas. Thousands of tons of worn clothing, which in the ordinary course of events would have been remanufactured in the waste industry, have been sent overseas to clothe the destitute of Europe. Thousands of tons of books, papers and magazines, which can be utilized in the manufacture of other grades of paper, were sent to our troops overseas This material will be discarded in foreign fields, thereby decreasing to an appreciable degree the amount of raw material available for the manufactories of this country

The third cause lies in the price situation Waste material prices have been steadily declining since last fall The collectors and assorters have been forced to stay out of the market, which in many instances has resulted in the destruction of waste material in the home or the factory The consuming mills, meeting a lull in the orders, have released their orders and the organized commercial field for conservation now has a strengthening note, but when the demand comes, the shortage of material will be felt and prices will increase and will doubtless be maintained for some time

BUILT IN CALIFORNIA BIGGEST FISH CANNERY

From the Commercial and Financial World.

Among the progressive industries of this country is the canning of fish sardines, salmon, etc. Not many people have ever visited a canning plant but hundreds of thousands have seen the various processes reproduced by the moving pictures. Great credit is due to the able men who have brought the industry to its present state of perfection. As a matter of fact, some of the ablest business men during the last few years have revolutionized its methods.

These remarks are suggested by a study of the remarkable work that is being done by the Nielsen & Kittle Canning Company, Ltd., of East San Pedro, Cal., who have just completed at that place what is undoubtedly the largest and most complete sardine cannery in the world

It appears that A F Kittle who has been in the fish canning business in Norway for about 15 years, was sent to investigate the possibilities of the fish industry of the southern California coast. As a result he found that the finest sardines in the world were found in California waters. As a consequence of these investigations the company under notice was established about a year ago with a capitalization of $500,000. A plant was built and placed in operation at East San Pedro Cal., which is near San Pedro, the harbor of Los Angeles. The output of this plant—sardines, tuna fish, etc met with immediate public favor The consequence was that the original facilities became wholly inadequate, and so this new plant has been built, which as already indicated, the largest and best equipped in the world of its kind It has a capacity of from 7,000 to 9,000 cases per day

The new plant is a two-story brick structure of 200x310 feet, and from 700 to 1,000 hands are employed in it during the busy season There is a remarkably fine equipment of the latest and most improved machinery, by means of which the fish is put through 11 different operations being touched by human hands only twice from the time it is taken from the water until it is packed in cans ready for shipment.

The company has its own fishing fleet of 50 boats, which operate in California waters Some 350 men are employed on these boats

The principal business of the company is the canning of fancy sardines in imported olive oil and the canning of tuna fish But it also has a special oil department and also manufactures fish oil and fertilizer by-products.

The president of the company is Carl O Nielsen, who is at present in Norway for the purpose of securing a force of expert Norwegian fish canners to work in the company's plant They are expected to reach this country in the near future Mr Nielsen divides his time between Norway and California, making several trips a year in the interests of the company

Vice president and manager A F Kittle, through whose personal efforts this great industry was founded, believes that there is a brilliant future for the fish canning industry in California.

The Borrower.

I used to have a host of friends, but now I walk alone, a cheerless sky above me bends, my heart feels like a stone. I once had friends in hut and hall, in mansion and in shack; I borrowed coin from one and all, and failed to hand it back, and now no pleasant smiles I see, I've won such punk renown; no window has a light for me, in all the clammy town I once was welcome in the homes of sages and of seers, and there I borrowed treasured tomes, and kept them seven years And now the sages view my face with sorrow and disdain, and seers remark I ought to chase myself into drain. I borrowed Thompson's loving cup, and Jackson's safety shears, and Hirma Bostwick's setter pup, and Watson's brindled steers. I borrowed Wilson's fountain pen, the best in all the grad; I borrowed Simpson's setting hen, and Ecdall's liver pad. I borrowed this, I borrowed that, from every one I knew, a squirt gun and a stovepipe hat, and then an oyster stew And now I go my way alone, devoid of joy and mirth, and neighbors say they'd give a bone if I'd fall off the earth. Light criticisms men will pass on those who boldly steal, but for the borrower, alas, no sympathy they feel.

Steel at Old Tricks.

From the New York World.

After all that has happened in the way of cooperation for war and generous price fixing by the government, it is a disagreeable surprise to learn that the responses of the steel makers to the navy department's proposals for bids for plates to be used in the construction of battle ships authorized by the late congress were identical, "showing no indication of competition"

During the years preceding the war the complaint was that our manufacturers of steel charged their own government much more than foreign purchasers, and various investigations by congress established the fact It was proved also that in the matter of armor plates designed for American ships, blow holes and other imperfections were concealed or passed by benevolent inspectors.

The navy department meets the new issue by commandeering steel at a price "subject to later adjustment," but it ought not to be necessary to remind the steel industry that laws intended to meet such collusive bidding as it has resorted to in this instance are still in force.

Canada's Wealth.

From Commercial World.

R. H. Coats, dominion statistician, in an article in the "Monetary Times Annual," estimates the wealth of Canada at between $16,000,000,000 and $17 000,000,000. Agricultural production for 1918 was almost $2,000,000,000.

All Tired Out.

From the Washington Star

"Money is circulating very fast," remarked the economist.

"Yes," replied the ordinary person, "by the time a dollar bill gets around to me it is so tired that it can't do anything like the work it used to."

Representative Kitchin, democrat, who led the opposition to the suffrage amendment in the House, congratulated republicans "on their quick response" to President Wilson's message recommending immediate adoption of the amendment. "Within less than 24 hours of this recommendation," he said, "republicans loyally carried out the president's bidding."

New Gold State.

From the San Francisco Chronicle.

The statehood of Nevada was a product of the Civil war At the time it was not supposed to be much of a state, except in area but was needed for political reasons. But it has kept fooling the country ever since When they began to dig out silver by the ton from the Comstock groups of mines, Nevada lost its original name of the Sagebrush State,' and became known to the whole world as the 'Silver State.' And in those days silver was a metal which mankind set great store by, as it seems likely to do again if one may judge by the price it brings since Uncle Sam got off the lid But recent developments in the Divide district seem to indicate another change of name for they say that the gold is so thick just a little under the surface that the owners of the mines refuse to dig it lest they be ruined by the excess profits tax They just take out a shovelful or two from time to time to pay living expenses and sit tight over the whole where they took it out till they need a little more Possibly, also, these mine owners are influenced by patriotism as not wishing to disturb values by flooding the world with gold and thus adding to the economic confusion California has hitherto taken pride in calling itself the "Golden State," but even in Nevada they are getting ready to demand the belt and the title and say they are going to get it.

Bismarck's Fruits.

From the Kansas City Star

The latest biographer of Bismarck, C Grant Robertson, calls attention to the way in which the great German chancellor was responsible for his own destruction. It was Bismarck's aim to build, not a constitutional government, but an autocracy In himself he concentrated the whole power of the state.

Then came the young William II to the throne, restless and ambitious. The two clashed Had Bismarck been the parliamentary sovereign it would have been William who would have had to give way For the chancellor had the confidence of the nation But, as Mr Robertson says, while a plebiscite would have retained him in office, the nation could not save him. He had made that impossible. As a result of his fall Bismarck denounced as "Byzantinism and Caesar worship" this very irresponsible power which it had been his life work to build up.

The same ironical fate may be traced in the further development of Bismarck's handiwork The state which he founded on iron and blood came to ruin by attempting to expand his policy

In the long run, honesty is the best policy, even in international affairs.

COST AND WORTH.

Thus it is all over the earth'
That which we call the fairest
And prize for its exceeding worth
Is always rarest.

Iron is heaped in mountain piles,
And gluts the ragged forges,
But gold flakes gleam in dim defiles
And lonely gorges.

The snowy marble flecks the land
With heaped and rounded ledges,
But diamonds hide within the sand
Their starry edges.

God gives no value unto man
Unmatched by meed of labor;
And cost to worth has ever been
The closest neighbor

Insurmountable "If."

From the Boston Transcript

In course of time the railroads' deficit, under government control, would be large enough to buy the whole system, were it a surplus instead

He Keepeth Watch.

By Newell Dwight Hillis.

The careers of great men illustrate the trifling events that lead to kings' palaces and sometimes to the poorhouse In general, the architect of his own fortune, but in particular, much depends Recently, one of our most honored marine architects celebrated his day. All about were hung photographs of the many wonderful had built. Concerning an old friend, this architect related a fascinating Just before the close of the civil war, the government let a contract to H. Webb to build a battleship named the "Dundenburg" This ship feet long, had a butcher-knife bow, the wooden sides were covered and a half inch steel, the port holes bristled with cannon, and knots an hour. This warship was to be the unrivalled dreadnaught time. Suddenly the war closed. Wages went up by leaps and bounds navy department held Mr. Webb to his original contract After several when the battleship was ready for delivery, the contractor stood to 000,000 and was practically bankrupt.

Meanwhile the builder was in despair, and waited from day to day bankers to sell out his collateral, and so announce the ruin of his career. Then a trifle intervened. During the autumn of 1869, a business man went to Berlin. One day, at dinner in a hotel, this heard a conversation between two German officers. The one said to that Bismarck would hardly declare war on France before the harvest and that he looked for orders of mobilization about August 1. promptly notified Webb, then hanging midway between hope and despair rumor that Germany would declare war upon France became current in gton, and reached the ears of the French ambassador. One day brought Webb an offer from the French government, and with the the United States the battleship was sold to France for $3,500,000. bankers had received what they loaned, and the government had no advancements, Webb would still have left over $1,000,000 representing ity, experience and labors.

One day in the highest spirits, Mr. Webb and his banker went to wharf to see the battleship sail away. When it disappeared beyond rows, both returned to their offices. At daybreak, on the second morning was astounded by the news that his ship had returned Engine trouble veloped. In that emergency a distinguished marine architect, Frank was called in. After a few hours' study of the blueprints he suggested two days' time, in correcting the fault, and a second trip the ship France. In that hour the architect noticed the builder Webb was with strained face and tense limbs watching the sun recede from Finally he broke into these words: "If she arrives, it is heaven if she it is hell. On the one hand is home success, a comfortable old age of friends; on the other is bankruptcy, failure, poverty a broken heart It is as uncertain as the toss of a coin." Ten days passed by brought the news that the French government had accepted the ship made its payment. In one hour, as it were, the man paid his notes bank, bought a house on Fifth avenue, near the old Fifth avenue hotel, lived out in happiness, success and prosperity. Napoleon used to say that five minutes at Waterloo when it was the toss of a copper which way went. During two and a half of the minutes he was certain that would bring him to a golden house in Paris; the next three minutes he was started towards St. Helena. The line betwixt failure and sometimes as narrow as a knife edge. It is this consideration that leads feel that "There's a divinity that shapes our ends, rough-hew them will," and that in the shadow behind every great cause stands One who watch above His own.

His Real Location.

From the Boston Transcript.

"Does Cholly live on the avenue?"

"No, Cholly lives on his father, who lives on the avenue."

Extra Work Now.

From the Detroit News.

She—Oh, Carl, there was once a time when you used to lovingly stroke my chin You don't do it any more.

He—Yes, but that was when you had only one.

Don't Be in a Hurry With Little Jim.

Don't be in a hurry with little Jim,
God knew 'twould take years for a man to grow
He knew the job would be very slow,
So don't you be in a hurry with Jim.
Perhaps Jim is wasteful, perhaps he is slow,
Perhaps doesn't think that his elders know,
Well, that's the way God grows a man.
If it could be done better (you know God can),
He would have tried some other plan.
Yes, but He didn't; so don't you fret,
Jim stumbles today but he'll come right yet.
God knew 'twould take years to grow a man,
He knew the job would be slow and long,
To grow a man with a will that is strong,
A will that will break every stone in his way,
A will that will climb to God's mountain height,
A will that will bend every force to the right,
A will that will bring a new, glorious day,
If God can wait for little Jim,
Then don't you be in a hurry with him.

—Eleanor Scott Sharples.

Official Rat Catchers.

From the London Times.

At the board of agricultural it was stated that the great campaign against rats is being pressed with energy and success Latest reports showed that at Liverpool, for instance, rats were being destroyed at the rate of 70,000 per annum The corporation employed five official rat catchers working under the direction of the medical officer of health.

Manchester is another center from which an active campaign is being organized. Ships are being fumigated with sulphur dioxide. A local rat catching company is doing much business in trapping rats on board ships, while the Ship Canal Company is cleaning the warehouses and transport sheds. Bootle has employed an official rat catcher, and many other towns have followed suit. Lincoln is supplying the catchers with poison, while some county boroughs are paying the catchers by the head.

How War Weddings End.

From the New York Sun.

The war bride who expected sympathy from the court because she had not had time to take a careful look at her intended in the wee hours between meeting and marriage deserves little indulgence if any. She married heedlessly and must take the consequences, or some of them at least.

That we hear no more complaint than we do about the war matches proves that haste and heedlessness are different things. The stir of war precipitated goodness knows how many thousands of sudden weddings. Some of them would never have taken place otherwise, and the rest, with few exceptions, would have eventuated in marriage only after the

BABY IN THE W

A man came to see me on mission a few days ago. He know where he could put a old baby for two weeks. fairly well informed well dr probably of foreign birth, a in a fairly prosperous board section. This is what he sa

"My wife waited five years had a baby. We said we wou any, but some folks got talk and they changed her mind. I'll tell you, we are sorry. she has got it she wishes have it. It cries all the time, nights.

"No, she don't nurse it condensed milk Some friend to wean it. They said it wo trouble that way You bet her in bad. Yes, we give the kind. You know we board, is no place to keep milk. W icebox and do not get ice.

"The baby is 4 months course, we feed it nights. It she has to do something. S when it cries. It don't have time to eat. O, yes it's a bi

"I've lost 20 pounds and m is about sick. What we wan is where we can put the about two weeks, so me an can catch up on sleep"

There is more than one les conversation. For one thing, told this wife that breast fe more trouble than bottle fe lot of people think that, and reason for the weaning of young babies. Breast feedi less trouble even when th healthy. When we take into tion the much greater likeli the bottle fed baby will suf illness the advantage is see on the side of breast feeding

Another thing this baby trained. Probably wrong tr larger factor than wrong fe

To begin with, the moth have much mother instinct, learned more about volun control than she had about m Even after her baby came sh ing to wean it because som her that she would save he trouble. The result of it all baby is ill tempered and a husband must pay the pen is, unless they can hire som to care for the baby while and get back the 20 pounds customary time passed in hos ship. We fail to note any quency of early marital di than in the days of longer eng

Except against the delibera an impostor the judgment awake young man or woman prospective spouse is pretty em fairer sex, as all know, have gifht which, though it seems protection in business affai them to measure the person men by some sort of lightni tion. Love blinds, indeed, b after this measure has been time that follows, a time o gives the true lover no oppo change of mind.

As the Archbishop Said.

From the New York Post.

The world is longing to get to peace and to get to busine legitimate obstacles still are in the way, but too many ill Among the latter are needless mountains of words. These a to prove what everybody takes for granted. The German de Versailles are to issue a huge book in order to demonstrate don't like the peace treaty. A gesture, a monosyllable, w as well answered that purpose. In Washington senators ha upon what even the New York Sun correspondent describes versational Marathon lasting several months." And its ob show that they hate the president. But all will admit it w bate. The long distance senatorial orators also desire to e Wilson's inconsistency. Concede that. He has been glarin sistent. So have all leaders and both parties been. Blunder lies have been displayed on all sides. But of what avail to d wearisome detail the painful record? Let us, as the archb Canterbury said to profane Lord Melbourne, consider every b ciently damned, and get to busi ess.

The Verdict of the Judges.

By Newell Dwight Hillis.

...received the news of the sinking of the Lusitania with cheers ...the workmen left the shops, the children the schools, and with ...united over the drowning of hundreds of women and children ...to an hour, the judge pronounced the verdict of doom upon ...Instead of cheers Berlin has sobs. For the next 100 years ... day will be the day of humiliation, grief, sackcloth ... world's black flood of scorn and contempt, so long dammed up ... all barriers. The full force of the contempt of civilized men ... man into a pitiable, shivering, terror stricken criminal ... come for Germany. Her every sin was a seed big with ... world has been assembled in one vast court room Germany ... dock. The allies judged her! The sentence is Guilty ... their shame the Germans could gladly call upon the ... fall upon them and hide them from the face of a just God and an ... nation.

...many tried to steal four little lands; she has now lost seven ... of her territory.

...grabbed Moselle-Meurthe; she lost Alsace and Lorraine ...obtain $5,000,000,000 from Belgium; forced to disgorge the loot, ...Belgium two provinces in addition.

...sunk the Lusitania and 4,006 British ships, she has to give up ...entire fleet, 5,000,000 tons of shipping and must build 1,000,000 ... before she can have a merchant fleet of her own ...discounted her treaties "scraps of paper," now she has to support ...armies of occupation, who with bayonet compel her to ... every jot and tittle of her new treaty. At point of ... no more playing fast and loose with the written word.

...forced concessions and gotten control of the undeveloped ...of certain weak communities, now all those concessions as to ...ships, mines, special trade privileges, have reverted as indemnities ...whom she has injured.

...scoffed at little nations, denied them their rights of self-determination, now Germany is herself reduced to the level of a weak power ...without army and navy is in the condition of a criminal ...stripes and working as a convict at the task prescribed by ... powers.

...August of 1914 the kaiser wrote to Franz Joseph "I must ... millions of men, women, the aged and children like ... in this war." Now the sheriff is to lead the kaiser to the dock, and he is to be tried as a common criminal.

Germany had a soul, but the "soul that sinneth shall die" and ... lost their own soul. The wise man said, "He who sinneth against ... his own soul." Germany's sins in retrospect seem sheer ...

AMERICAN KNIGHTS.

...are you a Knight Bannaret? ...are you a knight? What are ...and also the titles squire ...they are the ranks in a new ...society something like the ...Odd Fellows, Knights of Columbus, the B'nai B'rith.

...the badges the children are ...they are the badges of the ...Crusaders—the lodge in ...ranks are page, squire, ...knight bannaret.

...the right to wear these ...badges? School teachers ...for the purpose.

...all about? It is an order ...the National Tuberculosis ...get the children to follow ...health habits. Presently the ...children will be grown ...if they stick to their good ...our country will be ...and the examiners for the ...will not need to scrap so ...

...ample of the health rules: ...windows open or stay out ...you sleep, play, work, or ...fresh air always and ...nose. Take 10 deep ...day.

...wholesome food, including ...vegetables, and chew it ...Avoid greasy, fried food, ...heavy pie and cake. Eat ...none that is impure. Drink ...water and use your own ...tea or coffee. Never take ...or other alcoholic drinks, ...drinks containing injurious ...not smoke or use tobacco ...

...sure that everything you put ...mouth is clean. Wash your ...before eating or handling ...your ears and neck as well ...and clean your finger ...day. Bathe your whole ...a week at least and shampoo. Brush your teeth thoroughly ...day, after breakfast and ...all cavities in your teeth ...dentist twice a year. ...and exercise every day in ...Sit and stand straight. ...regular time every day for at ...to toilet and each need of ...Whenever you cough or ...your head aside and cover ...with your handkerchief. ...spit, spit only where it ...proved before a person or ...touch it. Have a complete ...examination each year.

...long night's sleep; get up ...keep your clothes neat, ...shoes, before going to ...keep your mind clean and ...helpful to others.

...happens to live in Oklahoma ...state society will furnish ...primer in which the health ...told in rhyme. The primer ...rules and gives the task necessary and concludes with ...which the score card can be ...

...are eligible to these ranks ...boys.

Why Note Writing.

From the Dallas News.

...the reason the peace conference, requiring the German delegates their objections to the ...in writing was the belief ...world progress would be made ...discussion were allowed. ...other was the belief that this ...communication would better emphasize the fact that the terms of peace ...dictated rather than negotiated. ...Perhaps the allied representatives hardly avoid giving reasons ...as the Germans should object, ...in written answers to ...points they can confine themselves ...more statement of their demands. ...procedure must lend some ...to the fact that the terms of ...imposed by the sword, and are ...not subject to negotiation, as ...is meant implied by a joint declaration ...propriety of every one of ...

Time Now for Her.

From the Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

...servant girl was told to order ...vegetables at the grocer's. After ...she was asked for, the trades-...

"...Mistress want any horse-...radish? Some just in, nice and ...

...replied indignantly, "Mary ...she don't want no such a ...keeps a motor car!"

Song of Harmony Town.

From the Boston Transcript.

...the Boston Transcript.

...hates darning and mending," ...rules. Just now I can't even ...patch up a quarrel."

QUARANTINES TOO LONG?

Dr. H. W. Hill thinks the ... periods established for ... of contagin maintained by ... partments are too long. In an investigation of 240 cases of whooping cough he found that with a four weeks' isolation there would be development of contact cases in only 2 per cent of the cases.

If, in 100 cases of whooping cough a good quarantine was kept for four weeks and then lifted and the whooping child was allowed to mix with other children, only two cases of the disease would develop among the contacts.

Termination of diphtheria quarantine by two negative cultures does not result in so low a rate. A three weeks' isolation period only gave a rate of 5 per cent.

An investigation of 151 cases of mumps indicated that the isolation period could be two weeks or even less. With an isolation period of three weeks nine cases developed. When the period was two weeks only 4 per cent of the cases caused the disease in contacts. Many cases seemed to be noncontagious after seven days.

A study of 451 cases of measles indicated that two weeks was long enough as an isolation period. The study indicated that if 100 cases of measles was kept isolated for two weeks and then allowed to mingle freely with other children, the disease developed in no less than 2 per cent of susceptible contacts.

The study indicated that in isolation period of one week was long enough for German measles.

For scarlet fever an isolation period of five weeks seemed necessary. Even after five weeks the case was likely to be contagious if the tonsils were swollen or the ears were discharging or there was any discharge elsewhere. There is even room for thinking that the cases with enlarged glands were contagious for more than five weeks.

It was suggested that an isolation period of three weeks for ... paralysis and two weeks for cerebro-spinal meningitis were long enough.

These are shorter isolation periods than are at present employed. If they are reasonably safe there would be a great saving of time if they were adopted. People would be more apt to report contagion and to obey the law during isolation. The argument in favor of the shorter periods is strong. The only question is as to the safety of the changes. Hill's study indicates that they would be safe enough to commend them to good judgment.

Why Sims Can't Run

From the Buffalo News.

The hunt for presidential ... goes merrily on, with the military men getting the greater share of consideration. General Pershing and General Wood have had most attention and Admiral Sims has been mentioned as a likely candidate. The country has never had a sailor for president—not even as a nominee. For some reason or another the men of the navy have no taste for politics. They appear to be quite content with their calling and willing to let others look after governmental affairs. Admiral Sims deserves well of America. He represented this country splendidly in British waters during the war, but as a presidential candidate he is out of the question. Not that he is wanting in qualifications for the office, but it happens that he was not born in America. Canada is the country of his nativity. The constitution stands against him.

* * * *

Editorial comment on Admiral Sims as presidential timber is timely and interesting. However, he is not debarred on account of his Canadian birth. At the time of Admiral Sims' birth his parents, who belonged to old line families in central Pennsylvania, were temporarily sojourning in Canada, where I believe his father was acting as superintendent of railway construction but they soon after returned to Pennsylvania and for many years his father was superintendent of the Huntingdon & Broad Top Railroad, an important coal carrying road.—Letter to New York Sun.

Season Is On.

Customer—I'd like to get a hat.
Country Storekeeper (a bit deaf)—Hey?
Customer—No, straw.

Hold On to 'Em.

From Answers, London.

"The professor seems to be a man of rare gifts," remarked Mrs. Naybor.

"He is," agreed the professor's wife. "He hasn't given me one since we were married."

From the Edinburgh Scotsman.

Nan—Did you notice how dreadfully that piano needs tuning?

Fan—Why, no dear! I thought it barmonised superbly with your voice.

Like to Show Legal Acumen.

From the New York Times.

It is all very well for republican lead... to be opposed to the League ... will be unanimous on ... that they will get some ... Let the Irish and ... Senators are not ... in their ... the people ... phe... brings ... League ... long-law... light in ... National ... Every ... of ... If the de... parti... will re... which to ... fly will ... coun... ble re... the ... States be...

The Wheat Problem Today

... ...es of ... nor ... zeal ... warn ... Wheat ... was ... of ... it was ... to ... ...

The war has restored the thought of the world upon food as ... by a ... have ... American ... problem ... such ... possible ... to double ... bushels ...

The Sentence of the Kaiser.

Correspondence Hue.

We are ... Wrath of Hohenzollern will not be ... the quick death of a bullet, the ... or the noose of a beggar.

The ... to banishment to ... ... rock far away from ... his jailers ... his presence bar of ... against all people ... all his intercourse with human beings to be confined to his warders.

If the writer ... to suggest some fitting ... for his future, he would ... the verdict:

It is ... and decreed ... that his ... face inside of one ... mile from each of the allied nations so ... by the war that the prisoner never could pass ... without being ... that his infamy ... 5,000,000 ... lives. His household shall consist of one cook she to be a Belgian mother whose daughters were ... and whose sons were slain; one ... lad ... whose right hand was cut off by the ... soldiers of the kaiser ... he might never raise a rifle for France; one housekeeper she to be a Canadian woman whose husband was crucified on a barn at Ypres.

Pessimism.

This good old world's a daisy, a place that ought to charm the fellows ... with alarm ... that doubts ... that coming years ... safe and sure ... that ... will be ... a Because ... some ... back a few or ... sophers ... Because for ... we ... of cash ... the ... shortly ... The ... of ... ... of ... casts ... chaos for ... hopes ... The ... is ... ... for ... enjoys but still ... an ... amount of useless ... It thinks ... would be a scandal ... to wear a hopeful smile, but searches ... with a candle to find a jug of brew. Just now we should be cheerful and shedding ... and fun since we have whipped ... horrid and most blameworthy Hun. The problems that confront us we'll solve. I'll bet a bone and ... troubles hunt us, let's leave such things alone.

Mexico's Floating Gardens.

From the San Francisco Chronicle.

The so-called floating gardens of Mexico do not live up to their name for they have never been known to float but they do supply the capital of Mexico with a large part of its flowers and vegetables.

To get to these stationary floating gardens you hire a canal boat and are shoved and poled along the Viga canal as part of a boat parade which cannot be escaped because it is perpetual. The gardens are far up the canal. They are square patches of island covered to overflowing some with flowers of every hue and others with homely vegetables. They are literally the garden spots of Mexico.

Though the gardens do not float, they have their unusual points. They did not just happen like most islands but are made by the gardeners or their predecessors. Masses of water hyacinths and other water plants were thrown into the water and on top of that a layer of earth. The hyacinth roots floated down to the canal bed and moored the garden, and the gardeners immediately went to work.

Among those who are expected to quit their war jobs within the next few months are Herbert Hoover, Vance McCormick, of the war trade board, Bernard Baruch, of the war industries board, Joe Creel, of public information, Harry Garfield, of the fuel administration, and Edward N. Hurley, of the shipping board, says a Washington correspondent. In addition, friends of Secretary of War Baker say that he desires to relinquish his portfolio in the cabinet as soon as the president feels he can spare him.

National Agitation Only.

From the Chicago News.

This is not a nation of idiots. It can listen to bad advice and arrive at good decisions. I listened to a great deal of bad advice extremely eloquently presented ... for silver. It chose gold. It listened to a great deal of bad advice, presented by men of the highest ability, in favor of letting the south go in the '60s. It did let the south. This country is a country ... in its wits. It keeps them sound through exercise. The only way to ... the good judgment of the American people is to do to the American people what ... did to the Russians—prevent them from hearing and weighing arguments and thus exercising and ... their political intelligence.

The ... part of bolshevism is not ... It is treats. That is the part ... tolerated.

A ... editorial put at the head of his ... a short time ago the words "For a Revolution by Peaceful Means." ... What did he mean? He ... only one thing. He meant that ... and his fellow radicals failed to ... the government at the polls ... if ... a majority they would, ... attack the majority and ... government by shooting the ... submission.

He ... all men like him should be effectively ... that the United States ... is not Germany. The United ... has had self government for a ... and it has had a great ... in dealing with ... violent minorities in ... America ... not win. The loyalists of the ... Eighteenth century had a big ... disagreeable fuss. The secessionists of ... Nineteenth century, who ... return Washington but ... from its jurisdiction, ... their own part of the ... brought back. They were ... proceeding under a real ... but they tried ... the American ma... majority broke them to ... out ... ... every ... Americans ... Russian scheme ... on the necks of ... United States will have ... from their graves. ... discernment, but it ... exonerate. It should leave ... to advocate any peace... ... of industry that may ... It should take every ... who threat... ... against the govern... ... Washington and it should put ... American nation has long ... stopped to put its declared enemies ... under restraint or beyond need ... restraint.

Sulgrave Manor.

From the Christian Science Monitor.

Doubtless it was another "result of the war" when King George headed the subscription list for the restoration and maintenance of Sulgrave manor, Northampton. Many citizens of the United States, it is safe to suspect, have never heard of Sulgrave manor, much less are ... aware that the old manor house ... decorated with a coat of arms and ... blue crest showing the Stars and Stripes from which, it is quite reasonably believed originated those of the United States flag. Yet Lawrence Washington bought the house from Henry VIII some 400 years ago, and in it lived the Washington family from which George Washington of Mt. Vernon, Va., was descended. The subscription mounts rapidly and Sulgrave manor will doubtless become a permanent token of Anglo-Saxon ... temporarily broken by the American ... descendant of the ancient house but in the long run, and by la... unanimous agreement, for the good of both England and America.

The Red Serial.

From the Providence Journal.

Here are two items which are commended to the attention of parlor bolshevists and all those weak or mentally perverted persons who are inclined to look with sentimental toleration on the Lenine-Trotzky regime.

Stockholm—The bolshevists are carrying out a rapid and systematic annihilation of all the bourgeois elements in Riga, according to reports from Libau. Victims said to number 7,000, including women and children, have been taken to the island of Hasen, in the Dvina river. No one is permitted to take food or money to the island.

London—Eighteen hundred persons, including 400 women, were murdered by the bolshevists at Ufa, according to a telegram from Omsk received in official quarters here."

These are merely reports of bolshevist cruelty. Ever since the Kerensky government was overthrown, the same kind of atrocious campaign has been conducted under bolshevist auspices. The testimony is overwhelming and conclusive. In the current number of Struggling Russia, published by the Russian information bureau in the United States it is stated that when the town of Ossa was recovered from the bolshevists not only was it found to be completely devastated, but the number of people shot amounted to 1,000. Almost all intellectuals had been exterminated."

At Yaroslavl "officers and members of political organizations were shot in masses." Trotzky threatened that if the revolt there could not be quelled he would go so far as to have the city with its 40,000 inhabitants entirely destroyed. In the region of Okhansk 2,000 peasants were shot for demanding the abolition of the soviets and the reestablishment of the people's rule. And so the bloody tale goes on.

Topic of the Times.

From the New York Times.

Probably there is no very close or direct relation between the fact that William James Sidis was graduated from Harvard at the age of 15 and the other facts that he assaulted a policeman while participating in a proletarian "demonstration" on May day and that he expressed bolshevist, or at least bolshevistical, sentiments in the court where he was sentenced to a year and a half in prison.

The episode does suggest, however, that the education of young Sidis, though begun so early and crowned with a degree so soon, was far from having been as nearly complete and well rounded as it should have been, and one can hardly avoid suspecting, though it would be impossible to prove, that, if he had been taught more slowly, more of what he learned would have been true.

Prejudice.

From the London Spectator.

Prejudice is a partial judgment, not original so much as traditional, inherited from the past, or picked up, ready made, in the present, out of the atmosphere, from the environment, the nation, the locality, class, party, sect, or sex. Man rarely knows how packed with prejudices he is until he falls into the ditch for in this mental world of ours the blind, leaders and led, are quite happy, until a catastrophe occurs. Even then they are more apt to blame the ditch, or the ditcher, than their own blindness. And the worst of it all is that there is no possibility of avoiding prejudice, of bringing an absolutely virgin mind to bear on life and experience. If we be not born already biased and prejudiced in our minds, yet our innocence cannot escape the influence of kith and kin, of school and college, of trade and profession, of self interest and of friendship. And these partial judgment assume the air of instincts and intuitions, because their origins are overlooked and forgotten.

What Will You Remember?

From the Come Back.

What will you remember, you soldier about to be discharged, of your service in the wars?

The mud, say you? Or the cooties? Or the leg-wearying hikes with full pack, up long hills that seemed to have no ending? Or the horse lines where of grooming and stable cleaning there was no surcease, while captains and majors and colonels and generals inspected and poked and commented? All the things that have made you join the "Never Again Club?" The drudgery, the pain, the days on scant rations, the snarl of the exasperated first sergeant, the rasp in the voice of the officer who hadn't learned his job? The weeks when letters never came? The dull waiting for discharge when the game was over and yet they wouldn't let you catch the car for home?

All this is fresh in your mind now, and it seems to you that it will be fresh in your mind forever. Soldiers have thought that way at wars' end since wars were—and that's a long, long time.

But it isn't so.

The years will pass, and back in the home town, or countryside, work-a-day life will claim your thoughts and actions, until, of the period spent in uniform what your mind recalls will be the high lights of that time.

Off in the distance, some summer's dusk, you'll hear the high clear notes of the bugle: "Come, all who are able, and go-o-o to the stable, and give the horses some cor-n-n-n-n!"—and back will flood your memories of comrades' cheery voices, smoke of camp fires, fragrant odor of bacon and coffee, pricked ears of the horses that weren't such poor plugs after all, creak of leather and clank of accoutrement as the "damned good outfit" took the road; the songs that went up from the marching columns, the songs of home that soldiers sing when they are headed the other way; the silence and mystery of the first night on outpost "in the presence of the enemy;" the poignant thrill that came with the first whine of a hostile bullet overhead; the high suspense of the last minute before you went "over the top;" the fierce exultance of the successful entry into Jerry's trenches; the way you wriggled in your uniform and grinned a sheepish grin when the "K. O." stopped before you one day and said, "That's good work, corporal, good work!"—and the lump that came in your throat, and the tingling in your eyelids, when "To the colors" sounded the last evening before demobilization and the steady ranks stood for the last time together as soldiers of the great war!

You'll see again, the way the "top" used to twist his face when he yelped "Fa' in!" and you'll chuckle at the recollection of how you and your bunkie put it over the M. P.'s that day in "Paree" (or was it merely at McClellan or Meade or Louisville or Houston?), and you'll sight over the memory of the merry girl you met in Anniston or San 'Tone, or Boise or Coblenz (keeping your sighs to yourself).

And you'll tell the missus you have to go to town, and you'll crank the Ford, and presently you'll be looking in at the drug store or the postoffice for somebody else who wore the uniform with you in '18, and you'll "tell the tales, the tales of old" until the "wee sma' hours."

You'll get home late, and the wife will say: "William! Don't you know the war's been over 20 years!"

It wasn't such a bad war, after all? Was it?

CANDY GOOD FOR AGED.

other sweets as they wish. They can take the lid off with safety. If they have not already achieved diabetes they are not liable to do so. Besides diabetes in old people is not a very serious malady.

They no longer have to worry about obesity. The tendency of old people is to lose, not to put on, flesh. They dry out and their tissues harden, and this is responsible for some of the tendency to lose weight. In addition there is a tendency for some of the subcutaneous fat to disappear.

Obesity is a bugaboo in the late 20s and throughout the 30s and 40s. After that it is decreasingly a menace and by 65 it is no longer a source of apprehension. From that age on a little extra fat is a very good form of insurance. Persons 65 and over no longer need to keep the lid on because of danger of obesity.

The sweet tooth has been lost at 65. We still like candy, and other sweets, but we are not disposed to eat excessively of sweets, as was the case in youth. The fact that a person over 65 is satisfied to stop eating candy before he makes a hog of himself is one reason for taking the lid off. Lack of restraint on the part of those in the sweet tooth days is one reason for keeping the lid on so far as they are concerned.

So much for the reasons why an old person need not refrain from eating candy and other sweets. In addition there are some reasons why he should eat them.

Metchnikoff set old people to taking lactic acid bacilli and drinking sour milk because the Bulgarians drink sour milk and brown bread, and many of them live to be very old. The distinguished scientist of the Pasteur institute thought to lower high blood pressure by planting in the intestines bacteria of fermentation.

It was later found that the first essential was to feed the old people with carbohydrate food and that if this were done the proper bacteria would live in the alimentary tract and would kill out those which contributed to high blood pressure.

If there is plenty of sugar and starch in the diet, and only a limited amount of meat and other proteins, the bacteria of fermentation will thrive. Therefore a fair allowance of candy is not only permissible, but is even advisable for an old person. If he prefers some other form of sweet he can have it. Plenty of good bread, cereals and pastry serve the same purpose.

Lost at Versailles.

From the Harvard Lampoon.

Secretary Lansing slipped out of the council chamber and went souvenir hunting in the palace. Luck was with him, he said, for he found a remarkable piece of antique wall paper. Next day a frantic Japanese stenographer was looking for his shorthand notes.

Perhaps of all the services of the Y. M. C. A. in Siberia, the most popular are the entertainments given in the International Hut at Vladivostok, where something is doing every day in the week from 2 until 9 o'clock. The entertainments include band concerts, choruses, boxing contests, popular lectures, moving pictures and amateur shows.

Other Ocean Flights.

From the New York Herald.

The first attempt to cross the Atlantic by the air route was made by Melvin Vaniman in a dirigible balloon named the America, October 10, 1910. He set out from Atlantic City. When two days out the craft encountered a storm and Mr. Vaniman and his crew were picked up on October 18 by the steamship Trent 375 miles east of Norfolk. Mr. Vaniman's second attempt, in the Akron July 1, 1912, from Atlantic City, resulted in his death and that of his four companions. At a height of more than 500 feet the big gas bag exploded.

The Bucket.

The day is approaching when booze will be banished, the lights will go out in the gilded saloons, the bartenders all from their posts will have vanished, along with the jugs and the brazen spittoons. Alas for the soak and the bum and the drifter! The tale of their anguish no poet can tell; they'll hit, when they long for a four-fingered snifter, the old oaken bucket that hangs in the well. The old oaken bucket has been a back number, it slept with the has-beens for long weary years; but now it comes back from its cobwebby slumber, consoling the boys in the absence of beers. Doom faces Old Booze, he can't dodge it or duck it, the sexton's preparing to ring out his knell; and so we get back to the trusty old bucket, the moss covered bucket that hangs in the well. I stand with the poet who boosted the bucket, who said that it struck him as finer than silk; we've long clung to whiskey but now we will chuck it, and sample such liquids as water and milk. Oh, then we'll be chipper and blithe in the morning, as gay as a kitten, as sound as a bell; the wiles of the bootlegger manfully scorning, we'll hit the old bucket that hangs in the well.

He Has No Country.

From the Los Angeles Times.

The case of Paul Freeman is cited as that of another man without a country. He was a labor agitator in Australia and because of some violent and unpatriotic remarks made during the war period was ordered deported. He was placed on the steamer Sonoma, which had a cargo for San Francisco. At San Francisco he was listed as an undesirable and, as it was claimed he was a British subject, he had to go back to that flag. He couldn't get off the Sonoma, so he had to return with that vessel to Australia. There he was again denied a landing and at last accounts he was being shuttled back and forth and eating his meals with the ship's company. He is a Jonah, but they can't throw him overboard, neither can they find a harbor where he will be accepted. The League of Nations ought to start a South sea island colony for agitators who can get along with no government and let them work out their own salvation. When they have developed their Utopia they might be admitted to the league.

Peruvians Drug Addicts.

From The Americas.

Practically all of the natives of Peru are drug addicts. The coca plant from which cocaine is made, has been cultivated by these natives since prehistoric times, its leaves being chewed to get the desired effect. It has been estimated there are at least 8,000,000 persons living in the central part of South America that are chewers of coca.

Where Did He Get Balance?

From the Cedar Rapids Gazette.

The Kansas City Times makes mention of a country editor who started 36 years ago and has retired with a fortune of $50,000. The money was acquired through industry, economy and conscientious efforts to give full value, indomitable perseverance and the death of an uncle who left the editor $49,950.50.

Premier Lloyd George will visit Washington next fall to attend the first session of the League of Nations. He will travel on a battle cruiser and remain in America for a week. He will be away from London altogether less than three weeks.

Widows and mothers of fallen Canadian soldiers are to be given a "Silver Cross of Sacrifice" by the government.

THE FORTUNATE MAN.

Charles Reade.

The fortunate man is he who, born poor or nobody, works gradually up to wealth and consideration, and, having got there, dies before he finds out they were not worth fighting for.

...Graham Crackers.

Cot Corner

...Little ... Gu... ... I ... ...

Your Safety First

ccidents are Generally the esult of One Thing-Careless-ss.

be carelessness of the driver, someone else on the or of the manufacturer of the car.

the Overland you are assured of the greatest care e part of the maker to insure your safty The are right and every part is tested for doing its

It Is the Car to buy.

Mill Garage
PHONE 30
KLEMME, IA.

The Burnham COMBINATION RACK

E HAY RACK SEASON IS ALMOST HERE!

if you need a new rack don't fail to see the Burn- Combination Rack before buying, you will SAVE EY by so doing.

W. F. PAVEY

Practical Blacksmith - Klemme, Iowa

DELCO-LIGHT
Increases Farm Efficiency

Fifty thousand Delco-Light plants in operation on American farms are saving at the most conservative estimate, an hour a day each—or over 18,000,000 work hours a year

That is equal to an army of 60,000 men working ten hours a day for a full month.

Delco-Light is a complete electric light and power plant for farms and suburban homes.

It furnishes an abundance of clean, safe, economical light, and operates pump, churn, cream separator, washing machine and other appliances.

It is also lighting rural stores, garages, churches, schools, army camps and railway stations.

Judd Hardware Co.
Kanawha, Iowa

The Domestic Engineering Company, Dayton, Ohio

Over 50,000 DELCO-LIGHT Plants in Actual Use

Mother's Advice.

"... my son," said his mother, "I will good-by, 'when you ... try to be punctual in the ... as not to keep breakfast ...

Steering Him Up.

An instructor (to Cadet)—"Na, ... an officer. But it's just ... if the warr keeps on a while ... harrd—verra harrd—ye ... mind ye—begin to hae ... that ye'll never ken th ... of the wurrk!"—Punch.

Homer's Fate Warning to Poets.

The greatest poet that ever lived was a blind beggar, yet when he died seven cities fought for the custody of his poor, old, weary bones.

Joys of Companionship.

Half the difficulty of fighting any severe battle or accomplishing any hard task vanishes when a man feels that he has comrades at his side fighting in the same cause, or that the eyes of those he loves are upon him, and their hearts praying for his victory.—C. J. Perry

"CROSSED WIRES"

By HAZEL B. CUMMINGS.

(Copyright, McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

They had been married two months, and the secret was "out of the bag" now—the secret that often has a string of tragic results tied to it—cooking. Or more specifically in Mabel's case, baking.

She knew perfectly that the thing Jimmie adored, next to herself, was good cooking and so there followed in sad succession apple pies, spice cakes and many kinds of mysterious war breads. But as the weeks passed the disappointment in Jimmie's eyes gradually resolved itself into open resentment.

One crisp Wednesday morning he arose with a rare grouch. A broad strip of sunlight fell across the breakfast table as he stirred his coffee, casting a glare of antagonism at the heaping plate of corn muffins and the brown flapjacks.

"No eggs?" he queried briefly.

"Why, my dear, I thought—well you are other like this morning and I was afr... I won't miss your train if—" She hesitated and fingered the tablecloth nervously.

He selected a muffin sullenly, bit into it, and then the long-dreaded declaration of war came. "Mabel! What did you put in these things?" And rising from the table he continued angrily. "Do you expect me to go in and do a morning's work on those salt hogs? I'll be a hopeless case from indigestion in another week."

He strode into the hall calling back with ... significance: "I won't be ... for supper." Then the front door ... and the tragedy in Mabel's eyes deepened as she recalled that for the first time since their marriage he had not kissed her goodby.

She sat there for a long time; the flapjacks had grown cold.

The passing hours and a good lunch had the effect of greatly subduing Mabel's wrath and late afternoon found her thinking regretfully of his harsh words at the breakfast table. He began to wonder what Mabel was thinking and was forming a resolution to atone for his unkindness by calling her up and telling her they would take supper in town, when the phone rang sharply. He answered it. There were voices on the wire. "Hello-hello!" repeated Jimmie impatiently, and then the disorder of voices died away and a man spoke quickly.

"Hello!—thought I'd better call you and tell you that your wife left here awhile ago and forgot her umbrella; we were delivering a small quantity of arsenic to her, but she was in a hurry and left—" the line was cut off abruptly. Terror was flashing in Jimmie's eyes. Arsenic! He signaled the operator wildly.

"You've cut me off," he fairly shouted.

"What number were you talking with?" came the leisurely inquiry.

"I—I—Oh, I don't know," his voice sounded like a low cry, as he replaced the receiver.

He felt strangely weak as a few moments later he found himself being borne in a mud splashed taxi—at the highest rate of speed allowed by the law—to the suburbs.

Every moment of the journey increased his agony of suspense—arsenic! Bitter regrets for his heartlessness and ill humor of the past couple of weeks crowded his mind and all of the deep love for the little woman who had tried so hard and was perhaps even then lost to him forever brought a mist to his eyes. Twilight had long set in when he finally arrived.

Then an odd sound reached his ears, there was a peculiar odor, and turning he saw a thin ray of light under the door leading to the kitchen. He flung it open, and there in a blaze of light, with a background of pans and measuring tins, stood Mabel, in a big apron, her cheeks rosy with the heat from the stove. She was just lifting a cake from the oven—not one of the flat, pale variety, but a beautiful, delicately browned one! Jimmie stood dishevelled and wide-eyed in the doorway.

"Why, Jim! You're early—" she began, but in a second he strode toward her and caught her in his arms, to the evident peril of the freshly baked cake.

"Thank heavens you're here—you're all right?" He looked at her keenly and kissed her again and again. She drew away from him in puzzled astonishment at his odd words.

"Of course I'm all right, Jimmie—what's the trouble?"

He tried to laugh lightly. "I—I—nothing! Were you out this afternoon—shopping? Did you—er—forget your umbrella. Leave it in a store—?"

"Yes, dear, I was out, but I brought my umbrella back all right."

Next morning Jimmie stood waiting for the elevator to carry him to his office on the sixth floor. As he stepped in somebody followed him.

"Nice wet morning," remarked the big, cheerful voice of the chemist upstairs.

"Right!" agreed Jimmie, viewing his dripping companion sympathetically, "you look nice and wet yourself."

"Yes, thanks to the dear, thoughtful wife," replied the chemist. "Had her go over to the laboratories yesterday and get some arsenic and other stuff that I was in a special hurry for—too busy to stop myself—and she comes back and leaves her umbrella there—had to give her mine this morning—"

Jimmie's eyes suddenly grew bright with mirth, but just at that moment the elevator girl said: "Sixth!" so he stepped out and as soon as the elevator had passed up he laughed long and heartily to himself.

"A PURPLE HAT"

By FANNIE B. LINSKY.

(Copyright, McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Anne was cross. More than that, she was discouraged. More than that, she was blue. And she had, so she told herself, the very best reason in the world for being all three.

And that reason was, of course—a man. A most exasperating, irritating, fascinating, good-looking, likable young man. In other words, it was Bob Harwood, who had been coming to see her so long and so steadily that all the other boys in town had "dropped off."

"I know he means to propose," she said wrathfully, not addressing anyone in particular, and she slammed her book into the corner.

"I thought last night that he was just on the verge of saying something—but then—I've thought that a dozen times before now and nothing ever came of it!"

She got out of the hammock and picked up the much-despised book. "I suppose I might just as well finish my story," she said half aloud, "it's a good one, too—but every time I think of Bob Harwood it makes me so angry I can't even read!"

The afternoon wore on, and Anne was aroused from her reading by the cheery whistle of the gray-haired postman as he came up the path on his afternoon rounds.

"Anything for me, Mr. Hobbs?" she called out gayly.

"Only one letter, Nannie," he called back, for the old man had known Anne since her pinafore and pigtail days, and they were great friends.

"Why, it 'pears to me like it's your Aunt Martha's writing," said the old man, scrutinizing the letter closely. "Wonder what she's got to be writing about?" he observed, as he handed over the missive, and he stood there waiting to hear the news. For wasn't he postman—and as such expected to know who got letters—and where they were from—and what they were about? That was Mossville etiquette, established of old, and far be it from Silas Hobbs to neglect his duty in this regard.

"You must be a mind reader, Mr. Hobbs," said Anne, glancing through her letter. "It is from Aunt Martha, and she wants me to come and spend a week with her.

"Now, you take my advice, Anne, and go right along," said the old man, wisely shaking his head. "You know what you've told me 'bout a certain young man—well, this'll be just the thing. If I was you, I'd go right up and get ready now, and I wouldn't say nothin' about it, neither. Take my advice now, and run along and pack. You just stay up at the farm for a week or ten days, and don't write him a word, and I guess that'll bring him to his senses if anything ever will."

"Why, I do think that you are right, Mr. Hobbs. It's the very thing," said the girl, getting quite excited at the thought of running away.

Mary, the maid, was just finishing her work for the day.

"I'm going away for a week or so, Mary," said Anne, as she entered the spotless kitchen where Mary reigned supreme, "but it's to be a dead secret, and if you'll come up and help me pack before you go out, so that I can get away, I'll give you my purple hat that you liked so much."

"Oh, thank you, Miss Anne," said Mary, "and indeed I'll help you."

So they packed, and when all was done, Mary went off to prepare for her "evening out."

Down the street that evening sauntered Mr. Robert Harwood. He had decided to call upon Anne. She did not expect him, very true, but still he was sure she would be glad to see him. She always was.

Enjoying his after-dinner cigar he turned the corner of her street and gazed over at the house.

Just then the door opened and down the steps lightly tripped a young woman. He would have recognized Anne anywhere by the purple hat that she wore.

"Good gracious, what's that!" muttered Bob Harwood, as he stepped back into the shadow.

"Anne—and a man! Oh, what a fool I've been," he ejaculated, suddenly brought to his senses. "Now I suppose some other lucky fellow has stepped in and cut me out. Well, it serves me right for waiting so long—but by Jove! I won't give her up so easily. I'll ask her to marry me tonight if I have to sit up all night and wait for her to come home," and he strode across the street and gave the bell a jerk that made it resound through the whole house.

Footsteps strangely familiar came running down the hall. The door opened and there stood—Anne.

"Why, I came—I mean I saw—"

"And 'I conquered,' I suppose," finished Anne sarcastically, but smiling at his confusion.

"No, I haven't, that is—not yet," said Bob, recovering himself a little, "but I did come to—Oh, hang it all, Anne, will you marry me?"

"Yes, I will," said Anne, so promptly that he was shocked all over again.

"But where is your purple hat?" said Bob, cautiously, an hour later, after they had "talked things over."

"Oh, I gave that to Mary," said Anne carelessly, "although I always did like that hat, and I'm rather sorry now that I gave it away."

"Sorry," said Bob with a whoop, "well, I'm not. In fact, you don't know what it means to me that you did give it away." But Anne did not insist on an explanation.

Summer Clothing

Buy one of our two-piece FLANNEL or PALM BEACH SUITS and be comfortable during hot weather. They are very reasonable in price and something you really need.

We also show a very complete line of Men's and Young Men's Flannel, Light Worsted and Palm Beach Trousers. Just the thing for the present.

Complete you attire with a silk shirt, pique and fine madras wash neckwear, nifty hosiery, nea patent duck oxfords, tennis shoes, etc.

Summer Suits	10.00 to 27.50
Summer Trousers	3.50 to 7.50
Men's Oxfords	3,00 to 6.50
Neckwear	25c to 2.50
Wash Ties	25c to 65c
Hosiery, Lisles	30c to 50c
Hosiery, Silks	50c to 1.00

Get fitted out for July 4th--Don't Wait--Do it now.

Gildner Bros. & Johnson

"IOWA'S LARGEST CLOTHIERS"

The Home of Hart, Schaffner & Marx Cloths

Fourteen Stores. Garner, Iowa

Sell Your Grain To

Walter F. Lau

And receive the highest price and correct weight. Will buy Hogs every day in the week. Also handle high grade COAL. Give me a trial and I will Show you the RESULTS.

Office Phone No. 16. Residence Phone No. 52

Why Wait Until The Enemy Attacks?

Are you prepared for the attack of the worst enemy of the summer season—General Fly and his army of disease spreaders are about to attack. Don't wait until he is upon you. Come in and let us quote prices on screen doors and windows.

"Everything to build Anything"

—BUILD NOW—

NORTHERN LUMBER CO.

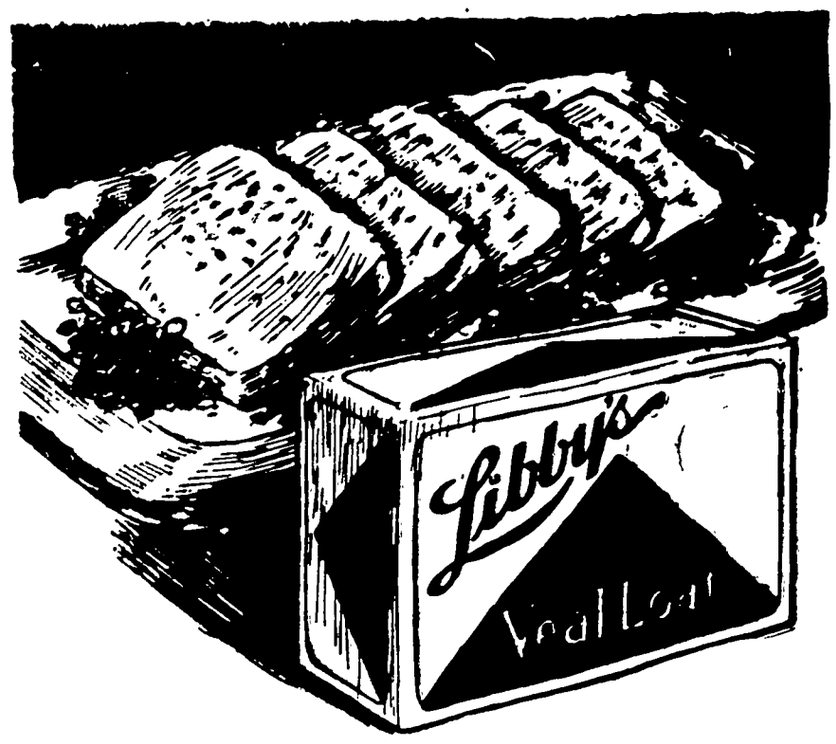
N. L. PALMER, Manager

Any Honest Task Attractive.

Any honest task is capable of being so largely conceived that he who enters into it may see, stretching before him, the promise of things to do and be, that will stir his enthusiasm and satisfy his best desires.—Phillips Brooks.

Guard Your Work.

Do not work so hard that you have no time to look up and around you, no time to exchange ideas with another, no time for quiet thought. To work without growth means exhaustion. The spring itself must be fed if its waters are not to fail.



On a warm day there's no more refreshing luncheon than Libby's Veal Loaf, chilled and sliced! So easy, too. Ask your grocer for a package today

Libby, McNeill & Libby, Chicago

Kill Dandruff With Cuticura

All druggists: Soap 25, Ointment 25 and 50, Talcum 25. Sample each free of "Cuticura, Dept. F, Boston."

Every Woman Wants

Paxtine

ANTISEPTIC POWDER

FOR PERSONAL HYGIENE

Dissolved in water for douches stops pelvic catarrh, ulceration and inflammation. Recommended by Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co. for ten years. A healing wonder for nasal catarrh, sore throat and sore eyes. Economical. Has extraordinary cleansing and germicidal power. Sample Free. 50c. all druggists, or postpaid by mail. The Paxtine Toilet Company, Boston, Mass.

DAISY FLY KILLER PLACED ANYWHERE ATTRACTS AND KILLS ALL FLIES. Neat, clean, ornamental, convenient, cheap. Lasts all season. Made of metal; can't spill or tip over; will not soil or injure anything. Guaranteed effective. Sold by dealers, or by EXPRESS, prepaid, $1.25.

HAROLD SOMERS, 150 De Kalb Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Everything Lovely.

"Howdy, Gap!" saluted an acquaintance, upon meeting the well known Rumpus Ridge citizen on a shopping expedition in Tumlinville. "How's everything going with you?"

"Finer'n frog hair, Jurd!" triumphantly replied Gap Johnson. "Of course, my wife has been sorter puny, yur of late, and several of the children have got the measles and mumps and one thing and another, and the lightning struck the corner of the house tuther night and like to have tore the whole place to pieces, and one of the kids fell out of a tree and broke his arm, and a feller took a shot at me day before yesterday and ventilated my ear, and such as that, but I swapped for a running horse last week, and a couple of my hounds have got six pups apiece. Aw, I tell you, they can't keep a good man down!"—Kansas City Star.

Well Known.

I was hurrying home up the hill when a little boy came rushing down in such haste that he ran headlong into me. He was quite breathless and very flushed.

"Have you seen my pa?" he managed to stammer

"I don't know your pa, little boy," said I

He looked at me in round-eyed wonder and his pink cheeks fairly stuck out.

"You don't know my pa?" he said incredulously. "Why, I know pa just as easy"—Exchange.

BELCHING

Caused by

Acid-Stomach

Let EATONIC, the wonderful modern stomach remedy, give you quick relief from disgusting belching, food-repeating, indigestion, bloated, gassy stomach, dyspepsia, heartburn and other stomach miseries. They are all caused by Acid-Stomach from which about nine people out of ten suffer in one way or another. One writes as follows: "Before I used EATONIC, I could not eat a bite without belching it right up, sour and bitter. I have not had a bit of trouble since the first tablet."

Millions are victims of Acid-Stomach without knowing it. They are weak and ailing, have poor digestion, bodies improperly nourished although they may eat heartily. Grave disorders are likely to follow if an acid-stomach is neglected. Cirrhosis of the liver, intestinal congestion, gastritis, catarrh of the stomach—these are only a few of the many ailments often caused by Acid-Stomach.

A sufferer from Catarrh of the Stomach of 11 years' standing writes: "I had catarrh of the stomach for 11 long years and I never found anything to do me any good—just temporary relief—until I used EATONIC. It is a wonderful remedy and I do not want to be without it."

If you are not feeling quite right—lack energy and enthusiasm and don't know just where to locate the trouble—try EATONIC and see how much better you will feel in every way.

At all drug stores—a big box for 50c and your money back if you are not satisfied.

EATONIC

FOR YOUR ACID-STOMACH

KNEW THAT WOULD STOP HIM

Lawyer Evidently Was Well Acquainted With the Weakness of His Long-Winded Friend.

C. H. Murphy relates the story of a Philadelphia lawyer, retired, who, in the days of his active practice, was notorious for his long-windedness.

On one occasion he had been spouting forth his concluding argument for six hours, and the end was nowhere in sight, when the opposing attorney beckoned his associate and whispered:

"Can't you stop him, Jack?"

"I'll stop him in two minutes," Jack replied confidently And he wrote and passed to the orator the following note:

"My Dear Colonel—As soon as you finish your magnificent argument I would like you to join me at the hotel in a bumper of rare old Bourbon."

The lawyer halted in the midst of an impassioned period, put on his glasses, and read the note that had been handed him, then he removed his glasses again and, taking up his hat and bag, he said:

"And now, may it please the court and gentlemen of the jury, I leave the case with you."

A minute later he was proceeding in stately fashion in the direction of the hotel bar.

Who'd do the work of the world if everybody were rich?

Brighten the Morning Meal

with a hot drink that gives refreshing invigoration.

The Original

POSTUM CEREAL

is so pleasing and satisfying that it has completely taken the place of tea and coffee in many homes everywhere.

Try this healthful Drink and note results.

Two sizes, usually sold at 15c and 25c.

At Grocers Everywhere!

HURTFUL HABITS.

As soon as we get fixed in the new habits by which we lessen certain diseases, along comes some one with a new proposal. In this country most of us have gotten out of the habit of drinking sewage.

Incidentally, I wish to relate an experience now going the round of the medical journals: Certain military commands in France placed crude carbolic in their latrines. The civilian officials of some nearby towns complained to the military authorities that the practice was making the village drinking water unusable. It tasted too strongly of carbolic acid. The old sewage taste they did not object to. Here were people who had not gotten out of the habit of drinking sewage.

Most of us have gotten out of the habit of drinking bad milk. Many have abandoned the habit of tolerating flies. Some have quit the spitting habit.

But here come men who tell us that about the only forms of contagion left that are of any importance are those due to infection of the upper respiratory tract. They call our attention to the fact that pneumonia and bronchitis are getting worse instead of better, and that we must change those of our habits which are responsible for these diseases.

Major Soper says that "to talk eye to eye and mouth to mouth is a careless habit, which can and should be stopped. * * * In earnest conversation men sometimes stand so close to one another that they can feel the impact of the speaker's breath. A large measure of safety against this germ bombardment can be obtained by standing back a distance from the too earnest person." He advises standing a little distance away or else standing in a position which means that the forcibly expired air and its bacteria flora goes over your shoulder.

Another harmful habit is that of coughing in public places. Most coughing is unnecessary. We cough because those around us do so. However, if a person must cough, let him cough into his handkerchief.

Sneezing is likewise often unnecessary. Here, too, if sneezing must be indulged in, the person affected should move apart, turn his head, and sneeze into his handkerchief. Coughing and sneezing in which other persons or food, tableware or desks are aimed at, spreads much infection.

Major Soper discourages shaking hands and wishes we could adopt some safer form of salutation.

It was the major, then a New York city health officer, who discovered Typhoid Mary—a lady who spread much typhoid through her hands. His warnings against hand habits, which spread disease, are entitled, therefore, to consideration.

HARRY LAUDER.

He stood behind the footlights and he set the crowd a-laughing
With the same old crooning chuckle that we loved in other years,

And only those who knew could guess the grief behind the daffing—
But, for those who know, the laughter had a secret salt of tears.

Then at last he came out in his grass
green coat and bonnet,
With his gaudy tartans colored like a graden in the sun,

The same quaint little figure—but a different face was on it
When he sang us of the laddies that fought and won.

A face lined hard with furrows where the plow of pain had driven,
Blue eyes that had grown shadow set through many a sleepless night.

The face of one who more than life, ungrudgingly had given,
Who called on us to do as well—and, ah,
we owned his right!

We saw in him the Fiery Cross of Scotland, charred and gory,
And the spirits burned within us to the challenge that he gave,

For the player was a prophet as he spoke his people's glory—
"We're a wee land, a puir land, but,
by God, we're brave."

—Amelia Josephine Burr, in The Rotarian.

Collars and Laundries.

From the Providence Journal.

In a magazine devoted to hard headed subjects there was a recent article that was enlightening. Most of us, when our collars and other articles of ornamental apparel become frazzled in a shockingly brief time, are inclined to talk harshly about the habits of laundries. We say wisely that they use all kinds of acids in their cleaning processes and that they run things through mangles which do all that might be expected of machines with such a name. Perhaps we have been unjust. Anyway, these matters have been noticeably worse in the last year or two and it does not seem probable that laundries are really much rougher than they have always been. There must be contributory causes for the conditions.

In short, the laundryman is doing about as he always has done, neither better nor worse, but the manufacturer is putting things over on us that were undreamed of a few years ago. We quote:

Once upon a time, in the happy days of yore, the collar maker wove 80 threads to the inch in warp and filling, and these collars retailed mostly at two for a quarter. Oh, halcyon days! But now many collars are made from cloth woven with 72x72 threads to the inch.

NC-4 Hoodoo Ship.

From the New York World.

The NC-4 had the reputation of being a hoodoo ship. For some unknown cause she seemed fated to have bad luck. Because of delay in receiving parts of the machine there was not time for the full preliminary test flights. She narrowly escaped being destroyed by fire at Rockaway Then came the accident that cost her engineer his right hand. After the three naval planes were well on their way to Halifax it was NC-4 that was forced by engine trouble to descend off Cape Cod. She was held up by bad weather at Chatham, Mass., and again at Halifax, and before she could reach Trepassey NC-1 and NC-3 started overseas. That day her luck changed and the "Jonah" she had carried as extra passenger was lost overboard.

A Picture History.

From the London Telegraph.

Arrangements are being made by the admiralty for a permanent collection of photographs, in the imperial war museum, of every ship in the royal navy and mercantile marine employed during the war. These will be accompanied by a series illustrating, so far as is possible, every incident or operation with which the sea forces were connected

THE SUCCESS FAMILY.

From The Rotator

The father of Success is Work.
The mother of Success is Ambition.
The oldest son is Common Sense.
Some of the other boys are Perseverance, Honesty, Thoroughness, Foresight, Enthusiasm and Cooperation.
The oldest daughter is Character
Some of her sisters are Cheerfulness, Loyalty, Courtesy, Care, Economy, Sincerity and Harmony.
The baby is Opportunity
Get acquainted with the "old man" and you will be able to get along pretty well with all the rest of the family

Rights of Minorities.

From the New York Post.

Indignant protests come from the smaller nations at the conference against the determination of the Big Four to insert into the treaties affecting central Europe and the Balkans sharp guarantees for the protection of the political, social and cultural rights of minorities. This is called an infringement of sovereignty But in the strife between races in southeastern Europe Germany found her opportunity for bringing on war, and in the new complexities created by a wholesale recasting of frontiers there lie the potentialities for a mischief maker of the future. All of the new states or the expanded states—Czecho-Slovakia, Poland, Jugo-Slavia, Rumania, Greece—will contain large minorities and conditions such as now obtain in Poland-Ukrania may become endemic everywhere There is precedent for imposing guarantees for the protection of minorities The treaty of Berlin in 1878, by which Rumania came into being, presented equality of treatment for the Jews of the new state and it is the flagrant violation of such guarantees by Rumania that just fixes the attention of the Big Four to establish something like a right of appeal by oppressed minorities to the council of the league. The small nations are receiving virtually quarters of national existence from the powers, to whom they are largely indebted for the preservation of their existence or their new life, and in their own interest as well as for the peace of the world, it is right that the powers should set up guards against national excess.

Christenings Differ

From the Boston Post.

The Fore River Log tells of a man who held strange ideas of christenings, formed no doubt from those he had seen at the works The Log says

There was a man
* * *
And all his life
* * *
He worked in a shipyard,
* * *
And he had a baby
* * *
And it was going to be christened
* * *
And for a week
* * *
He couldn't sleep nights
* * *
Because he was worried
* * *
For fear the minister
* * *
Would hurt the baby
* * *
When he hit it with the bottle.

"One Big Union" Collapsing.

From the London Times.

The Australian "one big union" movement is collapsing, the general body of trade unionists giving it the cold shoulder The Australian Workers' Union, which is the largest and most influential in Australia, says that if the tactics of "jaw-waggers" are allowed, dissension in the ranks of the trade unionists will follow

Food for Thought.

From London Tit-Bits.

It was washing day, and John had been kept from school to look after the baby Mother sent them into the garden to play, but it was not long before cries disturbed her

"John, what is the matter with baby now?" she inquired from her wash tub.

"I don't know what to do with him, mother," replied John. "He's dug a hole and wants to bring it into the house."

Criminal Negligence.

From the Washington Star

"I have my doubts about this League of Nations," remarked the proud parent.

"Why?"

"I understand they propose to go ahead and settle it without paying any attention to what my daughter has written about it in her commencement essay"

Notorious.

From the Dallas News.

This is how a high school girl recently parsed the sentence 'He kissed me"

"He,' she began with a fond lingering over the word that brought the crimson to her cheeks, "is a pronoun, third person, singular number, masculine gender, a gentleman, and pretty well off, universally considered a good catch. 'Kissed' is a verb, transitive, indicative mood, indicating affection, first and third persons, plural number, and governed by circumstances 'Me'—oh, well, everybody knows me'" And she sat down.

Wise Child.

From the Pittsburgh Sun.

Louise, 5 asked her mother:

"Where is papa going?"

"To a stag party," she replied.

"What is a stag party, mamma?"

Sister Mabel, 7, who had been listening, with a dignified attitude of superior wisdom, answered instantly "It's where they stagger. Don't you know?"

Related to the Bride.

From the Rochester Post-Express.

The junior clerk sought out his employer and timidly asked him:

"Could I have a fortnight's leave of absence, sir, to attend the wedding of a friend?"

"It must be a dear friend for you to want all that time?" inquired the boss, sarcastically.

"Well, after the wedding, sir, she—she'll be my wife!"

Investigators of the most recent bomb outrages in New York say that indications are that William Boehner, the watchman who lost his life there, was trying to remove or extinguish the bomb when it exploded, and was in all probability killed in the performance of duty.

Same Sensation.

From the Washington Star.

"Wealth does not bring happiness."

"Maybe not," replied Mr. Dustin Stax. "Maybe the feeling I had the other day when I made a couple of million in the market wasn't happiness, but it was something that answered the purpose very closely."

He Got It.

From London Tit-Bits.

"Please, Mr Hardduppe, Mr. Baynet, V. C., him wot killed 17 Germans in one trench with his own hands, has called for [illegible] account, sir."

Appeal for Boy Scouts.

By James E. West, Chief Scout Executive, Boy Scouts of America.

"The War Is Over, But Our Work Is Not!" This is the cry of the Boy Scouts of America, the cry of a movement that now comprises almost 400,000 American boys and 100,000 leaders, the cry of a mighty army organized in boyhood that summoned the country by performing the herculean task of selling $300,000,000 worth of Liberty bonds, $60,000,000 worth of war savings stamps, collecting 20,000,000 feet of contract lumber for the war department, collecting enough fruit pits to furnish the necessary chemicals for 500,000 gas masks, distributing 30,000,000 pieces of government literature, and serving as boyhood has never been known to serve all nations especially for the Y. M. C. A., the American Red Cross, the Knights of Columbus, the Jewish Welfare Board the Salvation Army, the American Library Association and hundreds of other war agencies during the war.

Such a cry cannot pass unnoticed! And especially so in the light of achievements enumerated for surely when boys, "mere youngsters," can write themselves so solidly into the history of our great triumph as the Scouts of America have done, their far flung challenge to be of service during the days to come cannot pass unheeded.

It shall not!

Such is the determination of the big men of the country who, under the leadership of the Hon. W. G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, have banded themselves into a national citizens' committee to secure 1,000,000 associate members of the Boy Scouts of America, in keeping with a proclamation issued by the president of the United States, calling upon the people to observe the period beginning June 8 and continuing to June 14, as Boy Scout week.

This week is to be far more than a "week." It is to be seven-day demonstration of gratitude in appreciation of what the scouts did during the war. It will be dedicated to the 10,000,000 boys of scout age to whom the benefits of scouting should be extended. It will aim to arouse the people to the necessity of training the youth of today for the responsibilities of citizenship tomorrow.

And behind it will be every race and creed, every agency of service this country can muster—every school, every club, every church

Dried Apple Art.

From the Christian Science Monitor.

An odd addition to the material for sculpture has been discovered by a young woman in Knoxville, Tenn., who is making realistic dolls with dried apple faces. Living near the mountains, this inventive artist has for some years been studying the mountaineers and modelling their faces after the usual methods. But one day she happened to pick up a half dried apple and was amused to notice how much it looked like a wrinkled mountaineer Then she experimented a bit with her knife, completing the resemblance, and was more pleased than she had ever been with her clay models. Further experiment found a way to preserve and varnish the apple, and the new medium of art was discovered. Although not likely to be widely adopted for art purposes, the dried apple is said to make a surprisingly lifelike little head, and has added another member to the world's great family of dolls.

France's Debt.

From the St. Paul Pioneer Press.

French loans to other nations of Europe have left the nation in a weak position in some respects, for the Russian and Turkish loans are not even paying interest. The war has changed France from a creditor nation to a debtor nation, so far as present income is concerned. Prior to the war France had lent to other countries and industrial enterprises outside of the nation $8,000,000,000. Much of this was to Russia, Bulgaria and Turkey, and these loans are yielding no return to France today

On the other hand France, from August 1, 1914, to March 31, 1919, has voted credits of $24,300,000 for military and civil purposes. Today France is obliged to raise not less than $8,500,000,000 to pay its annual expenses. The total estimated debt of France is about $40,000,000,000, or about $1,000 per capita. The estimated public wealth of France is a little less than $2,500 per capita.

A Hot Shot.

From the Christian Science Monitor.

On the borders of the town of Brookline, in the state of Massachusetts, on a plot of green grass, outside an apartment house, there is a strange pile of rocks. They are rocks that have evidently, all of them, been through the fire. Charred they are, and burned into strange colors, but none the less quite evidently successful in resisting all the assaults that the fire has made upon them. Behind the pile of rocks there stands a neatly made notice board, on which, in finished style, is painted this legend:

1918

FUEL ADMINISTRATION COAL.

A resolution appealing for clemency for Eugene V Debs, now in prison for opposing the selective draft law, failed of adoption by the convention of the metal trades, in session in Atlantic City.

Even 200 Years Ago.

From The Outlook.

"And herein it is that I take upon me to make such a bold assertion that all the world are mistaken in their practice about women; for I cannot think that God Almighty made them . . . so glorious creatures . . . with souls capable of the same accomplishments with men, and all to be only stewards of our houses, cooks, and slaves." This address sounds somewhat as if it were uttered in a present day convention, was written, as is noted in a recent book on English literature, some 200 years ago, by Daniel Defoe.

SCHEIDEMANN'S SOLILOQUY.

To sign, or not to sign—that is the question:
Whether 'tis wiser w[illegible] ubmissive
To bend the neck [illegible] the harness yoke,
And meekly bear the [illegible]rsion that merit—
Or with a bold and [illegible]ant bluff forth
And hurl defiance at [illegible]onqueror
If we submit, then [illegible]loubly pe
Despised abroad and [illegible]ivered upon home.
Methinks the bluff [illegible] serve. We all is lost
Save honor, we are destitute indeed
This thing that men call honor! shall be
A cloak to mask our fears, a [illegible] shield
To ward away the arrows of [illegible] scorn.
Aye, we'll be bold! [illegible] we say—
Seated, to show the mere of our [illegible] tempt—
Retreat, the terms are unacceptable
Yet cautiously withal, and with an [illegible]
Keen to detect the measure of [illegible] patience;
For even men of honor may be rouse
Perchance a little hedging were discr[illegible]
A disposition to admit the wrongs
Of Belgium, and reluctantly to pay
A modest reparation to the French.
In one thing only being adamant.
"We fought this bitter war in self-defense."
If still their looks be hostile, it [illegible] meet
With subtle ingenuity to depict
The starving millions in the Father[illegible]
The weak and old, the helpless [illegible] cents.
Perchance the starting tear might [illegible] its part,
Hastily concealed—yet not too hast[illegible]
A passing mention of blockades a[illegible]
Of counterpayments and indemnities
Yea, verily, methinks the bluff [illegible] serve.
'Tis fraught with artful possibilities
From frantic boast to innocence sub[illegible]
We've nought to lose—the least gain is time.

—Vilda Sauvage Owens, in the New York Times.

Clemenceau's Pen.

From L'Illustrations, Paris.

The penholder with which Clemenceau will sign the treaty, and which shortly become historic is of solid, chased gold. Upon a groundwork of olive branches, emblem of peace, the word "PAX" stands out in brilliant red letters of the French national colors—rubies, diamonds and rubies. Around the base the arms of Belgium Great Britain the United States and Italy are delicately engraved on gold shields. At the top of the holder the Gallic cock symbolizing France, proclaims victory And, finally, this dedication is engraved on the gold band: "A Clemenceau, les jeunes filles du Jules-Ferry" The ensemble is in perfect taste. May this pen, the gift of little French girls, soon sign peace throughout the world."

THE CHIEF OBJECT.

Edwin H. Chapin.

Set before you, as the chief object to be obtained as an end that is superior to any on earth—a desirable end. Labor to accomplish a work that shall survive unchanged and beautiful, when thrones and power and monuments of art shall have crumbled to ashes, aim to achieve something which, when these mutable voices are hushed forever, shall live amid the songs and triumphs of immortality.

Danish Mary.

'Twas Danish Mary picked them up
Out of the air and sea:
A shoddy, trudging lollypup
A-trapseing slatternly.

The cry rang north, the cry rang south:
"The vanished—where are they!"
But Danish Mary shut her mouth
And shuffled on her way.

"Ho, Hawker!—Grieve!"—on flying scud
Called kingdoms and called kings:
But Danish Mary chewed her cud
In drowsy maunderings.

Now "Lost!" cried West, and "Lost!" cried East,
Till "Perished!" like a pall,
Turned bonfire light and homing feast
More dark than funeral.

And toward the hollow sky rose prayer
And dirge of steeple chime:
But what should Danish Mary care?
She takes her own sweet time.

And bawls to Lewis Butt: "It's me!
I've picked 'em up—your men."
"What!—Grieve and Hawker!" "Sure!" And she Goes shambling on again.

But lightning engines flash and fight
For news that reaps renown,
The jackies swarm from bay and bight
And race to run her down.

And win, and bear her prize away—
While Mary turns to prowl
Once more where slips the dumb, salt spray
And slaps her on the jowl.

—Percy Mackaye, in the New York Times.

FARMERS ARE WORKING HARDER

And using their feet more than ever before For all these workers the frequent use of Allen's Foot-Ease, the antiseptic, healing powder to be shaken into the shoes and sprinkled in the foot-bath, increases their efficiency and insures needed physical comfort. It takes the Friction from the Shoe, freshens the feet, and prevents tired, aching and blistered feet. Women everywhere are constant users of Allen's Foot-Ease. Don't get foot sore, get Allen's Foot-Ease. Sold by dealers everywhere.—Adv.

The Ruling Passion.

Mrs. Talkerton—Oh, dear! I wish there was some way to break little Gladys of sucking her thumb.

Her Husband—Don't worry. When she gets a little older she'll notice that it interferes with her talking. Then she'll quit it herself.

Buy a Farm Now.

Because land is cheaper than it will ever be again. The U. S. Railroad Administration is prepared to furnish free information to homeseekers regarding farming opportunities. We have nothing to sell; no money to lend; only information to give. Write me fully with reference to your needs. Name the state you want to learn about. J. J. Edwards, Manager, Agricultural Section, U. S. Railroad Administration, Room 70, Washington, D. C.—adv

"The way of the transgressor is hard," when he is trying to dodge the laws of nature.

The Cuticura Toilet Trio

Having cleared your skin keen of pimples by making Cuticura your every day toilet preparations. The soap to cleanse and purify, the Ointment to soothe and heal, the Talcum to powder and perfume. No toilet table is complete without them. 25c everywhere.—Adv.

Calling names in an argument may make the chap called some names, but they answer his arguments.

Important to Mothers

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, that famous old remedy for infants and children, and see that it

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use for Over 30 Years.

Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria

A daughter is an embarrassing and ticklish possession.—Menander.

STRENGTHENS KIDNEYS— PURIFIES BLOOD

You can't expect weak kidneys to filter the acids and poisons out of your system unless they are given a little help. Don't allow them to become diseased when a little attention now will prevent it. Don't try to cheat nature.

As soon as you commence to have backaches, feel nervous and tired, GET BUSY. These are usually warnings that your kidneys are not working properly.

Do not delay a minute. Go after the cause of your ailments or you may find yourself in the grip of an incurable disease. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil capsules will give almost immediate relief from kidney troubles. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules will do the work. They are the pure original Haarlem Oil Capsules imported direct from the laboratories in Haarlem, Holland. Ask your druggist for GOLD MEDAL and accept no substitutes. Look for the name GOLD MEDAL on every box. Three sizes, sealed packages. Money refunded if they do not quickly help you.—Adv.

Authors' Handwriting.

If readers and admirers of the published sentences of popular authors could see the original manuscripts from which their works are printed they would be given interesting sidelights on the character and personality of the writers. The handwriting of G. K. Chesterton has been described by an English editor as "shocking." W. W. Jacobs, comedy writer of the sea, has all his literary work typed and makes but few corrections on the finished manuscript. Other English writers whose copy is reputed to be neat and quite acceptable to a printer are H. G. Wells, Rudyard Kipling, Arnold Bennett and Sir Arthur Conan Doyle. Editors say they never know what to expect from that imaginative genius, H. de Vere Stacpoole. Sometimes his work is neatly typed on good paper, but often it is scribbled to sheets torn from a copybook.

Heard on the Train.

"Is this Mr. Riley?"

"Eh—what?" said the deaf old chap.

"Is this Mr. Riley?"

"Riley! Oh, yes!"

"I knew your father."

"No bother."

"I say I knew your father."

"What?"

"I—knew—your—father."

"Oh, did ye? So did I."—Boston Transcript.

How Fortunes Are Made.

From The Americas.

An American whose name is synonymous with the biggest things in production, manufacture and sale of tobacco in the United States happened to be in a Chinese coaling port one hot summer day some years ago. He was on a trip around the world. The ship laid up for hours taking on coal. It was too hot for going ashore—in this particular port. The American tobacco manufacturer whiled away the time the best way he could during the stuffy afternoon aboard the ship. A swarm of Chinese craft huddled around the hull of the steamer. Coal was carried from scows alongside, across intervening boats, by an endless line of Chinese coolies. There seemed to be hundreds of them. They came and went in an unceasing round of coal baskets, for hours.

The Chinese were very simply attired. It was as if they were in uniform—each wore a kind of a one-piece bathing suit made of a single cement bag—their legs sticking out of holes cut in the corners, a considerable portion of the rest of them sticking out of the top of the bag. Every man of the crowd of coolies wore this bag arrangement. Every bag was alike. Somebody had a big mark in that part of China for cement, judging from the number of bags the tobacco man remarked. On the front and back of every man-jack of the Chinese was a big round cement label in red and yellow. It gave a fine oriental effect to the scene. The tobacco man noticed that the Chinese rather liked the ornamental features of this cement bag decoration. He and his fellow passengers joked about it as they lounged along the deck rail that hot day. Somebody thought it was a fine advertisement for a certain brand of cement wasted because the Chinese who saw it couldn't read. Another passenger declared that it wasn't wasted because the Chinese have so perfect a memory for form and color that they could pick out that label without knowing the words.

So they talked lightly as ships' passengers will, but the tobacco man's imagination was trained to business imagination and the practical side of the thing. This man's trip via China was not all pastime. China had [illegible] prohibition of the use of opium. The substitution of tobacco in China as a practical business idea with a big [illegible] was in the man's mind when he planned the trip. It was [illegible]

[illegible] on psychology it is enough to say that the tobacco [illegible] that summer afternoon in the Chinese port, when he received [illegible] 100,000 cheap sacks made in an exact imitation [illegible] yellow circles and all except that in the circle [illegible] ing of the words of a certain American cigaret. [illegible] market for less than the Chinese had paid for [illegible] the cartons and containers of goods that can still [illegible] salable article after their original use has been [illegible] operation of a Chinese compradore he introduced the [illegible] as an enormous cigaret market, and the widely [illegible] Americanizes the impressions.

Another Waste.

From [illegible] dealer [illegible] ashes [illegible] in this [illegible] pounds [illegible] sailed at [illegible]

Angry But in No Hurry.

From [illegible] News.

She—How dare you [illegible] my arm about my waist?

He—Yes, I am. I have you just two hours to remove it.

"That fellow is a bolshevist in disguise." "A bolshevist never disguises. He advertises."—Washington Star.

"Mrs. Gabb and I are not on speaking terms," moaned my dear friend. "I wish you would come and stay with me to rest up a little."

Hostess—Those children stop playing. Miss Jones—Lad ar Diane—But don't I hope you think it's possible to have too much of a good thing, you know? Hostess—Yes, but that doesn't apply to your playing.—Boston Transcript.

Stranger—Does this man Amos Darby, who has a place of distinction in the village? Villager—He kin lodge for yourself. When the postman brings the weekly newspaper down to Guy Parkinson's grocery store Amos is the first reader.—Life.

Newspaper Waifs.

"Some people would borrow trouble." "Or buy horns for a dilemma."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Playing Safe

From the Minneapolis Tribune.

"Algy, when you are going to ask father for my hand?"

"Next week, when he goes to Chicago."

"Huh?"

"I'll call him up on long distance."

A Senator Already

From the New York Evening Post.

When William Ralph was one hour old he gave a loud shout. "He will be a senator," cried his father ecstatically.

When William Ralph was 3 months old he began to gurgle. "What a senator he will make," cried his father joyfully.

When the boy was 7 years old he used to get up on a chair and make long speeches with wild gestures, which even the approaching dinner hour failed to interrupt. "What senatorial eloquence," rhapsodized his father.

One day his father found him in tears. "Teacher says I must boil it down," he explained, "but every time I do, it is longer than ever."

"My precious boy," exclaimed the father. "You are a senator already."

Looking for Money

From Motor Car Cookery.

Little Willie was discovered by his mother industriously smashing all the eggs in the house.

"Why, Willie," she cried aghast, "what do you mean by breaking all those eggs?"

Willie answered:

"I heard papa say there was money in eggs, and I'm trying to find it."

Leave It With God.

Following is a suppositious address delivered over the remains of a gambler in a Nevada mining camp. It is from Jayhawk.

He lived in the world of sport. I do not mince my words.

In the world of sport hilarity sometimes, and maybe worse. He left the impression of his character on the world, and through the medium of his financial power he was able with his money to brighten the lives of its inhabitants.

He was odd in the world says.

A little happiness brought into their lives meant as much to them as happiness brought into the lives of the straight and good.

If you can take one ray of sunlight into the night life and thereby bring them one single hour of happiness, I believe you are a benefactor. He may have wasted some of his money this way.

Did you ever stop to think how God does not put all His sunshine into corn, potatoes and flowers? Did you ever notice the prodigality with which he scatters these sunbeams over the universe?

Contemplate. God flings the auroral beauties around the cold shoulders of the earth, hangs the quivering picture of the mirage above the palpitating heart of the desert. Wasted sunbeams are these?

This may be infidelity, but if it is, I would like to know what faith means. I came into this universe without my volition—came and found a loving mother's arme to receive me. I had nothing to do with the preparation of my reception here. I have no power to change the environment of the future, but the same power which prepared the loving arms of a mother to receive me here will make proper reception for me there.

God knows better than I what is good for me, and I leave it with God.

Admits Wife's Testimony.

Though the subject of little more than a newspaper paragraph, there was really something of a feminist revolution achieved when a judge in a United States district court decided that a wife could testify in her husband's behalf on the ground that the old rule to the contrary is "archaic and not in accord with modern jurisprudence." The married woman's property act, though contested at the time, was not then regarded as anything like the revolutionary measure it subsequently proved to be. But that is a habit of laws—those which are expected to revolutionize are often dead letters, while those not taken so seriously may be the germs of a new order.

Work and Worry.

The more you work the less you worry, the more you hump the less you fret, and so get busy in a hurry, for industry's the one best bet. I have observed that when I'm busy I'm pleased with everything in view, and I have often said to Lizzie, "I'm glad I have my chores to do. My mind's engaged with things that matter, with hoeing spuds and mowing grass; I have no time for idle chatter of evils that may come to pass. But when no honest tasks engage me, my mind is filled with gloomy bunk; the rumors from abroad enrage me and things at home seem pretty punk. Our statesmen deal in useless clamor, our diplomats are hayseed boobs, so I rear up and ply my hammer until I bust my inner tubes. I talk of bogies with my neighbore, and thrash old straw we've thrashed before, and all we need is useful labors to keep our heads from getting sore. For idleness leads on to brooding, and brooding's bad for mortal men; it brings them dreams and schemes deluding, and often lands them in the pen. I'd rather be among the boosters than train with grouchy also-rans; and when I'm busy herding roosters I have no time for foolish plans.

Metoring.

I leave the city's noise behind, its stone and brick built sectors, forsake a while the beastly grind, and all the bill collectors. I climb on high the verdant hills, the azure heavens o'er me, forgeting bailiffs and their bills and all the things that bore me. It is a pleasant thing to go away from toil and knitting, my car is working like a jo, its cylinders all hitting. Oh, Scott may sing of Lochinvar, whose charger was a hummer, but give to me the modern car, and long, long days of summer. farmer with his spade, and gossip with his daughters. At intervals my car I stop, some quaint old signboard reading; and now and then a rural cop would run me in for speeding. I loaf along, eight miles an hour, the motor working nifty, and then, to show I have the power, I shove her up to 50. Through dale and dell, on dune and down, I throw the dust behind me, and tired collectors scour the town with bills, and cannot find me. I look around in silent glee upon the landscape's splendor, until I run against a tree and bust a wheel and fender. Then I go limping back to town, my kind of luck berating, and find the bailiffs all camped down in stern and watchful waiting.

Another Sprig Sog.

We saw a robid, yesterday—
The sud-rise struk us dub
With rapture at its pearly glow,
For sprig—ah, sprig had cub!

We took the curtaids off the car,
Thed called for Jib, our chub—
Add drove off at a berry pace,
For sprig—ah, sprig, had cub!

—Kansas City Star.

Typhus brought from Russia by travelers and returning prisoners is prevalent in Vienna.

Family Doctor Missed.

From the Rochester Post-Express.

The Seattle Post-Intelligencer declares that there is in the west a wide call for the release from military service of the family doctors. People want the old practitioner and the old practice back again; the hurried attention of the hard worked physician who must see the majority of his patients in his office for a lack of time to visit homes, is not found a liked substitute.

Nature's Transportation.

From Christian Science Monitor.

One is reminded of a verse about little drops of water and little grains of sand by the estimate made, at the University of Wisconsin, that a single storm last March scattered at least 1,000,000 tons of solid matter from the deserts of Arizona and New Mexico over all the northeastern United States, from Wisconsin to Vermont. The infinitesimal particles of solid matter, swept up by the storm in the deserts, were carried on snowflakes, so many of them that "at least 1,000,000 tons" is the term used to describe aggregate weight, and deposited wherever the snowflakes melted. The conclusion is reached by microscopic examination of unmelted snow in different parts of snow started the investigation; the snowfall covered an area of at least [illegible] square miles, and the estimate of solid matter conveyed and deposited is believed to be conservative. All of which emphasizes the importance of the wind, from time immemorial, in distributing soil over the earth.

HAVE "CA' CANNY" DOWN FINE

English Labor Said to Lead the World in the Fine Art of Working Slowly.

Atwood Flower, the industrial expert, said at a Sphinx club dinner in New York:

"English labor wants high pay, like what we give our own labor over here, but the trouble about that is the 'ca' canny' English labor policy.

"'Ca' canny' means going slow, and it's got to be admitted that for going slow, for keeping output down, English labor beats the world.

"One day in London I was inspecting a building operation. A foreman, as I passed, bawled up a ladder:

"'Hodges, what the blazes are you doin' up there?'

"'I'm layin' bricks, o' course,' an angry voice bawled down.

"'Well, by heavens, by the stillness of you,' yelled the foreman, 'you might be layin' eggs.'"

"FAKE" ASPIRIN WAS TALCUM

Always Ask for Genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin"

If you see the "Bayer Cross" on the package you are sure you are not getting talcum powder. Millions of fraudulent Aspirin Tablets were recently sold throughout the country. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.

Immense Dock for London.

With the object of regaining for London her former proud position as premier port of the world, a new and enormous dock, capable of accommodating the world's liners, is being constructed on the south side of the Royal Albert docks. Its water area is to be 64 acres and, by means of a floating caisson, its normal length is capable of extension to 910 feet—large enough for a bigger boat than even the 868-foot Aquitania.

Can't Be Done.

"One of the oldest and most famous taverns has been forced out of business by prohibition."

"Drat these reformers! I dare say many interesting stories are told about that place."

"Of course."

"How we are ever going to attach any legendary lore to a soda fountain is more than I can see."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

No Sense of Humor.

"How did you happen to lose your last cook?"

"She didn't like my style of humor."

"No?"

"Having shown symptoms of an artistic temperament on several occasions, I asked her if she thought our kitchen was a way station on the road to the movies, and, bless my soul, she quit."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Just Married.

"This book says to put some of yourself into everything you do."

"Yes?"

"And then it is bound to be a success."

"Ah, my dear, you were cut out to make angel cake."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

No ugly, grimy streaks on the clothes when Red Cross Ball Blue is used. Good bluing gets good results. All grocers carry it—5c.

Men condemn because they do not understand.—Cicero.

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force.

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are often due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate should produce a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

Increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, should disappear, dull eyes become bright, and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

CAUTION: — Although bitro-phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not, owing to its tendency to increase weight, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.

"Spanish Bayonet" for Toilet Soap.

Soap manufacturers have found soapweed, or Spanish bayonet, excellent for toilet soaps and soaps intended for washing woolens.

Ordinarily one man can harvest a ton of soapweed in a day. After cutting the plants are allowed to dry for two or three months, and then are baled up in the ordinary broom corn baling machine.

Young America.

"Don't you want to hear about Tom, Tom, the piper's son?"

"No, too busy. I belong to a pig club myself and it's time to feed the stock."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

There is no redress for the man who has but one suit of clothes.

True greatness never has to announce itself.

COULDN'T SLEEP

Was Miserable and Losing Weight Suffering From Kidney Complaint. Doan's Removed the Trouble.

Mr. Griffith

"I was about down and out from kidney trouble," says Harry Griffith, of 228 N. Darlington St., Westchester, Pa. "The kidney secretions burned like scalding water. Sometimes there would be a complete stoppage and, oh! what pain I suffered! My feet became swollen and I had a time of it getting on my shoes.

"My back hurt right over my kidneys. Nights I did nothing but toss about. It was just as though a knife were thrust into my back. I couldn't bend over without terrible pain and I would fall to my knees and crawl along to get hold of something to help myself up. Blinding dizzy spells came on and terrible headaches added to my misery.

"I was rapidly losing weight and knew something would have to be done. I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills and was more than surprised. The troubles were soon leaving me and six boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills cured me entirely. To this day I have been free from kidney complaint."

Sworn to before me.

A. J. TOWNSEND,
Notary Public.

Get Doan's at Any Store, 60c a Box

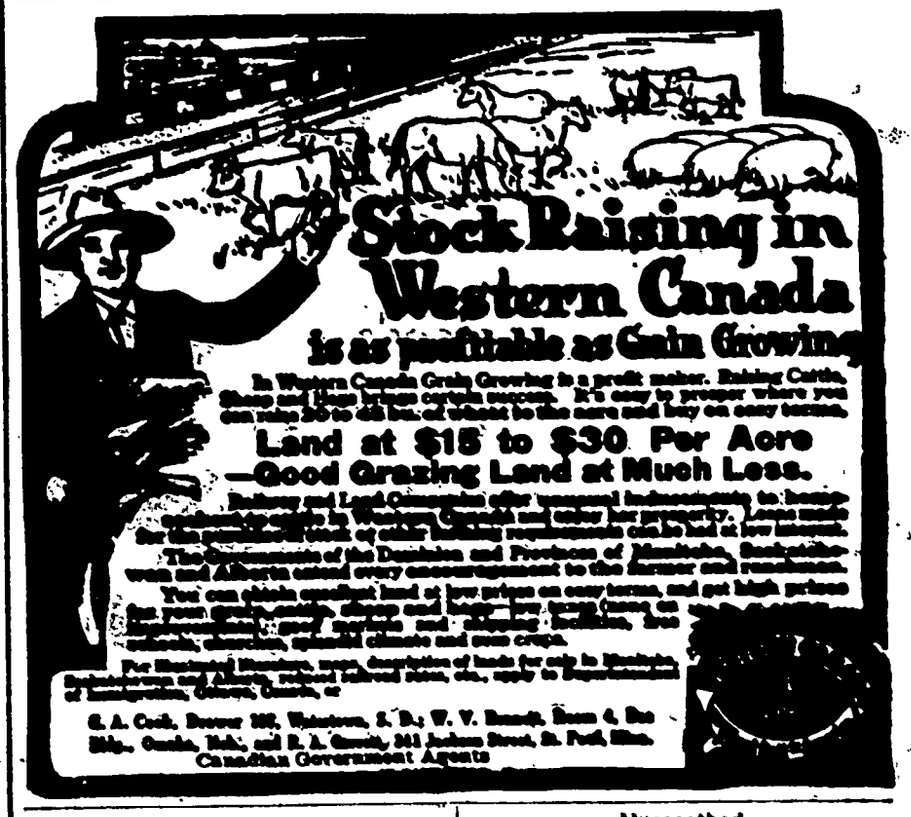
DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

FOSTER-MILBURN CO., BUFFALO, N. Y.

Wanted—Co. agts. for Knoll's Karbonix, latest discovery for autos. Easy money. 37.50 dea. cans. Knoll Mfg. Co., Berwick, N. D.

If you have $100 or more to invest in profitable, substantial business, write Chomley Copper Co., 303 Epler Bldg., Seattle, Wash.

SIOUX CITY PTG. CO., NO. 25—1919.



True to Form.

"What did you do with the play you tried on the dog?"

"Made the fun a bit more waggish, fixed up the tail end and licked the whole thing into shape."

As a rule we have only words of praise for the dead. Our stock of censure is exhausted on them while alive.

Unsoothed.

"Music has charms to soothe."

"Yes," replied the impresario. "And yet some of the best singers are the hardest fighters."

When Your Eyes Need Care
Try Murine Eye Remedy

Corns Lift Off With Fingers

Doctor's Freezone Makes Hard, Soft or Corn Between Toes Shrivel Up and Loosen.

Just a few drops of Freezone applied directly upon a tender, aching corn, instantly relieves the pain, then you lift the corn off with fingers. Truly! No humbug!

Freezone! Your druggist sells a tiny bottle for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn between the toes, and hard skin on bottom of feet, without one particle of pain, soreness or irritation. Freezone is the discovery of a noted Cincinnati genius.

A Fair Proposition.

"Ambrosin, I've saved up $2,000 and want to marry your daughter."

"Do you realize that $2,000 won't go far nowadays?"

"Yes, sir. But it ought to take us for at least six months and by that time if I haven't proved to you that I'm an ideal son-in-law I needn't do a thing for me."

There's a Reason why so many people make

Grape-Nuts

the regular part of at least one meal each day. It's because of the delightful flavor and wonderful nutritive qualities of Grape-Nuts as a health builder.

Wool is Wool
Color is Color

The fit speaks for itself and you'll have to take our word for the wear. But we won,t take your money without standing by every purchase.
You'll find the good kinds of men's and boys' wear in this store and you,ll find it priced right.
Good make—good quality and right price go hand in hand here. Its no gamble its a sure thing.
Summer clothes of all descriptions. Come and see them.

PATTON BROS.
Mason City, Iowa
"Where a dollar does it's duty"

I scream U scream We all scream
for
ICE CREAM

Our soda fountain is running in full blast now and we have the very best in Sodas, Malts, Sundaes etc. Get a glass of our delicious Ice Caerm for your Sunday [illegible]

"If It's To Eat---We Have It"
CRYSTAL CAFE
Elder & Fuller, Props.

DOCTOR MISSMAN
PHYSICIAN SURGEON
OFFICE--State Savings Bank Building, 'Phone No. 1105
RESIDENCE--North of Park, 'Phone No. 1109
X-Ray Radiographs Electrical Treatments
Eyes Tested Glasses Fitted

Make this store your Headquarters

Whenever you want the best merchandise at a reasonable price.

Our tea and coffee will delight you.
Our grocery line is the very best.

We always carry a complete line of quality Dry Goods.

See us for Paints, Oils, Hardware

J. W. WATERMAN

The City Dray Line

Is prepared to do your hauling carefully and promptly.
Your patronage is respectfully solicited.
Charges Reasonable.

Henry P. Yahnke, Prop.
Coal Hauling Done

Osteopaths have a four year course and are licensed physicians. adv.

An Eddie Polo Picture at the Idle Hour every Saturday night. adv.

Something special at the Idle Hour every Saturday, see Eddie Polo. adv.

Try a want ad in the Times—it brings results.

We recommend, sell and guarantee Gould Storage Batteries. Henry Lau & Son. adv.

MILK COWS for sale, or will trade for some young stock. J. B. Spittler. adv-tf.

Don't miss the Eddie Polo Pictures at the Idle Hour every Saturday night. adv.

WANTED to buy—a good wall tent. Inquire at G. P. McCullough's Barber Shop.

C. W. Wiles sells the Owens Lighting Plant for farms. Call on him for particulars. adv.

DROP US A CARD and let us demonstrate the Delco-Light to You. Judd Hardware Co., Kanawha, Iowa. adv.-2w.

Holly and Verner Lewis returned Wednesday evening from a few days' visit at Mason City.

Wm. Becker was a passenger to Garner Friday morning. He went there to attend the funeral of Mr. Goll

Mrs. T. F. Mitchell returned to Swea City Friday after a couple of days' visit with Klemme relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Keraus and little daughter came Wednesday evening from Garner for a short visit with Klemme relatives.

Jensen Horup and son, who have been working in the bank remodeling, left Thursday for Clear Lake to do some work there.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Fuller, Mrs. Barr and Miss Blanche Liljenberg drove over to the Farmers' Picnic at Garner last Thursday afternoon.

Here is an item of news which is interesting. We had lost the note last week and therefore it did not appear. The item is as follows: A. D .Gimer made a business t rip to Sheffield, Iowa, on Monday and while there he disposed of his Minnesota land to parties near Sheffield. Mr. Gimer says farmwork is more backward in that section of the country than it is near Klemme, that the corn fields are very weedy and general farm conditions not as favorable as here, but land near there is much higher in value than the Klemme land.

Elmer Arnold's corn field was a regular circus ground last Wednesday afternoon just before the heavy rain came up. We say it was a regular circus because a circus has nothing in the line of chariot races that equaled the corn plow races in that field that afternoon. In some manner or other one of the young teams hitched to a two row cultivator became frightened and unmanageable and started to run. The noise caused by this team started another team and a two row cultivator on the run across the field and that made two runaways. The other teams also started to run but were controlled before they got a good statr. Both of the cultivators were badly smashed up in the runaway, but the horses and drivers were uninjured.

DIDN'T COUNT
Cornhill Magazine

A preacher, at the close of one of his sermons, said: "Let all in the house who are paying their debts, stand up." Presently every man, woman and child with the exception of one, rose to their feet.

The preacher seated them, and said: "Now every man not paying his debts stand up." The exception, careworn, hungry looking individual, clothed in his past summer's suit, slowly assumed a perpendicular position.

"How is it, my friend," asked the minister, "you are the only man not able to meet his obligations?"

"I run a newspaper," he answered, "and the brethern here who stood up are my subscribers, and—"

"Let us pray," exclaimed the minister.

A PECULIAR ACCIDENT THE RESULT OF A RUNAWAY

A very peculiar accident the result of a runaway team of horses, occured on the farm of Geo. Lewis, northwest of Meservey Wednesday of last week.

Mr. Lewis had just finished unloading a load of oats from the wagon into the bin and standing in the wagon, reached over the side to get a blanket when the horses started to run. He took after them but they were too fast for him, and they ran through a barbed wire fence and down into a slough where one of them fell with its nose in the muck and the other landed on the head of the animal that fell, and it was held there until Mr. Lewis came up and disentangled them. The one animal was dead, having smothered with its head in the mud.

This was an occurrence the likes of which we have never before heard tell of—Meservey Register.

R. A. Jorgenson was a business caller at Garner Thursday between trains.

Billie Busch drove over to Garner Thursday afternoon on business.

Mrs. A. L. Emerson was a caller in Garner Thursday between trains.

Fred Haupt was a Garner visitor on Friday.

Miss Dona Baumgartner was a Garner caller last Friday between trains.

Chas. Stiehl was a business visitor at thte county seat last Friday.

Mrs. T. F. Mitchell, of Swea City, came Wednesday evening for a few days visit with Klemme relatives.

G. P. McCullough enjoyed a visit from his little brother from Garner last Thursday afternoon.

G. A. Goll and family went to Garner Friday morning to attend the funeral services of his father.

Mrs. J. M. Howdeshell and two children returned to Armstrong last Friday morning after spending a week visiting with Klemme friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Fuller and Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Barr and Blanche Liljenberg autoed over to Garner Wednesday evening.

Quite a few cars have been getting stuck just below the hill near Joe Schuld's place thte past week but are getting thru in fine shape now.

FOR SALE:-Monarch six hole range used 1 1-2 years, good as new, good reason for selling and will sell for reasonable price if taken at once. Call at this office.

"Schanke & Company, Investment Bankers, M. B. A. Building, Mason City, Iowa, will buy or sell all issues of Liberty Bonds at highest current prices."—5w.

Quite a number of farmers near here attended the Farmers' Picnic at Garner last Thursday. We understand that they had a very good meeting and that everybody had a fine time.

Dick Bamman, of Garner, was a Klemme business caller Thursday evening. At least he told us he was there on business but we imagine there was perhaps a lady friend connected with the visit.

W. F. Pavey and G. A. Pabst autoed over to Belmond Thursday evening. Mr. Pavey went over to put up some advertising matter for his dance which will be held in the Idle Hour Theatre tonight.

Art Haes, the well driller, was a business caller in Garner Thursday afternoon. He went over to get some casing to put in the well he is drilling for J. P. Larsen.

Art Haes, the man who put our town well in first class condition is drilling a well for J. P. Larsens & Sons. They will use the well to supply water for their refrigerating system.

LOST—Goodyear Tire 34x4 and Haynes rim between Garner and Klemme Monday. Finder please return to First National Bank for $5 reward.

We have a few Cream Cooling Tank left. These tands are indespensable to the selling of a quality product in cream. Come and buy one. Klemme Co-Operative Creamery Co. adv.

Dr. R. W. Schultz, Osteopath, of Garner, will be at the Hotel Klemme on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings, 9:00 to 12:00. adv.

LOST—A book of "Rules and Regulations of Interurban Railways" between Klemme and Harry Gibbs' on May 30th. Finder return to this office for a $2 reward. 3w.

GOULD BATTERIES are rugged in construction and lasting in their performance. The secret of their long life is in the hard paste plates, this construction has never been successfully imitated by any competitor. It was the Gould Battery with the Dreadnaught Plates that was principally used in Uncle Sam's Navy, and Uncle Sam's Navy buys the BEST. Adv-tf.

Miss Clark, a representative of the Jones Chautauqua System, was i n Klemme Thursday afternoon and Friday morning arranging a meeting witht the various committees to prepare for the Chautauqua which will begin July 1st, and will last for five days and evenings. The mornings will be devoted to children's playground work.

According to the Britt News-Tribune L. C. Donaldson and H. H. Barker, two aviators from Milford, landed in Britt Monday evening and the next day gave an exhibition flight and then took passengers for a ride. They charged $15 a trip and there were about twentyfive people who took a ride in the plane. Among those who went up into the clouds were several ladies. The machine was a Canadian Curtiss and would carry two passengers. That's sure easy money for the aviators if the sucker list will keep up at that rate.

Will Payne, of Cedar Rapids, was a business caller in Klemme Thursday. Mr. Payne writes stories and editorials for the Saturday Evening Post and doubtless you have read some of his stories. He takes subscriptions for the Cedar Rapids Republican and in traveling about the country gets ideas for a story.

We have it! Wha

Everything

Which is found in only the best a most up-to-date Meat Markets.

You will always find a compl line of Choice Meats, Hams, Bac Fancy Meats and Canned Goo

Try Our Oleomargarine---It's Fi

J. P. Larsen & Son

Did this ever occur to You?

In to prove your claim for insurance in case of l fire an accurate inventory of your household goo necessary.

This inventory should be kept where it is absolut in a safe deposit box in our fire-proof vault.

If your household goods are worth insuring, inve them. Then talk to us about a safe place to keep t ventory and other valuable papers.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Klemme

Subscribe Today at $1

All Kinds of Hardware

HARDWARE AND GROCERIES
Stoves and Furnaces
Paints, Oils, Feed, Flour, Cream Separators, Bug Wagons, Gasoline Engines.
All Kinds of Farm Machinery

GREUTZMACHER BRO

KLEMME DRAY LINE
LLOYD LAU, PROPRIETOR
A share of your patronage is solicited.
All work attended to promptly and carefull
Coal Hauling Done Promptl
Telephone No. 14

M. O. HOCUM
The Grain, Coal and Live Stock Man.
We will buy Hogs and Grain six days n the week at Highest Market Price.
Successor to W. R. Bloom

DR. L. R. PARS DENTIST
Office 1st Floor State Savi Phone No. 48.
Klemme Iowa

KLEMME TIMES

Third Year — Number 43 — Klemme, Iowa, Thursday, July 3, 1919 — $1.50 In Advance. $2.00 Outside of County

Cook by Electricity

AND USE THE

Standard Electric Range

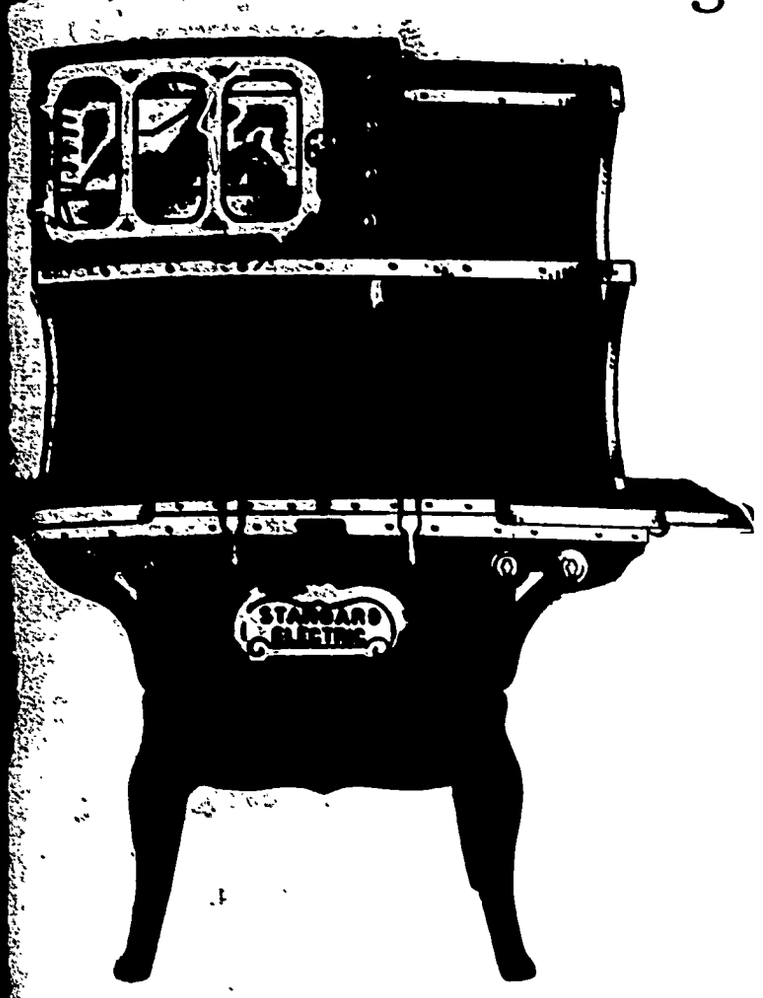


Illustration shows a No. 601 STANDARD RANGE one of the largest and most complete types. A size is for every requirement.

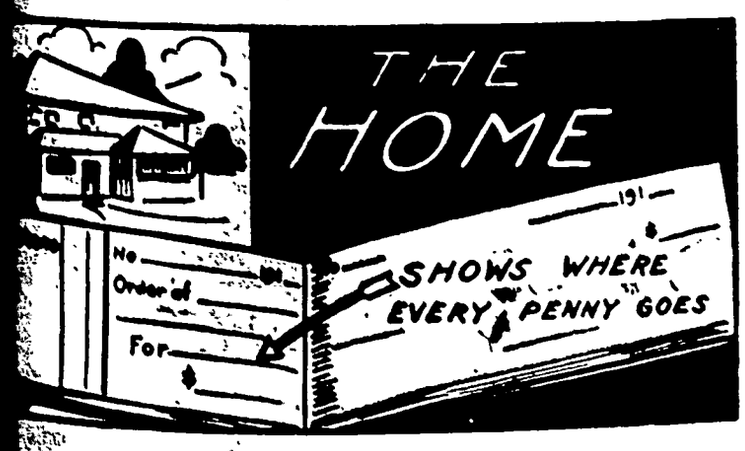
Combination of Electric Cooking Compartments, Electric and Electric Hot Plates enables you to use Electricity most economical way and solves the problem of Electri- ing.

THE STANDARD RANGE
Saves Fuel
Saves Work
Saves Food

"Let Us Show You How"

REX SHANNON

IOWA



A Checking Account

a hobby; it is good sound business sense for every hold. Your check book where every penny goes furnishes the Best possible

Receipt

returned endorsed check. Besides it helps you money. Come in and let us explain.

State Savings Bank

KLEMME, IA.

CLARENCE NEUHRING DEAD

Clarence Neuhring, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Neuhring, of Twin Lakes township, passed away Monday, June the 23rd, after an ilness caused from an attack of the flu thiss pring.

Clarence was born on December 12, 1913, andw as buried in the Klemme cemetery on Wednesday, June 25th, 1919. He leaves to mourn his loss his father and mother and one younger brother.

Clarence was loved by all who knew him and will be a great loss among his little friends but a much greater loss that can never be filled in the hearts of his parents.

The community extend heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family.

CARD OF THANKS

We wisht o thank all of those who offered sympathetic words of encouragement in our hour of sorrow, and for the many and beautiful floral offerings presented in memory of our Son and Brother.

Fred Neuhring and family

GARNER STREET OILER GOES UP IN SMOKE

Monday night ab . 12 00 o'clock the marshall and str et commissioner at Garner decided to put a little oil on the street so it would be on and dry before the morning traffic began. The gasoline generator was started to heat up the oil in the tank on the wagon in the usual manner Evidently thet ank had been filled too full with oil and when the heat began to expand the oil it came over the top and ran down on to the flames of the burner and caught fire. They sure had it going fine and the more it burned the faster the oil ran, it was a regular Fourth of July Celebration and to top it off the gasoline tank exploded throwing a flame into the air about a hundred feet. The fire whistle was sounded to let the people know there was a free exhibition on The fire company arrived also and gazed at the wonderful sight It was an expensive fire but maybe it was worth the price of admision. The wagon alone was worth about $700 besidest he oil lost.

YE EDITOR IS MARRIED

By this time all our readers know that we havet aken the "big step" and have taken a wife into our keeping However, we are too modest to give ourself a write-up so we will let our readers in on the following newspaper clipping which is taken from the Lincoln paper We might add, that we, ourself and wife, thoroughly enjoyed the serenade given us by the ladies of Klemme and the charivari given by the men a little later, altho the latter music was not quite harmonious we appreciate it as well, tin pans m ke a nice band We again wish to thank the people of Klemme for the welcome givenu s

Ye Editor and Wife

The marriage of Miss Mary Jane Davis to Raymond Arthur Jorgenson took place at 12:30 Wednesday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr and Mrs. Titus Davis, 1726 K. Street, Lincoln, Nebr. Rev. S. S. Hilscher, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony, using the ring service Before the entrance of the bridal party Miss Annis Elliott, of Kansas City, sang "Until" and "Beloved, It is Morn." While Mrs. Oscar Wittman played the Lohengrin wedding march the bridal party descended the stairs. The service was read under an arch of pink and white decorated with sweet peas and smilax. The bride wore beaded white satin and a net veil of silk fastened with orange blossoms. She was attended by her sister Miss Ruth Davis, as bridesmaid. Mr. Harold Livermore, of Garner, Iowa, was the best man. During the service and congratulations Mrs. Wittman played a Mendelssohn program. A three course luncheon was served immediately after the wedding to over fifty wedding guests. The Bride's Table was beautifully decorated with pink and white roses.

Immediately after the three course luncheon the bride's cake was cut and served by the bride. A wedding ring, bachelor button, heart, coin, etc. were hidden in the cake in the customary way.

Mrs. Jorgenson attended both the Peru State Normal and the Nebraska State University. For four years she has been teaching in Iowa and just before the close of the last term she was offered by the state board of education the position of Supervisor of Home Economics Instruction for the State of Iowa. Mr. Jorgenson is publisher of a paper at Klemme, Iowa, where he and his bride will make their home.—State Journal, Lincoln, Nebraska.

AIRPLANE FOR BRITT

First Flying Machine Owned in Hancock County Comes to Popular Garage Men in Britt

WILL TOUR COUNTRY IN AIR

Sidney Paulson, of Britt, and Glen Southwick, an aviator, who claims Renwick as his home, went to Chicago Friday and on Saturday negotiated the purchase of a Canadian Curtiss biplne. The airship is the sole property of Sidney and Clarence Paulson. Mr. Southwick has contracted for the season as aviator. He returned recently from overseas where he was engaged in delivering flying machines from the fields in England to the fields behind the Allies' lines in France, and took machines from the front back to repair stations. He is a licensed American flier.

The biplane is a sister ship of the one that attracted so much attention here June 17th and has been in use in training fields in Canada. It is equipped with a Curtiss O. X. 5 90 horse power engine and is capable of flying one hundred miles per hour under favorable conditions.

The Paulson Brothers are not to be found behind the times in their conveyances. It is their plan to tour the country putting on exhibition flights and giving the people a sample of the air among the clouds. Sid is going to Chicago Saturday and expects to reach Britt in the machine some time Sunday afternoon or on Monday.—News-Tribune.

FISHING IN MINNESOTA

Wm. Enabnit and Oscar Lein returned this Wednesday morning from a brief fishing trip at Waterville, Minn., and we have had evidence of their ability as fishermen—a five-pound wall-eyed pike for our dinner. The boys had a string of twenty-six, all nice size, which they caught in three hours. Jim Yeakel and John Lewis also went up to try their luck and Mr. and Mrs. John Barracks are enjoying themselves there.—Kanawha Reporter.

ENGLISH METHODIST CHURCH

There will be no services on Sunday, except the Sunday School, which will be held after the union service in the morning at the German Methodist church. The pastor will be in attendance at the Methodist Centenary Convention at Columbus, Ohio.

CLEAR LAKE MAN IS INVENTOR OF A MAILER

The followlng article taken from the Mason City Globe Gazette tells of the invention of a mailer by a Clear Lake man:

"An apparatus taking a mail sack throwing it into the baggage car and throwing out another sack has been invented by C. H. Nelson, of Clear Lake, section hand. Nelson was offered $20,000 for the invention and will get it, it is believed.

"The government has been trying for years to perfect a machine which will throw off mail as well as take on mail. Nelson's simple invention has ended the effort. The invention is being tried out a mile west of Emery by the Clear Lake railway company. Car number 16 with a man in charge is aiding in the testing. The device has taken on a sack of mail and threw off a sack while the car was going at the rate of 35 miles an hour. It will od this when a train goes at a greater rate of speed also. Every time tried out the device worked with satisfaction.

"An arm with a six foot clearance as required by law, holds one sack, which it simply exchanges for another on the car. Nelson is married and has a family in Clear Lake. He has worked for the Mason City and Clear Lake railway at various times."

TAKES MONEY TO BUY SUGAR

We are all just wondering when Belmond is to become the center of sweetness in Wright county. Some time ago The Herald-Press lamped a sugar plant and had thrown upon the screen with all the vividness of a distorted imagination the concern that was to make for the town, and the projectors especially, a million at each revolution of the hands on the town clock, (fast time), and make the town the great metropolis of the northwest. It is fine when an editor can indulge in such pleasant pipe-dreams, diverting his tortured thots from delinquent subscribers and free "cards of thanks." But candidly, Brother, when are we going to get our sugar from Belmond?—Meservey Register.

Just send up the money, Brother, and the sugar will be forth coming. Takes cash to buy sugar.—Belmond Herald-Press.

Now, Mr. Meservey Brother Editor what do you say?

SOLDIER SHOOTS TEACHER

Attentions Spurned, He Buys Revolver and Follows Girl to Classroom.

Ann Arbor, Mich.—With her death expected at any moment, pretty Irma Gasler, nineteen-year-old teacher of the Rentschler school in Washtenaw county, lies in the University hospital with five bullet wounds, while Robert Warner, nineteen, a discharged soldier, is held in the county jail.

He admits having shot the teacher in her schoolroom.

Warner says he planned the night before to kill the girl because she refused to talk with him.

He bought the revolver four days ago.

Friends of Miss Casler say that Warner, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Warner of Jackson, Mich., has been forcing his attentions on the teacher and that she tried to prevent his coming to Lodi to see her.

She refused to let him accompany her from her boarding place to the school.

Fling With Girls Costs Him $600

London.—Having received an engagement ring from George William Wilkinson, who went to Woolwich on munition work, Miss Eva Lunt spent $130 on articles for the "bottom drawer."

The courtship lasted two years. Then the young man wrote that he "had something on his mind" which he wished to tell the girl, and he went on:

"I think it would be best if we broke our friendship.

"I am spending most of my time down here with other girls, and I can see the way I am going I shall be no good to anybody.

"I cannot be working with girls all day and act straight toward you. I would never be right, as down here I have had my fling."

A breach of promise action brought against him was undefended. Miss Lunt was awarded $600 damages.

Took 'Em Along.

Springfield, Ill.—Did revolvers terrify burglars who invaded Philip Nelsh's home? Not by a long shot! Finding two, they simply took 'em along.

Spare Your Team From the Harvest Heat

USE A CASE TRACTOR

Make this season your most profitable one by getting a Case Tractor to do your harvesting. With a Case 9-18 Tractor you can pull any size binder. Under favorable conditions it will handle two 6-ft. binders (right or left hand cut). The Case 10-20 Tractor will handle two 7-ft. binders under ordinary field and soil conditions. Larger Case Tractors will successfully pull more units proportionally.

When your grain is ripe you can harvest quickly. No need for straining the valuable mares or endangering your team account exhaustion from heat and labor. Avoid sore shoulders, sunstroke, runaway accidents and other risks so common under old methods.

Remember when your tractor is idle it requires neither care nor food.

Investigate the Case today.

W. F. PAVEY, Dealer

CASE

THE KLEMME TIMES

RAY A. JORGENSON, PUB.

KLEMME, IOWA

Albania desires nothing from the peace conference except its liberty, says a Tirana message. It wants neither mandates nor protectorates, but simply self government. The simple mountaineers trust the soldiers of no nation. The only uniform which is welcomed is the American. Albanians associate the American uniform, whether it be that of an army officer of the Hoover food mission or the American Red Cross, with charity and the helping hand Although they have no trust in their own physicians, the natives will swallow without hesitation any kind of a pill or draught from an American Red Cross doctor or nurse American doctors and nurses are welcomed into Mohammedan homes where other Christians would not be admitted. Albanian mountaineers carry their children on donkey back for hundreds of miles over the mountains to the nearest American Red Cross station. In short, Albanians have implicit confidence in Americans, writes a correspondent.

A special cable to the London Times, Daily Chronicle and Public Ledger from Ekaterinodar, says "Imagine half the war office and Fleet street huddled together, say in Taunton, sleeping three in a room and wearing all sorts of costumes and uniforms, working for the liberation of England. That is the general effect of this rough and ready provincial town, in sight of the blue outspurs of the Caucasus. If only British enterprise could devise the means of supplying manufactured goods to this depleted region, where it needs stubborn maneuvering to produce a shett, a razor or packet of paper, not to speak of boots or clothes, further impulse would be given to the recovery from bolshevist ruin."

The Edinburgh mental hospital report states that mental breakdowns due to war have been more than counterbalanced by a diminution in other directions. The war was so absorbing that it distracted many from their introspective habits and personal worries, and was an actual protection to them. The report concludes, however "I must admit looking forward with great apprehension to the effects on the mind and nerves of those who have already suffered much, from the serious recurring outbreaks of influenza. For, judging by the experiences which followed the original invasion in 1889, we may expect many more."

"You must be willing to find me in the dance hall, the club room, the pool hall, or even the back alley, wherever I can serve if I am to remain your pastor," the Rev Earl A Blackman, of the Christian church told his Chanute, Kan., congregation Sunday "I have returned from service in the A E F firm in the conviction that I know what the church must offer to serve its returned soldier You are going to find me in the dance hall, not because I enjoy dancing but because people go to dances. I intend to see to it that the dance is made a proper institution Why not take it away from the devil and make it the instrument of the church?"

The report of the Y M C A shows that it established 1,700 shops in France and operated 50 factories where biscuits and such supplies were produced. It conducted 20 hotels and restaurants, and 2,000 huts. Ninety thousand motion picture shows were given It also enabled the doughboys through its banking service, to send home $20,000,000 to their families without charge

A Rome correspondent says that the picturesque galaxy of beggars who, by a sort of hereditary succession, have occupied the steps before the church of Trinita for generations, but were driven away during the war by lack of patronage are returning It is said they regard their careers on the steps as a profession —that of giving comfort to troubled souls on the theory that "it is more blessed to give than to receive."

From the London Times "A notable feature of the dispatches dealing with the situation in Washington is the emphasis with which the personal unpopularity of President Wilson with legislators of both parties is described. That there is a fierce desire, which is not wholly confined to republicans to humiliate the president, is undeniable but that this desire will lead to the rejection of the treaty the New York Times declares to be incredible."

Germany's plan to place a spy with every unit of the American army failed chiefly because of the prompt action of the department of justice in arresting and interning German aliens, the Senate military committee is told by Brig Gen. Marlborough Churchill, chief of the department of military intelligence.

James Cuski admitted to a Philadelphia judge last week that he had beaten his wife, but justified himself with the explanation that she squandered money—the from $5 to $7 a week he gave her to keep the tabl. The judge suggested he do a little buying himself, and there was a reconciliation ratification was the basis of the proclamation they believe its failure to ratify would invalidate it. On the date of the Ohio judge's decision, an Arkansas judge held that Arkansas voters have not the right to pass on the action of that state legislature in ratifying

A slogan which Secretary Baker says is very effective in army recruiting is "Join the Army and Meet Some Nice Girls." Mr Baker says the army is giving a lot of young men a chance to meet some honest to goodness American girls. He says this makes the army a delight.

William Short of Seattle, has been overwhelmingly re-elected president of the Washington State Federation of Labor. His victory is reagred as a triumph of the conservative labor element over the so called radicals and anti-Gompers faction

A riot was started in Frankfort last week when a French officer ordered the arrest of a German civilian. Order was only restored when the prefect of police threatened that French artillery would open fire if Frenc hofficers were endangered

The price of silver will not fall below $1 per ounce in less than seven years, and probably not for several years later, says Raymond T Baker, director of the United States mint The silver production of the United States last years was 77,000,000 ounces.

Acting Secretary of State Polk characterizes reports of a possible British mandate over Mexico as absurd and mischievous.

Preparation is being made by the Australian federal war service homes department to build 100,000 houses in the next 10 years.

Two thousand one hundred and seventy-six airplanes and 4,000 motors have been purchased from the war department by the Curtiss Corporation, with a view to selling them as commercial and pleasure vehicles.

By unanimous vote the labor convention decided to cancel, before July 1, the so called Baker-Gompers agreement of June 30, 1917, which provided that there should be no general strike during the period of the war.

Germans who have been interned in Australia and are now being deported in hundreds, are making strenuous efforts to escape and so avoid repatriation.

LOCATE ENGINEER AT STORM LAKE

Maj. George K. McCollough Will Have Charge of Road Projects In District Composed of 11 Counties.

Storm Lake, Ia., June 30.—Storm Lake will be the headquarters for a new highway district of the state recently formed by the state highway commission, and Maj. George K. McCollough, recently returned from overseas service, will be district engineer, cording to announcement which has just been made. The district will be composed of 11 counties and all road building projects in these counties will be handled through the Storm Lake office. Major McCollough was an engineer for Buena Vista county prior to his enlistment, and it was under his direction that Buena Vista county completed the draining and grading of the county highway system, now the primary road system of the county.

TAKE BOOZE RUNNER WITH MUCH WHISKY.

Rock Rapids, Ia., June 30.—A large seizure of liquor, 150 gallons, was made here last night by Sheriff R. E. Stratt and State Agent H. W. Terrill. The booze runner, who gave his name as Stranzer, is a resident of Sioux City.

With July 1 but three days away, county and state officials have thrown out a dragnet, which, it is believed, will result in the capture of every venturesome bootlegger who attempts to run the blockade All roads are under surveillance by heavily armed deputies.

SIGHT OF "GHOST" MAY CAUSE MAN'S DEATH

Fort Dodge, Ia., June 30.—William Wiese, a young farmer living several miles from Manson, is in a serious condition and may not live as the result of a practical joke played upon him by unidentified persons. The serious condition of the young man was not learned here until today, although the "joke" occurred several weeks ago.

Wiese was sitting in the parlor of his home with his wife about 11 o'clock at night A rap was heard at the door The man went to answer When he opened the door there stood before him a dummy of a man clothed in white. The dummy was mechanically operated by strings by someone who must have been near the door When Wiese appeared at the door, the dummy extended a hand and the head moved At the sight before him the man stood in mute horror, finally going into a convulsion from which he did not recover for several hours.

The next day Wiese had another convulsion of a similar nature. Medical assistance was called. They could do nothing. He went to Rochester, Minn., to consult with specialists and they sent him away without giving any relief. Every day since the day when the dummy appeared Wiese has been taken with these convulsions, toward evening when he can always see the ghastly sight of the hand extended and the mocking head moving up and down.

FATHER AND SON ARE HELD AS BOOZE RUNNERS.

Spirit Lake, S. D., June 30.—W C. Rathbun and son, Fred Rathbun, are now under arrest in Spirit Lake for transporting liquor across the line. One hundred and thirty-two quarts of whisky were seized. The elder Rathbun was arrested in Spirit Lake for a similar offense about a year ago and fined nearly $400, besides having his liquor confiscated. His hearing has not as yet been held. Much liquor was being brought into Iowa from Minnesota the last few days.

WAR ROMANCE HAS HAPPY CULMINATION

Storm Lake, Ia., June 30 —Paul Groszkruger, a Ruthven banker, and Miss Hazel R. Wirt, daughter of Mrs. C. B. Wirt, were married in this city yesterday. The romance had its inception when Miss Wirt was in Arkansas last summer with the National Editorial Association excursion, and Mr. Groszkruger was in barracks at Camp Pike. They will live in Ruthven.

FINDS MONSTER TOOTH OF PREHISTORIC ANIMAL

Glenwood, Ia., June 30.—Mr. Al Haynie, who has made numerous valuable finds of bones of prehistoric animals in the bottom lands of the Missouri river, recently discovered and brought to town a monster tooth found on the Folden farm, nine miles south of Glenwood. The relic has four roots four and five inches long and the base of the tooth is five inches in diameter It weighs more than one pound. The enamel on the tooth is an eighth of an inch thick.

BUENA VISTA COUNTY VOTES ON ROADS AUGUST 5

Storm Lake, Ia., June 30.—Buena Vista county board of supervisors has announced that the election to vote on the question of paving the primary road system will be held on August 5. It is the purpose of the board and of others interested in the project to carry on a campaign of education up to the date of the election. There has been a marked change of sentiment on the question of paved roads during the past three or four weeks during which many highways have been impassable on account of the mud.

PLYMOUTH EXPECTS TO VOTE ON ROADS

Lehars, Ia., June 30.—Although no action has been taken, sentiment in Plymouth county seems in favor of voting on the question of hard surfaced roads, according to G. S. Huxtable, county engineer. The supervisors may call the election before next winter or at the latest by next spring. The election probably will be on the first 60 miles to be paved in the county as a part of the primary road system.

BRIGHTER OUTLOOK FOR SOLDIER BOY

Gloom Over Physical Condition Dispelled When Government Assumes All Expense For His Treatment.

Iowa City, Ia., June 28.—The world looks considerably different to ex-Private Wilton, of Osceola county today from what it did last week. Someone has stepped in, reimbursed him for the 3 cents per mile to Iowa City, announced intentions to provide for his wife and children while he is having medical treatment, is going to pay his hospital bill, give him a better education in his trade as telephone electrician, and has promised him a good job when he is better off physically and mentally.

When he came down to the university of Iowa hospital the other day under his physician's orders, Wilton felt disheartened. And when the university doctors gave a similar diagnosis of his own physician and suggested that an operation would improve his health, his spirits did not revive greatly.

It was then that the university doctors discovered that Wilton had been in the army and that his physical disability was probably caused or intensified by army life, and they told him that under the war risk insurance bureau he was entitled to free medical treatment. They also informed him that his family would be cared for, that he would be given further education in his trade, and a job would be provided him when he was fully recovered. His benefactor is Uncle Sam.

Numerous Similar Cases.

This is only one of the many cases which have reached the notice of university doctors in the past few weeks. A man, suffering from shell shock and with his case pending before the war risk insurance bureau, decided to come to the university hospital at his own expense. When he arrived officials here got in telegraphic communication with Washington and in 24 hours received directions to proceed with the case at government expense.

Any discharged soldier, sailor, or marine who received an injury while in service or who was physically weakened by service is entitled to free treatment under the war risk insurance bureau This also applies to civilian employes of the government during the war Such treatment is provided at the patient's own volition, it is not forced upon him

The universities of Iowa and Michigan are the only two state educational institutions which are treating these men A provision added to the war risk insurance bill at the suggestion of Harry E. Hull, Iowa congressman from the Second district, enables state universities to perform this service

PRESENT CLAIM FOR LOWER RATES ON JULY 7

Mason City, Ia., June 23.—A committee consisting of R. L. Ellis, C. B Sherman and R. O. Youngerman of Mason City has been appointed to confer with a similar committee from Decorah and prepare an oral argument which is to be presented on July 7, at the Mason City chamber of commerce to members of the Interstate Commerce commission, which will come from Washington to Mason City on that date.

The commission comes to northeastern Iowa in response to a claim filed three weeks ago, for lower freight rates and better advantages to northern Iowa towns and cities.

The North Iowa Traffic association which filed the complaint which will result in the hearing at Mason City is composed of the following cities Clear Lake, Garner, Britt, Algona, Emmetsburg, Ruthven, Spencer, Sanborn Sheldon, Milford, Spirit Lake, Estherville, Nora Springs, Charles City, Osage, New Hampton, Calmar, Cresco, Decorah, North McGregor, Waukon, Lake Mills, Elkader, Northwood, Manly, Forest City and Mason City

MYSTERY IN DISAPPEARANCE OF YOUNG IOWA FARMER

Anita, Ia., June 28.—What has become of Joe Sedlick, young Bohemian farmer, who disappeared from his home north of Anita on February 28? Not a word concerning him has been received by his friends since that day Sedlick has disappeared completely

Sedlick had rented a farm in Audubon township north of Anita. He purchased farm machinery and horses and made all preparations for commencing his spring work. He had considerable money in the bank and seemed on the road to prosperity

He took nothing with him except the clothes he wore. He left all his property, even including his trunk and personal belongings.

The friends of young Sedlick have two theories about his disappearance One is that he was killed. The other is that he became insane and cannot tell his identity.

DAVENPORT GIRLS TO HAVE FINE NEW HOME

Davenport, Ia., June 28.—Davenport has finished raising $194,543 for a new girls' home on the river front The building will be for the Lend A Hand club. Of the amount $125,000 was raised two years ago.

The building will contain dormitories and a natatorium. The club for which it will be the home has over 1,500 members

It is primarily a working girls club.

IOWA NEWSPAPER SYNDICATE GETS MADISON, WIS., PAPER

Madison, Wis., June 28.—The Lee Newspaper Syndicate has acquired the Wisconsin State Journal and will take possession July 1, it is announced. E. P. Adler, president of the Lee Newspaper Syndicate and publisher of the Davenport, Ia., Daily Times, will be president of the Wisconsin State Journal Company, and A. R. Brayton, publisher and editor of the LaCrosse Tribune and Leader Press, will be publisher and editor, dividing his time between the two cities.

THE BOOZE RUNNER HAS NEW ENEMY

Men Posing as Officers Relieve Illegitimate Leggers of Their Stocks of "Wet" Goods and Cars—Big Battle Staged.

LeMars, Ia., June 27.—The latest enemy of the booze runner is his competitor, who purports to be an officer of the law, relieves the bootlegger of his load at the muzzle of his revolver and makes his exit without attempting to arrest the blockade runner An incident of this kind occurred several miles east of here, when two Sioux City men, whose names were not learned, were robbed of their load near the M. V. Heuertz place on the Remsen road. They had a large quantity of booze and two cars The booze and one car was stolen and the other car was badly damaged by the "officers." A regular gun fight was staged between the "leggers," according to Mr Heuertz, who witnessed the affair

BOOZE RUNNERS CARRIED A SMALL ARSENAL

Creston Ia., June 27 —Liquor conservatively estimated of the value of $6.000 was seized by Sheriff Ed Young and his deputies and is being held pending court action Three men are also under arrest and two big cars are in the custody of the officers. One of the men, who gave his name as Panel and his home in St. Joseph, Mo., frantically telephoned to his wife in St. Joseph asking her to come to Creston with a bundle of money to secure his release He also asked his wife to secure bondsmen and a lawyer and send them at once

The seizure of the liquor and the arrest of the men had several dramatic features Acting upon a tip the officers' posses went to a farm west of Creston One of the three men was arrested at the farm and his alleged pals were taken in town a little later

Two autos found in a barn were filled almost to the top with liquor The cargo from another car had been unloaded In the cars were savage looking firearms making up a formidable arsenal indicating the men had they been found together would have put up a stiff fight to protect their cargoes

Two of the men giving the names of Floyd Farrel and Joe Panel were taken before Judge Winter who bound them over under sums of $1 000 each on two charges The federal court took similar action

HE FEEDS BRAN AND PARIS GREEN TO WORMS

Logan Ia., June 27 – Bulletin great news from the western front.

The invader has been checked routed decimated and destroyed

Sim Myers was the general who devised the poison mash that did the business and 68 000 000 alfalfa cut worms lie dead on the field of carnage

The worm army cut four acres of corn level to the ground in 48 hours and swept under the alfalfa like a reaper sickle A square rod of earth yielded at the surface a half bushel of the worms. For a time it looked as if the grasshopper invasion of 1867 would be but a summer picnic as compared with the destruction wrought by the new kind of pest

But Myers bought 100 pounds of bran and two pounds of Paris green mixed it in water and sowed it in the edge of the grain yet untouched

The worms took to the new food with relish, but they soon began turning up their toes by the million

It did the business completely

The worms take to it damp at any time of day or night but Myers says the best results can be got if it is planted at 5 p m

SHE RECOVERS FARM DEEDED TO HER SON

Oelwein, Ia., June 27 – In the year 1911, Mrs Elizabeth Saundry was the owner of a farm in Jefferson township left her by her husband, which she deeded to her son, John W Saundry, upon his advice that unless she did so she would lose it in slander litigation that was threatened by Mrs. Porter and upon his promise that he would deed it back to her as soon as the trouble was over

Mrs. Saundry claimed that her son procured the deed under fraudulent representation and that he refused to live up to his agreement to deed the farm back

The case was tried in Oelwein before Judge Taylor, of the district court, and was very hotly contested for a period of three days. The judge has decided that Mrs. Saundry is entitled to the farm and to $2,000 for back rent

GREAT CHURCH WORKER IS NATIVE OF IOWA

Waterloo, Ia., June 27 —The great outstanding figure of the interchurch world movement is S. Earl Taylor, a native of Iowa.

Since refusing a commercial offer of $50,000 annual salary Mr. Taylor has been the dominant character in three great religious movements—the jubilee education and centenary campaigns of the Methodist Episcopal church, and the interchurch world alliance.

Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor, mother of the man now fathering a plan which contemplates bringing together all Protestant denominations in a world league, is a resident of Waterloo, as is also a sister, Mrs. Alton Dunham.

He is the brother of the Rev Thomas E. Taylor, of Independence, a state senator.

DIPLOMAS AWARDED TO 110 RURAL GRADUATES

Webster City, Ia., June 26.—For the first time, the eighth grade county rural graduation exercises were held in Webster City. Supt. E. F Snow awarded diplomas to 110 rural students, the largest number ever graduated from the country schools in Hamilton county.

Seven thousand students from 80 different nations are in colleges and universities in the United States, many of them studying in New York.

THE WORLD OF THE CHILD IS ONE OF PERPETUAL IMAGINA

TRY TO LIVE IN IT WITH HIM AND HE WILL BE EASI GUIDE.

BY HARRIET FRANCES CARPENTER.

While visiting a school I overheard this dialog between an unimaginative teacher and a small boy who was helping to remove some cobwebs from a cabinet in the class room:

"Spider webs are very beautiful, aren't they, Miss Andrews?"

"Hold the pan higher."

"All spiders aren't bad spiders; some spiders are good spiders, aren't they, Miss Andrews?"

"Watch what you are doing."

"I know a story about a spider. Miss Holmes told a story to her class about Robert Bruce and the spider——"

"When?" severely. The child hung his head. "If you loiter at her door again I'll keep you in." A sullen look appeared on his face and the work was continued in silence. After he had left the room she turned to me and said: "That boy gets sulky spells. Oh, he likes nature work and stories, but I never could tell a story."

Upon my suggestion that stories stimulate the imagination, she held up her hands and with a look of horror declared: "Imagination! You don't have to stimulate children's imagination. The trouble is they have too much!"

She was unable to reconcile her adult mental attitude with a child's outlook.

A little girl as she ran up and down the steps of a broad terrace surrounding a house in the country kept saying to herself: "It's just like an old castle! It's just like an old castle!"

"Nellie," commanded her father, "don't do that! You'll fall."

"She is always falling," he explained to his hostess.

"Does she hurt herself?" asked the lady.

"No, but she might, she is so awkward. She gets worse all the time."

His little daughter manifested a lively imagination, but he did not understand how to make it of use in developing restraint and poise.

Live with children and one lives in a world of perpetual imagination. In no way can we more easily control the child's acts, form his habits, mold his thoughts, than along this avenue of approach to his mind. Reproof may adroitly be given by a playful appeal to the fancy.

"Poor Patsey" murmured a father, shaking his head as his heedless little son, a sturdy boy of 5, stumbled and fell repeatedly during a short ramble in a meadow. "Poor Patsey! One would think to look at him that he had nice bright eyes, but they are just beads."

The next day, running impetuously to meet me this same little fellow stumbled over a stone, fell, and got up saying good humoredly: "If daddy was here he'd tell me I had beads for eyes." His heedlessness was soon corrected by this jest.

"The flowers are asking why Patsey doesn't take his feet off and leave them at home when he comes to see us," I suggested one day when he trampled my snowdrops.

"What do the flowers say now?" he whispered as he quickly removed the offending members from the bulb bed and looked wistfully into my face.

"They say, 'Thank you, Patsey,' replied. "'If you keep your feet off our paths you may bring them with you when you come to the garden.' " I so a rebuke attained its end without creating antagonism

Sometimes it happens that a child loses the sense of discrimination between fact and fancy Then we must clarify their ideas without implanting a sense of guilt

It was discovered that a truthful child was beginning to tell misstatements, evidently not with the purpose of deception, but rather through confusion of thought. I read him an account in a newspaper of a dog that put his paws on the driving wheel of an automobile; while the master sitting beside him changed gears and saw to the essentials of running the car. He made no comment at the time but his imagination was fired upon the idea. A couple of days later he told me that he had seen a dog running a car on Fifth avenue.

"His master was with him," he responded.

"No, not that one, this dog was alone. He changed the gears himself."

Shortly afterward he wanted to know what a cocoon is. I began the story of the caterpillar and the butterfly. "Don't tell it that way—don't tell it that way—" and he said just tell it as it broke in. So I told him the story of the development of the chrysalis briefly and definitely as possible. When I had finished, thinking this a favorable opportunity. I explained the difference between fact and fiction, telling him that we should let people know whether what we told was really so, or whether it was story or joke.

The following is a recent shows the manner of applying my careful instruction. He told his aunt that he had seen two squirrels running after each other on a branch of a tree. Their mouths filled with nuts they ran so fast that they "bumped their heads" and knocked the nuts out. After an effective pause he exclaimed, "That's a joke I made it up! But this is real—" and he repeated a simple incident of a squirrel carrying away the walnuts that he had left on the ground to dry

Some children naturally make the distinction between fact and fancy without assistance One of my little companions usually explained his dramatic representations where they might be obvious, so that we lived in a world of "pretend" without any feeling of deception—"I can't come to see you, I shall be too busy taking care of my horse (you know, my toy horse) and my automobile (you know, my bicycle)."

"Ride over on your horse."

"Oh, he is too wild."

"Then come in your car."

"It costs too much for gasoline and water."

Help to reach all the parents in the country by cutting this out and passing it on to a friend

Wonders of the Pole Star.

From the Rehoboth Herald.

Most people, if they know nothing else of astronomy, at any rate know the pole star, the one star which seems to keep its place in the heavens without movement of any kind. There are a great many, however, who do not know what a wonderful thing it is.

In the first place, it can be seen when looked at through a good telescope to be two stars and not one. There is one fairly bright one, what is known as the second magnitude, and another of the ninth magnitude close to it. But that is not all. The brighter of the two is really three stars revolving around one another, or, rather, round their common center of gravity, like three children playing "ring a ring of roses." This secret is revealed to us by what is perhaps the most astonishing of all scientific instruments, the spectroscope. It not only tells us what the stars are made of, but whether they are moving toward us or away from us.

When you stand facing the star you are always facing the north. The reason that it does not appear to move as the others do is that it is nearly in line with the axis of the earth. Its distance from us is enormous. This can be judged from the fact that although the earth in its journey around the sun is today about 190,000,000 miles from where it was six months ago, that makes no appreciable difference to its distance from the pole star. It must therefore be many times 190,000,000 miles away.

Fifty Mile Vertical Shot.

From the New York Sun.

We are lost in admiration of M. de la Baume Pluvinel, president of the French Astronomical Society. He has found a useful task for the huge German cannons of the type that was used to bombard Paris. They are to be loaded with shells which will be equipped with devices to register the density, temperature, etc., of the upper air. They will be pointed directly upward and fired.

The shell it is expected, will rise 50 miles in two minutes—the distance is more important than the time. Its instruments—we assume the French scientists will arrange for their protection against the shocks of projection and flight—will record the temperature, barometric pressure and what not of distant space and, after poising for an unmeasurable moment at the end of the vertical journey, will start on the return trip.

Ah, yes; the return trip. That to us is the most interesting part of the exploit.

The 4-Hour Day.

From the San Francisco Chronicle.

Mine workers in Florence, Italy, recently went on strike for a four-hour day. Not the least of the troubles of a four-hour day is that it leaves a man more time than he has money to spend in it. One agitator, when asked what would a man do with his time if he only worked four hours on a job, replied that if the man wanted to do so he could take another job.

Investigation has shown that two men were carrying bombs to the home of Attorney General Palmer when it was damaged recently, and that the premature explosion resulted from the fact that the presence of two persons on the street delayed the men in placing the infernal machines

Future of Hog Island.

From the Seattle Times.

Hog Island celebrated Memorial launching five 7,500 ton cargo and the incident furnished a some Father laudatory speeches statements by men in charge plant's operations.

The hard, cold fact is that the used operation of Hog Island is a questionable matter—questionable least, if the purpose of the gove is to foster a permanent shipbuildustry: rather than "save the individuals connected in one way other with that yard According formation laid before shipping cials recently: by frank spoken coast shipyard representatives: 17 ships launched there cost the ment an average of $256 a ton coast yards, which furnished 55 of the tonnage between August and May 15, 1919—or during all period when "ships and more ship this cry of those who were America's war against German —built at an average cost of $199

Is it the government's intention time building at Hog Island at a cost while denying contracts to atic coast yards, which can more cheaply? If so, then the heard, in order to justify somebody's many error in planning Hog such a big scale that it failed to at all during the period of must be preparing to write off terla of millions of ship values it turns over its merchant mar peace time operation.

German Treaty Politics.

From the Dallas News.

A German might feel that the violates every principle declared by enemies as an inducement to sur and yet think that Germany has less from accepting than from re the treaty. What is, not so nat the influence of partisan motive evidently animates so many in those groups. Not all of those who accept the treaty are moved by the that Germany would lose less by ing than by rejecting. The radic cialists favor that course for the reason that they think the adoption would surely result in putting their into power. And the fear that it have that result seems to be one reasons which the moderate op have for urging that it be rejected, materially modified.

Young America.

A firm in Massachusetts averse starting into business, sent up balloons in lots of 10, and attac each a placet, calling for merch the news had scattered far and wi the boys did not intend to let the stuff away into the air and come some one's yard miles away. Wh first 10 left the hands of the man ing them up there was a twang bow bands and a flock of best p shot into the slowly rising balloons dropped to the ground, burst into and likewise four tickets calling although which the youthful A assembled for and took into the redemption.

Captured German orders indicate the allies had progressed a great further with their aerial outfitting planes than the Germans had. wards are offered for captured equipment.

The Finding of Jasper Holt

BY

Grace Livingston Hill Lutz

Author of "Marcia Schuyler", "Phoebe Deane", "The Obsession of Victoria Gracen", etc.

...d at that and the cloud ...ered and brightened into a ...emed to enfold her in his ...derness, yet he lifted not ...touch her.

...ou! How I love you!" he ... tense tone, as if the ... the words were ... ...to know the fleeting ... ...pressed.

...knew there was a girl like ...ed you at once as soon as I ... the train—but I knew, of ...were not for me. I'm not ...'d not in your class at all ...couldn't have dreamed of any ...worshipping you, even after ...together—only you care! ... That broke me all up! ...ything in this world if I ...that and take it to the end ...to remember that look in ...when you said you trusted ...ought I was good—and all ...t going right where they ... me and will tell you, I'd ...opened my lips. I'd have ...one little bit of trust and ... my own; for down in my ...w it isn't wrong. I know ...ust me. I'd give my life to ...trust—"

...looking straight into her ...as he talked and his own ...clear and good, showing his ...spirit at its best. The ... his voice suddenly went to ...heart. With a growing un... had listened to his words, ...felt that she could bear no ... tears rushed to her eyes ... up her hands to cover her ...

"Tell me quick!" she ...tly.

...thrilled with the wonder of ...and longing inexpersably to ..., he put out his hand awk... laid it on her bowed head ...er her as he might have ...child in trouble.

...nothing for you to feel bad ...said in a voice of wonderful ...

"I'm bearing this circum... just wanted to be the one ... myself that I'm not what ...me. I'm not bad, really, ...might be, but I've not been ...'m not a gentleman, not the ...used to. Nobody thinks ...anything at all. Your people ...and would think it a good ...somebody would kill me. I ...see how it is that I can't ...men who love you. I ...you to marry me; for after ...what your family will ...me you won't look at me ...I don't blame you. It's ...fault, I suppose. I can see ...I never thought so till ...your eyes on the train. If ...a girl like you was com... I'd have made things dif... have been ready—but I ...Nobody ever told me! ...too late. I'm not worthy ...

...hand from her head and ...against the tree again. ...pression on his face.

...she pleaded softly, quick ...ging mood. "Please ...that. Won't you tell me ...done taht makes them ...you?"

...silence for a moment be... while the twilight grew ...the coming of a pale ...battling with the dying ...So, in the holy of the ...came to his confession, ...with his sins before the ...the girl he loved.

CHAPTER VII.

...were large and vivid ...like tapers of tall candles ...a soul's confession up to ...

...silence that brooded ...was broken now and ...calls of some wild ...only emphasized the ...privacy of the night. ...souls were thus come ...unexpectedly into a ...of their lives set awed ...before the appalling pre... ...of deeds that are done, ...broke ethe silence at ...

...as bad as they thought ...in a broken voice, ...no hint in it of at... ...but his blame. "They ...things at my door that I ...of doing—some things ...ought to do." His voice ...with pride at last, ...least, they thought I ...them think so. I grew ...thinking so, and acted ...and for the pleasure ...gay, through their be... ...was in the wrong thing I ...had no right to do that. ...now that for—your sake ...kept my record clear." ...gray eyes in the star... ...for one as it look and ...

...of their business what ...and my theory always ...a drinking man' I doubt if many of your friends will believe that, for I'm often in the saloons, and with men who drink I haven't noised it abroad that I don't drink, and only those who have been with me a good deal and know my ways, understand it. I simply don't drink because I don't want to I saw what it did to men when I first came out here I knew I needed my brains for what I wanted to do, and I didn't like the idea of surrendering them for a few hours' carouse and putting myself even temporarily out of my own control so I just determined I wouldn't drink and I didn't. But your brother and sister won't believe that My reputation is understood to be of the worst, and drinking is a matter of course when one is hard and wild as they think I am. There's another thing, too I've kept away from women Some of them hurt me too much when I was a kid, and when I grew a little older and so I decided against them all That's kept me clean I can look you in the eyes and not be ashamed I didn't do it because I had any idea there would ever be one like you in the world I did it just because the kind of thing that some men liked turned me sick to think of This is probably another thing your people wouldn't believe They've heard otherwise of me They've shouldered every crime on the calendar on me And perhaps they've had some reason from their standpoint I haven't always tried to make things look right I didn't care It wasn't their business There was a girl came to the Valley once with a traveling show who was all in She was down on her luck and just about ready to give up and take her own life I helped her out a bit, paid for her at the hotel a few days till she got rested and sent her on her way to her father in Missouri, but you ought to have heard the rumpus the town raised That added to my savory reputation you see Well I'm no saint but I've kept clean' So there you have the worst of me and the best- but it's bad enough Your father wouldn't stand for me a minute, and I guess he's right I don't blame him I blame myself As for your sister' Why if Harrington knew I was out here alone with you he'd bring a posse of men and shoot me on the spot for daring to bring you home He would He feels just that way about

I shall charge all that" said Jean with a thrill in her voice, "I shall tell them how mistaken they have been in you I shall tell them that was only a kind of rough outside that you wore as a mask that hid your inner feelings I shall make them understand that they have not known the real man you are at all"

You cannot do that little girl" said the man gently leaning toward her "It would be best for you not to try Only you do not know in the least what the feeling is against me—"

But you will help to show them so" said Jean with sorrow "You will not go on doing those things - those evil, vile things that made them feel you were not right

She paused in a confusion of words trying to voice a thought against

You will not do it any more?

She said wistfully like a child ...make them see for my ...for your own you will let ...how wonderful you are' How ...you have been to me' You will ...let them go on thinking. You will ...will"

Her voice choked off in a sob and ...realized she dropped her tear ...face down upon his hands that ...held hers. The strong man thrilled ...with her touch and it ...is then as if the most cruel ...part of his punishment

He sat perfectly still and silent for a mo... ...ment trying to gather her into his ...and by effort to crush her to ...his heart he could not. The nobleness ...in him held her sacred because he ...knew he was unworthy Then he spoke ...in a low grave tone and his voice had ...a hollow, hopeless sound

I'll charge of course he said I ...couldn't do otherwise Did you think ...I could go on that way after having ...known you' I never could do any of ...the things again that I know you ...wouldn't like I couldn't now that ...you've trusted me I wouldn't want ...to You have made everything seem ...different If it'll please you I'll promise ...anything you like But of course I ...know that doesn't matter so far as our ...ever having each other is concerned ...Nothing I can do can make people forget what they think I am They would ...never feel differently They would ...feel it a disgrace for you to speak to ...me They'd always think you'd gone ...to perdition if you had anything to do ...with me I'm not fit for you I know ...it and there's an end of it, but I'll ...spend the rest of my life trying to ...make myself what I ought to have ...been, if that will comfort you any"

The girl's hands clung now with almost a painful clasp, and tears were dropping down her face.

"Don't! Don't!" he pleded earnestly "Don't take it so. I'm not worth it, really I'm not. You'll find it out when you get to your sister's and hear her talk, and—forget—about this"—his voice broke and he lifted his face, white with sudden realiztion of what that would mean to him. "Oh, God! What a fool I have been!" The words were wrung from the depths of his soul.

Then the girl spoke, her voice calm with a suddenly acquired strength.

"Listen!" she said, and he wondered at her quietness. "I shall never forget. Never! Nothing that anybody can say will ever make me think as they do of you. I know you—and you have saved my life."

He stirred impatiently, and almost roughly tried to draw his hands away

"Don't talk of gratitude," he said huskily

"No," she said firmly, taking his hands again and laying her own within them as before. Then he accepted them as if they were a sacred trust, folding his reverently about them.

"I am not talking of gratitude," she said, and her voice was tense with feeling. "You saved my life and I know what you are, and what you have done for me. Nothing can ever change that, not even what you have done in the past ,and nobdy can ever make me feel differently about you. I know you, I trust you—I—love—you!" Her voice was low and sweet as she said this and she did not lift her eyes. The young man felt her fingers tremble within his own strong grasp, and he looked down wonderingly at the slender wrists and thrilled with holy awe at her words. It humbled him, shamed him, with a pain that was a solemn joy, to hear her And he had nothing to say What gracious influence had been at work in his behalf that miracle so great should have been wrought in a pure girl's heart for him; an outlaw—a careless, selfish, wild man who had hitherto lived as he pleased for himself, caring for nobody nobody cared for him. He had held his head high and gone his independent way He had held the creed that the whole world was against him, and his chief aim in life should be to circumvent and annoy that world. Nothing good and holy had ever come into his life before Knowledge he had, and a certain amount of worldly wisdom learned in a hard school, and well learned, but love, care, tenderness, trust, had never been given to him even in his babyhood. No wonder he was confounded at the sudden treasure thrust upon him.

"I am only a very young girl," Jean's voice went on. "I know you are right that I must not do anything to distress my father and mother. They love me very much and I love them. You and I can go our separate ways if we must, but nobody can hinder me from trusting you. It is right I should. I owe it to you for what you have done for me—and my love I could not help giving you. I know you are going to be right and true forever, I know you will not do those things any more that have made people think you were not good—I know you will always be just what I thin kyou are now, won't you?"

His voice was low and solemn, and his eyes held depths of sincerity as he lifted them to her pleading ones and answered

"I promise you."

"And I promise you that I will trust you always she said, and thus their covenant was made

For a long moment they sat with clasping hands, unaware of the beauty of the evening, aware only of their own two stilled suffering spirits, that had found and lost each other and learned the consequences of sin. They did not seem to need words, for each knew what was in the other's heart.

He raised her at last to his feet and, bending low, whispered:

I thank you."

He stood a moment hesitating, then gave her hands one quick pressure again and turned away

I was going to ask something," he said but I guess that isn't square."

And she stood pondering what it might have been.

Silently he helped her on the pony and without words they rode away into the moonlight

There were tears in the girl's eyes when she lifted them at last and asked

'And won't I see you at all? Won't you ever come to the house?"

There was a sound almost of tears in the man's voice as he answered:

I am afraid not."

After that they talked softly in tones that people use when they are about to go apart on a long journey and may not ever meet again. Monosyllables, half finished sentences, of which each knew the beginning or ending without the words. Large understanding, quick pain, wistfulness, longing, a question now and then—this was their conversation.

They came at last to the brow of a hill where below them at a gentle slope Hawk Valley lay, its lights twinkling among the velvety shadows of the night. In the clear moonlight it seemed so near, so sudden, as it lay just below them that Jean caught her breath in a cry that was almost a sob. She knew without being told that the parting of the ways had come. By common consent they checked their horses and made them stand side by side Holt put out his hand and laid it on hers.

"Don't!" he said huskily. "I won't disappoint you. No matter what anybody tells you, always remember that. I won't disappoint you! You needn't think I've forgotten or changed. I don't forget the only good thing that ever came into my life. You can trust me!"

"I know," she replied softly. "I know I can trust you. And I've been thinking. There's no reason why you couldn't come to see me. I don't care what anybody thinks. You saved my life! I'm not ashamed of you. I have the right to ask you to call and to receive you. My father would approve of that, I am sure."

(Continued Next Week.)

The National Institute of Social Sciences, through a committee headed by Oscar Straus and George Gordon Battle, has presented to Mrs. Thetta Q. Franks, of Pittsburgh and New York, a medal, as "the best housekeeper in America." It is said to be the first time domestic achievements have been honored.

The steamship Mount Vernon which arrived last week brought a mystery "soldier" found wandering in streets of Paris and suffering from a loss of memory. His only knowledge of his identity was that his name was "Roland Phillips." He has been found to be Roland Phillips, of Evansville, Indiana.

ENGLAND FORGETS POLITICS AND DANCES AS REACTION FROM WAR COMES

Only the Question of the Future of Ireland and What Course It Will Take When Peace Is Signed Broods Over Gaiety and Political Indifference.

BY T. P. O CONNOR.

[London Times Cable Service to The Sioux City Tribune Copyrighted by Public Ledger Co.]

LONDON—Never in 50 years' residence in London have I seen a season gayer than the present. John Bull ordinarily is a grumbler, but he also insists on having his good time. Never did he insist so strongly as today on fancy dress balls and big weddings. Derby day was unexampled for attendance and was reported more fully in the papers than the proceedings of the peace conference. On the opera season, where a new tenor or new prima donna is introduced, every week young ladies are displaying leap year initiative of love making to the despair of old fashioned parsons and prim dowagers. And with regard to dress this, for instance, is what I find in the chaste columns of the Daily News:

"There was no back in her dress; there was very little front, and nothing to speak about in the way of sides. The skirt came to an abrupt end well above the knee. The only articles of dress were a pair of black stockings and a pair of shoes."

Reaction From War's Stress.

Such is London today. It reminds one of that orgy of enjoyment which followed the execution of Robespierre and the end of the reign of terror in Paris, when Napoleon and Barras were rivals for the favors of Josephine, and it comes from the same cause, namely, the cessation of the prolonged anxieties of four years and the spring tide of relief and joy of life which nothing can now dam.

You will, therefore, form a wrong impression of what London thinks and feels if you take too seriously any picture of anxieties about the terms of peace or jeremiades about our financial position. Northcliffe's organs try in vain a new stunt against Premier Lloyd George. Even Horatio Bottomley cannot raise moments of emotion in the house of commons by long peremptory demands for a bigger indemnity from the Germans

London still feasts and dances. Yet, of course, there is the specter of many coming troubles, such as insistent voices that the rise in the price of coal foreshadows a hard winter, with fireless grates. Paris is breaking out after a self-restraint of five years of war; that old feud between capital and labor, which often held up French capital in pre-war days with demands for wages, is soaring above anything the wildest agitator suggested in pre-war days, and here in England labor unrest receives a certain impetus from the strong division of opinion between the government, represented in this respect mainly by Churchill, with jingo militarist speeches, and the working classes and some liberals on the question of support for Admiral Kolchak in Russia against the bolshevists.

Public Remains Uninterested.

There may be a volcano, but we in London are dancing gayly upon it. It is significant at present of the rather disheveled and absentminded public opinion that even the controversy between Asquith and Lord French excites but a tepid interest. Over this and all other controversies there hangs the overriding fact of the entire disappearance of the old party spirit—and that destruction of all old party lines which Lloyd George, for good reason or bad, from personal conviction or personal ambition, has managed to accomplish. Lord French's proceedings, especially in his free attacks not only on the dead Lord Kitchener, but on living officers like Smith-Dorrien, whom military discipline does not allow to reply, and the raking up again of old feuds in the agony of war time does not commend itself as good tactics or good manners. But though some liberal papers attempt to utilize Asquith's brilliant retort as ammunition against Lloyd George for his share in the intrigue that brought down Asquith and set him up, and though Lord Northcliffe, who was the chief agent for producing that result, attempts to renew the campaign against Asquith, the public remains uninterested.

One of the most curious symptoms of this strange unprecedented temper of narcotized opinion was revealed in the debate in the house of commons on the proposal to substitute federal for the present unitary parliamentary system in the British isles. The debate was allowed by the government to occupy nearly two frll nights, and even Walter Long, the most typical tory of the reactionaries, gave his blessing to the scheme.

What happened in the debate would have been impossible five years ago. It is almost incredible even today. Here was a proposal in this most conservative of nations to pull to pieces the thousand year old parliamentary machine, and it was discussed before empty, listless benches with perfect tranquility and, more remarkable, with virtually universal assent to the urgent necessity of the entire transformation of the whole machine at Westminster. A few Orangemen and a few little rump English reactionaries alone opposed, but it sounded like voices from the grave of dead policies and a dead and gone epoch of English history. New parties will, of course be formed in time, but for the moment party spirit and party organization in the house of commons is as clean a sweep away as San Francisco after the fire.

Irish Question Broods Over All.

There will evidently come in time in the United Kingdom local legislatures after the manner of your state legislatures, but it will be some time yet.

In the meantime, as all the members thought and most members said, there is the question of Ireland, different in character and more urgent in demand than the somewhat unformed tepid desire of either England, Scotland or Wales for local parliaments. Ireland, in fact, brooded like a black specter over the whole debate. he Irish banshee, as is often said in the house of commons, stalks the floor of Westminster.

Not a single speaker outside the groups I mentioned ventured to suggest that Ireland could remain where she is. Sir Edward Carson had the courage to declare that the best policy with regard to Ireland was to do nothing. Ronald McNeill, his chief lieutenant, smote the whole federal proposal hip and thigh, but they were so exceptional that when division came the vote in favor of parliamentary transformation was next to unanimous.

What does it all mean? It means that nobody who now takes seriously English politics believes that Ireland can be allowed to remain as it is one hour beyond the signature of peace and the return of Lloyd George and the restoration of normal conditions in the house of commons. I do not now believe anything will be done officially in Paris, and I do not look for the next substantial effort to settle the Irish question for some time, and the real question which gives us anxiety is what will happen in this awkward interval.

The Sinn Fein, brought back to some renewal of life by the visit of the American delegates, once more finds itself with the tide of popular faith ebbing from it, but this subject has two qualifications; first, that daily, almost hourly, provocation from the government in prosecutions, futile, unnecessary and often cruel, always brings back new munitions to the Sinn Fein movement; secondly, that the defeat of the hopes of the more moderate element of Sinn Feinism may lead to such a violent course as desperate circumstances always tend to produce in revolutionary movements.

Making a State Raise Hogs.

From the Laurel (Miss.) Leader.

Moultree had a flourishing lumber industry, but the timber was consumed by 1913 and the mills began to move away. Industrial stagnation threatened. John W. Greer, a publisher, saw the opportunity. He knew the land was poor and the farmers poorer, due to the one crop system and the lack of cash market for anything but cotton. He discovered that the prosperity of Iowa dated from the the establishment of her first independent packing plant. He found that Georgia ought to be a better hog state than Iowa. It produced 14 varieties of hog feed while Iowa produced but seven and had only four months of winter while Iowa had seven. Then he started to work.

The $100,000 packing plant which Mr. Greer started in Moultree has grown into a $1,000,000 concern. He has been instrumental in starting 14 other plants, and is now engaged in constructing a $1,500,000 plant in Savannah. Georgia is now the second hog state in the union, and he says it will soon be first.

Northcliffe and His Mother.

From the Saturday Evening Post.

If you want to get a real glimpse into the character of a man, be he famous or otherwise, find out his relations with his mother. Between Northcliffe and Sir James M. Barrie exists a peculiar kinship. It is not based entirely on mutual admiration. The historian of Thrums never did anything finer in all his writing career than the life of his mother, Margaret Ogilvy. It is perhaps the only time that a mother's biography has been written by her son.

Northcliffe has written no life of his mother, but his adoration for this splendid old woman, Mrs. Harmsworth, who at 84 is as much interested in her son's activities as when he started, is a beautiful thing. Every day that he is in England he calls her up on the telephone. When he is out of England he sends her a telegram. This daily message from her first born—he is the oldest of 14 children—is as much a part of her life as food.

Mrs. Harmsworth lives at Totteredge, which is not far from London. Northcliffe makes it a point to spend one night every week with her. She has so many sons that she can have one with her every day.

Tomorrow.

Tomorrow is the grandest day—an antidote for sorrow! There's no despair for any jay who banks on his tomorrow. Today may be a frost and crime, I'm ever forward looking; I waste no portion of my time complaining and gadzooking. I've always had the pleasant gift of banking on tomorrow; and so my old bald head I lift above the tides of sorrow. You say, "Tomorrow, if it comes, will call forth sultry phrases; let's weep and gnash our toothless gums, and cuss our luck like blazes." And you are old, beyond your years, infirm throughout your body; your eyes are boiled in scalding tears, and I am young and gaudy. I am as chipper as a colt, no trouble will I borrow; and if today gives me a jolt, I'm banking on tomorrow. Tomorrow is the blamedest day, the balm for all our bruises! When man shoos this belief away, all hope and pep he loses. Oh, yesterday made people cry, today we think is sadder; tomorrow's stacking up so high we reach it with a ladder. So let us tin our tiresome tears, and can our sobs and sorrow, and hang pink tassels on our ears, and ban on our tomorrow.

Gifts to Conference.

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

In striking contrast to the political dramatics of recent weeks in Paris was the spectacular appearance of a delegation from Abyssinia bearing rich gifts of ivory and silks for the announced purpose of congratulating France on her recent victory. This is in strict accordance with ancient oriental procedure. These native Africans, claiming descent from Solomon and the Queen of Sheba, wished to be in on the carving up of the world, for they have interests which seem vital to them, although little known to the rest of the world. Seated in that natural bastion of Africa, the Abyssinians have lived in greater or less security for unknown centuries. They are not negroes but a mixture of Hamitic and Semitic races, with a culture of their own and professing the Christian religion, being a branch of the Coptic church of Egypt.

Porto Rican cigars are practically out of the United States market as a result of a strike of cigarmakers and tobacco workers which has been on since the first of January. Approximately 15,000 employes are idle. The strikers say they are prepared to remain idle until next year if necessary in order to gain their demands of increased wages. A profit sharing offer of the company was refused by the workers.

LARGE FAMILIES ON RECORD

Grand Total of Sixty-Two, Borne by One Wife, Would Seem to Be the Limit.

The nation which could scheme out the intensive cultivation of "man power" would win all the wars of the future and dominate the globe, but though this sort of thing can be done with vegetables and, to some extent, with poultry, it seems a far cry for the human race, and perhaps it is all for the best, for if six at a birth became common marriage might become uncommon.

The papers contained the information lately that a woman of Palermo had presented her husband with five boys, all well formed, and, according to the doctor, "eating well and crying well," but this case is neither unique nor a record.

The largest grand total of children borne by one wife seems to be 62—as many as most wives could want, certainly! Strangely enough, this number has been twice recorded. One is set to the credit of the wife of a poor weaver in Scotland who bore her "clubby" 46 boys and four girls who grew to manhood and womanhood, and a dozen others who died ere reaching their prime.

Sir John Bowers of Newcastle, we are told, adopted ten of the sons—rather a large order; three other landed gentry took ten each, and the remainder were brought up by their parents.

WONDER AT FOREST'S QUIET

Travelers Have Frequently Commented on Apparent Deficiency of Animal Life in the Woods.

European travelers frequently allude to the American forest as remarkable for its solitude and deficiency of animal life. A foreigner is struck with surprise, when rambling through the bush, at the scarcity of birds, rabbits, and hares, and astonished when in the deepest recesses of the wild country he sees no increase of their numbers. When paddling his canoe through lake and river he will startle but few pairs of exceedingly timid waterfowl, where in Europe they swam in multitudes. This scarcity of animals, I would remark, is not peculiar to the American wilderness. The same fact has been observed in extensive forests both in Europe and Asia; and in proportion as the traveler penetrates into their interiors he finds a smaller number of animals of almost every species. Birds, insects and quadrupeds will multiply in a certain ratio with the progress of agriculture, so long as there remains a sufficiency of wild wood to afford them a refuge and a home. They use the forest chiefly for shelter, and the open grounds for forage; the woods are their house, the meadows their farm.—Wilson Flagg, in "Woods and By-Ways of New England."

Silvering Mirrors.

There are several processes for silvering mirrors, the simplest of which, perhaps, is to provide a large flat stone table and spread upon it evenly a sheet of tinfoil without crease or wrinkle. This is covered uniformly to a depth of one-eighth inch with mercury. The plate of glass, perfectly cleansed of all grease and impurities, is floated in the mercury carefully so as to exclude air bubbles. It is then pressed down by loading with weights in order to press out the mercury which remains fluid. After about 24 hours it may be raised on its edge to harden, and should be finished in a few weeks. Another method involves the use of a solution made as follows: Mix one ounce nitrate of silver, three ounces water, one ounce liquid ammonia and three ounces spirits of wine. Filter after solution has stood three or four hours. To every ounce of the solution add one-fourth ounce sugar dissolved in equal quantities of water and alcohol. The surface to be silvered is covered with this liquid at a temperature of 160 degrees, maintained till the deposition of silver is complete. When dry, coated surface is covered with mastic varnish.

Novel Cure for Nerves.

I have a Philadelphia friend who was ordered by a famous neurological specialist to travel for a month on a limited express to cure him of nervousness. He took a stateroom and began. He was a man of extensive business interests, but as he could be reached by wire at a known point on the road at certain hours, coming or going, he kept in touch with his affairs without hindrance. It was a giddy life and the excitement effected a complete cure—except that the familiar counting room was thereafter too dull for endurance and a Tigani band was installed that played the wildest Hungarian music from nine till three. To everybody but the boss the remedy was worse than the ailment.—Julius Chalmers in Brooklyn Eagle.

Gems Found in America.

Our own country is far from conspicuous as a producer of gems, but the upper Missouri river has yielded from its gravel bars large numbers of small, bright and beautiful sapphires. They are not big enough or dark enough to fetch high prices.

Nevertheless the finest green sapphire (oriental emerald) in the world was found in Macon county, N. C., and at last accounts was a feature of the collection of a citizen of Philadelphia—Clarence S. Bement. It is a transparent nodule of crystal, remarkably pure, and would yield in cutting a gem of 30 carats.

BELOVED OF TOBACCO USERS

In Meerschaum, Smokers Acknowledge That One Good Thing Has Come Out of Turkey.

Eski Scheir, in Asiatic Turkey, has one unique claim upon public interest, and if one is a smoker that claim is a compelling one. It is the home of meerschaum. Meerschaum in abundance is found only on the plain of Eski Scheir, and this city produces all the marketable meerschaum in the world.

Meerschaum, as its name implies, is supposed to be petrified seafoam, and has been discovered floating on the Black sea. Apart from the Eski Scheir mines it occurs in Greece, Samos, Spain, Moravia, Utah, Pennsylvania, and, in conjunction with serpentine, in Norway and South Carolina.

The ancients are said to have used it as a decorative stone in buildings, and this seems to have been confirmed by the recent excavations in Corfu. It is soft and whitish, and becomes malleable like clay when soaked in water.

Meerschaum used to be considered a mere curiosity by the Turks, who had no other use for it than as a substitute for fuller's soap. The story runs that the Turkish ambassador at the Austrian court, in the eighteenth century, was a native of Eski Scheir. Wanting to help his city at a time of great poverty, he took a sample of this queer stuff to Vienna, thinking that the "Franks," as all foreigners were then called, might have some use for it. The Germans were quick to see its utility for pipe bowls, but declared it was good for nothing else.

More than a century has confirmed this judgment, for who has yet discovered any other use for meerschaum? For pipe making it is an ideal raw material. Here is a stone which is easily molded when wet, and when dry becomes hard and resists fire.

WORDS HAVE MANY MEANINGS

Imagination Cuts Big Figure When Terms of More or Less Picturesqueness Are Employed.

An amusing and plausible analysis has been made of the way many people in the United States use and understand the words "ranch," "plantation" and "farm." In the imagination of easterners, says the analyst in effect, a plantation or a ranch suggests wide acres and a gentleman on horseback riding about to oversee their cultivation by picturesque hirelings, whereas a farm suggests a comparatively small field of growing vegetables personally conducted to harvest by a plain man in overalls. Yet many a ranch or plantation is no bigger than a small farm, and many a large farm is as big as a corresponding plantation or ranch; and the word "gentleman" fits as many farmers as ranchers or planters. The farm, however, says this observer, may easily get into society by being spoken of in the plural; and all the farmer needs to do to attain this distinction is to build a fence across his land and then call it the Something-or-other Farms.—Christian Science Monitor.

No More Dark Continent.

One may no longer believe in the existence of a strange white people in Africa. Rider Haggard's splendid race is probably only the Bahima, originally discovered by Speke in southwestern Uganda. At least Sir Harry Johnston claims to have discovered in them the clue to many of the mysterious white-race legends found in the dark continent. He was engaged in nothing more thrilling than a tour of inspection of Ankole when he came across them. They are of a very light complexion, and are the aristocrats of this region. Sir Harry holds that they are obviously descendants from a Gala, Somali or other Hamitic stock, and adds that some of them are more like Egyptians than is the case with Galas and Somalis. Romance disappears before the tread of the explorer. The dark continent is dark no more.

Sir Redvers Buller's Ghost Story.

Some time after the Franco-German war of 1870, writes Lady Buller in an English paper, Sir Redvers (then Captain) Buller left England to visit the battlefields, and on arriving at the town of —— gave directions that his letters should not be forwarded, and started on his tour of inspection. After he had been away some days, he awoke suddenly one night, thinking he saw Lord Wolseley (then Sir Garnet), and that he heard him say: "I wonder where that fellow Buller is. I can't think why he has not answered my letter." This so impressed him that he returned at once to the town of ——, where he found a letter awaiting him from Lord Wolseley, saying that he must return to London immediately, as an expedition against the Ashantees was imminent.

Famous Sapphires.

Fine sapphires are more valuable than diamonds of equal weight and quality, only rubies being more precious. But ruby crystals (in the rough) are rarely more than half an inch long, whereas those of sapphire occasionally reach three inches. Most prized are the "velvet blue" sapphire and those of "cornflower" tint.

One of the most famous gems of this variety is the "wooden spoon sapphire," which gets its name from the circumstance that it was picked up by Ceylonese dealers in wooden spoons, according to an exchange. A while ago it was in the Hope collection. It is violet by day but red by artificial light.

SMALL CHURCH HAS HISTORY

Many Reasons Why Little North Devonshire Edifice Appeals to the Tourist of Leisure.

It has an odd sound, "Brent Tor," hasn't it? And it is just as odd as it sounds. Brent Tor is a little bit of a stone church built high on the frowning cliffs of the wild North Devonshire coast in England. The church is so little that a Devonshire yokel with a keen sense of humor is said to have inscribed this cryptic warning, which puzzled many a simple-minded Devonshire farmer: "If you get into the second aisle of Brent Tor, you will never get out again." There is no second aisle in the wee church at all.

Brent Tor was built centuries ago by a man who was lost among the steep cliffs and rushing waters of the wild North Devon coast. The fog mists enveloped him. In his anguish as the roar and spray of the cold Atlantic assailed him he vowed solemnly that if he ever came safely out of the fog without pitching into the growling ocean he would build a church where he landed. Brent Tor was the result.

The good folk 'round about Devonshire tell how the devil tried to hamper the building of the little church. At last St. Michael de la Rupe, to whom it was dedicated, grew weary of having the devil interfere with the proceedings and heaved a great mass of cliff at his satanic majesty. There was no further trouble.

A peculiarity of Brent Tor is the fact that it can be seen from all directions—it is a veritable landmark. Before it toss the restless waves of the Atlantic ocean and behind it slope the undulating Devonshire moors.

DID NOT QUITE UNDERSTAND

But Mrs. Smithers Meant Well, and No Doubt Her Good Intentions Are of Record.

On one side of the hall in the new apartment building lived Mr. and Mrs. Smithers; on the other side of the hall lived two girls who taught in the public schools and who were having their first experience in "baching it." Mrs. Smithers didn't know them very well, but she took a motherly interest in them to the extent of hoping that they had enough to eat and that their necessarily hasty and amateurish spread would not give them indigestion.

The other day, out of kindness of heart, she took them a batch of fresh biscuits she had just baked. And while she was there, she showed them how to use the stove, gave them some hints on marketing, wrote down a lot of recipes for simple viands, and gave them a lecture on food values and the preparation of leftovers.

They were very grateful to the dear lady, and they told us all about it. And they made us promise solemnly that we would never tell her that they were teachers of domestic science.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Start of Big Industry.

Upon the invention of a machine for sewing leather shoes, for which the patent was issued to Gordon McKay, April 29, 1862, was built the great boot and shoe industry of the United States. McKay purchased, in 1859, Blake's sewing machine, which was one simply using wax thread, with a stationary horn attached. While the machine intended for sewing boots and shoes operated well in parts of the work, it failed in stitching the heels and toes. McKay changed the feeding apparatus, introduced automatic contrivances, and finally was successful in adapting it to all kinds of work. After the breaking out of the Civil war, McKay began to make army shoes, and in 1862 made contracts with 62 firms for their use. In 1870, 1,500 were in operation. These machines have been used in foreign countries, and more than 100,000,000 shoes are annually made on them in the United States.

Fashion.

Manners have been somewhat cynically defined to be a contrivance of wise men to keep fools at a distance. Fashion is shrewd to detect those who do not belong to her train, and seldom wastes her attentions. Society is very swift in its instincts, and, if you do not belong to it, resists and sneers at you, or quietly drops you. The first weapon enrages the party attacked; the second is still more effective, but is not to be resisted, as the date of the transaction is not easily found. People grow up and grow old under this infliction, and never suspect the truth, ascribing the solitude which acts on them very injuriously to any cause but the right one.—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

Queer Notions.

It is a superstition that as soon as a death takes place in a house, all the looking glasses should be covered up or turned with the face to the wall if they are hanging glasses, and must remain covered or reversed till the body has been taken out to burial, and that no person left in the house must on any account look in the glasses during the time between death and funeral. It is strange, and somewhat akin to the idea, that it is safe to cover looking glasses during a thunderstorm. I never knew of a looking glass which was known to have drawn a lightning "stroke," though the same is possible. Queer notions are often founded on facts.—Yorkshire Post Correspondent.

"Red Top"
the Guaranteed
Fence Post

They are made of strong, durable, flexible spring steel—guaranteed not to rot, burn or break.

Millions are used on Government lands—by leading railways and on America's best farms.

No matter if it is an old fence to repair, or a new one to build—"Red Top" will save you time and money.

Come in and see this guaranteed post. Let us show you how to build a better fence for less money.

Northern Lbr. Co.

DR. R. M. THOMAS
Veterinarian
All Calls Answered Promptly
Klemme, Iowa — Office and Residence Phone

Idle Hour
Saturday
July 5
2 Reels of Eddie Polo
in
"A Pistol Point P... posal
1 Reel
International New...
2 Reel Lo-Ko Comedy
Whose Zoo

W. F. PAVE...
The Practical Black...
OXY-ACETYLENE WEL...
Wagon, Buggy and ... Repairing
Horse Shoeing and, ... Work a Specialty

Col. B. A. Reem...
General Auctioneer
KLEMME, IOWA
Farm and Stock Sales a Spec...
Call, write or phone 508 K... me for dates, terms, etc.
...Satisfaction Guarante...

Inconsistent Man.

When a man marries, he wan... angel; then, after the honeymoon ... growls because he didn't get a ...

Life-Giving Properties of Colors.

Experiments show that the order of colors ranked as to their life-giving properties will be: blue, violet, yellow, red and green. Thus, if a patient is put in a hospital where green predominates he has a far slimmer chance of speedy recovery than if he were comfortably fixed in a blue room.

Chinese Skillful Farmers.

For intensive farming the Chinese can teach almost any other nationality on earth. Their methods would be impractical here, but for sheer ability to obtain from the small space of ground the greatest yield they have no peers.

Eat Mush.

Mrs Exe—"Dear me, I do wish we could stop meat from going up so." Exe—"The only way I know is not to allow so much of it to go down."

Few There Are.

Blessed is the man who discovers in the hour of his adversity that he has a lot more friends than he thought he had—but he is scarce.

Railroad Ties Used in New York.

Out of the 135,000,000 railroad ties used each year in the United States, New York supplies about six per cent, and consumes about 16,000,000.

so much better. "I simply will not have mother cooking in this heat," declared Susan.

"What'll be ... the sweet tooth of the ... if I stop?" ... mother resp... king at th... five young ... d the tabl... and the fa... pg apple pie ... "Th... Susa... and ... "Se... girl repl... d times to be ... cannot eat ... . Those spicy bi... ntinued, biting ... sandwich, "are ... esn't the fla... nd ging...

Finally father summed up the situation:

"Mother," he said, "I'm going to shock your pride and add seven years to your life ... do no more cooking this summer." Susan ... bare the des... Mother w... t little, ... s success a... that became ... overcame th... earn the trick.

Snap and ginger, ginger and snap—Zu Zu Ginger Snaps. Give them to boys and girls with apple sauce or other stewed fruit. How different they make everything taste. Alone, they're a feast in themselves.

NATIONAL BISCUIT ...

The only reas... things were not ... sert was becaus... out of adjec...

... was glad. She saw ... by supplying cleanly baked Zu ... made of best materials, a saving

IMPROVED · FARM LAND SALE!

2800 Acres in O'Brien, Osceola and Dickinson Counties.

Terms: 20% Cash will Handle any Farm in the List.

5 per cent when contract is signed, 15 per cent on March 1, 1920, deed and abstract on March 1, 1920, with first mortgage back on land for remaining 80 per cent. 1 per cent due in 1921, 22, 23, 24, and 25. Remaining 75 per cent due March 1, 1940, with optional payments on interest paying dates.

INTEREST FIVE PER CENT.

ANYTHING FROM AN EIGHTY TO A SOLID SECTION. WE CAN SUIT YOU.

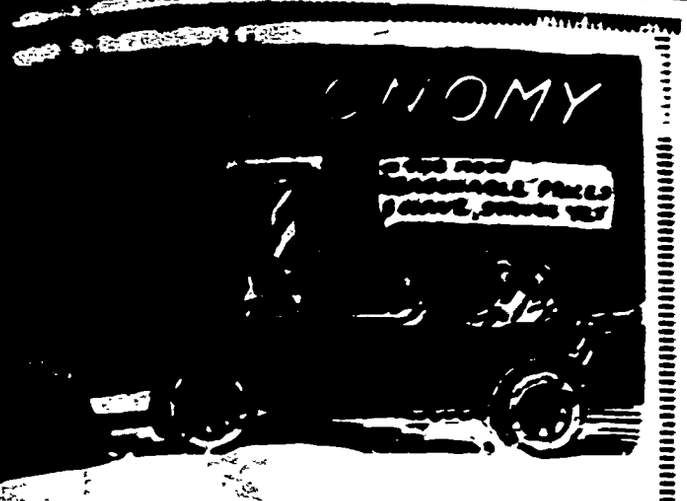
These lands belong to the Iowa Patriotic Fund of Cherokee, Iowa, and the income from the proceeds is to be used to supply the country schools of the State of Iowa with flags, ropes and poles and to maintain them forever. The fund will ultimately go to the State of Iowa for this purpose.

If you are interested, write for description of lands and prices.
Sales made direct to purchasers and not through agents.
Lands are changing hands rapidly and prices advancing.

Address your inquiries to

IOWA PATRIOTIC FUND

CHEROKEE, IOWA.



Overland
and Willys Knight
CARS

good used cars on hand at a reasonable iles Garage

KLEMME, IA.

The Burnham
COMBINATION RACK

HAY RACK SEASON IS ALMOST HERE!

If you need a new rack don't fail to see the Burn-ombination Rack before buying, you will SAVE Y by so doing.

W. F. PAVEY
ractical Blacksmith — Klemme, Iowa

SALE
Household Goods

sold my house I find I have to furniture so will sell at public sale

Saturday July 5
at 2:30 P.M.

y place north of the park ollowing:

Emerson Piano, one Bedroom et, one set of harness, one 14 walking plow, one good range nd other goods. Everything n good shape.

Fred Musfelt
Owner

Col. B. A. Reemstma Auctioneer

BANDIT PAROLED FOR THIRD TIME

Henry Starr, Oklahoma Highwayman, Is Freed From Prison.

WIFE GETS HIM OUT

Notorious Indian Desperado of Southwest Gains Freedom Through Untiring Efforts of His Mate—Is Changed Man.

Tulsa, Okla.—Henry Starr, Oklahoma's notorious Indian bandit, has been released from the state penitentiary after serving four years of a 25-year sentence.

Twice before the prison doors have swung open before the term of the Cherokee highwayman was over, but each time he drifted back into old lanes.

Starr's parents were law-abiding members of the Cherokee nation, his father a half-blood and his mother quarter Indian. The boy attended Cherokee school until he was eleven. His father died and his mother married again when he was thirteen. Young Starr disagreed with his stepfather and left home. That was the start of his trouble.

Slew an Officer.

In 1892, the express office at Nowata was robbed. One of the robbers rode into a wire fence and was thrown. The horse was found with a saddle which Henry Starr had borrowed from a friend. A few weeks later Starr returned to Nowata. When Floyd Wilson, deputy marshal attempted to arrest him, the young Cherokee shot and killed the officer.

He escaped, but was caught later and taken to Fort Smith, Ark., tried and sentenced to be hanged, but was given a new trial. After nearly two years he was sentenced to 13 years in the federal penitentiary at Columbus, O.

When Starr had served eight of the thirteen years of his sentence he was pardoned by President Roosevelt.

During the eight years incarceration Starr devoted himself to reading, specializing particularly in law. He announced that he intended to settle down on his farm near here and try to obtain a degree as a lawyer. He married, and when a son was born he named him Roosevelt.

Shot and Killed the Officer.

However, not long afterward, in 1909, Starr was arrested in Colorado and convicted of the Amityville bank robbery of a year before. Again he was imprisoned and again he became a model prisoner and eventually won a parole.

It was in the double bank robbery by the Starr gang at Stroud, Okla., in 1915, that the outlaw leader reappeared. A boy with a sawed-off shotgun shot him and he was captured. A 25-year sentence followed his plea of guilty.

Starr's recent parole was obtained through the efforts of his wife, who has supported herself by teaching school, and those of his son, and a former United States marshal.

A quiet, straight-standing man of forty-five, Starr looks out on life with less fire than he did 15 years ago, his friends say, but with a philosophy that can only mean success.

TYPHUS SPREADS IN EAST

Menacing in Poland, Russia, Serbia and Macedonia, Red Cross Learns.

Cannes.—Grave reports relative to the progress of typhus fever in eastern Poland, Russia, Serbia and Macedonia were received at the Red Cross conference here from Red Cross agents in those countries. Experts on typhus who were present formed a committee to advise the organization as to means for combating the disease, forecasting a new organization within the Red Cross.

Reports from agents gave experts the impression that the situation was even more serious than was stated in messages received, but that proper measures would probably prevent the disease from spreading to Italy, France, England and America.

OTHER WOMAN HELPS WIFE OUT

Love Confession Assists Friend to Get Divorce From Doctor.

SAID HE LOVED BOTH

Two Women in Triangle Reject Doctor and Seek New Life—Declare They Both Had a Disgusting Experience.

Chicago.—The two pilgrimed loves of Dr. F. J. Cicotte sat in the law offices of Erbstein, Heyman and Sellick.

They had passed an interesting day. And they were free, one from her husband and the other from her conscience.

Let them be presented—

Mrs. Lucille Cicotte, assured of her freedom by Judge Jacob Hopkins.

Miss Lydia Thomas, who loved and lost.

They Tell It to Judge.

They told their woes to the judge, with promptings by Attorney Alexander H. Heyman. Court hearings are sometimes drab. Let them tell their own stories as they related them in the lawyers' offices.

"I met Doctor Cicotte four year ago," said Mrs. Cicotte. "And we dropped into the love net—at least I did. Two years ago he met Miss Thomas.

"Well, we both loved him for awhile and he told us he loved us. He would tell me so and then go over and tell Lyda the same story," Mrs. Cicotte continued. "Then we got together, Lyda and I, and resolved to put it up to him.

"We went to his office and told him flat that he had to marry one of us or lose us both. He asked me if I would promise on my word of honor to do whatever he decided, and I promised, thinking sure he was going to marry the other girl."

"Yes, and he asked me if I would promise the same thing," spoke up Miss Thomas. "I thought he was in love with Lucille, so I promised on my word."

Then the doctor decided to marry Lucille and as she says, "she had to keep her promise."

"Later I found out that he was still

"We Went to His Office and Told Him Flat That He Had to Marry One of Us or Lose Us Both."

seeing Miss Thomas and I asked him about it," said Mrs. Cicotte.

Attorney Heyman spoke up:

"He denied the fact," he said, "and challenged his wife to prove it."

"He thought I would lie for him," said Miss Thomas.

Admits Relationship.

But Miss Thomas came to court and admitted improper conduct with the doctor since his marriage. She brought letters the doctor had written to her, and the judge indicated he would divorce Mrs. Cicotte.

Then came the philosophy.

"We have both had a disgusting time," said Mrs. Cicotte, "and we both have been badly disappointed in love, but it's a long lane that doesn't have a bend and we're both coming to that bend."

"There certainly are some good men left," sighed Miss Thomas, looking at the jonquils pinned to her breast. "We'll find two good men and I hope we'll be able to appreciate them when they come. We couldn't right now, but time will erase the unpleasant memories and we'll never let them go if we do find two good men."

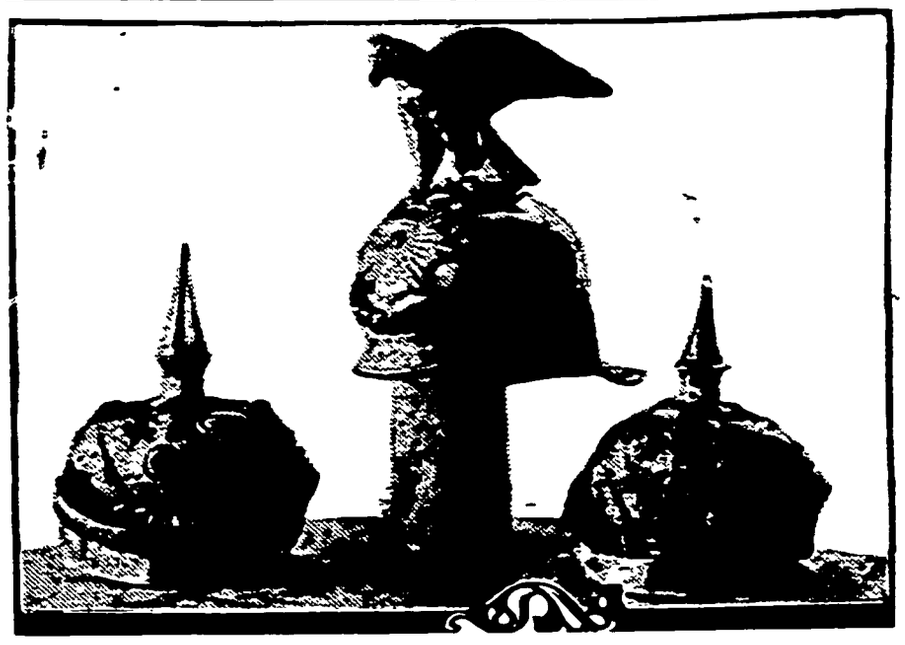
OPENS SAFE FOR THIEVES

Ohio Business Men Have Taken Precautions Against Amateur Robbers.

Steubenville, Ohio—"This safe is unlocked. Go to it." This sign has been displayed in a number of stores in Steubenville, Ohio, for the information of cracksmen and burglars.

Business men took this precaution to protect their safes from being ruined by amateur yeggs who have been using sledge hammers in place of "soup."

Helmets Worn by German War Lords on Exhibit at Methodist Centenary Celebration



THREE helmets, absolutely guaranteed to have been worn by the former Kaiser William of Germany; Von Bethmann-Hollweg and General Ludendorff, will be on exhibition in Columbus, O., as a part of the Methodist Centenary Celebration, June 20 to July 13. They were brought out of Germany during the revolution by Lowell Thomas, world traveler and explorer, whose travelogues will be given in Columbus as a feature of the celebration.

Thomas entered Germany at this most critical period, without passports or authority of any kind. To do this he was forced to hide out for days on the border. He was turned back twice, but on his third attempt succeeded in getting past a Swiss guard. He made some wonderful pictures in Berlin, showing street riots and the general chaos of the city at that time.

In addition to these views and incidental lectures, Mr. Thomas will show pictures taken in Palestine at the time of General Allenby's occupation. Thomas accompanied the British troops on this expedition.

Hot weather, its here!

How are you fixed for wearing apparel suitable for this kind of weather? We've been telling you about it for sometime and now we are face to face with the extremely hot season.

For Your Consideration We Offer the Following Suggestions

Panama Hats	Palm Beach and Outing Trousers
Straw Hats	Poros Knit and other lightweight Underwear
Fancy Hosiery
Oxfords	Silk Shirts
Tennis Shoes	Madras Shirts
Ventilated Oxfords	Washable Neckwear
Flannel Suits	Soft Collars
Palm Beach Suits	Outing Suits

July 4th will soon be here--you know it is always hot so prepare now—don't put it off.

Store will be open Thursday evening

Gildner Bros. & Johnson
"IOWA'S LARGEST CLOTHIERS"
The Home of Hart, Schaffner & Marx Clothes
Fourteen Stores. — Garner, Iowa

Sell Your Grain To

Walter F. Lau

And receive the highest price and correct weight. Will buy Hogs every day in the week. Also handle high grade COAL. Give me a trial and I will Show you the RESULTS.

Office Phone No. 16. — Residence Phone No. 52

HOW THIS NERVOUS WOMAN GOT WELL

Told by Herself. Her Sincerity Should Convince Others.

Christopher, Ill.—"For four years I suffered from irregularities, weakness, nervousness, and was in a run down condition. Two of our best doctors failed to do me any good. I heard so much about what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for others, I tried it and was cured. I am no longer nervous, am regular, and in excellent health. I believe the Compound will cure any female trouble."—Mrs. ALICE HELLER, Christopher, Ill.

Nervousness is often a symptom of weakness or some functional derangement, which may be overcome by this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as thousands of women have found by experience.

If complication exist, write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for suggestions in regard to your ailment. The result of its long experience is at your service.

Can't Get Ahead of Boys.

A firm in Massachusetts avenue, just starting into business, sent up rubber balloons in lots of ten, and attached to each was a ticket calling for merchandise. The news was spread far and wide. But the boys did not intend to let the baloons sail away into the air and come down in some one's yard miles away.

When the first ten left the hands of the man sending them up there was a twang of rubber bands and a flock of tent pins was shot into the slowly rising balloons. Four dropped to the ground, burst into bits—and likewise four tickets calling for merchandise which the youthful bandits scrambled for and took into the store for redemption.

WORSE THAN DEADLY POISON GAS

Kidney disease is no respector of persons. It attacks young and old alike. In most cases the victim is warned of the approaching danger. Nature fights back. Headache, indigestion, insomnia, lame back, lumbago, sciatica, rheumatism, pain in the loins and lower abdomen, difficulty in urinating, all are indication of trouble brewing in your kidneys.

When such symptoms appear you will almost certainly find quick relief in GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules.

This famous old remedy has stood the test for two hundred years in helping mankind to fight off disease.

It is imported direct from the home laboratories in Holland, where it has helped to develop the Dutch into one of the sturdiest and healthiest races in the world, and it may be had at almost every drug store. Your money promptly refunded if it does not relieve you. Be sure to get the genuine GOLD MEDAL Brand. In sealed packages, three sizes.—Adv.

Indian Calm.

"You can't feaze an Indian," said Indian Commissioner Malcolm McDowell. "You can't ruffle an Indian's calm dignity.

"I once had the satisfaction to point out to an Indian chief an airplane sailing across the sky. It was the first airplane he'd ever seen, and I had fond hopes that he'd show some excitement.

"'There!' I said. 'There! What do you think of it? Isn't it extraordinary?'

"The chief looked up at the airplane calmly; then he looked calmly at me.

"'But it was built to do that, wasn't it?' he said."

"BAYER CROSS" ON GENUINE ASPIRIN

"Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" to be genuine must be marked with the safety "Bayer Cross." Always buy an unbroken Bayer package which contains proper directions to safely relieve Headache, Toothache, Earache, Neuralgia, Colds and pain. Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets cost but a few cents at drug stores—larger packages also. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.—Adv.

Where Else?

"I hear strange sounds in my ears, Doc." "Well, where would you expect to hear them?"

Every married man is in favor of a heavy tax on bachelors.

YOUR EYES Books, Refreshes, Soothes, Heals—Keep your Eyes Strong and Healthy. If they Tire, Smart, Itch, or Burn, If Sore, Irritated, Inflamed or Granulated, Safe for Infant or Adult. At all Druggists. Write for Free Eye Book. Murine Eye Remedy Company, Chicago, U. S. A.

The Finding of Jasper Holt

BY

Grace Livingston Hill Lutz

Author of "Marcia Schuyler", "Phoebe Deane", "The Obsession of Victoria Gracen", etc.

Lights flashed below them in the village and voices rose; a coarse laugh rang out and a child's cry; some people talked in an open doorway in another place and called good night. Then a door slammed and other lights twinkled; just the commonplace noises of life jarring in to break a moment of tremendous import in the lives of these two. The time had come to go down to their valley and they knew it. With one lingering hand clasp they started on down to the village.

Holt selected the shadowed ways and quieter approach to the Harrington home, and the two rode silently until they came to the house.

"You're wonderful!" he exclaimed intensely. "You're not like any other girl I ever saw. But, it wouldn't do. Your father might stand for it, but your brotherinlaw never would. He hates me like poison, not so much because of my reputation as because I've stood in the way of some of his plans. He would kick me out like a dog if I darkened his doors. You'll understand when you hear them talk. It would be just as well if you didn't say anything about me. It won't be necessary for them to know who brought you home; just say a man who was on the train——"

Jean straightened up in her saddle and grasped his hand.

"Indeed I shall tell them who brought me out of death, and just what I think of him. They shall know all that you have done for me. Do you think I would keep still about it? I couldn't. It would be disloyalty. It would be cowardly!"

He watched her kindling face and flashing eyes in the moonlight and hungrily stored the picture away in his memory.

"Darling!" he breathed reverently, as if the words were drawn from his lips in spite of all resolution. Then, raising his voice a trifle, and lifting his head to the night sky:

"I never knew a girl could be like this! What a fool I have been!" The words ended almost in a groan, and for answer the girl drew nearer to him and laid her other hand gently upon his.

Holt checked the horses and dismounting, stood beside Jean in the shadow of a great tree by the roadside. Within 10 feet of them the light from a wide window streamed out upon the grass in front of a pleasant house built in bungalow style, with broad porches and vine clad approaches. Hammocks and easy rockers were dimly visible, with a brighter hint of glow and warmth inside the swaying curtains of a window where a piano was sounding pleasantly, and a man and woman were sitting on either side of a table under a prettily shaded reading lamp. A boy's voice called down the stairs and the little girl at the piano stopped playing and answered him; then tinkled on with her music.

All this the two under the tree saw and heard without sensing it. They were looking into one another's eyes in the semi-darkness, realizing that across that streak of light was separation for them, perhaps forever; and that probably this instant here and now was all that was left to them together out of the eternity of the future years.

Jean put her hands timidly on Holt's shoulders. "I've been thinking what it was you wanted to ask of me," she said so softly that if one had been passing it would have seemed but the breathing of the evening air. She waited and Holt looked at her wistfully.

"I have no right," he said. "It wouldn't be square."

The girl's eyes looked steadily, shyly into his, though in the shadow they could see more with the spirit than with the material vision.

"Was it——?" she stopped, her heart beating fast. "Was it—this?"

She leaned forward and kissed him softly on the forehead just where the soft curls waved away; and her lips were like a benediction, that seemed to bring forgiveness and a purging away of the past.

With bowed head as at a sacrament he stood, then softly said:

"You have understood, and I thank you. I had no right to ask, but I can never forget or be false to that."

He stopped and laid his lips reverently on her hands; then lifted her down quickly, as if he could not bear to make the sorrow of the parting longer; and together they went forward across the patch of light, up the path and the wide low steps to the porch.

Holt knocked once on the door, not loudly, but there was in the sound a menace that made Jean shudder as she heard it. She reached out her hand to his as if she would take shelter there from something that was coming, that she could not quite understand. Holt pressed her fingers quickly, tightly in a clasp that almost hurt her, and then dropping her hand, stepped back into the shadow of the vines as the tinkling piano stopped. There was a sound of footsteps coming to the door, and of voices in expectation.

The door was flung wide and in the stream of light Mr. and Mrs. Harrington stood looking eagerly out into the darkness, with a little girl of 12 in a white dress, peering shyly but curiously around her mother and a boy of 5 struggling to get into the center of the family group. Jean stood alone in the light on the porch, with Holt in the shadow at her side.

"I have brought Miss Grayson," said Holt in a grave, almost challenging tone, from his dark position just outside the stream of light.

But the people in the doorway whose eyes had come fro mthe lighted room saw only the figure of the girl standing in the brightness.

"Oh, Jean! My little sister! You have come at last!" cried Mrs. Harrington, rushing forward to clasp her in her arms, and draw her inside the door; and in the confusion of the greetings the girl's escort was quite forgotten for the moment.

Within the doorway at last they looked about for him and found no one.

"Why, who came with you, child? Where has he gone?" asked her brotherinlaw solicitously. "We must ask him in and hear all about your adventures." He stepped out on the porch and looked down the path in the moonlight, but saw no one anywhere.

"Yes, please ask him in," pleaded Jean, her face illumined with eagerness, "he has been so wonderful! He saved my life. If it hadn't been for him I shouldn't have been here." And she hurried to the door and peered out into the darkness.

"Of course," said her sister, going to the door to look. "How thoughtless of us not to have welcomed him at once, gut we were so overwhelmed to have you at last, after all the anxiety—you can't think how terrible it has been. Which way could he have gone? James, look down the road either way. He can't be far away. What was his name, Jean? Can't you call after him?"

"He must be over there." Jean pointed toward the great tree where the horses had stood but a short moment before. "We dismounted just under that tree. He can't have gone far with two horses—so soon——" and she hurried across the grass to the tree, but there was no sign of horse or man in the deep shadow or the serene moonlight anywhere.

"Call, James!" commanded Mrs. Harrington, and her husband obeyed, but no answering call came back, save the echoes of his voice.

"What did you say his name was, Jean?" asked the puzzled householder walking slowly back to the steps. "It seems very strange he could get away so soon. Where was he going? Did he live near here? We ought to put him up for the night, of course. It's most mortifying to have him disappear in this manner when he has been so good to you. He must have gone to find rest and food for his horses and himself. I'll send the servant out to look him up. He'ss surely find him. What did he look like? What did you say was his name?"

Jean, slowly climbing the steps to the porch, and comprehending that Holt's disappearance had been intentional, answered in a strange low voice that tried to be natural:

"Holt, his name was Holt, Jasper Holt——" her voice lingered on the words as if she would glorify the man by merely speaking his name, and elevate him in their eyes to the place he occupied in her heart.

"Holt!" exclaimed her brotherinlaw. "Holt! Not Jasper Holt! Impossible! There must be some mistake."

"It couldn't have been Jasper Holt, of course," said his wife quite decidedly. "He isn't capable of saving anybody's life, much less a relative of ours, Jean dear. It must have been someone else. Are you sure about the name?"

"Quite sure!" said Jean composedly, though she felt her whole frame trembling.

"Perhaps it was his father," suggested Eleanor, looking at her husband. "Have you ever heard that Jasper Holt had a father living, James? How old a man was he, Jean?"

"He was a young man, Eleanor, tall and handsome, and very brave and strong." Jean's eyes were lifted to met her sister's smiling doubt, and her chin was raised with an attitude of defiance.

"Listen, Eleanor, he was wonderful. I dropped from the window of the burning sleepr into a river, and something struck me on the head when I rose and tried to swim."

"You poor, dear little girl!" interpolated Eleanor, reaching out yearning arms to clasp her sister again, but Jean held her gently back and went on with her eager tale.

"He caught me and dragged me along, helping me as far as I could go, and when I couldn't swim any longer he brought me a long distance himself to land, and carried me a great ways through the woods. He built a fire, dried his own coat, and put it over me while I slept. He took care of me just as my own father might have done; found food, water, and a house where we slept the first night; and where we got horses. He has been splendid to me all day."

"Well, he can't be our Jasper Holt, dearie—it's impossible. He isn't a bit like that——"

"Yes," said Jean, looking earnestly, bravely at her sister. "Yes, Eleanor, it is your Jasper Holt. He told me you did not like him, but I'm sure you don't know what he really is—or you couldn't, you couldn't possibly think ill of him. Oh, Eleanor——'" and suddenly Jean's courage gave way in a flood of tears and she threw herself in her sister's arms.

"You poor, dear litle girl' You are all worn out and we are letting you stand here and talk when you ought to be in bed this minute," exclaimed her sister, folding her in loving arms. "Never mind now, dear, you just forget it till tomorrow. It was an awful experience for you to go through all alone with a strange man, and you need a lot of rest before you can tell us about it. Come now, James will send the man out to hunt for your escort and you needn't worry any more. We shall find out there is some mistake. I'm sure the Jasper Holt we know would never turn out of his way to ve anybody's life—he'd much rather kill someone—unless he had some evil purpose in it. It's possibly someone who has used his name for fun or something. Come now, Jean dear, take off your hat. Why, child, where did you get this ridiculous rig you have on? It's good it wasn't daylight when you arrived. It was thoughtful of your escort to bring you in the dark. Your trunk arrived yesterday. Come up to your room and wash while I have your supper put on the table. I've kept it nice and hot, for I knew you would be hunfgry" ?

Jean suddenly lifted up her head and wiped the tears away

"I'd like to tell you just a little first, if you please," she said. "It's no use whatever for you to send out to find Mr Holt. He wil lnot come back, I am sure. I supose he meant to slip away. He told me before he got here that you would not want him. He did not want me to mention him at all, but I had to tell you how fine he has been."

Mrs Harrington and her husband stood looking at one another aghast; while Jean, her hair disheveled, her sweet face glowing with eagerness, sketched most briefly but forcibly the peril through which she had come and the faithfulness and care of her protector. More than one glance of incredulity passed between husband and wife as the girl went on with her story, and yet, as she came to her final sentences, they perceived that her protector and savior must have been the Jasper Holt they knew and despised.

"I guess it was Holt all right!" said Harrington, with an ominous frown, "and he did well to disappear like the coward that he is. He knew he was not wanted around here!"

"Coward?" exclaimed Jean. "coward! Jasper Holt is no coward! You do not know him!" Her eyes were flashing fire, her whole slender body tense with indignation.

Eleanor looked alarmedly at her husband, but tried to smile pacifically at her sister. "Never mind tonight, dear," she said soothingly, "he's evidently appeared to you as an angel of light. He is handsome, I must admit—in a kind of a dashing, dreadful way—and of course anyone who saved you and was kind to you would be under a kind of glamour just now. I'm sure we're grateful to him for not letting you drown. It's quite the unexpected; but really, when it comes to bringing you home, you're quite attractive, you know; and I've no doubt he thought it would be pleasant to have a little flirtation with a pretty girl. Besides, I think he rather enjoyed putting James under an obligation to him. I'm sure I hope he will know enough not to presume upon this for further acquaintance. He has been most unpleasant, not to say criminal, in a business way—but never mind now, Jean, we'll talk about it more tomorrow. Wait until you hear what everybody says about him and then you will see we are not prejudiced. We don't blame you for being grateful. Be as grateful as you like—but don't have anything more to do with him! Come now, this is the way to your room. Let me help you unfasten this ridiculous frock. Where did you say you got it? I know you never had this in your wardrobe when you started from home and mother——"

Mrs. Harrington chattered on, giving the girl time to recover her calmness, for she saw that she was terribly excited; and Jean choked back the hot tears that welled to her eyes, and the words of protest against the injustice to Holt, and went about her toilet.

In a few minutes more she had made a hasty toilet and, attired in one of her own cool little muslins, she was seated in the dining room with an admiring audience about her asking questions about home, the journey and the cousins she had visited on the way. The children hung about her eagerly, patting her shyly, and watching her every move with shining eyes. Almost, for a few minutes, the girl forgot the perils through which she had passed, and the lover of whom she must not speak.

When supper was finished the children were sent to bed, and Jean suddenly remembered the leather case she had been charged to convey to her brotherinlaw.

"Oh, James," she said, "I've a package for you very important papers' the queer old man who gave it to me [illegible] of at the next station, he [illegible] been telegraphed for, or [illegible] and he hoped me [illegible] that you had telegr[illegible] for me, so he [illegible] you these [illegible] about the [illegible] about his [illegible] I suspect. [illegible] stairs in my [illegible]

Jean hurried [illegible] a little di[illegible] which she [illegible] trunk tray. [illegible] waxy paper cov[illegible] damp wad of a [illegible] Holt had both [illegible] afternoon when they washed their hands at a spring, struck a pang to her heart. The dampness and stuffed condition of the bag made it difficult to get the bundle out, and giving it an impatient jerk she turned the whole thing upside down on the little table that stood by the bedside. The bundle rolled to the floor, opening as it fell, for the edges of the leather case had loosened with the wetting. They had received, and let out the papers that it held. Jean stooped wearily and gathered them up with a gingerly touch, remembering the uncouth old man who had given it to her, and was rather surprised that the papers themselves looked clean and were evenly folded. She hurried down to the bright living room, holding them out to Mr. Harrington, and was startled at the look on his face as he saw what she gave him.

"You needn't be afraid, it's not a ghost," she laughed as she put the damp package in his hand. "It's rather dilapidated, but it's all there. I did the best I could with it, but it was submerged for a lon gtime, and I had no opportunity to dry it."

Harrington said nothing, but his face turned suddenly white and his hand shook as he turned back the limp leather and looked at the folded papers inside. She saw by his expression that he knew what it was.

"Are they so very important?" she asked.

"Pretty important," he said briefly, opening the papers one at a time and half turning away from her as if he did not wish her to see them.

"I'm glad I saved them, then," she said fervently. "I came near throwing them away when I dropped out of that window. The old man was so dirty I couldn't bear to have anything he had handled. Well, good night."

She turned away, feeling that he wished to be alone with the papers, but he looked up and called her back.

"Wait, Jean. What kind of a looking man was it who gave them to you?"

She told him in detail.

"Did you let anyone see this case?" he asked sharply.

"No," said Jean, and then remembered. "Well, not exactly. It fell out of my bag once and the paper I had wrapped it in fell off, but there was no one by but Mr. Holt and he didn't notice it in the least."

"Are you sure?" questioned her brother, his face white, his expression growing tense with anxiety. "How near was he?"

"He was standing by, not three feet away, and he stopped and picked up the case and handed it back to me without saying a word," said Jean, a hint almost of indignation in her tone that warned her brother he had gone far enough in his inquiries.

"Well, never mind," he said, turning away. "It's all right, of course. These are very important papers relating to some business my company is carrying on, and Holt has been making a good deal of trouble for us. I would rather he didn't know about them."

Jean was vexed, she scarcely knew why, and stood for an instant hesitating. Should she say more or go immediately upstairs? It was very strange for James to act that way, as if it were her fault. And it was most unreasonable and unjust for him to feel that way about Jasper Holt. Her soul revolted aginst it.

Harrington looked up, annoyed, as if he would be rid of the girl; and then, realizing the look of wonder on her face, he tried to control his expression and smile.

"Well, good night, Jean. Don't let this trouble you. I'm deeply grateful that you were so faithful as to guard the papers through all your experiences. Rest well and don't think any more about it."

So dismissed, the girl turned slowly and mounted the stairs, but as she glanced back she saw him fluttering the papers over as if he were counting them two or three times. As she reached the landing she heard him summon a servant and send him in hot haste for someone named "Garrett."

"Tell him he must come at once, it is important, urgent business," was the message sent. Then she closed her door and went about her preparations for the night, but her mind was strangely disturbed.

(Continued Next Week.)

Autocrat of the Air.

From the San Francisco Argonaut.

The miller at the old windmill of a village in Buckinghamshire one year found such difficulty in getting his sails to work through want of wind that he was continually behind with his work. The delay annoyed the farmers, who decided to call a meeting to consider the advisability of getting up another windmill. Unasked, the miller also attended the meeting, and in the midst of the discussion rose and said: "Ye want to get up another windmill, do ye? Well, it takes all the wind in the parish to keep my old mill agoin', and you'll have to fish elsewhere for yer wind, that's sartin!" This novel argument gave matters the turn, and to this day the miller has had no opposition.

The president of the Ohio Hotel Men's Association prophesies that "tips will go when liquor goes." People give up more easily and more generously when mellowed by [illegible] drinks.

Couldn't M[illegible]

Bed Twelve W[illegible] Rheumatic Trouble Praises Doan's

"For twelve weeks I lay [illegible] move a muscle," says [illegible], 654 E Seventh St., Erie, Pa. "The pains that shot through my entire body seemed more than any human being could stand. My [illegible] and arms and limbs were put [illegible] to stop them from twisting into [illegible]. Every ligament seemed ready to snap. I can't understand how I endured such agony.

"Several physicians agreed that I had inflammatory rheumatism, but their medicine didn't give me any relief. [illegible] folks wanted to take me to a hospital but I would not let them. The doctor said that nothing could be done for me.

"I had been an invalid now for [illegible] years, before I finally decided to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I used [illegible] boxes and they surely did prove of wonderful merit. It is a year [illegible] and I have enjoyed the best health all my life. I weigh nearly 170 pounds and am like a different person in every respect. I shall always praise Doan's Kidney Pills."

Sworn to before me.
HAROLD V PETERSON,
Notary Public.

Get Doan's at Any Store, 60c a Box
DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS
FOSTER-MILBURN CO., BUFFALO, N. Y.

Well, Girls?

Simon Pure, who writes the letter to "The Bookman," is a thoughly practical young man. June "Bookman" he says: "When I hear of a young man's becoming engaged to 'a most charming girl' I always callously ask, 'Can she cook?' Will it be believed that the reply frequently made is an indignant 'I don't know. She's a magnificent dancer.' As though that cut any ice!"

Buy a Farm Now.

Because land is cheaper than it will be again. The U. S. Railroad Administration is prepared to furnish free information to homeseekers regarding farming opportunities. We have nothing to sell, no land; only information to give. Write fully with reference to your needs and the state you want to learn about. Edwards, Manager Agricultural Section, U. S. Railroad Administration, Room [illegible], Washington, D. C.—adv

The patch is likely to come off a patched-up quarrel

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHA[illegible]

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force.

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms and bust, and replacing ugly hollow angles by soft lines of [illegible] and there are evidently thousands of [illegible] and women who keenly feel the excessive thinness.

GEORGIA HAMILTON.

Thinness, weakness often [illegible] starved nerves. [illegible] bodies more [illegible] phate that contained in modern [illegible] Physicians claim that nothing will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the cells with the necessary phosphoric elements, bitro-phosphate should produce a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

Increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, should soon disappear, dull eyes ought to brighten, and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health. Miss Georgia Hamilton, who was once thin and frail, reporting her own experience, writes: "Bitro-Phosphate has brought about a magic transformation with me. I gained 15 pounds and feel better than before I felt so well."

CAUTION:—Although bitro-phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not, owing to its tendency to increase weight, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.

HEADACHE Often Caused by Acid-Stomach

Yes, indeed, more often than you imagine. ACID-STOMACH, starting with dizziness, heartburn, belching, food-repeating, bloat and gas if not checked, will usually affect every vital organ of the body, causing headache, biliousness, spitting, headache, indigestion, of frequent occurrence as a result of this upset condition.

Take EATONIC. It quickly banishes stomach with its sour bloat, pain and gas. It aids digestion—helps the stomach get full strength from every mouthful you eat. Millions of people are needlessly weak, sick and ailing because of STOMACH POISON created by partly digested food charged with acid, and absorbed into the blood and distributed throughout the entire system. This often causes rheumatism, biliousness, cirrhosis of the liver, heart trouble, ulcers and even cancer of the stomach. It robs its victims of health, undermines the strength and energy and invites serious illness.

If you want to get back your health and mental strength—be full of pep and vigor—enjoy life and be happy, you must get rid of your acid-stomach.

In EATONIC you will find the very thing you need and it's guaranteed. So get a box from your druggist today. If it fails to please you, return it and get your money.

EATONIC

A Northern Traveler in the Cotton States.

W. W. Reynolds, in Commerce and Finance.

A successful Ohio farmer and wool raiser who has been traveling through the south sends us from Selma, Ala., the following, giving his impressions with regard to the reduction in cotton acreage and the attitude of the planters toward the question at issue. As the opinion of a disinterested observer, we are sure that his views will be of interest to our readers.—Ed.

There is no doubt about a reduction in American cotton stocks for 1919. When the governors of all the cotton states, commissioners of agriculture, county agents, all the business men of the cities and towns, many of whom control tenants, are a unit for the scheme, it is bound to succeed. They have the leaven of diversified crops which has been working for years and the floods that have delayed work for cotton now but not to a great extent for other planting. The south and north never understood each other as well as they should, but the folks among whom I am writing are a nice set of people and they surely understand all the details connected with marketing their fiber.

They view the subject strictly from a business standpoint. There is no feeling other than that they must look after home interests. They laugh at the idea of mills closing and spinners breaking up and claim that self preservation is nature's first law. Formerly it was organized capital against individuals, while now it is capital against the organized population of the cotton states.

Organization for the production of every salable commodity, except by the producers of food and clothing materials, has been always considered very commendable and wise, but it appears when land owners make any move along that line they are wicked. The railroads that carry these raw materials, dealers who handle them, manufacturers who prepare them, jobbers and merchants who sell them all have their understandings and agreements and the price is set on every move and even for the first producers. There is no necessity or convenience to the land owner without its minimum price from the cotton collar he wears to the implement he stirs his soil with. I find the price of fertilizer formulas in Alabama exactly similar to Ohio, showing that all the large combines have seen each other. Cotton men agree that all these interests have used good business judgment and cannot understand the outcry about their taking it on, likewise they are indifferent to anyone's opinion about it. They do not intend to handle 15,000,000 bales of cotton for the same money they can get for 10,000,000 and it would be hard for any or all of the eloquent northern writers and editors to show them why they are not as free to fix prices for demand as all other classes are. They realize that the one crop cotton has been a curse to them anyhow. This southland could feed the world while almost everything it eats and even much of its animal feed comes from the north.

The writer subsists at present on northern wheat meats, and canned stuff. The tropical fruits come from farther south and the apples from Oregon. A few green vegetables are natives. This northern talk about "cornering the cotton," "high handed injustice" and "work for the department of justice," is amusing.

Exact Copy of Wrapper.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

Mothers Know That Genuine Castoria Always Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

Wheat in Western Canada

Crop Often Pays for the Land

Canada offers the greatest advantages to home seekers. Crops are assured. You can buy on easy payment terms,

Land at $15 to $30 per Acre—

Land that which through many years has averaged from 20 to 45 bushels to the acre. Hundreds of cases are on record where in Western Canada one crop has paid the cost of land and production. The Governments of the Dominion and Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta want settlers to prosper, and extend every possible encouragement and help to Mixed Farming and Stock Raising.

Western Canada offers land at much low figures, the high quality of soil, climate, cattle, sheep and hogs will remain.

Loans for the purchase of stock may be had at low interest; good shipping facilities; best of markets; free schools; healthful climate; low taxation (none on improvements).

For literature, information of lands for sale, homesteads, Illustrated literature, reduced rates, etc., apply to Dept. of Immigration, Ottawa, Can., or Room 107, Watertown, S. D.; W. V. Bennett, Room 4, Bee Bldg., Omaha, Neb.; and R. A. Garrett, 311 Jackson Street, St. Paul, Minn.

Canadian Government Agents

Western Canada Farm Lands Low Prices reserve keep all of linen white perfect in use

Cross
Blue laundry

else will price and nothing else
good. All grocers, 5c

KILLER PLACED ANYWHERE ATTRACTS AND KILLS ALL FLIES. Clean, convenient, lasting, odorless, cheap. Lasts all season. Made of metal, can't spill or tip over; will not soil or injure anything. Guaranteed effective. Sold by dealers, or sent prepaid for 75c. HARRISON BROS., 149 De Kalb Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

PTG. CO., NO. 27-1919.

Wasted Timber.

We have used up about half the forests originally possessed. Although there are forest associations in nearly every state, supplementing the excellent work of the national forest service, trees are being used up faster than they are being grown. When a tree is cut less than half of it reaches the consumer. The sawmill waste amounts to 40 per cent of the tree. Forest fires cause a loss of $25,000,000 to $50,000,000 yearly. There are 147 national forests in the United States consisting of 155,166,619 acres.

Watch Cuticura Improve Your Skin. On rising and retiring gently smear the face with Cuticura Ointment. Wash off Ointment in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water. It is wonderful sometimes what Cuticura will do for poor complexions, dandruff, itching and red rough hands.—Adv.

Eight-Acre Building.

The Pennsylvania railroad station in New York city, occupying eight acres of ground and with exterior walls measuring about one-half a mile is the most extensive building in the world constructed at one time.

SHAKE INTO YOUR SHOES.

Allen's Foot-Ease, the antiseptic powder to be shaken into the shoes and sprinkled in the foot-bath. It relieves painful, swollen, smarting feet and takes the sting out of corns and bunions. Allen's Foot Ease is a certain relief for sweating, callous tired, aching feet, and makes walking a delight. Sold everywhere.—Adv.

He who laughs last laughs best because he knows what tickles him

B. A. THOMAS' HOG POWDER

ves the Bacon"

Tonic, Laxative and Worm Expeller

RESULTS GUARANTEED

"I used a large basket of Hog Remedy. It was so satisfactory I got a barrel. Am well pleased with results." C. H. McCORMACK.

Hog Cholera at any time—If your horse does not get relief, he has no chance. Get THOMAS' COLIC REMEDY today. No veterinary. A child can give it.

B. A. THOMAS'

Thomas Home Egg Maker in every way

PROFIT IN STOCK—Increase your profit by feeding them B. A. THOMAS' STOCK REMEDY. Removes worms, tonic and conditioner. Your horses, cattle and sheep get all the feed value out of the grain they eat.

THOMAS MANUFACTURING CO., PADUCAH, KY.

A Woman in Siberia

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

A Philadelphia woman has sent a letter lately received from a young woman at work in the name of the Y. M. C. A. at Vladivostok, Siberia. It is so graphic, so characteristic of the infinite cheerful adaptability of American womankind to rude and rough conditions, and so true to the life which it depicts that a part of it is set down here.

"We all eat at the Y mess," she writes, "which is run by a Czech cooked by a Chinese served in a market by a Russian at tables served by a Japanese, none of them speaking the others' languages.

"There's the new League of Nations for you. How could one escape a cosmopolitan outlook in such a melee?"

She makes light of the serious drawbacks. She was prepared to sacrifice the comforts of home. "A bath is a solemn rite and privilege," she declares. "The first week was Chinese holidays, and the public baths (no such thing as private baths) were closed because all the laborers are Chinese coolies. The next week it was a Russian holiday and again the bathhouse was barred. The next time we were met at the door by a nonchalant individual who said that because of a shortage of water the bathhouse would be closed for one month more.

* * *

"All the American girls were in demand—the boys begging for dances and entertainments to which their own girls could come just to be there to be American to. It would do your heart good to see a boy who hadn't talked to an American woman for months and months (to use your own expression) pin a sympathetic listener to the wall and talk himself black in the face and find out all the pictures of home from mother and dad to the dog and all the news. It's just great and if anyone lacks faith in human nature let him work with a bunch of these dear boys over here and it will revive it. I go to the homes of [illegible] and like it better than Fox Majesty any day."

Workmen's Compensation for Burns.

From West's Pocket.

Miguel Duarte was employed as a house wrecker. He was also a cigaret smoker. In the course of his employment he ran a nail into the palm of his hand and a bandage soaked in carbolic oil was wrapped around it to relieve the pain. He continued to work and while striking a match to light a cigaret ignited the bandage and severely burned his hand. The Industrial Accident Commission of California awarded him compensation therefor and the employer asked review by the court. The court of appeals affirmed the award and the matter was then transferred to the California supreme court. This tribunal adopts the opinion of the court of appeals in connection with a short statement of its own all of which is published in 173 Pacific Reporter 1005 under the title of Whiting Mead Commercial Co. vs. Industrial Accident Commission.

It was contended that in lighting the cigaret Duarte was merely ministering to his own wants arising from the self created and not a natural appetite. Referring to this, the court says: "The argument does not appeal to us. In an endeavor to determine what indulgences of human beings are responsive to the demands of natural what to unnatural appetites we should be carried to the depths of biological and physiological research. Such labor is not necessary. We have the tobacco habit with us, and must deal with it as it is. It will not do to say that mankind would be better for a lack of the weed even if that statement be true. Tobacco is universally recognized to be a solace to him who uses it, and it may be that such a one, unless he finally shakes off the habit, cannot perform the labors of his life as well without it as with it." The award of the commission is allowed to stand.

His Mistake.

From the Yonkers Statesman.

Flatbush—You know my wife and her sister look very much alike?

Bensonhurst—Oh, is that so?

"Yes. Why, the other day I got a seat in a crowded trolley car, and when I got off my sisterinlaw was also getting off the same car and she gave me Hail Columbia for not getting up and offering her my seat."

"Well, why didn't you offer her your seat? Didn't you know her?"

"No, I didn't. I really thought it was my wife!"

The Higher Learning.

From Success.

The schoolmaster was calling on an indignant mother.

"For my part," babbled the good woman, "I can't deceive what on earth education is comin' to! When I was young, if a gal only understood the elimens of distraction, provision, replenishing, an' the common dominator, an' knew all about the rivers an' their obituaries, the currents, and the dormitories, the provinces an' umpires, they had edduh cation enough!"

Five hundred persons who want to go to the United States this summer cannot leave Porto Rico because of a shortage of steamship accommodations.

News From the Front.

From the New York Post.

9 a. m. Communique—A brilliant assault by the Republican Chausseurs under the command of Brigadier General Lodge is now under way, and prisoners are already coming back in large numbers. Republican G. H. Q.'s satisfaction at this brilliant coup de main is somewhat mitigated by the circumstance that all the prisoners are republicans. Zero hour was 5 a. m. and General Lodge went over the top at the precise moment. Ten minutes later he was not only over the top, but well beyond his depth.

11 a. m. Communique.—The Lodge attack has driven a salient 17 miles long and 15 inches wide into the Wilson lines. The only problem now is where to borrow a can opener to extricate the victorious troops, or a shoe horn to widen the salient. Runners have come back from the front lines with the message, "We have met the enemy and he has met us." Filed Marshal Borah, when appealed to for a plan rescuing Lodge's Lost Battalion, intimated that he had other things to worry him.

3 p. m. Communique—The attack against the league on a 49 senators front is making progress, either forward or backward. As a result of imperfect liaison, the Knox Heavy Dragoons at the height of the battle found themselves under fire from the Borah's Own, which inflicted heavy casualties on the Knoxes between the Fifth Whereas and the Third Proviso.

5 p. m. Communique—At a council of all the general field officers at Republican H. Q. it was pointed out by Maj. Gen. Hiram Johnson that the outcome of the battle emphasizes the need of unity of command whereas Field Marshal Borah looked out of the window and wondered if the machine was a Buick or a Ford.

Mr. Taft's Report.

From the New York Post.

Ex-President Taft's report on the popular sentiment for the League of Nations is based upon personal contact with representative citizens in a third of the states. It is always easy to get together a group of men and women to favor or to oppose any conceivable project, and if the Taft party had attempted no more than this its verdict would not be worth attention. But the noteworthy feature of all of the "ratification conventions" which Mr. Taft and his associatees have been attending is the prominence and the charter of the local members who have had a part in them. The names of those in charge of the arrangements or on the program, in state after state, are the names of the state's "Who's Who." It is not a threat, but a simple statement of fact that Mr. Taft makes in his remark: "The decision now rests with the American people, by whose judgment in the last analysis the members of the United States Senate will be guided." Interesting confirmation of his view is afforded by a survey, "For President in 1920," appearing in the Oregon Voter, from which we take two extracts:

The mention of Taft arouses more enthusiasm than does the name of Hughes, largely because the League of Nations idea is regarded as of his creation and the further fact that he has supported President Wilson's advocacy of the league idea.

Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, is in bad because of his bitter opposition to the League of Nations.

Will Rest in France.

From the New York Times.

With almost no debate—and the little was enough—the Senate has passed a bill appropriating $500,000 for the establishment and maintenance of a cemetery in France for the American soldiers who died there. The bill should become a law, and if more money for a purpose so good is needed—as probably will prove to be the case—it should be provided.

Some parents will insist, or greatly prefer, that the bodies of their dead sons be brought back to America. Their desires should be heeded, and the government will do so. Others, and by far the greater number, will be content with the alternative plan. And its advantages are many, certainly numerous enough and great enough to justify its adoption as a general policy.

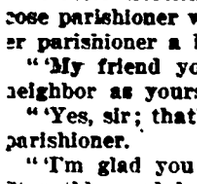
NOON.

Behold, now, where the pageant of high June
Halts in the glowing noon!
The trailing shadows rest on plain and hill;
The bannered hosts are still;
While over forest crown and mountain head
The azure tent is spread.

The song is hushed in every woodland throat;
Moveless the lilies float;
Even the ancient ever murmuring sea
Sighs only fitfully;
The cattle drowse in the field corner's shade;
Peace on the world is laid.

—Bliss Carman.

General Gonsales has issued a proclamation ordering all civilians to surrender their arms and ammunition to the military authorities within 48 hours.



Safety-Tires FOR A LONG RUN

Guaranteed inner-protection for Auto tires. Prevents all blowouts and 90 p.c. of all punctures. 12,000 Mileage common. Sells quickly to Auto owners. Fine Proposition to our Agents.

NATIONAL ACCESSORY CO., P.O. Box 525, Cincinnati, O.

Itching Rashes — Soothed — With Cuticura

All druggists: Soap 25, Ointment 25 & 50, Talcum 25. Sample each free of "Cuticura, Dept. X, Boston."

PUT SLIGHT VALUE ON SELF

Parishioner's Explanation of Backsliding That Might Be Accounted More or Less Convincing.

Charles B. Ford, the leader of the Chicago butter and egg board, was defending the high price of eggs.

"It is the egg export to the soldiers overseas," he said, "that makes prices high. The egg market, you see, is governed by a purely business spirit.

"If you try to be idealistic with the egg market you are treated like Doctor Seenthly.

"Doctor Steenthly said to a bellicose parishioner who had given another parishioner a black eye:

"'My friend you should love your neighbor as yourself.'

"'Yes, sir; that's right, sir,' said the parishioner.

"'I'm glad you agree,' said Doctor Steenthly, and he added in a rather stern voice:

"'Do you, though—do you honestly—love your neighbor as yourself?'

"'Yes, sir; oh, yes, sir,' said the parishioner; 'but I'm a modest man, you see, and, to tell the truth, I ain't a bit stuck on myself, sir,'"

Cheap Enough.

"Cloth at $9 a yard seems high."

"Not when you consider that a yard will make a gown."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Every Woman Wants Paxtine ANTISEPTIC POWDER

FOR PERSONAL HYGIENE

Dissolved in water for douches stops pelvic catarrh, ulceration and inflammation. Recommended by Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co. for ten years. A healing wonder for nasal catarrh, sore throat and sore eyes. Economical. Has extraordinary cleansing and germicidal power. Sample Free. 50c. all druggists, or postpaid by mail. The Paxton Toilet Company, Boston, Mass.

Sufficient Reason.

An East Cleveland Sunday School teacher reports this remarkable instance of youthful philosophy.

"Why," asked this teacher of her class, "do you love your father and mother?"

One of the little ones answered very prettily, "Because they are nice, and because they are my father and mother, and because they are good to me and love me."

"And why," pursued the young woman, "do you love God? Cecil, you may answer."

"Got to!" said Cecil.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Eternal Triangle.

Governor McKelvie said at a Lincoln luncheon:

"The matrimonial shipwreck under discussion came about, I've been told from the circumstance that the wife took a very young and pretty girl friend into the home as companion. A grave mistake, for in the home, especially in the home—"

And the governor shook his head and smiled:

"—two's company, three's a probable divorce."

Delicate Anemone.

Anemone means "windflower," and is so called because it is so delicately poised that it sways with the lightest motion of the atmosphere.

When You're Tired and need the invigoration of a well-flavored, full-bodied hot cup, there's nothing superior to

Postum Cereal

Delicious and healthful, it supports and cheers with its refreshing goodness, and it is an economical table drink as well.

At Grocers.

Two sizes, usually sold at 15c and 25c

Giving the most for the money in style fabric and tailoring.

You will find "value" wovrn into the cloth tailored into the finished suit and orpressed by the better style—you will find this condition preeminant here.

Our stock is large you will enjoy setecting from the extensive assortments the wide variety. And A-1 quality and good service goed with every puschase. For the newest and best come to

PATTON BROS.

Mason City, Iowa

"Where a dollar does it's duty"

I scream U scream We all scream

for

ICE CREAM

Our soda fountain is running in full blast now and we have the very best in Sodas, Malts, Sundaes etc. Get a quart of our delicious Ice Caerm for your Sunday dinner

"If It's To Eat---We Have It"

CRYSTAL CAFE

Elder & Fuller, Props.

DOCTOR MISSMAN

PHYSICIAN SURGEON

OFFICE--State Savings Bank Building, 'Phone No. 1105
RESIDENCE--North of Park, 'Phone No. 1109

X-Ray Radiographs Electrical Treatments
Eyes Tested Glasses Fitted

Make this store your Headquarters

Whenever you want the best merchandise at a reasonable price.

Our tea and coffee will delight you. Our grocery line is the very best.

We always carry a complete line of quality Dry Goods.

See us for Paints, Oils, Hardware

J. W. WATERMAN

The City Dray Line

Is prepared to do your hauling carefully and promptly.
Your patronage is respectfully solicited.
Charges Reasonable.

Henry P. Yahnke, Prop.

Coal Hauling Done

Osteopaths have a four year course and are licensed physicians. adv.

Dr. R. M. Thomas and wife autoed to Mason City Sunday.

Gilbert Schaeffer was a Garner visitor Monday.

George Musfelt is now working at Mason City.

An Eddie Polo Picture at the Idle Hour every Saturday night. adv.

Henry Griewe was a business caller at Garner Monday.

Something special at the Idle Hour every Saturday, see Eddie Polo. adv.

Try a want ad in the Times—it brings results.

W. F. Pavey and family autoed to Mason City last Friday on business.

Chas. Papousek, of Belmond, was a business caller in Klemme Monday.

We recommend, sell and guarantee Gould Storage Batteries. Henry Lau & Son. adv.

C. W. Wiles drove to Fort Dodge Saturday night on business. He went there to get a Willys-Knight car.

Otto Neuhring is driving a fine new Willys-Knight car which he purchased of C. W. Wiles.

C. W. Wiles sells the Owens Lighting Plant for farms. Call on him for particulars. adv.

Emil Barz, of Atkins, Iowa, was in Klemme a few days last week visiting with relatives and friends.

Edith and Soffia Katter, of Garner, were visiting Klemme relatives last Wednesday.

Fred Ridder, wife and daughters, Neota, and Mrs. Harvey, were Mason City visitors last Friday.

Mike Haskins, of Garner, was in Klemme Monday doing some electrical work.

Harold Gruetzmacher autoed up from Iowa Falls Monday for a visit with his folks here.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Fuller, and Miss Liljenberg, drove over to Clear Lake Sunday afternoon.

Ed. G. Ell and family autoed to Miller Sunday for a visit with the Alvin Stokesberry family.

A lot of Klemme people autoed over to Clear Lake and Bayside last Sunday.

Tom Rhodes returned to Klemme last Saturday having received his discharge at Camp Dodge.

Mrs. Fuller is having a nice new bungalow built just south of her present residence. Croner & Suckow are oding the work.

Mrs. Wiles and son, Howard, Mrs. Mann and Miss Blanche Liljenberg, autoed over to Mason City Tuesday for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Rice of Clarion, were over Sunday visitors with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Musfelt and family.

Rev. Barnlund left Monday for Columbus, Ohio, to be present at the Methodist Centenary Celebration and Exhibition.

Miss Rose Schultz, of Garner, was in Klemme a few days last week keeping house for her brother Walter during the absence of Mrs. Schultz.

Clarence Kluckhohn was a Garner visitor between trains last Saturday He was having dental work done ther.

Mrs. O. G. Taylor and niece, of Mansfield, Ohio, came Saturday morning for an extended visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Barr. Mrs. Taylor is an aunt of Mr. Barr.

Mrs. Wm. Werner went to Fort Dodge Saturday to visit her husband who is in the Sanitarium there. She reports he is getting along very nicely.

Henry Schroeder and family, of Chicago, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Schroeder, were visiting Klemme relatives and friends last week. They drove here in their car.

D. B. Anderson is at Fort Dodge and Storm Lake where he ahs contracts for several buildings, including sixteen silos, three barns and some hog houses to put up. All these buildings will be put up of brick and hollow tile.

Chris Jacobs, and son Edwin, of Garner, drove over here on business Tuesday afternoon. Ed has just been discharged from the army and says he is glad to get out.

"Schanke & Company, Investment Bankers, M. B. A. Building, Mason City, Iowa, will buy or sell all issues of Liberty Bonds at highest current prices."—5w.

George Kluckhohn, George Kessler, Elmer Fuller and Ralph Elder autoed up to Austin, Minn., Monday to look after land. They returned to Klemme the following day.

We have a few Cream Cooling Tank left. These tands are indespensable to the selling of a quality product in cream. Come and buy one. Klemme Co-Operative Creamery Co. adv.

Rev. Meyer left last week for Columbus, Ohio, to be present at the Methodist Centenary Celebration which is being held from June 20 to July 13.

Dr. R. W. Schultz, Osteopath, of Garner, will be at the Hotel Klemme on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings, 9:00 to 12:00. adv.

GOULD BATTERIES are rugged in construction and lasting in their performance. The secret of their long life is in the hard paste plates, this construction has never been successfully imitated by any competitor. It was the Gould Battery with the Dreadnaught Plates that was principally used in Uncle Sam's Navy, and Uncle Sam's Navy buys the BEST. Adv-tf.

Mrs. D. B. Anderson and children left Tuesday for Minneapolis for an extended visit with relatives and friends. The Anderson's lived at Minneapolis before they moved to Klemme.

Fred Musfelt has purchased the G. A. Goll property north of the park, consisting of a house and one and a half lots. Mr. Musfelt also purchased two adjoining lots from Wm. Kirkwood.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Gram returned Tuesday morning from Bird Island, Minn., where they were visiting with Mr. Gram's folks for a few days. They were called there by the illness of his mother.

Geo. W. Schoenwetter has purchased the 160 acres from his father, C. A. Schoenwetter, which is located in Liberty township west of town. The farm is well tiled and improved in every way. George has rented this farm for the last seven years but has decided that he would rather own it himself so he bought.

Simple Explanation.

Mr. Stoney—"What a lot I seem to have learned tonight! How I have benefited by this conversation with you, my dear Miss Deartome. Somehow your intellect seems to appeal to mine. Are you a literary lady?" Miss Deartome—"No; I am a teacher in an infant school!"

Protection True Insurance.

Protection from the fire is the only true insurance. To use fireproof materials at a slightly greater cost is paying your fire insurance premiums once and for all.

Bravery in Goodness.

To do an evil act is base, To do a good one without incurring danger is common enough. But it is the part of a good man to do good and noble deeds though he risk everything in doing them.—Plutarch.

CHAUTAUQUA IS ON HERE NOW

The Chautauqua opened Tuesday afternoon with a good program and each and every program will be good to the very last day. If you have not secured your season tickets do so now and take in all the programs. Plan to attend all you can as it is worth your while.

Father's Definition.

"Pa," said the small seeker after knowledge, "what is a kiss?" "A kiss, my son," said the father, who hadn't lived fifty years in vain, "is nothing divided by two."—Exchange.

Joke That Failed.

Customer (trying on dress suit, jokingly)—"I hope I'll never be mistaken for a waiter." Tailor—"When in doubt, keep your hands in your pockets!"—Judge.

Influence of Colors on Mind.

Colors, it has been found, have a great influence over the mind. A child who suffers from a melancholy and cross temper may not be naughty but simply under the influence of green wall paper, while her little brother is happy and good natured as a result of the blue with which his room is papered.

We Have It! What

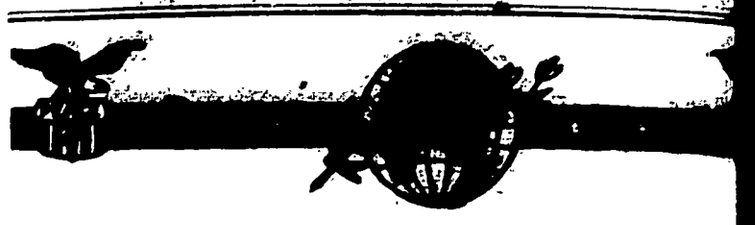
Everything

Which is found in only the best most up-to-date Meat Markets.

You will always find a complete line of Choice Meats, Hams, Bacon, Fancy Meats and Canned Goods

Try Our Oleomargarine---It's Fine

J. P. Larsen & Son



Why Gamble?

In Considering tornado insurance, many people the excuse that losses through storms are comparatively few and that this form of insurance is a needless expense.

At best the cost of carrying insurance of this kind is trivial. If loss does occur the money paid for premiums pays handsome dividends.

Why gamble when protection is so sure and so economical? Call us on the telephone today for rates covering your propertp.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Klemme Iowa

Subscribe Today at $1.5

All Kinds of Hardware

HARDWARE AND GROCERIES

Stoves and Furnaces

Paints, Oils, Feed, Flour, Cream Separators, Buggies, Wagons, Gasoline Engines.

All Kinds of Farm Machinery

GREUTZMACHER BROS.

KLEMME DRAY LINE

LLOYD LAU, PROPRIETOR

A share of your patronage is solicited.

All work attended to promptly and carefully

Coal Hauling Done Promptly

Telephone No. 14

M. O. HOCUM

The Grain, Coal and Live Stock Man.

We will buy Hogs and Grain six days in the week at Highest Market Price.

Successor to W. R. Bloom

DR. L. R. PARSONS

DENTIST

Office 1st Floor State Savings Bank

Phone No. 48.

Klemme - Iowa

KLEMME TIMES

Mrs. H. M. Meinderts 19-1-19
care of Andrew Nelson

...d Year Number 44 | Klemme, Iowa, Thursday, July 10, 1919 | $1.50 In Advance. $2.00 Outside of County

Chautauqua

...e Chautauqua closed on ...night after a successful (?) ...ason.

...'t seen anyone yet who ...highly pleased with the ...held here this season. It ...expectations and the ...held here before. We ...Meservey and Good...pleased with their chau... the company came in ...own hook and it is no ...if they did not make ...are not knocking the prop... we are certainly not ...other—no use to boost ...that is stale on the outside ...on the inside.

Family Re-Union

The Fourth of July was a big day for the Kluckhohn family of this city for it marked a day of family reunion for them. Fred and family of Austin, Minn., came to spend the day; Frank and family of Garner were here; and Wm. Keraus and family of Garner were here also and their other daughter, Mrs. Turgeson and two children were present for the big dinner and general visiting The Kluckhohns plan to get together at least once a year, generally on Christmas, but this year they managed to meet on the Fourth of July for their annual celebration The visiting sons and daughters returned the following day to their respective homes

How About the Future?

...e you should fall sick or suffer the misfortune of ...dent? What better

Insurance

...ve than a bank account? This bank welcome ...account, whether large or small.

State Savings Bank
KLEMME, IA.

Klemme Man Seriously Injured When Overcharged Cannon Explodes

LOUIE KNOKE SERIOUSLY INJURED WHEN HOME MADE CANNON EXPLODES

Firing of Fourth of July Cannon Proves Serious to Klemme Man

About nine o'clock on the evening of July Fourth, Louie Knoke and a few other men were firing a home made cannon in the alley near Ben Billmyre's residence which proved to be a rather sad experience for the former young man.

The men had been shooting the cannon quite a while and it seems as though the cannon got too hot for when the next charge of gun powder was put down the barrel and Knoke was pounding it down with an iron ram rod, the cannon exploded. It all happened so suddenly that no one could give an accurate account of the proceedings, but when the smoke cleared away Knoke was on the ground. He was rushed to Dr. Miesman's office and there found that his left arm was brkoen in three places, his hand badly mangled and his eyes in bad condition from powder blown into them, besides this he was powder burned about the body, arms and face. His condition was so serious that he was rushed immediately to the Park Hospital at Mason City and there given surgical attention. At first it was feared his arm would have to be amputated, but at this writing we are told that he is getting along nicely, although suffering considerable pain.

Lloyd Lau, who was standing about five feet from the cannon when it exploded was knocked off his feet by the concussion. Monday the cannon was dug up and was found buried three feet in the ground. The ram rod, which was a king pin from a wagon and weighing several pounds, was found to have taken to the air. It was discovered when a large hole was found in the roof of the Kirkwood boarding house, a distance of about tw blocks from the scene of the explosion. The ram rod went through the shingles, through an inch sheeting, breaking a rafter, then down through the lath and plaster of the ceiling and onward down through the flooring and partly breaking the ceiling below that again. This gives an idea of the force with which the iron rod was sent through the air.

The cannon was made of a steel shaft about two feet long and four inches in diameter and was drilled out on a lathe.

It seems to be a miracle that Knoke escaped with the injuries that he received, although he is in bad shape, it was perhaps lucky that it was not fatal, which might easily have been the case.

This accident is perhaps the most serious of any that happened in this locality.

ANOTHER FOURTH ACCIDENT

Homer Ridder figured somewhat in a Fourth of July accident. A large cannon cracker exploded in his hand before he could let loose of it and the results are that he has a badly burned hand, now nicely enclosed in a gauze bandage.

ENGLISH METHODIST CHURCH

Services July 13th as follows: At 10:30 a. m. the pastor will tell of the great Centenary Exposition at Columbus, Ohio, following which the Sunday School will meet. In the evening there will be a union service at 8:00. Everyone invited.

A. W. Barnlund

Changed.

First Chorus Lady—"What do you think, dear? George is back from Alaska, stony-broke, and so altered that you would hardly know him!" Second Chorus Lady—"I'm sure I shan't, dear."—Judge.

GYPSIES RAISE CAIN AT NORTHWOOD

According to an article in the Globe-Gazette the other day Northwood had a little experience with the gypsy bandits that proved costly for the latter. The gypsies came in large numbers in cars to Northwood and at once unloaded a lot of women who immediately went out to plunder and steal wherever they could. A couple of women attacked an old man and took his money, others entered homes and stole money and food and some went into stores and stole things. The sheriff was called up and rounded up the chief of the gang and launched him in jail. It cost the gypsies $100 and costs besides making them give back the stolen goods after which they were chased out of town and given instructions to forget to come back again.

These gangs of robbers should be chased clear off the map and when seen coming toward a town should be welcomed by a bunch of men heavily armed with light artillery and given notice to pass on—to Meservey or some other quiet place.

Some High Mark We Say

A new high mark for land in this neighborhood was set yesterday when W. J. Elling paid Chris Jacobs $350 per acre for the Barnes farm just west of town. Chris bought this place a short time ago for $235. Mr. Elling also bought the Zeiger & Morrison farm where H. V. Leeka lives, at $250. Zeiger & Morrison had owned this place four years and it nets them $125 or better an acre. Mr. Elling sold his place of 400 acres last week to Tim Foley at $200.—Garner Signal

Friend Doc Is Back

Dr. Geo. Zinn returned Sunday evening from his month's vacation which he spent visiting relatives and friends in Michigan and also visited with his father n Canada. Doc says he enjoyed his trip very much and that he feels like a new man. His brothtr A. K. Zinn of Battle Creek, Michigan, came here with him and returned Tuesday evening. They drove all the way here in a car. They also said the Iowa corn, especially here, was the best they saw on the way. Welcome home Doc.

The Ell brothers returned Monday from Mason City to resume work on the houses they started here a few weeks ago. They are working on three houses now on some lots east of the park. They intend to build about five new houses in Klemme this year. There has been a shortage on houses here for some time and they are putting up these houses for renters.

To Leave For Colorado

Mrs. Henry Wille and Mrs. Fred Barz will leave this Saturday night for Denver, Colorado, to visit the former's son, Elmer Hartbeck. Elmer returned from France about three weeks ago, was in the hospital in New York one week and was sent west to Denver where he has been confind to the hospital since that time. Before landing here he was in the hospital in France for three months due to the effects of the flu. It is now feared by the hospital doctors at Denver that he has tuberculosis, although his condition is not alarming and he says he is feeling well. We hope for his speedy recovery and that he can soon return home.

This Week

We are to be treated to one of the greatest art displays ever exibited in this section of the country when the High Art Entertainers are here Thursday Friday and Saturday of this week. Mr. Hanson "The Danish Artist" is with them and has his entir collection of Oil Paintings with him and they will positively be exibited at the Theatre every day that they are in our city. Mr. Hanson will appear personally in every performance in lighting art work and cartoon work. The Company of players in the entertainment is something above the averge and you will enjoy their entertainment and their Vaudeville from start to finish. They are clever and you should take advantage of thi treat. Thursday Friday and Saturday evenings only.

WOMEN APPRECIATE BENEFIT OF THRIFT

Splendid Work by Iowa Women's Organizations to Aid in Success of Savings Campaign.

Perhaps the women of the country appreciate more than any others the real value of the Thrift Campaign which is being put on by the War Savings Committee this year. The high cost of living has made women more thoughtful about their expenditures and they are quick to realize the value of knowing how to buy wisely in order to save from the household allowance sufficient to meet the needs of the higher life at present as well as for the future.

As this subject has been presented to various groups of women in both the informal discussions after the talk have demonstrated the keen interest which the women are taking in these matters. The Women's Department of the Iowa War Savings Committee—208 Sixth Ave., Des Moines—is especially emphasizing the value of the household accounts and the budget system as the real basis for thrift in the family. Women have shown particular interest in the suggestions for the division of expenditures, of the proportionate amount which should be given to food, to shelter, to clothing, to the higher life, etc., in proportion to the annual family income.

Help From Universities.

The Iowa War Savings Committee has been particularly fortunate in having the cordial and very able support and help of the Home Economics department of the State College and of the State University. The County Demonstration Agents are putting on a program emphasizing the value of household accounts and are giving very personal practical help along these lines which is quite in line with the plans of the War Savings Committee.

The Iowa Committee, through the co-operation of the State University, has introduced a somewhat newer feature, having prepared and circulated material and charts for the study of the Food Budget. These provide for monthly records of food which is used in the home, noting the kinds and the expense. Many of these budgets are already being used. The records, which will be returned to the War Savings Committee at the end of the month, will form the basis for comparison and discussion.

Budgets Save Money.

The women who are keeping these budgets find that by planning the meals in advance, by careful buying, and by the study of the value of the various foods, they are able to reduce the most of food quite materially, and to make systematic savings without at all lowering the standard of their table.

Women are very quick to see the value of small savings safely invested. Because of the great interest which the school children have taken in the buying of Thrift Stamps, the mothers have learned, sometimes with some surprise, how easy it is to invest considerable sums in War Savings Stamps without any noticeable sacrifice. As little as 14 cents a day invested at 4 per cent will increase in twenty years to a value of $1,500.

Get Splendid Co-operation.

In Iowa there has been a very splendid co-operation in this Thrift movement from the various state women's organizations, all of which realize the great value which a national thrift movement will have. Many of these organizations are investing their surplus funds in War Savings Stamps. They are very glad to do this because they realize it is a very safe investment and that their money can be withdrawn at any time when needed and that it has drawn a good interest in the meantime.

The many requests for the programs on Thrift offered by the Iowa War Savings Committee indicate the hearty appreciation of this campaign by the members of these various organizations.

The libraries of the state are prepared to meet this particular need at this time and many have set up special shelves and thrift tables which are supplied with the list of books and magazines on the subject of household accounts and the budget system which has been recommended by the Iowa Committee.

Thrift Songs Are Popular.

A great deal of interest has been shown in the Iowa Thrift Songs which were written by various Iowa people to be sung to popular and patriotic airs. A group of these have been printed in pamphlet form. The school children particularly are delighted with them because they love the popular music. They are being used also for community singing and community gatherings of various sorts as well as in the schools and in the clubs. One county chairman reports that they will be used at six picnics in her community, while another orders 500 for community use.

The little playlet which was put out last year by the Iowa War Savings Committee, and which was a clever little dialogue between the Thrift Stamp and the movie ticket, who finally formed a partnership, was exceedingly popular, and so many calls have come for it that arrangements have been made to put out two or three new playlets which can be very easily and effectively put on in schools and clubs, and women's organizations. These will be ready in the early summer so that the school and clubs may have them when they open again in the fall.

Weather Signs.

People living near the seashore say a storm is "brewing" when the air is salty, caused by the wind blowing from the east.

A red or copper-colored sun or moon indicates great heat. A silvery moon denotes clear, cool weather.

The old Indian sign of a dry month was when the ends of the new moon were nearly horizontal and one of them resembled a hook on which to hang his powder horn.

Many people troubled with rheumatism and neuralgia usually are excellent barometers and can predict changeable weather by "feeling it in their bones."

And the advice of the old weather sage is "never go out during April month without being accompanied by your umbrella."

As to Punctuation.

With all that may be said about punctuation its use is pretty well as much part and parcel of the writer as are the words of the text. To one man a comma is merely "a breathing," and he puts one in where a reader would seem to need to pause for breath; whereas to others a comma is rather a handy mark for setting off a word or clause that is to a degree somewhat apart in form or sense from the direct implication of the sentence. All of which brings to mind the words of that very practical schoolmaster who was the first to say to his class, "The best rule of all for punctuation is to put in punctuation marks only where, without them, the meaning would be in doubt."

Prevention and Cure.

Jenkins lived in a flat and the man below was learning to play the trombone.

He was surprised and a little flattered when Jenkins came down to borrow the instrument. He lent it willingly, and told Jenkins he could have it any time he wanted it. Jenkins took full advantage of the offer. He was always borrowing that trombone.

"What do you borrow it for?" asked Jenkins' wife. "You can't play it."

"I know," said Jenkins cheerfully. "Nor can that fellow downstairs while I've got it."

That Was Not in His Line.

The man who learns many languages does not always enlarge his mind. A porter in a Swiss hotel who spoke many languages with equal facility and inaccuracy, was once asked what was his native tongue. He replied that he did not know, but that he spoke all languages. "But in what language do you think?" asked the persistent questioner. "I neva tink," was the prompt reply.—Youth's Companion.

Spare Your Team From the Harvest Heat

USE A CASE TRACTOR

Make this season your most profitable one by getting a Case Tractor to do your harvesting. With a Case 9-18 Tractor you can pull any size binder. Under favorable conditions it will handle two 6-ft. binders (right or left hand cut). The Case 10-20 Tractor will handle two 7-ft. binders under ordinary field and soil conditions. Larger Case Tractors will successfully pull more units proportionally.

When your grain is ripe you can harvest quickly. No need for straining the valuable mares or endangering your team account exhaustion from heat and labor. Avoid sore shoulders, sunstroke, runaway accidents and other risks so common under old methods.

Remember when your tractor is idle it requires neither care nor food.

Investigate the Case today.

W. F. PAVEY, Dealer

CASE

THE KLEMME TIMES

RAY A. JORGENSON, PUB.

KLEMME, IOWA

A dispatch from Saloniki says: Large consignments of American agricultural machinery have been unloaded here for use in Macedonia. In the last six months the American Red Cross has been instructing Greeks and Serbs in the use of modern farm machinery and American methods of soil improvement, and now farmers are being given the opportunity to buy implements at a dvantageous prices. The near east is in greatest need of means of transportation and farming machinery and Americans are now meeting this demand.

For the second year in succession, the Catholics of Cologne have had to forego their great ceremonial procession through the streets to the cathedral, by which it is their immemorial custom to celebrate the Feast of Corpus Christi. Last year it was the German military authorities who forbade it because of the unrest caused by the war this year the British were obliged to countermand it because of the movement of troops through the town to the Rhine bridges on their way to the front. The contrast between church processions and the long dusty columns of troops were extraordinarily striking.

The Polish high command has forwarded to Premier Clemenceau a copy of a German official telegram which it intercepted in Silesia, the text of which follows Posen June 21—The government will sign (the peace treaty) Nevertheless Horsing in Silesia and Wig in western and eastern Prussia will proclaim war against the Orient. The government officially will oppose, but semi-officially will support, the business in every way. Horsing and Wig are the Prussian high commissioners in Silesia and east and west Prussia respectively

The Fourth of July marks the 400th anniversary of the founding of the city of San Juan, making it the oldest city under the American flag. That July. 4, 1519, is the exact date of the foundation of the city is the opinion expressed by Cayatano Colly Toste, historian, who has trace dthe history of the island since the first landing of the Spaniards in 1509. According to Dr Toste, the first Spaniard to set foot in the island of Borinquan was Juan Ponce de Leon, who landed on the 12th of August, 1509.

Another of the many clues to the lost collier Cyclops, all of which so far have been exploded, turned up in Columbia, S. C., Tuesday, when the mother of Otis Ramsey, a seaman on the ship received a telegram from New York, saying, he was "safe in this country again, and that the missing vessel was in a German port. Officials think the message a hoax, but as they expect to solve the mystery some day, they are carefully looking up every clue

A resolution was adopted by the Texas senate commending the federal government for its expressed determination to protect our citizens in Mexico," and especially commending "army officials for their efforts to protect life and property along the border ' Another resolution introduced would strongly urge" the federal government to 'recognize that a state of war exists in northern Mexico between two independent and distinct factions was referred to committee.

'We are under no illusions in regard to the extent of the dissatisfaction which surrounds us, we are absolutely convinced that a mass of unfortuate events has made Turkey appear in an unfavorable light However when the truth has once been brought to light it will warn civilized nations and posterity against passing an unjust judgment upon us, says Damad Ferid Pasha.

The United States bureau of mines has developed a novel means of giving an alarm of danger in all mines where compressed air is made use of throughout the workings An ill smelling substance is injected into the compressed air line, and in a few minutes the odor has been spread through all parts of the mine and will be instantly recognized by the workmen

A motion made in the Massachusetts senate to invite De Valle to address that body has been withdrawn, because "to accord formal recognition to one who had not already been recognized by our government at Washington might not only seriously embarrass our commonwealth but it might embarrass the government of the United States as well "

The question has arisen whether reservations amount to amendment and presidential quarters are understood to hold that reservations such as the proposed Root reservation, to article 10 of the covenant are equivalent to amendment, and that the effect of the amendments would be to keep the United States out of the trade and out of the league

Frederick Ketterman under officer in the German army has been convicted by an American military commission of recruiting civilians within the American occupied area This was held to be a violation of the armistice terms and an infraction of American military regulation Ketterman was sentenced to six months' imprisonment and fined 5,000 marks.

The graves of 2,587 Americans in England were decorated on Memorial day. They were the graves of soldiers, sailors, nurses Red Cross and Y M C. A. workers, Americans with the British forces, and victims of the Lusitania, Titanic and Otranto disasters

Sixty-five tons of knitting yarn, originally purchased by the American Red Cross for the making of socks and sweaters for American soldiers has been manufactured into 78 000 yards of cloth and 33,000 shawls 50 inches square and shipped abroad to help provide for the destitute war sufferers of Europe

"There will be another war within 10 years Belgium, Serbia, Italy, Rumania and Greece will be furious at the peace terms Only France, Britain and America will be satisfied," said the ex-crown prince recently

Shaving his mustache, darkening his hair removing his spectacles, and cultivating a limp, a Sheffield, England, man so altered his appearance that he was able to visit friends of his wife's and "marry" one of the girls.

Good authorities give the average duration of human life at about 33 years. One-quarter of the people on the earth die before the age of 6, one-half before the age of 16, and only about one person of each 100 born lives to the age of 65.

It is said that the cleanest town in the world is Broek, Holland. It has been famous for cleanliness from time immemorial The yards and streets are paved with polished stones intermingled with bricks of different colors.
By the janitor

American British, French and Greek doctors are striving with might and main to prevent an outbreak of the plague in the region extending along the north shore of the Aegean sea, from Saloniki to Constantinople.

In a bale of waste paper received at a paper mill at Charleston, W Va., was found a certified check for $12,500, which had dropped on the office floor of a Baltimore business house and been swept up Senator King urges deportation of L. C. K Martens, New York representative of the Russian soviet and the removal by President Wilson of Frederick C Howe, New York immigration commissioner.

NEW LAW EXTENDS HELP TO ADULTS

Persons Suffering From Deformity or Malady May Have Free Treatment at the State University.

Des Moines, Ia., July 7.—Under the provisions of the Perkins law many diseased and crippled children of Iowa have been helped and in many instances made whole at the University of Iowa at Iowa City.

On July 1 the Haskell-Klaus law which extends the benefits of the Perkins law to adults became effective. Briefly stated the objects of this law are as follows:

Any judge of a district or superior court may, on his own motion or on information furnished him by a physician, an overseer of the poor, a probation officer, a public health nurse, minister, priest or policeman, regarding any citizen of his district who is suffering from a deformity or malady that can probably be helped by medical or surgical attention and hospital care, and who is not able to provide for same, cause a hearing to be had and an investigation to be made; first, through the office of the county attorney as to the circumstances of the patient, and second, by a local physician, who shall report to the court on blanks furnished by the state as to whether or not, in his opinion, the patient may be helped by medical or surgical treatment and hospital care If the physician reports that, in his opinion, the patient may be helped, and it is found that he or she is not able to pay for the necessary treatment and hospital care, the court will commit such patient (the patient himself consenting) to the hospital of Iowa for treatment and care.

The actual cost of caring for such patients who are thus committed is paid by the state. Members of the medical faculty receive nothing for services except such salaries as are paid them by the state university.

To put it another way, any judge of a district or supreme court, physician, overseer of the poor, probation officer, public health nurse, minister, priest or policeman who has knowledge of any citizen of Iowa who needs medical or surgical treatment or hospital care, and who is not able to pay for the same, may set the machinery in motion to have such person taken care of and provided with the best that modern medical science affords

GOLF AND COUNTRY CLUB HAS OPENING

Arnold's Park, July 7.—Tuesday evening of this week the West Okoboji Golf and Country Club had a grand opening for members There was a large attendance and a magnificent time was had ball room was decorated with f and the national colors were in evidence everywhere. Streamers in gay colors were thrown from the balconies and the merrymakers were supplied with paper hats of gayest design and colors.

The music for the evening was furnished by a four-piece orchestra. The affair opened with a grand march in which all or nearly all present participated At midnight luncheon was served to about 200 persons, but dancing continued till about 1 o'clock

This club was organized two years ago being composed of business and professional men of Milford, Spencer and Emmetsburg. The membership now numbers about 350 It is the first golf and country club in the country with an airplane landing field. The club's grounds cover 80 acres It has a nine-hole golf course and plans are being made for an additional nine holes

Tenting and camping grounds are being laid out for the accommodation of the hundreds of tourists who come this way The present club house is already proving too small to accommodate the crowds that frequent it and plans are being made to double its capacity

The grounds are but a quarter of a mile from a fine bathing beach at the extreme south end of Lake Okoboji. Graveled roads run in all directions and on the whole the club has the making of the finest outing place in the state

ONAWA MAN KILLED BY 90-FOOT FALL

Onawa, Ia., July 7.—Early Tuesday morning Foreman S. O. Marshall, of the Northwestern coaling station at this place, came to work at about 5 o'clock. On his arrival at the station he noticed that his night man, Johnny Jones, was nowhere around, but located his hat He went in search for the man and found his body crushed by a fall of 90 feet from the loft of the chutes to the pit below, he having both legs, his arms and back broken. It is thought that Mr Jones had went to the top of the chutes to break loose some coal in the bins above, and in some way slipped and fell to the pit below. He had only worked at the coaling station one night before, beginning his work with the company on Monday evening He was a man of about 25 or 30 years of age and was single, leaving a mother.

SWITCHMAN DIES FROM INJURIES SUSTAINED

Council Bluffs, Ia., July 7.—John O. Thornburg, 33, foreman of an Illinois Central switching crew, was so badly injured when run over by a train in the local yards last night that he died today. He leaves a widow and four young children. Thornburg was formerly chief clerk in the yard office and quit that job as switchman to get the increased wages.

NINETY-EIGHT PER CENT OF PEOPLE FOR LEAGUE

Des Moines, Ia., July 7.—In a Fourth of July address at Altoona Dr. A. E. Kepford declared that 98 per cent of the people of this country are in favor of a league of nations, and predicted political oblivion to the statesmen who oppose it. He said there is no way by which America can escape international responsibility and that she does not wish to escape it.

INNOVATION FOR BLUFFS SCHOOLS

Teachers to Be Switched Each Year—Plan Aimed to Secure Greater Efficiency In the Grades.

Council Bluffs, Ia., July 5.—A radical change in the conduct of the schools of Council Bluffs was ordered by the school board at its meeting just held, in the inauguration of a plan of rotation among the teachers so that no teacher or principal will preside at any city school two years in succession and as there are eight grade schools in the city it will require as many years for the teachers to get back to the starting point. The order was received by teachers and public with a gasp of astonishment. It is claimed by the board the new order will create greater efficiency. The only school not included in the new order is the high school.

Some of the teachers have taught in the same rooms for many years and to them it will be like breaking home ties to make the change. It is claimed for the new order that greater discipline will be secured. On the other hand it is claimed that the reverse will be the case, but there is a general disposition to reserve judgment until the plan has been given a fair trial. It is such a radical departure that it will take time for teachers and pupils to become adjusted and accustomed to it.

BOY SCOUTS SAVE THIS LAD'S LIFE

Belmond, Ia., July 5.—Five boys have been helped from serious trouble in the river by Boy Scouts during the past two weeks, one being saved from drowning.

The boy attempting to swim the river while the water was high and the current swift, became exhausted, and lost his presence of mind. A companion went to the rescue, was pulled under by the frightened lad, and after breaking away three times had to save himself. A Boy Scout then swam out, seized the drowning lad by the hair, thrust him under water, and with the boy in that position pulled him to shore.

The lad was unconscious, with no sign of life, and the Scouts, utilized their training for such emergencies, gave him artificial respiration and brought him around after some strenuous work.

WHEN ICE CREAM IS NOT A LUXURY

Des Moines, Ia., July 5.—Pie a la mode, unless served from a soda fountain or at an ice cream parlor, is not to be subject to the luxury tax, according to John F. Carroll, chief field deputy of the internal revenue service at a meeting with deputies in the Des Moines district.

"Sales of pie a la mode, cake a la mode or pudding a la mode," he says "as made in the usual course of business at a restaurant, hotel, cafeteria lunch room or club house, are not taxable when sold separately unless sold from the soda fountain. "Ice cream sold with any substantial article of food is considered a sufficient article of food to constitute a meal in the meaning of the regulations

JOY RIDER MUST SELL HIS PERFECTLY NEW CAR

Boone, Ia., July 5.—A. Shadle a couple of days ago took a joyride down Eighth street in this city which ended in front of the Peerless Ice Cream factory

Shadle was overjoyed, tis true, so much so that he couldn't keep the car in the street and when he crashed into the ice cream factory several people had to do some rapid dodging to escape the car He was haled into Mayor Alexander's court and fined $99 and costs and then into justice court and fined $25 and costs

He has signed an agreement to sell his car within two weeks and walk the straight and narrow path.

COLONEL MACRAE TO GET BACK TO PRACTICE

Council Bluffs, Ia., July 5.—Dr Donald Macrae, jr., will open offices on the fourth floor of the World-Herald Building in Omaha Tuesday Dr Macrae who left Council Bluffs as a major commanding hospital unit K recently returned from 16 months service overseas, where he attained the rank of full colonel as commanding officer of mobile hospital No 1 (unit K) Dr Macrae's extension of his practice to Omaha does not mean Council Bluffs will lose him, the doctor continuing to live in this city where he has spent his entire life

LE MARS BRICKLAYER HAS A BAD FALL

LeMars, Ia., July 5.—Jack Carey, a bricklayer is lying in a local hospital, in a serious condition as the result of an accident, which occurred here Wednesday morning about 9 o'clock Carey was laying bricks on the boiler building of the Plymouth Milling Company, when a badly nailed scaffolding gave way and he fell into the boiler room a distance of about 10 feet He was taken to the hospital immediately and X-ray pictures were taken It is believed that he is injured internally His scalp was badly cut.

OCHEYDAN—C. L. Adams has sold the Ocheydan Press to A. B. Reagan, of Sibley, the deal being closed last week Mr Reagan is not new to the printing business. For a number of years he served as foreman of the Gazette at Sibley

FARMER'S FAMILY IS SAVED FROM BLAZE

Sidney, Ia., July 5.—The timely arrival home of the man employed upon the farm probably saved the lives of the family of Mr. and Mrs. Frank King, who live on the T. E. James farm near here. The hired man found the house enveloped in flames and the members of the family all sleeping soundly. He managed to arouse them in time to escape but not a thing was saved.

FARMER SUSTAINS VERY HEAVY LOSS

Eighty-five Head of Hogs Die After Being Fed Worm Remedy—Cattle Drown In Floods.

Matlock, Ia., July 3—A commercial worm medicine, fed by Albert Dokter a farmer near Matlock to his herd of hogs, is alleged to have been responsible for the death of the entire herd of 85 good sized fall and spring pigs.

Mr Dokter lost 11 head of cattle by drowning during the recent high water.

IOWA SUPREME COURT HANDS DOWN DECISIONS

Des Moines, Ia July 3—The Iowa supreme court has handed down decisions as follows Schleuter et al, appellants, vs. Reinking, et al. Cedar county, modified and remanded, In re estate of Colburn vs addition administrator et al appellants, Story county affirmed, Armstrong appellant, vs Harrison county, affirmed. Woods vs Knights and Ladies of Security appellants municipal court of Des Moines affirmed. Weisz appellant vs. Price et al, Woodbury county, affirmed, state of Iowa vs Harris, appellant, Lyon county reversed and remanded, Barrett appellant vs Martzahn, et al, Buchanan county, affirmed, W C F & N railway company vs C G W railway company, Blackhawk county, reversed, Matson vs Matson, et al, appellants, Boone county affirmed Arnold vs. Fort Dodge Des Moines and Southern railroad company, appellants, Story county affirmed, Campbell vs. Kerr, executor, et al, appellants, Johnson county, reversed on defendants appeal and affirmed on appellants Brown vs. Martin et al appellants, Woodbury county affirmed; Hollingshead vs. Watkins appellant Wright county, affirmed, Black vs. Escher, appellant, Warren county, reversed and remanded

FATHER AND SON WED ON SAME DAY

Council Bluffs Ia July 3.—A wedding of unusual interest was solemnized in Council Bluffs when a father and son were married on the same day Jens C Anderson was united in marriage in the morning to Minnie Waschow of Chicago the ceremony being performed at the home of the Rev I Hertsen, pastor of Our Savior's Scandinavian Lutheran church

In the afternoon at 2 o'clock Mr Anderson's son Arthur C., was married to Miss Ethel Peterson of Omaha, formerly of this city The afternoon wedding took place at St. John's English Lutheran church, where the Rev. C J Ringer, performed the ceremony in the presence of only the immediate relatives.

The two couples left Saturday evening for an extended trip to Estes park and other western points.

BIG BOOZE RAIDS MADE IN DES MOINES

Des Moines Ia July 3 Seven men and one woman mostly negroes were arrested and a large quantity of liquor confiscated in raids by federal agents in various parts of the city last night and early today Pat Scherwood head of the federal agents here announced today he had enough evidence to convict most of those arrested for selling liquor Several alleged dope sellers were also arrested and small amount of cocaine confiscated

OPPOSED TO VACCINATION, WILL GO INTO COURT

Des Moines Ia July 3—Opponents of compulsory vaccination for Des Moines school children will carry their case to the supreme court of the state, according to several members of the Public School Protective league an organization opposing the inoculation

Last week District Judge Hubert Utterback ruled that all children would have to be vaccinated before they could attend the schools. The decision came on a motion to dissolve the temporary restraining order granted last fall following the passage of a city ordinance requiring vaccination and its attempted enforcement by the school board

STORY COUNTY WANTS SHARE OF ROAD MONEY

Nevada Ia July 3—The Story county board of supervisors is going to try to get Story county's share of the federal aid and automobile tax although the voters defeated the proposition to pave the primary road system

The supervisors, who oppose paving, insist that the county is entitled to the money and have designated the roads on which they propose to spend it for grading drainage and graveling.

The board has made application to the state highway commission for the funds and will go into court to get them.

WOMEN DO NOT GAIN ALL RIGHTS OF MEN

Des Moines, Ia., July 3—Contrary to popular impression women will not be eligible to the state legislature in Iowa even after the national suffrage amendment is ratified by the necessary three-fourths of the states, it was announced at the state house, yesterday, following a comparison of the state constitution with the provisions of the amendment.

JEFFERSON—The Geneva company, a local firm, has secured the contract for the erection of the new high school building here, their bid being $130,500. Carstenben Bros., of Ackley, Ia., were awarded the contracts for heating, plumbing and electrical work. The building will cost about $155,000 when finished. Excavation will be started within 10 days.

ARMSTRONG—Another large land deal has been closed here. John Dows sold the west half of his section 10, one mile west of town to Mr Mouritzen of Ringstead for $100.000. or $312.50 per acre.

Labor Problems, Ancient and Modern.

From the Saving Review.

Senator Lodge called attention in his Harvard address to a letter written on a clay tablet 4,000 years ago in Babylon by which it appeared that they had then a system of profit sharing. He thought that in profit sharing we might have a beneficent source of the labor problems which confront us today, but he admitted that he would like to know how the system worked in Babylon, for it might throw some light on what to cherish and what to avoid.

It is doubtful whether the system in Babylon, if it was a success, was conducted on the principle of dividing profits as such, with classes of workers. It appears that some of the experiments recently tried in this country, are demonstrating that the system generally applied is a failure. The courageous Willys-Overland Company adopted it, the first of this year, and a few weeks ago proceeded to divide $120,000 among the workers. Two days later one of the most bitter strikes was inaugurated, and was over only after it had cost the laborers and the company thousands of lost dollars Intelligent employers are making up their minds to a different method of rewarding labor. It is necessary to divide employes into two classes—the brains department and the muscle department. The first consists of those in charge of men and operators and profit sharing with these stimulates to greater application, faithfulness and efficiency. But the muscle department must be rewarded by liberal bonuses for extra production; that is, the workers are paid good wages for a day's work with average production, and are offered considerable further sums whenever, and in proportion as, the production of the whole factory is increased beyond the normal output As no additional compensation is paid, not to individuals, but to the work as a whole, and then divided up, it places upon their backs the incentive and the responsibility of weeding out the slackers who will not do their share in achieving extra production, and consequently earn pay.

"TOOT SWEET!"

When I was back in my home town,
I always used to say:
"How nice 'twould be to travel 'round
Old Europe far away."

I've seen old England and its sights;
French scenes, I've seen a few;
In Germany, I've walked enough
To realize I'm through.

But there is nothing here for you,
And nothing here for me;
Let Europe settle what they know,
And we can take to sea.

Let's go where we can spend our life,
At home so far away;
And cast off from this world of strife
For our good old U. S. A.

—Bugler L. E Wilson, Battery A., in The Barrage

Choosing Our Possession.

From Collier's.

In the new world (after the League of Nations is established) there will no doubt be a school of manners, not limited to reluctant bolshevists. The chief item of instruction should be on the art of possession. False ideas prevail today. A man says "my office," but his clerks say "our office" Men and women assume possession with startling rapidity. An accident in "our car," or "in our street acquires a world's significance, beside which the eruption of Stromboli is a small and dismal thing. Just as men take pride in Texas because they live in the largest state, so office boys are haughty if their building has more elevators than any other in the world. We think the socialists ought to supply us with an analysis of this fury to possess. As a starting point we offer the suggestion that humanity is all wrong—it is not the man who owns the office; the office could much more justly speak of "my man." In spite of our title deeds and rent receipts we are all men possessed, by property or by an idea or by those we love. The art of living is in choosing our possessions—and our possessors as well.

Regular Habits Did It.

From the Indianapolis News.

A young man, still bronzed from his service in the sun and wind, stepped on the scales in front of a store. He waited until the pointer stopped, then said that he had lost nine pounds since he got out the army. His companion then tried the scales and found that his loss was 19 pounds Gradually those who served in the army and who wrote home about how much they had gained are getting back their pre-war weights. Many soldiers are explaining that their old clothing was too tight when they arrived home, but it fits better now some have lost even more than they gained. There is an explanation for all this. When the men went into the service they had to form regular habits. They were forced to get up at a certain time every morning, to go through certain exercises every day, to bathe regularly, to take long walks and go to bed at a specified hour If they did not get a certain number of hours sleep every night it was not because they were out of bed. The food served them in many cases was more plentiful than they had been having at home. It was good food, well prepared. It had in it the making of brain and brawn. The regular exercise, good diet and proper living habits made the soldier gain weight. Now he goes to bed when he gets ready and eats as much or little as he desires. He takes little or no exercise and he loses weight. It will happen to any man, and it is happening to thousands of former soldiers. The example should stimulate even those who never had any army training to take up some systematic form of exercise, to keep regular hours and to be more careful about their diet.

Too Many Doctors.

From Commerce and Finance.

From Germany and Austria come reports that of the many thousands of physicians turned loose by the armistice comparatively few can make a living. Those men had all the work they could handle in war time, especially the surgeons. Now there are few surgical cases, the influenza has subsided, and there is no great call for doctors except in cases that develop from malnutrition.

Few persons appreciate that a surplus of doctors is almost as bad for a nation as a shortage. The ideal condition is to have just enough physicians to have every one of them kept busy. The busy doctor is likely to be a much better doctor than the one who has few cases. The larger his practice the more he learns. America has too many doctors. A few years ago it had more per capita than any other country in the world and approximately as many as Germany and Great Britain combined. There were 80,000 doctors here some years ago. The number is somewhat larger now. We could get along very well with 85,000 less.

Fuch, Not Furnish.

From the San Francisco Chronicle.

In the course of his replies to the queries concerning the firing ordered during the last few hours before the signing of the armistice, General Pershing quotes from the orders of Marshal Foch directing that the pressure be maintained along the whole front up to the last moment. The complaint that General Pershing sacrificed lives by carrying on to the last moment is thus seen to be without justification. He was carrying out the policy of the supreme and unified command.

So Many Nice People.

From the Milwaukee Journal.

Did you ever have the feeling, 'I knew as many nice people as So and So.' Why is it that some persons live always bringing them incontact whole hearted, friendly people? It is happy faculty that some persons possess of bringing out the best that is in those they meet. Such persons act on the principle of putting others at their ease, inspiring confidence, being happier and more useful. Often the one who benefits by this spirit is unconscious of it, feeling only that the time seems pleasanter and more comfortable. It is not for praise that one does these things, but happy in knowing that he has given comfort. His is the discernment to see the fine thing that lies hidden from many and not be blinded by the surface difficulties, the preference of indifference or ill nature. And it never harms the doer if his good will is misunderstood or misinterpreted. For his thought is not for himself but to do a good turn to another happens for the moment or the day of the years to travel the road of life with him.

A Tree for a Tree.

From the Boston Globe

America's natural resources have been the salvation of Europe A list of products shipped across the Atlantic in recent years would be exhaustive. But at the head of this list would be "lumber." Millions of railroad ties have been sent to France. Today Greece is turning to the United States for wood. This country could furnish Europe with supplies for many years. Yet the old proverb ought not to be forgotten; there is an end to all things. A long look backward would show Europe covered with forests; a long look ahead under present methods would show America devoid of forests. The action presents a problem, not a dilemma. During the few years of this country's history 300 000 000 acres of forest land have been wiped out entirely. This amounts to more than half of our present land today.

Such a scheme as planting a new tree for each tree cut would do much to solve this problem.

Invention Not Wanted.

From the Christian Science Monitor.

It is hoped that report is mistaken in saying that somebody in America has invented a mechanism which magnifies the sound of the human voice and will make it possible for a man speaking to be heard for 50 or more miles without the intervention of the telephone. The noise of modern civilization is already annoying enough, and as one newspaper has commented on the reported invention "Let us suppose that some concern advertising chewing gum breakfast food of Grand Rapids furniture utilizes the device and shouts its wares across a state, what becomes of the sanity of the commonwealth?"

Economy in Matrimony.

From the Manila Times.

Marriage agencies in Japan are limited to 25 pesos fee on each marriage. One peso for an introduction for a hunt for a life partner and 25 for actually binding two together at the legal prices. This arrangement cuts out all the sorbetes, carriages, flowers, jewelry and other expenses of this country, and after all is there economics in it?

Sitting Down.

Many a man recently demobilized has a certain queer feeling of resurrection that he has "become somebody," as the saying is. Home inspection is so different from what he has been used to in the service. From being a plain private, regarded with care, suspicion and qualified approval, he has become handsome, well-dressed, distinguished looking, improved by travel.

There is no more of that eternal hurry up by the hundreds for drill, work, mess, leave, amusement, medical examination, etc., that endless tiresome lining up. One man is now one man, not a link in a human chain. One's feet come easily to the ground and light softly now that bugle calls are banished Food is no longer a matter of sitting, and there are various dishes to eat from and all day to do it in. Also one can eat elsewhere than on the ground or in the mud, and sometimes there is a light lunch by one's chair. No one can ever imagine what a stand up meal was to the last of all, there is also the undreamed of by the rub of wool on the unwashed frame, sleep on something more blessed than the earth, sleep till 7 o'clock if you want it and the top sergeant does not come. Mess call is when you please. Demobilization is right, even if at the end it is somewhat in your own time, and confusion to the ranks of those who plan to start another war

Taking No Chances.

From the Chicago News.

"You say that neither of your stenographers wants a vacation this year? That's singular."

"Not at all. You see, I recently married a handsome young secretary, and neither of the girls is willing to go away and leave the field to the other one."

Thoughtful Woman.

From the Las Animas (Col.) News.

Lady in touring car beckons to policeman. "Will you kindly do me a favor, sir?"

"Certainly, madam."

"Then please stand out in the middle of the highway and see how quickly you can stop my car without hitting you."

...T MEDICINE FOR WOMEN"

...Lydia E. Pinkham's ... Compound Did for Her Own...

...Ohio.—"I suffered from ... pains in my side and was so ... I could ... I could ... and I had ... my family ... and they ... it would ... for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me. I took it and it has restored my health. It is certainly the best ... I always ... Mrs. MARY MEANY, R. No. 1, ... Ohio.

Proved the worth of this ... and wrote this letter in order ... suffering women may find ... as she did.

...who are suffering as she was ... drag along from day to day ... using this famous root and herb ... Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable ... a trial. For special ... advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of its forty years ... is at your service.

Loses French Favor.

...in the system of examina... the French degree of licentiate... are under consideration ... ministry of public instruction. ...ulties consider that Latin or ...ld be obligatory for all can... while others think that class... be omitted in the case of ... who do not undertake to ... degree for obtaining a post ... a degree would meet the re... of American students, who ... very numerous in France.

Fleeting Ills.

—Still waiting for your ship ...in, eh?"

—Oh, they've come in. Whole ...en. All hardships.—Philadelphia American.

...always comes a time when ...usher is called.

...present price it's no trick to ...your eggs in one basket.

That Backache!

...straining twinges across the ... back, that dull, throbbing ... is your warning of serious ... serious, if neglected, ... easily lead to gravel, stone ... bladder inflammation, ... fatal Bright's disease. Be ... warning with a bad back, have ... headaches, nervous, de... attacks or disordered kidney ... at after the cause. Use Doan's ... Pills, the remedy that has ... out for you by thousands.

An Iowa Case

...Stubblefield, ... dealer, ... Square, ... Ia., says: ... ago I ... back. This ... kidneys ... last time ... bothered much ... annoyance. ... secretions ... disorder... ... and ... head... I was oft... After taking ... Kidney ... rapidly im... and soon I was feeling better ... in years."

...at Any Store, 60c a Box

DAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

...CO., BUFFALO, N.Y.

220 Acres — 220 Acres

OIL. OIL.

...right in the heart of the latest ... in Butler County, Kansas. Dis... to our royalty only 1/8 ... 1/8 ... 500 BARRELS DAILY. ... morning section, 10 ft. in sand; ... 1,000 to 5,000 bbls. daily. Two ... Timbers on ground for three ... room for 72 wells. ...NTEE TITLE & TRUST CO. ... Wichita, Kansas. ...nies and pay dividends. This ... paying dividends now. Write ... to Holden No. One, drilling ... last. We look for this well to ... When it does price of acres will ...

...for sale a limited number ...ley-Jones Royalty on the Holi... ...pleden-Land at $2.00 each. ...allest amount accepted $100 dol... ...of more. Act quickly before ...ances. If price has advanced, ...will be returned. Make your ... and address all letters to ...JOHN L. WRIGHT, ... Bldg., Wichita, Kansas. ...80 ACRES — 320 ACRES

Cuticura Promotes Hair Health

...Ointment ...

Flies! Flies!

...maps free. Investigate. ...Leonard Brothers, El Paso, Tex.

...direct from mills. L. ...Indian ...Moss Sts. Readings, Pa.

...CO., NO. ...-1918.

R-34 FLASHES CALL TO U. S. NAVY FOR HELP

Commander Reports Gasoline Supply Running Short as Big Dirigible Battles Headwind Off Nova Scottia.

Washington, July 7. Almost out of fuel after hovering run fr... East Fortune, Scotland the Br... ish dirigible R 34 asked the n... department this afternoon whet... er destroyers were being sent to her assistance.

The message was received a... 1:50 p. m., and when sent the R 34 still was over Nova Scotia about 220 miles northeast of Cross Island, Maine.

The message read:

"Signals strong. Position 45 21 north, 64 00 west. Course south west true. Running out of fuel after flight from Britain. Please tell me if your destroyers are coming.."

ing." (Signed)

"Commanding Officer R 34."

This message was sent to the R-34 by radio from the Otter Cliff station at 2 19 p. m.

"U. S. S. Satilla left Cross Island, Maine, at 12 30 p. m. to assist you. Two destroyers leaving Boston will commence to you.

"Bureau of Operations."

May Become Derelict

The R-34 appears to have been severely buffeted by unfavorable gales that she has been unable to make the progress expected and is in the gasoline dangerously low would be forced in peril of becoming [illegible] of the air at the mercy of the wind.

The first word of the [illegible] 34 was picked up by the [illegible] late this morning. [illegible] across Nova Scotia the [illegible] had encountered strong head winds and that the petrol was running short. Ten minutes later another message was received addressed to [illegible] and signed by Lieut. Com. [illegible] American on the dirigible. The message asked whether the [illegible] proceed, if required, to the [illegible] end of the Bay of Fundy [illegible] R-34 in tow.

Admiral Benson acting secretary of the navy in the absence of Secretary Daniels and Assistant Secretary Roosevelt, ordered the steam yacht and the destroyers to proceed immediately to the last reported position of the R 34. The yacht was at Cross Island Me. 40 miles from the northern Maine border and the destroyers were attached to the first naval district headquarters at Boston.

Navy officials here in ordering the three vessels did so with a measure of precaution as a single craft might not be able to handle the huge airship, especially if strong winds prevailed. There was no positive assurance that the R-34 would need help as its messages merely asked if a destroyer could be sent if required."

No Place to Land.

If the gasoline supply should run out before the R-34 reached Chebucto Head and the crew of the [illegible] attempted a landing, it was [illegible] would be wrecked as it [illegible] the United States equipped to handle the airship and [illegible] other than Roosevelt field, where the navy is in charge of operations and where a big crowd awaited the British dirigible's arrival.

Should the R-34 become unfit to take the air, it was believed that even the three navy craft could [illegible] would have great difficulty in [illegible] it to some sheltered location where it could be deflated.

One plan suggested was that the destroyers tow her to a [illegible] coast nearest to Roosevelt field, could make a dash for the landing grounds with the small quantity of gasoline remaining in her tank.

SHIPS RUSH TO AID

By Associated Press.

Boston, July 7. The navy converted yacht Satilla sailed this afternoon for Machias Bay Me., to the assistance of the R 34. It is thought she will come up with the dirigible about 5 o'clock.

The indicated course of the R 34 would take her across the route of the Satilla.

The submarine chaser 407 left Bar Harbor, Me., this afternoon to aid the R-34. Doubt that a tug [illegible] would be necessary was raised in a second message announced by the naval communication office but [illegible] was a repetition of the call [illegible] sage asking whether destroyer would proceed to the Bay of Fundy but with the words "if required" inserted.

The destroyers Fanecraft and Stevens, at the Boston navy yard were getting up steam this afternoon under orders to proceed to the assistance of the dirigible at top speed.

Orders to send the destroyers Balk and Ballard had been received but the could not be made ready quickly, and orders to send the other ships followed.

EXPECTS ARRIVAL SUNDAY.

By United Press.

Mineola, N. Y., July 7. Lieut. Col. Lucas, commandant at Roosevelt field, announced shortly after 1 p. m. today that he had just received a message from Major Scott, commanding the R-34, stating the dirigible would arrive here tomorrow morning.

Lieut. Col. Lucas believed that Major Scott's message was sent by him after the R-34's call for aid. He also thought it probable the dirigible would have to land to refuel, but would then proceed on her journey to Mineola.

BIG BI-PLANE FALLS.

SCOUT OVER LAKE FOR MISSING BALLOONIST

Searchers Giving Up Hope of Rescuing Pilot of Blimp Which Broke Away at Toledo.

By United Press.

Toledo, Ohio, July 7.—A United States balloon is scouting over Lake Erie for Sergeant Joseph Marquette, balloon pilot believed drowned when a captive balloon in which he was operating over Bay view arena, scene of the Willard-Dempsey battle broke its cable and floated [illegible] lake Friday.

The [illegible] 50 miles out. Fred Delez[illegible] New York moving picture operator was rescued by one of 100 launches that started in pursuit.

The [illegible] just about to make a landing [illegible] to within 2 0feet of [illegible] and [illegible] broke. Ten seconds after it was floating rapidly [illegible] up.

By Associated Press.

[illegible] The giant Hard[illegible] planes under command of [illegible] left Harbor [illegible] en route to [illegible] at [illegible] landed [illegible] o'clock this morning.

The big [illegible] forced to descend [illegible] engine trouble and in landing was [illegible] beyond immediate [illegible] of the crew was [illegible].

Pensacola on the north shore on Bedford [illegible] north of Halifax. [illegible] telephone to Halifax that everything [illegible] well with the [illegible] first shortly after [illegible] morning necessitating [illegible]. The airplane was [illegible] across a low altitude [illegible] a suitable [illegible] appeared to be an open field [illegible] finally decided upon but in [illegible] a wire was [illegible] of the [illegible] bed.

[illegible] he had no [illegible] for [illegible] on that it would be impossible to repair the machine [illegible] at Halifax.

The Handley Page originally was [illegible] for a trans Atlantic flight but [illegible] decided [illegible] to Long Island instead.

The [illegible] from Harbor Grace to [illegible] 1,075 [illegible] and the [illegible] between [illegible] miles.

RAYNHAM READY

By Associated Press.

[illegible] Frederick [illegible] yesterday which [illegible] it was [illegible] ke off" [illegible] he was [illegible] Atlantic flight.

HOLLAND WON'T PROTECT KAISER

Powers Reported to Have Received Assurances Former Emperor Will Be Delivered on Demand

By Associated Press.

London, July 7. [illegible] according to the Daily Mail have received assurances that the Dutch government [illegible] the last [illegible] will refuse to surrender the former emperor [illegible] for trial.

The newspaper [illegible] but the necessary formal [illegible] will doubtless be raised to maintain [illegible] Dutch sovereignty, but as it does, if the person in question made [illegible] of Holland [illegible] will be [illegible] of the Dutch [illegible] will be [illegible] roads to [illegible] of the guest.

It is not considered [illegible] Mail [illegible] of the matter will [illegible] the [illegible] to [illegible] The Times [illegible] Dutch Americans [illegible] Dutch [illegible] judges [illegible] of the [illegible] at the [illegible] according [illegible] Netherlands [illegible] removal [illegible] of [illegible] William [illegible] which [illegible] it was [illegible] ke off" [illegible] he was [illegible] Atlantic flight.

CAN'T FIND NEW HOME

By Associated Press.

Amerongen, [illegible] William Hohenzollern, former emperor of Germany has decided to stay here, at least until the end of summer and perhaps through the autumn, owing to the difficulty which has been encountered in finding a suitable dwelling elsewhere. It is said that the former emperor and empress [illegible] very good despite the worries of the last few weeks.

The miserable weather has sometimes hindered the former monarch's log sawing operations but whatever the nature of the weather, Count Hohenzollern passes two or three hours daily at his favorite occupation taking shelter with his assistants beneath a garden shed when the downpour of rain is most severe.

He expects to complete the sawing of his six thousandth tree this week, his 6000th tree this week.

DEMPSEY TO EARN $7,000 IN CINCINNATI NEXT WEEK

Cincinnati, Ohio, July 7.—Cincinnati will be the first city to entertain Jack Dempsey, Montana's new king. A local amusement park today contracted with Dempsey to open a week's engagement here Sunday, paying him $7,000 for the week. Jack will give two performances daily, sparring three rounds with Bill Tate at each performance and delivering a monologue telling his version of how he licked Jess Willard.

SENATOR'S SON ADMITS KILLING OF SWEETHEART

Brings Body to Los Angeles Police Station In Auto—Declares Quarrel Followed Girl's Rejection of Proposal.

By United Press.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 7.—Harry S. New, who says he is the son of United States Senator Harry S. New, of Indiana, by a divorced wife, today sat quietly in a tank at the city [illegible], telling how he murdered Miss Frieda Lesser, whom he was to have married tonight.

When Miss Lesser told him, as they sat in New's sedan on the dark Topango canyon road near Burbank last night, that she would go to the operating table instead of the altar, in order that she would not become the mother of his child, he shot her. New voluntarily told the police. New declared Miss Lesser never told him much of her parents but that he thought her father was Emil Lesser, who was supposed to have committeed suicide two years ago at Venice, Cal. while being sought for violation of the espionage act. Department of justice agents said they are still searching for a man named Emil Lesser who was reported to have killed himself two years ago.

Brings Body in Auto.

Bringing with him the body of Miss Lesser New drove to the central police station today and asked that he be arrested.

New told the police that he is the son of United States Senator Harry S. New of Indiana by a divorced wife, now Mrs. Lulu Burger, of Glendale, Cal. He has been living with his mother and his sister Edna Clancy New at Glendale, Cal. He said his mother was divorced from Senator New 15 years ago and now is visiting in Indianapolis and staying at the Hotel Linden in that city.

Confesses Guilt.

By United Press.

"I killed her" the murderer nervously, but quietly told the police who met him in his sedan as it stopped in front of police headquarters.

Detectives peered into the rear compartment of the natty closed car and there beneath a robe lay the body of Miss Lesser. A big bullet hole through the right temple had caused her death.

"This is the gun," New half sobbed as the police carried the body from the car. He handed over a .38 Colt automatic.

Inside the police station, New told detectives that he and Miss Lesser had left last night for a ride through Topango canyon. At a spot where the road was darkest he stopped the car and soon asked Miss Lesser to become his wife. She refused.

An argument followed, New said, and in a fit of temper he told the police he shot the girl whom he sought to make his wife. She died instantly.

Realizing that he had killed his sweetheart New said he moved the body from the seat beside him where she had died, placed it in the back of the car, carefully covered it with a robe and drove with all speed down the miles of dark road, through flitting shadows from the moonlight, to Los Angeles, where he gave himself up to the police. He reached the police station just before daylight.

Miss Lesser was a beautiful brunette with luxurious dark brown hair. She was aged 20. She resided at Fifty-third street and Griffin avenue, Los Angeles.

After a few hours of quiet in the police station all nervousness seemed to leave New and he unfolded what the police said was the most remarkable story ever told them.

Planned Honeymoon.

New declared to police and newspapermen that he had planned to marry Miss Lesser tonight and had made all arrangements for a wedding trip to Fresno, Cal.

Last night, he said, Miss Lesser confided to him that she could not marry him now on account of her condition, and that she was going to undergo an operation.

New declared the operation would have been a reflection on the honor of [illegible] loved and that he could not tolerate it. Rather, he said, he would [illegible] and he shot her.

Culver Graduate.

New gave his age as 32. He said he was a member of the Black Horse troop, of Culver Military academy, when he was in school and later attended Notre Dame university at Notre Dame, Ind.

For several years, New said, he and his mother, now Mrs. Lulu M. Burger, and sister have been living at Glendale, Cal., and added that since his mother had been separated from United States Senator New, 15 years ago, he and his sister had supported their mother.

SEAPLANE FALLS WITH IOWA YOUTH AND GIRL

Council Bluffs, Ia., July 7.—J. Howard Burch and Miss Dessie McGee, of Moorhead, Ia., take with them to their home the recollection of a thrill which was not expected when they entered the giant seaplane at Lake Manawa late yesterday for a flight over the lake. As the pilot was circulating over the trees preparing for a landing, the plane took a dive and plunged 200 feet, tore itself into the lake, where the machine is today held fast there in the mud. Burch had a broken leg and numerous scratches and Miss McGee's face was considerably scratched. The pilot was uninjured.

Twenty thousand people witnessed the accident.

The seaplane had made more than 25 flights during the day and evening.

MONEY AND ROADS.

From the Saturday Evening Post.

As to how much money a community is justified in spending for road improvement, the answer must depend on the amount of the possible reduction in the total annual hauling charges of the district. One authority estimates that the total cost of hauling the cotton crop in a recent year was in excess of $65,000,000. Consequently an 8 per cent reduction in the cost of hauling would have effected a saving of about $2,000,000. This means that for road improvement the people in the cotton states could have obligated themselves to pay a $2,000,000 annual interest and maintenance charge and profited by the investment. Certain localities report that the establishment of better roads has reduced the ten-mile costs for hauling from $1.40 to 12 cents.

"HINDIE" INSISTS ON BEING "GOAT"

Notifies Allies He Was Responsible For German War Crimes, Shifting Blame From Wilhelm.

By Associated Press.

London, July 7.—Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, former chief of the German staff, declared that he is responsible for acts of German main headquarters since August, 1916, and also the proclamation of former Emperor William concerning the waging of warfare. He asks President Ebert of Germany to inform the allies to this effect according to a Copenhagen dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company.

The field marshal arrived in Hanover, Friday, the dispatch states, and telegraphed the following message to President Ebert.

"The signing of the peace treaty gives me occasion for declaring that I am responsible for the decisions and acts of main headquarters since August 29, 1916, and also that all proclamations and orders of his majesty, the emperor and king, concerning the waging of warfare were issued upon my advice and upon my responsibility. I ask you therefore to inform the German people and the allied governments of this declaration."

The declaration by Field Marshal Von Hindenburg that he was responsible for acts committed by the Germans and for proclamations of the former emperor is the second to be made by a German leader since it was officially announced that the allies purposed to place on trial political and military leaders of Germany for causing the war and for violations of the rules of warfare. The other leader, who assumed responsibility for the acts of former Emperor William, was Dr. Theobald von Bethmann-Hollweg, former German chancellor, who held office at the beginning of the war.

WILSON ANSWERS "ISOLATIONISTS"

In July Fourth Speech Aboard Steamer Declares U. S. Must Live Up to Its Reputation.

By Associated Press.

On Board the U. S. S George Washington, Friday, July 4.—"This is the most tremendous Fourth of July ever imagined, for we have opened its franchise to the whole world," said President Wilson in a stirring speech to soldiers and sailors massed on the deck of the presidential steamer yesterday afternoon.

The men gave Mr. Wilson three cheers as he appeared among them and began his address by greeting them as "my fellow citizens." It was a striking picture, with several thousand khaki clad doughboys and blue jacketed sailors crowding the decks, life boats and rigging, with the president, bareheaded and earnest, in their midst. His theme was "The New and Enlarged Meaning of the Fourth of July." He spoke of the future of America and said:

"You cannot earn a reputation on it that and not live up to it. We must continue to put America at the service of mankind."

The president's speech, constituting a reply to the elements advocating America's return to a policy of isolated nationalism, was regarded as forecasting the keynote of the campaign he is to make in support of the League of Nations.

The president has accepted the New York program arranged for him, providing that he cross by ferry from Hoboken to Manhattan and drive to Carnegie Hall where he will speak briefly. After his address he will depart immediately for Washington.

Secretary Tumulty announced definitely this afternoon that President Wilson will address the Senate Thursday.

TO DOCK TUESDAY.

New York, July 7.—A wireless message received today from the transport George Washington said the vessel would reach Ambrose channel light ship at noon Tuesday and dock at Hoboken about 3 p. m.

WEATHER PREDICTIONS.

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., July 5.—Weather predictions for the week beginning Monday, are:

Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri valleys: Temperature near the normal with occasional local showers and thunder storms.

REVOLUTION IN PERU SUCCESS

Leguia Firmly Installed as Provisional President at Lima—Deposed Executive and Cabinet In Prison.

Lima, Peru, July 7.—Auguste B. Leguia late Friday assumed office as provisional president of Peru and took up his residence in the government palace, as a result of the successful overthrow earlier in the day of President Pardo.

Senor Pardo, his ministers and a number of high officials of the army and navy are in prison. Virtually no fighting and no casualties marked the overthrow of the Pardo government.

The revolution began at 2 o'clock Friday morning with an attack on the palace by two regiments of troops and a force of police. By 6 o'clock President Pardo had been deposed and Senor Leguia proclaimed provisional president.

It is announced that President Pardo will be placed on trial on charges of having violated the constitution and having conspired against institution of a republic. Inauguration of Senor Leguia as president, it is said, probably will take place within two months. The provisional president claims that he received 160,000 votes of the 200,000 cast in the recent provisional election.

Had Declared Holiday.

The Fourth of July had been proclaimed as a national holiday by President Pardo. Thousands of persons thronged the streets cheering for Senor Leguia. A crowd assembled before the government palace and called on Leguia for a speech.

The provisional president speaking from the balcony of the palace, declared he intended to organize a strong government on a popular basis and to increase the army and navy to the status they held during his previous term as president from 1908 to 1912. He said he would defend the principles of justice and right which had triumphed in the great war and would associate Peru without reserve with the allies. He intended, he said, to extend every facility for the introduction of foreign capital to aid in the development of national resources.

Senor Leguia in a statement to the Associated Press said he had made every effort to avoid deposing President Pardo by force, but it had become increasingly evident that a conspiracy was afoot to deprive him of the office to which he had been chosen in the recent election. There are no reports from the provinces concerning the situation there, but Senor Leguia and his assistants expect no difficulties.

The provisional president expected to announce his cabinet within a few hours.

DOCTOR THROWS BABY ON DUMP

Infant Dies 12 Hours After Being Found—Physician Defends Self on Ground He Considered Babe "Monstrosity."

Richmond, Ind., July 7.—Grand jury investigation of the death of the two day old babe found on the city dump was assured today on the filing of the coroner's report. Coroner Bond severely arraigned Dr. W. F. Kruger, who admitted he threw the infant down a 60 foot embankment onto the dump. Dr. Kruger had characterized the baby as a "monstrosity" and said he disposed of it in this manner at the request of the parents.

The report said the child died 12 hours after it was found on the dump and that death was due to criminal neglect of the attending physician.

COAL PRODUCTION MOUNTS RAPIDLY

Mines Again Being Worked to Capacity, Following Long Lull—Winter Prospects Brighter.

By United Press.

Washington, July 7.—Coal mines are being worked to their full capacity in an endeavor to ward off another serious coal shortage, the department of the interior announced today.

Figures of the department showed that coal production, including both bituminous and anthracite, was constantly climbing.

Bituminous production during the week ended June 28, it was stated, totaled 9,147,000 tons, the highest weekly figure recorded this year since the last week in January, but a decrease of nearly 3,000,000 tons from bituminous production during the same period in 1918. This made the total bituminous production for 1919 to date aggregate 212,581,000 tons as compared with 214,585,000 tons during the corresponding period of last year.

Anthracite production during the week of June 23 totaled 1,841,000 tons which was also the highest weekly mark recorded since January. As compared with anthracite mined during the week of June 28, 1918, this however, was a decrease of over 500,000 tons. Last week's production made the total amount of anthracite mined during 1919 aggregate 38,796,000 tons, compared to 43,077,000 tons for the corresponding period last year.

Prof. John Dewey has been granted leave of absence from his chair of philosophy at Columbia University, and will devote the next year to establishing a national educational system for China.

Red Jap
Steel Fence Posts

No Holes to Dig

You will save days of time and tons of energy by using "RED TOP" Steel Fence Posts.

These "RED TOP" posts have a sharp (beveled) point (patented) which enables you to drive them into an old or new fence line at the rate of 200 to 400 per day.

They outlast wood or concrete posts and cost less installed.

Every "RED TOP" post is guaranteed. There are millions in use.

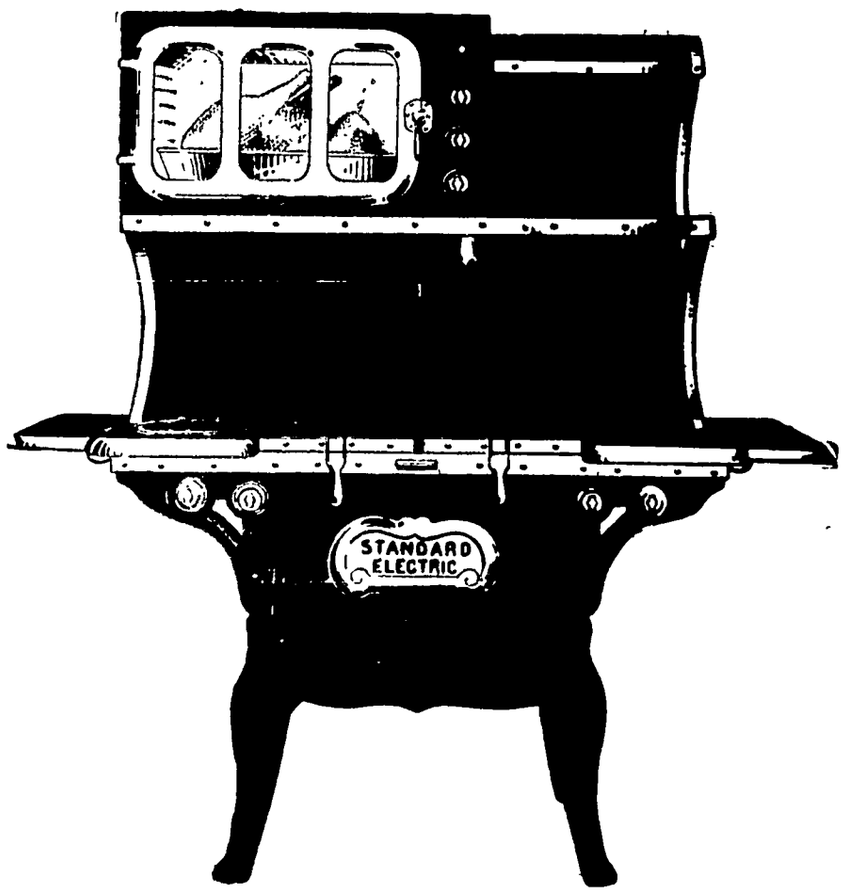
Come in and let us tell you about this economical and convenient fence post.

Northern Lbr. Co.

Cook by Electricity

AND USE THE

Standard Electric Range



The illustration shows a No. 601 STANDARD RANGE

This is one of the largest and most complete types. A size is made for every requirement.

The combination of Electric Cooking Compartments, Electric Ovens and Electric Hot Plates enables you to use Electricity in the most economical way and solves the problem of Electrical Cooking.

THE STANDARD RANGE

Saves Fuel

Saves Work

Saves Food

"Let Us Show You How"

REX SHANNON

GARNER - - - - - IOWA

DR. R. M. THOMAS

Veterinarian

All Calls Answered Promptly

Klemme, Iowa Office and Residence Phone

TEST TEACHING OF THRIFT IN SCHOOLS

Summer Vacation Pledges to Show Results of Lessons in Saving Given to Iowa Pupils.

Little Lessons in Thrift, prepared by Macy Campbell of the Iowa State Teachers College, state director of the School Thrift campaign in Iowa, have been used in the large majority of Iowa schools since the first of January with very gratifying results. These Lesons in Thrift have been in great demand throughout the United States and are now used in the school systems from the Atlantic to the Pacific coasts and from Minnesota to the Belt.

The purpose of this movement which is being carried on by the United States Treasury department is to instill in the minds of the coming generation of citizens the importance of thrifty habits. The real test will be made in Iowa at the opening of schools in September as to the effectiveness of the Little Lessons in Thrift and the presentation of the same which has been given by the teachers of the state.

To Report on Work.

A report will then be requested from each schoolroom in Iowa covering the success which the pupils have had in meeting the summer vacation pledge which reads as follows:

"Because I am a loyal American and because my country needs my help, and because what I earn will help the whole world as well as myself, I promise, during the coming summer vacation:

(1) To earn all that I can by doing my work well.

(2) To save a reasonable part of what I earn.

(3) To invest what I can in U. S. Thrift and Savings Stamps.

(4) To report to my teacher when school opens next fall what part of my earnings I manage to save and how much of this I invested in Thrift and Savings Stamps."

This will be the real test of the teachers' ability to fix habits of thrift and savings in the pupils under their charge.

Plans for Next Fall.

The Thrift campaign will be pushed vigorously in the schools of Iowa as soon as they are organized for work next fall. Many parents throughout the state have shown a keen interest during the past year in the teaching of thrift which aims to make the children better able to take care of themselves as well as to make them better citizens.

City and county superintendents of schools and the teachers of Iowa have rendered a very practical and valuable help to the treasury department by the zealous way in which they have assisted in carrying out the teaching of thrift in the schools during the past year.

HELPS YOU TO OWN A HOME

War Savings and Thrift Stamps Absorb the Small Sums That Are Carelessly Wasted and Add to Bank Roll.

It's a good thing, on general principles, to own one's own home, and it's going to be a better thing, steadily from now on. The home idea, rapidly spreading over the country, represents one of the finest possibilities ever open to the nation. For the man who owns his own home is no longer a national, an economic "floater;" he is a solid and substantial citizen who has taken firm root.

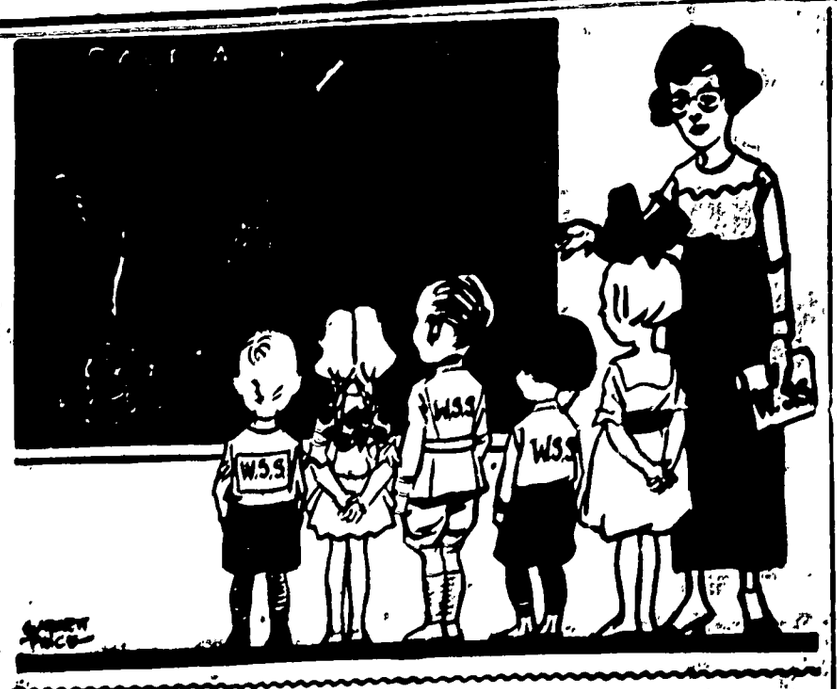
When this firm root is strongly nationalistic in tendency, when it runs clear down to the foundations of national and civic substance, so much the better. Therefore, the man who saves for his own home through government investments approximates better citizenship through enjoyment of a genuine "stake in the country." His "firm root," like that of a healthy, well-nourished tree, will enable him to weather all reasonable storm and stress.

Not every man who decides to own his own home finds it possible to build or buy on the instant. The majority of men, indeed, must save steadily, for some time, before the home-owning dream is possible of realization. Large numbers of American men and women for this reason welcomed the advent of War Savings stamps with discriminating gladness, buy them as regularly as payday comes round.

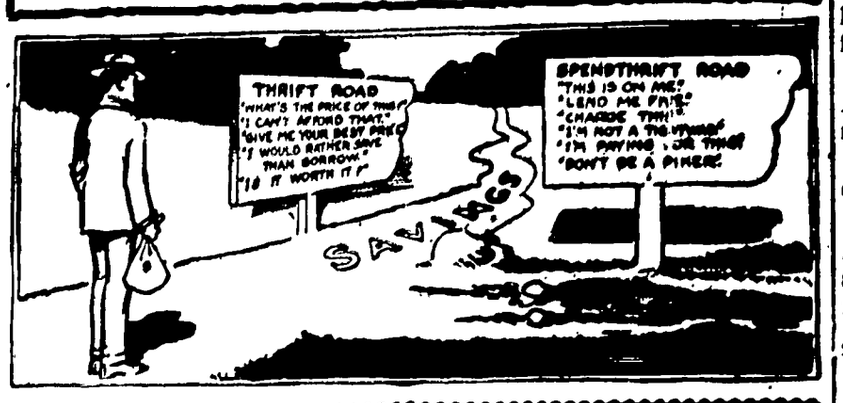
Thrift stamps, for similar reason, are popular with thoughtful householders and housekeepers. They absorb and put to good use the small sums that else might be carelessly wasted, they build up War Savings stamps without effort, more rapidly than might be expected. And a War Savings stamp, simple as it seems, is a valuable asset, a rapidly maturing income-bearing, nontaxable, nondepreciable, nonfluctuating government security of high grade and character. For home-owning purposes the War Savings stamp is an ideal investment. In five years from date of purchase it comes to maturity, and it may be redeemed at face value at any desired time.

Thrift means conservation. Conserve your money as you would your time and energy. Buy W. S. S.

Permanent thrift means permanent happiness. Government War Savings stamps will show the way.



Which Road Are You Traveling?



BE A PROFIT-SHARER IN THIS GREAT COUNTRY

Every War Savings Stamp You Buy Gives You a Greater "Stake" in the Land You Love.

All over the United States a profit-sharing wave is in progress. The great industrial firms and employers of the country, quick to see the way industrial and economic straws are blowing, on all sides are putting into active practice ideas and plans and theories that not so long since would have been regarded as absurdly Utopian and visionary. The American workingman is not only invited, but urged to become a profit-sharing partner instead of a mere earner of wages. It is interesting, in this connection, to note that the United States government was practically first in this wide and promising field.

The "stock distribution plan" most favored by large employers of the present era is precisely that first favored by Uncle Sam in regard to government investments and savings. "Evolved with a view of encouraging thrift," is the apt phrase most popular in such connections. It tallies admirably with Uncle Sam's similar and preliminary plan and propaganda. Even in regard to the regulations rendering it possible for the low-salaried worker with serious family obligations to invest is the new industrial idea patterned after that of Uncle Sam.

Every man, woman and child in the United States may, at will, become a governmental investor, purchase, at small price, a genuine "stake in the country," a share in the economic system so successfully prevailing. Huge numbers of American citizens, of course, have acquired such stake in the shape of Liberty bonds, most frequently, perhaps, bought on the easy payment plan. And for those who find it more convenient to invest small sums, or who are anxious to establish the habit of sane, steady, systematic savings Thrift and War Savings stamps are offered.

The price of a Thrift stamp is but a quarter. Four Thrift stamps may be purchased for the sum paid in, weekly, by the majority of the industrial investors in the large firms and stock companies. And purchase of 16 Thrift stamps, with the addition of a few pennies, means a War Savings stamp —which means, in turn, an income-bearing governmental security, nondepreciable, nontaxable, nonfluctuating, maturing in five years, earning high rate of interest, compounded quarterly and redeemable, at exact face value, at any juncture. The new profit-sharing plan and propaganda deserve commendation, encouragement in all ways, but it should not be forgotten, when appreciative recognition is in order, that our Uncle Samuel "went and did it first."

A FIRM FOUNDATION.

It's what you save, not what you earn that spells future opportunity for your children. Invest your savings in W. S. S.

FRANKLIN'S KITE EXPERIMENT

How the Patriot's Thrift and Savings Habits Gave All the Value to His Study of Lightning.

BESIDES being a good printer, a great statesman and an immortal economist Benjamin Franklin was a scientist of the highest rank.

His famous kite experiment, by which he first proved the identity of atmospheric electricity and the static kind generated by rubbing amber with silk, would have been futile and valueless but for one little "kink" that Ben Franklin thought of simply because he had made a fixed habit of saving. He felt sure that the lightning was only an electric manifestation; but in order to prove it, he knew that he must save some of the current he caught on his kite string.

To save some of it he attached a common Leyden jar—or tinfoil "condenser"—to the kite string. That enabled him to save enough of the current snatched from the clouds for a decisive test. If he had not thought of saving a little, his experiment would have been only a dangerous and addlepated caper. Saving made it great and famous.

The money you earn is soon lost—just like the electricity in the clouds—unless you follow Ben Franklin's example and provide a sort of Leyden jar or "condenser" to save part of it.

WAR SAVINGS CERTIFICATES and THRIFT STAMPS will serve for your earnings the same useful purpose that Ben Franklin's bottle and tinfoil served in his kite experiment.

If science demands saving how much more does living require it.

Remember Ben Franklin's kite and buy WAR SAVINGS STAMPS.

PICKING UP THAT PIN.

A story told of E. H. Harriman, who died leaving an estate of $75,000,000, credits him with one day picking up a small steel letter clip dropped on the floor by a careless employee.

"I'd like to have as my annual income," said Mr. Harriman, "the value of material thrown away every year by indifferent workers in the offices and factories of America. In a few years I'd be the richest man in the world."

Money Making Money.

One dollar put aside every week for five years will give you over $287; for ten years it will make $686. Of course, $2 a week will give you about double that, or for five years $575.00; and so on. Buy a lead pencil and figure on that. It will be one of the best investments you ever made.—Bolton Hall.

Thrift, as an essence of character, finds expression in the purchase of W. S. S. They help you, the nation, and pay compound interest.

The Klemme Time
R. A. Jorgenson, Publish

Published Every Thursday

Advertising Rates

Display Advertising, per column in 15c, 18c 20c and 25c, according amount of composition per inch

Locals and Readers 5c per line, local accepted for less than 25c insertion.

Professional cards, continuos run no change of copy, $1.00 per month

Card of Thanks 50c.

All copy to be in office Tuesday and special position space should reserved Saturday and Monday.

Idle Hour

Saturday

July 12

2 Reels of

Eddie Polo

in

"Cyclone Smith Plays Trumps"

1 Reel

International News

2 Reel Lo-Ko Comedy

Behind the Front

W. F. PAVE

The Practical Blacksmi

OXY-ACETYLENE WEL

Wagon, Buggy and Blac Repairing

Horse Shoeing and P Work a Specialty

Col. B. A. Reemts

General Auctionee

KLEMME, IOWA

Farm and Stock Sales a Spe

Call, write or phone 508 K me for dates, terms, etc.

...Satisfaction Guarante

M. O. HOCU

The Grain, Coal and L Stock Man.

We will buy Hogs and Grain six a the week at Highest Market P

Successor to W. R. Bl

Geo. ZINN

Physician & Surgeon

Phone No. 19. KLEMME IA

Office in Building East of Gruetzmacher Harness and Shoe Shop.

Eyes Tested. Glasses Fitte

Light From Stars.

The light we receive from stars of the first magnitude, like Vega, is equivalent to a forty-thousand-millionth part of that of the sun. It is calculated that the total light received from the lesser stars is equal to that of 3,000 stars of the first magnitude, or a sixth part of that which is sent to us from the moon.

Man of Influence, the man who is "getting ahead," is the man who has a car, almost invariably.

Ownership

stands for progress and prosperity nowaday.

u want to keep abreast of the times get busy planning on that car now. The best way is to consult us.

me good used cars on hand at a reasonable

Miles Garage

PHONE 30

"IN THE BEST"

KLEMME, IA.

BILL THE BUILDER

THE NAIL ON THE HEAD WHEN HE SAYS:

'Tis cheaper to Build a weatherproof barn than to loose good stock thru want of one.

Your horses and cows need protection from bad weather just as much as you do. Because they cannot tell you when they are cold or uncomfortable, you must shelter them exceptionally well in order to prevent sickness and loss.

Material at Right Prices

We have the right quality lumber for such buildings, as well as for poultry houses, sheds, cribs, etc. You'll find our prices fair and square and our free service of great help to you.

Let us tell you more about our service and building plans.

Western States Lbr. Co.

Olaf Bryntesen, Mgr.

Rock Island and Moline

TRACTORS

Harvesting and Fall Plowing

Come in and get your Binder twine now while we can supply your needs.

HENRY LAU & SON

The City Dray Line

Prepared to do your hauling carefully and promptly
Your patronage is respectfully solicited
Charges Reasonable.

Henry P. Yahnke, Prop.

Coal Hauling Done

WRITE A W.S.S. MOVIE AND WIN $1,000 PRIZE

Iowa Committee Plans Big State-Wide Contest to Teach Thrift by Means of the Screen.

A chance for some inspired Iowa author to earn a prize of $1,000 is offered by the Iowa War Savings committee, which has officially announced it would pay that sum for a suitable moving picture plot designed to teach the idea of thrift and the value to the individual and community of systematic saving and thrifty habits.

There will be no other prizes and tentative plans are that the contest will be closed some time in July, the date to be announced later. "Any Iowa authors may compete." The scenario plot must be adapted for a five or six reel picture. A story from which a satisfactory scenario may be adapted will be considered, if it contains the big idea.

Some of the Suggestions Outlined.

A play that carries all the necessary mechanical elements of plot, action, continuity, spontaneity, naturalness, dramatic punch and climax.

The heart interest or human interest element must permeate the play and be strongly developed.

The action of the play must be natural, and the idea of thrift must be linked occasionally with the dramatic unfolding of the plot so as to avoid any suggestion of joining two unfamiliar elements.

The play may be dramatic or even tragic, so long as it is dignified and reasonable. It may deal with an individual if big enough to command respect and sustain interest, a family, a community a nation, or even the world may be made the stage of action, provided the plot is great enough to interest human endeavor and progress and achievement in all countries.

Show Thrift Is Not Stinginess.

The plot should show that thrift is not stingy or mean, that it is not parsimonious, but that it is instead a noble factor in human uplift; that the right manner of thrift builds and broadens character; that it makes for happiness in homes, provides for education of the growing generations, makes for independence, makes one an asset in the community instead of a liability; would if universal, do away with poorhouses, and poverty, and slums, want and suffering, reduce criminalities and replace criminal instincts, and, in a word, weld together the inhabitants of the earth in one big brotherhood or family, by developing the finer instincts of all races.

It might bring out the idea that waste is illegal in the code of nature.

It should be a plot with sufficient interest for both sexes and for people of all classes and conditions of life and for all ages, that they will want to see it for its theatrical interest, and because it has entertainment, thrills, and portrays a vital thing in which every living person is interested.

About Cast of Characters.

The cast of characters may be as great as necessary, although not so complex as to cause difficulty of comprehension, or so large as to make the cost of production prohibitive. The scenario must not require elaborate or massive scenes for filming, as the time for production is limited. The thought should be to impress with the magnitude of the idea of thrift rather than with the magnitude of production or scenic appliances. It should be a play of life and emotions rather than mechanical effects.

Final award will be made by judges selected by the Iowa War Savings committee. Details of the contest will be found in newspapers or will be furnished by the state headquarters of the committee, 208 Sixth Ave., Des Moines.

Uncle Sam's Big Paydays

Here are Uncle Sam's big pay days—the dates on which interest is due on Liberty bonds:

June 15	$ 86,658,376.63
September 15	88,750,981.81
October 15	78,102,249.38
November 15	148,517,248.75
December 15	86,658,376.63
December 15, 5th loan	106,875,000.00

When you clip your coupons ask for War Savings stamps instead of cash. This reinvestment will pay you more than four per cent.

A STITCH IN TIME.

Receivers are the closet skeletons of habitual spendthrifts. Government War Savings stamps will lead the way to financial stability.

INVESTING MADE SAFE FOR THE SMALL SAVER

War Savings Stamps Minimizing the Menace of Fraudulent Promotions Which Wipe Out "Rainy Day Funds."

This is the day of the small investor. The war opened the eyes of some 50,000,000 Americans to the benefits of investing in government securities; it minimized to the same extent the menace of fraudulent promotions in which many life's savings have been sunk. War Savings stamps are making investing safe for the small saver.

"There is nothing more disheartening than to undergo self-denial for years, to save money, and then to see the 'rainy day fund' wiped out by the failure of some 'wildcat' scheme," says Homer A. Miller, director of the War Savings Organization for Iowa.

"Widows and hard-working men are credulous. They listen to the oily promises of 'get rich-quick' promoters and hand over their savings to salesmen promising impossible profits.

"When the crash comes the savings of years disappear in an instant and there is nothing to do but begin life over again—often at a time when earning capacity has begun to ebb."

Whatever the temptation for "wildcat" speculation in the past, there is no excuse for it now.

